This was rubber salvage week and results were very encouraging. Rod Reed, John Frank and Jack Sackville sent out pleas individually and a lively skit was presented on Tuesday to spur students to greater efforts in this work. A salvage appeal was voiced to the boys of the school by Mr. Shearer to assist the local ladies in the collection of salvage on Saturdays. Each Saturday morning and afternoon a teacher and two students will go out on the salvage truck to do the heavy work. The response was excellent and sufficient help is assured for some time to come. Congratulations.

Jim Kay—quizster extraordinary— was second place winner on "The Farmer Asks A Question" program this week. This latest win boosts Jim's total earnings to quite a high sum.

The Window Smasher Man—"Tip" (Rastus) Taylor is at it again. Last fall he connected with a lovely fly that eventually found its way through Mr. David Brown's window overlooking the campus. Last Tuesday another ball went soaring on an arc until it frightened the doubtful wits out of everyone in R. L. Hale's room. It was noticed this week that "Tip" has had his hair cropped off short—could it be that he desired to lose some of his strength?

Sgt. Pilot Doug Quirt was the pilot responsible for the racket heard over the school this week. His plane succeeded in shaking the nerves and arousing the ire of several teachers and students. Doug was seen around the darkroom again on Thursday—this time he was not in the plane.

A HI-Y picnic was held at Ferguson's cottage at Fife's Bay on Friday.

HOTTEST INTERNATIONAL OUTFIT, LEAFS JUMP TO THIRD PLACE

Blank Wings 3-0 As Strincevich Starts 1st Time

By The Associated Press

Toronto Maple Leafs today are the hottest team in the International League—including the pace-setting Newark Bears.

The Leafs got of to a bad start by dropping 12 of its first 13 games but since then it has won eight out of nine and advanced from last place to third in the standings.

Last night Nick Strincevich, who arrived from Pittsburgh only yesterday afternoon, pitched a 3-0 victory over the tail-end Rochester Red Wings.

Strincevich, who at one time belonged to New York Yankees and also saw major league service with both Boston Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates, scattered six hits and was never in trouble.

The Leafs themselves could garner only five blows off George Dockins and Frank Pearce but made the most of their scoring chances. Johnny Wyrestek of Toronto, got the only extra base hit of the game, a two-bagger.

In the only daylight affair, Jersey City Giants pounded the slumping Baltimore Orioles 7-2. Sid Gordon and Joe Orengo led the 10-hit attack on three Oriole hurlers by getting a double and a single each. Bobby Westfall put the little Giants in the lead by hitting a home run in the second inning with two on.

Warren Carl Sandel gave up two hits in the first seven frames but tired in the eighth and gave way to Johnny Wittig who allowed one hit over the remaining two stanzas.

Newark defeated Syracuse Chiefs 3-2, in 10 innings in the only other game.

Nate Andrews, Chief pitcher, allowed six hits but his mates could touch a trio of Bear flingers for only four with Woody Williams accounting for three. In the 10th frame Gene Corbett singled, stole second, advanced to third as catcher Jim Bottarini made a wild throw, and counted as Henry Majeski skied out. The loss was the fifth straight for the Chiefs and their 10th in the last 12 encounters.

The Montreal-Buffalo game was postponed for the second straight day.

Two Down – One Out

Coscarart, of the Pittsburg Pirates, and Jurges of the New York Giants go to the mat at second base, and Umpire Goetz thumbs Coscarart "out" on attempted steal. Catcher Danning threw the ball to Jurges in time to nip the speeding Pirate. The Pirates won this game by 3 to 1 score.

Dodgers Wallop Pirates 8-3, A Wyatt Victory

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn Dodgers are planning to raise their big white 1941 National League pennant on the centrefield flagpole at Ebbets Field today for the first time this season.

There will be suitable ceremonies, of course, and if somebody says something about keeping the flag there and just changing the numerals for next season the remark would hardly be amiss.

For the Dodgers now are four full games in front of their nearest contender and apparently getting stronger day by day. They walloped Pittsburgh Pirates so hard yesterday the Buccaneers fell out of second place. The score was 8-3.

Whitlow Wyatt, who hadn't hurled a complete game this season although he had worked nine scoreless stanzas of an extra-inning affair at Boston in his first start, went the route and acquired his second victory without a defeat. He fanned five and walked none as evidence of both his speed and his control.

The Dodgers pounded three hurlers, chiefly Rip Sewell, for 11 hits of which six were doubles. Pete Reiser, approaching the form which won him the batting championship last year as a rookie, made three of these two-baggers and Arky Vaughan, another former batting champion who has started hitting in style, hit one double, two singles and walked once out of five trips to the plate.

This was Brooklyn's sixth conquest in seven games.

Braves Cop 3-2 Win

Pittsburgh's second straight pounding by the Dodgers coincided with Boston Braves' 3-2 victory over St. Louis Cardinals and enabled Boston to squeeze into second place in the standings by half a game. It was the sixth success in eight games for the Braves.

The Redbirds were victims of five-hit pitching by Alva Javery and dropped from the first division to sixth place.

Perhaps an even greater thud was that of Cincinnati Reds, who were fourth a couple of days ago and today were pushed back to seventh place. They received an unmerciful pounding, and Ray Starr absorbed his first defeat of the season at the hands of New York Giants, 13-5.

In the day's only other encounter, Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia Phils 2-1 although Claude Passeau gave up nine hits to five the Bruins made off Tommy Hughes. Passeau himself hit a homer to account for one of Chicago's runs.

The entire American League was kept idle by the weather. For the world champion New York Yankees it was the seventh off date in the last nine days and other clubs in the junior circuit have had similar experiences.

Angott Floored But Holds Title In Close Decision

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, May 16 — (AP). — The world lightweight boxing crown sat slightly askew on Sammy Angott's head to-day, tilted by the good right hand of artful Allie Stolz who floored the champion for a count of 9, but couldn't shake him loose from the title.

Angott hit the deck in the third round at Madison Square Garden last night, then bounced up and pounded out a 15-round decision over the Newark, N.J., challenger for a close but successful defence of the title he lifted from Lew Jenkins last December.

A 2-1 underdog in the betting but the favorite with the crowd, Stolz came so near to outpointing the champion that Promoter Mike Jacobs immediately matched the pair for a return bout at the Garden on June 11.

The date of the second meeting hinges on the recovery of Angott, who injured his right ankle in the eighth round, but didn't appear to favor it during the later frames.

It was a rough and tumble slugging party from the opening bell. Low blows cost Stolz the 13th and 14th rounds and possibly furnished the Washington, Pa., champion his margin of victory although Angott, who weighed 134½ to Stolz's 133, used his usual crowding, rushing, and leaning tactics to wear down his foe.

The decision was so unpopular that long after the fighters had retired to their dressing rooms the fans were booing and some hurled programs, drinking cups and newspapers into the ring.

The affair drew 16,099 customers who paid $49,014.

"Bill's Gift" Real Contender

TORONTO, May 16.—(CP)—With the 83rd running of the King's Plate just a week from today, turf enthusiasts still are seeking a horse which might give Harry Gidding's Ten to Ace a battle for the King's 50 Guineas and the $8,000 added.

Up until yesterday the field looked like a dime-a-dozen lot but Bill's Gift, owned by Mrs. R. E. Webster, turned in a fine workout on the sloppy Woodbine track and jumped into the "might" class in the racegoers books.

The lightly-regarded colt—until yesterday—clicked off six furlongs in 1:17 3-5 and went on to finish the mile in 1:45 3-5. His time was all the more impressive because apparently he wasn't being pushed in the final stretch. Distance for the plate is 1⅛ miles.

Depressor, under the colors of J. E. Smallman of London, Ont., went the mile route and showed some early speed but tired badly at the finish to be timed at 1:48. Khortoi, Depressor's stablemate, worked more evenly but could do not better than 1:48. Ifsan, Smallman's third entry, stayed in the stable.

Twelve at the most—and possibly nine—horses are expected to start in the continent's oldest continuously-run event.

Ten to Ace, the odds-on favorite, will go through a mile workout today and the result should prove, for the time at least, whether the three-year-old can go the Plate distance.

The probable list of starters for the race, restricted to horses bred in Ontario who have not won a race except as two-year-olds, besides those already mentioned, includes C. T. Crocker's Rompford, R. W. Cowie's Muckle, Cossack Post, owned by Harry Hatch, Parkwood Stables' Clocklike and J. Frowde Seagram's Court Gallant.

Canuck Jumper On Navy Leave May Show Form

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, May 16 — (CP). — Sport Shorts from Britain:

If Johnny Loaring, hurdler and Royal Navy lieutenant, can get leave from the British port at which he is stationed, he hopes to compete in some big track meets this summer. He says he's in "pretty fair" condition.

The Olympic timber topper from Windsor, Ont. on loan to the Royal Navy, is back in England following adventures in the Mediterranean. He was rescued from a cruiser sunk by German dive-bombers off Crete.

The Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes admitted they were stumped on receiving a request from a Polish unit for the necessary equipment to play "Siatkuwka." No one could even pronounce it. But the problem was solved when the Poles explained the game is similar to deck-tennis. It is played by four people with a small sized football and a seven-foot net.

And here's another game. It is called "scramball," and came into being recently as standard sport for the Women's Services. A form of rugger, it's played with a light ball. The general idea seems to be to grab the ball and "scram."

Jock McAvoy is still throwing the punches. British middleweight champion for the last nine years, he'll defend the title against Ginger Sadd of Norwich on May 25 at Norwich.

Many times Britain's champion jockey, Gordon Richards gained his first seasonal victory in winning the Barrow Stakes at Newmarket on Dinorama. It was his first triumph in about 15 attempts. Richards fractured a leg last spring. Meanwhile, Gunner Harry Wragg, who took the riding honors last year, has been a consistent winner this spring. He rode four firsts in one day.

A mighty popular man in the N.A.A.F.I. is Flt.-Lt. A. J. Adams, former middleweight boxing champion of the R.A.F., past secretary of the Olympic Games Association, and founder of the R.A.F. Football and Athletic Association. He is the sports supervisor of the institutes.

Adams has designed new types of utility apparatus, sportswear, and methods of training. Among his designs is a new type of championship model boxing ring requiring no floor fixing, and a new type of hurdle.

An English schoolboy international who played left half for Charlton in the London Football Cup semi-final, 19-year-old Bill Whittaker has joined the R.A.F. He wants to be a pilot. If everything goes OK in that show he's regarded as certain to make a name for himself in soccer after the war.

W. Harston, who played as a schoolboy with the Tottenham Hotspur Football Club, just celebrated his 60th year with the 61-year-old organization. He is a steward of the club. One of the Spur directors, George Cox at 86 is the oldest football director in the country.

Golfer Mollie Gourlay is serving as a junior commander in the A. T.S. and commanding a company employed with the Army Service Corps in Southern England.....A thoughtful person with the gasoline problem in mind donated a bicycle as one of the prizes in a recent golf tourney at Dunstable Downs..... Home Guards in Britain are turning to cricket as contributing to physical fitness and "an alert demeanor."

Order Discipline At Nazi Camp

OTTAWA, May 16 — (CP). — Defence Minister Ralston announced on Thursday night that disciplinary action was being taken "in respect of personnel concerned" in the escape of two prisoners of war from the Bowmanville prison camp last May 5.

The Minister's statement followed the sittings of a court of inquiry.

Earlier the Defence Minister announced that a court of inquiry was being set up to investigate escape of two prisoners from the same camp which was discovered early on Thursday.

With respect to the two prisoners who escaped from Bowmanville May 5, the Minister's statement said the court of inquiry had found there was no evidence that the escape was due to any defect in the physical layout of the camp or the arrangements for security of the prisoners of war held there.

The statement added it was found that "it was a daring and clever enterprise the success of which was due to the failure of the human element."

Colonel Ralston said that no statement would be made as to the method used by the prisoners who escaped, "as for obvious reasons this would only lead to attempts by similar methods elsewhere."

The court of inquiry, composed of Col. G. S. Stairs, Montreal, president, Col. C. M. Edwards, Ottawa, and Col. K. R. Marshall, Toronto, made certain recommendations two of which had to do with prevention of escapes.

"The remainder of the recommendations suggested additional measures to assist in recapture," the Minister said.

Col. Ralston said the report commended the camp commandant and the officers under his command for the alertness and care shown in carrying out their duties, and referred to physical changes made recently which had greatly improved the security of the camp.

Respecting the two escapes discovered at roll call on Thursday morning, Col. Ralston said they were made while preparations were going on for moving a considerable number of prisoners to another camp.

The camp commandant, in anticipation of attempted escapes while the moves were being carried out, reported he had taken special security precautions, but in spite of these two escapes had occurred.

(The two officers whose escape became known on Thursday were Lieutenant Frederick Oeser and Lieutenant Everhardt Wildermutch, both of the German Air Force. Oeser twice previously made getaways from Bowmanville but was recaptured.)

"It would appear at the moment that these escapes were due to the human element rather than to any lack in the arrangements for security," Colonel Ralston said.

"The Veterans' Guard company which has been on duty at the camp is being relieved early next week," Colonel Ralston said.

"But this fact is not to be taken as a reflection on the Guard."

Munition Plant Above Mark Set

OTTAWA, May 16—(CP).—Canadian explosives plants are producing 75 per cent more than their estimated capacity and one gun plant is producing 2½ times as much as was expected of it, Hon. C. D. Howe told the House of Commons.

The Munitions Minister opened his review of Munitions and Supply Department activities as debate on the war appropriation bill continued.

Production costs in Canada compared well with those of the United States and United Kingdom, Mr. Howe said. Quality was all that "can be desired." The Department had placed contracts of more than $4,000,000,000 greater than pre-war national debt.

Regular Canadian ammunition sent to the United Kingdom had been placed in a preferred class. Once this ammunition was marked "suitable for work in the air force" but objection was raised because services other than the air force were unable to obtain the supplies they wanted and this marking had been removed Perhaps two shipbuilding yards now were fully manned and 17 still were in process of expansion. A sixberth yard in Montreal had laid its first keels last week. One 10,000-ton merchant ship was being launched every four days and this production rate would be increased to one every three days.

Great Lakes and deep-water yards were "full out" on the production of corvettes and minesweepers, and, as output would be expanded further, objectives were being approached.

About 14,000 small boats had been built since the start of the war, including wooden fairmiles, minesweepers and smaller craft

Bridge Of Ships To Battle Zone

Stretching back to the horizon as far as the eye can reach are ships of an American convoy, bound for one of the far-flung zones where American material and men are writing history in this war of survival. The ships sail so placidly along because out on the wings and in front and rear are warships on guard against any threat to the convoy.

HEALTH CHATS

By D. B. AVISON, M.D., D.P.H., Medical Officer of Health

"VENEREAL DISEASE"

This week I was given a friendly tip that if the Health Department didn't do something drastic to control the spread of Venereal Disease in Peterborough, I would be held personally responsible. This problem worried Moses away back some thousands of years before Christ and has worried every health officer since his day.

The greatest barrier to effective control is the social shame attached to it so that though there are stringent laws dealing with known or even suspected cases, there are just as stringent laws designed to protect the sanctity of secrecy. For instance, while anybody has the right and duty to report to his doctor or the M.O.H. that he has reason to suspect a certain individual of having venereal disease, the same person can be fined $200 if he directly or indrectly, privately or publicly states or intimates to anyone else that so-and-so has been notified to be examined or has been examined.

While there is every reason to protect the innocent victim of Venereal Disease from the stigma that the public in general seems to love to gossip about, any person spreading the disease has, in may opinion, no right to such protection. The trouble is to apprehend such a person. There is no law requiring a person who has such a disease to report himself or herself for treatment so that their apprehension often depends on a report by some victim that the disease was contracted from a certain individual. When such a report is received, the M.O.H. compels that person to be examined and if a positive diagnosis is established, enforces treatment. This party is then warned that if evidence is found that he or she is continuing in acts likely to spread infection, legal action with severe penalties will follow.

The problem is to prove that the person is exposing others to infection. Few individuals are willing to take a stand in court as witnesses lest their knowledge will place themselves in an embarrassing position before their friends, and without such witnesses the case falls to the ground. There are girls in Peterborough strongly suspected of being a menace to both soldiers and civilians; there are houses strongly suspected of being centres of moral danger, but one cannot act on suspicion—one must have proof. At present our only sure method of procedure is to bring such a criminal into court on evidence of a second case of infection after treatment has begun and even then I am not sure as to what success we would have if we could not secure willing witnesses.

If we could proceed legally against a person known to have contracted the disease out of wedlock, some real progress might be made, or if we could somehow get rid of the social stigma so that cases could be handled like any other communicable disease, we could very rapidly bring it under control.

The real disgrace to an enlightened community is that we can allow shame to delay treatment so long as to make successful treatment difficult or impossible and that so many, by reason of neglect, become permanent invalids, cripples and even go on to insanity. It is a strang perversion of modesty that makes us close our eyes, ears and mouths to a national menace.

LAKEFIELD

Salvage Drive Pushed By Club

LAKEFIELD, May 16—(ENS). — Members of the Beaver Club have a rather unique system of realizing on salvage collection. They arrange for residents of their district to collect their own scrap material then turn the money over to the club. This week's effort brought $3.00.

Although there were only seven members present at the meeting, held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Graydon Northey, the ladies quilted two quilts.

Plans were made for another Red Cross canvass. A delicious pot-luck dinner was served by the hostess.

Red Cross Plans To Send Parcels

MOUNT JULIAN, May 16—(ENS) —The Red Cross monthly meeting for May was held at the home of Mrs. John Thompson, with nine ladies present. The business part of the meeting included sending cigarettes to the local boys now overseas and arranging for a poverty party to be held probably next month to raise funds to carry on with. Some knitted goods were turned in. Some cotton print had been donated and so a quilt design was chosen and a quantity of quilt patches cut out. The remaining cotton material was taken home by the workers, the smaller pieces to be made into the quilt and the large pieces into aprons for sale on the bazaar table. A special meeting is to be held at Mrs. Theodore Wilson's home on Thursday, May 28, to pack knitted goods and complete this work.

Two Air Commands Said Taken From Reich Marshall Goering

LONDON, May 16—Radio Moscow quoting "well-informed sources at Geneva", said last night that Adolf Hitler has stripped Reichmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering of his command of the German Air Force on the Soviet and Mediterranean Fronts.

Field Marshal Arhard Milch has been placed in command of the Luftwaffe on the Russian Front and Field Marshal Albert Kesseiring in the Mediterranean, and both are now answerable only to Hitler, the broadcast said.

Furthermore, the Moscow Radio said, Goering has been removed as director of naval supplies under the German four-year plan and coincident with his decline from power Gestapo Leader Heinrich Himmler has been placed in command of new Storm Trooper police regiments.

The Geneva sources said, according to the Russian report, that the Hitler-Goering rift reached a climax when Goering complained that he had been left out of the recent Hitler-Benito Mussolini conference at Salzburg and only Generals Wilhelm Keitel and Alfred Jodl invited.

Private advices reaching the United Press last night said that it was rumored Goering and Italian Foreign Minister County Galeazzo Ciano might meet British and American "personalities" in Lisbon.")

The Moscow broadcast said it was reported some German generals were voicing dissatisfaction over Hitler's conduct of the Russian war since he took over full command of the army in midwinter.

They were said to complain that the winter fighting deprived the troops of badly needed rest and made them unfit for a summer offensive.

The generals feel that "Hitler alone is responsible," the broadcast said.

Rubber Experiment

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—The United States Agriculture Department reported yesterday it had received a small shipment of Russian dandelion seed for planting under an experiment to determine the feasibility of growing the plant commercially in this country as a source of rubber.

St John's Guild Closes Session

LAKEFIELD, Ma 16 — (ENS). — Members of the Guild of St. John's Anglican Church, enjoyed a pleasant session in the Parish Hall on Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Grace Stuart, presided for the gathering, which was a climax of the season's meetings until October. A social hour or two as spent with tea served by Mrs. B. Marling.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Simpson on Thursday were Mr. R. S. Simpson, B.A., and Mrs. Simpson of Ottawa; Mr. D. M. McGuire, Phm.B., his mother, Mrs. W. J. McGuire, and Mrs. George Rowe, of Elmvale; Mrs. McKnight and Mr. S. Pillar, of Peterborough.

Miss Norma Pue has returned home from Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jewell have returned to the village from their wedding trip to Niagara.

Ms. Dennis Garvey, Ninth Line of Smith, celebrated her 87th birthday on Friday. Mrs. Garvey is in good health, very active, and has assisted the Beaver Club during the winter in its busy knitting activities.

Commando Closeups From Britain

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 16—(CP).—Even the batmen and cooks became fighting men with Canadian detachments which trained at sea with the Royal Navy on combined operations

Batmen are armed with Tommy guns and trail their officers everywhere as body guards. They make assault landing with them and go through the practice attacks. It will be the same when the real raids are made.

There was Pte. Joe Liftin of Windsor, Ont., member of the Essex Scottish, who called himself the 'fighting cook.'

A blond, cheerful fellow, he dropped his skillet for a Tommy gun at every chance and rushed through raids with his Glengarry cocked over one eye. His wild antics keep up the spirit of every one in the section.

Pte. 'Dixie' Harwood went to Montreal from Virginia after war started and joined the Black Watch. He's now with the Canadian raiders and rates as the best sniper in the detachment.

"I did a little shooting down in them thar Virginia mountains," he drawled. He shoots like Sgt. York.

In the wardroom of the combined-operations ship which carried the Canadians, there was a message on the bulletin board from the Admiralty. It congratulated the ship's company on its job of carrying the British commandos to St. Nazaire.

Maj. Brian McCool, Toronto High school teacher who commanded the detachment, has been training raiders for months at secret camps. He formerly was commander of 'B' company of the Royal Regiment which he joined in 1925.

The raiders-in-training were away from their regular camps during the manpower plebiscite vote but marked their ballots aboard a troop train as they were going back to the south of England following the sea voyage. Lieut. Bill Scott of Windsor, Ont., handled the vote.

St. George's A.Y.P.A. Entertains Trinity YPS

HASTINGS, May 16 — (ENS).— St. George's AYPA were hosts to the Trinity United Church Society for the last young people's meeting before the summer season.

The program comprised a humorous reading delivered by Doreen Fleming, a song by Doreen Beavis, piano selections by Ellida Buck and a guitar solo by Clifford Beamish.

Rev. T. E. Glover thanked the St. George's Society for the pleasant social evening.

Community singing, a receration period and lunch, concluded the program.

The Victorian Order of Nurses Deserve Your Support

Since its inception in Peterborough a year and a half ago, the Victorian Order of Nurses have performed outstanding services. Last year they made 5,121 visits to 643 patients. Of the 5,121 visits, 2,893 were free.

As all the families which they attend are not able to make payment considerable outside support is needed each year. The Victorian Order of Nurses receives a portion of the monies collected by the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund—so give generously.

ARRIVE IN ENGLAND

Word has been received by Miss Corinne De Laire, Donegal street, of the safe arrival in England of her two nephews, LAC William and LAC Danny Collins, who went over with the last contingent for the R.C.A.F. These two Peterborough boys are sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Collins.

A TIMELY ITEM

Patrons of the Centre Theatre report that a special feature now showing at this theatre entitled, "There Too Go I," gives people a new appreciation of the work the Red Cross is doing. This pictures ties in nicely with the Red Cross and Community Fund drive now underway, and those who see it, will not hesitate to give generously to the fund.

SUNDAY FEATURE

A one-hour broadcast from the Collegiate auditorium featuring the top-ranking artists of Peterborough City will be held on Sunday evening starting at nine o'clock. "The Trail Blazer," a young man with a pleasing baritone voice, will take part in the program, along with Dorothy Allan Park, Harry and Stanley Northrop, and the Temple Band Ensemble. There will be a silver collection; the proceeds of which go to the Red Cross and Community Fund.

HEAVY RAINFALL

Precipitation for the first four months of 1942 has set a new high, and the month of May bids fair to do the same thing, as the amount of rain which had fallen on Wednesday was 0.33 inch and that on Friday and up to 6 a.m. Saturday reached the 1.97-inch mark, making a total of 2.30 inches for the three days. The 40-year average for May is only 2.48 inches. The statistics, according to A. O. Phillips, weather observer, show a big increase for 1942 over 1941. In January, 1942, 2.67 inches were recorded; in February, 2.43, and in April, 2.22. But in January, 1941, it registered 2.16 inches; February, 2.12; April, 0.91; and May 0.96 inches.

Societies Meet At Springville

SPRINGVILLE, May 16—(ENS)—Twenty-four ladies were present at the home of Mrs. Perry Neals on Wednesday afternoon for the W.M.S. meeting. The president, Mrs. J. F. Everson, opened the meeting and after the hymn and prayer, a brief business period was held. Mrs. Rowan, literature secretary, asked that orders for blue books be placed as soon as possible.

Mrs. Everson, on behalf of the Fairmount society extended an invitation to the Springville society to attend their June meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. F. R. McIndoo on the first Wednesday of the month. As the Springville society was invited to give the program, Mrs. Everson and Mrs. Hunter were appointed to be in charge of arranging it.

The June meeting of the Springville Society is to be held at Mrs. Harold Cathcart's and will be held on the second Tuesday of the month instead of Wednesday. Mrs. Murray's group will be in charge and the roll call response is to pertain to friendship.

Mrs. M. H. Johnston took charge of the worship period. Mrs. G. Whitfield had charge of the meeting and a program in accordance with Mother's Day thoughts was given. Mrs. Rae Wood gave a story of a new Canadian and her experience with one of our W.M.S. missions.

Mrs. Johnston, temperance secretary, spoke on "Temperance In India." Mrs. Jack Whitfield reviewed the study book chapter. Viola Neals and Edna Dunford gave a beautiful duet "My Mother's Bible". Thoughts on "Mother Love" were given by Mrs. Murray and Mrs. G. Whitfield.

Mrs. E. Kelk gave a paper "Homes of the Great" and Mrs. F. Clarke continued this topic with the life of Florence Nightingale. Laura Neals contributed a lovely piano solo at this time. A letter from a soldier to his mother was read by Mrs. Gibson, Sr.,

Mrs. Hunter closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Rae Wood, W.A., president held a brief business period in connection with that society. It was decided to have the church cleaned before anniversary services. Mrs. Wood to see who might be available to do it.

A letter to the society from Fred Elliott in appreciation of the remembrance sent him, was read. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

Mother And Babe Tossed Out Of Car

Mrs. Gerald Armstrong, 712 Bethune street and her infant daughter, Patricia Ann, escaped with shock and bruises when they were thrown out of an automobile after a collision between two cars at McDonnel and George Streets Friday evening.

Louis Florence, 298 Elias avenue, was driving west on McDonnel street and Gerald Armstrong, with his wife and daughter as passengers, was travelling south on George street.

When the two vehicles came into contact at the intersection Mrs. Armstrong and the baby were tossed out to the pavement but fortunately escaped serious injury.

The right rear fender of Florence's automobile and the front axle, front bumper, fenders and headlight of the other vehicle were damaged.

Athletic Club Gives $25 To War Victims

About one year ago, the Girls' Athletic Association of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational Institute made a fine donation of $100 to the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, and on Friday morning it was the pleasure of the secretary of the fund to attend the morning assembly, and receive the second donation from this same group, which this time amounted to $25.

The more one attends these morning assemblies, the more they come to realize the real effort that these young folk are really putting into the various war efforts that they have undertaken, and this particular instance does emphasize that.

This particular group is now under the supervision of Miss Mildred Bailey, and in the course of an introductory address, she revealed that during the course of the school season now drawing to a close, they had raised and given some $130 to various war activities of which, this their second donation formed a part.

Miss Norma Wallace, vice-president, made the presentations in a manner which radiated ability.

An echo of the Pet' Dog show which was held some time ago, comes to the forefront with additional receipts of $5.50 which really makes the total from this effort sponsored by the dog fanciers of the city stand at the $275.25 mark, a truly splendid result from a spontanteous effort on their part to help the people of Britain.

One box collection was made from the penny box located in Payne's Drug Store to add a further $2.75 to the day's receipts.

"Business As Usual" At Sidewalk Post Office In Minden

Minden village, 51 miles north of Lindsay, felt the heavy hand of disaster by fire on Friday when half the business section disappeared in smoke and flames. At LEFT Walter Welch, postmaster, is shown handing mail over to Dick Kirkwood, mail carrier, in front of a vacant store which he converted into a post office. Note the pot bellied stove on the sidewalk which was saved from one of the buildings. At the RIGHT is Stanley Archer of Matabanick Lodge, with the Johnson fire pump that did great work. Archer gashed his hand smashing a window to get the hose on the fire. This man with his father and brother rushed the motor and 400 feet of 2-inch hose to the fire, and they are credited with saving several buildings in the business section. (McGillen—Staff Photos.)

Thieves Rob Rylstone Store On Friday Night

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16 (ENS)—Harold Peters' general store was broken into and close to $35 in cash taken, some time late Thursday or early Friday morning. The theft which was reported to Provincial Constable D. M. Carruthers yesterday (Friday) was the second store break-in within 24 hours. The Peters' stores is at Rylstone 10 miles northeast of here. Whoever pulled the job had apparently been in the store before as they went in the front door after breaking the screen and a small piece of the window and then carefully held a wire which would have sounded a bell at the rear of the store.

Though Mr. and Mrs. Peters were sleeping in an upstairs apartment they heard no sound as the intruder walked through to the kitchen where he discovered the money in a purse hidden in a drawer. Mrs. Peters told the Examiner the money was usually taken upstairs but she had neglected to do this on Thursday evening. However the thief got a surprise when he looked in the tin can where the money from the sale of gasoline was usually kept for here were only twelve coppers. He took them. In addition to this a small amount of merchandise valued at from $5 to $6 was taken the loot including chocolate bars and other small items similar to those stolen at Hoards the night before. A year ago the pumps were broken open and a quantity gasoline taken at this same store.

Quiz Questions Stumped Kiwanis Rule Experts

A quiz on Kiwanis rules and regulations featured the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis, Friday The chairman of the Educational committee, John Troke, kept up a hilarious accompaniment of side talk that kept everyone on their toes.

There were two announcements concerning future meetings made. On June 3, the members of the Kiwanis and their wives are to be the guests of the Cheesemakers' Association, Young's Point, at an evening meeting. At the meeting May 29, they are to have their lieutenant governor with them.

After a long and careful consideration it has been decided to let the matter of the supervised playgrounds drop, and the usual Kiwanis undertaking will be continued.

There were three guests present at the meeting: Reginald Baker, "Al" Clark and Harry Northrop. Mr. Northrop acted as pianist during a most enthusiastic sing-song under the direction of Adjutant Norman Buckley, and the meeting closed with the singing of "O Canada."

Rains Changed Rural Scene Throughout District

Rains this week have drenched the countryside, broadly changing the rural scene from its lustre of last week.

Some farmers managed to get in a day and a half of work since last Monday, and even with a favorable turn over Sunday it will likely be another four or five days before they can get going again.

Those who caught the disjointed rhythm of this season and rode with their grain to the fields during that April sunburst are fairly well placed in the agricultural schedule. Some of them have most of the seeding done, and others have not yet turned a wheel of the seed drill.

Some were all finished two weeks ago, others are beginning to worry about the outlook of too much rainfall.

Fields east of the canal were swimming in surface water this morning. The soil was saturated. Alfalfa on the knolls has done exceedingly well, but on the lower lands where normally it makes the best growth, it is now being "scalded out," meaning that it has been lying in water.

Apparently nobody takes account of lost farm labor. If rain ties things up for a week or so, it seems to be taken for granted or for anything other than the actual economic loss it is. And so this week there has been a large total of idle man-hours in the country, and there will be more of them next week, but somehow folks seem to think the farmer will catch up on it before long and equate the season in its work and production.

Harold Moncrief Injured By Horse

BENSFORT, May 16 — (ENS).—Harold Moncrief had the misfortune to have a bone broken in his leg on his farm this week. When attempting to draw the tractor out of a mud hole with a team, the horses turned suddenly, knocking Harold down, stepping on his leg, and turned the tractor completely upside down. Fortunately his two sons William and George were there, thus avoiding a more serious accident. George who was on the tractor, narrowly escaped being trapped beneath the machine.

Another accident happened on the farm of Allen Bell when he and his son were working in the barnyard. Mr. Bell accidentally got the tine of the fork run sideways into the back of his hand several inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dawson and Mrs. Ida Dawson were visitors to Hamilton Tuesday.

Fred Byres of Toronto and Mrs. James Greer of Oxbow, Sack., are spending a few days at the home of Bert Byres.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Souter and family of Toronto were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson.

Five Men Hurt When Car Hits Guard Rail

When the car in which they were riding went through a guard rail no Highway 28, a short distance west of Peterborough early this morning, struck a tree and then plunged fifteen feet down the embankment into a gully, five men were injured, three of them seriously enough for hospital treatment.

Those in St. Joseph's Hospital are Edward Henderson, 540 Chamberlain street, driver of the car, William May, Antrim street and Joseph Ellis, Gilchrist street. All three are suffering from scalp wounds, bruises and shock. Two other passengers, William Walker, Appin, Ont., and Wm. Tesky, Wolsley street were also taken to hospital but were not retained.

The accident happened a short distance east of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club at 2 o'clock.

Henderson told police that as he was driving toward Peterborough he started to pass another automobile travelling in the same direction and his car skidded into the guard rail, breaking it down. Then the vehicle crashed into a tree and slid on its wheels down the embankment. Fortunately it came to rest before reaching the bottom of the gully where there was considerable water as a result of the heavy rains.

Walker who is 70 years of age was the first to get out of the wrecked car and he made his way along the highway to the home of Arnold Paddock, a short distance away, in search of help. Paddock and Harry Bartlett who was a visitor at his home made their way to the scene of the accident, helped extricate the other injured men and took them to hospital.

It is not thought any of the men are critically hurt.

Provincial Constable L. A. McClure investigated the crash.

Mrs. Harriet L. Bidgood Observes 80th Birthday

The home of Mrs. Edward Deyell at Fowler's Corners was the scene of a pleasant gathering recently, on the occasion of the 80th birthday of Mrs. Harriet Lochie Bidgood, widow of George Bidgood, of Springville. Mrs. Bidgood is the youngest daughter of the late Harriett Thompson and William Lochie of North Monaghan. She was born May 7, 1862, and has lived in that neighborhood all her life. She has three brothers, George of Kamloops, British Columbia, Andrew of Tulameeu, British Columbia, and Robert of Springville, who has just passed his 82nd year.

She has two daughters (Eva) Mrs. Elwood Deyell, and (Delphine), Mrs. George Hewitt of Peterborough; and three sons, Henkle of Keene, Arnold of Ida, and Allie of Springville; and sixteen grandchildren.

Mrs. Bidgood is a staunch Presbyterian and remained so when the Springville church went United in 1926. When at home she always attended and supported the church of her childhood. Throughout the ups and downs of life she has maintained her jovial disposition and has been a good neighbor and a loving mother. Her many friends and neighbors wish her many more years of health and happiness. In her spare moments, Mrs. Bidgood busies herself with her crochet hook and has just completed a large and beautiful tablecloth and is beginning another.

A delicious chicken dinner was served by Mrs. Deyell, assisted by Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. McConnel and her three daughters-in-law, Mrs. H. Bidgood, Mrs. Arnold Bidgood, and Mrs. Allie Bidgood.

Among the many gifts presented her was a birthday cake, beautifully decorated with candles from Mrs. Hewitt; a bouquet of snapdragons and baby's breath from Joyce and Barrie Deyell and a substantial purse of money from the family. Among the many cards and letters was a poem from her cousin, Mrs. A. A. Smith of Rochester, New York, typed by Mrs. Dudley Robinson of Toronto and read by Mrs. Bidgood's grand-daughter Bernice Bidgood, of Keene.

Mrs. Deyell and Doreen Bidgood furnished music for the dancing, and in this Mrs. Bidgood shone, dancing an old-fashioned "heel-and-toe." The party broke up at an early hour and everyone had throughly enjoyed themselves.

With Peterborough Red Cross Branch

A phase of Red Cross work being brought home to people of all communities more and more as time goes on is that of prisoners-of-war parcels of food. Canada expects to send 2,000,000 parcels to British prisoners and internees by the end of 1942. We have been asked to do this work and so relieve Britain of this burden.

At the depot in Toronto two tons of food is packed every day and in Montreal also large quantities are handled. This is then sent to the National warehouse at Saint John for shipment overseas.

Letters coming from concentration camps in all the occupied countries tell what these parcels mean to prisoners. Two English girls who escaped from a camp in occupied France wrote as follows:

"Only one thing made life endurable—parcels of food stuff which the Canadian Red Cross sent. I have since learned that 25,000 were packed in Canada and despatched weekly. We literally lived on them, counting the hours till they arrived and we used to mark the distribution dates in our diaries. When the day came, we filed up to the camp office and a German officer passed out the parcels. By his side stood a Red Cross official to make sure that the international conventions governing prisoners of war were observed. Not all the parcels were from Canada, but those that were, were so envied that we used to draw lots in turn so that each person got at least one Canadian parcel a month.

"Then there would be a couple of days swopping when the lucky ones with Canadian parcels exchanged any unwanted articles for goods from other parcels. I can tell you the rate of exchange was very flattering to Canadian manufacturers.

"None of us, I am sure, would have been able to exist without those Red Cross parcels. I would like the Canadian people who supplied them to know what their kindness meant to us and still more to those we left behind. It was terribly cold there with the snow-covered mountains. We had only thin slacks and heavy old army boots to wear. Every morning we had to parade, pail in hand, to the coal store for fuel for the cell fires.

"Our worst ordeal was to stand sometimes ankle deep in ice and mud peeling potatoes until our fingers were too numbed by the cold to feel the knife. Then we would line up for our main meal, and with 4,000 in the queue you can imagine how wretchedly unappetizing it was by the time most of us got it. That is why we appreciate so keenly the foodstuffs in the Canadian Red Cross Parcels."

Incidents such as this should bring a realization of the importance of Red Cross work to us all. The people of Peterborough can help carry on this work by giving generously when the appeal for funds for the Red Cross is made.

Miss M. Fitzgerald Is Bride Of Joseph Ludlow

The wedding took place in Immaculate Conception Church this morning of Mary Madeline Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, to Joseph Ludlow of Toronto, son of Mrs. Margaret Ludlow of Toronto. Monsignor O'Sullivan officiated at the nuptial ceremony, with Miss Bernice Flynn supplying the wedding music. Miss Marion O'Toole sang "Ave Maria."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white georgette with long full sleeves and a full skirt with a short train. She wore a shoulder length veil of white net caught with a wreath of orange blossoms and carred a bouquet of roses. Miss Bridget Fitzgerald was her sister's bridemaid, in a gown of white silk jersey with a peated skirt and flowered bodice, with a matching hat and bouquet of roses. The best man was Mr. George Fectau of Toronto and the ushers were Mr. Gerald Fitzgerald, brother of the bride, and Mr. Tom Ludlow, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at which the bride's mother received wearing a gown of green, with a white leghorn hat and a corsage of roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing a navy blue dress with a matching hat and a corsage of roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip west to Lake Louise and the west coast, and will visit Noranda on the return journey. For travelling the bride wore a military red printed dress with matching hat, a beige coat, and silver foxes. On their return from the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow will live in Toronto.

Lilac Tea Held At Manse By St. Andrew's WMS

A charming lilac tea, which was fairly successful despite the rain, was held on Friday afternoon by St. Andrew's W.M.S. at St. Andrew's Manse. Lilac and tulips were everywhere throughout the rooms, lending an air of light and gaiety to the affair.

Mrs. H. Tremain, and the hostess, Mrs. E. W. Young, received the guests, and Mrs. F. W. K. Harris invited them to the tea room. Tea was poured at a lovely table covered with a lace cloth and centred with a cut-glass bowl of tulips and lilac flanked wtih ivory tapers in crystal holders. Miss F. Dixon, Mrs. A. Porteous, Mrs. C. M. Scott, and Mrs. A. Pilling poured tea, and the guests were served by Mrs. W. A. Henry, Mrs. R. M. Hardy. A home-baking table was taken charge of by Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mrs. R. H. Harle, and Mrs. A. Munro was treasurer for the afternoon.

NINE GIRLS FORMED A CLUB TO CORRECT THEIR DEFECTS

Now Three of Them Are Married Two Engaged, and Two Others "Going Steady"

Dear Miss Dix.—We are average American girls, of average intelligence, education and appearance, but realizing we were no balls of fire we formed a club about four years ago and deliberately set out to make ourselves as attractive as posible. First we studied ourselves carefully as to clothes, posture, make-up, dieted to help our figures, studied books on make-up and hair styles. We criticized each other and, for the most part, managed not to be catty.

After we had improved our general appearance as much as possible, we took dancing lessons and also lessons in sports and bridge. We joined the local Y.M.C.A. and learned how to swim, to play good games of tennis, badminton and bridge. We made it a point to be well up on current events, politics, sports, drama and the movies. We got the best sellers and other good books from the public library, and in this way made ourselves able to carry on a fairly intelligent conversation on every subject.

Now, although we are not pretty, we are attractive and can hold our own at a dance, at the beach, on a tennis court. We can skate, bowl, shoot and attend hockey, baseball or football games without pulling a boner. The result of our club has been that of our original nine members three are married, two are engaged, two others are going "steady," and we have all been popular and had plenty of dates.

We believe that any girl who wants to be popular has to work for it, take stock of herself, find out what it is she lacks and correct her faults. It means labor, and plenty of it, but it is worth it.—Nine Happy Girls.

Answer.—I commend this letter to the many girls who write, asking me why they never have a date. The girls who formed this club for self-improvement answer the question. They had the courage to face their defects and correct them and to make themselves attractive, despite the fact that Old Mother Nature had not turned them out bathing beauties.

Plain Girls Get Discouraged

The great majority of girls who realize that they are just ordinary-looking and that there is nothing about them to catch the eye of the average boy simply throw up their hands and quit. They think that if they can't dress like a millionairess there is no use in their trying to bother with their clothes, or even to be neat and tidy. They don't know that the less money they have to spend, the more important it is for them to buy wisely and well and get things that flatter them instead of the hats and dresses that emphasize their worst points, and that it is an absoulte necessity for a plain girl to be immaculately clean. A man may not know a French creation from a basement bargain, but he always notices whether a girl's collar is fresh and if her skirt is pressed.

Nor do girls realize that when a woman lacks attractions in one way she must substitute by making herself doubly attractive in other ways. And this goes double for the homely girl. Possibly a raving beauty may get away with being a nitwit, or a poor dancer, or being a selfish and self-centred, though I doubt it. For awhile men rave over a pretty face, they get mighty tired of looking at it if there is nothing of intelligence or heart or soul behind it.

No matter how good-looking a girl is, no man want to take her stepping if she walks all over his feet when she dances, or if she shows no appreciation of his efforts to entertain her, or if she sits up and yawns through an exciting football game, or if she trumps his ace.

As these girls found out, any girl can make herself popular if she will develop a sideline of charms that more than compensate for her lack of naturally wavy hair or a Grecian profile. Try it, girls.

Hatfield Hall Graduate Wed In School Chapel

COBOURG, May 16—(ENS). — The chapel of Hatfield Hall Girls' School was the scene of a pretty wedding this afternoon at 4.30, when one of the graduates of 1939, Barbara Faye Pewtress of Ottawa, daughter of Captain and Mrs. John Pewtress of Cobourg, became the bride of Lieutenant Phillip William Cameron of the Governor General's Footguards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Norman Cameron of London. The ceremony was performed by Major W. Armstrong of Ottawa and Rev. R. L. Seaborn of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cobourg. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a maize chiffon gown with long pleated bodice, bouffant skirt in orchid and maize with a juliet cape with a shoulder-length maize veil. Her flowers were orchids and yellow roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Pewtress, who wore a replica of the bride's gown in a shade of new leaf green, with a cap made of mauve sweet peas from which fell a green shoulder-length veil. Her flowers were mauve and pink sweet peas and her accessories were green.

The chapel was decorated in cream roses and pink snapdragons and spring flowers.

After the wedding a reception was held at Renwood Farm, residence of Captain and Mrs. R. S. Robertson, where the bride's mother received in a draped grey crepe gown, bead embroidered with varying shades of orchid, and orchid accessories.

After the receptions, the newly-wedding couple left on a honeymoon trip, after which they will reside in Ottawa. The bride's travelling costume was a brown tailored suit with sable furs and brown accessories.

Among the out-of-town guests were the following: Col. and Mrs. G. O. Gillie, Lieut. and Mrs. O. Sutcliffe, Major Armstrong, Mrs. S. Christie, Captain and Mrs. C. McLaughlin of Ottawa; Lieut. P. Greenwodd and Lieut. B. Duhamel of Petawawa; Mr. and Mrs. W. Rombough, John G. Harkness, K.C.; Dunbar Harkness, Miss Ida Cline and Miss Margaret Benton of Cornwall; Mrs. P. J. Dykes, Miss Marian and Miss Stephanie Dykes; Mr. and Mrs. Lance Davern, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Harkness, Miss Phyllis Cork and Mr. and Mrs. E. Fletcher of Toronto; Miss Ainsley McEwen and Miss Kay Beckett of McDonald College; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cook, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Higginbotham and Mr. and Mrs. C. Palmer of Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Harrison, Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Don Cooey of Brighton; Mr. and Mrs. Brydon Millidge of St. Catharines; Miss Catherine Cameron, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. J. Sutherland, Mr. Ken Cameron and Mr. Donald Cameron; Mr. and Mrs. W. Shirley and two daughters, and Lieut. and Mrs. Norman Cameron, London.

Marmora

Deloro group of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild held an afternoon tea on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Brown. The drawing for the quilt also took place, the holder of the lucky ticket being Miss Joan Sandham.

Mrs. E. Lawlor was admitted to Belleville Hospital on Thursday evening.

Mrs. B. Lavender has returned to the village after a visit to relatives at Glenmire.

THEY SMASHED HITLER

LONDON—(CP).—At the end of the last school term every pupil of the German-occupied Channel Islands school was given a toy on which was painted a picture of Hitler. Next day compulsory street cleaning was ordered to get rid of the litter of smashed toys.

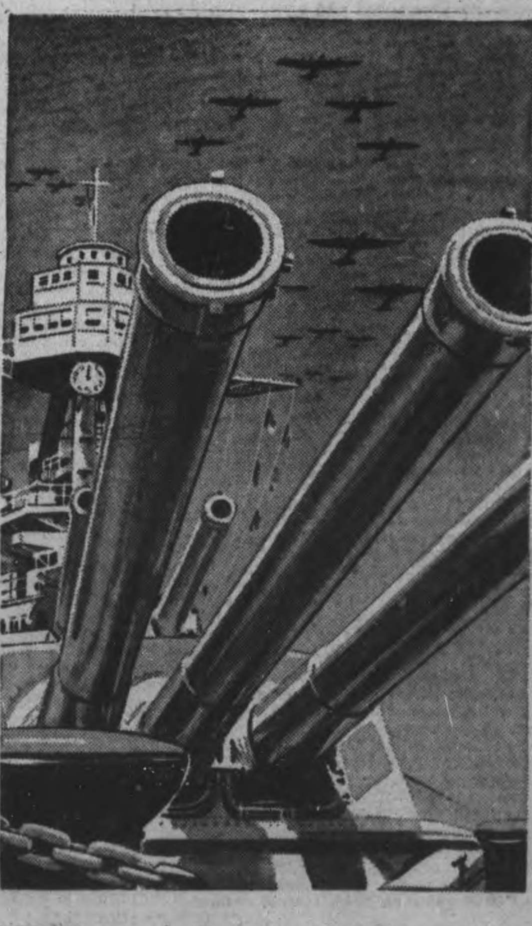
HELP THE MEN!



Who Are Behind The Big Guns of Our Navy

The men who man our ships of war are heroes. From the heat of the tropical seas to the icy blasts of the Arctic, our sailor men guard our shores and our merchant ships. Whatever we can do, little or great, to make the sailors life happier, we must do. That's why the Navy League was formed.

In Peterborough and all across Canada, the Navy League's workers are busy filling ditty bags with warm woollen mitts, socks, sweaters, scarfs, etc. to stop those frigid winds of the North Atlantic. The average cost of these ditty bags are $5.00 per bag.

Subscription Of $4,000 From C.G.E. Starts Drive In Peterborough Red Cross And Community Chest

Subscriptions of $4,000 from the Canadian General Electric Company and $215 from the employees of the Peterborough Utilities Commission started the Red Cross Society's campaign for $60,000 rolling toward its objective at the opening dinner in the Empress Hotel last night.

One hundred and one of the group captains and lieutenants of the various divisions that have undertaken this splendid enterprise of replenishing the treasuries of the Red Cross and the City's Community Chest were guests of the General Electric Company. Ian F. McRae, works manager, announced that the cheque for $4,000 was from the company itself, apart from its employees.

Further substantial encouragement was imparted in a report that Quaker Oats Company employees had exceded their financial quota of $1,400, and had completed their canvass at $1,440.

R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities Commission, informed the enthusiastic assembly of men and women that the employees of the Commission had voluntarily built up their $215 by deductions from their wages over some months in anticipation of the new appeal. Their job is likewise finished.

There were stimulative intimations that the Red Cross and Community Fund drive for this year are moving off with exceedingly bright prospects of accomplishment within a few days.

What Red Cross Does

Mayor Hamilton presided, and the guest speaker was Wills Maclachlan, electrical engineer with the Toronto Hydro-Electric Commission, who is in charge of the purchasing branch of the Red Cross.

Mr. Maclachlan reviewed on a broad scale the tremendously important and essential service of the Red Cross Society in this war, and also its peace time work in assistance to remote outpost hospitals and to communities stricken by local diasters

The Canadian public is fully aware and appreciative of the ramifications of the Red Cross, but several acknowledgments quoted by Mr. Maclachlan affording a bright reminder of the quality and value of what is perhaps more or less routine work of the Red Cross. One was a letter from Captain Fogarty Fegan of the British merchant ship Jervis Bay, which went down fighting a delaying action with a German raider, one of the British epics of the sea in this war.

Dead Voice From The Sea

Captain Fegan, who was posthumously awarded the Victoria Cross, wrote to the New Brunswick division of the Red Cross Society the following letter which concentrates in its tribute of gratitude the deep sentiments of those who share in he indispensible benefits which the Red Cross alone continuously renders.

In a sense this was a letter to the people of Canada whose contributions make possible the Red Cross and all that it represents and accomplishes. The letter was read by Mr. Maclachlan, dated from Saint John, N.B., September 4, 1940, as follows:

"Dear Sir:

May I ask you to convey to your president and committee our very deep appreciation of the maginficent gift of winter comforts that arrived safely on board yesterday afternoon.

Your generosity is on par with the wonderful hospitality that has been shown to us by Saint John during our stay here, and it is difficult to find words to express our gratitude.

From my own experience of the North Atlantic last winter, I know that your kind gift is going to be of the greatest value in the months to come."

Cablegram From Kuibyshev

Mr. Maclachlan also read a cablegram which he received from Stanislaw Kot, Polish Ambassador in Kuibyshev, in the Russian Ukraine, thanking the Canadian Red Cross for a large shipment of necessary materials including quantities of chocolate, Klim, condensed materials and other goods enlarged by 200,000 dozens of underwear for women and children. Ten weeks after receiving the appeal for aid to the Poles who had escaped to Russia, came the telegram to Mr. Maclachlan informing him of its arrival in the far-off Ukraine.

Those were examples of the long and beneficient arm of the Red Cross reaching into a distant country and bearing comforts to the men of a British ship to fortify them against the rigors of winter on the Atlantic. Mr. Maclachlan also told his audience of the relief that was given to Coventry, emergent and immediate assistance that was drawn from Red Cross depots in the Old Land for just such needs; of the blankets and clothing rushed by truck into bombed London; assistance given out of the resources of the Canadian Red Cross Society near and far, at home and abroad. He went into the details of the parcels that are sent through the Red Cross to prisoners of war in Germany and Italy, all the detailed work of purchasing, packaging and shipping.

Incidentally that appeal from Kuibyshev was received in this country on February 23 this year, and the grateful cablegram followed in ten weeks, on May 7, only a few days ago.

Mr. Maclachlan also outlined the importance of the new enterprise of the Red Cross, the establishment of the blood donors' clinic, the reducing of blood that does not require to be "typed" to plasma which can be sent anywhere in that form, and needs only to be mixed in sterile water for subsequent use. This innovation was the result of discovery by Lieutenant-Commander C. H. Best, who worked as student with Sir Frederick Banting on insulin.

"The Red Cross is but the expression of friendship and help of the people of Canada in doing those things which each of us must do to retain our faith in a sane world," Mr. Maclachlan said in concluding his highly interesting and inspiring address. He was introduced by Gordon S. Matthews, and a vote of appreciation of his coming to Peterborough to open the present campaign was expressed by Mrs. R. H. Turner.

Survive St. Lawrence Sinking

Mrs. Nathan Silverbeck and her two-year-old son, Michael, were passengers on board one of the ships sunk by a Nazi submarine in the St. Lawrence River. Mrs. Silverbeck is pictured with the captain of the ship bending over Baby Michael after finding haven in a Gulf of St. Lawrence port. Members of the crew of the ship were high in their praise for the bravery of Mrs. Silverbeck during the ordeal.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE STORY: Bill Talcott is accused of a serious shortage in his accounts by an auditor who has accompanied his successor, Halsey, who is taking over management of an American chemical plant on a Dutch island in the Caribbean. June Paterson, a cousin of Bill's college roommate, and a detective, MacDowell, also have arrived with Halsey. June and Halsey take a walk in the evening against Bill's advice. Suddenly June sees a figure behind Halsey, and screams.

MISUNDERSTOOD HERO.

CHAPTER V.

Leonard Halsey was not a small man. He had the rangy height of the squash and badminton courts; he was big-boned, long-muscled and trim. But before the native his stature was dwarfed. He was no coward; he stood his ground doggedly. But June Paterson saw with rising fear that the native was not looking at Halsey.

The huge man stared with sullen arrogance. His pupils were tiny, glittering fires in a sea of yellowish whites. Bulging muscles rippled smoothly beneath the velvety skin of his shoulders; his tremendous arms hung straight down with great hands laxly open. Never in her life had she seen such hands, such leashed crushing power. She had no strength to turn, to run; as in a nightmare her limbs refused response to the agonized call of her nerves.

She had no thought or opportunity to analyze Halsey's reaction. Outside of one startled gasp, no sound had come from his mouth. He stood transfixed, like a stubborn, obstructing post, and because he was in the way the native had to notice him.

"Stand where you are!" Halsey's voice was unnaturally thin. "What is the meaning of this?"

The huge man inspected him gravely as though weighing his strength and counting his resistance. A challenge he found there and imperceptibly his shoulder muscles tightened.

The thud of bare feet sounded on the beach and the bleat of the whistle shrilled with approaching volume as a squat, excited man brushed past. Thrusting Halsey bodily aside he danced like an enraged overweight bantam.

"You, Tomas!" the barefoot one shouted. "Wot you doing, hey? You know dis Baas Talcott's private beach! Want him to mash down on you, hey? An' you crazy fools back dere! T'ink I don't see you back here, hey? I, Sebastien, see you all right," and he began calling them off my name. Strange sounding names that breathed of the savagery of far-away lands. Under his yammering they shifted uneasily, turning their glances to the massive defiant leader whom he had called Tomas.

It's all a dream; it isn't real, she told herself. I shall awake soon to bright sunshine and flowers the cloudless blue sky and the lazy, sparkling sea. I don't see this man. There couldn't be such a man. It's preposterous, impossible.

The shaky reassurance drained from her. It was no dream. The damp sea wind was at her back and the island's stench was nauseatingly in her face. Her first reaction began to pass and with throbbing pulse life flowed back into her limbs. One though was uppermost; she must not act afraid. If she fled now she would precipitate a crisis. Her movement would dispel the slended margin held by Halsey and the grotesque little Sebastien. Aroused these natives could overpower them as easily as children. And if she ran, where would she run to? Abas was a tiny, sea-bound prison.

Why hadn't Bill Talcott come? Was he, in anger at his brashness, sulking in his house? Was he determined to teach her a lesson? He had warned her and she had been an utter fool. But that was no excuse for his remaining away.

Dully, with mounting terror, she wondered if Bill Talcott too, was afraid.

"All right, Tomas. Now that you've seen her, you may say hello."

Bill Talcott's calm voice was startling in its nearness. It came from her elbow although she hadn't herad his approach, hadn't seen his looming figure in the darkness. Suddenly the reaction of her fear washed her like battering surf, left her spent, wanting more than anything else in the word to cry. With the sound of that reassuring voice the madness of her dream faded.

"You've seen her," Talcott repeated in a quiet, normal tone. "Don't get much chance to see many ladies, do we?"

All other figures on the beach misted to insignificance. Halsey and the bulbous Sebastien, even she herself became unimportant. There remained only two, strangely like kings of the worlds of day and night; Bill Talcott and the huge native whose name was Tomas.

Quite casually Talcott said, "Miss Paterson, this is Tomas, one of my best workers. I'm sure he'd appreciate it if you'd shake hands with him."

Startled, she glanced from fear-dimmed eyes. Tomas' sullen arrogance was gone; with bewildering swiftness he had become a diffident, shy and rather frightened child. Awkward as a calf he stood, his great head inclined in embarrassment.

Somehow she found strength. Marched forward, held out her hand and said, "How do you do, Tomas."

Hesitantly his fingers touched hers; his muffled voice gave a repetition of her name. And then he turned and ran away. The other shadowy figures melted hastily into the rocks.

It was all so simple! Suddenly she was assailed by violent anger. There had been no danger. Bill Talcott had arranged all this. He had framed it so as to play the hero, to impress Halsey. A cheap trick arranged with his fat little foreman the moment she had slammed out of the house.

"You put on quite a show for visitors, don't you? she said icily as they were returning along the beach.

Bill Talcott made no response, but the bulbous little Sebastien turned square around. "Eh? Wot you say?" he gasped.

"I said it was an interesting show. Thanks so much."

"A show? Madre mia!"

Halsey wasn't so sure. "I'll give you credit," he said in grudging admiration. "You handled those chaps beautifully. If it was something you cooked up, it was very convincing."

"Cooked up!" Sebastien gasped again. His excited eyes sought Bill Talcott as if expecting a flood of protest. But the big boss made no defence. Slowly, as if tired, he plodded along the path with hard fathomless eyes held straight ahead.

They came up over the rim and the sanity of light gleamed from the bungalow. Perversely the canopy of clouds overhead parted to reveal the thin sliver of the new moon. The breath from the sea became stronger, forcing back the nitrate smell, and above the rustling fronds of the royal palms timid stars showed.

The stones of the terrace were echoing to their feet when June Paterson suddenly felt very small and very mean. She had done Bill Talcott grave injustice; had falsely accused him after he had saved her. And he a man who had been her friend, a man already sore beset by troubles of his own. Quick hot tears welled to her eyes and she moved blindly forward, putting a hand on his arm.

"I'm terribly sorry," she whispered. "It was utterly rotten of me. Please forgive me."

His head turned slowly. In his eyes there was no forgiveness, not even recognition. His eyes were dark, hard and fathomless as stone. His face and entire body seemed without the power of expression; he moved as if impelled against his will by an inward mechanical device.

Her tears would not stay down. In wild release they came, coursing unashamedly down her cheeks. And through them she saw the sight awaiting them in the doorway. MacDowell stood there, supporting himself against the jamb. An angry red welt glowed on his chin and a trickle of blood crept from the cover of his mustache. In his hand a snub-nosed pistol held unwavering, menacing bead on Bill Talcott.

Garage Is Used As Depot In Salvage Drive

The palatial quarters temporarily occupied by the Salvage Committee in the Metcalfe garage on Brock street, provide pleasanter, if not easier working conditions for the volunter workers. The garage has been used as a depository for the rags and waste-paper collected in East City during the past week or so. Two loads of rags and two of tied newspapers and magazines have already been sent from this depot, and when this reporter was there Mrs. Claire Collins, chairman of the Salvage Committee, was expecting to send out another truckload of paper and magazines on Friday afternoon. "We surely cleaned up East City," said Mrs. Collins.

The premises were cool, even in Thursday's heat and pleasant even in Friday's downpour. As pleasant, that is, as any Salvage Depot can ever expect to be. Sorting and tying newspapers and magazines, and baling scrap paper is hard, dirty work, even under the best of conditions. The building has served another purpose, too, that of publicizing the Salvage effort. At least one gentleman, seeing the ladies at work, went in and offered his services as a baler, which were gratefully accepted. Unfortunately this building cannot be used forever as a salvage dump. It is the one which the Red Cross is going to make into a blood donors clinic.

It really is a corker, the things that people will allow to clutter up their houses and offices until someone asks for them. Probably the dusty, bulky, age-yellowed bundle of papers entitled "Parliamentary Debates for 1941," would have cluttered somebody's attic for another 20 years if a war hadn't come along and sent the ladies out on a search for waste paper.

Farmers Urged To Plan For 1943 Wheat

Farmers are advised by the County Agricultural War Council to increase the acreage of fall wheat for next year's harvest. At their meeting here this week the council recommended that old meadows be broken up this summer and made ready for seeding with wheat later on in the year.

This committee agreed that the time to anticipate feed needs was now, and that wheat was generally a satisfactory crop for that purpose.

Possibility of a shortage of western grain for stock feed next year was mentioned as a condition which might develop. Western farmers are raising more livestock themselves; Great Lakes boats have been largely diverted to the transport of iron ore for the war industries; the effects of pooling grain with the United States; these and several other factors were mentioned as guides to farmers who tried to look ahead in their business and prepare for the future.

It was said that land throughout this county is exceptionally favorable for wheat production, and that this grain will enable farmers to make a more even distribution of labor throughout the season.

Meadows that are providing indifferent pasturage should be broken up in June and July, and put in shape for sowing of wheat in the fall. And for the best results farmers were advised to use fertilizer.

Subsidy for fertilizer in this feed campaign should be extended, the committee stated. Members decided to interview threshers in their respective neighborhoods regarding the employment of harvest gangs this year. That practice would afford an economy in time for everybody; the grain grower and the grain thresher. The farmer who was managing to get along without a hired man these days was saving enough money to pay for three or four men to help him at threshing time.

These were some of the practical topics discussed at the meeting which was attended by all but one of the members.

Select Local Calf

Holstein-Friesian breeders of the counties of Peterborough, Lennox and Addington and Hastings are co-operating to donate a high class pure bred heifer calf to be sold in the War Effort Calf Auction, which is being held in conjunction with the National Holstein Sale at Brampton, Ont., on May 27.

Last year through the sale of calves and donations, Canadian Holstein breeders raised $11,986.06 which was sent to England and used chiefly for shipwrecked mariners' relief funds. The gross receipts from the sale of the fifteen calves being donated by the County Holstein clubs in Ontario this year will be used for the same purpose.

The calf to represent the breeders of this district was selected from the herd of Matchett Bros., Peterborough, Ont., and is not only a heifer of splendid type, but is backed by choice breeding and good production records. She is sired by a son of Madoc Gandhi, a bull that is noted for raising the butterfat test, while her dam is a 3.92% testing daughter of Hays' Supreme, a noted show bull and sire of high producing daughters.

C. D. Graham, chief of Ontario Holstein Extension Service, and secretary of the War Effort Calf Auction committee, states that all fifteen heifers donated for sale are of similar high quality. Not only does the sale offer an unusually fine opportunity to buy the choicest of Holstein heifers, but, at the same time, to take active part in a most worthy patriotic venture.

OBITUARY

CLINTON LUCAS.

DOWNEYVILLE, May 16—(ENS)—The funeral of the late Clinton Lucas was held from his father's residence, 132 Alice Street, Oshawa, on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Gregory's Church, where requiem mass was said. Afterwards interment was in Oshawa Cemetery.

The late Clinton Lucas, born in Downeyville 22 years ago, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Lucas, received his education at the High School here also the Lindsay Collegiate, and was highly respected. His very sudden death was a great shock to his many friends. His parents moved from here to Oshawa in the fall of 1941 and he moved with them, but has been working in the Arsenal at Lindsay until he went home for the weekend. His death occurred on Monday.

The funeral on Wednesday was largely attended by many from here, relatives, neighbors and friends.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucas, one brother Clifford at home, three sisters, Loleta, Hilda and Doris, all at home, his two grandmothers, Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Lucas, also several aunts and uncles, all residing in Downeyville.

Double Jubilee Observed By Cobourg People

COBOURG, May 16 — (ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Page and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hircock of Cobourg jointly celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Thursday afternoon and evening. They were married in a double wedding at the Congregational Church in Cobourg by Dr. J. T. Daley, now deceased. Mrs. Page and Mrs Hircock are sisters, their names being Mary and Bella Falconer of Scotland.

An afternoon tea and reception was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Hircock with about 60 guests in attendance. The house as decorated with spring flowers and the table was decorated with pink and white carnations. Mrs. Fred Friend of Kemptville, formerly of Cobourg, and Mrs. George Page of Cobourg, poured tea assisted by Mrs. Jack Ovens daughter of Mrs. Sidney Page, and Jean Hircock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hircock. Also assisting ere Georgina Hircock, Olive Page and Ruth Friend of Kemptville.

In the evening about 32 old friends of the two couples held a bridge at which Mr. and Mrs. Hircock and Mr. and Mrs. Page were presented with sliver cake plates, Mr. Fred Friend making the address. Mrs. Robert Austen and Mrs. George Page presented the gifts.

John F. McMillan Dies In Cobourg

COBOURG, May 16.—(ENS)—John F. McMillan for many years superintendent of the counties home for the aged at Cobourg died this morning. He had been in poor health for some time. Interment will be in Orono on Monday.

AUSTERITY LOCOMOTIVE

LONDON—(CP).—"Austerity" is the British word for frill-stripped wartime style and it applies now to new locomotives. A 20-ton saving has been effected on each new engine by eliminating the metal front and running boards and other features.

No Happiness in the Home When Mother Is Sick

The tired, worn out mother cannot make a happy home if she is sick and worried by the never ending household duties.

She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, downhearted and discouraged, can't rest at night, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as when she went to bed.

Women suffering in this way may find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy with which to help recuperate their health, build up the run down system, and assist them back to health—happiness again.

Price 50c a box, 65 pills, at all drug counters.

Juvenile Crime Increasing Rotarians Told

COBOURG, May 16 — (ENS). — Rotarians had a definite field in juvenile work as a result of a number of juveniles going wrong partly because their fathers were in the army, Magistrate R. B. Baxter of Port Hope told Cobourg Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday. He suggested that Rotarians might take a fatherly attitude towards juvenile delinquents. Magistrate Baxter presides over police court in both Port Hope and Cobourg, as well as in other centres, and is familiar with juvenile cases in the two towns.

"Juvenile delinquency is on the increase at the present time," the Magistrate said, adding that in England there had been a 50 per cent increase and in Ontario a 15 per cent increase in the number of commitments to training schools. He pointed out that the amount contributed by Northumberland and Durham Counties for child welfare in 1941, exceeded by $1,000 the amount spent in the previous year. He stated further that the counties have to pay for the maintenance in training schools of all juveniles committed to them from the area.

"I was shocked recently when only 25 turned out to the meeting of the Children's Aid Society in Port Hope," the magistrate said.

Juvenilese Problem

Problem was not one of finding a juvenile guilty or not guilty but what to do with them afterward. He defined a juvenile as a person 16 years of age or under ho has committed some offense. He said that at that age the mind is very pliable and it makes a great deal of difference what is done in administering punishment for the offense. In reformatories, he pointed out, boys come into contact with boys who are much more experienced in criminal ways and they often became worse instead of better as a result.

"Th majority of juvenile crimes are thefts," said the magistrate. "In most cases they are not necessary as parents are providing them with enough money. The trouble seems to lie in an uncontrollable impulse to take things."

Not Born Criminals

Out of 511 children committed, 129 were found to have come from poor homes where the parents had no control over the children and 122 from good homes, where the parents likewise failed to maintain enough discipline. In contrast to the belief once held that those who were wayward had been born that way, law officers and others now regard environment as of great importance in bringing up a child. Out of the 55 children referred to, only 5 had been criminals of sub-normal mentality. In many cases it was found that the father was overseas and that the mother had lost control. In other instances both parents have been working in war industries, with the result that the children have been neglected and got into trouble.

Training schools are becoming filled with juvenile delinquents and the fact that one school was taken over for use of war prisoners, many of the juvenile offenders committed to that school had to be placed out with families.

"With so many fathers overseas and and in munitions work it seems to me that Rotarians could serve as fathers to some of these boys," the magistrate declared. When children were placed on suspended sentence and put in a private home, they could be aided by some member of the Rotary Club.

Lauds Chief Carey

Referring to local conditions, the Magistrate said that the first Cobourg juvenile case in five years came before him. Much of this good record was due to the work done by Chief of Police W. J. Carey, who had done very fine work among boys, helping them out in private to see the error of their ways rather than bringing them into court each time that they committed some small offense.

Magistrate Baxter was introduced by Crown Attorney Harry Deyman and the vote of thanks was moved by Bert Donnell.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Cincinnati and Brooklyn Dodgers set something of a record in strangely-played baseball games when, after 12 innings of shutout baseball in a National League game 23 years ago today, the Cincinnati club broke into a scoring spree to win the game 10-0.

This Week In Radio

Of interest to women is the announcement that starting this week CBL will present Ethelwyn Hobbes in a review of consumer information every morning at 10, Mondays to Fridays. Robert Taylor and Ralph Bellamy, two of the screens best actors will be starred in "Bomber to Tokyo", the play to be heard over CBL, Sunday at 5.30 p.m.

Conrad Nagel, star of many Hollywood pictures and Broadway stage productions, pays another visit to Toronto this week-end as the guest star on the "O'Keefe Show". Mr. Nagel's broadcast performance over station CFRB on Sunday evening, May 17th is dedicated to a special appeal on behalf of the Red Cross Campaign. Canada, through radio, salutes her ally, Norway on the 128th anniversary of her Constitution Day. The soldiers, sailors and airforce glee club which has been making quite a name for themselves in Toronto, having given a number of concerts will take part in the program which will also include a message from King Haaken of Norway. The program will be heard at 8.30 Sunday over CBL.

The historic trial of Nurse Edith Cavell will be recreated Tuesday at 9.00 p.m. over WJZ. Edith Cavell became one of the outstanding heroines of the first World War and has been praised throughout the world as a martyr to the cause of mercy. "Famous Jury Trials" will recount the series of events that led up to her trial in Belgium, including her part in the thrilling escapes made by British soldiers trapped behind the German lines at Mons. She was accused of treason against the Imperial German Crown and tried as a spy.

CFRB will broadcast the one-hour coast-to-coast program of the dedication of the Columbia Broadcasting Systems, new Latin-America network of 76 stations. Diplomatic celebrities, members of the "Met." opera, and a contingent from the film world will take part in the program—which will be heard at 9.30 Tuesday.

Another big variety show featuring stars of the New York stage and Hollywood will be given over CBL on Tuesday, May 19. The show will be under the direction of Dr. Frank Black and will be announced by Lorne Greene, chief announcer of the C.B.L. studios. The show will originate in the N.B.C. studios, and the services of N.B.C. and stars are being donated on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross National appeal for $9,000,000.

The lovely operetta "Maytime" is the opening program choice for a summer series on "Great Moments in Music", heard at a new time this week, Wednesday at 10.00 p.m., CFRB.

Dorothy Allan Park, Peterborough, distinguished soprano who will sing "The White Cliffs of Dover" and "Sonny" on the Red Cross broadcast over CHEX from the stage of the Collegiate auditorium on Sunday night commencing at 9 o'clock.

Sparkling Vocabulary Adds to Your Personality

Bill can almost see Sally as her friendly voice comes over the telephone. Her sparkling vocabulary gives added charm to her talk.

How he chuckles when she tells him about the Joneses' new French poodle, "just like a clump of neatly trimmed shrubbery rushing out to greet you."

And how his mouth waters as she speaks of those "crisp, golden muffins" she's planning for Sunday breakfast. (Can YOU make commonplace things vivid and amusing?)

Because she keeps her eyes open, picks up fresh colorful words and phrases from newspapers and magazines, Dorothy never resorts to worn-out comebacks like "You're telling me!" (How's YOUR repartee?)

And she's correct. You don't catch her saying "between you and I" for "between you and me," "hadn't ought" for "ought not." (What's YOUR score on errors in English?)

Chatting with old friends, meeting new ones, or talking to the boss, you need a good vocabulary—and our 32-page booklet tells you how to build it. Lists errors you're likely to make and gives correct forms. Explains meanings of words often misused, tells what slang isn't acceptable.

For your copy of "How to Imprive Your Vocabularly," send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the nome of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

USE THE INFORMATION

IF YOU have reached a high No Trump contract without giving any information of consequence about your cards to the opponents, and one of them doubles, it will ordinarily pay you to employ every resource to avoid finessing toward him. Unless you have promising ways to try to set up a suit, or a finesse or two which can be taken toward his partner, you probably will profit from trying to build a squeeze or lead-throwing end-play against the doubler

	♠ J 9 6 5 ♥ 8 7 5 4 3 ♦ 10 9 7 ♣ 4
♠ 10 7 3 2 ♥ A 9 6 ♦ A K J 6 ♣ 9 6	N. W. E. S.	♠ A K Q ♥ K 2 ♦ Q 5 4 3 2 ♣ A Q 2
	♠ 8 4 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ 8 ♣ K J 10 8 7 5 3

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	6 NT
Dbl

That terrific jump to slam was by Henry C. Meyer III, of New York's Union League club, who then proceeded to make his contract by throwing South into the lead at the right time. He took the heart Q with the K, ran five diamonds and three spades and, when the latter suit failed to divide evenly, played to the heart A and then led the 9, discarding the club 2 and putting South on lead with the heart J. South now had to lead from his club K-J up to the A-Q.

The same contract could have been made by a squeeze if he had been willing to give up the club 2 to the second trick and then run his set-up spades and diamonds, if he could have depended on South not to return another heart and take the A away as an entry to dummy. But South could not have been depended upon to do that, and consequently that effort would have failed.

Your Week-End Lesson

If your pair is using the Blackwood convention, what is the most efficient way to employ it when your hand is blank in the one suit bid by the opponents?

Save Boy In Tunnel

PORTLAND, Ore., May 16 (AP)—Alive but injured critically, 16-year-old James Harper was removed today from a rock tunnel in which he had been pinned for 13 hours. Strapped to a stretcher, he was passed down a long line of men and taken to a hospital.

The boy had lain under a shaky arch of rocks, with a 1,500-pound boulder on his lap pinning his legs. For hours after the slide he had joked with rescuers.

Sound Sleepers

SALT LAKE CITY, May 16—(CP)—The Edward G. Thomas family can't help admiring the skilful touch of the man who robbed them. The intruder visited their coal shed and removed a ton of coal while the family slept undisturbed less than 100 feet away.

Too Many Questions

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Miss Eva T. McAdoo, 52, who answered 90,000 questions a year, died yesterday. She was head of the "about the city bureau" of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and author of "How Do You Like New York" and other guide books.

Huns Fail

Nazi tank units were reported since to have been moved in small groups, utilizing available shelter in forests and fields.

Tass told of incidents in which about 1,100 Germans were slain, but there was no tabulation of total casualties and "hundreds" of others were said to have fallen.

Freeing the Ukraine.

A Moscow radio commentator, Maj. Goretsky, said 120 German tanks were destroyed in a single battle of armored units and the Ukraine was being liberated 'kilometre by kilometre.'

"The enemy is making fierce counter attacks, throwing in a large number of tanks," the commentator said, "but under the mighty pressure of the Soviet troops the Germans are being held back and are suffering heavy losses in manpower and equipment."

Roads of the German retreat were said to be marked by Nazi tanks, flaming or burned out, hit by Soviet bombs or shells.

"A large number of prisoners have been taken," the Soviet information bureau reported at mid-day. "Our troops have captured tanks, guns, motor vehicles, ammunition dumps and warehouses of war materials and provisions."

German losses were described as tremendous. Stubborn battles were said to have continued through the night on the Kerch peninsula, where Red army troops have yielded ground before Gen. Fritz Erich Von Mannstein's German - Rumanian assault units.

Far to the north, Red army detachments on the Leningrad front were said to have wiped out 1,200 enemy troops in three days and destroyed two field guns, six blockhouses and a torpedo boat.

Scouts operating at the enemy rear on the central front have wrecked four enemy army trains and more than 300 Germans lost their lives in the crashes, it was said.

German material losses were emphasized.

All In Three Days

The implication was that all this equipment was knocked out in the first three days of the battle" for Kharkov, key German bastion in the Donets basin, before which reserve-bolstered Red army veterans were dclared yesterday to have won strategic heights.

Conflicts in the Crimea to the south were dismissed by the midnight communique with a sentence:

"During May 15 on the Kerch peninsula our troops continued stubborn fighting against the enemy."

(The British Reuters news agency said German forces had temporarily occupied part of the strait port of Kerch but that they were overrun by a counterattack of Soviet tanks, artillery and infantry launched from Yenikale, 10 miles to the northeast. This report was datelined "On the German Front."

(Russian confidence in the ability of Lieut.-Gen. D. T. Kozlov's command to hold the invaders was indicated by a British radio broadcast which said farmers on the Caucasian mainland directly opposite the Kerch Peninsula, had just finished their spring wheat sowing— "and they've sowed 250,000 acres more than last year.")

The offensive across the Donets (which London reports said had cracked Kharkov's inner fortifications in at least two places) drew major attention here. The Moscow radio said it was "developing into an irresistible drive."

"Our troops are inflicting blow after blow on the enemy and making successful advances," the radio said. "The offensive spirit of our troops is rising every minute."

Piecemeal came details: A new tank battle was reported to have left 35 Nazi units in flames and 40 damaged. Russian units announced the capture of 17 German pillboxes; defeat of 1⅓ battalions of German infantry.

The Red Army employed the full technique of mechanized warfare. It blended swift manoeuvres and the art of camouflage. Dispatches said "tank landings" were used successfully, with infantrymen riding the armored machines into Nazi fortified zones and then leaping off to attack from the rear.

In general operations. Russian air units were credited with destroying or damaging 100 German tanks and 300 military trucks and partly annihilating three enemy infantry companies by attacks on various sectors of the front yesterday.

"In the Barents Sea Soviet planes sank one transport and two other ships," the Information Bureau said.

Leningrad front operations were reported to have led to the death of 2,000 more Germans and destruction or capture of 23 more of their tanks.

Canada Looks

"I may say that the mining of the sand itself is one of the major problems that has not yet been fully worked out," the Minister said.

The Federal Government in partnership with the Provincial Government in New Brunswick, was examining the oil shale deposits in that province.

"Arrangements have been made to further develop the wells on the Lower Mackenzie at Fort Norman," the minister said.

"Additional wells are being drilled, the refinery capacity is being increased, and a short pipe-line is being installed to bring the oil across to the location of the Alaska Highway."

The minister said conversations were proceeding with the British Columbia Government "which we hope will lead to an immediate and thorough exploration of the Peace River block in British Columbia which is regarded as a very probable source of oil and which is conveniently located to the railway for use on the Pacific Coast."

The minister, in reply to Mr. Black. said he had "no personal knowledge of the Nova Scotia shales but I shall be glad to refer his remarks to the Oil Controller and request that he send us more information as is available."

Mr. MacNicol made the specific request for a board of engineers to be set up to investigate the oil possibilities of the Athabasca River and urged that if prospects were found development proceed without delay.

Plenty of Oil There.

He said it was estimated that the Fort McMurray, Alta., region tar sands held 1,000,000,000 barrels of oil and that, with the Peace River district included. a source of 100,000,000,000 barrels of oil might be found.

There was some further discussion of the action of R. P. Bell. Director-General of Aircraft Production, in writing the aircraft industry asking that firms contribute to the financing of E. G. Hirst of Toronto in a campaign of morale building among aircraft workers.

Mr. Howe, who joined with John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) on Thursday in condemning this action by Mr. Bell read a resolution adopted by the Canadian aircraft industry, approving Mr. Bell's action.

On Thursday Mr. Howe had paid high tribute to Mr. Bell and said Mr. Bell's part in the transaction was dictated only by his enthusiasm. But the Minister added that he did not approve it.

Finance Minister Ilsley entered the discussion yesterday to say that there had been no arrangement with the treasury department to permit companies contributing to the fund to charge it to overhead stated in Mr. Bell's letter.

The letter had also asked aircraft plants to give printing contracts to Mr. Hirst as a means of compensating him for his work and Mr. Diefenbaker who raised the question, read a telegram from "Millways, Toronto" saying that the request for printing contracts had been sent to other than aircraft companies and that they had lost business as a result.

But Mr. Howe, after stating that he had taken steps to nullify the effects of the letters suggested the whole matter be dropped and nothing more was heard of it from the opposition.

Praise For Bell

Percy Black paid a high tribute to Mr. Bell. He said that credit was due to Mr. Bell for aircraft production in only a slightly less degree than to Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born peer who formerly was British minister of aircraft production, for production in Britain.

"May I pay him my respects and express my appreciation of the wonderful energy he has shown and the great accomplishment he has achieved in connection with the aircraft industry of Canada," said Mr. Black.

A discussion which has continued for years over refusal of Canadian authorities to allow United States goods to be transported in bond by highway trucks through Ontario between Detroit and Buffalo and other Eastern United States points, was revived by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. house leader.

He said that Canada's prestige in the United States was not as high as it might be and one contributing factor was the claim by a United States congressman that Mr. Howe was preventing transport of essential war material through Canada over that route.

Mr. Howe gave an outline of the efforts over the past seven years of a group to obtain the privilege of operating a transport line from Detroit through Canada to Buffalo for American goods in bond.

He said there had been no official representations to Ottawa but "high officials" had been involved in representations made on behalf of a private concern.

The whole matter now was being investigated by the board of transport commissioners, he said. Personally he did not favor "a little group of citizens setting up a monopoly on our highways."

Obituary

WILLIAM CURTIN.

DOWNEYVILLE, May 16—(ENS) —The funeral of the late William Curtin was held from the residence of his son, Thomas, Queen Street, Lindsay, to St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, for requiem high mass celebrated by Rev. Father Meagher. The cortage left Lindsay for Ennismore, where the remains were laid to rest in St. Martin's Cemetery, Ennismore, in the family plot.

The late William Curtin was born in Ennismore 80 years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Curtin, and was the last member of a large family. He came to Emily when a small boy, and lived in Emily until about three years ago, when he and his wife moved to Lindsay, where they have resided since. The late Mr. Curtin was a thresher by trade, and followed threshing for a number of years, then he started farming and remained a farmer until three years ago, when he moved to Lindsay.

He was twice married. His first wife was Mary Callahan, who died about forty years ago, and his second wife, Ellen Harrington, survives him, also two sons by his former wife, Joseph Curtin of Toronto and William of Windsor; also six children of the second marriage, two daughters, Mrs. Charles Venton (Emma) and Mrs. Alfred Finley (Irene), both of Lindsay; four sons: Thomas, David and John of Lindsay, and Edward of Downeyville.

The funeral was largely attended and the sympathy of the community is extended to his wife and family in their hour of sorrow.

FDR Wants More Air Transports

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP)—Declaring that more transport planes are needed, President Roosevelt told a press conference today that we are getting into actual fighting more and more and at more places all the time.

The President spoke of increased American fighting in various parts of the world during a discussion of his order permitting the War Department to take over control of all the planes of commercial air lines.

We need all the planes we can get, he said. Every kind is being taken over, he added, including what he termed puddle jumpers and one or two-man ships. He asserted that almost anything that can fly is useful to the Government.

The President did not elaborate on what new fronts American men might be fighting soon. Nor did he care to answer a question as to whether American troops had taken part in the British occupation of the French island of Madagascar in the Indian Ocean.

The airline order means that domestic airline travel will be placed on a full wartime basis in the near future, with the army operating or controlling the country's entire fleet of more than 300 transport planes.

Mr. Roosevelt recalled that it was not so many years ago that the American people got along without commercial flying services and without air mail and suggested that probably they could get along with a limited amount of these services now.

The people, he said, will understand.

YOU CAN STILL BUILD!

Essential Building Materials Are Still Available—

Building Costs Are Only Slightly Increased

Over recent months there has been a great deal of mis-information circulated about the cost of building and whether or not contractors can complete houses for civilian occupation—

HERE ARE THE FACTS—

1—You can still build homes under $5,000 without a license from the Controller of Construction—over $5,000 a license is necessary.

2—A contractor can still get all materials necessary for home construction

In addition to the foregoing, any building which you do will help to relieve the housing shortage and thus allow out-of-town workers to find accommodations.

Building Loans Under The National Housing Act Are Still Available

BUILDERS' SUPPLIES

Mr. H. T. Rehill of Rehill's Fuel and Builders' Supply strongly advises people to build their own home now. In his opinion, building costs will not go down for years, and if the ceiling control is removed, prices will go higher. Also the housing demands in Peterborough will not decrease after the war.

The Rehill Fuel and Builders' Supply can supply you with practically everything in this line, including Portland Cement, Paristone Plaster, Green Stripe Finsh, Lime, Gyproc Lath, Gyproc Wall Board, Donaconna Wall Board, Barrett Roll Roofing, Shingles, Cedar Shingles, Sewer Tile, Rock Wool Insulation, etc. Your enquiries are solicited.

FLYING HUN TANK WEDGES FAIL TO STOP RUSSIANS

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 18 —(AP)—With the Red Army closing in steadily upon vital Kharkov, battlefront dispatches reported today that the Germans were hurling flying wedges of tanks and trailer-carried troops into death traps in the Russian lines in a desperate attempt to break up the offensive now in its seventh day.

Pravda reported that these Nazis counter attacks on wheels and treads, as well as mass German parachute landing of as many as 120 troops at a time, had failed to check the impetus of the Russian thrust.

Already that drive has gained 12 to 37 miles over blood-stained battlefields littered with the bodies of 12,000 German dead and the wreckage of war materials hard to replace, the Russians announced.

(British military sources said Marshal Timoshenko's armies were advancing on a 100-mile front extending in an arc from Volchansk, 30 miles northwest of Kharkov, to Krasnograd, 60 miles southwest of Kharkov. These sources said that, although stiffened German resistance undoubtedly had slowed the Russian push in some places, it had been stopped nowhere).

Pravda reported that the Germans were using—and losing—tanks in constantly increasing numbers in an attempt to save Kharkov and safeguard the vulnerable southern flank.

The Community party organ said that in a single attack 150 tanks pulling armored trailers loaded with troops were hurled against Russan lines in an attempt to break through to a besieged Nazi position.

When the first attack was stopped the Germans followed up with 15 others during the same day, Pravda said. It reported that 18 tanks were destroyed in the first clash and 43 in the others, and said that where wedges were driven into the Russian lines they were smashed by intense anti-tank fire.

Reporting attempts to land troops from the air in back of the Russian line, Pravda said that swarms of 120, 50 and 30 parachutists had been dropped in recent operations but that two of these groups were wiped out to a man before even reaching the ground.

Nazis Stiffen Opposition In French Sky

9 Hun, 8 R.A.F. Downed In Sunday Battles, Canucks Raid Holland

LONDON, May 18 —(CP)— In fresh sweeps across the channel for more than two hours early this morning, the Royal Air Force continued today the hammering of targets along the French coast from Dunkerque to Boulogne.

Residents along the English coast heard heavy explosions, similar in power to those heard yesterday when the R.A.F. engaged in some of their biggest sweeps of the year.

Yesterday's fliers ran into their first real opposition in several weeks, hundreds of fighters battling for control of the sky over northern France. At least nine German and eight British planes were reported destroyed.

Meanwhile, the Air Ministry said that as a result of the pulverizing raids last month on the German Baltic city of Rostock there had been a "complete stoppage of all war supplies."

Rostock was an important outlet for war supplies for the Russian front.

The Air Ministry said that the Neptune Shipbuilding Yard and subfactories of the Heinkel Aircraft Works there were reported heavily damaged.

Hit-and-run air raiders swooped down upon a southeast coast town at dawn today and destroyed three

Scared By A Bear

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont., May 18—(CP).—A search is underway for Roger and Glen Holmes, brothers, aged five and six, of Alcona, Ont., lost in bushlands near Allan Lake since yesterday morning.

Jack Sutton and Robert Mosher of Sioux Lookout, both under 16, were with the Holmes boys on a picnic near Alcona but made their way out of the bush near Superior Junction last night. They said they had become separated from their friends after being frightened by a bear. Provincial police and men from here have left to join the search in the area 190 miles west of Fort William.

Pressing Turner Valley Oil May Ruin Field

EDMONTON, May 18.—(CP)— Amid speculation about possible solution of oil shortage problems in Western Canada, two questions arise so far as Alberta's Turner Valley Field are concerned. They are:

1. Can and will Turner Valley's production from present wells be increased to help meet any shortage?

2. Can new wells be discovered in Turner Valley and other Alberta fields to help meet the shortage resulting from greater war needs and the loss by the United Nations of rich fields in the East Indies?

Regarding the first question—Turner Valley wells at present are producing as much crude oil as possible under the Provincial Conservation Board's plan of winning the greatest ultimate supply of oil with the least wastage.

Less Oil Later

Production could be increased at present but this would result in less production in the long run and it is understand this step would be taken only in an emergency and at the specific request of the Dominion Oil Cnotroller.

Provincial officials are not in favor of ruining the field by excessive production immediately. The oil controller might decide to reduce consumption before ordering this step. If the oil controller feels present production should be stepped up to the maximum, provincial officials would agree despite their reluctance to ruin the field.

In connection with the second question—the possibilities of developing Alberta's oil resources and opening new fields are receiving more study today than ever before.

The world's largest oil companies have opened offices in Alberta and have sent their experts to investigate development in this province,

Fear Australia Too Optimistic

SYDNEY, Australia, May 18 —(AAP). — Prime Minister John Curtin declared in an address today that while Australia retained "the most serious devotion to the British Empire," he had been forced "to appeal directly to the United States because of the circumstances in which Britain was placed."

Meanwhile, one of Australia's leading publishers, Sir Keith Murdoch, wrote in the Melbourne Herald that the Allies were taking an unduly optimistic view of the situation in the South-west Pacific and that the Curtain Government must impress upon Washington the need of many more ships and planes.

"President Roosevelt's statement in his April 28 broadcast that 'there is good reason to believe the Japanese southward advance has been checked' is only symptomatic of the optimism that has obstinately colored Washington thinking about the Western Pacific," Sir Keith wrote.

Fresh Indians Relieving Burma Units

20 Miles From Assam; Chinese Clear Paoshan District

CHUNGKING, May 18—(AP).— British dispatches relayed here indicated the British forces at the estern side of Burma were withdrawing slowly in the Chindwin River Valley, and the main body was said to be within 20 miles of the eastern Indian province of Assam.

Fresh troops of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's Indian command were said to be replacing the tired units of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's forces as they streamed across the rugged, mountainous frontier.

The western bank of the Salween river northeast of Lungling in Yunnan province has been cleared of Japanese, a Chinese communique said today, indicating that an enemy threat to the important Burma road city of Paoshan had been removed.

The Chinese were reported advancing in this region thrusting back the Japanese who had driven to the Salween along the Burma road.

Another Japanese force advancing northward between the Salween and Mekong rivers in the eastern Shan states of Burma, some 250 miles south of the Yunnan battlefields, was said to have renewed its attacks after twice being repulsed by the Chinese. This fighting was southeast of Kengtung, capital of one of the Shan states.

Lost At Madagascar

VICHY, May 18—(AP)).— The death of Cmdr. Marcel Fontaine, 41, brother of Admiral Jean Darlan's chief of staff, in the battle for Diego Suarez at Madagascar was announced today.

Fontaine commanded the auxiliary cruiser Bougainville which was sunk in an engagement in Courrier Bay, Madagascar. He and the crew left the ship sinking and went ashore to take part in the land fighting. It was there that he met his death.

Gestapo Blocks Any Upheaval By Jaded Teuton

By EDWIN A. SHANKE

LISBON, May 18—(AP).—German civilian morale is slipping.

But that doesn't mean Nazidom is near internal collapse or that revolution is just around the corner.

Such an estimate of Germany today would be pure wishful thinking. For it must be remembered the Nazis keep the police-ridden country in hand, with a Gestapo agent behind every bush and every neighbor a potential informer.

But it does signify a letdown in the general day-to-day efficiency, a slackening in the German war effort, which in the long run will have a telling effect.

The sinking spirits at home are being transmitted in turn to the soldier at the front — honey-combing what until recently had been high morale. Letters from home convey to the soldiers part of the picture. Home leave, when granted, does the rest.

A series of elements began to undermine morale.

These included the flight of Hitler's confidante, Rudolf Hess, to England; the invasion of Russia; Nazi party favoritism; persecution of the churches; deterioration of food and general living conditions; false promises of peace; entry of the United States into the war; the dismissal of Field Marshal Walther

RAF Canucks Hit Cruiser Off S. Norway

Headed For Dockyard, Escorts Shot Up Attack Costs 9 Planes

LONDON, May 18—(CP).—British and Canadian airmen caught up with the German heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen off Norway last night and Beaufort torpedo planes scored two "definite" hits and one "probable" hit on the German waship which has been playing hide and seek with British spotters for more than three months.

The Prinz Eugen, which escaped from Brest in March with the battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, apparently was gravely damaged in the running fight off Lister, on the south-west coast of Norway, the Air Ministry said.

One attacking pilot said he saw a "great pillar of black dirty smoke" rise from the superstructure of the Prinz Eugen after his torpedo hit home. Two large explosions 15 seconds apart were heard.

Another pilot said he saw a sheet of flame spring from the cruiser after he attacked. He "got a glimpse of other torpedoes running well toward the ship," the ministry added.

Blenheim and Hudson bombers also attacked the ship with explosives and escorting Beaufighters raked the four escorting destroyers with machine-gun fire.

The Prinz Eugen it was stated, had been seen in exercises in Trondheim Fjord on Saturday. She apparently was trying to slip back to a German port from her refuge at Trondheim, where she had been holding out after being damaged by a British submarine.

The Prinz Eugen, one of the squadron of Nazi vessels which made a "daring run through the English Channel from Brest, France, last February, "evidently was making her way back to a dockyard in Germany," the ministry said.

The warship recently has been reported hiding out in Norwegian waters.

The British planes which carried out the attack on the Prinz Eugen raked the decks of four escorting de-

Chinese 'Dromes Wait Planes To Bomb Japan

OTTAWA, May 18 — (CP). — China is all set to bomb Japanese cities and industries as soon as it can get the necessary planes, Maj.-Gen. T. H. Shen, commanding general of Chinese Air Forces in the United States, told a press conference here to-day.

"We have provided the bases; the only thing we need is the planes," he said.

He declined to say where the bases are, but went so far as to assure a gathering of 35 Canadian and American newspaper correspondents and radio commentators that they are "within modern bomber range of Japan."

The general, who heads the Chinese air training operations in the United States, came here to represent his country at the Ottawa Air Training Conference. He said there are many trained pilots in China, but they are idle because of lack of planes, but that he hopes planes can be obtained soon. Air training had been carried on in China since the start of the war with Japan and was still carried on but it was necessary to send Chinese to the United States for training because of lack of equipment in China. Some aircraft were manufactured there.

50,000 Nazis Bolster Norse Posts

Over 100 Shiploads Of Supplies, Men Shipped To Dakar

LONDON, May 18—(CP).—Hitler has sent 50,000 combat troops into Norway since March despite the demand of the Russian front and has persuaded Vichy to send almost 500,000 tons of goods—largely war materials—as well as troops to Dakar, French West Africa, British sources declared today.

They said signs that the Nazis fear an allied thrust into northern Norway were evident also from a German army order that traffic on all roads leading north from the Port of Narvik to Tromsoe be limited to military transport and from the dispatch of several Austrian mountain regiments to the area between Narvik and Kirkenes.

Norwegian government circles here reported that a new group of 160 teachers had been sent to forced labor on military fortifications in the Kirkenes area in the far north of the Finnish border in addition to the original 500 sent to the same area.

Large numbers of German air force ground crews have been sent into northern Norway to operate new airdromes from which the Nazi planes are harassing convoys taking British and United States goods to Russia, it was said.

Troops to Dakar

Shipping reports are said to reveal that Vichy has been sending large quantities of war materials and "substantial" numbers of troops to Dakar from Marseille since the first of this year.

More than 100 cargo ships have left the port, many of them closely supervised by the French-German commission, since January, reports said.

It was reported that this shipping showed a great increase during March and April, and a breakdown of the cargo lists revealed the major proportion was devoted to war materials, particularly airplanes, trucks and tanks.

One entire tank brigade was reported to have gone to Dakar as a unit.

The French ships are said to hug the Spanish coast then dash across to Spanish Morocco and then down the North African coast to Dakar.

Ottawa To Help In Farm Service

HAMILTON, Ont., May 18—(CP). —Convinced that farmers will have to look to older school students to a much greater extent to assist them in harvesting their crops, the Federal Government has agreed to a dollar-for-dollar grant to the Ontario Government to organize this new labor force on a much wider and stronger basis, Hon. The minister said announcements would be made soon on the Government's manpower policy for industry and agriculture. He will meet E. M. Little, Director of National Selective Service in Ottawa to-morrow, and after this conference details of the program will be made available.

Axis Civilian Apathy Creeping Into Army

Released War Writers Find War Weary Germans Yearning For Any Kind Peace

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Associated Press Staff Writer

Out of the black night which lies over Germany and Italy come the first adequate and entirely dependable analyses of enemy morale since the Axis declaration of war on the United States: The stories of the American correspondents who have been interned in the Third Reich and in that German province which lies south of the Brenner Pass.

Walls did not a prison make for these reporters, for even with their limited contacts with their keepers, they were able to keep a sensitive finger on the pulse of the peoples with whom they had worked. Their reports, now coming from neutral Portugal, are of the utmost importance. They are required reading for anyone who wants to get a clear picture of the nature and magnitude of the Allied task in winning the victory.

First of all, these stories are excellent antidote for wishful thinking, for they are careful to point out the folly of expecting riot and rebellion in nations where the Gestapo pistol is close to every head.

Paradoxically the stories are powerul arguments for the speedy creation of a fighting front in Western Europe, for they make it very plain that the dry rot of sullent apathy and hopelessness among the German and Italian people is creeping steadily into the Axis armed forces whose task it will be to combat Allied invasion on the continent.

The most unmistakable point of all these accounts is this: The utter weariness of the plain German and Italian people with the war they did not want, and their overwhelming yearning for almost any kind of a peace.

How little patriotic fervor is left to most of the Axis folk can be read in the dozens of instances which the correspondents cite of the scheming to defeat the ration rules, the mushroom growth of black markets and the sinister rise of special privilege. There is a plain warning in that, to the Allied peoples of what to expect from the Axis rules as an inevitable consequence of the present attitude of the populations which they must, at all costs, attempt to hold in line.

"Peace," says one story today from an Associated Press correspondent just arrived in Lisbon, "is the straw which the Nazis are holding out for the nation to clutch."

That, therefore, is the thing to remember as the Axis "peace offensives" flicker and fade, as they are bound to do in coming months.

No longer able to convince Germans and Italians that the decisive military victory is just around the corner, the Nazi rulers will find it imperative henceforth to keep somewhere on the horizon of their darkened nations the elusive mirage of an early peace—the peace of a stalemate.

That these desperate efforts will be merely mirages, completely devoid of substance or sincerity, there can be no doubt at all.

It will be increasinly important that the Allies quickly recognize them as such.

Harwood Replaces Cunningham In Mediterranean

LONDON, May 18.—(CP)—Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham has been named head of the British Admiralty delegation in Washington and Rear-Admiral Sir Henry Harwood already has arrived in Alexandria to succeed him as commander-in-chief of the British Fleet in the Mediterranean, the Admiralty announced today.

It was stated that Admiral Cunningham, who succeeds Admiral Sir Charles Little, will leave for Washington shortly.

Admiral Little has been appointed commander-in-chief of Portsmouth naval base.

Admiral Harwood is given the acting rank of Admiral. His recent post has been Assistant Chief of Naval Staff at the Admiralty.

"Bobbie" Harwood is described as a "master tactician." He received a knighthood and special promotion from commodore to rear admiral in December, 1939, after he led the successful cruiser action against the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee off the estuary of the river Plate.

Stalled Motor Drowns 12

B.C. Pontoon Tragedy Explained By 5 Survivors

VANCOUVER, May 18.—(CP). — The Vancouver Sun in a newspage story Saturday said a stalled outboard motor was responsible for the drowning of 12 United States army engineers last Thursday near Fort St. John, B.C., while engaged on work in connection with the Alaska Highway.

The Sun quoted "a man who has just returned from the scene of the tragedy" as saying a party of 17 men were ferrying a tractor and other equipment on a pontoon powered by two outboard motors when the accident happened. The informant said one of the motors stalled, causing the pontoon to turn sharply to one side and carrying it into its own wash where it quickly capsizes under the heavy load.

Only five of the 12 men managed to reach shore, where they were found early Friday by a searching party, huddled in a deserted shack.

RUSSIANS SLAY 12,000 IN 37-MILE DRIVE ON KHARKOV FRONT

Soviets Retake 300 Centres Wreck Over 400 Tanks; Fighting Still Rages At Kerch

Huns Flung Back On Kalinin Front, Red Tanks, Cavalry Pour Through Breach South Of Kharkov, Toward Dnieper

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 18—(AP).—The Red Army's mighty offensive on the Kharkov front roared into its seventh day today with the Russians advancing 12 to 37 miles in bloody fighting, during which they killed 12,000 Germans and destroyed or captured vast quantities of enemy equipment.

A special communique, triumphantly announcing these Soviet successes during the period May 12-16, declared the drive was continuing unabated and the army organ Red Star asserted German resistance had been "definitely broken" in one sector.

The special announcement did not mention the si ation on the Crimean front to the south, but the regular communique issued last midnight by the Soviet information bureau declared fighting still was raging near the city of Kerch, which the Germans said Saturday they had captured.

At midday today, the next regular Soviet communique reported that the Red Army's Kharkov offensive had persisted through the night and that Russian forces still were locked in "a severe battle" in the Kerch region.

The bulletin said the Germans were offering stubborn resistance before Kharkov but said the Russian advance was continuing.

In one sector of this front Soviet troops killed 800 Germans in fierce combat, while in another sector they dislodged the Germans from a strongly-fortified point.

300 Towns Recaptured.

German attacks on the Kalinin front—the general area north-west of Moscow—were beaten back with heavy losses, the communique added.

In detailing the results of the fighting before Kharkov, the Russians said they had recaptured more than 300 populated places and approximately 1,200 German soldiers had been taken prisoner.

"We destroyed 400 German tanks, 210 guns, 33 mortars, 217 machine guns, about 700 trucks, more than 100 supply carts, 12 dumps of various kinds, and 147 planes," the Information Bureau declared.

Among captured equipment the Russians listed 365 guns, 25 tanks, 188 mortars, 90 trucks, 23,384 mines, 13,000 hand grenades, and vast amounts of ammunition.

All these figures, it was explained covered only the first five days of the offensive, which began last Tuesday, and the Information Bureau indicated that still greater successes could be expected.

Red Star painted a picture of a disordered German retreat, with Russian tanks and cavalry pouring through a great breach in the enemy lines. It did not specify the sector where it said German resistance had been smashed, but other Russian reports said a Red force flanking Kharkov was approaching Krasnograd, 60 miles to the south-west.

SOVIETS RETAKE

Police and plain clothes men were in a general state of alarm. Nazi wardheelers in mufti circulated in cafes and bars and other public centres to report anyone discussing the Hess case.

The departure of Hess was the first big smashup in the Nazi hierarchy since the blood purge of 1934. No amount of hushing could minimize its repercussions. When officials tried to explain the flight as the act of a "crazy man," the people asked themselves "Are we being ruled by crazy men?"

Then came the invasion of Russia. Germans were not prepared for it mentally. The advisability of tackling such a giant—with Britain unconquered—not only shook the military and political leadership from top to bottom, but for the first time shook general confidence in the ability of the Nazi military machine to swing anything it started.

Not even Hitler's tremendous victories against the Russians could change the conviction in the minds of a majority of Germans that he had tackled a job he couldn't finish.

Casualties Bring Questions

"We've lost the war," was the common judgment.

The obvious efforts to hide the heavy caualties of the Eastern campaign began to make Germans question for the first time the veracity of the high command's war communiques.

Propaganda phrases such as "our losses are low when compared with our successes," didn't sit well.

Though Hitler announced astonishly-low casualty figures, the law of averages told the Germans the figures couldn't be right. The Eastern campaign struck close to home. Everyone could count relatives or friends within their small circles who had fallen or been badly wounded, and then strike an average.

The heavy losses hurt morale at home. At the same time, mothers, fathers and sweethearts of soldiers were receiving vivid accounts of the hardships and horrors on the Russian front.

Nazi persecution of the Catholic and Protestant faiths had embittered the faithful. Many find religion their last confort. By depriving them of the privilege of free practice of their faith, the Nazis alienated millions and drove a wedge deep into the inner front.

Housewives spend most of their time day after day, standing in long lines to get food. Recollections of the hungry days after the First Great War have been awakened.

Germans with "connections" are perhaps the only exceptions to-day. "I have a friend in the party" has become the formula for squeezing extra rations out of the storekeeper and exacting special privileges.

Illegal traffic in clothing and food rationing cards by petty Nazi officials at prices as high as 100 marks a card is widespread and countenanced. There is always a vacant apartment for an SS man or a loyal Nazi, although the ordinary German can't find one at any price.

Bureaucracy and overlapping duties have grown out of hand to provide party favorites with soft wartime jobs at a safe distance from the fronts.

And so it goes—at the expense of the public morale, for such practices become known rapidly.

Peace is the straw which the Nazis are holding out for the nation to clutch. In the meantime Goebbel's propaganda machine is feeding the Germans a one-sided 'victory' diet—so one-sided, in fact, that most Germans once really believed the eastern campaign was won last October and the Russian army "destroyed."

Hess A Traitor

In the German mind today, Hess is a traitor who flew to the enemy to reveal Hitler's general war strategy to Britain. The Nazis quickly hushed the Hess incident, but that didn't prevent Germans even at the risk of their heads from tuning in on the BBC for news. The BBC probably never had a higher number of listeners in Germany than during that period.

Nothing disclosed the panic in high Nazi quarters be er than the steps taken to counteract the demoralizing effects of Hess' flight.

Peterboro Youth Committed To Stand Trial

That a beer bottle found by detectives on the island in the Otonabee River where 17-year-old Warden Andrews says he was knocked out and robbed by Joseph Cleary, 22, bore a finger print identical with the print of the right index finger of Cleary, was the evidence given in police court this morning by Detective Sergt. Oliver Borland, finger print expert of the Toronto Police Department, during the preliminary hearing of a charge of robbery with violence against Cleary.

Previous to this expert testimony Andrews had told of being hit twice over the head with what he believed to have been a beer bottle.

Cleary was committed for trial. His counsel, Hon. G. N. Gordon, did not call any evidence. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Andrews told of cashing his pay cheque in the store of Louis Billiards on the morning of the day upon which he said he was assaulted. Cleary was present and could see what took place, Andrew said. Later that morning he had seen Cleary in the American Hotel and had sat at the same table with the accused and two other men and some beer had been drunk. Later they had gone to the Windsor Hotel for a short time, and Andrews said that he had not had any beer there. The waiter had refused to serve him and in any case he said he did not want any.

Hired a Canoe

Then Cleary and he had walked down to the neighborhood of O'Dette's boathouse after Cleary had suggested a canoe ride. Andrews gave the accused a dollar to hire a canoe and Cleary had suggested that Andrews wait a short distance north of the boathouse until the canoe was obtained.

Then they started out with Cleary paddling and Andrews sitting in the front of the boat. They went to the nearest island and Andrews swore than Clearly asked him to hold the canoe until he got out.

"I had one foot in the canoe and the other out and was holding to the bushes with one hand," said the witness, "when I was hit over the back of the head with what I took to be a beer bottle. I had seen a bottle in the canoe back toward where Cleary was. I was knocked out."

Andrews said that when he came to and tried to get up he was hit over the head again and this time was unconscious for some time. The canoe was gone, when he revived and he swam over to the next island, and from there to the Ashburnham shore. There he discovered that his money amounting to $25 or $27, a watch, his wallet and a key belonging to his brother's house were gone.

Key On Island

Andrews said that he had gone to the island several days after with Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Officer Archie Menzies, and there the key to his brother's house had been found, as well as a beer bottle.

Fifteen-year-old John Sullivan testified to seeing Warden Andrews near the end of the C.P. bridge on the afternoon of May 8 and said that Andrews was very wet as if he had been swimming. Joseph Nolan, Downer's Corners, swore that he saw Andrews a little later on the same day at Hunter and Burnham Streets and noticed that Andrews was wet and had a cut on his head.

Harry Andrews, brother of Warden Andrews, described the injuries he saw on his brother's head after the alleged attack.

Detective-Sergt. Meagher described a trip to the island where a key and two beer bottles had been found. The key was found to fit the back door of the home of Andrews' brother. Detective-Sergt. Meagher said that he and Officer Menzies had taken the two bottles to Toronto and turned them over to Detective-Sergt. Oliver Borland of the Toronto police department along with a set of Joseph Cleary's fingerprints, and this evidence was corroborated by Officer Menzies.

Detective-Sergt. Borland said that there were no fingerprints on one of the bottles but on the other he had found a print that was identical with the print of the right index finger of Cleary. Fingerprint experts agreed that twelve points of resemblance were sufficient to identify finger and in this case there were fourteen pints of resemblance.

CHIMNEY FIRE

North End Salvage Collection Being Planned For Thursday

Salvage collection has been organized for two more areas. On Thursday next, May 21, the extreme north end of the city from the west bank of the Otonabee to the western limits of the city, down as far as both sides of Parkhill, including the wartime houses and that thickly populated portion of Smith Township adjacent to the city will be undertaken.

The response from Ashburnham was tremendous and as the collection proceeds it is expected it will gain in volume. Collections will be made from north to south and the one form May 28 is both sides of London street right across the city from the river and everything in between London street and Parkhill road.

There is no doubt but that Ashburnham has set a record, and it is up to the west side of the river.

The collection of paper will commence at eight o'clock in the morning and if paper could be sorted it would be appreciated. That is all newspaper should be tied in one bundle, all magazines in another bundle, and miscellaneous paper in still another. If the large paper boxes that are put out could be broken down it would help greatly. Rags are also collected at 8 o'clock.

Collection of rubber, bottles and metals will begin at 6 o'clock in the evening and will continue until everything is picked up. There will be more trucks, more helpers of every kind to make a quick clear up.

As this is house-cleaning time go over your premises thoroughly and put out every bit of salvage that is mentioned above. Push-cart men will be restricted from areas in the future when a collection is being made.

Gas Ration Saves 255 Million Gals.

OTTAWA, May 18—(CP).—Use of all the coupons under gasoline ration books issued to date would mean a consumption of 725,015,060 gallons of gasoline in the year commencing April 1, 1942, it was reported in a return made in the House of Commons for John Deifenbaker (Con. Lake Centre).

Total gasoline sales reported to Provincial taxing officials in 1941 were 980,426,030, the return said.

To date 1,362,510 ration books have been issued, 663,824 in the lowest category, "A." Licenses for other categories are divided: "B," 275,112; "BX" 83,483; "C" 59,863; "D" 14,975; "E" 2,047; commercial, 251,375; non-commercial marine, 11,826.

The recategorization of licenses now under way will "materially change" downward the amount of gasoline to be consumed, the return said.

but a handicap was lack of materials.

"Do you think you will be able to keep on fighting now that the Burma Road is closed?" Gen. Shen was asked.

"Sure we can," he said. "We have been fighting for five years."

A Qualified Flier.

The General—a short, slim, youthful man—wore a khaki uniform with high collar. On his chest he had wings, indicating his qualifications as a pilot.

He said he had not actually flown against the Japanese but had commanded Chinese air forces in action. "On one occasion when the Japanese sent bombers from Formosa against Nanking without fighter protection the Chinese shot down all the attacking planes. On another, in Northwestern China, they shot down 20 Japanese two-engined bombers.

China will never make a separate peace with Japan, he said. His country had labored under transportation difficulties since the beginning and these difficulties were greater now than before, but there would be no stopping before victory.

Japan can not stand a long war, the General said. Its industrial resources were not great enough. The losses it had suffered in the air were serious because the Japanese aircraft industry was not large.

China wanted aircraft, not merely to bomb Japan but to interfere with Japanese lines of communication which now were greatly extended.

one of the few known areas outside the United States available for development.

Some of the large companies just establishing in Alberta have announced definitely they plan drilling and the others all are watching developments closely. Meanwhile the large Canadian companies are continuing their activities.

No Equipment.

Some Alberta oil men have said increased development in Turner Valley and other provincial fields is not probable because most of the available drilling equipment now is in use in the present intensive program or is earmarked for wells for which locations have been selected.

However, more equipment may be available as soon as Canadian and American officials sign an expected agreement granting priority to the Canadian petroleum industry for equipment available in the United States. This agreement is being discussed now and it is hoped it will be signed soon.

Expansion of present oil fields is most likely to be made in the north end of Turner Valley and in the Vermilion-Wainwright field but oil men are hoping other fields may prove to be big producers.

Turner Valley, southwest of Calgary, is the major field and produces nearly all the crude oil supplied from Alberta but there are numerous minor fields—some just being tested for the first time, others having been probed for some time.

Among other fields attracting attention is the Vermilion-Wainwright area 150 miles east of Edmonton where a large firm now is financing development. Some believe there are great possibilities in the Pouce Coupe area, 350 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Trinity College Wins Earl Jellico Award

LONDON, May 18.—(CP).—Canada won the Earl Jellicoe sword for the best large senior rifle unit in the Empire and took fourteen positions in the honors list of the best 100 units of the Empire, it became known to-day when results of the King George V Trophy competition and the 1941 Imperial Challenge Shields competitions for boys of the Empire was announced.

Canadian marksmen failed to qualify in the shoot for the trophy, which was won by South Africa. The trophy is awarded the country showing the highest musketry efficiency in the Challenge Shields competition.

Trinity College School, Port Hope, Ont., which placed second in the honors list, won the coveted sword. The average number of points scored by the young collegians was 94.65, a little more than a point better than a South African team.

In Junior Shield competition Dufferin Public School (Toronto) Cadet Corps, placed second to another South African team. The Canadians scored an average of 91.662 agains the winners' 91.8.

Lieutenant S. J. Batt, instructor of the victorious Trinity College team, was awarded the silver instructor's medal and H. S. Campbell, who trained a Trenton unit, won a similar bronze medal.

Battery Holds Outdoor Scheme

One hundred men of the 4th Field Battery were ambushed on McDonnel street late Sunday afternoon, and according to the eight guerilla fighters, armed with cap guns, and a toy machine gun the casualties were severe. The eight youngsters spotted the artillery men as they marched past the clubhouse east on McDonnell, returning from a trip to the country. Like a swarm of bees, the kids rushed to the roadside smuggled down in the grass, and proceeded with their imaginary ambush of the men. The rat-tat-tat of the toy machine gun was ringing in the ears of the soldiers as they marched by.

On Sunday afternoon these men of the 4th Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, Reserve, combined with the 45th Battery, R.C.A. Reserve from Lindsay, to stage a practical outdoor scheme in the vicinity of Lily Lake. They had lunch out on the manoeuvre.

Capt. W. H. Ackhurst, commanded the 4th Battery, and Capt. W. Smith of the Grove, Lakefield, commanded the 45th Battery from Lindsay. Lt.- Col. D. J. Lawrie, officer commanding the 4th Brigade acted as referee, and with him were Major A. H. MacDonald, adjutant of the Brigade from Cobourg, and Capt. G. H. Dundas, O.C. of the 22nd Battery, Cobourg.

J. F. McMillan Is Laid To Rest

COBOURG, May 18—(ENS)—The funeral of the late John F. McMillan, superintendent of the counties home of Northumberland and Durham, who died at Cobourg on Saturday morning, took place this afternoon in Orono. The service held at Cobourg and Orono was conducted by Rev. W. P. Woodger of Trinity United Church, Cobourg. The pallbearers were W. W. Mutton, Carl McMillan, John McMillan, Bruce Thompson, Austin Maher and Russ Hannah.

The late Mr. McMillan, who was 85 years old at his death, was one of Cobourg's best known and esteemed citizens. In his 34 years as superintendent of the counties home, his kindly attitude towards the inmates was well known. He was born in Cavan Township and before assuming his post as superintendent of the counties home he farmed at Kendall. His farming evperience served him in good stead in managing the farm at the counties home. For some years he served on the counties council of Northumberland and Durham.

The late Mr. McMillan is survived by a sister, Mary McMillan in Toronto; two sons, Carl in Toronto and Clarence, overseas and three daughters, Florence of Toronto; Mrs. Bruce Thompson, matron at the counties home and Mrs. Austin Maher. His wife died in 1928.

Cobourg Given $1,100 Rebate From Utilities

COBOURG, May 18 — (ENS). — Cobourg Public Utilities Commission handed over to the town of Cobourg the street lighting rebate, amounting to about $1,100, at the adjourned meeting of the Commission. A motion of Commissioner Jack Delanty, seconded by Chairman Harry McGuire was passed which authorized the transfer of the account. This is in accordance with a recommendation of the auditors and also with Mayor Jack Burnett's request that the funds be rebated to Cobourg.

The Commission has issued a call to the former gas consumers of Cobourg, who having no further use for gas water heaters since the gas plant closed, might desire to dispose of them. A letter from Peterborough Utilities Commission requested the Cobourg Utilities Commission to ascertain if Cobourg had any second-hand gas hot water heaters which the owners might be willing to sell, as there is a shortage of them in Peterborough. The Cobourg Commission therefore has issued a request to Cobourg consumers to get in touch with Arthur McIntosh, the manager here, and acquaint him with their intentions in regard to selling their heaters.

A letter from G. E. Chase, secretary of the Eastern Division of the O.M.E.A., pointed out that at an executive meeting recently held at Bowmanville, consideration was given to a recent decision of Mr. Justice Cannon in which he ruled that local electric utilities did not come under the provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act. The parent section of the O.M.E.A. suggested the local Federal members be urged to oppose any legislation which would alter that status. The feeling of the Eastern Division of the O.M.E.A. had been that perhaps the Utilities Commissions might view the matter in the light of a just assumption of tax liabilitiets. However the Cobourg Commission had not been informed by the O.M.E.A. at a previous date of the ruling of the judicial umpire in the matter and accordingly tabled the current letter until more information had been supplied the Commission. The following accounts were passed:

Electrical—Bell Telephone, $18.21; Cobourg Auto Collision, $10.54; Bolton Machine Shop, $4.25; H.E.P.C. $225.94; P.U.C. of Cobourg, petty cash, $35.60; P.U.C. of Cobourg, wages, $380.24; total $674.78.

Water Department — J. Gillard, $9.84; J. Pellow, $45.56; P.U.C. of Cobourg, Electric Department, $187.40; C.N.R., $10.00; Nicholls Chemical Co., $15.39; Ashdown Hardware, $2.31; Dundas, $2.31; Neptune Meters, $707.00; R. Austen, $5.75; R. Patterson & Son, $20.02; W. L. Allen, $8.65; P.U.C. of Cobourg, wages $418.10.

Prizes Are Offered Empire Day Essay

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16. — (ENS).—As a part of its educational work the local I.O.D.E. will give prizes to pupils in Grades VII and VIII of either of the public or separate schools for an essay on Empire Day This was announced following the regular meeting on Friday when it was also decided to increase the value of the annual general proficiency scholarship awards for entrance pupils from $3.00 to $4.00.

Routine reports were given during the evening with S. Hopping outlining the work done by the war conveners and expressing thanks to Mrs. M. Blakely, Seymour West, for a carton of babys clothing donated to the Chapter. Mrs. Carl Johnston, sewing convener, revealed work had begun on dresses and other apparel for girl refugees and Mrs. J. M. Ferris announced citizens were stilll responding with co-operation for the weekly salvage collection.

Since January 1st some 16,000 cigarettes have been sent to boys in the armed forces serving in England, according to Mrs. F. Free.

Following their practice the Chapter observed a minute's silence in honor of Sgt. Harold Taylor, who was killed as the result of an airplane crash in Newfoundland on May 6th. They also sent a letter of sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Liberals Name Officers.

The local Liberal Association held its annual meeting here on Friday evening, with R. D. 'Dick' Cole being re-elected chairman of the Association. There was a fair attendance. ficers was no more than a formal-Re-naming of the entire slate of ofity and there was no other business. Ward chairmen are: Ward 1, H. A. MacArthur; Ward II, Frank Godkin; Ward III, R. H. Cole; Ward IV, Fred Bush.

Memorial Service At Burnbrae For Sergt. Pilot Harold Taylor

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18 (ENS) —What was described as the largest crowd that had ever assembled there, thronged Burnbrae Church six miles east of here on Sunday morning when a memorial service was conducted for Sgt. Harold F. Taylor, who was killed in an airplane crash in Newfoundland on May 6.

As evidence of the esteem in which Sgt. Taylor, who was Seymour township's first casualty of the war, was held, more than five hundred people representing every section of Seymour township, Campbellford and surrounding communities attended.

Rev. Donald McKay conducted the service and Mrs. McKay presided at the organ in place of the bereaved mother, Mrs. G. V. Taylor, who sat with her husband and three children near the front of the church where also sat four unidentified airmen, three members of the local militia unit headed by Lieut. N. Alex. MacColl, 2nd Lieut. Earl Stephens and Q.M.S. K. Hoecke. Legion president C. C. Massie of Campbellford represented that body. As an impressive part of the service Bugler Gordon Hay sounded the Last Post and Reveille, broken by a minute's silence.

Rev. Donald McKay, who came to Burnbrae only recently and as a sequence knew the deceased far less intimately than his predecessors, took his text from Ephesians 4:6 "One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all and in you all." He paid tribute to Sgt. Taylor by quoting from a letter written by Dr. A. T. Barr who was formerly the youth's pastor while he lived and worked in Peterborough and subsequently when he was at St. John's, Newfoundland. It was Dr. Barr who actually conducted the funeral service for Sgt. Taylor and seven other members of the crew who died in the crash at St. John's.

Rev. McKay also announced that as a part of the church parade ceremony being conducted in Bowmanville during the morning a wreath was being placed on the cenotaph in his honor by members of the Midland Regiment (RF).

Banquet Ends Bowling Season

PORT HOPE, May 16—(ENS).— On Saturday night the Nicholson File Bowling League ended its season with a banquet at the St. Lawrecene Hotel at which prizes were presented.

The Arcades, whose captain is Jack Staples, were presented with the cup and shield donated by the Nicholson File Company, with miniature cups given to each member of the team. The presentation was made with very suitable address by Mr. F. Briden, superintendant of the company.

The Imperials, who were second high at the end of the playing season and whose captain is George Brockenshire, were presented with glass centres by Mr. Chas. Stephenson, proprietor of the bowling alleys.

The first four teams in the prize money were presented with slips for merchandise. These teams and their captains were: Imperials, George Brockenshire; Eagles, Jack Hope; K & F, W. Symons; Globes, C. Clayton.

High Score Winners

C. Holdsworth held the title for High average for which a sweater was presented by Mr. Waghorn, manager of the sales staff. Second high average went to Jack Hope, who received silverware.

Jack Staples received silverware for the high three games, while the second high three games went to J. Kello; high two, G. Trumper, second high two, H. Peacock; high single game was won by G. Issac and second high R. Divine.

A prize of a shirt as given the player who increased his average most throughout the season and this was won by W. Simons.

Consolations.

L. Newman Jones' team, the Beavers, received consolation prizes of cigarettes donated by Mr. Briden to the tea ending with the lowest score for the year.

Cartons of cigarettes were also given to two former bowlers who had recently joined the service, J. Hills and H. Cooke, who were unable to attend this banquet.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Observes 109th Anniversary

A warning against arguments which waste time and obscure the really important issues was given by Dr. M. B. Davidson, Galt, at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, on the occasion of the 109th anniversary on Sunday. The theme of his address was based on the text "And when He came to His disciples, He saw a great multitude about them and the scribes questioning them."

"This refers to the story of how Jesus had been upon the Mount of Transfiguration with Peter, James and John. Peter suggested the building of three tabernacles for Elijah, Moses and Jesus. He was probably prompted by a desire to remain there away from the pressure of the crowd and the increased hostility of the scribes," Dr. Davidson said.

"Haven't we all felt the need to get away from people and difficulties for a period relaxation?" Dr. Davidson asked. "Jesus recognized the need for rest. When he was busy teaching the last week in Jerusalem, He departed from the city every night for the village of Bethany.

"For what reason did Jesus and his three disciples descend from the mountain? Possibly because of the scene below, where a crowd surrounded the disciples, who were being questioned by the scribes. Perhaps arguing is a better word," he said.

"A father had brought his son 'possessed of a devil' to Jesus to be cured. Today he would be described as an epileptic. Jesus was absent, and the other disciples did their best but failed. So the argument developed."

It was pointed out how typical this is of life. The tragedy of the boy was forgotten while the argument waxed hot. In the midst of this Christ appeared, and ignoring the mob, cured the child and later discussed his disciples' failure.

"What were the others arguing about during this time? Possibly the air was clouded with personal abuse, 'You're fine men to profess to be followers of one who has a reputation for being able to heal the sick. Surely in this time you've learned something from him, and here you are, apparently unable to do anything more than the rest of us.' The boy and his father were completely forgotten.

"In his dealings with blind man, when the disciples questioned whether he was being punished for his own or his parents' sin, Jesus saw a direct opportunity for doing what lay in his power to restore the man's sight. Apart from all theory or theology, Christ's interest was in the case of individual need which was presented to him," Dr. Davidson continued.

It should never be overlooked, Dr. Davidson emphasized that the world is a testing place for character and a scene in which character may be developed. There are many whose characters are being developed through the discipline of suffering, including bodily pain.

"Suffering develops a far greater sympathy for others who are undergoing similar experiences. If affliction does nothing more than to give us a more sympathetic understanding for others who had been hard hit, something worthwhile will have been accomplished. Remember, Jesus experienced suffering to the very depths and never lost his confidence in a God of Love."

"Congregations are made up of humans, not angels, and they do not always see eye to eye. In these arguments, the real cause is almost forgotten and bitterness spring up and disrupts church work. The presence of Jesus ended the argument between the disciples and the scribes. In a time of similar stress when members of the church at Philippi were not getting on well together, Paul wrote saying "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus'," he concluded.

The front of the church was very beautifully decorated with baskets of multi-colored tulips, many baskets in memoriam to former members. The music for the morning was particularly fitting for the occasion. "Bless This House," was sung by George Coleman Jr., and the anthem "The Lord Is In His Holy Temple" was rendered by the choir under the direction of Martin Chenhall.

For the evening service Dr. Harvey Doney, one of Canada's outstanding baritones, and now with the Royal Canadian Air Force at Trenton, was the special soloist. Following the service Dr. Doney and the choir gave a short recital for which the entire congregation, which filled the church, remained.

Traffic Blocked When Buildings Burn

PORT HOPE, May 18—(ENS). — On Saturday afternoon the barn and garage at the rear of the residence of Mr. Bailey Thompson, corner of Ontario and Martha Streets, was practically demolished by fire from an unknown origin.

Owing to the quick response of the fire brigade, Mr. Thompson's car was removed from the garage with minor damage.

The fire caused a great deal of excitement, however, as the houses close by are a group of nine terraces. The hose was laid across the main highway to Peterborough, and the traffic was stopped at this point in both directions for almost one hour.

M.P.'s Day In Ottawa Long And Strenuous

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., remarked to a reporter Saturday that his daily mail at Ottawa includes from fifty to one hundred letters.

"Of course the most of them are from people in this constituency, many from the city and three villages, but I also get some from Hastings village, Campbellford and all around the district," Mr. Fraser said. "Some of them are enquiries that do not involve much delving but there are others that really call for very considerable work. One chap wrote me from Toronto last week. He is in the service and it was a personal matter regarding the army allowance. We have been meeting every morning in committee affairs, beginning anywhere from 10 to 10.30 or thereabouts, and sitting until 1 p.m. or half past. Then the House meets at 3 p.m., and we sit again at night until 11. Be on the job as it is expected of you, then tackle anywhere from fifty to a hundred letters, an average day's business, and you would find that your hands are pretty full. And I suppose most people think it is pretty easy, just sit around or something like that. I certainly haven't found it like that yet, and it actually seems to be increasing."

Captures In Libya

CAIRO, May 18—(CP)—An unspecified number of Axis troops were taken prisoner in the Libyan desert by British forces during patrol activities yesterday, British general headquarters announced today.

QUITE AT HOME

BRIGHTON, England—(CP). — Soldiers from the two Canadian municipalities of Brighton—in Ontario and Nova Scotia—are given the freedom of the Brighton and Hove entertainment houses and have been entertained at luncheons.

Last Week's Winners Are Announced To-day

The Peterborough Examiner's new and interesting feature "Radio-Ad-O-Grams" appears for the second time to-day. The winners of the prizes for last week's contest are announced on to-day's contest page.

14 PRIZES EVERY WEEK

Make up your mind that your name will be among those of the prize winners in next week's annnouncement. Every week there are 14 prizes—your chances of winning are as good as your neighbors. There will be two special prizes every 13 weeks, those starting now have the best chance to win one of these special prizes.

READ RULES CAREFULLY

During the past week we received many enquiries from readers who wished to know if purchases could only be made from the advertisers where Radio-Ad-O-Grams had been selected. We wish to make this point clear—goods or service may be purchased from ANY merchant whose advertisement appears on the contest page."

Wartime Housing And Town Planning

On May 9 the Examiner published in these columns an editorial discussing, from the point of view of the educational authorities, the proposal of Wartime Housing, Limited, to build 250 temporary houses on the Hatton farm in the west end of the city. Since then the Board of Education has asked Wartime Housing to make a survey of the educational facilities in the city before making a final choice of this property; as matters stand at present the children from 250 new homes cannot be accommodated in the schools in the west end, whereas they can be very comfortably taken into schools in the southern end of the city. If the proposal to build on the Hatton property is carried out, it is more than likely that a new school will have to be built, or made from an already existing building near that property, and it is also more than likely that the School Board will be asked to take responsibility for it and to provide it with two or three teachers. When it is already possible to find places for large numbers of children in the schools in southern Peterborough this course does not seem to us to be either logical or economical.

The question of transport enters into this matter also. Is it wise to put 250 new houses at a distance from the factories where their occupants are expected to find work when property is available within a very easy walk from those same factories? The transportation problem in Peterborough is already a grave one, and care should be taken not to aggravate it. The sensible thing to do appears to be to put the houses near the work. There is property available in the south end of the city which is well suited to the project, and there has been no good reason advanced so far for passing it by in favor of the Hatton farm.

Another matter which must be taken into consideration before a decision is made is that of town-planning. Far too many of our Ontario towns are entirely formless because, like Topsy, they "jus' growed"; local authorities gave no thought to the future when they undertook building schemes and questions of beauty and suitability were set aside in favor of immediate interest. The danger of such a lack of policy in a town like Peterborough is obvious. One wartime housing project is already in existence at Park Hill Road, and it seems unwise to put another as near as the Hatton property. For one thing, it is unfair to local shops to put all the new buyers in one part of the city; for another it puts a strain on transportation, sewage, sanitary and similar services in one locality when the burden might be spread more evenly. Both economically and aesthetically it would be better to put the new project in the south.

Although the public is assured, and with perfect sincerity, that these housing schemes are really temporary and will come down within six months of the end of the war, everyone knows that it is easier to open a new housing development than it is to close it. After the war, the demand for goods of all kinds will be enormous, and factories will be working at full speed to satisfy it. The factory workers will have to live somewhere, and it seems very doubtful that the Government will pull down the wartime houses in the face of a demand for living space. Let us face the fact that, once these houses are built, they may stay in place for many years; let us put them, therefore, in the places where we can best deal with the problems they create. The west end of the city has for many years been regarded as a residential part and certain restrictions exist governing the kind of houses which may be built there; is it wise, then, to set up in that quarter 250 houses which, being lightly built, will depreciate rapidly, and depreciate all the surrounding district with them?

The decision as to what is to be done does not rest in Peterborough, but a committee exists in Peterborough for the purpose of advising in the matter and if a decision is made which eventually proves to have been unwise, the responsibility will rest squarely upon their shoulders. We suggest, therefore, that before the Wartime Housing authority makes its final decision that it give the fullest consideration to the possible outcome of what it is about to do. If the Hatton property were the cheapest property available, or the most convenient property available, or the only property available, there is no citizen who would object to necessary wartime building there. But it is none of these things, and it is our opinion that it is bad economics and bad town-planning to use it for this purpose.

Girls Guides' New Commissioner

One of the most successful movements devoted to the youth of this country is the Girl Guide organization, which does a work roughly equivalent to that undertaken by the Boy Scouts in training young people. A charter for the Guides was obtained in 1921 and the work has grown to very great proportions during the past twenty-one years through the devotion of a number of public-spirited women all across the country who have given time and energy to it. Some thousands of girls have had the benefit of Guide training, which inculcates a taste for public service early in life.

Since the beginning of the Guides in Canada the Chief Commissioner has been Mrs. H. D. Warren of Toronto; it was she who bore the burden of the movement's early days in this country and she has seen it through some critical times since. Her resignation after twenty years of service is a source of regret, though scarcely of surprise. As a reminder of her work a Sarah T. Warren Fund is to be established, the money from which will be devoted to some aspect of Guide work.

As Mrs. Warren's successor Her Excellency Princess Alice, upon the recommendation of National Guide Council, appointed Miss Winnifred Kydd. Miss Kydd is one of the most brilliant women to engage in public service in Canada, and there is no doubt that she will carry on the fine work which Mrs. Warren began in an able and expeditious manner. Miss Kydd is a distinguished graduate of McGill, and she was for some years Dean of Women at Queen's University, a position which she brought a lightness of touch and a humor which never failed to surprise and please her charges. She has also been President of the National Council of Women, and in that capacity she showed a superior gift for organization. Her new post is, in a way, a combination of the two already mentioned, and as Miss Kydd has already shown herself entirely successful in those it is impossible to doubt that she will be eminently successful in this. In addition to her duties as Chief Commissioner she will also take on those of Lady Superintendent of the St. John Ambulance Brigade; she will certainly be one of the busiest women in Canada.

The training of youth is a matter which Canada might well consider more seriously than she has done in the past. Youth needs training; youth which has no guidance is wasting time. The choice lies between the coercive, militaristic and essentially evil methods which totalitarian countries have adopted, and the easier yoke of such organizations as the Boy Scouts and the Guides. It must be recognized that there are some children who do not fit happily into either of these organizations, and it is unwise to force them to join. But for most boys and girls the Guides and the Scouts provide a healthy and beneficial interest, and the sooner they join them, the better their chances are of rising to positions of some importance in them. After this war it might not be a bad thing to give the Scouts and Guides some national attention.

What, No War Song?

A Canadian Press dispatch from London tells us that the popular music experts in Britain are concerned because this war has failed to produce what the profession calls a "posterity song." The writing of a "posterity song" seems a fairly large order; those who are experts in the business regard Tipperary and Keep The Home Fires Burning as belonging in that category. Just as a matter of speculation, how many people who sing Tipperary have any idea where it is? It is undoubtedly "a long way to go," but in what direction?

A song by a Canadian is enjoying a good deal of popularity in Britain now. It is called He Wore a Maple Leaf Upon His Shoulder and it is by Art Strauss, who used to lead a band in Winnipeg; the words are by Roma Campbell Hunter, an English girl. The song tells of the romance between an English girl and a Canadian soldier; the girl tells the world, "Canada is in my heart." Very nice. But definitely not a "posterity song" say those who know.

Why has this war produced no great war song? Indeed, why have war songs, viewed over a long period, tended to become worse and worse? When Harry the King fought at Agincourt his men sang the Agincourt Hymn of thanksgiving, which is surely one of the noblest of all war songs. The armies of William III. raged through Ireland with the unforgettable strains of Lilliburlero dinning in their ears. When The King Enjoys His Own Again was almost a justification in itself for the restoration of the Stewarts. And so the train of great war songs goes, even unto Dolly Gray and We Don't Want To Lose You, But We Think You Ought To Go. The history of war songs, like the history of poetry, appears to be a tale of decline from a great past. We doubt if even the production of a "posterity song" in London will do much to turn the tide. Modern wars cannot be approached in a singing mood.

The Sinister Rise Of Himmler

As Herman Goering's star declines, that of Heinrich Himmler rises. The recent heavy losses by the Luftwaffe—1,300 aircraft in ten days—has brought the stout Marshal low, and he has been stripped of some of his most prized honors. Under Hitler no man lasts who cannot deliver the goods, and no consideration is given to the facts that the goods demanded may be undeliverable. Goering, the second most important Nazi and the successor to Hitler, is in disgrace.

But Himmler, the pale genius of the Gestapo, has been given new powers. Himmler knows everything that is discreditable about every important man in Germany. Rumor has it that he even has a dossier on Adolf Hitler himself! Fantastic rumor says that he has also a dossier on Heinrich Himmler! A greater chief of secret police than Napoleon's Fouche, and a more sinister Nazi than Josef Goebbels, Himmler may be the most powerful man in Germany today.

The rise of Himmler may mark the sinking of Germany. Reports which naturally cannot be checked but which come from usually reliable forces, say that the German army is now riddled with Gestapo men, all on the lookout for signs of disloyalty in high and low. There are even Gestapo men to keep their eyes open for disloyalty among other Gestapo men. The Gestapo is a gigantic, strong and infinitely complicated net which has been flung over all of Europe, and at the centre of that net sits, not Hitler, but Heinrich Himmler.

NOTE AND COMMENT

One of the hazards of driving with one arm, says a contemporary, is that you are quite liable to skid into a church.

"A thick skull has the advantage of protecting the brain more efficiently from injury," says a science note. And from ideas too.

The Better Vision Institute of New York says that nearly half the Japanese soldiers have weak eyes and need glasses. They are lucky not to be able to see what is coming to them.

The Air Minister, Mr. C. G. Power, was ambitious for the "Canadianization" of the Canadian Air Force—that is to say, the inclusion within it of all Canadians, many of whom are now in the R.A.F.—but he admits that he has been frustrated by the men most concerned; they want to stay with their British comrades. And why not? The more the British and Canadians see of each other the better they will understand each other, and perhaps some of the foolish and uninformed prejudice which exists on both sides will disappear. We think that it would be a fine thing if British and Dominions' troops and services were mixed up even more than they are at present.

RUSSIA

All their red blood they pour in crimson streams
  To save their country from the conqueror's tread,
Fighting like demons in the blazing dawn
  Behind the ghostly windrows of their dead.

From a far hill the smoky cannons roar
  Like cornered beasts who fight to the last breath,
The red-hot hammers swing with mighty blows,
  Speeding their flaming messengers of death.

We thought them doomed—but now with mounting pride
  We watch the brave and valiant fight they wage,
A million heroes writing line by line
  Their deathless story on Earth's scarlet page.

As foot by foot and day by breathless day
  Back, even back, the enemy is hurled,
While men fight on, knee deep in their own dead,
  And hold the precious ramparts of the world.

Farming News And Views for Ontario Farmer

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

REPORTS from different parts of the province seem to indicate that we are fully two weeks ahead of last year in the matter of seeding. In some districts seeding has been completed, and on May 4th, in conversation with farmers from Bruce and Grey Counties, they said the new seeding was coming through nicely, and that cattle were out on good grass on the first of May, and that Fall Wheat was doing very well and indicated promises for a good crop. There was some dry weather in the vicinity of Toronto since last writing, and also a dust storm in western Ontario but these were local conditions and, in the main, the province of Ontario, is showing good promise. In the Oshawa district they had excellent rains, in fact, it was wet enough to put some farmers off the land.

It would seem to me that the farmers are generally off to a good start and a good day's rain on May 7th will do the crops in the Toronto district a world of good. The early spring will enable farmers not only to get ahead of their work but to keep ahead which is quite important with farm help as short as it is.

It looks as though farmers would be well advised this year to make plans for the breeding of a few more horses. The price of horses has improved during the past winter and fuel for gasoline engines may not be so plentiful in a few months, which makes it appear to be good business. The question of farm workers becomes more difficult as time goes on, and should we be forced to depend upon older men and dispense with mechanics who might be badly needed in our factories, horses may be much needed on the land. There is also ahead of us the after-war problems, when doubtless we will have a large land settlement of our own men, but we will likely have many new people coming to Canadian farms, and the demand for horses is bound to be great.

Horses are also going to be required for the delivery of goods and many of their former uses. In Britain the prices of horses have in many cases doubled, and both farmers and merchants are very keen purchasers at every sale that is held. Sometimes the prices seem ridiculously high but there are not enough horses to supply the demand. A revival of horse breeding is certainly due.

THERE has been quite a revival of linseed growing in Britain and it would look as though Canadian varieties were going to come to the aid of the production of linseed oil in the Old Land. The linseed sown in Britain was mostly a large seeded variety called Plate, but since the outbreak of the war the National Institute of Agricultural Botany in Britain has been getting samples of improved varieties, four of which were from Canada, and every one of which was better than the Plate variety. However, one kind called Diadem was susceptible to flax wilt disease, and they finally decided that a variety called Red Wing is best both for the production of straw and seed, and as this variety had been substantially multiplied in Britain last year, quantities of the seed are available for this seeding, and they expect their production of linseed oil there will be greatly improved because of this. There may be a suggestion for Canadian flax growers in this result of investigation.

The growing of carrots has greatly increased in Britain since the present war began because of their value for human food as well as for feeding to animals. A farm in Cambridgeshire has been, for some years, the largest producer of carrots in the United Kingdom. They have long since considered on this farm that carrots were a very valuable food for almost al kinds of livestock and particularly cattle and pigs. Most of these carrots are lifted as they are required and are put through a washing machine as none of them are fed unwashed to the livestock. They are excellent food for horses and also for pigs and cattle, as well as being very valuable at the present time for human consumption. On this place, farmed by Mr. A. Rickwood of Cambridgeshire, he grew in 1941 1,227 acres of carrots. The carrots are lifted as required for feeding on into the winter with an occasional case, of course, of their being frozen. They have to be pretty completely destroyed by frost to be ruined for feed, as even then they have a value because this carrot farmer says that a crop of carrots destroyed in the ground by frost will increase the fertility of the soil to a very notable extent for several years.

Reject carrots are used for sows and young pigs and the carotene content of this food will show to great advantage. This carrot farm consists of 4,000 odd acres and while the operator employs 30 tractors he still has a considerable number of horses for which he finds his carrots excellent feed.

A reclamation project is under way in the county of Devon, England, under the direction of the Devon Agrider hte direction of the Devon Agricultural War Committee, and some 4,500 acres of good land is expected to be reclaimed for the growing of food. This land is at the mouth of the River Clyst which empties into the river Exe in Devon, and these rivers have gradually filled up, but work was begun last autumn and under the direction of an engineer, who for many years had the job of taming rivers in India and the Soudan. It is expected by the end of this year to have reclaimed this fine piece of land for use.

Agriculture has been for many hundreds of years one of the most complex problems with which men have had to deal, and a war such as we are going through now makes farming for food so important that science is being called upon as never before to provide food for man and beast so necessary, in the end, to the sustaining of human lives. Upon the production of milk and milk products depends to a very great extent the health of the British people in a struggle like this. In Britain a great many imported feeding stuffs have been used in the dairy barns for years, but this year they are going to eliminate, as nearly as possible, all feeding stuffs which require shipping space to bring to Britain. Grass, of course, has always been considered the most valuable food for cows, as well as the most healthful, and during this war the preservation of grass in the form of ensilage has been undertaken by the British farmer upon a very large scale because it is the only food that will fairly substitute for the concentrates that have been imported to Britain to feed milking cows. It is a very healthful food because, through ensilage, we are able to preserve the natural qualities of grass to a very substantial extent which makes the feeding of this food less wearing on the constitution of the cows than the heavy feeding of grains or cake. Already farmers are figuring how the length of the production lives of their cows can be increased by this more natural food. At the same time, they are enabled by home grown food to obtain large quantities of milk which is one of the most important foodstuffs to a country's people either in peace or at war.

The new loaf of bread is being offered to the British people. The purpose of treating white bread with Vitamin B1, in a synthetic form, has been abandoned. Instead a wheatmeal loaf is to be baked for all the people which will contain 85 per cent of the whole wheat content. A proposal to add potato flour, to some extent, will be dealt with later.

The quota of Canadian cattle, to be admitted to the United States under the reduced tariff is just filled. We will now see whether or not our cattle will sell as briskly on the Toronto market. The new quota will begin on July 1st.

• Russians Give, Take Blows

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—Mid-May of this crucial year of 1942 has been ushered in by a deepening new crescendo of battle and sudden death.

No continent or sea is untouched by a war that has no limits. Mankind everywhere has no certain refuge from the hardships of war or the horrors of destruction that falls unheralded from the sky or leaps unannounced from the depths of the sea.

Yet in the midst of the ever-mounting conflict of conquest loosed upon the world by the Axis blossoms one hope in the hearts of men who love freedom more than life. It is that this final tumult will prove the beginning of the end, that somehow, somewhere, it will be made clear before winter that the Axis war lords are being herded into the pit of destruction they have dug for themselves.

Is that hope just another fond delusion in the minds of peoples dragged into the vast struggle? Or has it some basis of reality, or possibility, to help brace Allied courage and resolution?

Nowhere except in Russia has an expectation of 1942 victory been authoritatively voiced. And it is in Russia, now aflame with battle on a scale that staggers the imagination, yet is only a mere curtain raiser for what is to come, that the answer must be found.

There now is little doubt that Hitler's week-old lunge eastward in the Crimea heralds the opening of his promised summer campaign to annihilate Russia.

MANPOWER DOMINATES

The most hopeful indication is that Red armies are fulfilling the pledge of their leaders to strike back effectively. They have already given as well as taken hard and telling blows. It is Nazi legions, not the Russians, which are being hurled into this climactic clash now with the bitter taste of defeat for the first time on their lips.

On the basis of meagre and utterly conflicting Russian and German disclosures as to the progress of these first clashes to the 1942 campaign it is impossible yet to gauge the battle trends except in one crucial respect. There is every early intimation that Hitler has lost in Russia the weapon he used efectively to carve out his previous stunningly swift victories on the Continent, the trump ace of the marked deck with which he plays the game of war—surprise.

Russian reaction to the Crimean drive is to attack simultaneously at many scattered points. The major purpose obviously is to pin the Nazi reserves to defensive positions.

Red leaders are taking full advantage of the limitless manpower reserves at their command. Their strategy also must be governed by what they know definitely of the winter wastage of German manpower in meeting endless and scattered Russian attacks.

That Russian winter offensive — substantial as was the aggregate of Russian territory released from the grip of the foe—primarily was a battle of manpower attrition.

Russian authority in that respect is probably the dominant element in the situation which prompts Russian official hopes of a 1942 victory.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof. And the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man.—Gen. ii, 21, 22.

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her: and he did eat. . . . And the Lord God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat.—Gen. iii, 1-6, 13.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—We don't know much about the pitching record of Cpl. Tito Torcoletti of Gunter Field, Ala., we'll bet Tito is a good soldier.. Seems he used to pitch right handed but decided he wasn't getting enough work that way, so he learned to pitch from the wrong side, too...Down at Gunter Field, he works in the outfield on his days off from pitching and is a leading heavyweight boxer...Torcoletti's only complaint about this program is that he has to wear toe plates on both shoes and the shoes take a terrific beating...Here's the last word on that Angott-Stolz scrap in the Garden Friday, as delivered by Tony Galento: "That Angott is a worse fighter than I was."

Father's Day

When Bobby Bragan of the Phils was receiving congratulations on becong a pappy the other day, various teammates mentioned that they, too, expected to be handing out the cigars soon...After heaving eight of the boys announce future blessed events, Manager Hans Lobert snorted: "I thought the Stork Club was a night spot in New York, but here I find out it's a ball club and I'm managing it."

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE STORY.—After six years as branch manager for an American chemical firm on a Dutch West Indian island, Bill Talcott is leaving under a cloud of suspicion. An auditor who has come down with Halsey, his successor, accused him of a serious shortage in his accounts. Of Halsey's other ship companions, June Peterson, beautiful cousin of Bill's college roommate, thinks Bill is a surly heel, while the other, a man named MacDowell, turns out to be a detective. Halsey and June take a walk in the evening, and are menaced by island natives. Bill rescues them, is accused by June of staging the scene to impress her. MacDowell menaces Bill with a gun.

MYSTERY SHIP
CHAPTER VI

A hush came upon the terrace; a void of silence as if every living thing on the island could see and recognize the danger in that vicious snub-nosed pistol. Even the wind seemed to hesitate and the rustling of the palms was stilled. About them the only thing that lived was the smell of the long dead rocks. Strange, how that odor could become a part of your life. How it deadened and clawed at you with invisible fingers. Like the creeping growth of jungle. Everything was unreal; the dark sea, the house, the sagging battered detective outlined in the doorway; the hunched expectant figures. Only the nauseating smell was real, and the pistol in MacDowell's hand.

"Put down the gun."

It was Bill Talcott who said it. His voice, too, was unreal. Calm, with deep reverberance of a drum beat. It shattered the momentary hypnosis, whipped frayed nerves. Halsey made a half turn with fists clenched, and the girl cried out, "Don't!"

"Put down the gun;" Talcott said again. His manner and voice were tired; his was the weariness of a father with a recalcitrant child.

MacDowell's glaring eyes sought Halsey. "He tried to get away from me," MacDowell snarled. "Wit' his tricks o' blowin' whistles an' havin' this dame scream so's to catch me off my guard. He clipped me on the jaw and knocked me cold!"

Talcott said, "Once you pull that trigger, nothing can save you. They'll be on us like hornets. Sebastien will be with them. He won't try to stop them this time. If you do injure me, they will tear you to pieces. They won't stop. Miss Paterson's disregard of my order has already aroused them. The slightest violence will upset the balance."

"For God's sake, MacDowell!" Halsey cried hoarsely. "Can't you tell when a man is speaking the truth? Your cap pistol wouldn't amount to peanuts! Put it away!"

The detective hesitated with ill-disguised anger. "Why'd he wait until my head was turned? You mean to say that whistle an' her screamin' wasn't no setup?"

June Paterson trembled. "Whatever Mr. Talcott may have done, the scream was entirely my own idea. Please, I—I—" She became suddenly limp and would have fallen had not Halsey's arm supported her.

Without too much grace, MacDowell stood aside to let them through. Indecision and bewilderment struggled with anger in his expression. He knew what he would do. Put Talcott in irons and palaver afterward. Fundamentally an uncomplex individual, Mr. MacDowell's theory was to locate the source of trouble and put it out of business. But he didn't know what was out there; his moustache twitched nervously as he peered into the darkness before closing the door.

Black Sam brought restoratives, administered them with the detached calm of a physician, waited until Miss Paterson showed signs of revival, vanished at a nod from Bill Talcott.

"That guy makes me nervous," MacDowell muttered. "He don't stay in one place long enough to—" His eyes hardened. "What was all the screamin' and whistle blowin' about?"

So June Paterson told him. Of discovering the natives in the dark, their menacing attitude, Halsey's courage, the arrival of Sebastien, and later of Talcott. When she was finished, Halsey abruptly cut off a cross-examination.

"Miss Paterson has had sufficient excitement for one night, Halsey said. "My dear, why don't you go to bed? In the morning it will all seem like a very bad and distant dream."

Talcott's eyes were on her, cold and unapproving. Then man seemed made of ice and concrete; unlike the others, no slightest trace of perspiration showed in his face. No emotion showed there either; beyond the faint flash of his eyes he was stone.

She put her hand in Halsey's and arose from the couch. "Good night, dear," she said softly and,

Gas Rationing Is Acclaimed Aid To Baseball

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 18.—(CP).—Rationing has been blamed or praised for a great many things since the word became part of our daily speech, but most of the appreciation has been of the buck-up-old-fellow-this-is-war variety. Here's something new and different:

Baseball officials in Halifax, speaking strictly without tongues in cheeks, say gasoline rationing is the finest thing to happen to baseball since the curve ball. The first rationing brought greatly-increased attendances to the city league and crowds have been growing since.

If that's so, announcement last week that the Maritimes' basic ration had been cut to two gallons weekly must have filled the old cups of joy to overflowing. Lou (Halifax Chronicle) Zwerling suggested when the two-gallon news broke that the league make Oil Controller George R. Cottrelle its honorary president.

The Expert Says:

Walter (Hamilton Spectator) McMullen: "Did you hear about the wrestler who was fined ten dollars for being late for rehearsal?"

Incidentally:

J. P. (Toronto Telegram) Fitzgerald recalls another good one-armed baseball player (in addition to Pete Gray, Three Rivers, mentioned here Saturday) in a pitcher named McCabe at Peterborough.. Johnny (Winnipeg Tribune) Buss writes that Bill Gooden and Wally Stefaniw, Portage La Prairie junior hockey stars, are dickering with Sudbury hockey interests....Johnny adds: "Does this mean Max Silverman and Co., are figuring on another Memorial Cup contender for 1942-43?"

Richmond Farmers, Canadian senior lacrosse finalists last year, may be hot stuff again this season ....The franchise has been taken over by a shipyards company and the club will be called the Wallaces, after the yard owner....A contender for the spot held by Joey in western race fans' hearts is J. N. Pitts' Wilkie, Alberta derby winner last year....The proposal to concentrate Toronto district racing at Woodbine has been killed....It died a graceful death, with no one accused of lacking patriotism.... Golf is off to a big start in Regina despite the folding of one club—Kinsmen....Alberta and Quebec provincial tennis tournaments are the latest to be dropped for the duration....If this keeps up we'll have forgotten what tennis looks like by the time the fight is over

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press.

Johnny Rigney, Ted Lyons, White Sox — Pitched double victory over Senators, former on three hits.

Vince DiMaggio, Pirates, and Bobby Bragan, Phils—Former hit two home runs in first game and latter gave the Phils an even break by singling in winning run in 11th inning of second game.

Kirby Higbe and Billy Herman, Dodgers — Higbe pitched four-hit ball and Herman hit two doubles, driving in winning run in second game as Dodgers beat Cubs twice.

Jim Bagby and Al Milnar, Indians —Pitched double victory over Athletics, each with four hits, and Milnar smacked triple and double.

Johnny Mize, Giants, and Enos Slaughter, Cardinals—Former drove in four runs and latter drove in three as their teams split.

Jim Bloodworth, Tigers — Hit tenth-inning home run to beat Red Sox.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

With rivalry between the two competing teams at midseason heat, Adam Hat Royals and Plaza Billiards will pry off the lid in the City League campaign tonight at the Ashburnham Bowl, the play ball signal to be given at 6.30 o'clock sharp. The proceeds of this initial counter will be handed over to the British War Victims' Fund and it is hoped that a new record for the benefit game receipts will be set up. Three fine draw prizes will go to as many lucky fans, a Kenwood blanket, an Adam hat and $5 worth of fishing tackle or other merchandise. There will be brief opening ceremonies and a red-hot battle between two strong clubs. That is about all the most ardent fan could ask for from an opening. The Royals and the Plazas are all het up over the clash and the rival managers have started their battling even before the game starts by refusing to announce definitely their lineups or their pitching choices. Manager Parnell said Saturday night that in addition to two new pitchers from Toronto he has Holmes from Campbellford and Ronnie Akers of last season's Chesterfield staff ready for action. Pilot Jim Ellis of Plaza named Tom Parsons, Dave Wilson and young Bob Crewe of last year's juvenile club as his heaving section but refused to announce which would get the distinction of pitching the opener tonight.

* * * * * *

There has been so much shooting going on between Plazas and Royals that the fans should not fail to remember that there are three other clubs in the league to be heard from. Two of them will be seen in action Wednesday night when the Military Training Centre and the Juveniles will clash at the Asburnham Bowl. The lineup of the Soldiers is a military secret just at present but the camp received a big quota of recruits from far and wide Friday and probably netted a few softball stars in that haul. At all events they have three of last year's City League players already lined up in Pitcher Bucky Fleming, formerly of the Orphans, Shortstop Ossie Anderson of the Hastings club and Outfielder Eddie Dixon of the Quakers, a nice start for any man's club. Most of last year's Soldier team are no longer here and some of the players are in England.

* * * * * *

The Juveniles will of course be the youngest bunch in the league. The lineup is composed of youngsters young enough to play in the juvenile section of the O.A.S.A. and they will field a smart squad of kids who will be no pushovers for the more experienced clubs they will be called upon to meet in the City Loop. Just as a warning to City League pitchers it can be recalled that the Juveniles were a hard-hitting gang of young players last season. Kids who really took their cut-up-there at the plate and went for distance. They had a flock of homers in some of their games last season and opposition heavers better no toss anything soft in there or they may get their ears pinned back.

* * * * * *

A Lot Of Baseball

Cleveland Indians and New York Yanks played a lot of baseball over the week-end and when it was all over and the smoke lifted it was found that Lou Boudreau's team, apparently over its slump, had stood the pressure decidedly well. In other words, the Indians and the Yanks are having a real race right now for the top spot and the McCarthyites have not been able up to the present to open out a commanding lead. With such a heavy bill-of-fare Saturday and Sunday it will be necessary to merely skim the feature battles and try to pick out the highlights. In the American League one of the features was the fact that Eldon Auker, still exerting his old mastery over the Yanks, beat the world champions yesterday 4 to 2, with veteran Red Ruffing on the losing end. Chet Laabs was a big help with a three-run homer for the Browns and Auker did the rest by holding the Yanks to seven blows. Another highlight was another win for Ernie Bonham, over Detroit Saturday, his fifth of the season without a loss. Bonham held the Tigers to five hits and would have had a shutout if it had not been for a homer by Barney McCosky.

* * * * * *

Home runs worked both ways for the Boston Red Sox on Saturday when Hughson tossed a two-hitter against St. Louis Browns, home runs by Bobby Doerr and Ted Williams won the argument 4 to 2 for the Red Sox. Sunday it was something else again. It was the Detroit Tigers who did the home-run hitting, Rudy York coming through first and then Jimmy Bloodworth cracking another circuit clout in the tenth frame to give the Bengals a 4 to 3 win. Phil Marchildon lost a hard luck game for the A's Saturday. He had Cleveland beaten until the final frame but the Indians managed to manufacture two runs in the ninth to cop the decision. The Penetang boy was gunning for his sixth win and came very close to getting it.

* * * * * *

In the National loop the Brooklyn Dodgers go rolling right along. They handed Pittsburg Pirates another walloping Saturday when Ed Head held the Bucs to two hits and the Bums won 8 to 1 and they gained further ground Sunday by winning two from the Cubs, the double-header being featured by a four-hit exhibition by Kirby Higbe. New York Giants are also doing nicely. They got a win out of Lohrman Saturday in his first start after being taken back into the Giant fold, beating Junior Thompson and the Cincinnati Reds 7 to 2 and old Carl Hubbell went the route against St. Louis Cards Sunday, the veteran southpaw keeping eight St. Louis hits well scattered. Among other ancient pitchers who bobbed up with good games in the National yesterday were Bucky Walters who pitched the Reds to a 9 to 3 victory over Boston Braves, the worst licking Jim Tobin has taken this season. Walters rubbed it in by hitting a homer. Luke Hamlin tossed steady ball for the Pirates as the Pittsburg club won 7 to 2 from the Philadelphia Phils. The latter came back in the second end of the double-header to nose out the Pirates 5 to 4.

* * * * * *

A Chance For New Players

Peterborough girl softball players who are not connected with the Genelco, C.G.E. or Westclox teams and who want a chance to play ball this season are being given their opportunity in the proposed organization of a dark horse team to enter the Girls' Softball League. A practice has been called for Riverside Park at 6.30 o'clock Wednesday evening and a cordial invitation is extended to all girl players who would like to play in the loop this season and are unattachable. If there is enough playing strength in sight the Dark Horses will be included in the group schedule. At present the sure fire starters in the Ladies' League are the Westclox, Genelco and C.G.E. teams with the Brinton Carpet Company team and the new unnamed club as possibilities. There will be a meeting of the league executive Wednesday night and the definite setup for the season will be decided at that gathering. It is hoped to start the schedule early next week.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: The war is not keeping folk away from ball games in the United States. Almost 50,000 customers saw the Giants and Cards tangle at New York....Washington Senators are sorry Johnny Rigney did not enlist a day or two sooner. The Chicago White Sox ace who is joining Uncle Sam's navy pitched his last game against the Senators yesterday and allowed them only three hits....Return bout between Sammy Angott and Allie Stolz which fight fans are demanding will have to wait a while. The champion has an injured ankle....De Laval are the dark horses of the City Softball League. Their lineup has not been announced up to now....Barney Ashmore has taken over the job of coaching the juveniles in the City Loop race and they practice Tuesday eve at Riverside.... The Toronto Maple Leafs didn't fair so well at Montreal Sunday, the Royals kicking them around in both games of a double-header....Ed Head, last year with Montreal and now with the Dodgers is the leading pitcher in the National League with five straight wins and no losses....The Yanks salvaged one game of a double bill with the Brownies yesterday taking the second fixture 3 to 2 without making an extra base hit which is not much like the world's champions of old....Joe DiMaggio has still time to start a new consecutive hitting record this season but so far he has shown no signs of doing so. Nor is Ted Williams seriously threatening the .400 mark. At that the Boston buggywhip is not doing too badly. He leads the American League in runs scored and runs batted in and is tied for the home run honors.

McLaughlin Colt Threatens Belmont Record

BELMONT PARK, May 18.—Fairaris, an English refugee colt performing in the silks of R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa, Ont., sportsman and motor magnate, showed the speediest six furlongs of the Belmont Park meeting Saturday as he threatened the track record with a decisive triumph in the Voters' Handicap, secondary feature on the program.

With Jockey Willie Thompson handling the reins in masterly fashion, the son of Fair Trial-Nunnery (no stranger in these parts) defeated the King Ranch's Dispose by four lengths while negotiating the six panels in 1:10 2-5. That was just two-fifths slower than Roman's track standard, established last fall. Two lengths further back was the Greentree Stable's Swing and Sway, followed by Birch Rod and Harvard Square, respectively in a small field.

Fairaris, who defeated such notables as American Wolf, Bright Willie and First Fiddle, while recording two victories at Jamaica last fall, was third choice in the wagering, paying off his supporters at $9.80 for a $2 straight investment.

In registering this brilliant success, Fairaris raced Dispose into submission in the first half mile. He then drew into a commanding lead and won easily. This marked the first outing of the 1942 season for Fairaris, who doubtless will be pointed to major events to come.

Crowd of 32,724

Attention, the fine colt that carries the yellow and green silks of Mrs. Parker Corning, qualified as the thoroughbred Whirlaway must beat in the Suburban by winning the forty-ninth Metropolitan Handicap on one of the most extraordinary afternoon Belmont Park ever has known. With a crowd of 32,724 that included President Manuel Prado of Peru watching him, the racy bay son of Equipoise roared down the home stretch with an all-conquering sweep and defeated W. L. Brann's Pictor, an outsider, by a length. Louis Tufano's Market Wise was a fast closing third, a head behind the second horse.

The crowd was huge, although it was cut down by threatened weather and the gasoline rationing. The list of notables included, besides the President of Peru, R. Henry Norweb, United States Ambassador to the South American republic.

Wagering Sets Record

The crowd wagered $1,899,607 on the day, which was a new record for New York by $18,449, and the horses preformed as though they sensed they were racing before a distinguished visitor who is also a horseman. President Prado brought a handsome silver trophy from his native land to present to the winner of the Metropolitan. It was, he said, his gift to Belmont Park and American racing, and, flanked by Herbert Bayard Swope, William Woodward and George S. Widener, he presented the trophy to Max Hirsch, trainer, who accepted in the absence of Mrs. Corning.

This was the first victory in five starts for Attention, conqueror of Whirlaway in the Arlington Classic last season, and it was one that stamped him as a horse worthy to wear the badge of a challenger. Well back in the early stages he came around his rivals on the turn, swept into the lead at the head of the stretch and was going easily at the end. Carrying top weight of 126 pounds, the 4-year-old son of Equipoise turned the mile in 1:36 2-5, the fastest time of the meeting at the distance. He was heavily backed by the crowd and returned $7, or 5 to 2.

The fractional figures recorded tell the burning pace that prevailed. With Crispin Ogleby's Ocean Blue cutting out the early pace and Don Meade holding Attention under a restraining hold in the middle of the pack, the ran the first quarter in :23, the half in :45 2-5 and the three-quarters in 1:10 3-5.

There were twelve runners in this renewal of the old handicap, and nearly all of them had some sort of a following despite Attention's fine figure in the past performances. The crowd sent $295,372 through the machines in this gallop alone. Pictor was $21.30 to place and Market Wise was $5.30 to show.

Attention picked up $11,300 for winning, besides the trophy that was brought here from Peru. In making the presentation President Prado made it clear that he had asked to come to Belmont Park, and had requested the State Department to arrange it. He said it was a great day of sport.

Ocean Blue was the first to show when George Cassidy sent the field of to a perfect start. The outsider opened up a wide gap, but presently Darby Dan Farm's Best Seller and Greentree Stable's Third Degree closed in on him and he gave up. It looked like Best Seller then, but Attention was yet to be heard from. Meade was gradually working him up to his best pace, and when the boy finally let go his hold on the reins the colt bounded around the others and asserted himself with finality.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The ladies' section of the Lawn Bowling Club begins the season's activities with bridge and euchre party at the club rooms on Wednesday, May 20, at 2:30 o'clock sharp. Since there are prizes for high scores as well as draw prizes, late comers will be at a disadvantage. We believe this is to be in the form of a get-together afternoon when the leads and seconds are to be the guests of the skips and vices. Afternoon tea will be served. There will be a draw for a cake, which is being donated, the proceeds to go in aid of the British War Victims Fund. It is to be hoped that all members, especially the new ones will make a special effort to be present to meet and talk over the activities of the coming season.

In order that our bowlers may have before them the activities of our club, we print the schedule of games for the week of May 25 to May 30 inclusive:

Monday, May 25—Opening day—Mixed tournament; draw from the board at 1:30 p.m. No fee.

Tuesday, May 26—Annual president vs. vice-president competition.

Wednesday, May 27—Annual president vs. vice-president competition.

Thursday, May 28—Opening date of the season's schedule, ladies and gents.

Friday, May 29— Regular weekly tournament.

Saturday, May 30 — Week-end tournament.

"Hitler would just love to see how smart you look!"

"Yes, you're smart . . . or are you? I thought I was smart too, back in the 20's. Then the depression came and taught me a lesson!"

"We'd be a lot smarter if we put less of our money into our own outfits and more of it into the outfits of the boys who are defending us. How? By pledging ourselves to do without so that they may have plenty to do with!"

"You want them to win, don't you? Well then, buy War Savings Stamps every week . . . That's how you can help them. Besides, by saving, you'll help keep prices down and have something for a rainy day. Let's be really smart!"

MONTREAL ROYALS TAKE TWO GAMES FROM THE MAPLE LEAFS

Royals Tighten Their Grip On Second Spot

MONTREAL, May 18 — (CP). — Montreal Royals tightened their grip on second place in the International League on Sunday by taking both ends of a double-header from the fifth-place Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-3 and 4-1, before 6,416 fans.

Royals trailed from the start in the opener and barely pulled out a victory with a three-run rally in the ninth inning, capped by Gene Moore's single with the bases loaded to drive in the tying and winning runs with one out. Royals committed six errors in this contest, but not one of them figured in the Toronto scoring. Manager Clyde Sukeforth used seventeen men in his lineup before Royals could win.

Toronto got its first two tallies on doubles by Eddie Leip and John Wyrostek and a single by Frank Colman in the first inning. Leafs scored their third run in the ninth frame on two walks and Al Rubeling's two-bagger.

Southpaw Max Macon was in control all the way in the nightcap, limiting Toronto to four hits, while Royals got six off Bill Brandt. Stan Rojek had a perfect average at bat in this contest, with two for two, including a double.

Rojek also stole a base, got a sacrifice and batted in a run. Macon helped his cause by driving in one tally with a two-bagger, and scoring the fourth and last run on Tom Tatum's single.

Big Leaguer Chased

John Wittig, big righthander sent down to Jersey City of the International League by New York Giants, feels decidedly low today.

Wittig, who won three National League contests last season, started the Jersey Giants' first game against the league-leading Newark Bears and was shelled from the mound in the first inning to be charged with the loss.

He came back into the lineup of the nightcap as a relief hurler and again was the loser.

The twin Newark triumph, 13-3 and 5-4, pushed the Bears five full games ahead of Montreal Royals who also won a doubleheader.

Buffalo also chalked up a twin killing, downing Rochester by 8-3 and 3-2 scores. Syracuse and Baltimore were the only two clubs to split their doublet, the Chiefs taking the first 7-0 behind Red Barrett's masterful hurling and the Orioles retaliating in the supper-shift, 4-2.

Wittig was hammered for three hits and worked for a walk before he was ushered to the bench in the first game. He did not retire a single batter. In the nightcap he gave up only a walk and a double in 2 2-3 innings but they were used to manufacture the deciding run.

Buffalo's twin victory shot the Bisons into third place and gave them a record of nine triumphs in the last 10 games.

Ken Trinkle became the fourth, Baltimore pitching victor in the last 16 games after Barrett's six-hit hurling shut out the Orioles in the opener. Baltimore got three homers in the second game while Syracuse backed up the redhead's hurling with a pair in the first.

Jersey City made a clean sweep of its three-game series with Baltimore by taking Saturday's final game 5-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Hugh East. Buffalo trimmed Montreal 7-4 while the only other scheduled game Saturday, Toronto at Rochester, was postponed.

How To Get More Distance On Your Drive

Jimmy Thomson, the longest hitter in golf, illustrates some of the secrets of his long drives—his longest poke was 420 yards. This is the left and most important hand of Jimmy, and the position it occupies on the shaft of the driver, LEFT. Thumb and forefinger form a V which points almost directly at the right shoulder. Press the thumb firmly against the shaft. The grip is complete, CENTRE, when the right hand is placed over the left, the little finger of the right overlapping the index finger of the left. The thumb and index finger form another V, also pointing at the right shoulder. Thomson illustrates the correct position at the top of the backswing, RIGHT. Things to note: Wrists fully cocked; left arm straight, weight has shifted to the right foot; hips almost turned at right angles to the line of flight and head is down.

Flowery Sport Lyrics Are Ruled Out

NEW YORK, May 18 — (CP). — Herb Barker, general sports editor of The Associated Press, today placed a ban for the duration on flowery sport lyrics by his New York staff—and a former sports writer passed on the word to AP writers across America.

Alan J. Gould, one-time sports-writing ace now AP's executive news editor, wired Barker's memo through the country as an instance of the AP's effort to keep its war-time news report balanced. Here is Barker's memorandum:

"The war is posing new problems in sports handling and we have got to solve them.

"In a general way, I believe there should be a ban on flowery over-enthusiastic lyrical sports writing for the duration. There should be careful use of adjectives and similes. Remembering the exploits of military heroes, it does not seem appropriate to overdo the use of such words as 'courageous', 'gallant', 'fighting', etc., in referring to athletes. Speaking relatively and with the war in mind, it doesn't take much 'courage' to overcome a two-run lead in the ninth or to get up off the floor after somebody knocks you there in a boxing bout.

"So long as sport retains its hold on the public, we must continue to cover it with all the resources at our command but our sports writing phraseology must march with the times. We must adjust our focus and maintain perspective.

"We want to maintain quick, comprehensive sports coverage so long as activities justify and our members require it—but it is equally important that special emphasis be placed on careful selection of words. Restraint should be a prime consideration."

Johnny Rigney Held Senators To Three Hits

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Rigney, ace of Chicago White Sox mound staff, will do his future pitching for the navy, but before he decided to don the navy blue he had to win one for the boss.

The boss is Mrs. Johnny Rigney, the former Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox. Johnny's present to her in his last major league appearance for the duration of the war was a three-hit pitching job against Washington Senators in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader.

White Sox Won Two

After winning the first game 7-1 behind the six-hit hurling of Ted Lyons, the White Sox rallied to overcome a three-run deficit and pull the nightcap out of the fire for Rigney, 4-3.

Bobby Estalella drove in all of Washington's runs with a homer in the first game and a second-inning double in the afterpiece which emptied the bases that had been loaded on a pair of passes and a single.

Rigney, a 27-year-old right-handed, expects to enlist in the navy. He told reporters that yesterday's game was "definitely" his last for the duration.

Breaks Even With Browns

New York Yankees saved their lead in the American League by gaining an even break with St. Louis Browns, but the second-place Cleveland Indians sliced the margin to half a game by bumping Philadelphia Athletics twice.

A three-run homer by Chet Laabs featured a four-run assault on Charley Ruffing in the first inning of the opening game and the Browns coasted to a 4-2 decision as Eldon Auker limited the world champions to seven hits.

Atley Donald pitched five-hit ball for the Yanks in the second game, and Frank Crosetti's single brought in the run that won it, 3-2, scoring Joe Gordon who had three hits in four times at bat.

Jim Bagby and Al Milnar turned in a pair of sparkling four-hitters for Cleveland Indians, who downed the Athletics 4-1 and 9-3. Bagby didn't walk a man in the first game as he registered his sixth victory against one defeat. Milnar helped his own cause in the second game with a triple and a double.

Win In Tenth

Jimmy Bloodworth's 10th-inning home run gave Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory over Boston Red Sox in a single game at Detroit.

In the National League, Brooklyn Dodgers hiked their lead from five games to 6½, sweeping a twin bill with Chicago Cubs as Boston Braves lost to Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburg Pirates split a pair with Philadelphia Phils.

Kirby Higbe pitched four-hit ball in the opening game and Les Webber made his initial major league start a winning one with a seven-hit job in the nightcap, although he had to be rescued when he grew wild in the ninth. It was te sixth straight triumph for the Dodgers.

Bucky Walters stole Jim Tobin's thunder at Boston, pitching Cincinatti Reds to a 9-3 victory over the Braves. Walters yielded only seven blows and blasted a two-run home off Tobin, who hit three home runs in a row against Chicago last Wednesday. Weather cut the scheduled double-header to a single game.

Philadelphia Phils kept Pittsburg Pirates two percentage points behind the second-place Braves by winning the second game 5-4, after the Pirates had grabbed the first game of a bargain bill 7-2.

Divide Double Bill.

New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals divided their double bill to remain deadlocked in fourth place. Carl Hubbell scattered eight hits for a 7-1 decision in the opener, his first triumph of the year, but the Cards came from behind to take the afterpiece, 8-6.

The National League captured attendance honors for the day, playing to 122,297 of the afternoon's total of 162,7880 paying customers. New York's Polo Grounds drew the largest crowd, 49,745 turning out to see the Giants and the Cards.

In Saturday's games in the American League, Phil Marchildon, Philadelphia Athletics' spurting sophomore from Penetanguishene, Ont., was within range of becoming the first big league pitcher to win six games until Chicago White Sox rallied for two runs in the ninth to win 4-3. Marchildon was leading 3-2 going into the ninth, despite giving 11 hits and six bases on balls. In other games, New York won two from Detroit, 6-1 and 2-1, and Washington and Cleveland split, Cleveland taking the first game 5-4 and the Senators the second 7-1.

In the National League, Brooklyn landed on Pittsburg for 12 hits and an 8-1 decision, St. Louis turned back the Braves 7-4 and the Giants beat Cincinnati 7-2. Chicago at Philadelphia was postponed.

King And Queen At Soccer Game

LONDON, May 18.—(CP)—The King and Queen attended their first football game of the war Saturday, visiting Stamford Bridge to watch the Interallied Services Cup final between the British Army and the Police.

The King, wearing army uniform, shook hands with members of both teams and officials before the game, and the Queen, dressed in powder blue ensemble, presented the trophy to Tom Smith, captain of the Police team, which scored an easy 6-2 victory.

The Cup final marked the close of the season of competition between British and Allied Services teams, including the Canadian Army, which was eliminated in the second round.

The Police, with five Internationals in the lineup, were too experienced for the Army amateurs and never were threatened after Leslie Compton scored his first of five goals.

The match, watched by a crowd of 5,000 was the first Their Majesties had attended since the Portsmouth-Wolverhampton Cup final at Wembley in April, 1939.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

Two Canoeists Pulled Out Of Otonabee River

Cool-headed action of Joe Borden, a Geneleco employee was the dominant factor in preventing a drowning in the rain swelled Otonabee River early Sunday evening.

Borden, who hails from Donkin, Cape Breton Island was padding a canoe upriver from the Lower Locks along with his fellow-worker Louis Schneider of Chatham, Ontario. The river is up about three feet following the heavy rains of last week, and when the boys tried to round a bend under the No. 7 highway bridge, the current flipped the canoe into a spin, and it turned over.

Unable To Swim

Schneider can't swim, and Borden who is a fair swimmer, immediately grabbed his pal and held him up. The current swept them downstream rapidly, and Schneider yelled for help, which brought quick results.

Babe Kimball, 31 Lansdowne street, grabbed the life belt from the lock house wall, and heaved it into the river, but it fell short. Harold Rose, another resident of the district, and an employee of the Quaker Oats, pulled in the life belt, and sent it spinning in a high loop to drop directly in front of the two boys. Both grabbed it and hung on. Rose, Babe Kimball and Eric Kimball, who swings the No. 7 bridge pulled the two boys to shore, then up a four foot concrete wall to safety. Eric Kimball then provided the two with a change of clothes.

Speaking of it afterwards, Eric Kimball said: "Borden never said a word, and kept his head while in the water. He showed fine presence of mind, and a disregard for his own safety by grabbing his buddy and keeping him afloat. There only chance outside of reaching the life belt was to permit the fast current to carry them down to the lock and dam, 400 feet further south."

Asked by a reporter if they were experienced canoeists, Borden said it was the second time, he had ever been in a canoe, and Schneider admitted that it was his second trip also, and that he could not swim.

A few years ago, three men were drowned in exactly the same spot and canoeists, particularly the newcomers to Peterborough should be warned that the Otonabee is one of the most treacherous rivers in Ontario, and people renting canoes should stay on the lake. Last weekend a canoe upset at the George street wharf, because the occupants started to indulge in some horseplay, and the odds are definitely in favor of a tragedy very soon, if some stern warnings are not given.

Canucks Over Holland

LONDON, May 18 — (CP) — A Royal Canadian Air Force squadron of the fighter command attacked German airdromes in Holland during the night, it was announced today. The Canadians scored hits on flarepaths and hangars.

The squadron flew Boston bombers.

During one attack a cone of 12 searchlights tried to illumine one of the planes but the pilot reported his aircraft "flicked through."

Another Boston had to dive away from a cone of 20 searchlights and more came on ahead. But the Canadians were too tricky for them and the lights were still groping around the sky as the bombers crossed Netherlands coast.

The squadron had its first operation last month.

Faces Murder

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 18—(CP Cable). — Pte. Francis John Martin of a Canadian regiment to-day was charged with murder as a result of the death of Pte. Edward Arnold of the same unit after a barrack room fracas at Lester Field yesterday.

Details of the fracas are unavailable, but as far as could be learned an altercation occurred between the two men in which Arnold was so badly injured he died almost immediately.

after a pulverizing bombardment of the Nazi lines.

Krasnograd formerly known as Constantinograd, is about midway between Kharkov and the Dneiper River toward which the Russians are driving. The city is strategically important as a railway centre, and its fall would be a severe blow to German communication lines in the Ukraine.

Holding, Says Berlin.

(The German high command acknowledged yesterday the Russians were continuing to attack on the Kharkov front, but claimed they were repulsed with heavy losses and 240 Soviet tanks were destroyed in the fighting in that area to date.

(A sidelight of the general situation in Russia, rendered confusing by conflicting German and Soviet claims, was provided by Edwin Shanke, member of the former Bureau of the Associated Press in Berlin, in a dispatch filed from Lisbon while en route home from internment in Germany.

(Shanke suggested that the German drive in the Crimea was a prelude to a two-pronged drive around both sides of the Black Sea by which Hitler hoped to gain control of oil resources and territory in the Near East which Germany needs for a prolonged conflict. Shanke reported that in preparation for an offensive Hitler had been equipping 300 divisions throughout the winter, during which he attempted to hang on to his gains in Russia with a minimum expenditure of effort.)

Except for the fighting before Kharkov and in the Crimea official Russian reports said there were no important developments during the week-end on the land front.

Communiques declared, however, that a Soviet warship had sunk a 6,000-ton German transport in the Barents Sea and said the Russian Black Sea Fleet and its arm had repulsed a German torpedo-plane attack on a Russian transport.

Heavy Offerings Garden Flowers

The produce market Saturday, especially in its feminine section, brought offerings of vitamins of the spirit, such unsubstantials as the bright colors of tulips, the lacy grace of the bloom of the lilacs and the set and stiff beauty of white narcissus. Delicate form and fragrance of country grown flowers mingled with the familiar staples of butters and eggs and poultry.

Spring is evidently at its zenith in rural gardens, and from the quantity of bloom spread about an otherwise light market the impression pervading the big utilitarian hall suggested that the city's concession line neighbors are going in more than ever for the things of horticulture as an aesthetic complement to their age old wares of agriculture and its broad acres.

Darwin tulips opened at 40 cents a dozen, but at the noon hour you could have bought of the remnant at 25 cents the dozen.

Incidentally for this Saturday, eggs were quoted at 27 cents a dozen all the way up to the peak of 40 cents. Most of the sales were made at 28 to 32 cents, and the larger sizes were 35 to 40 cents. Butter was 37 and 38 cents.

Broiler chickens were 35 cents, hens and roosters dating from 1941 were 28 cents, pullets 30 cents.

Potatoes were unchanged at 40 cents a peck and $1.80 a bushel for table stock, and Maritime potatoes at $2 to $2.25.

Greenhouse plants, perennial flowers, tomatoes and cabbage were plentiful at 20 cents a box. Herb Doig had a lot of new vegetables asparagus at 10 cents, radish and green onions at 5 cents the bunch.

Erle Tully's seed potatoes were $2.50 for his best Chippewas and $2.25 for a second quality.

Weekend Death Toll Takes 6 Only One Traffic

By The Canadian Press.

Six fatalities, including two deaths in airplane crashes, two industrial deaths and only one traffic fatality, were reported in Ontario during the week-end. In addition to this total, two bodies were recovered as a result of drowning accidents which occurred some time ago.

Daniel O'Neil of Whitby died in Oshawa hospital Sunday from injuries suffered Saturday when a small explosion occurred at Pickering shell-filling plant.

A student at Windsor Royal Canadian Air Force elementary flying training school was killed Sunday when his airplane crashed during a solo flight. Authorities would not release the flier's name pending notification of next-of-kin.

One Royal Air Force student pilot was drowned and is companion escaped injury Sunday when their plane struck a hydro wire and plunged into 27 feet of water in Gananoque lake. Both airmen were in training at Norman Rovers airport, Collins Bay, but their names were released for publication.

Pte. J. E. Lariviere of Prince Albert, Sask., died in Ottawa hospital Sunday of injuries suffered when he stepped in front of a street car a few hours earlier.

Killed By Freight.

Joseph Ulijan, 42, of Toronto, was killed Sunday when he was crushed under the wheels of a freight train on the Canadian National Railways right-of-war near Hamilton. None of the trainmen saw the man near the tracks or attempting to board the train.

The second tragedy in connection with a Collingwood building where two children were burned to death last fall occurred Saturday when the two-storey wreckage collapsed on Robert J. Kelly and killed him.

A body recovered Saturday from the Detroit river was identified Sunday as that of Lester P. Surfus, formerly of Dalhousie, N.B. The body was found near the Ambassador bridge at Windsor.

The body of Edward Dewitt of Detroit, was found on the shore of Lake Erie 10 miles south of Amherstburg on Sunday. Dewitt drowned May 1 when his yawl capsized in a lake squall.

Dept. Of Highways Erects Oil Tanks

HAVELOCK, May 18 — (ENS). — Men were busy this week erecting an oil storage tank on the C.P.R. property, west of No. 7 Highway near the coal sheds. The tank is made of wood built on a concrete foundation, and is to hold oil for use on the highways, and is a means of overcoming the shortage of railway oil tanks so badly needed now. the men have now left to erect one in Madoc.

Men are busy again this week unloading wool at the C.P.R. shops. A large supply has already been stored and more will probably arrive soon as the wool is starting to be shipped by farmers.

Maurice Williams, who has been attending Queen's University at Kingston for the past two years, was successful in passing all his subjects and will receive his B.A. degree at Convocation to be held on Saturday afternoon at Grant Hall. His many friends here extend congratulations.

Bruce Curtis returned home from Toronto Hospital and is able to be out and around after his recent car accident.

Marmora News

Mr. William McCay was admitted to Belleville General Hospital on Saturday.

Born at Deloro on Thursday, May 14, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiggins, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Gordenier and daughter, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordenier.

Miss Clara Sullivan returned home on Sunday after spending a few days with her sister in Toronto.

Week-end guests included Mr. Herbert Vanstone of Toronto at his home here.

Mrs. Hugh Brady has returned home after a week's visit with relatives in Toronto.

Less Than 1 in 16 To Buy New Tires

OTTAWA, May 18.—(CP).—Fewer than one out of every sixteen passenger cars in Canada will be permitted new tires and tubes during the next two years, Alan H. Williamson, Supplies Controller, estimat to-day.

He said that no new civilian passenger tires are being manufactured, and that even with strict control the existing stockpiles will probably be exhausted by this time in 1944.

"During these next two years only about 75,000 essential passenger cars will be supplied," Mr. Williamson saiad. "Of the remaining 1,175,000 cars in Canada about 800,000 will not be allowed tires of any kind.

"The balance of 375,000 passenger cars are those in Class 'B' and 'C.' The higher of these two groups may be able to buy some retreaded tires or have some of their own tires retreaded. The lowest eligible group will have to get along with any used tires that may still be available.

"There are still those who believe that synthetic rubber production is the answer to all our problems," he said. "I only wish it were. The facts are that synthetic rubber will not be produced for very many months, and then every ounce will be required for war purposes."

---THE "Y" WAS THERE

All through the main theatres of war the Y.M.C.A. has played its part. In 1914 and again in this world wide struggle the "Y" is filling the important part of helping to keep up the morale of our fighting men. Through seemingly endless days and nights, hrtough death and disaster, mobile and stationary canteens provide hot tea, biscuits, cigarettes, chocolate, amusement, writing materials, and comfort to our fighting men. The "Y" is doing its mighty part over there.

THE "Y" ON THE HOME FRONT

On the home front the work of the Y.M.C.A. is different but no less important. The work it has done and is doing of making better citizens out of young men is doubly important in this time of crisis. Clean, healthful, supervised sport and entertainment. Not only for the civilians but also for our boys in uniform. Supervised sport for our young boys. For the boys in uniform, the local Y.M.C.A. provides free use of their social rooms at all times. Provides free use of their swimming and shower facilities, including towels and soap. In the past month 1800 of our boys in service took advantage of this, and in two months of the summer last year, some 10,000 men in uniform used the "Y" facilities. Men on weekend or furloughs are looked after by the "Y" with sleeping accommodations, and if these are not available at the "Y", suitable accommodations are found elsewhere. We ask your help in continuing to do this important work in Peterborough.

TO-MORROW

Morale is a big part of the present struggle. It was a high morale that won the war of 1918, and high morale both on the war front and at home will win the present struggle. The "Y" helps in building and keeping up this morale both in civilians and soldiers.

The "Y" provides for our Boys in uniform, our young boys who may have to be the soldiers of to-morrow and our young men and business men.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

CONVERSING WITH QUEEN.

A photograph from London of special interest to his friends in Peterborough shows Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne talking to Queen Elizabeth on the occasion of an inspection by Their Majesties of the Canadian Division. The former commanding officer of the Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry Highlanders is now in charge of Canadian Records in London.

FLU VICTIMS.

City Clerk Outram was back at his desk this morning after a week's illness with influenza. Alderman Dutton has been another victim of the extreme changes in the weather of late. Without overcoat or hat he went with Mayor Hamilton one chilly day recently to look over some of the properties mentioned for Wartime Housing. Several doctors report that there have been many similar cases of late.

TRAFFIC INCREASING

Four busses which took passengers at the city bus depot Sunday night, all carried good loads. The Toronto bound bus was crowded, and there were many airmen and soldiers in the crowd. It is reported too that train passenger traffic is showing a steady increase in the Peterborough district.

NEW REPRESENTATIVE.

M. H. Riddle, manager of Peterborough Bell Telephone, was elected as one of the representatives to the 1942-1943 executive of the Charles Fleetford Sise Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America, at their annual meeting Saturday in Toronto.

UP AND DOWN

It is reported that there are more shrub shipments for farmers on the move in this district than there have been for the last seven years, particularly from Niagara-on-the-Lake, for no very apparent reason. But it is just the opposite as far as the shipment of bees is concerned. They have hit a new low. Whether it is that the winter was less severe this past year and there were not so many of the district bees winter-killed, or whether there is difficulty in transportation, at any rate the usually large shipments of bees from Georgia have not yet appeared.

GONE FOREVER

The last landmark of the old bandstand in Victoria Park, which saw service for so many years, is being removed today as the men are filling in the deep hole over which the structure stood. When the job is fully completed the lawn will present a more beautiful appearance than ever.

THAT'S FRIENDSHIP.

A man has to love his dog a lot when he will hang on to a careening motorcycle by the skin of his teeth so that his pet may have a ride. A motorcycle sailed along George Street at a good clip with a huge police dog in the side car sitting with ears pricked up and enjoying his novel treat to the limit. The only one who didn't seem to be enjoying the situation to the full was the second man clinging to his insecure perch.

THIS MEANS YOU, MISTER.

Did it ever occur to you motorists who drive to work, all alone, that the man who is hustling along the street, can't drive to work because his gasoline ration won't permit it, or perhaps because his tires are on their last legs. Why not pull over to the curb and give him a ride, especially if it is raining.

MORE CAMOUFLAGE

Airmen of the Royal Air Force, now training in Canada have ground sheets that are completely camouflaged. These sheets which are used as cape raincoats, are painted in colors that would make it difficult for an enemy flier to spot the airman wearing the cape, if he was lying on the ground.

WHERE ARE THE BENCHES

Newcomers to the city have discovered the tourist camp is a fine place for a midday lunch and several fellows and girls too, have been going there at the noon hour to eat their lunch, and get a half hour of rest as well. If the park tables and benches were placed out under the trees, it would certainly improve the service.

HE'S SMART.

The dream of every dog owner in Peterborough had its fulfillment on Charlotte Street today. A big black dog trotted along beside his mistress carrying one of her large parcels in his mouth, and wearing one of the proudest expressions to be found in the animal kingdom. There are many who would like to know just what the secret of her triumph is, because it seems to be a very difficult task for dogs to perform.

ONLY SIX LOTS TAKEN.

Relief Officer Metheral reports that only six lots have been taken by citizens who desire to put in their spare time gardening this season. The property adjoins the site of Queen Mary Hospital on the township border at the north end of the city and as it is convenient only to people living in that locality it is unlikely that many of the lots will be taken.

RIVER UP 3 FEET

Pickerel fishermen frowned on Saturday when they found the Otonabee river had risen almost three feet from the heavy rains of the past week. It was flowing over the wharf at Ryes. The water was murky, and generally speaking pickerel fishing Friday night and early on Saturday, was poor.

THEY ARE TOO BUSY

The men who are giving liberally of their time to canvass the stores and offices downtown are busy men, and the least everyone can do to aid the community is to be ready when the canvassers arrive seeking contributions for the Red Cross and Community Fund. Each individual has the personal responsibility of seeing that local agencies doing charitable work secure enough funds to carry on.

POSTED TO RANGERS

Lt. Don Weese, Lt. Ev. Gibbs and Lt. Bob Juby have all been posted to active service with the Prince of Wales Rangers. All were former members of the Rangers but in the process of obtaining their commissions had been posted to other active service units. Now they have been successful in obtaining postings to the regiment of their choice, the Rangers. They will report ot Camp Niagara in the near future.

BIG GAME TONIGHT

Ashburnham Bowl at the east end of Hunter street bridge should be jammed to capacity tonight for the opening game of the City Softball League. The Plazas and Royals clash, in the curtain-raiser and all proceeds go to the British War Victims' Fund. There will be a brief opening ceremony at 6.30, and fans are promised plenty of entertainment from these two classy men's teams.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

P. Moore, manager of Loblaws had his staff prepare an effective Red Cross and Community Fund window display and the window is getting results. On Saturday a boy, dressed in working clothes walked in, and Moore figured he was seeking work. Instead the boy offered him $2.00 for the fund. When he started to make out the receipt the young man boosted the donation to $5.00 and said he was working on his first full-time job.

GETS PICKEREL

Lower locks was thronged with fishermen on Sunday evening, but catches were poor because of high water. Jesse Airriess, and Hossannah Gordon both got nice strings in the lower river. Twelve-year-old Don McGillen, caught a pickerel weighing just two ounces under four pounds, in the first cast he made in the raceway below the London street dam. Catches at Deer River, and Hastings were just fair.

DOZED OFF AT WHEEL

Joseph Kundtz, Cleveland, Ohio, driver of a car which ran off Highway 28 early the other morning, entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of careless driving in police court this morning and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs. Kundtz was one of a party of American visitors who come in to this district on a fishing trip. "He dozed off at the wheel," Traffic Officer L. A. McClure explained.

Special Bingo On Tuesday For War Victims

Of special interest to the large number of people who enjoy an evening's fun playing bingo games, will be the announcement of a special night this Tuesday, being sponsored by Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion, with a prominent role being played by Bob Hotrum, Robert Mitchell and Andy Rutter from which the total proceeds will all come to the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, thus giving the patrons a full opportunity to have a big evening's entertainment at small cost with the full knowledge that their money is going to do double duty in that every cent of it will be sent to England to help those who suffer so much from enemy air raids over the country at large.

There will be 30 games, all for the small price of 25 cents, and then there will be a freeze-out and in addition two nice door prizes are also being offered. The gifts offered are most varied, and all of real value, and include such things as a two-burner electric plate, a half cord of wood, a rug, bedspread, baskets of groceries, toiletries, a $4.00 permanent wave, a floor polisher, etc. etc. and it is through the generosity of Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd., Comstocks, Cherney Bros., Campbell and Best, Coleman Bros., Campbells Dairy, Canadian Department Stores, DeCarlonis Fruit Stores, Gilbert Downer, Elsie Bennet Gift Shop, Foley and Wilson, W. E. Franks, R. Fair Ltd., Grafton & Co. Ltd., Grant and Loucks, Hood and Cummings, F. Hills, Higgins Hardware, Loblaws, Wm. Ltd., Routley China Shop, Schneider's Jewellers, J. W. Steinkraus, J. W. Watson, Western Clock Co., Warnes Jewellers, and Zellers Store, that the event is made possible in a manner which permits of one hundred cents on the dollar of the proceeds all coming to the fund to help the people of Britain. Acknowledge is also due to the F. H. Johnston Tire and Radio services, through whom a daily broadcast of fund activities is made possible and to Schneiders Jewellers through whom a radio announcement has been made available in connection with this event for both Monday and Tuesday.

Today's list of receipts for the fund includes the monthly donation from the group of four, with whom an extra lady still sits in on their weekly meeting to give the fund $5.00 instead of $4.00 for the third successive time, and a box collection at Zellers Store yielding $3.90, while a similar event at Grafton and Co. Ltd. Store added a donation of $3.50 in a like manner.

A donation of $2.00 given under the name of "In memory of May 15" comes to the fund as a result of loved ones remembering the birthday of a lost husband and father by giving help to those in need, and one of the fund's most regular contributors is heard from with "E.M.F." giving the usual contribution.

Silver Moon Grill

On Wednesday of this week a new restaurant will open its doors for public patronage, known as the Silver Moon Grill, and Henry Young, the proprietor, has decided to give the total gross proceeds from the first day's business all to worthy war charities which include the Chinese Relief Fund, the Red Cross, and this fund all sharing equally. In making such a contribution after a heavy expenditure for entire refitting of the premises, as the first object of the re-opening of business, it would seem like getting a start on the right foot for those who think of others needs before their own, render a service which will ever remain as something worth-while.

RALPH FRANCIS DAFOE.

The death occurred recently of Ralph Francis Dafoe of 193 London Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dafoe. He was born in Trenton in 1925. At the early age of seven years he had to receive special and prolonged treatment in the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. He came to Peterborough in 1932 and attended King Edward School and St. James' Sunday School. He was confined to bed at home for the past four months and entered the hospital on Tuesday, May 5, and passed away on Thursday, May 14.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dafoe; two brothers, Floyd and Norris, and two sisters, Gwendolyn and Joyce.

The funeral service was held at the Arthur Bellegham Funeral Home on Saturday at 4 p.m., and was conducted by Rev. Fred Craik of St. James' United Church. Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

IS PROMOTED

Constable Karl Lockwood who has been in charge of the Cobourg detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for some years and is a frequent visitor to Peterborough has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

Now In Scotland

Ordinary Seaman Leo Cleary, well-known local softball player, and now serving with the Royal Canadian Navy, cabled his parents recently that he was in Scotland. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cleary, Rogers Street, Peterborough.

Rev. C. C. Boyter 5 Years In City

The fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. C. C. Boyter was observed by the Park Street Baptist Church on Sunday. This day also proved to be the anniversary of his conversion, also his graduation from Seminary and his ordination.

A special program was arranged for the evening service, with the guests of honor being all those whom Mr. Boyter had baptized and those who had been received into membership during his pastorate, there being a total of sixty-three in the five years. The call to worship was given by the choir singing, "O Come to the Church in the Wildwood." The minister's sermon was introduced by the choir singing the hymn "Jesus Calls Us." The topic for the service was "Why be a Christian and a Church Member." The speaker declared that the highest honor available to man is membership in the Church of Christ. This will be admitted when we recognize what the church means to Jesus and to the world. The church was established by the Lord Jesus Christ, who loved and gave himself for it and purchased it with his blood. It was built on the foundation of the prophets and apostles, with Jesus Christ being the chief cornerstone. It is Christ's agency for the carrying out of his redempture purpose in the world. It is not the way of salvation but points the way. It is not the mediator of salvation but the messenger. It is the means by which He mobilizes, trains and sends forth his army of workers into the world. Without the church He cannot carry out his plan, but with the church He will bring the world to his feet. Every follower of Jesus Christ is obliged to be a member of the church, or the local group of believers, otherwise he lives in active disobedience to his master. Membership in the church is a confession of faith in Christ, a pledge of allegiance to him, a recognition of others as brothers and sisters in Christ, and of obligation to share in the furtherance of the gospel.

After the sermon, a roll call of all those baptized by Mr. Boyter was given and a large group responded, this was followed by the entire congregation standing and reading the Covenant of the Church in a responsive covenant reading. The service concluded with singing "Bless be the tie that binds."

A word of welcome was given at this service to one of the boys of the church, home on leave from the Canadian Navy after more than a year of active service on both of the great oceans. Bob Ainslie has a certificate of honor from the Sunday School for thirteen years of regular attendance.

A full choir and a splendid congregation were on hand to greet the pastor with words of appreciation for the past and best wishes for future services with Park Street Church.

Community Fund Swings Into High Gear

Red Cross and Community Fund swung into high gear Monday as canvassers buckled down to the job of completing the city canvass in record time, and industrial committees reported the work well along. G. H. Roper, general secretary of the local campaign, released the first total Monday morning, and this indicated that already the fine sum of $8,100 had been reported.

The total included the sum of $4,000 from the Canadian General Electric Company as a direct donation from the company itself, $250 from Loblaw Groceteria Ltd. Percy Moore, manager of the Peterborough grocery stor, said that the company officials had designated $20,000 for the Red Cross in Ontario, and the $250 was the quota allowed to be credited to the local store.

Gordon S. Matthews reported that three of the Peterborough service clubs had been heard from, as follows: Rotary Club $300; Kiwanis Club $200; and the Lions Club $100.

Interesting Program.

On Sunday evening the Collegiate auditorium was well filled for a special program, made possible by the voluntary efforts of local vocal and musical artists, and at this meeting campaign officials and key men outlined the needs of the various organizations which share in the monies obtained in the drive.

The program was of a high order, ad the strong, soprano voice of Dorothy Allan Park captivated the appreciative audience when she sang 'Land of Hope and Glory,' 'The White Cliffs of Dover,' and 'Sonny.' Gwen Craw accompanied Mrs. Park. Harry and Stanley Northrop in a piano duo gave exhibition of piano team work. Rangers' Camp Adjacent To Fort George

Prince of Wales Rangers Camp, Niagara-on-the-Lake, May 16. — (Special to the Examiner.)—As a section of Ontario, well known in the pages of Canadian history, the Prince of Wales Rangers, Peterborough regiment, settled into Camp Thursday afternoon after a train trip from Peterborough in the morning. The main body of the regiment joined the fifty man advance party of the unit to make the regimental strength more than 250 men, not including the officers and N.C.O.'s attached to the regiment for training purposes.

The trip was uneventful but the men were quite tired as a result of their 5 a.m. rise Thursday morning. However, by evening some of them had regained sufficient pep to visit the village proper about a mile from camp and some of the neighboring units in the camp, of which there are several.

The camp proper is a broad area of country extending well beyond the eyesight of the Rangers camp and is on the shore of the Niagara river, a few hundred yards across which is the American shore. Built on similar lines to the Peterborough training centre, the Rangers camp buildings are neatly painted in white on the outside and are bright and cheerful inside.

Less than 500 yards is the historic Fort George which is scheduled to open May 23 and through which the soldiers will be allowed to pass. About 250 yards to the north, the Canadian Fusiliers from London, are encamped under canvas and off in another direction the Canadian Ordnance Corps is stationed.

Hot or cold showers, a city convenience, are at the disposal of the men. They have expressed approval of the meals and with the exception of Thursday, when it rained all day, the men were loud in their praise of everything in general.

There is no end to entertainment of diversified nature. Almost every hut has its musicians and radios and those desiring to spend the evening in their huts are well entertained. Reveille is called each morning at 6.30 and Friday morning saw many of the men out of bed and on their feet awaiting the sound of the bugle.

Acting R.S.M. George Weir has had his hands full since arrival with a semi-reorganization of the battalion. Rifles were being issued to the men by companies Friday afternoon while other groups unpacked more than 1500 wool blankets in preparation for the group of men who will join the Rangers from Military District No. 2 within a few days.

Headed by Col J. A. Dewart, the first inspection of huts was made Friday and everything was reported in good shape with exception of a few minor repairs which have been ordered.

STREET SINGER

Shoppers who were near the corner of Charlotte and George streets Saturday afternoon were treated to a good old fashioned serenade of western and southern songs by a young man with a guitar. Judging by the size of his audience, the artist and his program were a real hit.

T. Harry Adams Is Laid To Rest

A last tribute was paid to the memory of T. Harry Adams, Peterborough drygoods merchant for over fifty years, by his friends and business associates at St. Luke's Anglican Church on Saturday.

The funeral was an exceptionally large one, with most of the Peterborough business men in attendance and the many floral offerings testified to the esteem in which the community held him.

The late Mr. Adams spent 71 of his 74 years in this city and was a widely known and respected citizen. He had served on the Board of Education and was a former warden of St. Luke's Church. The only profession he ever practised was that of the drygoods business.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. G. J. Bousfield of St. Luke's Church.

Pall-bearers were City Engineer R. H. Parsons R. H. Turner, C. Wasson, J. Patterson, Ald. M. Swanston, and W. C. Hughes. The honorary pall-bearers were E. A. Peck, K.C., Charles Saunders, D. J. Fitzgerald, Fred Sawyer, and J. J. Golway, the latter representing one of the textile industries in Toronto.

North End Salvage Collection

THURSDAY, MAY 21ST

All the area west of the Otonabee River, including both sides of Parkhill Road, West to the city limits and North including, Wartime Houses and that portion of Smith Township adjacent to the City that is thickly populated.

Paper and rag collection will commence at 8 o'clock in the morning, and if paper could be sorted in this way it would greatly expedite matters. First—tie all newspapers up in one bundle, then magazines in another and last all miscellaneous paper in another. If you have paper boxes, flatten them out, it saves time and takes up much less room.

Collection of rubber, bottles and metals starts at 6 o'clock in the evening wih a big staff of trucks and helpers. Ashburnham has set a record for salvage that every other district is going to have to work hard to equal. Just imagine over eight ton of paper from this area. If you get out all your salvage you are doing a good war job.

Reckless Driver Slices 8 Posts

Edward Henderson, 540 Chamberlain street, was fined $50 and $1.75 costs in police court this morning after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving arising out of an early Saturday morning accident on Highway 28.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., cancelled the accused's driving permit for a period of six months.

Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure testified that Henderson's car had knocked eight posts off a guard rail on the side of the highway and had then collided with a tree, bounced around and went down into a gully. Three men were taken to the hospital for treatment and the car was a complete wreck, the officer stated.

"He lost his car" Crown Attorney McElderry pointed out. "I don't think he will lose any more by his own driving for a long time," commented Magistrate Langley before imposing sentence.

Board Of Works Considers Traffic Hazards

Increased traffic on Monaghan road in the neighborhood of C.G.E. and Prince of Wales School has received the attention of the Board of Works, Alderman Dutton, chairman, said this morning in referenec to discussion of that condition by the Board of Education.

"Employees are in a greater hurry to get home from work at the noon hour than they are in returning, and I think there is some hazard for the children leaving school at that time," Alderman Dutton said. "We thought it might be possible to arrange for some diversion easterly on Wolfe street, but we found there were about as many going east as west. We arranged for a noon hour traffic officer at Chamberlain street and Monaghan road. About the only helpful idea that seemed really helpful would be an advance in the morning school hours from the present schedule to 8.30 o'clock to 11.30, but we have not proposed that to the Board. I do not know what parents would think of it, but it would have the advantage of getting the children home from school before the noon traffic is on the street."

Farmers Be Haying In Two Weeks' Time

Farmers will be cutting hay in another two weeks, Frank Paterson told the Examiner this morning. The season is earlier than average, and farmers are generally adopting the policy of taking off the crop at a stage of maturity in advance of former practice.

"And that raises the problem of temporary help for farmers who are trying to get along as well as they can in the labor scarcity," Mr. Paterson said. "The Examiner mentioned this emergency a short time ago, and I have been wondering whether it has had any local effect."

Mr. Paterson said he intended to appeal to Mayor Hamilton for any assistance he could stir up.

LOANS

$25 FOR $1.76 (TOTAL COST)
$50 FOR $3.58 (TOTAL COST)
$100 FOR $7.10 (TOTAL COST)
when repaid in six monthly instalments

WOULD a cash loan help you? If you have a job, you can borrow at Household Finance without fuss or bother—and at reasonable cost. You may repay your loan in monthly instalments which fit your own pocketbook.

Just this to do

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay.

You may choose the most convenient payment plan from the table below. Suppose you borrow $100 to be repaid at $9.46 a month. Twelve instalments of $9.46 each will repay your loan in full. You may prefer to repay sooner in order to reduce the cost. Six monthly instalments of $17.85 each—a total of $107.10—will also repay a $100 loan. The cost of your loan, in this case, is just $7.10. A $25 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $4.46 each costs only $1.76.

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household—just the ability to repay in monthly instalments. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit.

Household Finance loans are usually made on furniture or car. But we consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. You can get your loan quickly—usually in 24 hours or even sooner if necessary. If you should get sick or lose your position while paying on your loan, Household will show you every consideration.

Let Household help you

People borrow at Household to pay taxes, insurance, medical, dental, hospital and funeral expenses, school fees, and overdue bills of many kinds. Household service helps men and women, both married and single, to take care of emergency expenses and work their way out of debt.

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. We are in business to make loans to folks with money problems. Phone or visit us without obligation.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where the groom's mother received the guests, wearing honey beige printed crepe dress with brown accessories. She was assisted by Mrs. Dunkerley, gowned in dulce blue with matching accessories.

Later the happy couple left on a short honeymoon. For going away the bride wore a pale blue silk jersey dress, a Harris tweed coat and rose accessories. They will live in Peterborough.

Mission Circle Celebrates 46th Anniversary

At a well-attended meeting Friday evening, the members of the Mission Circle of Park Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, celebrated their 46th anniversary. The gathering was held in the Sunday school room, which was decorated with a profusion of spring flowers.

Mrs. C. C. Boyter, president of the Circle, presided and welcomed guests from Murray Street, Gilmour Memorial, Lakefield and Cobourg Baptist churches. Greetings were conveyed Park Street by Mrs. G. R. Scott, Murray Street; Mrs. M. C. MacLean, Gilmour Memorial; Mrs. W. B. Walker, Lakefield; and Miss C. Hinman, Cobourg.

Two lovely musical numbers were heard during the evening. A voilin solo was played by Rev. S. J. France of Cobourg, and a vocal solo by Mrs. M. Shadgett, Mr. Stanley Northrop accompanied both numbers.

Miss C. Hinman, who is Directress of Mission Circles in the Peterborough Association, gave a most interesting address covering incidents in the progress of missionary work in this district.

After the benediction, pronounced by the Rev. W. B. Walker of Lakefield, a social hour was spent. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. Pilling and Mrs. J. Booth from a table lovely with tulips in silver containers, and centred by a large pink and white birthday cake, which was donated by the honorary president, Mrs. J. Booth.

Twenty-Four Hour Service

You, Mr. and Mrs. Peterborough, tonight as you hurried home from your work, you may have passed a young lady, dressed in navy blue. In her hand she carries a little black bag—she also hurries. You perhaps, can go home and shut the door against the worries of the day and say "good, my day's work is done" but did you ever stop to think where she is going?

Have these young ladies of the Victorian Order of Nurses become in one busy year, such a part of the life of Peterborough, that we have ceased to think of them and their errants of kindness and mercy? Do we realize that they are there ready to be called upon, not only this morning while the sun shines and the birds sing, but every hour of the day and the long dismal night. Twenty-four hours they are waiting to answer your calls—calls from rich and poor alike, at a moment's notice to give relief to fevered bodies and comfort to troubled minds.

It it not in this troubled world to know that no tonly are our doctors near when sickness strikes but that they can call these kindly nurses of the Victorian Order to help them in our homes—whatever the hour, whatever the need. You gentlemen of Peterborough who are serving our country whether in uniform or in our busy factories, you at your work, know that these nurses of the Victorian Order are waiting ready to help the loved ones at home. Twenty-four hours a day her telephone is at hand—number 9155—is ready to ring and to be answered—answered promptly and that will send her on her way to their side. Is that not a comfort to you who work so long and so well.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, May 19

A strenuous day with much opposition, conflict and probably beligerent conditions may arise to challenge the emotional balance as well as the ability to rationalize and not "fly off the handle" at little or no provocation. The incitements to rash, angry, impetuous and quarrelsome behavior may not be considered of minor importance, since the ways seem beset with difficulties and dangers.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of successive difficulties and dangers, especially if tempestous, violent, reckless and inconsiderate conduct be allowed to run riot in both the private and business associations. Perhaps the latter is most acutely menaced, being subject to treachery, subterfuge, imposition, loss of affections or other estrangements.

A child born on this day may be aggressive and wayward, impetuous and emotionally unstable and indulgent, thereby inviting misery and unhappiness, unless early directed and disciplined.

Week's War Recipe

By Mary Moore's Readers

This recipe is sent in by a lady who confesses to be "hipped" on vegetarianism. She says by reading our page she sees we do not agree with her, but think this loaf is so good we will welcome it.

Cottage Cheese and Peanut Loaf

(Contributed by Mrs. Tew)

Three-quarters cup of shelled and skinned peanuts, 1 cup fresh cottage cheese, 1 cup cold, cooked rolled oats, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1 tablespoon dripping or cooking oil, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, few drops Worcestershire Sauce, 1 tablespoon chopped onion. Chop peanuts and add other ingredients in order given. When well mixed place in buttered small bread pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until heated through and brown. Serve very hot with Tomato Sauce. It will slice if your knife is very sharp.

Thanks Mrs. Tew for this loaf—it contains so much protein-bearing food that I am sure it would meet my requirements for a well-balanced meal. More recipes like this would be welcome.

GIRLS, DON'T WASTE TIME ON DALLYING YOUNG MAN

If He Can't Make Up His Mind in Two Years, Chances Are He Never Will Propose Marriage

Dear Miss Dix.—I am a girl in my early twenties and am very much in love with a man who is in his late twenties. He is in love with me also, but he hesitates to get married because he is afraid he will make a mistake. We have been going together for two years, but he says he wants more time to think it over; that he doesn't want to jump into marriage and, while he wants to marry me very much, he doesn't know when. Don't you think he should be able to make up his mind in the matter in two years? I am old for my age and ready to settle down and have a home and children.—Mary.

Answer.—Goodness! He must be a cautious man. But if he waits to marry until he is perfectly certain that there is no risk in doing so, he will have to be trundled to the altar in a wheelchair. My earnest advice to you is to waste no more time in waiting on him to make up his mind whether he wants you or not. Call his bluff. Tell him his option on you exp ires next Saturday night and he has to either take you or leave you. Of course, those who marry in haste are very apt to repent at leisure, as the old proverb says. Certainly a man and woman need ot know more about each other's characters, habits and tastes before they marry than they gain in a two-hour acquaintance, but no amount of previous association of the high contracting parties is a guarantee that a marriage will click.

NEVER KNOW EACH OTHER

A man and woman may have known each other ever since they were babes in arms; they may have grown up together, gone to school together, seen each other every day of their lives and been sure that they knew every quirk of each other's personality, but after they got married they found out that they were wed to perfect strangers who had ways and thoughts and peculiarities and prejudices that they never dreamed they had concealed about their persons.

Every marriage is a gamble because nobody can know for certain what kind of a husband and wife they are getting. And that's a good thing, because it would certainly silence a lot of the wedding bells and play heck with the census returns if John knew beforehand what sort of a cook Mary was going to make, and Mary had an inkling how fussy John was going to be about his coffee, and that he would spend his life throwing his Mother's biscuits in her teeth. Sweethearts can only marry hoping for the best and that they will like what they are about to receive.

But mulling over the matter doesn't help it, or keep people from making mistakes in marriage. And, while it is wisdom to take precautions in picking out a mate, it is folly to be too careful. For sometimes we love those we marry more for their faults than we do for their virtues.

And sometimes while we are too particular and are waiting too long to make up our minds about whether we will take John or Susan, some more enterprising person snaps up the bargain right under our eyes. And sometimes we have sense enough to realize that, not being perfect ourselves, we have no right to expect perfection in our mates, and that we would be mighty uncomfortable with a he or she angel if we had one.

Be And Act Your Age

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 23. Do you think I should lie about my age? My mother and father urge me to do so, and they always tell everyone that I am only 20 because they live in dread of my being an old maid, and they think that if people knew that I was that old and still unmarried it might diminish my chances of marrying. I hate to lie. When people ask me how old I am I would much rather tell them the truth, but my father and mother always scold me when I do.—Alice.

Answer.—The traradiddles that women tell about their age are such transparent falsehoods that probably even the Recording Angel doesn't charge them up with them, but I have never understood why they did it because they fool no one. All that we do is to smile at the old girls who stay a perpetual 29 without ever getting a day older, and wonder at the courage of the 60-year-olders who put only 40 candles on their birthday cakes.

But, anyway, a woman's age is her own personal affair and nobody else's business, and when a cat asks you how old you are, if you don't want to lite about it, you have a perfect right to make the reply that I once heard a testy old admiral, who was still vain of his looks, make to a woman who put this question to him. He said, with great suavity: "If you will forgive me for not answering you, I will forgive you for asking me." And that was that.

But surely at 23 you have nothing to hide. That is a golden age to be and something to flaunt in the faces of those who are younger and who are older than you are. But the inexplicable thing in your case is why your parents are so afraid you will be an old maid. Why are they so anxious for you to marry?

Have they seen so many happy marriages? Are your girl friends who have married so much better off than you are? Are they so eager to have you leave them? In former times, when a daughter was a burden who had to be supported, one could see why selfish parents might want to wish her off on a husband, but now, when girls earn their living and generally help their parents, too, there seems no reason for parents to hasten on their marriages.

Seven Boy-and-Girl Questions

Dear Dorothy Dix.—We are a group of girls and beg you to answer these questions: (1) How can a girl tell when a boy really loves her and when he is just giving her a line? (2) Does a boy think a girl fast if she lets him kiss her on the first date? (3) Should a girl be the first to start a correspondence when a boy leaves her town? (4) If a girl is not sure that a boy likes her or not, should she show her love for him? (5) What do boys think of girls who slip out and date against their parents' will? (6) How old should a girl be before she considers marriage? (7) If a good girl friend is in love with a boy and he doesn't love her, should a girl date him at his request?

—Heartsick Group.

Answer.—(1) There is no absolute way in which a girl can tell when a boy really loves her. She has to judge by his general honesty and veracity and by the way he treats her. If he is sincere and truthful about other matters, she can generally trust his love-making.

(2) When a girl lets a boy kiss her on their first date, thinks she is very easy and loses interest in her. The kiss that is hard to get is the one he values.

(3) The boy should start the correspondence. If he doesn't think enough of a girl to drop her a line, she is wasting her time on him.

(4) Reticence is always a girl's best bet. Men want to be the pursuers, not the pursued in the love game.

(5) Boys have no respect for girls who slip out and keep stolen dates, and do not feel that they have to be on their best behavior with them.

(6) I do not think a girl should marry before she is 20. If she does, she misses all the playtime of life and she always regrets it.

(7) Don't steal your friend's date, but if the lad is not in love with your friend there is no reason why you should not step out with him.

It's Wiser To Wait

Dear Miss Dix.—I am in love with a boy who is in the army and we are planning to marry when he gets his next furlough. My sister is opposed to this and wants us to wait until the war is over. What do you suggest?—Undecided.

Answer.—Take your sister's advice. The war will make many changes in you both. Wait until it is over and see whether you still love each other and want each other before you marry.

Social Club Aids Milk for Britain

YOUNG'S POINT, May 18.—(NS.)—The very rainy evening did put rather a damper on the financial part, but not socially, of the Bingo party sponsored by the Young's Point Social Club, held in St. Aidan's parish hall on Thursday evening, May 14.

Rev. N. D Knox, rector of Stoney Lake parish, spoke a few words of welcome and said, that the many kindnesses shown himself and Mrs. Knox, in such a time, spoke well for the community.

Arthur Morris announced the proceeds of bingo, donations and sale of doughnuts and coffee totalled $40.05 to be sent to the Milk for Britain Fund. Mr. Morris chose this particular fund, as the milk in Britain has been so scarce that the householders had been asked by the government to rinse all milk bottles so that not one drop would be wasted.

During the evening special games were run off, the winners of these being: Child's price, Monica Young; out-of-town visiting prize, Mrs. E. C. Moore; Young's Point prize, Miss Ailiene Young; special, silver fruit dish prize, Mrs. W. MacNaughton; special $2.00 raw fruit prize, Braden MacNaugton. Lucky table prizes, Douglas Dunford.

At the conclusion of the games, coffee and doughnuts were served by club members.

Freed Americans Reach Lisbon Dirty And Hungry

LISBON, May 18 — (AP). — Seventy-four bedraggled citizens of the United States—diplomats, news correspondents, and their families—arrived in Lisbon on Saturday night after five months of internment in Germany.

They were on the first of three special trains bringing 132 United States citizens and 120 Central and South Americans from concentration points in Germany, where they had awaited completion of tedious negotiations for exchange of German diplomats and news men in the Western Hemisphere.

One hundred and twenty-five Americans already had arrived in Lisbon from Italy.

All are to go home on the diplomatic exchange ship Drottningholm which docked here on Saturday and began discharging 923 Germans, Italians, Bulgarians, and Hungarians. The Drottningholm's sailing is scheduled for May 21.

Among the Americans from Italy were Rev. Hiram Gruber Woolf, rector of St. Paul's American Episcopal Church in Rome, who was arrested on November 18 on suspicion of espionage; Harold Denny, New York Times correspondent, and Major Michael Buckley, United States Army observer, both of whom were captured in Libya before the Axis went to war against the United States.

In Good Health.

The Americans reaching here from Germany were dirty and hungry, but mostly in good health and extremely happy. For the first time since last December they were free to move about buy newspapers, use the telphone, and eat what they wanted.

For the first time in five months they saw no pistol-toting Gestapo at their elbows, watching every step with suspicious eyes.

For seventeen news and radio correspondents it was another incident in an adventure which started with the mass arrests of Dec. 11, 1941.

The diplomats were not arrested and consequently avoided going through the German police mill. They were rounded up with little ceremony, however, and concentrated in heavily guarded hotels at Bad Nauheim and Baden Baden.

Now in neutral Portugal, these North and South Americans were eating heartily after protracted experience with the scanty German wartime rations.

They listened to radios from London and New York, read newspapers not controlled by Dr. Goebbels, and began learning what has been going on in the world from which they had been isolated by the German censorship.

Their four-day journey through the Rhine Valley, France, Spain and Portugal was supervised to the Spanish border by the Gestapo, but despite the strictest control there were numerous incidents cheering to Americans who for long months had longed to shake the German dust from their shoes.

Occupied France—the Marne Valley, Paris, Biarritz—was found to be a land of deep emotional depression. As glimpsed by homeward-bound Americans, France was spiritually prostrate but there were a few incidents indicating that here and there the spark of hope survived.

The French did not know that our train was a diplomatic special. South of Paris an indignant Frenchman shied a rock through a dining car window scattering shattered glass over the tables. The trainmen said the French often did such things, on the theory that all special trains were carrying Germans.

One lively French peasant obviously had heard about our train in some manner. He stood in his field and merrily waved the Stars and Stripes.

Before the train reached Paris a bold French airman slipped aboard past the guards and rode with us for an hour.

In moving phrases he asked that the United States help to the utmost.

"You are France's last hope," he said.

More Than Eighty Delegates Are Attending Great Air Conference In Ottawa

From eighty to one hundred delegates representing the air forces of Allied Nations are in Ottawa for the United Air Training Conference which opened today. Some of the delegates from Canada and the United States are shown ABOVE. From LEFT to RIGHT they are: Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of National Defence for Air, who is chairman of the conference; Air Vice Marshal H. Edwards, Air Officer in Chief, R.C.A.F., Overseas; Air Vice Marshal R. Leckie, Air Member for Training; Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, Chief of the Air Staff; Lieut.-Gen. H. H. Arnold, Commanding General of the U.S. Army Air Forces, and Major-General Bartley K. Yount, Commanding General of the Flying Training Command, both of whom figure prominently in the large U.S. representation to the Conference. Official opening of the Conference took place in the Senate Chamber. Offices will be provided for the various delegations in a newly-completed temporary building that will be devoted entirely to members of the conference, and their staffs. Discussions will deal mainly with methods of co-ordinating air training facilities.

Farmers Plan Renovation Old Drive Sheds

HASTINGS, May 18.—(ENS).—Looking forward to the not too distant future, the farmers of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic church here, have decided to prepare the church sheds in readiness for the anticipated return of 'Dobbin.'

Little used during the past decade, which saw the four-wheeled chariot replace the two-wheeled buggy, the sheds have fallen on evil days. Now they are again coming into their own.

"I haven't the slightest doubt that we shall need the sheds by next winter at least under present conditions,' said Father J. J. Garvey, the parish priest.

Italians Await New Leader Americans Find

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

LISBON, May 18—(AP).—Mussolini is leading a hungry, disillusioned and apathetic Italy in an unpopular war.

The war's unpopularity has been manifest in various ways to Americans who waited five months for repatriation after the Duce of Fascism uttered the fateful words that placed his people at war with the United States last Dec. 11.

Italy's future as an ally of Germany and Japan is unpredictable.

A collapse from a food shortage within this year or the next seems unlikely. Neither does an economic breakdown seem imminent, because of assistance being given by Germany in this sphere.

Without any organized opposition under competent leadership, the Fascist regime probably is secure for some time to come.

Yet the war against the United States is unpopular and some observers see in Italy a people who dislike their German allies and who care nothing for the Japanese.

In fact some say that half the Italian People now would welcome an Allied invasion of Europe as a possible means of freeing them from the humiliating grip held by the Germans.

Not a single anti-American demonstration—even an officially organized one—has been reported in Italy. Many Italians in all walks of life have sought on occasion to tell Americans of their personal friendship.

Friendly Enemies

We are regarded as only nominal or friendly enemies. Few are the Italian families that do not know some relative or friend who has found opportunity in the United States.

Regret and disillusionment are general, one astute observer confirmed to me. But he found, like others, that popular reaction is marked rather than any will to bring about corrective action.

Italians await a new leader. Discontent with Mussolini and his fascism is more marked than ever.

Il Duce made his war declaration against the United States in the name of King Victor Emmanuel. While the monarch may still be respected by his people, many Italians said this showed once again that the senile little man is impotent in politics.

Little hope rests in Crown Prince Umberto. The Italian press, incidentally, never refers to him as Crown Prince; always merely as the Prince of Piedmont. The Fascist Grand Council has reserved the right to pass on eventual succession to the throne.

Yet Umberto, once the white hope of anti-Fascists because of his reputed hostility towards Mussolini, appears to have made his peace with Fascism.

Recently Mussolini appointed Umberto commander of armies grouped in Central and Southern Italy, Sicily and Sardinia. The Prince's first order of the day ended with "Hail to Il Duce."

The Army and the House of Savoy nevertheless may be the salvation of Italy. Many Italians look for a military dictatorship as the eventual successor to fascism, with some Fascist policies and administrative forms retained, but without Mussolinian oppression.

No revolution could succeed without the support of the army. And the army, always has been and continues to be loyal to the House of Savoy.

lifting her face, kissed him on the lips.

That brought a reaction from Talcott. Dull red mounted from his collar to the rims of his eyes. He seemed as if about to speak, and then, turning, he strode from the house.

She awoke from troubled sleep with a startled sense of reality, of emergence from a hazy, swift moving world into one that was sharply focused and sinister. It was still night; unobstructed stars gleamed balefully through her unglazed window. Dawn, she knew, was not far off; soon, with the swiftness of a drawing shutter, the sun would beat mercilessly down. Already the night's welcome coolness had passed; there had been rain, for a square of floor by the window was dark with wetness.

She lay a moment beneath her netting, trying to fatheom what had awakened her. And then, beyond the slope on the sea side, she heard voices. Detached, uneven; drifting shouts. Drawing a robe about her slim figure she crossed to watch a panorama of moving light fingers.

There were two shafts. One threw into bold relief figures on the beach. Instantly she recognized Sebastien, and beside him the huge native Tomas. They were watching the white path thrown by the powerful flashlight in Sebastien's hand to where the outlined gray hull of a schooner was perilously close to the shore.

"You want to get wrecked, hey?" Sebastien's yell floated up.

From the schooner a crisp, harsh voice answered, "Light your pier. We want to land!"

"No light the pier!" Sebastien's yell increased in volume. "Me know you! We got plenty troubles now, You stay away!"

The schooner swung slowly about, wallowing in the trough of waves. An end to stillness, the muffled boom of her engines echoed and she swung in a wide circle, heading west to the landing place. Sebastien's enraged cries followed them, and the light in his hand bobbed crazily with his running.

A nice hospitable place this is, June Paterson thought. If the schooner could land it would afford her the opportunity of escape. She was tired, sick and thoroughly frightened now. There was evil here. No matter what Bill Talcott had once been, he had become something sinister and strange. He was someone she did not know, perhaps had never known. Whatever his deadly game with Halsey, Struthers and MacDowell, he could have it all to himself. She had been a fool to come here.

As quickly as it came, the resolve to pack and escape crystalized in her brain. She was drawing away when a movement outside the window held her. A cloying, nameless fear caught at her throat, robbed her of the power of movement. So near she could touch him, a shadowy figure loomed and began a slow, ambling walk toward the pier.

Someone had been there, watching as she watched the tableau in the water. Had the presence of the schooner prevented an entrance to her room?

The figure was lost in gloom when, from the sea in the direction of the pier, came to heavy boom of a shot.

Once it sounded. And them from the depths of darkness beyond her window arose a wild, angry bellow followed by the pounding beat of shoes on the path.

TOIONTO, May 18—(CP).—E. D. Hepburn, Prime Minister of Ontario."

"The Japanese radio blared forth, in English and Spanish the news that Mr. Hepburn, premier of Canada's largest province, accused the U.S. fleet of being in hiding," Mr. Jolliffe said, adding that this news came "to us from persons who were actually on Corregidor at the time with McArthur's gallant fighters and heard the Japanese broadcast."

Shipyard Crews Takes Less InWageIncrease

CHICAGO, May 18—(AP)—Representatives of the United States shipyards workers agreed today to relinquish an estimated $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 in wage increases in the first major demonstration of labor's acquiscence to President Roosevelt's anti-inflation program.

A wage stabilization agreement covering some 550,000 workers in private shipyards was adopted today, providing:

1. Wages increases of eight per cent which will total from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 in the next 12 months, instead of the $225,000,000 to which "cost-of-living" clauses in existing contracts entitled the men.

2. Investment of wage increases in United States savings bonds, "which will not be cashed except in case of extreme emergency."

3. Uniform wages in the shipbuilding industry throughout the country.

4. Elimination of Saturday and Sunday as "premium days," requiring double pay. Under the agreement the men will work a five day, 40-hour week with time and a half for any sixth day and double time for any seventh day in one week.

RebolsteredJaps Pound Moresby

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 18—(AP).—A notable increase in Japanese land-based air strength on New Guinea and New Britain was indicated today with disclosure that 35 planes participated in one of two raids on Port Moresby yesterday, and that Allied attacks on the Japanese bases are meeting considerably stronger opposition.

The raids on Port Moresby, first by 13 fighter planes and then by 26 bombers and nine fighters, were declared to have hit not a single worthwhile objective, but the large number of planes was taken as an indication that the Japanese are willing to pay a high price to prevent use of that southern New Guinea city as an Allied air base.

Two of their fighters were shot down in flames, and they last seven others out of a flight of 17 which rose to try to intercept long-range Allied bombers hammering shipping in the harbor of Rabaul, New Guinea. All the Allied planes returned safely after damaging at least one transport.

Salvage Drive Brings Red Cross $75

YOUNG'S POINT, May 18 — (ENS). — During the Thursday afternoon work day, the Young's Point Red Cross Society held its monthly business meeting. Mrs. George Douglas, first vice-president, took charge. Mrs. E. Johnston gave the report on the last Red Cross dance, which netted $35.00. Tickets sold on wool blanket realized the society $25.00. Mrs. Johnston gave an itemized report on the salvage drive, totalling $75.00. Mrs. M. Harvey, treasurer, reported on the financial standing.

Mrs. D. Darling, convener of Works, reported that two quilt tops and one quilt back had been donated by Mrs. Robert Freeburn. Quilt blocks from Mrs. M. MacKenzie of Toronto, and quilt top from Mrs. Sheridan; also 8 quilts, 2 wool afghans, 4 pairs pyjamas, 1 extra pair trousers, 5 pairs seamen's socks, 1 turtle-neck sweater, 5 pairs gloves and 1 pair mitts had been shipped to Lakefield for the month of April.

Votes of thanks were passed to Mr. Morris, Charles Young, David Darling and Leonard Wilson and their helpers for their services on the salvage drive.

Plans were made to entertain the Cheese Association and their guests on June 3 in St. Aidan's Parish Hall.

Miss Agnes Jeffery returned to their summer home on Boschink Island, Stoney Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamilton have also gone to Boschink for the summer.

Mrs. Mary Millar and David left for Greenhurst this past week where they will spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thurston.

Obituary

EDWIN AUGUSTUS WICKER

Edwin Wicker, 258 Roger street, a prominent member of the Orange Lodge and a resident of Peterborough for over sixty years, died after an illness of seven months in his 88th year, on Saturday.

The late Mr. Wicker was born in Altoona, Penn., and came directly from there to Peterborough sixty years ago. He was an employee of the Peterborough Lumber Company for over 35 years and was a member of Mark Street United church. He was also a memer of the L.O.L. No. 21 and the Black Preceptory No. 261

He is survived by one son, John, Saskatchewan and five daughters, Mrs. S. Shakra, Toronto, Mrs. D. Cannon, Peterborough, Mrs Chas. Mann, Montreal, Mrs Chas. Webster, Otonabee and Mrs. John Sadler Peterborough. There are two brothers living in the United States.

The funeral service is being held under Orange auspices, Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the D. Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street. The service will be conducted by the Rev. E W. Rowland of Mark Street United Church, assisted by the Rev. W. McArthur of Bethany Tabernacle. Interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. ROSE ANNE O'KEEFE

The funeral of Rose Anne O'Keefe, widow of James O'Keefe, who died last week, was held from her residence, 79 Lansdowne street, Friday morning to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Solemn Requiem Mass by Rev. J. J. O'Brien, pastor of the Church, with Rev. Dr. Grant as deacon and Rev. J. F. Houlihan, as sub-deacon.

After the Mass, Rev. J. J. O'Brien delivered a very appropriate address to the many friends and relatives who were present at the service and to pay tribute to a life-long resident of Peterborough County. In speaking or the virtue of a Christian mother, he said her many duties, during life, eespecially as one who had the honor of having two daughter in the sisterhood, her almost daily attendance at Mass and her deep interest in the welfare of the Church, was a splendid example for anyone to follow.

The Floral and spiritual tokens and the many people who visited the home to extend their sympathy to the bereaved family, all of whom were present for the funeral, added further tribute and gave evidence of the esteem and friendship enjoyed by Mrs. O'Keefe and her family.

Interment was made in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery, beside her husband who predeceased her eight years ago. Services at the graveside were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Grant.

Pallbearers were William Grady, William Radey, Timothy Collins, Joseph Ahern, John Allen and William Whibbs.

MRS. HARRY OVEREND.

The sad news from Flint, Michigan, on Saturday, of the passing of Mae McFadden, widow of the late Harry Overend, formerly of this city, came as a shock to her many relatives, friends and acquaintances here.

Mrs. Overend is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert Tathan, Mrs. John Pearson; her son, Hudson, all of Flint, Michigan; also three brothers, Fred McFadden, 561 Homewood avenue, Peterborough, John of Calgary and Edward of Flint, Michigan.

Her remains will rest at the residence of Mrs. Gus White, 291 Burnham street, until to-morrow morning at 8.30, at which time the funeral will proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, where High Mass of Requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul, following which interment will take place in St. Peter's cemetery.

NOTICE

Charming Letters Are Easily and Quickly Written

No Hesitation When You Know How

Writing letters need not be a worry if you know how to go about it properly. Don't run the risk of losing friends just because you put off writing.

It's easy to write charming letters with the help of hints from sample letters.

No hesitating then over that note of thanks to Margie for her gift. Trippingly you write, "Darling of you to send me that exquisite lamp—it's a bright spot in my room."

With correct forms before you, you quickly answer the tea invitation written on Mrs. Grey's visiting card. Using the third person, you begin, "Miss Joyce Jones accepts with pleasure . . ."

That letter of introduction is simple when you have a guide at hand. Tactfully you write, "An old friend, Alice Graham, is moving to Middleton. She's devoted to music—I'm sure you two will find much in common."

Where to get good sample letters? There are lots of them in our 32-page booklet! Has letters for business and social occasions, invitations tips on bright interesting phrases, colorful words. Right beginnings, closings, correct stationery.

For your copy of "Good Letter-Writing Made Easy" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

BLACKWOOD AT ITS BEST

NEVER DOES the Blackwood convention show to better advantage than when an opponent has bid a suit in which your hand is blank. You can make a cue-bid in that suit and on a later round call 4-No Trumps to ask your partner what aces he holds in the other three suits, his answer to be followed by 5-No Trumps, which asks him about his kings in those suits. By this means, you can sometimes learn to a certainty that a small slam or grand slam is possible.

North: ♠ A K 10 4; ♥ A Q 6 5; ♦ A Q 8 5 3; ♣ None

West: ♠ Q J 8; ♥ 9 3; ♦ 10 2; ♣ A K 10 7 6 3

East: ♠ 9 7 6 2; ♥ J 2; ♦ J 9 7 4; ♣ Q J 9

South: ♠ 5 3; ♥ K 10 8 7 4; ♦ K 6; ♣ 8 5 4 2

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	2 ♣
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♣	Pass

When North heard his partner bid hearts, he became immediately slam-minded, and was about ready to bid a small slam, even if the pair had been using only natural bidding. But he also decided that a grand slam should be possible in hearts if South had both of the red kings. This might have been difficult to find out ordinarily, but when West bid 2-Clubs, it became easy for users of the Blackwood convention who really understand it.

North's bid of 3-Clubs, coupled with his next call for 4-No Trumps, informed South that he had no clubs and wanted to know how many aces South had in the other three suits, knowing full well that South must answer with 5-Clubs to show none. Then came the crucial question, when 5-No Trumps asked South about the kings in the three other suits. South showed two of them with his 6-Hearts response, whereupon the gamble and guess disappeared.

West's lead of the club K was ruffed, two trumps dropped the hostile ones, three high diamonds and a diamond ruff set up the fifth diamond for a discard of a second club, and South's remaining two clubs were ruffed, so that the slam was made.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 9 5 3; ♥ Q 9 4; ♦ A 7; ♣ K Q 10 9 2

West: ♠ 7 4; ♥ 6 3 2; ♦ J 10 9 3 2; ♣ A J 8

East: ♠ J 10 8 2; ♥ 8 7 5; ♦ Q 8; ♣ 7 6 4 3

South: ♠ A K Q 6; ♥ A K J 10; ♦ K 6 5 4; ♣ 5

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

How should South play for 6-No Trumps on this deal if West leads the diamond J?

Mrs. Rutherford Returned At W.I. Head

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18. — (ENS).—One week earlier than usual Seymour West Women's Institute held their annual meeting at Mrs. Raymond Free's on Thursday. There was a large attendance and a number of business items received attention. They voted to give a donation of $25.00 to the Red Cross, $5.00 to the Salvation Army for war work, $1.00 to the Prevention of T. B. Association; $5.00 to the tobacco fund for overseas and $1.00 worth of cigarettes to each of eight boys from the community serving overseas. A committee was appointed and authorized to purchase 100 yards of quilt lining and 20 batts. Seymour West ladies decided to make a $5.00 contribution that will be used to provide the required sugar for a portion of the jam preserving which will subsequently be shipped to Institute branches in England who will turn distribute it among children's hospitals, etc. Last year the Intitute sent an estimated two tons of preserves o England. In addition to this the Seymour West branch has just made a shipment of 14 pounds of maple sugar (2 gallons of syrup) to the Navy.

A summary of the work done for the Red Cross during the year was given by Ms. James Waters and the report showed a total of 90 quilts, 94 pairs of sox, 14 turtle neck sweaters, besides a quantity of children's dresses, flannelette garments, mitts, scarves, caps and used clothing. It was pointed out that the Institute has been working through different channels helping the Salvation Army, and I.O.D.E as well. With approximately $500 having passed through the Institute books members felt they had had a successful year and in this connection officers for 1941 expressed thanks to all those who contributed in any way for their co-operation and extended an invitation to any persons interested to extend their help during the coming year.

Mrs. Howard Clark took the chair for the election of officers and Mrs. Gordon McCulloch acted as secretary. The officers are as follows: President, Mrs. R. A. Rutherford, (2nd term); 1st vice-president, Mrs. Harry Hoard; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Art Russell; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Fred McCulloch; directors, Mrs. Ray McCulloch, Mrs. Alex Green, Mrs. Robert Waddell; district director, Mrs. Ray McCulloch; Red Cross conveners, Mrs. John Kelly, Mrs. Garnet Curle, Mrs. Allan Lewis, Mrs. Ed O'Connor; auditors Mrs. D. Rutherford, Mrs. Gordon McCulloch; district delegates, Mrs. R. A. Rutherford, Mrs. Fred McCulloch (who will give a 2 minute talk of the branch at the district annual), Mrs. E. J. Fairman, Mrs. Reg. McCulloch.

Marmora Women's Institute Names Committee

MARMORA, May 18—(ENS). — The regular monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held on Wednesday a' the home of Mrs. A. H. Connor. Although the election of officers took place at the April meeting the May meeting was essentially the annual meeting as the year's reports were presented. Mrs. Frank Grant, retiring president, presided over an attendance of twenty-six members and two visitors. Following the regular opening exercises, the roll call, "Pay your i embership fees," was taken.

The auditors' report showed receipts $273.34 and expenditures $251.17. A motion was passed approving of the following committees:

Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. L. Green; Citizenship, Mrs. H. A. Burwash; Historical Research, Mrs. C. A. Lummiss; Home Economics, Mrs. H. P. Nayler; Social Welfare, Mrs. P. Gray; Publicity, Mrs. H. W. Sabine; War Work, Mrs. G. Jarvis.

Plans for representation at the District Annual convention to be held in Ivanhoe on May 19 were completed. The delegates will be Mrs. L. H. Rundle, Mrs. F. Grant, Mrs. P. Gray and Mrs H. P. Nayler. It was decided to hold the June meeting at the home of Mrs. E. C. Prentice.

The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. Lavender, gave a summary of the past year's work, including reference to the Institute's war activities and also work on behalf of the Canadian Institute for the Blind and Marmora Public Library.

.'. pleasing solo was rendered by Mrs. P. Gray, followed by a reading by Mrs. H. A. Burwash. Mrs. L. R. Rundle played a pianoforte solo and Mrs. W. J. Pack ave a reading. A contest, "What Was Planted," was won by Mrs. P. Gray.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which lunch was served by the committee in charge.

P.O. Bruce Baker In Plaster Cast

NORWOOD, May 18 — (ENS).— "One of my doctors is from Peterborough. We have a lot of fun talking over the people we both know," write Pilot Officer Bruce Baker, seriously injured overseas about a month ago, in a letter to his mother, Mrs. Robert Baker. A plane cracked up as it was coming down on to the field falling on top of Bruce and seriously crushing him. He is now slowly recovering.

"I am about the only patient who has been here more than a couple of weeks, as most of the cases are only about ten days. So they call me the father of the ward. We don't get many Canadians here," Pilot Officer Baker wrote on April 18 from a hospital in Buckinghamshire.

"I feel much improvement in the last couple of weeks, but it is going formation of what happened to me, to be a long time yet. I guess the Air Ministry gave you all the inbut don't let anything worry you as I am going to be fit as a fiddle in a few months. The thing I regret is in being grounded for the next year on account of my lung. But I guess it won't hurt me.

Bob and Jean McGregor came up to visit me yesterday. They were my first visitors in six weeks. I am in a plaster cast from neck down. and it gets mighty hot at times, but it will be off in another eight weeks, and then I can start using crutches.

"Everything seems to be healing fast now, even my left arm, in which they put a silver plate to replace the crushed bone, is feeling better and I have had the stitches out for a week."

Great Opportunities For Modern China

HAVELOCK, May 18—(ENS). — The meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United church was held at the home of Mrs. George Chiles with a splendid attendance. The theme, "The Church, the Household of Faith," was read by Mrs. G. Chiles, president. Mrs. James Freeman read the Scripture lesson and gave a reading on "The Collective Church of God." Mrs. J. W. S. Clarke sang a solo, "Jesus With Thy Church Abide," accompanied by Mrs. H. Watson at the piano. The treasurer reported that the Easter Thankoffering amounted to $21.25.

The Auxiliary members promised to help the Mission Band with their sale of cookies, May 30. It was also decided to entertain all Life Members and Associate Helpers, at the church, May 29. Supper will be served at 5 o'clock. Members are asked to bring in their donations for the bale on that date.

Mrs. Wilkinson reported that the C.G.I.T. committee had interviewed Mrs. D. C. Drinkwater and Miss O'Neil and plans are being made to start early in September. Mrs. C. Price read an interesting article on "The Auxiliary Meets Today." Orders for the Annual Blue Book are to be given to the literature secretary, Mrs. W. W. Hill.

It was announced that anyone wishing to purchase war savings certificates for the church must do so before May 20. The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture including the word 'give.' The first half of the study book ch ter which was taken by Mrs. James Cochrane, told of western China tingling with new life.

"The atmospere is electric with anticipation, since political, educational, social, industrial and religious adjustments, which would ordinarily take centuries, are being crowded into a decade The Christian church in Free China is faced with an unparalleled opportunity. In this critical hour it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that Christianity can meet the needs of China," she said.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Annie Anderson.

Fenella Institute Names Committees

FENELLA, May 18—(ENS).—The regular monthly meeting of Fenella Women's Institute was held in the hall with Mrs. James Waldie as hostess, on Thursday. With the president, Mrs. Eric Sandercock, in the chair, the meeting opened with the Institute Ode, followed by the Creed and Lord's Prayer. It was decided to send $5 to the jam-making enterprise

To economize in war-time the lunch is to be sandwiches, tea or coffee; also it was decided not to have a short course.

Plans were made for the salvage collection to be held in the hall on May 28. The proceeds to be used for war work. Mrs. C. McNaught, Mrs. R. Eagleson, Mrs. M. McFiggin and Mrs. C. Childs the committee to make final arrangements.

A quilt top was donated by a member, Mrs. S. Adams, to sell tickets on when completed by the Institute.

There were 25 members and three visitors present, and the roll call was responded to by an exchange of bulbs, slips or seeds.

Mrs M. Adams kindly offered to have the June meeting in the hall. Mrs. M. Lonsberry and Mrs. D. Adams were named as program committee.

The guest speaker was Ian McLeod, the district agricultural representative. Taking as his subject, "Vegetable Gardening," much information was gained by ' ladies from his address on preparing the soil, planting and destroying destructive insects and beetles. Mrs. Eagleson moved a vote of thanks to Mr. McLeod.

Cheese Production Increases 100 Percent During April '42

KINGSTON, Ont., May 18. — (Special) — Cheese production in Eastern Ontario factories increased by over 100 per cent during the month of April, 1942, as compared with the same month in 1941, according to official figures released by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

While cheese production was on the upward grade the volume of butter manufactured in the creameries of Eastern Ontario has dropped off greatly.

The figures show an increase of about 300 per cent in the quantity of cheese manufactured during the four months in 1942. The figures are as follows:

	1942	1941
Frontenac County
April	301,186	169,962
Four Months	488,765	193,727
Lennox-Addington
April	399,950	88,587
Four Months	741,866	88,587
Leeds County
April	529,012	302,966
Four Months	1,123,850	486,585
Prince Edward County
April	196,765	38,205
Four Months	353,969	38,205

The figures for Eastern Ontario which include the counties Carleton, Dundas, Frontenac, Glengarry, Grenville, Lanark, Leeds, Lennox and Addington, Prescott, Renfrew, Russell and Stormont show that 4,495,470 pounds of cheese were made in the factories during the month of April, 1942, as compared with 1,944,599 in April 1941. The figures for the four-month period are 1942, 8,532,128 pounds; four months, 1941, 2,787,912 pounds. The provincial figures are: April 1942, 7,646,277 pounds; April, 1941, 3,138625 pounds; four months, 1942, 16,944,230 pounds; four months, 1941 5,209,764 pounds.

News Of Heroes

London, May 18 (C PCable)

A CHANGE in the air ministry's policy of anonymity is "long overdue," the Daily Telegraph and Morning Post said today, commenting on Canadian Air Minister Power's protest over the refusal of the air ministry to release news of individual actions and successes of Canadian airmen.

The minister voiced a complaint often heard in Britain, the Telegraph said, and if his public protest stimulates the ministry into making a change he will deserve the gratitude of Britain as well as Canada.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

Buck it up right now and feel like a million!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headachy, backachy, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

For over 35 years thousands have won prompt relief from these miseries—with Fruit-a-tives. So can you now. Try Fruit-a-tives—you'll be simply delighted how quickly you'll feel like a new person, happy and well again. 25c, 50c.

This Year MORE COAL MUST BE MINED IN THE SUMMERTIME

NOW is the time to place your next season's coal order—not next fall or winter. And here is why . . .

Coal miners do not ordinarily work full time in the summer months. This year, if temporary lay-offs come, miners will seek other employment and will not return to mining. If this occurs coal supplies will be short next winter.

Dealers' yards can only hold so much, and unless householders order early and take delivery, new supplies cannot be brought in. If coal production is permitted to slacken off this summer, the railroads will not be able to move the coal required this fall, because of the increased shipments of war materials.

Canadians can be sure of warm homes and offices next winter only by placing their coal orders at once. This will enable the mines to work steadily all summer, without lay-offs, and the railroads to move the coal over a longer period.

Give Your Coal Dealer an Order Now—

Premier King Greets Ninety Delegates In Historic Scene

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP). — Representatives of more than a dozen nations pledged to fight the common battles against tyranny through to victory gathered in the Canadian Senate Chamber to-day.

They met for the formal opening of the Ottawa Air Training Conference with the purpose of comparing notes on the forging of one of the most potent human instruments of modern war—the young men who fly the fighting planes on the world fronts.

"It is imperative to keep in mind that air training is directed to actual combat in the air," said Prime Minister Mackenzie King in his speech of welcome. 'The ultimate purpose all have in view is the attainment of overpowering and decisive air strength."

Mr. King sat at the head of the long table on the floor of the Senate with Air Minister Power, the chairman of the conference. Along th sides of the table sat the heads of delegations of 12 other participating countries.

The uniforms of the different nations with Air Force blue and khaki predominating, contrasted with the red carpets and furnishings of the Senate Chamber. As the conference assembled and the leading delegates took their seats, cameramen went to work and under a blaze of high-powered lights snapped motion and still pictures of the historic scene. Sharp at 10:30 a.m. the lights were turned off and Mr. King began his speech of welcome.

Balfour From England.

Capt. Harold Balfour, parliamentary Undersecretary for Air in the British Government and chief British delegate, said that even as the conference met men from all parts of the Empire who won their wings in Canadian training schools are flying against the enemy.

The presence of the representatives of 14 nations at the conference was a tribute to Canada's work in air training.

"The Battle of Britain, the Battle o. the Atlantic, the heroic defence of Malta are but some o the contests which must owe all to that first preliminary victory in the 'battle of training'," said Capt. Balfour.

He said he shared regret that circumstances prevented "our Russian allies from being with us. Particularly do I regret this as I have been fortunate enough to see first-hand something of the magnificent and total Russian war effort, having been in Moscow last autumn in those dark days when the capital was threatened but saved by the heroic winter resistance of the Soviet forces.

"I have seen something of the vast mechanized organization of the Russian forces for waging war on sea, land and in the air, serving as

Ships Only Snag In Opening 2nd Front Attlee Hints

LONDON, May 19 — (CP). — Clement Attlee, Dominions Secretary, told the House of Commons in a war debate today that the possibility of opening a western front against Germany "is in our minds", but he added, that "every move on the board is conditioned by transport problems."

Prime Minister Churchill did not take part in the debate, which ranged from the battles in Soviet Russia to Australia and Burma and India.

"What the people wish to know is that the government is determined to deliver a great attack on the enemy in the West." Arthur Greenwood, former minister without portfolio, had said.

The people are insistent, he said, in order "to give the Soviet Union ever increasing and powerful aid" and also "to take the initiative against Hitler on territories overrun by his panzer divisions."

Although the sea route to Murmansk is very difficult," at this time of the year, Mr. Attlee said, the government is holding to its schedule of shipments to Russia.

Mr. Attlee declared that "we are at the moment in something of a pause before the full summer campaign breaks upon us, but we can have sober confidence in the future."

Mr. Attlee said it was "perfectly obvious" Britain could not possibly provide adequate forces at every point in the Far East and added it would be equally unsound for Britain to concentrate her major forces

2 Kidnap Arrests

HAMILTON, Ont., May 19 — (CP). — Jean Miller of Hamilton today was charged with abduction and the case was adjourned to Friday as police announced that a seven-year-old girl missing from the Children's Aid Society shelter here since last Friday had been found in Kingston. Police said that a man believed to have a connection with the case had been arrested in Kingston and would be brought here by police. They said the child had been taken to Prescott, Ont., by the man and that the man and child later had hitch-hiked to Kingston from Prescott.

FDR Honors Ace For Tokyo Raid "All Targets Hit"

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP). —Brig.-Gen. James H. Doolittle was revealed today as the leader of the United States air raid on Japanese cities a few weeks ago.

This was disclosed when the flier, noted also for his peace-time speed exploits, received from President Roosevelt in person today a Congressional Medal of Honor.

In a statement released at the White House, Doolittle described the mission.

He said that little trouble was experienced in reaching objectives or from Japanese planes.

One plane's target, Doolittle said, was the navy yard south of Tokyo, where "one salvo made a direct hit on a new cruiser or battleship under construction" and left it in flames."

One bombardier, the General said, strewed incendiary bombs along a quarter of a mile of aircraft factory near Nogoya."

Doolittle said that the squadron of American planes flew in just over the house-tops, but the low flying made it difficult to observe the results of the bombs.

Japs Gave Details

It appeared to us that practically every bomb reached the target for which it was intended," he said. We would like to have tarried and

Empress Asia Burned Out Off Sumatra

Fired By 5 Jap Bombs Most of 44 Canucks 2,500 Imperials Saved

MONTREAL, May 19—(CP).—The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia was bombed to destruction off Sumatra Feb. 5 with the troops she was carrying blasting at the Japanese planes with anti-aircraft and machine-guns until flames drove them off the ship, it as revealed here today.

Official announcement of the loss said merely that the Asia was destroyed by air attack while engaged in transporting troops to Singapore. The details of what happened to the former luxury liner were released here in the form of a report to the company, from Chief Officer D. Smith of Vancouver.

The attack that ended in loss of the ship started off Sultan Shoal shortly before noon Feb. 5, Chief Officer Smith reported. The death blow came while the Asia was in a convoy of four transport escorted by the British cruiser Exeter.

The convoy was passing through the narrow Banka Straits when the first attack, by 27 bombers, came. The Empress was last in line and came in for severe attack but escaped any direct hits although bomb splinters damaged lifeboats and deck planking.

The lethal attack came while the convoy was approaching Sultan Shoal, 16 miles from Keppel harbor and had to slow down to take aboard pilots to travel through a mine area.

Two Ahead Hit First.

"The two ships immediately ahead of us received direct hits, and then the Empress of Asia, being the largest vessel and the last in line, came in for the concentration of the attack," Chief Officer Smith reported.

"Successive waves of low dive bombers flew over at an estimated height of 600 feet. There were many near misses from bombs causing violent concussions. Finally the ship was hit, as far as can be ascertained, in three places simultaneously, the locations of hits being —forward of No. 1 funnel, after end of lounge dome, and through cabin

20 Divisions Ready For 2nd Front, Hun Now Outnumbered

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, May 19 — (AP). — The balance of military power in Western Europe has shifted to the Allies favor for the first time since the war began, a responsible military observer declared to-day as thousands more of American soldiers swelled the striking might developing in these islands.

The realization both here and in the United States that only offensive action can beat Germany decisively is underscored, this informant said, not only by the convoy which has deposited a new combat-equipped United States force in Northern Ireland, but also by the intensive training of Canadian and British Armies for attack and the accumulation of air strength.

Now, he said, with the German army deteriorating and in difficulties in Russia, the new American arrivals with prospect of still further reinforcements make it possible for the Allies to plan for an offensive with at least 20 divisions, 300,000 men.

"For the first time since the outbreak of the war the German general staff finds its armies outnumbered on both East nad West," he observed.

U Boats Slipping

"This was accompanied by undeniable proof that the U-boat fleets which have failed to starve Britain also have failed to prevent the transportation of large numbers of American troops across the Atlantci."

Combined British and American seapower blunted this weapon, this source asserted, and the battle of the Coral Sea has indicated that the Allies' disadvantage in the Pacific is being erased.

"Every important maritime communication has been kept open," he added.

"As a result, in the war's third

MOSCOW, May 19—(AP). — Heavily - armed Soviet cavalry, dashing across a pontoon bridge they themselves built under German artillery fire, have retaken a large inhabited locality" near Kharkov, the army newspaper Red Star reported today.

German parachutists, once used for the offensive, but now turned to defence, were reported being dropped, particularly in an effort to relieve encircled detachments.

One descent of more than 100 parachutists was reported to have fallen squarely into a Red Army guard unit which killed them all. Other squads of parachute troops were reported shot to death in the air or cut to bits by Cossack sabres on the ground.

In one important sector enemy defences were cracked by Red Army machine-gunners who slipped past German pillboxes and captured a village in the rear. The Germans, thus put between two fires, were forced to fall back north and south-west, said Red Star, and many of them fled into the forest disguised as civilians.

The Rumanian 4th Infantry Division, supported on both flanks and in the rear by Germans, made three costly but futile counter attacks in one region, the account added.

The cavalrymen who recaptured the town near Kharkov were pro-

Tip Of Australia To Iran, Jap Goal

CHUNGKING, May 19 — (AP).— A Chinese spokesman said to-day the Chinese Government had come into possession of an officially-approved Japanese map, published in Tokyo, showing the projected scope of Japan's so-called co-prosperity sphere and that this included all of Siberia and India.

The spokesman said the map of Japan's projected sphere "to us seems to be the dream of a lunatic, but the Japanese say it represents their settled national policy with even divine sanction."

He said its western boundary ran up the Persian Gulf then to the Caspian Sea and on to the Ural Mountains.

"It goes without saying that China Indo-China Thailand, the Malay Peninsula, Burma, India, Iran and the whole of Siberia are within the sphere," he said.

"It also includes a huge oceanic area embracing the Philippines, the Netherlands Indies, New Guinea, the northern tip of Australia with Port Darwin and Cape York, Guam, Yap and the whole of Sakhalin Island."

It did not include the Hawaiian Islands.

Spooky and 5000 Guerillas

5 Britons, Natives Play Hob With Jap Convoys

CALCUTTA, May 19 (AP)—Fierce Karen tribesmen commanded by British officers were reported today striking out from jungle hideouts in the highlands of Burma's conquered southern Shan States in guerilla attacks on China-bound Japanese convoys.

The guerilla campaign, undertaken by 5,000 tribesmen under five British officers, was organized even before the fall of Rangoon two months ago. Their leader is a tall, religious colonel who is a soldier, philosopher, and expert on the Far East. To his comrades he's known as "Spooky."

Against the day when the Japanese might overrun Burma, Spooky enlisted thousands of loyal Karen villagers. They swore the army oath of allegiance, received arms and trained in small bands with captured Italian rifles, shotguns, a few Tommy guns and cross bows firing poison-tipped arrows noiselessly into the dense forest.

A price of 500 rupees was set for each Japanese officer whose killing is confirmed, 100 rupees for a Japanese non-commissioned officer or private.

The shortest routes through which the Japanese can send supplies and reinforcements from Thailand to their fighting forces run through Spooky's territory.

Callisthenics Strict, Daily Keep 132 Internees Fit Despite Food Shortage

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LISBON, May 19.—(AP).—Americans interned for five months at Bad Nauheim ate considerably better than the average German but still we lost weight and felt the physical effects of insufficient diet.

German officials said our rations were half again as large as German allotments—and these were supplemented from our own sources. This showed us how tightly the Germans had pulled in their belts. Our American doctors in the group of 132 prisoners found losses of as much as 35 pounds in extreme cases and average losses of 10 pounds for men and 6.75 pounds for women.

German physicians consulted for various infections ascribed these to diet deficiencies.

We had only two hospital cases and relatively few ailments needing medical attention. But it is doubtful whether that would have been the situation without the hardening regime insisted upon by the military attache group.

Throughout the coldest winter days, in rain or shine, two officers put the men and women through callisthenics and in the spring organized softball teams.

The German fare lacked tea and coffee.

Two days weekly were meatless and two days offered only so-called feldkeuche, a one-course dish of soup with one piece of meat.

Fruit was scant.

Eggs seldom were served.

Our housing as elegant but we had no freedom.

Relations with German authorities headed by an SS (Blackshirt) officer from the foreign office protocol section were formal, polite, correct.

Without communication with the world outside Germany, we owed what we learned from the Allied side to one newspaperman on whose small radio some of us, technically meeting for nightly "choir-practice," heard the London news.

Our chief guardian had to use occasional strong-arm methods to assure the most essential service at a time when a labor shortage was acute everywhere in Germany.

Thus, when unable to get an electrician to put the lights in order, he simply used his authority to arrest the local electrician and press him into service.

When waiters were lacking he got the Italians to pick up three and ship them across the Alps.

For time-killing, we had spelling bees and debates, treasure hunts and mock trials, readings and music recitals, lectures and church.

One of the most valuable undertakings of the group was the founding of "Bacheim University" in which 24 courses ranging from lessons in elementary arithmetic and English for four children in the group and German, French, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese and Russian language classes to geology, American constitution, philosophy, history, phonetics and Biblical criticism were given and attended by three of 12 students in each.

A multigraphed publication entitled "the bad Nauheim pudding" in mock tribute to the hotel chef's nondescript pudding had a glorious run of four issues after which its paper ran out.

Archbishop Upholds Raids

Luebeck, Rostock Signal Services—Regrets Misery

LONDON, May 19.—(CP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury today described the R.A.F. bombings of Luebeck and Rostock as signal services to the Allied cause but expressed regret at the human misery necessarily resulting.

The Archbishop, Dr. William Temple, who was enthroned last month, spoke in his first address to the full synod of the Canterbury convocation.

He declared there was no doubt of the church's duty to back the Allied cause but "this must not obscure the other duty of recognizing war as a hideous evil."

The Rostock and Luebeck bombings were presented in some quarters, he said, "in such a way as to suggest that destruction of historic buildings and infliction of misery on multitudes of human beings were occasions for satisfaction rather than profound regret.

"This was part of the price, the bitter price paid for conspicuous aid to Russia through checking supplies to the German army."

TENS OF THOUSANDS OF FRESH U.S. SOLDIERS ARRIVE IN IRELAND

Monster U.S. Convoy Safely Over

Tens Of Thousands Reach Ireland With All Equipment

By RICE YAHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Northern Ireland, May 19—(AP).—Tens of thousands of fresh United States soldiers, newly landed with their own tanks and artillery from a convoy almost as large as the greatest of 1918, powerfully reinforced earlier contingents in advanced training at Ulster bases today.

Equipped with millions of dollars worth of battle equipment, they arrived amid public enthusiasm in Britain for opening an Allied front against Germany in western Europe.

"This is the finest I've ever seen," commented a veteran British officer who witnessed the unloading.

Fit and eager, they make up the most formidable of the Americans forces landed here since the first arrived in January.

The convoy outfoxed Axis submarines on the 2,400-mile voyage, its escort delivering thunderous depth charge attacks.

Observers expressed belief that at least one submarine could not have escaped the depth charges.

From the transport—among them converted liners and cruise ships—the debarkation was smooth and swift.

Batter Transportation

A Lieutenant Colonel who served in the infantry in the First Great War commented:

"The last time I came over on an old cattle boat. This time it was a liner. The war is getting better."

Food awaited the men at a wharf shed—stewed meat, vegetables, pork and beans, slices of luncheon meat, pickles, jam, bread, pears, apricots and coffee.

Unloading, screened by anti-aircraft guns against possible discovery by German air scouts, continued by day and by night.

Huge field guns were hoisted out of holds and rolled away. Ammunition cases were shifted to trucks and trains almost as quickly as the troops themselves. Tanks were started and moved off under their own power toward interior bases.

Russian Armies Widen Advances As Huns Retreat At Kharkov

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 19—(AP).—German defenders of Kharkov are showing signs of strain at the opening of the second week of the Red Army's Donets Basin offensive today and the Russian Government said Soviet shock troops are "breaking enemy resistance" in a continued advance. The Soviet communique reported at mid-day that Russian forces had continued offensive operations throughout last night on the Kharkov front.

Red Army troops have driven to a depth of 30 or 40 miles through German lines before Kharkov on a 60-mile front in Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's expanding offensive, a military commentator in London said today. The battle-line was estimated to extend a total of 120 miles.

The commentator predicted the Soviet advance would have a considerable effect on German offensive plans, saying there were indications that Nazi troops resting for assault in other areas had been diverted to Kharkov as reserves.

Several more occupied places were taken by the advancing Russians and the Soviet bulletin announced that the Germans had lost 1,600 dead as well as an unstated number of prisoners.

In addition, it said, 300 Germans were killed in one sector and 800 killed and wounded in another where Russian soldiers stemmed Nazi counter attacks, destroying some tanks, damaging 11 other and capturing booty including eight guns and 5,000 mines.

A recapitulation of air combat in the week from May 10 to 16 set Nazi losses at almost exactly three to one for the Russians—339 German planes against 112 Russian.

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's tank crews were said to have "dislodged the enemy from strong-fortified positions," destroyed several German tanks and six field guns, "annihilated not less than 300 Hitlerites," and captured two ammunition dumps.

"On the Kerch Peninsula, intense fighting continued in the area of

No. 126 on the starboard side."

The bombs penetrated through all decks down to the Fan Flats, causing casualties and starting fires. Although fire parties sprang into action immediately, there was no water available, apparently due to the damaged mains. The fire was soon out of control isolating the forward and after parts of the ship.

"The ship was anchored close to Sultan Shoal with both anchors down. The bridge meantime was in flames and had to be abandoned.

..Stretcher cases were lowered to the boats and later despatched to hospital. At 12:08 the ship was finally abandoned," the commander, chief officer and officer commanding troops being the last to leave."

The Asia was not abandoned before some toll was exacted on the attackers, the report said.

"The removal and attention to casualty cases, and safety of life in general was very effective and well in hand, so the loss of life was comparatively small," it said, and then added: "Meanwhile attacks by low dive bombers had to be contended with and our ship's guns, together with machine guns from the units on board kept up a steady barrage and it is reckoned that two enemy planes were brought down."

Remaining personnel of the liner got out of the area five days after the bombing in small coasting vessels.

Survivors Tell Tale

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT, May 19—(CP).—With the official announcement today of the loss of the Empress of Asia, the story of how the 16,900-ton Canadian Pacific steamship liner was beached and burned while transporting troops to Singapore may be told as it was given newsmen here by 14 Canadian survivors of the disaster landed April 18. Of the 14 Canadians, 12 are from Vancouver, one from Montreal, and one from Three Rivers, Que.

The Canucks said they were only six miles outside besieged Singapore when Japanese dive-bombers spotted the troop-laden transport and from a height of about 25,000 feet began to plaster the ship with bombs.

About 80 in all were dropped," Owen Gillet of Vancouver, B.C., 18-year-old survivor said, and five of them were direct hits." Four of the five struck well forward, near the bridge, but one crashed into the galley, causing a fire.

Other fires sprang up and soon flames were roaring through the liner, turning her into a funeral pyre for many of the 44 Canadians in the crew. However, about 100 seamen escaped, along with the majority of the 2,500 Imperial troops aboard.

Escape by lifeboat was impossible—they too were burned—and crew members said they owed their lives to the Australia sloop Yarra. The little fighting ship sidled up to the blazing Behemoth and took off the men, all the time keeping her guns pumping lead into the bomber-filled skies.

The Yarra has gone down since playing her part in rescuing men from the stricken Empress. The Australian sloop was sunk during the Allied withdrawal from the Dutch East Indies.

Atempts to save the Asia were futile. Out of control, she drifted into a mine field and finally ran aground, the fire dying down only when nothing was left but her twisted steel skeleton and ruined engines.

So ended the "lucky ship" reputation the Empress of Asia had enjoyed during two years of ferrying troops across the Atlantic, down the dangerous Mediterranean Sea lanes and across the hazardous stretches of the Pacific. Not once was she touched—until those five Japanese bombs crashed onto her decks.

In peace time a glittering white luxury liner sailing from Vancouver, B.C., the Asia was one of the pioneer ships in the Canadian Pacific steamship line. Built in Glasgow in 1913 she was 570 feet long, 68 feet wide and had a depth of 42 feet.

The Empress of Asia was the second largest ship in the Canadian Pacific fleet whose loss has been announced so far in the war. Most serious loss was that of the 42,000-ton Empress of Britain, flagship of the fleet, in the Alantic early in the war.

In addition, four of five ships in the "Beaver" class of freighters operated by the company have been announced as lost—the Beaverdale, Beaverburn, Beaverbrae and Beaverford. Also lost was the liner Montrose, which had been converted into an auxiliary cruiser.

The Germans sent planes speeding to the defence, but lost 17 in this single heavy combat, Red Star said.

The cavalrymen now are pursuing the Germans, who abandoned large quantities of equipment as they fell back, the dispatch stated.

The recaptured town was not identified. Other dispatches from the Kharkov front, key to the entire southwestern sector, said that an immediate Red Army objective was a highway linking two large towns, and that a battle was in progress just east of this road.

M.P.'s Debate Method Of Call-Up

Find Conscientious Objectors Puzzle; Talk Post-War Rewards

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 19—(CP)—The problem of what to do with conscientious objectors was raised in the House of Commons last night as members ranged over a wide field in discussing the operation of national war service regulations for calling of men to compulsory military service.

Arrangements for granting postponements of training also were under criticism during the sitting.

John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) suggested that a central board of appeal be set up, to which a man refused postponement by a divisional board might carry his case, with a judge of the Supreme Court of Canada presiding.

Rev. T. C. Douglas (CCF-Weyburn) supported Mr. Diefenbaker's suggestion.

War Services Minister Thorson said he did not think that a central appeal board would achieve uniformity of decisions in all provinces as sought by Mr. Diefenbaker. The minister said appeals before a similar central appeal board established in the First Great War had dragged on for many months.

When the House was discussing conscientious objectors, the problem of the Doukhobor sect known as the Sons of Freedom was raised. Mr. Thorson said: "I admitted last year that I did not know what to do with the Sons of Freedom and I do not know any more today what to do with that painful sect."

Asked by Howard Green (Con Vancouver South) if any British Columbia Doukhobors had been taken into service, Mr. Thorson said "I do not think so."

The regulations were discussed in continued debate in committee on the war appropriation bill resolution. The House today is scheduled to continue consideration of this resolution, with either Mr. Thorson or Munitions Minister Howe available for questioning.

Wants Secret Session

J. Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) suggested yesterday "that the House hold a secret session once a week to discuss war developments, but Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the government felt it should resort to secret sessions only when there appeared to be the strongest of reasons.

New Democracy Leader Blackmore said Canada's fighting men should be "adequately rewarded" and not exfected to face a future over which they had no control. Farmers seemed to be next in line to the fighting

FALLS INTO RIVER

Jack Arnott of the London Life Insurance staff put more energy than finesse into the landing of a pickerel at the Locks Monday evening according to one of the spectators. Of course opinion agreed that Mr. Arnott had really hooked a big one, explaining the tingle of thrills with which he went about the final detail of getting this big fellow up and onto the long cement pier. In this action which watched enviously by the group of pickerel piscators. Mr. Arnott who is well schooled in the business of closing deals threw cautions in all directions, and moving backward across the cement surface he must have forgotten that his space was limited. At any rate he backed right off into the river on the west side of the pier, dropped his line in the distraction of getting himself back again on to good sound concrete. The fish took off with his line out into midstream, and Mr. Arnott, coming to the top on west side, and literally drenched from head to foot, scrambled back dripping and disconsolate to the safe vantage of the pier. His friends tried to console him about other fish, but he was dubious about ever hooking another one as big as this fellow that got away on him.

Lions Urged To Join Militia Units

The oil covered waters of Narvik harbor alive with sailors swimming to reach shore after the destroyer had been blasted into an unfloatable hulk was graphically pictured to the Lions Club on Monday evening, when Chief Warrant Officer Jimmy Paisley of the Merchant Marine spoke of his travels since November, 1939.

With but five weeks ashore since joining up for his second great battle with the Teutonic hordes, the little Scotsman is now enjoying an extended leave, after living through the nightmarish stab at Narvik, the evacuation of Dunkirk and the seige of Singapore. Soon he will leave Peterborough, the city he calls home to resume his work as boatswain on one of the merchant ships carrying the tools of war to all corners of the far flung British Empire.

Giving an off-the-record talk, Mr. Paisley regaled his listeners with first hand accounts of the war on the battle front, and he paid tribute to the service clubs of Canada for the fine work they are doing, in providing the comforts of the armed forces, and the women and children of England.

The thanks of the Club was voiced by Lion Jim Dutton and extended by President J. E. Girven, who added an invitation that the seaman visit the Lions when he again secures time for leave in Peterborough.

Lieut. Bill Ovens of the 4th Field Battery, made an appeal to the Lions Club members to join either the 4th Battery or the 2nd Battalion Prince of Wales Rangers, reserve units, pointing out that if Canada is not prepared, and is attacked, the horrors of Holland, Belgium, Norway and of the other conquered countries will be re-enacted.

"You are not asked to volunteer for overseas service we are merely asking that you train with the reserve units. So that if the need arises you will be on an equal footing in the matter of training with the armies that you ill have to fight. It is a sorry situation if the men at home, will not think enough of Canada to form a rearguard for the cream of Canada's youth who have gone to the front line to guard the Empire, and make Canada a safe place in which to live. I am not urging you to join. I am merely pointing out that what happened in European countries can happen in Canada so long as the Japanese navy is afloat." Mr. Ovens said.

Introduced by J. E. Girven, president of the club, Mr. Ovens said every consideration would be given the men who train at periods that would not interfere with their work, and he said the Civilian Defence Committee had under consideration several plans and suggestions which would reduce the inconvenience to the men.

"We realise that in a lot of one-man businesses, the manager cannot shut down his shop and go to camp for 15 days, yet that same man is anxious and willing to assume his responsibility to his country. To this man I can say that military camp is not compulsory, and if he makes his problems known to the officer commanding every consideration will be given him in the matter of training. The main thing is that every able bodied man in Canada should take advantage of the opportunity to learn how to operate a rifle, revolver, Bren Gun and machine gun, so that should the need arise he is ready to man the tools of war and repel an invader. I am merely pointing out to you that the reserve units now seeking recruits give you this opportunity. The decision is yours to make, and the man who says he would gladly defend his home, should at least take the trouble to learn some of the fine points of modern warfare, otherwise he will be like a strong but inexperienced boxer going into the ring against a professional like Joe Louis."

Guests of the club included William (Scotty) Gracie, Frank Eskine, Byron Bond and Jack Smith.

It Just Growled

SEATTLE, May 19 (AP)—"What if the dog had bitten him?" mused Sheriff William Severyns as he and his deputies pored over a six-page typewritten complaint. The complaint, the most exhaustive received by Severyns, was from a man who charged that a dog had growled at him.

Nazis In France Practice Invasion Daily

Written For The Associated Press
By PHILIP WHITCOMB.
Just Released By Berlin.

LISBON, May 19 (AP)—Germany's army in Occupied France, probably numbering between 400,000 and 600,000 men, is more active now than at any time since the Armistice of Compeigne two years ago.

Rehearsal invasions are staged daily on the French coasts under the tutelage of a special circulating staff experienced in the methods of Britain's raids.

A ground organization has concealed hangars for 4,000 planes, according to general estimates—for 12,000 planes, in the opinion of one competent observer.

There has been a burst of activity in each of the five German organizations which provide the hundreds of thousands of men—the regular army garrisons, coast defence forces, a skeleton invasion force, an air defence force and raiding force and divisions resting or being reconstructed.

With Nazi authorities vainly trying to co-ordinate these forces, a conflicting organization is the economic staff with three objectives: to get the maximum French output of civil and war goods, to obtain the most possible for Germany and to locate and acquire all key business in France.

These modern carpet-baggers wear uniforms and engage in a continual pitched battle with four other German organizations in occupied France—the army, propaganda, Gestapo and Embassy. The commanding general is supposed to control the first four and respect the wishes of the fifth, the Embassy, but actually each devotes much energy to blocking the other four.

The Angriest is the propaganda branch which produces daily floods of persuasive, loving material through the press, movies, theatres, radio and posters only to have their effect wiped out by the army shooting 50 hostages or the Gestapo holding some servant girl for six months while it decides whether she insulted a German officer.

In comparison with Germany and other warring nations, the French are eating, saving and enjoying recreation.

Toward the new chief of government, Pierre Laval, the attitude is one of deferred judgment until something happens but the public generally is pleased that Marshal Petain has given command of all France's land, sea and air forces to Admiral Jean Darlan, keeping them from Laval.

What a Life!

Why don't the girls fall for this lad from the navy?
His eyes are so blue, and his hair is so wavy!
He has to perspire, and will to the end,
But someone should tell him he need not offend.

STUDENTS STAGE A PARADE IN PROTEST OF BOARD'S ACTION

Want Principal Re-instated; Parents Aiding

PORT HOPE, May 19.—(ENS)—Disappointed and angered by the action of the High School Board in asking for the resignation of G. L. Brackenbury, High School principal, 200 students from the school marched through the streets of Port Hope in a protest demonstration on Monday afternoon.

Arranged and timed with careful precision, the students prepared banners, routed out the cadet corps in uniform, and also all school cadets in uniform, obtained permission from the Chief Constable to hold the parade, and staged their show. It was obvious during the entire affair that the school teachers, townspeople, including parents and merchants were all behind the students in their protest.

W. J. B. Davidson, chairman of the Board refused to make any statement on the action of the Board. This action consisted of the calling of a special meeting by the Board at which they decided on motion to ask for the resignation of the principal. The resignation was handed in. G. L. Brackenbury, the principal stated today that in his opinion, the Board had no sufficient reason to warrant asking for his resignation.

Prompt Support

The students rallied to the support of Mr. Brackenbury last Friday when they called a meeting on the campus and organized the demonstration. They framed a protest, had it notarized by a Justice of the peace and sent it by registered mail to the school board secretary.

Ratepayers and parents are holding an indignation meeting on Tuesday, May 19 at 8 o'clock in the Orange Hall on John street. They wish to discuss certain facts relating to the dismissal of the principal.

During Mr. Brackenbury's principalship the school rating has been raised from a 'C" grading to a "A" grading.

The teaching staff of the Port Hope High School have expressed their satisfaction in Mr. Brackenbury's work as a principal and sent the following testimonial testimonial to the school board:

A Testimonial

Our Association with Mr. Brackenbury has proved to our satisfaction that he is a competent principal a keen disciplinarian and a good friend to both staff and pupils. The esprit de corps in the school is high and we feel it is largely due to the excellence of Mr. Brackenbury's leadership.

Mr. Brackenbury has a extraordinary good record in the field of science teaching and we feel that his departure would prove very detrimental to the school. (Signed) The Staff.

Orderly Parade

The parade which left the school grounds at 3:30 was headed by the cadet corp bugle band while the girls were in school attire and with two hundred students each carrying a banner some of which were:

We Want Brack.

Is This a Dictatorship.

If he wasn't right we wouldn't fight.

We won't work without Brack.

If the parents won't do anything we will.

Those who are right fight for the right.

This is a democracy, keep it so.

"V" for Victory, "B" for Brack.

Public Applause

These signs were very artistically arranged while the slogans were very cleverly worded. The parade proceeded in orderly procession down Bedford street along Cavan to Walton where Chief of Police Murphy was seen to help the boys direct traffic down Walton across Queen and back to Walton going out Ontario up Bloomsgrove avenue to Hope along to Ward where again Chief Murphy was seen helping at an intersection, up Walton and back to the High school where Mr. F. J. Johnstone distributed pamphlets to the students signed by himself and Mr. G. N. Strong. The pamphlets told of the proposed meeting.

The letter from the Federation of Secondary School teachers addressed to W. J. B. Davidson, chairman, High School Board, said:

We have just learned that the idea has been formed, by the Port Hope staff and a deputation of Port Hope High School students, that your Board considered that it had the approval of this Federation in the steps taken in terminating the contract of Mr. Brackenbury.

We are sending you this note to tell you that this conception of the attitude of the Federation is absolutely not true. Two of us visited your town as representing the Federation, solely with the idea of gathering information. Following that visit, we reported to the executive, urging that Mr. Brackenbury proceed with his request for the establishment of a Board of Reference, and that as a preliminary step the Minister of Education be asked to call representatives of the High School Board into his office, to meet Mr. Brackenbury there, so that the Board might have the opportunity of making official statement of charges that had been implied in innuendos given us.

Mr. Brackenbury felt (unfortunately, we think) that in view of the attitude of the Board, it would be very difficult for him to continue relations with the members of your Board, if and when he were reinstated, and for this reason he hesitated to take any action that would further disrupt conditions in school and community.

We trust you will make it clear to staff and students that there is absolutely no justification for any rumor that this Federation has given its approval to the course followed by your Board.

District Deputy Visits Norwood

NORWOOD, May 19—(ENS).—There was a large attendance at the regular May meeting of the Norwood Lodge No. 223 A.F. & A.M., the occasion being the official visit of the District Deputy, Grand Master J. S. McGill, of Millbrook. Visitors were present from Havelock, Hastings and Warkworth Lodges.

Following the regular session during which the Entered Apprentice Degree was conferred, the brethern assembled in the fourth degree with the Master, D. H. Gibb, in the toastmaster's chair.

Past District Deputy Grand Master, B. W. Squire, proposed the toast to Grand Lodge and told something of the work when he was District Deputy several years ago. Replying to the toast Rt. Wor. Bro. McGill gave an enlightening and interesting address using the principal points of Masonry "Faith, Hope and Charity" as his subject.

Past Master, J. F. Pearce, proposed a toast to the visitors which was replied to by Past District Deputy Master Grand Master Walter Fowlds of Hastings. Norwood Lodge is Rt. Wor. Bro. Fowlds mother lodge and he remarked on the changes that had taken place since his initiation and congratulated Norwood on the large number of new members who had joined during the past few years.

Girls Display Products At Brighton

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19 (ENS).—Sixty-one club members, representing nine homemaking clubs in Northumberland County, took part in the annual achievement day held in Brighton on Saturday when each of the girls exhibited her record book and a sleeping garment, which was the project undertaken by them during the past year. In addition to this 31 of the senior girls exhibited housecoats while all nine groups prepared a club exhibit with the entries from Wicklow and Vernonville being selected to represent the county of Peterborough Junior Fair. Mrs. Wallace A Rutherford, R.R. No. 5, Colborne, was leader of the winning club.

In the demonstration contest six clubs participated and as a result Harwood senior club, under leadership of Miss Frances Corkery, R.R. No. 1, Baltimore, was selected to represent the County of Peterborough. To nineteen club members went certificates of achievement, for having completed two homemaking projects, and County honor certificates for the the satisfactory completion of six homemaking projects were presented to Miss Shirley Harnden and Miss Jean Carruthers, both of the Grafton club, and to Mary Callahan of the Harwood Senior Club. The program was in charge of Miss Jean Scott, County home economics coach, assisted by Miss Lulu Row of the Women's Institute Branch, Toronto.

Boys' Calf Club

All indications point to a larger membership in the Seymour Calf Club this year District Agriculture Representative Ian MacLeod told the Examiner on Monday. Already fifteen boys from the district have become members for the year and all but one of these will show a Holstein calf when the judging takes place at the annual fall fair this September. Last year only fourteen boys were listed in these competitions, but Mr. MacLeod is expecting that at least nineteen will have become members before the end of May which is the final entry date. He suggested that any others who are interested in becoming members should get in touch either with John Locke, R.R. No. 4, or E. L. Anderson, R.R. No. 3, both of whom were appointed to the Seymour Agriculture Society supervising committee. Organization or the Foal Club, which is also being sponsored by the Seymour Agriculture Society, will not begin till June.

Rylstone Red Cross

Two quilts were completed by 18 members of the Rystone Red Cross sewing circle which met for a potluck dinner at Mrs. James Gibson's home on Friday afternoon. Also handed in by the ladies were several girls' blouses which will be turned over to the Rawdon branch of the Red Cross, and it was decided to facilitate this work in future by appointing a purchasing committee comprising Mrs. Andrews Thompson, Mrs. Ernest Irwin, Mrs. Fred Barnum, who will arrange to have the required materials for making children's clothing on hand for subsequent meetings.

During a discussion of the Institeu sponsored Salvage campaign, member voiced their unanimous desire to cooperate in this undertaking and several revealed they had already made substantial contributions. They will meet next month at Mrs. Andrew Thompson's.

Films for Rotary

Two short subjects, one dealing with the development of the air route to the Orient and the other demonstrating the practicability of using high powered equipment in various parts of the world under extreme conditions, were shown in moving picturese for the benefit of Rotarians at their Monday luncheon.

The films were presented by Jim McClellan, Port Hope representative of a builders' supply company and the photography which carried the audience to the far regions of the Pacific won the approval of the club members.

Rotarian Stu. Stuart presided for the meeting in the absence of President P. C. Denyes, who, along with M. B. Sayers, L. B. Glover, Dr. O. C Watson, H. J. Taylor, and C. B. Williams, was attending the annual convention for the 168th District at Niagara Falls. Guests at the meeting included Dr. Ward Baker, James Smith and Ross Richardson.

Cobourg Board To Revise Laws

COBOURG, May 19—(ENS).—In an effort to bring up to date the by-laws of the Cobourg Union Cemetery, an adjourned meeting of the Cemetery Board will be held on May 29, it was decided at the annual meeting in J. T. Field's office held during the week-end. Revision of the present rules and regulations are badly needed, it was intimated at the meeting, if they are to be in line with the revised cemetery statutes which have been passed by the Province of Ontario.

An effort will be made to secure a copy of the revised Ontario rulings in regard to cemeteries before the meeting is held, so that the board will have a basis on which to work in revising the local by-laws.

J. E. Skidmore presided over the meeting, and Secretary Harry Field read the minutes of the last meeting, which was held on April 15, 1941.

Name New Member

An important item of business was the appointing of a new member to the board to succeed the late John Hayden. Mayor J. Burnet moved that Jack Hayden, Jr., be the new man, and this nomination was unopposed. Mayor Burnet pointed out that the new member is the third of his line to hold a seat on the board, and that the service of his predecessors has always been greatly appreciated.

The treasurer's report was presented showing receipts totalling $2,574.64 and disbursements of $1,185.30. Brought forward at the first of 1941 was $648.08, and other incoming funds included $421.31 interest. 334.00 from sale of lots, $1,120 from perpetual care funds.

Major expenditures were $225.50 for caretaking; $63 for rewriting, checking and indexing by Hugh Cameron of various cemetery books; $500 for purchase of a Dominion of Canada bond. Balance brought forward into 1942 was $1,389.34.

Mayor Burnet moved that the grounds committee, composed of the president, and Messrs. W. B. Pratt, Charles Nicholls and Frank Benedict (Mr. Nicholls to act as chairman), go over the matter of a plan of the cemetery with Mr. A. K. McIntosh before the plan is prepared in its final form. This was carried.

Paying of Accounts

The method in vogue of paying accounts came under fire, and it was decided that the chairman of the committee authorizing the expenditure of any sum of money should endorse payment as well as the president.

President Skidmore reported that a tree which had been considered dangerous has been been removed. Permission was granted the Bell Telephone Company to lay an underground line across the north end of the property, and the president and the secretary were empowered to sign the easement.

Mr. George Lowe requested permission to erect a cement curb around his plot, but it was pointed out that this is contrary to by-laws of the cemetery, as it makes grass cutting and trimming too difficult. The matter was finally left in the hands of the grounds committee for disposal.

The Board endorsed a resolution of Mayor Burnet that "no stone or monument shall be erected without permission of the caretaker and the grounds committee, and all foundations shall be put in by the caretaker and paid for by the erector to the said caretaker."

Dimes For Victory Draw At Port Hope

PORT HOPE, May 19.—(ENS).—The fiftieth dimes for victory draw was conducted at the Capitol theatre on Monday night by Edward Brandwood, assisted by Messrs. Ronald Jex and Geoffrey Clark, members of the Port Hope bands.

The $25.00 cash theatre prize was won by G. H. Corbett, while the $25.00 war saving certificate went to Miss Vera Meade, the $10.00 certificate was won by Mrs. B. Fulford, while the $5.00 certificates were drawn for Mrs. Walter Helm, Mrs. W. Elmsley, Miss Ann Phillips, Mr. Louis Van Hinsbury, Mr. Len Jolley, Miss E. C. Foy, Mr. Bill Bryan, Mr Albert Bailey, Miss Marjorie Crowe, Mr. Fred N. Trawin, Mr. Hilda Rabey, Mrs. W. Trawin, Mr. R. J. McKnight, Mr. R. Morrow, Miss Elsie Potts, Miss Ruby Cotter.

Taxation And Expenditure

If this war has done nothing else, it has at least taught us to think in large figures; he is a poor speaker on the war effort who cannot speak in billions without stammering. But although we are all more familiar with the billion than we were in the days when it was a term used almost exclusively by astronomers it is still a thousand millions of dollars in this country and a million millions of pounds in Britain, where finance is nothing if not magnificent. To return to somewhat more reasonable figures, Canada will spend $281.84 this year for every man, woman and child of its population on the war alone. A further $39.91 will be spent on the normal costs of government.

Where is this money to come from? From taxation, most of it. Last year the corporation income tax and the excess profits tax brought in 25 per cent. of the total national revenue. Personal income tax and the national defence tax accounted for another 24 per cent.; customs and excise produced another 25 per cent. and the sales tax 14 per cent. With other forms of taxation 94 per cent. of the national income was produced.

How is it spent? Very largely upon war, directly and indirectly. We are giving a billion dollars worth of supplies to Britain this year, and that means a contribution of $87.72 for every Canadian, and all of it must be raised by taxation. Of course, when insurance companies and pension funds invest in war loans they are also lending the public's money to the Government.

This year the Canadian army will cost $84.45 for every Canadian; the Navy will cost $51.31, and the Air Force $22.72. The expenditure on war supplies will be gigantic, as may be seen from the fact that already, from the beginning of the war, we have spent $392,000,000 for aircraft, $318,000,000 for shipbuilding, $200,496,000 for ordnance, $195,000,000 for land vehicles and $189,000,000 on construction work and all kinds of building. To continue in this staggering vein, we have spent $70,000,000 on munitions, $54,700,000 on food, $43,000,000 on electrical equipment, $24,000,000 on lumber, $18,251,000 on beds and bedding, $7,840,000 on kitchen equipment, $3,093,000 on tents and even $1,317,000 on photographic equipment. Who pays for it? You, among others.

We should all be paying much more if we had not adopted the price ceiling system, which has stabilized prices and wages. Last October our cost of living index was 115.5 and last month it had risen to 115.9 which is not a great matter. But in the U.S. in October the index was 90 and by February it had risen to 101.3—a steep increase for so short a time, although we must remember that within that time the nation went to war, and there was naturally an upheaval in wages, prices and economics generally. But at present Canada is carrying an extremely heavy burden of taxation and the duty of the price ceiling is to make it possible for the country to remain on a sound financial basis.

The Sympathy Strike

We read with interest that the charges against five employees of the Kingston Shipbuilding Company of striking illegally and contrary to the Industrial Disputes Act have been dismissed in Kingston Police Court. These five men were among those who walked out of the Kingston plant in sympathy with other workers who had struck at Midland. There was no dispute between these men and their employers of the Kingston company, and for this reason the magistrate found that there had been no violation of the Act. But we submit that there had been a very decided violation of common sense and common decency. The Kingston yards have war orders to fill and Canada needs ships just as fast as they can be built. The men who walked out had no complaint to make of the treatment which they received from their employers, and, so far as we know, they had no complaint against the Dominion of Canada and her war effort. Yet they decided to act in a manner which would embarrass their employers and hinder the war effort, and, indirectly, endanger their country. Does it make sense? It does not.

Some historians like to refer to the Industrial Revolution as though it were something which began and ended in the nineteenth century with the rise of our present industrial economic system. That is a mistaken view. The Industrial Revolution is going on today. In the beginning, when industry on a large scale was a new thing, the workers were exploited by greedy and opportunist industrial magnates. In time the workers learned the value of organization and the Trades Union movement arose, ensuring decent wages and decent conditions of work for the men in the factories and yards. But now we seem to be passing into a third stage, where labor wants to be as ruthless and as whimsical as capital formerly was. The gold watch chain and the silk hat are no longer symbols of power, but the lunch box and the overalls are eager to take their place. Let us use our common sense before the skein becomes tangled again.

Organized labor is an admirable thing, and it has all our support when it behaves in a sensible manner, but these sympathy strikes are not sensible. They are, on the contrary, dictatorial. Dictatorship by labor is not in the best interest of this country, for labor is not in a position to take a broad view of the war effort or of the needs of the country as a whole. It is a grave mistake to imagine that every concession made to labor is a move toward the New Jerusalem. In our opinion the sympathy strike at Kingston was a silly and stupid business, which did far more harm than good to the cause of labor in this country. Labor must learn to see more points of view than that which appears to be in its own most immediate interest; it must see the point of view of the country as a whole; and, when it holds a sympathy strike in a vital war industry it must see the point of view of the men who are now fighting to preserve the democratic freedom of which such strikes are rank abuse.

Planning For a Long War

During the past few weeks there has been a decidedly optimistic strain in the utterances of the leaders of the United Nations; when Winston Churchill said that we were not yet over the hill but were in sight of the crest he summed up much that had been said less picturesquely before. Dr. Benes has expressed his opinion that this year will see the collapse of the German Army. Stalin, in his last message to the Russian people, spoke in a manner which one commentator described as "almost rollicking." And the beaming smiles of President Roosevelt have drawn special comment from newsmen who are accustomed to his usual genial manner.

But in spite of this gayety in high places we cannot relax our efforts to win the war; on the contrary, we must redouble them. Nor must we assume that, because the end is in sight, it is therefore near. We must continue to plan and work for a long war, as that is the only way in which we can assure victory for our side. The United Nations have not yet come to their full strength, and it is clear from what we already have seen of the German war machine that nothing less than our full strength will be sufficient to inflict upon the enemy a decisive and lasting defeat.

It is for long-term planning that the conference on air training delegates from the fifteen United Nations began in Ottawa yesterday. These gentlemen are planning for two years ahead, by which time the air might of the forces of freedom should be capable of efforts beside which the most violent onslaughts of the Luftwaffe will seem insignificant. Canada has now within its borders the greatest organization for air training that has ever been seen; we have 100 air training schools which, huge already, are capable of being expanded to meet any need of our allies.

Canada has already made a great and extremely creditable effort in the R. C. A. F. and in those Canadian fliers who are with the R.A.F. in considerable numbers. But it will not be long before the number of young men suitable for air training in this country is less, and our facilities for training will be available for use by our friends. The U.S. at present has enormous resources of manpower ready to learn about aerial fighting, but it has inadequate facilities for training them. It will save immense trouble if we take over the job. What the plans of the joint air-training board will be we shall not know until the conference has finished its deliberations, but the speech which Major Power made in Parliament last week leads us to expect great things.

More and more the conviction grows among those who are in a position to make a close and well-informed study of the war that Germany must stake everything upon a mighty thrust this summer. The shock of that thrust may shake the world, but if we can withstand it our task will be clarified and lightened. We are in a position to plan for a long war, and our enemies are not.

A Craftsman Passes

A notable recipe for contentment is to learn to do one thing superlatively well. A man died in England last month who was the last master of a useful, beautiful craft; he lived his life in contentment and he was 97 when he died. His name was Charles Mitchell, he lived at Pyecombe in Sussex, and he made shepherd's crooks. He began at that trade when he was a youth of 20 and he plied it diligently for 77 years. The crooks which he made are now in use in Canada, in South Africa, in Australia and wherever sheep are bred in any quantity; there are also some of them in museums, for Mitchell was the last of his kind, and good crooks are not made by machinery.

It is one of the doubtful glories of our industrial age that we can make a substitute for almost anything, and this facility in producing substitutes has had at least one curious effect. Much of the Bible which was formerly perfectly plain to any reader, however humble, is now archaic. The references to gleaners, flails and other agricultural instruments which were familiar to the farmer at the beginning of the last century are as Greek to his great-grandsons. And when the parson reads Job's bitter cry, "My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle and are spent without hope," how many of his congregation can conjure up that picture of the flying shuttle which would have been a commonplace to anyone from 1850 back to the days of Job himself? No, our industrial advances have cost us dear in our understanding of the Bible. But the shepherd's crook has not quite disappeared from the common currency of man's thought. Sheep breeders have never found a satisfactory substitute for it. The staff with the delicately hooked top, which we see in an ornamented form in the bishop's crozier, is still the symbol of firm and loving care.

The last man to make shepherd's crooks is dead. He had no apprentice, and his craft is lost, perhaps forever. All his life he made a humble and useful instrument, but he made it with knowledge and with art, and in turn it gave him peace and long life. We pay a high price for our modernity.

It has been a far more useful institution than most people thing it is; over the past few decades it has saved this country from a lot of bad legislation."

WEST COAST HARBOR

This water seems asleep;
A half-mile deep,
Around the city laid
Like a curved blade—
A crooked knife of green gleaming jade.

Not a ripple wakes;
No wave breaks
On the grey sand of the hill;
Smooth, smooth and still,
It holds its peace, it answers no wind's will.

It remembers in its sleep
Height and steep
Dense with a dark of trees—
The land-breeze
Loud with a soft roar of wild bees.

It remembers purple nights
Whose sole lights
Were shore campfires, when
Hill and fen
Had not known the bearded Spanish men.

Let it sleep on: that dawn
It knew, is gone.
Only in its dream the clear river,
Polluted never,
Flows, and the virgin trees rise forever.

Britain Honors Musical Masterpiece

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

AS A NATION the British dearly love anniversaries, and it is good to see that not even a great war has prevented them from celebrating the two hundredeth recurrence of the date of the first performance of Handel's "Messiah." It was on April 13, 1742, in the city of Dublin, that the majestic work which the British have taken as their favorite sacred composition was heard. From contemporary accounts it appears that the first performance was not a satisfactory one; the choir was small and ill-acquainted with the work, and the orchestral playing was slovenly. The composer himself may be said to have clapped the work together hastily, for he completed it within twenty-one days. The score presents no evidence of hastiness, however, though it is possible to speculate, paradoxically, whether Handel would not have made "Messiah" shorter if he had worked over it longer.

The bicentennial was marked by several performances of the work. The Royal Choral Society gave a performance in the Albert Hall; the Alexandra Choir gave another in the Cambridge Theatre, and the Bach Society sang it in Westminster Abbey. The BBC broadcast a performance which attempted to recapture the true sound of the original production, by using the small orchestra, the modified organ, and the harpsichord for which the composer designed his work. "Messiah," as we usually hear it, is heavily re-scored by editors who try to make it sound as Handel might have written it if he had had a modern orchestra. Whether this treatment is justified or not is a matter of taste. Personally I do not like it at all. No editor of Handel's work can possibly have any idea of what he would have done with a modern orchestra, and very frequently they succeed only in spoiling what he wrote for his own orchestra.

THE orchestra for which Handel wrote had a good body of tone, but it lacked the richness of a modern symphony. Naturally many instruments were absent, and fewer players took part, and thus the tone, to a modern listener, might seem thin. But it had the advantage of clarity, and complex contrapuntal passages might be heard clearly, and not merely as a muddle of noise, which is so often the case in modern re-scorings. The choir for which Handel wrote was also more modest in its numbers than those which we are accustomed to hear now. "Messiah" is usually performed by choirs of 150 or more, and on some occasions a choir of nearly a thousand voices has been used. But in choral singing the law of diminishing return works with deadly efficiency, and the bigger a choir is the more unwieldly it becomes, and the slower it sings. Such choruses as "He shall purify the sons of Levi" cannot be sung at their proper speed if too many people are in the choir, for the long ornamental passages simply will not allow it. The great "Hallelujah" chorus also generally suffers from too large a choir.

The organ for which Handel wrote was a more modest, and perhaps a more musical, instrument than its modern descendant. For one thing, it did not have such a large volume of tone or such a variety of stops; it served as a firm background for the orchestra without attempting to drown it out. The harpsichord, also, gave body to the tone of the orchestra, and was generally played by the conductor; it was thus that he gave the time to the other players, rather than with a baton as is the custom now. Many of the accompaniments for solo passages and arias were written for the harpsichord and one or two other instruments; when these are re-scored for an orchestra much delicacy is lost and the singer sometimes has to sacrifice beauty to mere loudness in order to be heard. Upon the whole it is to be doubted whether those modern editors who have tinkered with Handel have done him a service thereby. Of the four bicentennial performances that of the BBC group must have been the most interesting to hear.

WE LIVE in an age when much music attempts to astound by its volume of tone. "Messiah" was never meant to deafen its hearers. Of course, it has its loud moments, but these are better when they are presented as a contrast to very soft ones, rather than as attempts to blast the hearers out of their seats. The last time I heard "Messiah" in Queen's Hall (now wrecked by the Nazis) the conductor was so eager to make his loud passages loud that he took little pains to make his soft passages soft, and the result was that the work was sung throughout in a lusty manner with occasional strainings toward apoplexy when a climax hove in sight. If the modern passion for noise continues we shall soon lose our ability to listen, with pleasure and discrimination, to a whole body of music which was never meant to shock and blast its audience into an attentive mood. If you doubt me, listen to a few performances of contemporary works on the radio—there are some almost every Sunday afternoon—and notice how many of them make their effects by sheer volume of noise.

Speaking of radio, it was a pity that no organization on this side of the water gave a performance of "Messiah" in April which might have been made available by that means to music lovers everywhere. It is a work which it is impossible to hear too often; the worst choir, abetted by the worst orchestra and the most noisy, selfish organist, cannot entirely obscure its magnificence, and when it is performed at all well it is a revelation of sublimity. At present it is the fashion among some musicians to belittle the greatness of Handel in order to increase the greatness of Bach. Bach needs no such artificial inflation and the injustice to Handel is to be deplored. He possessed the power of achieving grandeur and exaltation by the most simple means in a measure which has never been given to any other composer, and in "Messiah" this high quality is seen at its highest and rarest.

TALE OF TWO CITIES

• Timoshenko Outwits Hun

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, May 19 —(AP)—A grim possibility that his promised "annihilation" offensive in Russia will turn into a Nazi rout on a wide front south of Kharkov confronts Herr Hitler. For seven days he has been outguessed and outfought by Russian armies he once told his people he had destroyed.

The exact contour of the 100-mile wide Russian front around the Kharkov bastion of German communications is not clear. Russian seizure of Krasnograd Junction, sixty miles west-southwest of Kharkov, is imminent, according to reports from Moscow and London. Its fall would put Red forces within sixty miles of Dniepropetrovsk, site of the rail bridge upon which main supply lines of German forces in a rapidly developing Stalino-Taganrog pocket depend.

VITAL LINK BROKEN

With Krasnograd under Russian gunfire (London observers go further and intimate it is already in Russian hands), the vital German communication link east of the Dnieper River at the north elbow of the stream's great eastern bend would be broken. Even Kremenchug, the next major river crossing northward and eighty miles further west, would be threatened.

South of Krasnograd, the Russians are reported astride one rail line to Stalino at Lozovaya Junction and threatening the direct Stalino-Dniepropetrovsk route and its Taganrog and Mariupol connections on both sides of Stalino. If that is true the whole southern mainland flank of the German line to the Sea of Azov coast, from which the main attack on the Caucasus was to be launched, is in deadly peril.

So far as the breach in the Nazi lines south of Kharkov can be traced on the maps, it seems to represent a huge bulge with a front of 50-mile width or more from Krasnograd to Lozovaya bearing down on Dniepropetrovsk from the east and northeast. It is far from clear yet, however, whether Marshal Timoshenko's objective is confined to reaching the Dnieper at the Dniepropetrovsk crossing or aimed at sweeping its eastern banks clear to Kremenchug. At Krasnograd he would be in a position to strike on westward toward Poltava, then southwest to Kremenchug, or turn his whole strength southward on Dniepropetrovsk and the closure of the Stalino-Taganrog pocket to prevent a Nazi escape.

KERCH VICTORY NULLIFIED

Whatever his purpose or the forces he has available to exploit fully the startling Red success, the Russian commander has already gone far to nullify German victories on Kerch Peninsula. Its complete capture would be all but meaningless to Hitler unless he promptly halts the forward surge of Timoshenko in the Krasnograd-Lozovaya break-through.

The Russian leader, not Hitler, seems to have been the one to achieve the incalculable advantage of surprise. There is every evidence that he managed to mass tremendous power in men, guns, tanks and planes for the Kharkov operations without Nazi intelligence officers discovering the fact.

Timoshenko also appears to have fooled his rivals completely as to his real purpose in the first phase of his attack. The Chugnev-Volchansk line east of Kharkov from which he jumped off on a 40-mile front seemed aimed at regaining the city by frontal attack. The real thrust fell to the south of that line, however, once Nazi reserves had been sucked in to bolster Kharkov defenses.

Even more important than ground won or lost is the evidence of brilliant Russian generalship and adroit staff work. Timoshenko has so far beaten Hitler and his generals at their own game.

• How to Stretch Sugar

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Florida Agricultural Experiment Station scientists tell how to make rationed sugar stretch further:

Mix one pound of sugar and seven ounces of water, add one-fourth teaspoon of tartaric acid (which you can get at any drug store). Cover this sugar, water and tartaric acid mixture and boil gently for thirty minutes, then allow to cool, and you have invert sugar syrup, each cup of which is equal in sweetening to a cup of sugar.

This syrup is tops for sweetening fruits and cereals, on waffles and hot cakes, in baking and in making ice cream, experiment station officials said.

For use in baking and ice cream, however, it must be taken into consideration that the syrup is about one-third water. The scientists say that 50 per cent of the required amount of sugar in ice cream can be replaced by invert sugar syrup if one pound of milk solids is added for each pound of sugar replaced by the syrup.

MORE FLAX WANTED

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In the news from Ottawa (issue of May 14) I see the government is calling for an increase in flax production, and pointing out that: "It is estimated that at least a crop of 20,000,000 bushels of flax could be absorbed during the coming year, and this volume compares with only 6,500,000 bushels produced in 1941."

This "warning" on a matter of this kind at this particular time rings rather ominously in my ears, and is somehow reminiscent of that baneful rule "too little, too late" which has dogged the war-effort steps of the United Nations now for more than 30 months—although, praise God, there are definite and increasing signs that the United Nations are steadily speeding-up all along the line.

Only the other day, as you will perhaps recall, an estimate of "farmers' intentions to plant" the various cereals, was issued from the Dominion Bureau (Ottawa) and indicated an increase in the 1942 flax acreage of round 55 per cent. According to the above news-item, the emergency calls for a 300 per cent increase, to get those 20,000,000 bushels of these oil-bearing seeds?

Let's hope that it is not beyond the power of the farmers, through lack of pre-planning, seed supplies, etc., to step-up the acreage—although I get the distinct impression that someone has been "asleep at the switch" on this flax-increase front? Meanwhile I take a certain amount of comfort from the following figures (particularly last year's) contrasting the "farmers' intentions" estimates, with the final acreage actually sown, as recorded by the Sanford Evans organization at Winnipeg:

	Farmers' Int:	Final Acreage:
	(Thousands of Acres)
1939 Flax	270	289
1940 Flax	338	364
1941 Flax	834	940

As I understand the situation, we need 2,500,000 acres sown to flax this year. If so, this is a poor time to be "talking" about these plans.

"ON TIME."

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: cursed is the ground for thy sake: in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life....In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground: for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return.

And the Lord God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil: and now, lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever: therefore the Lord God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken.—Gen. iii, 17, 19, 22, 23.

THE STAR OF SAVOY

By an Italian Correspondent of the London Spectator

UNTIL recently there was not much sign that the House of Savoy, proverbially associated by Italians with the luck of the country, might be approaching its decline, although dictatorship was bound to undermine a constitutional monarchy in many ways. True, the Crown of Abyssinia has gone, and that of Albania is unlikely to outlast the war, to the relief of Italian coffee-drinkers, who for some years have been muttering over their cups of chicory this little rhyme:

When our Victor was plain King,
Coffee was a common thing.
When an Emperor he was made,
Coffee to a smell did fade.
Since he got Albania's throne
Coffee's very small has flown,
And should we gain another victory
It will be farewell to chicory.

Special Radio Rally Fills Hall

LAKEFIELD, May 19 — (ENS)— Grace Gospel Chapel was filled to capacity on Sunday evening for a special radio rally, with about fifty cars outside gettting the services via the loud speaker system. The guest speaker was Gordon Hartshorn of Peterborough, who took as his text Romans 3 verse 24. During the three-quarters of an hour musical program the following numbers were given: Solo, "Christ is coming soon," Mrs. J. McConnell, Peterborough; duet, "Some time we'll understand," Mr. and Mrs. G. Hartshorn; duet, "Whispers of Jesus,' Mr. and Mrs. Archie Neilson; quartette, "Living He loved me." Mr. and Mrs. G. Hartshorn, Mrs. J. McConnell C. E. Tatham; duet, "He is mine," C. out." Ruth and Lois Tatham; solo, "No burdens yonder,' G. Hartshorn; solo, "When Jesus came," C. E. Tatham; duet, "He is mine,' C. E. Tatham and Archie Neilson. Eric Hartshorn was the accompanist and Archie Neilson led in the song service. A short after-meeting was held by Evangelist C. E. Tatham.

A special Oddfellows' service was held in Regent Street Baptist Church on Sunday evening. There was a splendid attendance, the Rev. W. B. Walker delivering an interesting discourse on "Pressing Toward the Mark." Other features of the service were special music by the choir and a solo by Mrs. G. Peel.

Mrs. Silas Pearson, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Rosborough and daughters Opal and Eleanor to Hall's Glen on Sunday, where they were the guests of her sister, Mrs. Henry Little and Mr. Little. Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Brown, Mary and Donald of Peterborough also spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Little.

Forbid Transfer For Trainees

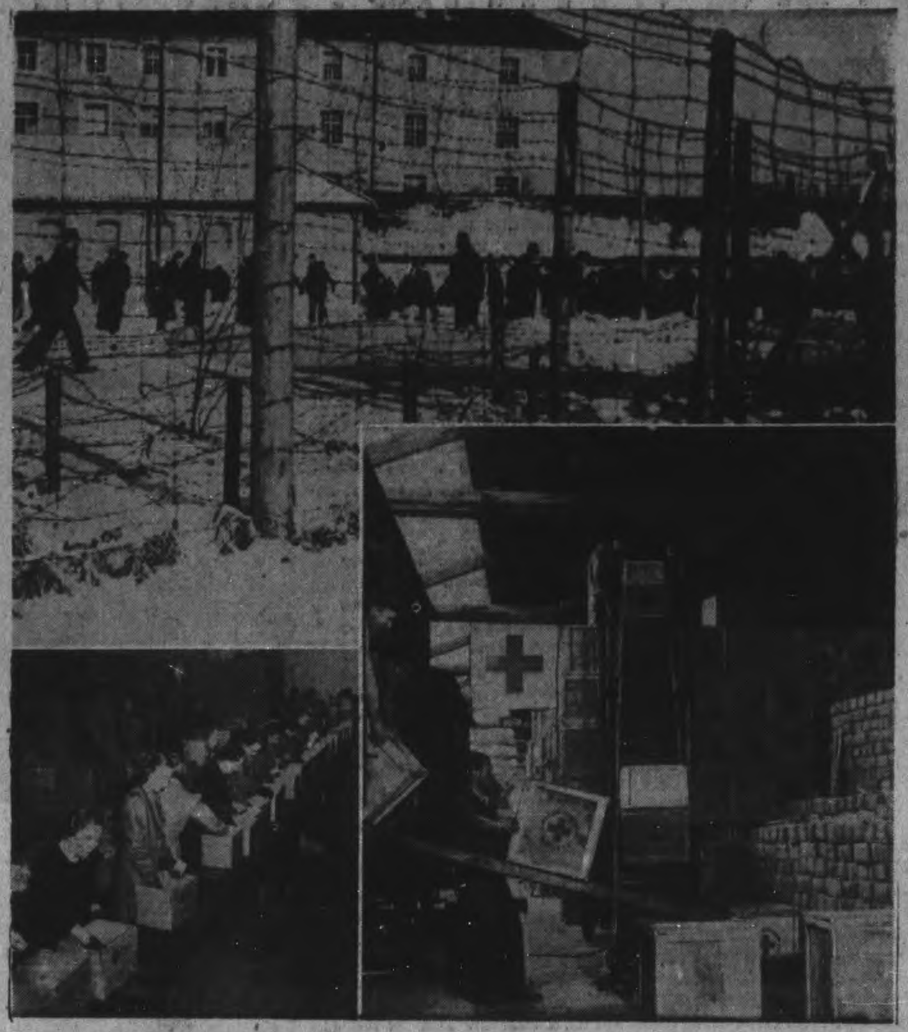
OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP).—The National Defence Department announced Saturday that after May 20 men called out for training under the provisions of the National Resources Mobilization Act will not be permitted to transfer from the army to the navy or the air force after they have reported to an army training centre.

The announcement added that the navy and the air force will discontinue recruiting in army training centres.

Reason for the change in procedure, the departmental statement said, is the expansion of army activities.

The statement continued: "The mobilization of the 7th and 8th Divisions, and of special units, calls for a large increase in the number of men suitable to train as tradesmen. The army has particular need of men of this type just now in connection with mechanized and special army equipment."

Red Cross Packs Food Parcels For Prisoners Of War



Behind the barbed wire of German and Italian prison camps thousands of British, Canadian, Australian and New Zealand prisoners of war look forward to the weekly food parcels they receive through the International Red Cross at Geneva. The Canadian Red Cross is now packing these parcels at the rate of 2,000,000 per year and hopes to increase this to 4,000,000 by the end of 1942. 17,000 Pines Planted In County Forest

Fourteen acres in the southeast corner of the County Forest were planted with 17,000 red pine trees during the first week in May, W. A. Anderson reports. Part of the area was Crown Land cleared by a settler long ago, and the rest was recently held by the Canada Land Company. The ground is of a quality that may be expected to produce good pine trees.

Recent rains had so moistened the soil that planting was easily done, and should ensure a good start of growth. A few thousand more trees, white pine and white spruce, were planted last week on land with a thin covering of small poplar.

During the last days of April large truck loads of forest trees were brought from the Ontario forestry station at Orono to Peterborough county and left at various centres for schools, property owners and the county. Most of the schools had the trees for Arbor Day. April weather had been so fine and warm that many deciduous trees were in full leaf and may not do so well as if the season had been less conducive to growth prior to Arbor Day.

When the trees were being delivered the weather was so ideal for sewing spring grain that tree planting seemed to be in danger of being left on the sidelines in some places. The rather heavy rains which started with the first of May slowed up spring seeding very considerably and gave the opportunity to plant the trees under very favorable conditions.

A few orders are still being received, perhaps rather late for pine and spruce. Some quite experienced foresters prefer early June for planting white cedar.

Labor scarcity caused many orders to be smaller than they otherwise would have been, and prevented others from undertaking any planting this year.

To date more than 40,000 trees have been delivered to Otonabee, more than 40,000 to Douro and Smith, another 40,000 to Asphodel Dummer and Belmont.

The county and the remaining municipalities took another 40,000 trees. These figures do not include the orders of property owners who had trees sent to them direct, and there is no record of their number at Peterborough.

About enough trees to plant 133 acres had they all been used on waste land, using 1,200 trees to the acre, six feet apart each way, were distributed here this year. Some were put in wood lots, and some were used for wind-breaks. School children received 20 per cent of the trees. This is partly an educational and partly advertising venture. Hundreds of children are learning to plant and care for trees, and the taking of a few trees home is frequently followed by an order from the family or from a neighbor who did not previouly know that trees for planting could be received without cost other than the express charges on the shipment.

The teachers and pupils of the schools of the county were invited to try to get names of prospective tree planters, and about thirty teachers sent in lists of names. With few exceptions these names were on the lists of those who ordered and planted trees.

When a final check-up is made of the trees that have been planted in Peterborough county this spring it will show that the greater part of the trees planted by property owners were received in the school sections from which these lists came.

Without the help of those teachers and pupils thousands fewer trees would have been planted in the county this year. The division of reforestation of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests appreciates very much the information forwarded by the school teachers and pupils. Their co-operation was helpful in getting such a large number of orders for trees in a year in which tree planting seemed doomed to being left for some indefinite time in the future.

Trent Pickerel Attract Crowds

HASTINGS, May 19 (ENS).—Gas and rubber restriction regulations had little or no effect on the opening fishing week-end in Hastings.

Anglers, predominantly from the Toronto area, crowded the local bridge and dam Saturday and Sunday. American cars were also noticed hailing from the States of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Expert anglers (those who like the weather on the chill rainy side) found the elements and the fishing ideal. Although rock bass were by far the hardest hit species, it was reported that pickerel tipping the scales at five pounds were landed.

Fishing tackle merchants, as yet experiencing no acute shortage, did a rushing business and all in all the 'Isaac Waltons' got off to an auspicious start for the 1942 season.

Serious Butter Shortage Looms

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP). — The National Dairy Council of Canada, in a brief presented to-day to Foods Administrator Gordon Taggart said a serious shortage of butter is threatened in Canada before the end of this year unless butter prices are brought into a more "balanced relationship" with prices of other dairy products.

The situation could be righted by an increase of five cents a pound butterfat in the price now being received by the dairy farmer producing milk for butter, the brief said. Whether this should be in the form of a direct subsidy to the cream producer or an increase in the retail price of butter is a matter on which the council said it is not prepaed to off an opinion.

The council's brief, presented by A. C. Fraser of Ottawa, secretary, said that not less than 52 per cent of all milk produced in Canada is marketed in the form of butter and that "a continuation of the present trends of production threaten not only embarrassment to the butter industry but possible disaster in some districts and the complete dislocation of one of Canada's oldest and most important branches of the dairy industry."

TRIBUTE OF NAZIS

LONDON (CP).—Here, from captured German documents, is what the Nazis think of the British Tommy encountered in the Middle East desert warfare: "a tough and hard opponent as an individual fighter, highly skilled in defence, unimaginative and inflexible in attack, cold-blooded and skilled in infighting."

Mined Corvette Only Navy Loss At Madagascar

LONDON, May 19—(CP).—Capture of the Vichy naval base at Madagascar last week was effected with the loss of one corvette, the Auricula, and troop losses far lighter than had at first been feared, the Admiralty and War Office announced today in a joint communique.

Commandos and a company of the East Lancashire regiment, springing ashore May 5 in a landing that took the garrison by surprise, opened the engagement by capturing a coastal battery commanding Courrier Bay, the communique disclosed.

By the evening of that day the town of Diego Suarez was in British hands and a captured Vichy officer was dispatched to the district commander with a "statement of our intentions and terms of surrender."

These terms were rejected and the engagement continued, the British force captured Antsirana during the night of May 6, and the Royal Navy, having completed the mine-sweeping of Courrier Bay in which the Auricula was lost, entered the harbor of Diego Suarez on May 7.

The Paris radio, heard in London today declared defenders and attackers "are retaining their positions" in Madagascar.

A Very Long Voyage

The British force, under Rear-Admiral Edward Syfret in general command of the expedition, and Maj.-Gen. R. G. Sturges of the Royal Marines who commanded the troops, arrived off Courrier Bay at dawn May 5, the communique said.

It did not mention where the expedition sailed from, but Prime Minister Churchill in his broadcast to the Empire last Sunday disclosed that the force left "these shores" of Britain about two months ago.

"The entire force, both naval and military and its supplies were convoyed safely over a very long distance and arrived off Courrier Bay at the appointed time without any loss," the communique said.

Mine sweeping operations were started immediately. "These were carried out with efficiency and expedition but during them the Corvette H.M.S. Auricula struck a mine." No report has yet been received concerning casualties to this ship, which was commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. S. L. B. Maybury, but it was indicated that other ships probably saved most of her crew.

The coastal battery situated on high ground overlooking Courrier Bay was the first objective. "This battery was captured very soon after the initial landing by special service (commando) troops and a company of the East Lancashire Regiment, the garrison being taken by surprise."

Some Smart Seamanship

While the commandos were in action, troops, vehicles and stores streamed ashore "despite deteriorating weather conditions and great credit is due not only to naval personnel and troops but also to the high standard of seamanship of the officers and men of the merchant navy in troopships and supply ships."

The soldiers landed on the bay shore advanced to the east and by 8 p.m. had captured the town of Diego Suarez, on the north side of the harbor. The whole operation was aided and protected by aircraft from a carrier with the fleet.

During the day another force, including detachments of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, the Royal Scots Fusiliers, the East Lancashire Regiment and the South Lancashire Regiment was put ashore at Ambararata. Tanks were landed in support, and the troops moved eastward. They captured a Vichy officer who "consented to carry to the commander of the district (Maj.-Gen. Alfred Guillemet) a statement of our intentions and terms for surrender."

A Short Holdup

This force drove eastward across the south coast of Diego Suarez Bay to within five miles of Antsirana where it was held up for some hours by defence on high ground about five miles south of the town.

"An attack was launched shortly afterwards, but the position was not finally cleared until that evening," the communique said. Late at night the British forces had driven to within two miles of Antsirana, where they were in contact with a strongly-defended position.

All the next day, May 6, the British troops fought to reduce the defence forces in front of Antsirana, aided by bombardment by destroyers from the sea and by a diversion of Royal Marines landed on a quay in the town and in the rears of the defenders.

This landing, carried out by a destroyer which dashed into a narrow passage under gunfire, drew praise from the Admiralty and War Office.

"This surprise assault from the sea played an important part in securing surrender at Antsirana.

"The Marines were landed from on of our destroyers which had to negotiate minefields protecting Diego Suarez harbor, pass between shore batteries on either side of the narrow Oranjia Pass which leads into Diego Suarez harbor and is little more than a mile wide.

"The destroyer then had to lay herself alongside a quay of an unfamiliar port in darkness."

Heavy Vichy Cross Fire.

The fighting which developed throughout May 6 before Antsirana was the heaviest of the entire action. Reinforcements for the troops there were brought up during the day after the first attack was beaten off by heavy cross fire from well-situated Vichy 75's and machine guns.

"The final assault on Antsirana was carried out after dark that night," the communique said.

The attack began at 8 p.m., at about the same time the marines landed. Initial opposition was quickly overcome and a number of "pockets of British resistance which had been formed inside the enemy lines by rapid infiltration" were relieved. Rescue of these men resulted in "casualties far lighter than had at first been feared."

Surrender of the town followed during the night.

"On the following day the coast defence batteries and defensive positions on Oranjia Peninsula south of the entrance of Diego Suarez Harbor surrendered. That afternoon, May 7, ships of Admiral Syfret's force preceded by minesweepers entered Diego Suarez Harbor."

Of air support to the expedition, the communique said:

"Carrier-borne aircraft played a conspicuously-successful part in the opeartions. In the first instance they attacked the airdrome and the defence was thereby deprived of air power.

"During subsequent operations naval aircraft rendered valuable support and co-operation both to naval and military forces. Admiral Syfret has spoken highly of the way in which the naval aircraft responded to every call made upon them."

IN one respect, a Telephone System is like an iceberg—nine-tenths of it is unseen. Your telephone instrument is just one small part of an intricate mechanism of wires, cables, relays and central switching apparatus.

This unseen equipment may already be taxed to capacity in the service of existing subscribers in the area to which you have moved. And because the war has created a serious shortage of the materials used in telephone equipment, we are committed to the policy of increasing present civilian facilities only in cases of urgent need.

That is why it may be impossible to give you a telephone, even when an instrument is already in place. We realize that this wartime measure will work some hardships. But we also hope that it will lead to a neighborly sharing of telephone service in emergencies. We suggest too, that you make note of the public telephone near you — perhaps at the corner drug store — for use in case of need.

WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS

- BE SURE you have the right number, consult the directory.
- SPEAK DISTINCTLY, directly into the mouthpiece.
- ANSWER PROMPTLY when the bell rings.
- BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.
- USE OFF-PEAK hours for Long Distance calls: before 9.30 a.m., 1-2 p.m., 5-7 p.m., after 9 p.m.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

LONDON, May 19.—(CP).— Four Blackheath Harriers, together again for the first time since start of the war, face their longest and toughest run if they're to be home before the war ends. Sad to say, they are in a prison camp deep in the heart of Germany.

The four of the 250 Blackheath Harriers in the armed forces are Capt. J. H. Sewell and Lieuts. L. D. Lee, E. A. Gleeson and J. G. Lymbery. Originally they were in different camps after Lee was captured at Dunkirk, Sewell in Greece, Gleeson and Lumbery at Crete. Another Harrier, L-Bdr. S. D. Gitting, also is a prisoner but in a different camp. He works in a coal mine.

It's Not Cricket.

Sheep are grazing on the grounds of the Northamptonshire County Cricket Club. There's no gas to run the motorized mowers or for spectators to drive to see matches so maintenance of the ground largely has been abandoned until after the war.

It Is Cricket.

Fans will get a glimpse this season of two outstanding cricketers, Po. C. W. Walker and Sgt. R. G. Gregory, in England with the Royal Australian Air Force. Walker is the Sonuth Australia wicket keeper and Gregory, Victoria all-rounder who played in two test matches against England in 1937-37.

This fight nearly went to the dogs: During the Metropolitan police boxing championships in London a Chow jumped into the ring as the middleweight final was under way. It glared at the boxers—who forgot the fight and retreated. Then it made a hurried exit from a neutral corner amid a storm of applause.

T. Morris, 67, right halfback of the Tottenham Hotspur Club which won the Football Association Cup in the 1900-1901 season, died recently. From the end of the First Great War until the beginning of this one he was employed on the Tottenham stadium ground staff.

Miscellanea: The King's filly, Sun Chariot, unbeaten in four starts last season, made her debut as a three-year-old in the southern stakes at Salibury and did no better than a dead heat for third.... Symaethis, who finished fourth in the 1940 Grand National, has gone to stud....Capt. Hugh Sidebottom, the Newmarket trainer, is back in England after service in Gibraltar with an aircraft battery....1942 is the centenary year for two English cricket clubs, Bamstead and Roehampton. Roehampton will celebrate with matches against Thames Ditton and Twickenham, each club more than 100 years old.

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP)—A problem rating early settlement is that of Canadian war workers whose work weeks have been pushed to the maximum while opportunities for relaxation have been curtailed by rationing or peacetime laws.

Latest development is the report that Vancouver shipyard and aircraft workers will ask the oil controller to modify gasoline restrictions to allow them to spend their weekly holiday at their favored relaxation—fishing. To fish they need gasoline to operate rented boats, which are classed as non-commercial and allowed only enough for about two days of fishing in the entire season.

There is no support for an argument that modifications of gasoline restrictions should be made wholesale, but these war workers are in a special class, should be given special consideration.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money —(Advt.)

Gas, Tire Rations May Cripple OLA In Ontario

By HAL WALKER.

TORONTO, May 19. — Lacrosse, installed as Canada's national game by an Act of Parliament in the dim and distant past, is throwing its shadow toward the rapidly swelling list of sports which have become war casualties.

Perhaps it's not that serious, but Gene Dopp, whose devotion to the game the last forty years has been akin to that of fond parents and child, is worried about the future of the pastime of gallop, scramble, and scar 'em.

Ontario Is His "Baby."

Mr. Dopp's worries are Dominion-wide, in a sense because he is president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association. But actually he is not worried about the British Columbia League, already off to a flourishing start. The British Columbia circuit and Ontario Lacrosse Association are the only organizations where worthwhile senior lacrosse is played.

It's here in Ontario where his worries start and almost end. And it's the rationing of gasoline and tires which has created a problem and may force disbandment of some of the clubs already pledged to membership in the O.L.A. senior series.

Owen Sound, for instance, enthusiastically preparing to begin its first full season as a member of the select A group with such illustrious clubs as the Canadian champion St. Catharines Athletics, Mimico Mountaineers, Etobicoke Indians, Brampton Excelsiors, and Hamilton Tigers, is grasping at straws to retain its franchise.

How to Get There?

At the moment, with the season less than to weeks off, Owen Sound has the players, the enthusiasm, the backing, but, alas, no visible means of transportation. They are still trying to figure out some way to keep the game alive in the Georgian Bay district, and will likely bear reports to the O.L.A. emergency meeting scheduled for Wednesday night here at the Prince George Hotel.

The problem is how to transport players to such points as St. Catharines, Hamilton, Toronto and Mimico with a rationed allowance of gasoline. In turn, the other clubs have the same problem. It isn't a situation calculated to spread broad grins across the weatherbeaten physogs of the lacrosse men.

Wednesday's meeting, Mr. Dopp expects, will bring clarification, in some measure, of what clubs will operate in the senior group and how they'll operate. One story is that Mimico and Brampton will amalgamate for the season, alternating home games between the two centres.

"Lacrosse wants to co-operate with the Government," Secretary-Treasurer Dopp explained last night, "but we are in the dark as to how we can best do our part to help in the war effort."

It was suggested in one quarter that Saturday games might solve the problem, with the teams utilizing the railways for travel.

Could the clubs afford to travel by rail?

"That's just one more problem we have," sighed Mr. Dopp unhappily. "If a team gets away to a good start with good dates it could probably stand the tariff. But if attendances are down, well, the club, or clubs, probably would have to fold."

"Lacrosse," Mr. Dopp stoutly defended, pride in his utterance, "offers the best entertainment at the least cost to spectators. The clubs don't make a barrel of money, but everybody has a barrel of fun. For just a shade more than two bits you can see all the action you want." In keeping with the times, the lacrosse men instituted a price ceiling last year, deviating from this course only when the playoffs arrived.

"We had to boost prices a little to protect some of the clubs. Hamilton for instance, was $1,500 in the red until the playoffs. They didn't any more than get out—if they did get out" Mr. Dopp observed.

"I expect we'll know how we stand when we talk things over Wednesday night at our meeting," he concluded.

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—We can't see where the ban on night baseball will do any lasting damage to the Dodgers and the Giants, as long as they continue to draw those huge Sunday crowds, but if the minor league clubs along the east coast are affected it may really hurt . . . They already have been hit pretty hard by gas rationing and the tire shortage.

The City Softball League got away to a good start last night in spite of cool weather and the battle between the former Chesterfields, now the Adam Hat Royals and the Peterborough Hockey Club squad, playing under the name of Plaza Billiards, was interesting enough to warrant the prediction that there will be a lot of good ball played in the loop before the championship series rolls around. Royals won the opening engagement by virtue of a three-run splurge in the first frame. The two teams battled on even terms after that with the result that the Parnell outfit finally took the decision 5 to 2. The field was damp and slippery as a result of the recent showers but under the circumstances the teams played good ball defensively. In fact there were outstanding fielding plays by both outfits. Joe Blewett's running catch of Hec Chaput's hard drive to deep centre was outstanding and Russ Scriver ran a long way to gather in a short fly to right centre. Joe Jones ran over back of third to make a fine running catch of a popper and George Hawks dashed far into foul territory to absorb a short foul fly.

There were very few new faces in the lineups. In fact the only newcomer to the league seen in action last night was Bill Fraser, new Royal pitcher, who hails from the Queen City. Fraser went to the rescue in the fifth frame after the Plazas had plastered Ronnie Akers' delivery for two long doubles and he put the brakes on in good style. A single by Art Heal was the only safe blow he yielded for the balance of the game. Fraser has considerable speed and showed enough to indicate that he should be a help to Royals' powerful squad. Royals had a fast infield, with Smith at first, Giardino at second, McNabb at short and Hawks at third and that inner guard is capable of a lot of fast defensive work.

* * * * * *

As for Plazas the lineup looked like a reunion of Peterborough Senior B champions of the past winter. Jim Ellis, Art Heal, Don Crowe, Eddie Starr, Joe Blewett, Johnny Godfrey and Bun Kingdon all got into the ball game and Johnny Johnston was also on hand. The rest of the Plaza team was made up of last year's Hastings players Curley Scriver, Joe Jones, Julian Wade and Dave Wilson. The hockey gang showed enough to justify the prediction that they will provide plenty of opposition for all and sundry when they round into shape. In addition to Wilson they have Tom Parsons and young Bob Crowe for their gunnery department. Tomorrow night two more City League teams will make their bow with the 1942 edition of the Military Training Centre stacked up against the juvenile O.A.S.A. squad. Outside of the three former City Leaguers who are at the camp the Soldiers' lineup is a mystery but they should bob up with a formidable squad. The Soldiers come right back on Friday against the Plazas.

Indians Close Gap

Cleveland Indians closed the gap between the Yanks and themselves by half a game yesterday by winning over the Philadelphia A's while the McCarthyites were idle. As a result the two outfits are very close to being on even terms. The Indians have won one game more than the Yanks and the latter have lost one less which puts the world champs in the lead by a few percentage points. Cleveland triumphed over the A's 7 to 4, outhitting Connie Mack's men 14 to 6. Chubby Dean, former Athletic pitcher stopped his old teammates in good style although Heving had to finish the game while the Indians took kindly to the offerings of Besse and Caliguri. Boston Red Sox came through with a 4 to 2 win over the Detroit Tigers with Jimmy Foxx hitting a homer for the winners and Rudy York powdering one for the Bengals. Charley Wagner was the winning pitcher and he held Detroit to seven hits while the Red Sox were collecting eleven off the delivery of Hal White, former Bison.

* * * * * *

Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox started rookie pitchers yesterday and the latter got the best results for Oral Grove, up from Shreveport, pitching steady ball, got the decision over Hardin Cathey and Zuber who did the Washington pitching. Wallie Moses helped out with a home run for the Pale Hose. Meanwhile in the National loop the Brooklyn Dodgers kept rolling along with a 4 to 1 win over the Cubs with Johnny Allen holding the Chicago club to five hits. Jake Mooty started and Bithorne finished for the Cubs and the former was chalked up with the loss. In the other National League game of the afternoon the St. Louis Cards gave the New York Giants a 16 to 4 pasting, giving Dave Koslo a warm reception. The left-hander failed to finish the game. Warneke and Lanier pitched for St. Louis with the win going to the latter. Johnny Mize hit a homer for the Giants.

The Belleville Setup

Belleville Softball League has a six-club setup Ken Colling reports in the following summary of the situation in the Quinte burg: "President Harry Knott's local softball loop bit off quite a hunk last night when the league voted to invite the annual meeting of the O.A.S.A. of 1943 to be held in Belleville. Such a venture runs into considerable cash and will need the whole-hearted support of the citizens at large and softball in particular to see a successful conclusion. After all if a town the size of Simcoe can finance a provincial softball conclave, well Belleville shouldn't be astern. The local softball didn't accept nor reject the Trenton affiliation, but will await a move from the softball moguls in Harry Moore's town. Gasoline and rubber restrictions stymied the local clubs. It was with regret the league was forced to accept the withdrawal of the champion Point Anne "Cementmen" but Prexy Knott didn't let the game grow dormant at Ox Point, as he named G. D. "Bubby" Gaulin to the league executive. At the last moment the Bristol Aircraft entered giving the league a six-teamed setup. Victoria Day will see the loop push off with afternoon and evening games. Harold Bawden was named as umpire-in-chief and to start his worries the "chief arbiter" is already looking for umpiring material. (Tip off—the prices for umps, have been upped)."

* * * * * *

Just how badly the transportation problem is going to cut into amateur hockey activities next winter is shown by the difficulties Ontario Lacrosse Association is facing in trying to keep a senior series alive. There are plenty of players available and plenty of enthusiasm but the task of trying to make the jumps that are inevitable in a senior group looks like a pain in the neck for everybody. Buses are out and now that taxis are forbidden to take on trips more than fifteen miles from their home cities, teams can no longer depend upon them. They will either have to travel by train or be lucky enough to find sufficient car owners who will volunteer to transport them. There is not likely to be many such fans left by next winter to help the hockey teams out. Tires will be that much closer to being out by then and there is no indication that the gas situation will be any better. A group such as the Petes had this last season is obviously an impossibility for next winter unless there is a sudden change in conditions.

Baseball Banter Around The Loops

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)— The year's best pitching comeback is that of Big Bill Lee of Chicago Cubs, who has won five and lost one. . . . In the entire 1941 season he won only eight and lost 14. . . . The husky righthander, who is becoming accustomed to his spectacles, has allowed 10 earned runs in 52 innings, an average of 1.72 a game. . . . Lee's former teammate, Lefty Larry French of Brooklyn Dodgers, also is doing pretty fair with a 3-0 record and no earned runs in his last 22 innings.

The fellows who said down south that the Cardinals were short of punch and missed Johnny Mize seem to have had the right dope; the Redbirds have been shut out five times, which is more than any other club in either league. . . . They also have lost nine games by one run. . . . Biggest surprise of the early-season figures is Boston Braves leading both leagues in home runs. . . . Pittsburgh Pirates, who looked so woeful on the defence last season, now are leading the Nationl League in fielding; the Braves are second in hitting, fielding and the standings.

Jake Early, the Washington catcher, is having contact lenses made and soon will be the only major league catcher wearing glasses . . . When the Braves were in Pittsburgh recently the gatekeeper refused to let Tiny Jimmy Wallace through the players' gate till Manager Casey Stengel came to his rescue . . . So the rookie from Hartford beat the Pirates . . . A photographer, taking pictures of the world champion Yankees at their hotel in St. Petersburg during spring training, once waved Phil Rizzuto aside with the comment, "Sorry, Bud, I only want the ball players in this one."

Buck Newsom felt so playful the other day as he came into the Senators' dugout he gave a hearty slap on the shoulder to Outfielder George Case . . . It happened Case was sitting on the dugout steps because his shoulder was injured and Bobo's friendly belt hurt the shoulder over again.

Softball Schedule

The following schedule for the Men's Softball League is drawn up for only the next two weeks due to the fact that Riverside Park is not ready and the men's league have to use the Bowl. The remaining games of the schedule will be published when Riverside Park is ready for use:

May 20—Soldiers vs Juveniles
May 22—Plazas vs Soldiers
May 27—Royals vs Juveniles
May 29—De Laval vs Plazas

Three-Run Lead In 1st Inning Held Throughout

Pushing three runs over the home plate in the first innings Manager Roy Parnell's Adam Hat Royals managed to nurse that early lead throughout the game and grab off the City League opening fixture from Plaza Billiards at the Ashburnham Bowl Monday night by a score of 5 to 2.

Royals big first frame came after the Plazas had tossed away a similar opportunity in the opening half of the inning when they filled the bases with one out and failed to score.

Cold weather kept the crowd down but there as a fair sum realized for the British War Victims Fund, in behalf of which the initial battle was staged.

Ald. J. E. Sullivan, Ald. R. M. Glover and Dave Leether took part in the opening ceremonies Ald. Sullivan did the pitching, Ald. Glover swung the bat and the O.A.S.A. representative did the catching. Ald. Glover rolled one to the infield to start the game going.

Manager Parnell selected Ronnie Akers of his last year's Chesterfield staff as his starting pitcher and although the hockey squad managed to break through his delivery for eight hits he kept the score down during the four and a third innings he worked. After Joe Blewett and Jim Ellis had hit successive doubles over the cars in left in the fifth frame Akers was taken out in favor of Bill Fraser and the Toronto pitcher, showing a lot of speed, got by nicely for the rest of the game, holding Plazas to one hit in the three and one-third innings he worked.

Big Dave Wilson of last year's Hastings squad went the route for the losers and outside a little wildness he made a good job of it keeping the Royals' hits fairly well distributed.

In spite of the fact that the teams are not in shape and that the field was very slippery because of recent rains both teams turned in some smart fielding. Earl McNabb and Maurice Giardino at short and second for the winners handled a flock of chances smartly.

Blewett and Russ Scriver starred with running catches in the outfield and George Hawks and Joe Jones ran over behind third to make circus catches of foul flys.

Plazas threw away a good chance in the first inning. Heal singled through short but was forced by Bun Kingdon. Julian Wade dropped a single into right and Joe Blewett got a single on a roller to Hawks on which no play was made. Ellis however hit to McNabb who tossed Kingdon out at the plate and then the shortstop came up with Scriver's roller and threw him out.

In their half the Royals grabbed off three. McNabb walked and Hawks singled to right. Smith moved the pair up with a sacrifice and Mowry walked, filling the bases. Giardino's single to centre scored McNabb and Hawks but the batter was out trying to go to second on the play. Pryde doubled to left to score Mowry with the third run of the inning.

Royals added another in the second to make it 4 to 0. With one out Akers scratched a double on a pop fly into short right. McNabb walked. Hawks flied to Blewett and when McNabb was caught between first and second after the catch, Akers ran home when McNabb finally beat the rundown as Ellis dropped the ball.

The hockey squad got one back in the third. Kingdon opened with a long fly to right that drove Scriver down the embankment in trying to grab it and the batter reached third. Wade whaled a mighty double to left centre to send the counter across.

Royals got their last run in the fourth. Scriver was safe when Kingdon dropped his line drive to right centre, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Hawks' blazing single through short.

With one gone in the fifth Joe Blewett and Jim Ellis smacked long doubles to left to send the second Plaza run across and Akers out of the ball game. Fraser took over and stopped the losers for the balance of the game.

George Street juveniles did not have much trouble winning over St. John's in a Church League game last night. The United Church team grabbed off seven runs in the first inning and the game was about over right there. The best the Saints could do was to pick up three single runs and George Street scoring in every inning won out by 22 to 3.

LONDON, May 19.—(CP).— Four Blackheath Harriers, together again for the first time since start of the war, face their longest and toughest run if they're to be home before the war ends. Sad to say, they are in a prison camp deep in the heart of Germany.

The four of the 250 Blackheath Harriers in the armed forces are Capt. J. H. Sewell and Lieuts. L. D. Lee, E. A. Gleeson and J. G. Lymbery. Originally they were in different camps after Lee was captured at Dunkirk, Sewell in Greece, Gleeson and Lumbery at Crete. Another Harrier, L-Bdr. S. D. Gitting, also is a prisoner but in a different camp. He works in a coal mine.

It's Not Cricket.

Sheep are grazing on the grounds of the Northamptonshire County Cricket Club. There's no gas to run the motorized mowers or for spectators to drive to see matches so maintenance of the ground largely has been abandoned until after the war.

It Is Cricket.

Fans will get a glimpse this season of two outstanding cricketers, Po. C. W. Walker and Sgt. R. G. Gregory, in England with the Royal Australian Air Force. Walker is the Sonuth Australia wicket keeper and Gregory, Victoria all-rounder who played in two test matches against England in 1937-37.

This fight nearly went to the dogs: During the Metropolitan police boxing championships in London a Chow jumped into the ring as the middleweight final was under way. It glared at the boxers—who forgot the fight and retreated. Then it made a hurried exit from a neutral corner amid a storm of applause.

T. Morris, 67, right halfback of the Tottenham Hotspur Club which won the Football Association Cup in the 1900-1901 season, died recently. From the end of the First Great War until the beginning of this one he was employed on the Tottenham stadium ground staff.

Miscellanea: The King's filly, Sun Chariot, unbeaten in four starts last season, made her debut as a three-year-old in the southern stakes at Salibury and did no better than a dead heat for third.... Symaethis, who finished fourth in the 1940 Grand National, has gone to stud....Capt. Hugh Sidebottom, the Newmarket trainer, is back in England after service in Gibraltar with an aircraft battery....1942 is the centenary year for two English cricket clubs, Bamstead and Roehampton. Roehampton will celebrate with matches against Thames Ditton and Twickenham, each club more than 100 years old.

QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money —(Advt.)

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP)—A problem rating early settlement is that of Canadian war workers whose work weeks have been pushed to the maximum while opportunities for relaxation have been curtailed by rationing or peacetime laws.

Latest development is the report that Vancouver shipyard and aircraft workers will ask the oil controller to modify gasoline restrictions to allow them to spend their weekly holiday at their favored relaxation—fishing. To fish they need gasoline to operate rented boats, which are classed as non-commercial and allowed only enough for about two days of fishing in the entire season.

There is no support for an argument that modifications of gasoline restrictions should be made wholesale, but these war workers are in a special class, should be given special consideration.

Gas, Tire Rations May Cripple OLA In Ontario

By HAL WALKER.

TORONTO, May 19. — Lacrosse, installed as Canada's national game by an Act of Parliament in the dim and distant past, is throwing its shadow toward the rapidly swelling list of sports which have become war casualties.

Perhaps it's not that serious, but Gene Dopp, whose devotion to the game the last forty years has been akin to that of fond parents and child, is worried about the future of the pastime of gallop, scramble, and scar 'em.

Ontario Is His "Baby."

Mr. Dopp's worries are Dominion-wide, in a sense because he is president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association. But actually he is not worried about the British Columbia League, already off to a flourishing start. The British Columbia circuit and Ontario Lacrosse Association are the only organizations where worthwhile senior lacrosse is played.

It's here in Ontario where his worries start and almost end. And it's the rationing of gasoline and tires which has created a problem and may force disbandment of some of the clubs already pledged to membership in the O.L.A. senior series.

Owen Sound, for instance, enthusiastically preparing to begin its first full season as a member of the select A group with such illustrious clubs as the Canadian champion St. Catharines Athletics, Mimico Mountaineers, Etobicoke Indians, Brampton Excelsiors, and Hamilton Tigers, is grasping at straws to retain its franchise.

How to Get There?

At the moment, with the season less than to weeks off, Owen Sound has the players, the enthusiasm, the backing, but, alas, no visible means of transportation. They are still trying to figure out some way to keep the game alive in the Georgian Bay district, and will likely bear reports to the O.L.A. emergency meeting scheduled for Wednesday night here at the Prince George Hotel.

The problem is how to transport players to such points as St. Catharines, Hamilton, Toronto and Mimico with a rationed allowance of gasoline. In turn, the other clubs have the same problem. It isn't a situation calculated to spread broad grins across the weatherbeaten physogs of the lacrosse men.

Wednesday's meeting, Mr. Dopp expects, will bring clarification, in some measure, of what clubs will operate in the senior group and how they'll operate. One story is that Mimico and Brampton will amalgamate for the season, alternating home games between the two centres.

"Lacrosse wants to co-operate with the Government," Secretary-Treasurer Dopp explained last night, "but we are in the dark as to how we can best do our part to help in the war effort."

It was suggested in one quarter that Saturday games might solve the problem, with the teams utilizing the railways for travel.

Could the clubs afford to travel by rail?

"That's just one more problem we have," sighed Mr. Dopp unhappily. "If a team gets away to a good start with good dates it could probably stand the tariff. But if attendances are down, well, the club, or clubs, probably would have to fold."

"Lacrosse," Mr. Dopp stoutly defended, pride in his utterance, "offers the best entertainment at the least cost to spectators. The clubs don't make a barrel of money, but everybody has a barrel of fun. For just a shade more than two bits you can see all the action you want." In keeping with the times, the lacrosse men instituted a price ceiling last year, deviating from this course only when the playoffs arrived.

"We had to boost prices a little to protect some of the clubs. Hamilton for instance, was $1,500 in the red until the playoffs. They didn't any more than get out—if they did get out" Mr. Dopp observed.

"I expect we'll know how we stand when we talk things over Wednesday night at our meeting," he concluded.

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—We can't see where the ban on night baseball will do any lasting damage to the Dodgers and the Giants, as long as they continue to draw those huge Sunday crowds, but if the minor league clubs along the east coast are affected it may really hurt . . . They already have been hit pretty hard by gas rationing and the tire shortage.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The City Softball League got away to a good start last night in spite of cool weather and the battle between the former Chesterfields, now the Adam Hat Royals and the Peterborough Hockey Club squad, playing under the name of Plaza Billiards, was interesting enough to warrant the prediction that there will be a lot of good ball played in the loop before the championship series rolls around. Royals won the opening engagement by virtue of a three-run splurge in the first frame. The two teams battled on even terms after that with the result that the Parnell outfit finally took the decision 5 to 2. The field was damp and slippery as a result of the recent showers but under the circumstances the teams played good ball defensively. In fact there were outstanding fielding plays by both outfits. Joe Blewett's running catch of Hec Chaput's hard drive to deep centre was outstanding and Russ Scriver ran a long way to gather in a short fly to right centre. Joe Jones ran over back of third to make a fine running catch of a popper and George Hawks dashed far into foul territory to absorb a short foul fly.

* * * * * *

There were very few new faces in the lineups. In fact the only newcomer to the league seen in action last night was Bill Fraser, new Royal pitcher, who hails from the Queen City. Fraser went to the rescue in the fifth frame after the Plazas had plastered Ronnie Akers' delivery for two long doubles and he put the brakes on in good style. A single by Art Heal was the only safe blow he yielded for the balance of the game. Fraser has considerable speed and showed enough to indicate that he should be a help to Royals' powerful squad. Royals had a fast infield, with Smith at first, Giardino at second, McNabb at short and Hawks at third and that inner guard is capable of a lot of fast defensive work.

* * * * * *

As for Plazas the lineup looked like a reunion of Peterborough Senior B champions of the past winter. Jim Ellis, Art Heal, Don Crowe, Eddie Starr, Joe Blewett, Johnny Godfrey and Bun Kingdon all got into the ball game and Johnny Johnston was also on hand. The rest of the Plaza team was made up of last year's Hastings players Curley Scriver, Joe Jones, Julian Wade and Dave Wilson. The hockey gang showed enough to justify the prediction that they will provide plenty of opposition for all and sundry when they round into shape. In addition to Wilson they have Tom Parsons and young Bob Crowe for their gunnery department. Tomorrow night two more City League teams will make their bow with the 1942 edition of the Military Training Centre stacked up against the juvenile O.A.S.A. squad. Outside of the three former City Leaguers who are at the camp the Soldiers' lineup is a mystery but they should bob up with a formidable squad. The Soldiers come right back on Friday against the Plazas.

Indians Close Gap

Cleveland Indians closed the gap between the Yanks and themselves by half a game yesterday by winning over the Philadelphia A's while the McCarthyites were idle. As a result the two outfits are very close to being on even terms. The Indians have won one game more than the Yanks and the latter have lost one less which puts the world champs in the lead by a few percentage points. Cleveland triumphed over the A's 7 to 4, outhitting Connie Mack's men 14 to 6. Chubby Dean, former Athletic pitcher stopped his old teammates in good style although Heving had to finish the game while the Indians took kindly to the offerings of Besse and Caliguri. Boston Red Sox came through with a 4 to 2 win over the Detroit Tigers with Jimmy Foxx hitting a homer for the winners and Rudy York powdering one for the Bengals. Charley Wagner was the winning pitcher and he held Detroit to seven hits while the Red Sox were collecting eleven off the delivery of Hal White, former Bison.

* * * * * *

Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox started rookie pitchers yesterday and the latter got the best results for Oral Grove, up from Shreveport, pitching steady ball, got the decision over Hardin Cathey and Zuber who did the Washington pitching. Wallie Moses helped out with a home run for the Pale Hose. Meanwhile in the National loop the Brooklyn Dodgers kept rolling along with a 4 to 1 win over the Cubs with Johnny Allen holding the Chicago club to five hits. Jake Mooty started and Bithorne finished for the Cubs and the former was chalked up with the loss. In the other National League game of the afternoon the St. Louis Cards gave the New York Giants a 16 to 4 pasting, giving Dave Koslo a warm reception. The left-hander failed to finish the game. Warneke and Lanier pitched for St. Louis with the win going to the latter. Johnny Mize hit a homer for the Giants.

The Belleville Setup

Belleville Softball League has a six-club setup Ken Colling reports in the following summary of the situation in the Quinte burg: "President Harry Knott's local softball loop bit off quite a hunk last night when the league voted to invite the annual meeting of the O.A.S.A. of 1943 to be held in Belleville. Such a venture runs into considerable cash and will need the whole-hearted support of the citizens at large and softball in particular to see a successful conclusion. After all if a town the size of Simcoe can finance a provincial softball conclave, well Belleville shouldn't be astern. The local softball didn't accept nor reject the Trenton affiliation, but will await a move from the softball moguls in Harry Moore's town. Gasoline and rubber restrictions stymied the local clubs. It was with regret the league was forced to accept the withdrawal of the champion Point Anne "Cementmen" but Prexy Knott didn't let the game grow dormant at Ox Point, as he named G. D. "Bubby" Gaulin to the league executive. At the last moment the Bristol Aircraft entered giving the league a six-teamed setup. Victoria Day will see the loop push off with afternoon and evening games. Harold Bawden was named as umpire-in-chief and to start his worries the "chief arbiter" is already looking for umpiring material. (Tip off—the prices for umps, have been upped)."

* * * * * *

Just how badly the transportation problem is going to cut into amateur hockey activities next winter is shown by the difficulties Ontario Lacrosse Association is facing in trying to keep a senior series alive. There are plenty of players available and plenty of enthusiasm but the task of trying to make the jumps that are inevitable in a senior group looks like a pain in the neck for everybody. Buses are out and now that taxis are forbidden to take on trips more than fifteen miles from their home cities, teams can no longer depend upon them. They will either have to travel by train or be lucky enough to find sufficient car owners who will volunteer to transport them. There is not likely to be many such fans left by next winter to help the hockey teams out. Tires will be that much closer to being out by then and there is no indication that the gas situation will be any better. A group such as the Petes had this last season is obviously an impossibility for next winter unless there is a sudden change in conditions.

Baseball Banter Around The Loops

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—The year's best pitching comeback is that of Big Bill Lee of Chicago Cubs, who has won five and lost one. . . . In the entire 1941 season he won only eight and lost 14. . . . The husky righthander, who is becoming accustomed to his spectacles, has allowed 10 earned runs in 52 innings, an average of 1.72 a game. . . . Lee's former teammate, Lefty Larry French of Brooklyn Dodgers, also is doing pretty fair with a 3-0 record and no earned runs in his last 22 innings.

The fellows who said down south that the Cardinals were short of punch and missed Johnny Mize seem to have had the right dope; the Redbirds have been shut out five times, which is more than any other club in either league. . . . They also have lost nine games by one run. . . . Biggest surprise of the early-season figures is Boston Braves leading both leagues in home runs. . . . Pittsburgh Pirates, who looked so woeful on the defence last season, now are leading the Naticanl League in fielding; the Braves are second in hitting, fielding and the standings.

Jake Early, the Washington catcher, is having contact lenses made and soon will be the only major league catcher wearing glasses . . . When the Braves were in Pittsburgh recently the gatekeeper refused to let Tiny Jimmy Wallace through the players' gate till Manager Casey Stengel came to his rescue . . . So the rookie from Hartford beat the Pirates . . . A photographer, taking pictures of the world champion Yankees at their hotel in St. Petersburg during spring training, once waved Phil Rizzuto aside with the comment, "Sorry, Bud, I only want the ball players in this one."

Buck Newsom felt so playful the other day as he came into the Senators' dugout he gave a hearty slap on the shoulder to Outfielder George Case . . . It happened Case was sitting on the dugout steps because his shoulder was injured and Bobo's friendly belt hurt the shoulder over again.

Softball Schedule

The following schedule for the Men's Softball League is drawn up for only the next two weeks due to the fact that Riverside Park is not ready and the men's league have to use the Bowl. The remaining games of the schedule will be published when Riverside Park is ready for use:

May 20—Soldiers vs Juveniles
May 22—Plazas vs Soldiers
May 27—Royals vs Juveniles
May 29—De Laval vs Plazas

Three-Run Lead In 1st Inning Held Throughout

Pushing three runs over the home plate in the first innings Manager Roy Parnell's Adam Hat Royals managed to nurse that early lead throughout the game and grab off the City League opening fixture from Plaza Billiards at the Ashburnham Bowl Monday night by a score of 5 to 2.

Royals big first frame came after the Plazas had tossed away a similar opportunity in the opening half of the inning when they filled the bases with one out and failed to score.

Cold weather kept the crowd down but there as a fair sum realized for the British War Victims Fund, in behalf of which the initial battle was staged.

Ald. J. E. Sullivan, Ald. R. M. Glover and Dave Leether took part in the opening ceremonies Ald. Sullivan did the pitching, Ald. Glover swung the bat and the O.A.S.A. representative did the catching. Ald. Glover rolled one to the infield to start the game going.

Manager Parnell selected Ronnie Akers of his last year's Chesterfield staff as his starting pitcher and although the hockey squad managed to break through his delivery for eight hits he kept the score down during the four and a third innings he worked. After Joe Blewett and Jim Ellis had hit successive doubles over the cars in left in the fifth frame Akers was taken out in favor of Bill Fraser and the Toronto pitcher, showing a lot of speed, got by nicely for the rest of the game, holding Plazas to one hit in the three and one-third innings he worked.

Big Dave Wilson of last year's Hastings squad went the route for the losers and outside a little wildness he made a good job of it keeping the Royals' hits fairly well distributed.

In spite of the fact that the teams are not in shape and that the field was very slippery because of recent rains both teams turned in some smart fielding. Earl McNabb and Maurice Giardino at short and second for the winners handled a flock of chances smartly.

Blewett and Russ Scriver starred with running catches in the outfield and George Hawks and Joe Jones ran over behind third to make circus catches of foul flys.

Plazas threw away a good chance in the first inning. Heal singled through short but was forced by Bun Kingdon. Julian Wade dropped a single into right and Joe Blewett got a single on a roller to Hawks on which no play was made. Ellis however hit to McNabb who tossed Kingdon out at the plate and then the shortstop came up with Scriver's roller and threw him out.

In their half the Royals grabbed off three. McNabb walked and Hawks singled to right. Smith moved the pair up with a sacrifice and Mowry walked, filling the bases. Giardino's single to centre scored McNabb and Hawks but the batter was out trying to go to second on the play. Pryde doubled to left to score Mowry with the third run of the inning.

Royals added another in the second to make it 4 to 0. With one out Akers scratched a double on a pop fly into short right. McNabb walked. Hawks flied to Blewett and when McNabb was caught between first and second after the catch, Akers ran home when McNabb finally beat the rundown as Ellis dropped the ball.

The hockey squad got one back in the third. Kingdon opened with a long fly to right that drove Scriver down the embankment in trying to grab it and the batter reached third. Wade whaled a mighty double to left centre to send the counter across.

Royals got their last run in the fourth. Scriver was safe when Kingdon dropped his line drive to right centre, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Hawks' blazing single through short.

With one gone in the fifth Joe Blewett and Jim Ellis smacked long doubles to left to send the second Plaza run across and Akers out of the ball game. Fraser took over and stopped the losers for the balance of the game.

INDIANS FOR PENNANT SAYS MACK AS TRIBE WAYLAYS A's 7 TO 4

White Sox Whip Senators 7-5 For 7th Straight

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Old Connie Mack spoke at a dinner in Cleveland last night and, nice fellow that he is, said the Indians are definite pennant contenders in the American League.

Mr. McGillicuddy may have been speaking either from his heart or from his extraordinary fund of baseball wisdom, but in either case the timing of his remarks was faultless because the Tribe has crept into a virtual tie with New York Yankees for first place in the American League.

There is no question that 24-year-old Lou Boudreau has accomplished amazing things at Cleveland. The Tribe won 13 in a row at the end of April and when it went into a tailspin and lost half-a-dozen straight, he jolted it back to an upward plane that has brought seven triumphs in the last eight games.

Yesterday the Indians waylaid the Philadelphia Athletics with six-hit pitching by Chubby Dean and Joe Heving and a 14-hit attack led by Ken Kelner and Oris Hockett. The result was a 7-4 victory that boosted the Tribe within 13 percentage points of the Yanks. Actually the two clubs are even in games-won-and-lost reckoning, but the Tribe has played two more than New York.

Philadelphia's defeat at Cleveland plunged the A's into the American League basement as Chicago White Sox captured their seventh straight victory 7-5 at the expense of Washington Senators. Wally Moses was the big gun in Chicago's attack and won the game with a three-run homer in the ninth inning after driving in two tallies earlier in the affair.

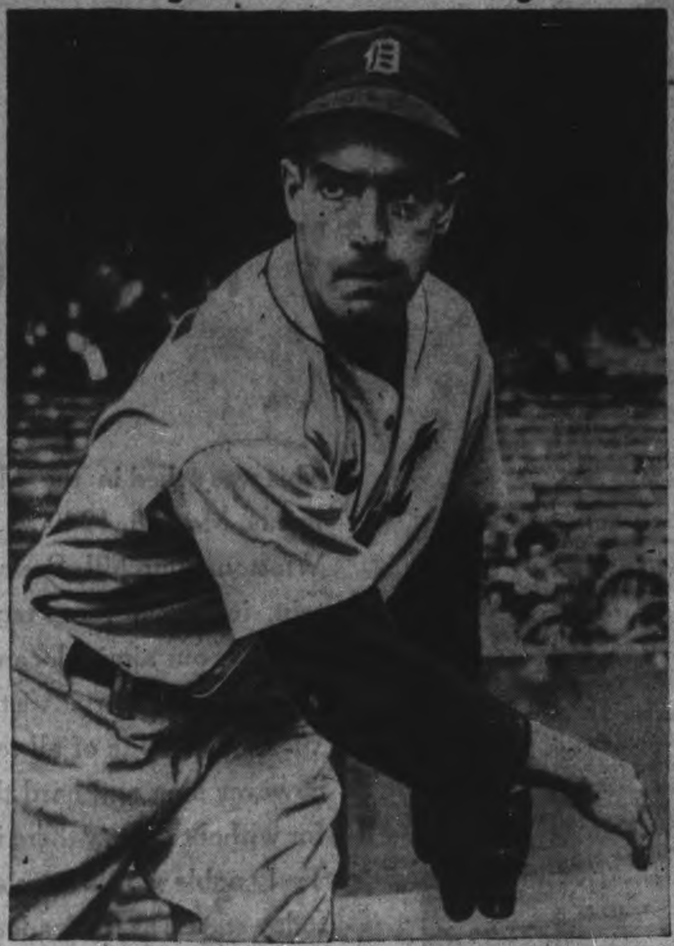
The surge of the Sox raised them to a tie with Washington Senators for sixth place as John Rigney, Chicago's pitching mainstay, passed from civilian life into the ranks of the Navy at the Great Lakes Training Station.

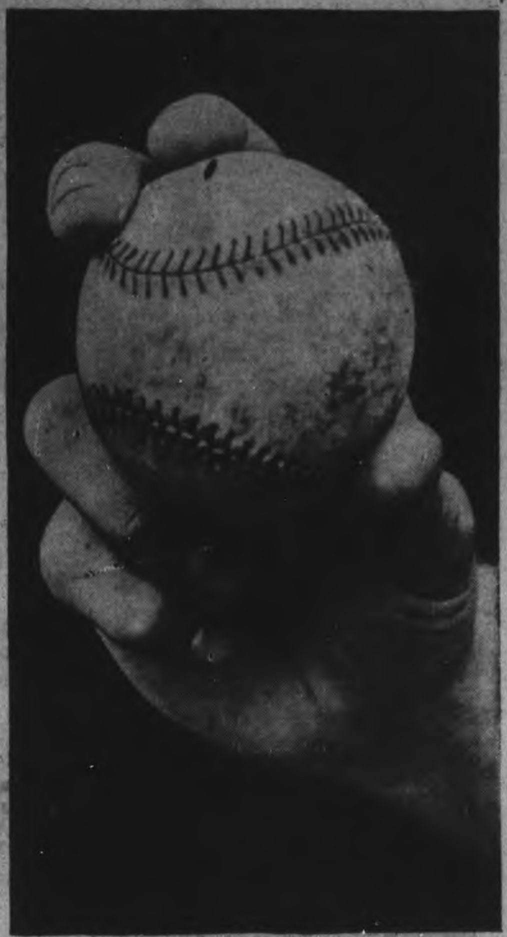
In the day's other American League tussle Boston Red Sox downed Detroit Tigers 4-2 with Jimmy Foxx providing the winning margin on a two-run homer in the sixth inning. Double X and single X Pete Fox returned to the lineup yesterday in a shakeup and single X also knocked in a run. Broadway Charley Wagner pitched seven-hit ball for Boston and the only runs against him were driven in by Rudy York, one of them his ninth homer.

Brooklyn Dodgers continued to burn up the National League running their latest winning streak to seven games and increasing their first-place margin also to seven, by smothering Chicago Cubs 4-1. The veteran Johnny Allen pitched five-hit ball and had a shutout until Clyde McCullough homered after two were out in the ninth.

St. Louis Cardinals shook off their scoring lethargy with a 16-4 triumph over New York Giants. The only important gesture of defiance from the Giants was a two-run homer by Johnny Mize in the first frame.

White Proving Success For Detroit Tigers





Evidently the Bisons of the International League, which club is connected with the Detroit Tigers of the American League, have done better by the parent organization than they have been done by, to date. In any event the major outfit hugely by the prowess of several ex-Buffalonians so far this season, particularly Fuchs and Hal White, shown ABOVE. In pro ball for five years White won 16 games for the Herd last season and has been a frequent winner for the Bengals already this year. On LEFT, in photo, White is shown warming up; on RIGHT, he displays his grip for delivery.

Wild 8th Stanza Gives Royals 5-2 Win On Leafs

By The Associated Press

Newark has its first—and perhaps its last—after-dark baseball game of the season tonight.

Although the army, through New York police officials, has banned night baseball for the duration in the Manhattan area, Newark got Mayor Vincent J. Murphy's approval for tonight's battle with Jersey City.

Murphy has a meeting scheduled with army officials on Wednesday and it is likely that the fate of night baseball in the two Jersey parks may be determined at that time.

The Newark park is located some distance from the shoreline while the Jersey City stadium is situated in a depression. One night contest already has been held there this spring and the reflection could be seen only a short distance from shore.

Newark was idle yesterday as its two closest rivals, Montreal and Buffalo, slashed into the Bears' huge lead.

Montreal lopped off a half-game by downing Toronto 5-2. Buffalo, still in high gear, subdued Rochester 7-2 for its 10th verdict in 11 games. The game went only six innings because of the weather.

The Bisons and Red Wings, playing at Buffalo, were battling along on an even keel until rookie Eddie Kobesky slapped his eighth home run of the season in the fourth inning with a mate on base. The winners counted three times in that frame, twice in the next and once in the sixth.

Lanky Johnny Gee held Montreal in check for seven innings and held a 2-1 edge going into the eighth. The Royals, however, manufactured four runs in the stanza, aided by a pair of wild pitches.

Joe's Big Bouts Over, Army About To Decide

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—The army has grown extremely cool toward the idea of Joe Louis defending his heavyweight championship this summer.

In all probability, Private Joe has done his last serious ring fighting until after the war ends. The generals who decide such things have not yet given Promoter Mike Jacobs the bad news, but he received a broad hint when he was here the other day asking around.

The army feels, frankly, that it is time for Louis and all the lesser prizefighters in the armed forces to settle down to their soldiering. There is a war on, it was pointed out by a number of high-ranking officers, and there has been no indication that the country's morale would be keened-up by a heavyweight fight.

Louis, they feel, would best utilize his great talent by giving exhibitions in training camps over the country, and in between such bouts diligently continuing his training for the battlefield. Joe, infact, already has been assigned to special services to make him more readily available for exhibition bouts.

Painful to Mike.

The army's frosty attitude is painful to Promoter Jacobs, particularly so since Mike was under the original impression that he and the armed forces had reached a mutual friendship pact during last winter that would make Louis available for a big outdoor fight this summer.

There was the Louis-Buddy Baer engagement at Madison Square Garden, of which the net receipts went to navy relief. Neither Jacobs nor Louis drew down an official nickel from that one, but Mike wrote off $17,000 for expenses, according to a post-bout statement. Then, in March, Joe knocked out Abe Simon in the same ring for the benefit of the Army Emergency Relief Fund. That was supposed to have been the clincher.

However, Promoter Jacobs, as he seeks now to match Louis against Bob Pastor in a big, climatic fight for the benefit of everybody — including Louis, Pastor, the Army Emergency Fund and Promoter Jacobs—apparently is about to discover that his "understanding" with the armed forces was only a beautiful dream.

Mike, after his most recent interview with some of the near-top men here, in which he tried unsuccessfully to get a decision one way or the other, left in a proper temper. The Army remained cool.

To Pay Income Tax?

Mike told them a Louis-Pastor outdoor show would draw in the neighborhood of $600,000, of which he believed he could guarantee the Emergency Relief Fund about $150,000. He observed, too, that Private Louis needed the fight to meet his income-tax obligations. The army replied, in effect, that it was an extraordinary situation that required a soldier to receive a furlough so he could make money to pay his income tax.

A decision will be forthcoming soon, and a poll of responsible quarters indicated the odds would be about 5 to 1 against Louis fighting this summer.

King's Plate Trio Getting Test OverRouteToday

TORONTO, May 19. — (CP) — Three King's Plate entrants are scheduled to be worked today over the full mile and one-eighth distance and a good showing by any of the quartet might supply racing fans with the answer to the "who's going to beat Ten to Ace?"

Most favored horse in the workouts will be Mrs. R. E. Webster's Bill's Gift which turned in fine tryouts at Woodbine race track Friday and another yesterday. A good trial today by the "Gift" should rank him alongside Harry Giddings' Hopeful in the $8,000-added event.

Mrs. Webster's entry breezed through a three-eighths mile yesterday in 40 seconds and showed no inclination unlike the Tenner, of coming down with asthma at the three-quarterpole.

Trackmen noted that the Giddings horse worked out Saturday with bar plates—usually an indication of looming hoof trouble—and he's yet to show he can take the full plate distance.

The other entrants to undergo trials are the Medway Stables pair, Depressor and Khortoi, and Bob Cowie's Muckle.

Muckle, said to be in fine form and highly fancied by some, has been moved from the Thorncliffe course to Woodbine for schooling from the gate there.

The race, limited to three-year-old thoroughbreds foaled in Ontario which have not won a race this year, will have a field of between nine and 12 horses.

Kerch," the Soviet Information Bureau said.

Use Tanks Without Support.

Soviet dispatches from the sickle-shaped Kharkov front said Nazi tanks, seeking to protect that German-held steel and rail centre 400 miles south of Moscow, counter-attacked without infantry support. Riflemen previously had been hauled up in tank-drawn trailers.

Nazi paracnutists were reported used sparingly, by single platoon or company rather than in larger units. Prisoners were taken in increasing numbers. Shelling by a Russian artillery battalion was said to have destroyed 10 German Junkers-52 transport planes on an airdrome near the front.

"In one sector the Hitlerites launched several tank counter-attacks,' the Soviet Information Bureau said. "Men and officers of a unit commanded by Comrade Rosko routed the enemy and destroyed 30 German tanks.'

Above the scarred terrain of the Kharkov region and other sectors, 64 German planes were destroyed on Sunday, the largest figure for any single day this month.

The Russians said also that Sunday aerial operations of Red Army men had cost the Germans six tanks and more than 100 trucks destroyed or damaged, all this against a loss of 21 Russian aircraft.

"In the Barents Sea Soviet planes sank an enemy destroyer," the Information Bureau announced.

On the Leningrad front, about 800 Germans were killed in two days of fighting, while artillery and scouting planes destroyed several field guns, trench mortars and machine-guns.

Obituary

DAVID HENRY MOORE

David Henry Moore, well-known and respected citizen of Keene, died at his home Monday at the age of 71.

The late Mr. Moore was born in Otonabee Township and has resided there all his life. He was the son of David Moore and Jane Blezard.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Mina Hope, and two sons, Sgt. Fred, Provost Corps, Petawawa, and Frank, Bridgenorth; and two daughters, Mrs. James Dickson, Otonabee, and Mrs. A. Frick, St. Catharines; also one sister, Mrs. L. Shearer, Peterborough, and a brother, John Moore, Keene.

There will be a private funeral from his home on Wednesday, at 2.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. George Murray of Keene United Church. Interment will be in Keene Cemetery.

spring the Germans are faced with Russian, American and British armies thrice the size of the Allied forces opposite them in May, 1940."

He mentioned as another "important factor" the gradual deterioration of those Nazi spearheads, the highly-trained dive-bomber fleets and mechanized and motorized divisions which helped decisively in overrunning eight countries in the first two years of the war.

"The German army still is a first-class fighting force," he said, "but deterioration is evident.

Lack Personnel

"The machines are there but the trained personnel is lacking."

He declared that the regular infantrymen of the German army, concededly a good soldier, is no more capable of "learning the intricate tasks of a dive-bomber pilot or tank driver in three months' than any other soldier and he predicted, therefore, that Germany's air and armored arms would be less effective in this year's campaign.

On the other hand, he cited the inclusion of gleaming new tanks in the United States force in Ireland as proof that the U.S. is "utilising the greatest advantage she has over the enemy or even her allies—a great mass of skilled drivers and mechanics, the cream of a mechanically-minded nation."

"These troops are fully equipped," he continued. "Often that is a military catch. But this time, happily, it's absolutely true. They're miles ahead of the American divisions which landed in France in World War I."

in any one area before Japan revealed her main objective.

"We have to hold on until we can regain strength in air, sea and land," he said. "We are doing all we can to strengthen our forces in India. Ceylon also has been reinforced. The battle of the Coral Sea inflicted a severe check on the Japanese."

Arthur Greenwood, former labor member of the war cabinet, urged the govenment to "make a final effort at settlement" of the Indian problem "so India shall not enter a war where she must fight for her own protection in a spirit of bitterness and so it cannot be charged against us on the eve of India's greatest trial that we did not seek reconciliation and agreement with our ally."

men "for sacrifice without reward," while they were of the greatest value in the war effort and should be adequately rewarded for their labors.

Mr. Blackmore said he wondered how the British race could survive if it did not realize the value of children and did not enable people to raise them.

"It is time we woke up as a race, before we are eliminated from competition," he declared.

Mr. Thorson said he could not see what equality of sacrifice there could be between a man who entered the air force as a member of a fighting crew, whose days might be numbered from the time he enlisted, and a young man or the older man who worked in a munitions plant at $5, $6, $7 or $8 a day.

While they were performing essential work, the sacrifice of farmers was not equal to that of the airman. Men did not enlist for pay, but from a sense of duty or some other reason.

"The very nature of war makes equality of sacrifice impossible." Mr. Thorson said.

Question of Residence.

Mr. Pouliot said war services regulations should give a definition of "ordinarily resident in Canada" to establish how long a person had to be in the country before being liable for compulsory service. He thought the regulations should apply to all those resident now in Canada including those who had come to the Dominion for the duration of the war.

The regulations should provide exemptions in cases where three or four members of of the family were already in the armed services.

"These regulations are part of a law for mobilization, not for demobilization or the granting of postponements," Mr. Thorson said.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the handling of applications for postponement of training was 'very strict' in some provinces while in others, upon similar facts, postponements were being granted

With the appointment of a central appeal board, any provincial board which had failed to carry out properly the provisions of the regulations and was discriminating against any person might be subject to appeal to the central authority.

Mr. Thorson said the provincial boards had been formed with the deliberate intention of avoiding difficulties in respect to a central board. Most of the questions coming before boards were questions of fact, and with boards presided over by judges "you go a long way towards uniformity."

Chairmen and registrars of the various boards had conferred and it had been agreed that the regulations should be gone over and a departmental committee was expected to start on this work shortly.

"If I were completely satisfied that the establishment of a central court of appeal would produce uniformity I would not hesitate in recommending such an establishment," Mr. Thorson said.

Individual Rights

Mr. Diefenbaker asked what were the rights of an individual if a divisional board flouted and disregarded the regulations and the individual concerned had no appeal. He said there was the question of another board which flout the regutions and let all who applied have postponements.

He added "in one province 2.3 per cent of the young men who should be called up, while in another province, in proportion to population, 5.8 per cent are being called up.

"The result will not be chaos but the destruction of national unity."

Mr. Thorson said he had seen nothing to indicate any board was flouting the regulations. To put the matter beyond dispute, it was proposed to make an amendment providing that the boards have authority to make a second study of facts in any case.

Mr. Douglas said he believed it was bad practice to set up "quasi-judicial bodies" across the country and give them arbitrary powers under war services regulations.

A young man appearing before a board seeking postponement should have someone who would present the facts for him.

He said treatment of conscientious objectors had not been uniform in the provinces. He knew of twin brothers who had appeared before the war services board at Regina. One was granted postponement on the grounds he was considered to be a "sincere" conscientious objector but the other was not considered sincere and had a postponement refused.

He said he did not hold the view of the conscientious objector, "but I do insist that whatever one may think of the point of view of the conscientious objector, no man or group of men should be allowed to vent any sadistic tendencies they may have against any person with whose particular point of view they may be in disagreement.

Another Question

Mr. Thorson promised further consideration to the cases of young men who had received their notices to appear for military training before March 23 when selective service regulations, postponing training for men engaged in agriculture, were announced. These men who had made no application for postponement after March 23, although they were entitled to that postponement by reason of their occupation, had reported to camp and now were under the National Defence Department instead of National War Services.

T. L. Church (Con. Toronto-Broadview) said he protested "all this talk about exemptions and boards set up to exempt farmers and others, and amending the rules and regulations and difficulty in getting orders in council acted on. If Hitler comes here there will be no such thing as boards and judge advocates and all that."

The War Services Department included the information bureau "which beclouds the issue," Mr. Church said.

"The information bureau is a misinformation bureau, at least I can get no information from it."

Mr. Pouliot said Mr. Church had given the Toronto view on the information bureau, and he would give the Quebec view.

"The French director is...neurasthenic and he is not qualified to be on the bureau," said Mr. Pouliot.

"His stuff is silly, his letters are absolutely silly; it is all a waste of paper."

PETERBOROUGH WAR SERVICES AND COMMUNITY FUND

"Blood, Toil, Tears, Sweat—and Untold Courage"

WHAT IS OUR WAR AIM, MR. CHURCHILL?

This was asked in the Mother of Parliaments, May 13, 1940 . . . The Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Premier of Great Britain, in ringing tones replies: "You ask, 'What is our aim?' I can answer in one Word. It is Victory. Victory at all costs—Victory in spite of all terrors — Victory however long and hard the road may be, for without victory there is no survival." Truly noble words from a great man who today stands as the leader of democracy.

Our Aim - $60,000.00

It would be unthinkable to suppose that Peterborough is either For Churchill or Against Churchill . . . Of course we are all for the great British leader of modern times . . . But how much are we for him? Peterborough people are going to give an answer to that question this week . . . There is no escaping the significance of this week's campaign to collect $60,000, and that means the responsibility rests on each and every citizen . . . There is no dodging it, — if we are all true to our country and our race and our providentially timed leader . . . Just a mere giving from your income, and this duty is done . . . Give at least 1 per cent of this year's income, and you can feel satisfied that you have done your part . . . You can figure it out in a few moments, and that is all you are being asked to give for war and community purposes and agencies this year . . . The cold fact is that Churchill, representing the British people, needs your help . . . When you think of the Prime Minister standing out there at the head of the nation and the Empire and democracy, this $60,000 should be a cinch for a city that boasts of its kinship with the British stock . . . Peterborough's answer is being given in the days of this week . . . You are going to be proud of it only if you dig down and put this fund away over the $60,000 mark . . . That should be Peterborough's response. The work at home is no less important. Those agencies concerned most with the work at home merit your support—for on the efficient and completely successful maintainance of the home front, the war front, to a large extent depends.

We Must Have Your Support . . . to Carry On!

DOUBLING OUTPUT

Most of the cheese factories in the district are producing substantially in excess of last year, W. J. Moore, dairy instructor, reported this morning. Some of the rural plants are actually doubling their output over their peaks of last year when milk producers and cheesemakers combined in the successful job of filling the British contract of 110,000,000 pounds. This year's objective is 125,000,000 pounds.

SERVICE STATION ENTERED

T. V. Whittington's service station at 14 Lansdowne street was broken into during the night and a tire and tube, a battery and a quantity of cigarettes were stolen. Entrance was gained by forcing a window.

UNDER WAR REVENUES' ACT

R. A. Dutton pleaded guilty in police court this morning to a charge of failing to make a return of his taxable sales during March, laid under the Special War Revenues Act. Jacob Low who appeared for the Department of Revenue said that he would be satisfied with the minimum fine. Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., imposed a fine of $10 and $1.75 costs.

KNOCKED DOWN BY CAR

Knocked down by a car at the intersection of Hunter and George streets Sunday afternoon, Fred Syvertsen, 605 Rubidge street, suffered cuts on the side of the head and had his spectacles broken. The accident was not reported to the police by the driver.

YOUNG BRIDE IN COURT

A seventeen-year-old bride, Mrs. Jean Judge, who told the court that her husband was living in Kingston, appeared in police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy and at the suggestion of the crown attorney the case was adjourned until Saturday morning. The girl was arrested on George street early this morning after police had seen her in company with a boy police believe to have been her brother and who escaped from the Bowmanville training school recently. The boy disappeared through the Grand Hotel yard and despite an exhaustive search could not be located.

LOST $12.00

Doing his bit to help the war effort along, one of the Peterborough Examiner boys came to grief. He made his usual rounds Friday night with his war savings stamps and sold $12 worth and collected the cash. Somewhere between his last call and home he lost the $12. If anyone finds money of that amount would they please contact the Examiner. These boys work very hard to do their bit and they need every bit of support they can get.

MYRIAD MOSQUITOES

Town folks were complaining here and there Monday night about the pestiferous mosquitoes and the clouds of them. You should see them in the country. The only word for their number down near Hastings yesterday afternoon was myriads. That sounds close to infinity. Most of them were probably resting about at that time, getting ready for the evening flight.

ANNUAL MEETING

Engineers will hold their annual meeting on Wednesday evening, and there will be golf for those interested preceding the first business meeting which starts at 6.30. The regular session to hear reports, and elect the new executive committee will begin at 8.45 p.m. Refreshments will be served to wind up the meeting.

BEGINNER'S LUCK

Ben Epston, local merchant, made two of his friends, both so-called expert fishermen, look a little bit sick this week, when the two took him fishing. They went to Indian River at Keene, and Epston stood on shore, fished with worms, and did a masterful job of landing a pickerel that weighed 4½ pounds. It was his first time fishing, and of course his first catch. The experts got nothing.

Northenders Gather Up Salvage For Big Drive On Thursday

The systematic collection of salvage has caught on in a big way and if you talk to any resident of the North-end of the city from Parkhill Road up you find they are not going to let any other district in the city produce more salvage than they will on Thursday next, May 21.

Getting all the salvage you can around your premises and putting it out so the trucks can pick it up is a war effort that is very necessary and one every citizen should participate in.

At 8 o'clock next Thursday morning the paper trucks will get to work. Have the newspapers tied up in one bundle, magazines in another and old paper in another, and if you have any paper boxes to set out knock them down.

A big force of trucks and many helpers will start at 6 o'clock in the evening to pick up the rubber, metals and bottles. Any kind of bottle except a milk bottle, is urgently needed.

It is now squarely up to the residents of the North-end of the city from the west bank of the river, both sides of Parkhill Road north, including the thickly populated part of Smith Township, the Wartime houses to the extreme west-end of the city, to set a record for the salvage of the above mentioned articles that will make every other district work hard to duplicate.

Place your salvage where you usually place your garbage.

Hockey Stars Join Battery

Frank (Drake) Jopling is the latest member of the Petes' Senior B Ontario hockey champions to join the 4th Field Battery RCA (RF). Among his teammates in the Battery are Jim Ellis, Bun Kingdon and Eddie Starr, while Les Burton just recently left the unit to go active service. Another of the puckists, Don Crowe, is seeking a transfer to be with his buddies in the Battery.

Of 13 new recruits applying at the artillery orderly room last night, 10 were passed on the medical examination. Besides Jopling, they were: Leo McAuliffe, B. F. Vinette, C. H. Allen, J. G. Broadhurst, J. C. Milburn, J. H. Coones, C. R. Hagerman, A. H. Lewis and R. J. Showalter.

The recruiting drive for the reserve force continues, with parades two nights a week. The next parade for the big-gun outfit will be Wednesday evening at 7:45. A two-week camp period will be held at Connaught Ranges this summer, commencing 19th July.

BEER TRUCK DITCHED.

Laden with 500 cases of beer for the local brewery warehouse a Hardy cartage truck had to take to the ditch at Fraserville at noon on Monday to avoid hitting a C.N.R. south-bound train. When he saw that a collision was imminent the driver of the truck turned his machine sharply to the right and the vehicle turned over on its side. No one was hurt and no damage was done. In fact, there wasn't a broken bottle of beer in the whole consignment.

War Gases Are Discussed In ARP Lecture

War gases and personal protection against them was the subject of the lecture given by Edwin Curtain, of the Canadian General Electric Company, with a practical demonstration of gas masks given by Assistant Fire Chief George Smith at the A.R.P. meeting Monday. Alderman Herbert I. Bradburn acted as chairman.

An introduction by Dr. D. B. Avison summarized briefly the information on gases given at a previous lecture. He said there were three types of gases, non persistent, those light gases which are readily dissipated, persistent, often in liquid form which takes some time to be transformed into gas, so they may be solid, liquid or gas, and lastly those based on the effect upon the human body. That last is sub-divided into two classes, "non blistering," which is generally non persistent and done away with easily. The other type is blistering, which is persistent when on the body. It will blister severely through almost anything it touches and the gas is also poisonous.

Mr. Curtain began his lecture by giving a definition of gas. He described it as the most fiendish way of fighting modern war. In 1929 there was a pact signed by every nation except Japan agreeing never to use gas. Gas was used in France in 1939, to produce a type of paralysis, he said.

"There are four distinct gas groups, nose, choking, tear, and blister. Phosgene affects the breathing apparatus and is non persistent and highly corrosive on metals. It is lasting on contacts and the vapor attacking a person produces coughing and vomiting for a time. Then they may revert to normal. But it is necessary to be careful, because it may reappear in the lungs and cause death.

Dealing With Gases

"The method of dealing with a case of this kind are to adjust the respirator and make the patient a stretcher case. Under no circumstances apply artificial respiration and give no liquor, only hot sweet tea and get the person out of the gased area quickly," he warned.

"Then there is the mustard gas which is persistent and produces blisters on the body. If a blister is formed do not break, and apply no salve, but a clean dry bandage should be put on. If gas has not actually touched the body, apply anti-gas body No. 2.

"Lewisite gas is somewhat like mustard and there is no odor in the crude form. When it is in liquid form it smells like geranium. The difference between the two is that mustard gas does not attack for 6 to 8 hours, but lewisite attacks immediately. When blisters are formed by the Lewisite, break them open because of the presence of arsenic and apply ointment.

"The third type of gas has little killing effect, but produces a feeling of intense depression. Be sure and keep your respirator on, even though you will feel like tearing it off," Mr. Curtain warned. "Gas is used for the purpose of killing, holding up transportation, and making ground useless, and gases like mustard gas will retain their power for years.

"The gas will be spread by a man on the ground or sprayed from planes or a container dropped from the air. There are a series of tanks in a plane with a very long line attached. The air compressor is the thing which forces the gas out.

"A respirator is the only full protection against gas. There is no known war gas that will penetrate it." He also explained the use of the anti-gas cape and how to manipulate the respirator under the heavy steel helmet, by pushing back the helmet with the fist, adjusting the respirator and then pulling back the hat to its original position."

Assistant Chief Smith gave a practical demonstration, with models, of the development of gas masks from 1915 to the present time, and explained the difference in each and also described some of the common ones in use by the fire department and how they differed. All civilian masks have a nose clip, although the army has now dispensed with it.

He said the civilian mask weighs 14 ounces and has layers of filter pads impregnated with charcoal in the canister. The eye piece are non-inflammable. They are good for three months against any known war gases. Those used by wardens, police and first aid men are different because they must be used in heavier work.

"If they should be issued," he said, "they must become a part of your wearing apparel. Learn how to use them in darkness or daylight.

Immune to Tear Gas

It was pointed out that dogs and other animals are immune to the effects of tear gas, but are subject to a certain amount of lung or nose gas. If that happens, leave the animal alone and call in the gas warden to eliminate it. The question was also brought up about respirators for those with deformed features or lung or heart trouble. Mr. Smith explained that there is a special type provided with a bellows for these people and the air is pumped into the canister before going up to the face and is cleansed. There is also a special make for those people with glasses. It is necessary to see the local doctor and he will give a card with instructions to be presented at the gas centre for the special mask.

Lt. Col. M. Sloan gave a brief description of the main report and control centres. Many think they are very complicated and in reality they are very simple. They are manned by representatives of the various services and the two main items necessary are blackboards and telephones. The wardens make the calls and the calls all come into the main control room and are sent out from there. In the recent test in Toronto, for a city of 500,000 people, the main control room was equipped with six telephones and the necessary charts."

Alderman Bradburn announced that there would be no meeting next Sunday and Monday and that the lecture on May 31 and June 1 would deal with high explosive and incendiary bombs. Everyone was urged to attend the talk to be given by the English boy scouts, Sunday at 1.45 p.m.

600 Patriotic Men Needed For Peterborough's 2 units

The reserve battalion of the Prince of Wales Rangers parading this evening for the first time since its active affiliate left last week for Camp Niagara should be a moving invitation to Peterborough men to fill up the ranks in the numbers and spirit of the promise of the civilian committee which was recently formed to stimulate enlistment in this home defence unit.

Entire companies will be absent in this turnout for the simple reason that men who should be in the parade are still looking on from the sidewalk or are following the easy-going leisure of peace-time.

What can be said to these many hundreds of men of 17 years to 50, in category C, to stir them to the realization that the reserve battalion of the Rangers is a challenge to them?

That question was asked last night at a meeting of the civilian committee recently appointed by Mayor Hamilton at the request of citizens assembled in the city hall to devise means of helping the officers to bring the home defence battalion up to full strength. That means there should be 800 officers and men, and, further, that five or six hundred are still needed. And the 4th Field Battery is in the same position of appealing to men, several hundred, perhaps, to complete its roster.

The committee meeting with officers of both units last night proposed a company from the business men of the city and their staffs; and 500 men from the factories, to be apportioned on a quota basis. That is the broad outline of a scheme which will have to be worked out practically in details which were not approached last night.

To whom is the reserve force appealing in this recruiting campaign for defence purposes?

Young men 17 and 18 years of age in medical categories, A, B or C.

All men 17 to 50 years in category C.

Single men 36 to 50 in categories A, B or C.

Married men 31 to 50 in categories A, B or C.

Single men 19 to 35 years in categories A or B and married men 19 to 30 in the same categories are NOT eligible for the Reserve Army.

That is a plain statement of who should join the second battalion. If you are under 17 or past 50 you need not concern yourself about action, but at that there are men past 50 who will be welcomed at the armories because they are still fit for the purposes of the reserve.

Men who are engaged in important war work and working long hours may consider themselves far down the list, no doubt, but what about the others who are planning golf and fishing and all that sort of Pearl Harbor and Singapore stuff?

There are men in Peterborough from whom the Germans and Japs have taken most of their customary gasoline supply and left them with whatever tires they still have running. After those tires are worn out they are going to walk.

One would fancy that these men realized that the enemy has cut a swath into their private lives and comfort and accustomed pleasures.

Most of them are grousing at the government, or the commodity controllers—at anybody near at hand, the corner gasoline dealer or tire vendor... anybody but the Japs and Germans who are planning to leave theme with not much more than their shirts, and for keeps, too—not just for six months or a year or two.

If they want to get mad at somebody, why not get mad at the enemy and do something about it; join the reserve battalion as one of the domestic units that will be prepared to keep our own shores safe.

When you hear the band tonight, if you are in those categories mentioned above, you must realize that it is calling you.

School Helps With $61.00

School children throughout the twelve city school aim to double the quota of cash contributed to the Red Cross and Community Fund last year, and the first day's take indicates they will do it.

Clare Collins, sub-chairman in charge of this venture sent a telegram to each of the schools on Monday morning, and a letter is going forward today which should reach them on Thursday morning, pointing out the need for a final splurge on Friday. On Monday evening, the sum of $61.00 had been contributed without any report from the Collegiate Institute, and taking this as an average, would give the schools $70 more than the $235 of this year. The objective, however, has been set at twice this amount, on the understanding that parents make the children earn every cent that is contributed. Mr. Collins was optimistic this morning over the possibility of the students coming through with the double quota.

Neill's Store window tells the story of the penny campaign in the schools in vivid fashion. There are twelve model schools placed in a semi-circle and each has a line of pennies running from the door to a large pile at a treasure chest in the centre of the window. There are huge posters explaining the purpose of the penny day campaign and a banner for each of the schools. Besides this a huge "V" for Victory banner surmounts the entire display. It is a striking example of how effective a window display can be made, and the window dressing staff at the Neill store put a lot of time and effort into its construction.

Civilians And Soldiers Talk Too Much Is Opinion Of Young English Airman

Civilians and soldiers alike talk too much about troop movements and war industries, LAC Roderick McIntyre observed in a recent visit to this city. This young flier, whose home is near Nottingham in England is recuperating from injuries received in a crash at Trenton.

"The recent submarine sinkings in the St. Lawrence should make soldiers believe there is danger in talking about points of embarkation and about telling that they are on embarkation leave. In England it is not considered good taste to talk about war industries, and if one goes around asking too many questions he will wind up in the police station.

The young flier said one thing that impressed him greatly was the number of people in Canada who had their roots deep in the Old Land and who seemed so proud of this fact.

"I am two generations removed from Devon," one fellow remarked, while another said "My people come from Swinton." Almost everyone has someone in England or some family connection that stretches like an invisible bond across the waters, to link Canada closer to the beleaguered island called Britain.

The young airman was a member of the London Metropolitan Police when hostilities broke out, and he is afraid when his final medical comes, the medical board will turn thumbs down, because of injuries received in the crash.

Fairview Group Makes $21 For War Victims

Just about one year ago, a loyal group of people at Fairview started working to help the people of Britain who were suffering as the result of air raids over that country, and since then they have kept steadily on at this labor of love for those in need, so that today's report for the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, there is recorded in their name their seventh donation, this time $21.60, in two amounts of $20.10, which was handed in by Mrs. W. Fowler, the secretary for the group, to have $1.50 added to it which had been received later, and was turned over to the fund by George Lockington.

This money represents the proceeds of a card party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, who incidentally had the first event of this kind about a year ago at their home for the fund, from which start they have continued so well to contribute to the fund.

One nice personal donation of $5.00 is listed, and an item under the name of "Sandwiches" adds a further $2.00 to the day's list.

In connection with the bingo games in the Canadian Legion Hall this evening, further gifts for prizes have been received from the Canadian Tire Corporation, Peterborough Associate Store, Herbt Doig, and the Luck Strike Bait Works adding still further to the splendid list of these already on hand.

Dance at Norwood

On this Wednesday evening, a dance is being held in the Town Hall at Norwood wholly in the interests of the fund, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parker, whose activities on its behalf have been numerous and of such material benefit in a financial way. At this gathering, the draw will be made for the three prizes for which they have been selling tickets for some time now, which were given by Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Dew of Toronto, relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

Silver Moon Grill

An event of local interest which is being given on behalf of worthy war charities takes place this Wednesday also, when the new Silver Moon Grill on George street opens its doors for the first time after being all refitted in the most modern style, and the full gross receipts from this first day's business is being given entirely to the Canadian Red Cross, Peterborough Branch, the Chinese War Relief, and this fund in equal amounts.

Generally speaking, the way of the world is to look after one's own needs first, and then if circumstances allow, perhaps to give to others, so here is an example where others needs are coming first, which after a heavy expenditure for refitting expenses, is quite something worthy of more than passing note in this action of Henry Young the proprietor.

Cyclist Suffers Slight Concussion

Roland Coldwell, 510 Wolfe Street, was taken to Nicholls Hospital suffering from slight concussion, two teeth knocked out, both hands cut and cruised and a cut on his right knee as the result of a collision between the motor cycle he was riding and an automobile on Park Street near the C.G.E. plant Monday evening.

Coldwell was riding south on his motorcycle and his machine came into collision with the rear end of an automobile driven by James Victor, Gilchrist Street, making a left turn into a parking lot.

The injured man was taken to the C.G.E. first aid station and removed from there to hospital.

The front of his motorcycle was badly damaged. The left rear fender of the automobile was bent by the impact.

Increase Is Recommended In Taxi Fares

An application from city taxi owners asking for increased taxi fares was dealt with by the Board of Police Commissioners at Monday's meeting.

The taxi operators asked that the day rates be increased from a straight 25 cents to 50 cents for one or two fares and 25 cents for subsequent fares and the night charges to a straight 50 cents per fare.

Mayor Hamilton remarked that he thought the taxi men were making a mistake and Judge Smoke, chairman of the Board, pointed out that any increase would have to be authorized by the War Time Prices and Trades Board.

The Commission, however finally decided to endorse an application to the War Times Prices and Trades Board for a rate of 50 cents for one or two fares, both day and night, with 25 cents for each additional fare.

The taxi operators, in their petition, asked for an amendment to the by-law making it an offence for a person to refuse to pay for a taxi after using one and another to deal with taxi drivers who fail to make proper returns.

In the first case the attitude of the Board was that the collection of fares was essentially a civil matter and in regard to the second request the Criminal Code provided a remedy for dealing with drivers who did not make correct returns of moneys paid them.

Permit Women To Drive Taxis

Peterborough is to have woman taxi drivers. As a matter of fact a licence has already been granted to one woman, Mrs. Harry Finnie, her application, endorsed by Chief Constable Newhall, being passed by the Board of Police Commissioners at Monday's meeting.

At the same meeting a request was received from the taxi owners of the city that licences be granted to women drivers in view of the difficulty being experienced in obtaining male drivers.

Hugh J. Davis, who was present at the meeting, suggested that the women be allowed to drive only in daylight hours and Judge Smoke concurred in that view.

The taxi by-law will be amended, making it legal for women to drive only between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Red Cross Drive Community Fund Reaches $22,180

Frank Edgar of the Lucky Strike Bait Company who left two days before the Red Cross and Community Community Fund started, on a fishing trip into Algonquin Park, walked into the committee room with his personal cheque covering the objective set for his factory, before he left, thus this little industry had the honor of being first in with its quota complete.

"I can fish a lot better if I know our objective has been taken care of, and so I brought the cheque in today," he said. Canada Packers were also reported over the top.

An enthusiastic report meeting held at the Empress Hotel at noon Tuesday brought the good news that the Red Cross and Community Fund total had climbed to $22,180 already and the average as reported by each section leader showed objectives were being met. Reports from the industrial division were sketchy as yet, because the organizations have just started to roll, but in the Retail Division, Special Names Division, and Women's Division, the picture was heartening.

Receipts For Charity

An interesting angle to the drive came to light Tuesday morning, when Henry Young, one of the three Chinese opening the new Silver Moon cafe on George street just south of Harold Coleman's store has donated the entire gross receipts of the first day's take to three charities. One third will go to the Red Cross and Community Fund, one third to the British War Victims Fund, and one third to the Chinese Red Cross Relief. He has a brother fighting with the army of Chiang-Kai-Shek. This arrangement was completed with L. J. Pettit, of the Collegiate staff who canvasses the Chinese colony, and who is held in high esteem by the Orientals, not only as a citizen but as friend and advisor.

Wins Window Contest

Announcement was made Tuesday morning that Richard Hall Store had been awarded first prize for the best window display telling of the appeal for funds for the Red Cross and Community Fund. The window was arranged by Lorne Casey of the staff, and it was featured by life-size figures of a Victorian Order nurse, and a Red Cross Nurse. In the centre of the window was a cot, holding a dummy baby, which wore numerous bandages, and another model of a pretty child, was in sitting position swathed in bandage. The background of Merchant Navy Posters and Red Cross Posters completed an interesting and educational advertisement.

The judges had no easy task making a decision as the windows were exceptionally well done. Hamilton's Fur Store and Neill's window displays were particularly good, and Ed Riley who took first prize last year placed second in the judging on Monday. The C.D.S. window was a smart piece of work took, and Grafton's, Loblaws, and Metropolitan stores all spent considerable time in arranging suitable displays.

RADIONICS

The most priceless thing on earth is good health. Are you endangering your health by not paying sufficient attention to the danger signals that nature is giving you? Headaches, sore throat, bronchial cough, pain over sinus and antrum, constipation, kidney and liver conditions, pain over the appendix area and urinary bladder. These are all warning signals, if you will only heed them.

RADIONIC EXAMINATION will determine the cause of any of these symptoms. If you have infection of the sinus, teeth, tonsils, kidneys, appendix bowel, etc., the Radioclast will find it and trace it to the part affected. Don't neglect your health by not knowing what the cause is.

George St. Baby Band

George Street Church Baby Band held a pleasant meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. James Tinney. The whole evening was devoted to the quilting of four quilt tops to complete layettes already on hand. As the members worked they discussed their coming annual picnic at Nicholls Oval, to which the real members of the band, the babies themselves, are invited. After the refreshments had been served Mrs. Brown moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Tinney, who was so kind as to have the quilts all set up ready for the mmebers to work on.

Winnipeg Bride Niece Of Mrs. J. Middleton

WINNIPEG, Man., May 19.— The marriage of Margaret Jeannette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Robson Regina, to William Fosken Main, took place on May 4 at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Main, Transcona. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. L. Meech before a fireplace banked with ferns and spring flowers. Miss Edna Wye supplied the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, W. Donald Robson, wore a wool dress of turquoise blue with beige accessories and her corsage was of Joanna Hill roses.

The wedding supper was served at Moore's, where several congratulatory messages were received from Regina and Toronto. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. William Robson, W. Donald Robson, and Mrs. S. T. Reynolds, Regina. Mr. and Mrs. Main left on a short trip. They will reside in Winnipeg.

The bride is a niece of Mrs. J. A. Middleton, 569 Park Street, Peterborough.

Local Kinettes' Contribution Second Highest

The May meeting of Peterborough Kinettes was held at the home of Mrs. Adam Sands on Monday evening, with the president Mrs. Maurice Holt, in the chair.

Reports were read by Kinettes who had attended the district convention held in Oshawa May 15 and 16. It was interesting to note that the contribution made by the Peterborough Kinettes to the Milk for Britain Fund were second highest in the Dominion. The Peterborough Kinettes presented a cheque for $425 at the convention, making a total of $675. Over 100,000 quarts of milk has been forwarded overseas through the efforts of Canada's Kinettes.

At this meeting it was decided that the Kinettes should take over the "Milk Bottle" collection and Mrs. Sands was appointed convener. Mrs. Norman Elliott was appointed vice-president during the absence of Mrs. Lorne Bateman. Because of the Milk for Britain activities the Kinettes will probably continue meeting during the summer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Shill, 561 Gilmour Street, June 15.

A committee, including Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Shill, Mrs. J. V. Elliott, Mrs. W. B. Fanning and Mrs. Vern Selkirk were chosen to represent the Kinettes at Milk for Britain committee meetings held by the Kinsmen.

All Kinettes having completed blocks for the second quilt are asked to bring some to the next meeting so that this quilt may be sent overseas.

First Pair Socks Brings Letter

Thanks to the untiring and devoted work of war workers in and around Peterborouh who sew and knit for the Red Shield, the local Women's Auxiliary to the Red Shield, has again been able to send in a substantial parcel of articles for shipment overseas. The baby clothing sent in would delight any recipient and the warm quilts are very thankfully received. Mrs. Norman Buckley reports that this month 489 articles of baby clothing, 70 quilts and afghans and 214 articles for men in the services were packed, making a total of 773 articles.

A letter has been received by a Red Shield knitter who put a note in the toe of her first pair of socks, from a soldier on active service overseas. The letter is as follows:

"Dear Miss Fife,—I am writing a few lines to you just to let you know that I received a pair of sox from a Salvation Army supervisor today and there was a note inside with your name and address, so I thought I could at least drop you a line to let you know that your first pair of sox are in good use, and I appreciate them very much, and to let you know that they are a real pair of sox and I hope you keep up the good work as I know you will. — Yours truly, Bdr. Fred Smith."

DOROTHY DIX

COURAGE IS NEEDED WHEN ONE FACES GREAT CALAMITY

You Only Create More Sorrow When You Brood Over Misfortune That Suddenly Befalls You

Dear Miss Dix.—I am the most unhappy person in the whole world. My husband, whom I adored, killed himself just a few months ago. He got in financial trouble and rather than bring misery (os so he thought) on me and our little child he committed suicide so we could have his insurance. He was always so kind and good to me. We had been married for ten years and all the time we grew fonder of each other, and I often thought how happy I was. Now that he is gone, I don't want to go on living any more. I have a three-year-old child, but I think maybe he would be better off without me. Maybe we could all be together again where my beloved is. I am only 33 years old and can't bear to look ahead at the long, empty years before me. Can you give me a word of help or encouragement before it is too late?—Sarah.

Answer.—Your husband killed himself because he did not have the courage to take his punishment. Don't you think your child has a right to have one parent who has the grit and the backbone to stand up and fight misfortune instead of throwing up her hands and quitting when things go wrong? You say that your husband committed suicide because he thought it would be easier for you and the child. Do you think that your child, a mere baby, would be better off if you killed yourself and left him to the cold mercy of a world that is not always kind to orphans? Would he be happier with no mother to love and cherish him and make up to him in part, at least, for being fatherless?

Don't you see when you try to answer these questions how morbid you have gotten, and what a wrong and foolish thing you are doing in even thinking of the grave as the easiest way out of your troubles?

Brooding Is Bad

What you need is to get a brace on yourself. Quit brooding over your sorrow. Think only of your child and how you can best make up to him for the wrong his father committed against him. You can do this if you will. No one would underrate for a minute the grief that tears at your heart in losing the husband you loved.

But millions of other women have been called upon to endure the same loss. They, too, have kissed for the last time the lips that would never again speak words of tenderness to them.

They, too, have folded over a still breast the hands that have stood between them and want, and gone out to meet a world in which they faced not only desolation and loneliness, but the necessity of supporting the fatherless little children who hung to their skirts.

But they did not weep and bemoan their fate and think of escaping it by deserting their little ones. They strengthened their souls and went out and did whatever work they could find that would buy food for their children and keep a roof over their heads.

And they toiled so hard that when night came they were so exhausted they fell into dreamless sleep. And so they lived through the first hard years until time could do its merciful task of healing.

Look about you and you will see many widows who have gone through this experience. When their husbands died they kept their families together and reared them to be fine men and women and they did it on sheer courage. Imitate them instead of being a craven coward who couldn't take it.

Hard to Avoid A "Clinging" Wife

Dear Drothy Dix.—When I was 24 years old I married a nice, sweet girl, as I thought, but now I find out that she is 15 years older than I am. We have never been able to get along and I have asked her several times for a divorce, but she absolutely refuses. I have tried to leave her, but she hounds me to death, following me everywhere I go. I can't even catch the street car without her dogging me to it and watching me every move. If I go to a show she meets me outside and follows me until I am safe in my room. Then she sits out in front of the house and watches until the light goes out in my bedroom. She has been a good wife, taking care of me when I was sick, working to support me and she has a nice job, but I can never have anything for her but the utmost respect. I can never love her. While I hate to hurt her, I don't think I should

St. Peter's C.W.L. Holds May Meeting

St. Peter's C.W.L. held their monthly meeting on Monday evening in St. Peter's school, with Mrs. F. J. Lynch presiding. The various conveners appointed as follows: War, Mrs P. J. Burke; navy league and wool, Mrs. George Lynch; sewing, Miss T. McNamara; visiting, Miss L Hurley; secretary, Mrs. R. J. McGrath; press, Mrs. E. Riley; representatives to C.W.V.S., Mrs. J. G. McCarney and Mrs. C. Wolff; program, Miss G. Collins; welfare, Mrs. J. Roach and Mrs. R. E. McDonald; Canadian Institute for the Blind, Mrs. J. A. Rutherford; education, Mrs. J. Cameron.

The president introduced the first speaker of the evening, Mrs. J. H. Cridland, who spoke for the C.W.V.S. Mrs. Cridland has long been known for her eloquent addresses and held the attention of her audience in her usual manner. The organizations, aims and work of the C.W.V.S. were clearly and definitely laid before the ladies. Mrs. Cridland pointed out the necessity of every woman, irrespective of age, enrolling in the C.W.V.S. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. J. V. McCarney, official enroller of the C.W.V.S. enrolled any wishing to join. Mrs. Cridland kindly helped in this work.

Miss Dunkerley, just returned home from the University of Toronto, then addressed the ladies. Miss Dunkerley is familiar with conditions in England during the present war. Her talk was thoroughly interesting and brought home to her listeners how little we in Peterborough are doing, compared with our sisters across the seas. With ease and poise Miss Dunkerley told of private school difficulties in England and how they are met by the young ladies attending the schools. These girls have to overcome their own difficulties by helping those in more distressing circumstances. Miss T. McNamara moved a hearty vote of thanks to both speakers and assured them of the support of the C.W.L. for all their suggestions.

The invitation to attend the meeting to be held to hear the English Boy Scouts in the Capitol Theatre on Sunday evening was extended to the members. A donation to the cup for the Girl Guide competition was made by St. Peter's C.W.L.

For Wednesday, May 20

A generally propitious and pleasant state of affairs is found in this day's astrological chart, this happy condition pervading and prospering all the affairs. An element of surprise or the unforeseen may be found in gains and benefits which may come from many directions and interests. This may mean promotion, advancement, tokens of preferment and esteem from superiors, relatives or those in influenitál places. Property and possessions should increase and investments prosper.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of advancement, growth, promotion and a generally profitable and pleasant state of affairs. Benefits and gratifying situations may arise from unexpected and surprising sources, with elders, relatives, superiors as well as strangers figuring in such happy and productive adventures. Property and investments should increase in value and security, and credit and finance expand, but in all shun extravagance.

A child born on this day should have much versatility and creative ability with success in unusual lines. Its possessions and standing are assured.

George Street Cubs

A very good number of Cubs turned out to the last meeting when items for the jamboree were practiced. During the evening John Frise left the Pack to join the Troop being accepted by Scouter Olmstead after bidding the Pack farewell in a going-up ceremony. We all wish John "Happy Hunting" along the Scout trail. On Tuesday next the George Street pack invite every other Cub Pack in the city to join them in a grand practice for the Red Flower singing for the coming jamboree. Visitors are requested to be on hand about 7 p.m.

Just A Reminder

Don't forget the parade next Sunday. Come and see our visitors from the Motherland and hear of their experiences first hand. This means every Cub, Scout, and Leader in the district.

Magazines Shipped to Merchant Service

Another batch of magazines have been shipped out for the men who are serving, and this lot, 3,337, has been forwarded for the use of the men in the merchant service. We can report that the standing to date of the packs are as follows: George 4,534; St. John's 2,500; Murray Street 2,353; St. Luke's 2,298; Sacred Heart 969; All Saints 712; St. Andrew's 659; St. James' 573; Mark St. 166.

St. George's Reporting

Eight new chums were welcomed to the Council Rock at the last meeting and by this increase a new Six was formed, to be henceforth known as the Grey Six. The games of French tag and crows and cranes helped to work off some of the energy that prevailed. An investiture ceremony was held at which James Edwards was promoted to senior Sixer and James Lackie appointed Sixer of the Red Six. The Pack is looking forward to the coming jamboree and will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, May 19, at 7 p.m. sharp to go through some practices for the jamboree events. It is expected that a joint meeting of the group committee and the Mothers' Auxiliary will follow the Cub meeting.

St. Luke's Pack

A well attended Pack meeting was enjoyed last Tuesday when work began for the coming jamboree. Some of the teams for the events were chosen and work started immediately. The Pack gave a great welcome to three new Chums who started on the Jungle path this week and hope that Harold and Grant Burns and Clifford Johnson will enjoy their stay.

On Tuesday the Pack will meet at the East City Bowl at 6:30 p.m. to proceed to George St. Church where a practice of the singing and Red Flower will be held.

On Sunday, May 24, the Pack will meet at St. Luke's Church at 12:45 sharp, and then proceed to the Market Square to take part in the special parade and attend the mass meeting in the Capitol Theatre. Final arrangements for the jamboree, May 25, will be given out at that time.

British Scouts at Capitol Next Sunday

On Sunday next all Scout units will parade at the Market Square to attend the mass meeting being held to hear the Scouts from the Old Land talk on their experiences in the British Air Raids.

The program is as follows: Parade called for 1:15 p.m.; march off 1:25; arrive at Capitol 1:30; guests and personnel on platform, 1:40; opening with singing O Canada, 1:45; opening remarks, Mr. Ottewell, president of local association, 1:50; welcome by the Mayor, 1:55; introduction of boys by District Commissioner Hornsby, 2:00; boys to speak, 2:05; short talk by Mr. M. Sloan, 2:45; vote of thanks, 2:55; The King, 3:00.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this meeting and get some first-hand information as to the work the A.R.P. helpers had to do in air raids. It must be understood that no one will be allowed to enter before the Cubs and Scouts. After all units have been seated the doors will be open to all.

The executive are looking for a full turnout of all Scout units and hold the officers responsible to see that this carried out.

At Mark Street

A visit was paid to Mark Street Scouts this week and we had a pleasant time. We feel that although the Troop is small at the present time, that there are boys attached who will be beneficial to the building of a worthwhile troop. We understand that Mr. C. English is seriously considering taking over the Scoutmastership of the Troop and we feel that he will never regret the step.

Jamboree On Monday, May 25

At the present time all arrangements have been made to carry on our annual jamboree at the Scout grounds just north of Lock 22 on Monday next. Owing to war conditions, it is hard to say how many Scouters will be able to attend, but the jamboree will go on just the same, if at all possible.

Scouts are reminded, if you are camping-out over the week-end, you must make arrangements to come in for the parade on Sunday, if this is not done you will be held in disfavor by all Scout personnel.

Craft Show Exhibits

There are still a number of exhibits not claimed and we would appreciate the owners clearing this up at headquarters. Scouts or Cubs who want any articles they left at the show, please phone the skipper at 3067.

Chins Up Tea

St. John's Mothers' Auixliary is holding a Chins Up tea at the home of Mrs. G. E. Groombridge, 296 Rogers street, Wednesday afternoon, May 20. All friends cordially welcomed.

St. John's Troop

Plans for the jamboree were discussed and instruction work in both tenderfoot and second class was carried out. Basketball relay was played. Jack Green passed in his compass work.

Uniforms Required

Any former Scout or Cub who has part of his uniform lying around that he is not using can do his good turn by making them available to those boys still in the movement. We have had requests for Cub caps and sweaters and also parts of the Scout uniforms. Phone 3067.

Nazi Wounded Overflow To Hotels, Homes

By FREDERICK C. OECHSNER.

LISBON, May 19.—Germany—as firmly in Adolf Hitler's grip as ever —still is intensifying her war efforts but ever stronger propaganda hypodermics are needed as life daily grows grimmer and more miserable.

The winter on the Russian front was disastrous, as the overflow of wounded soldiers from all available hospitals and hotels into private homes bears witness. Deterioration of economic conditions is visible on all sides. Nerves have been strained by the heavy British bombing of German towns.

Yet the capacity of the average German citizen to endure hardship and sacrifice definitely has not yet reached the breaking point.

Organization of an effective anti-Nazi movement still is impossible, but I have good evidence that there is a powerful group, reaching very high up in some quarters, ready to take over the rule of Germany "if anything should happen to Hitler."

Reserve supplies of food and basic raw materials do not yet show signs of decisive weakness, but in their plans for an all-out offensive in Russia this summer the Nazis reveal that they are racing against worsening economic conditions.

Hitler himself has led the chorus against slackers, saboteurs and black market operators on several occasions, and in the recent Reichstag session he gave himself super-legal disciplinary powers to combat them.

The death penalty has been decreed even for armament manufacturers falsely reporting labor and raw material reserves or needs.

Vacation travel is virtually eliminated, and admission to any hotel at a vacation resort has been made practically impossible because of the number of documents required, including a police permit and a medical certificate.

The German public has been shocked and stunned by the ferocity of the British air attacks this spring, especially at Rostock and Lubeck, word of which has spread far beyond these Baltic ports.

Nor has the high cost of the winter fighting in Russia been successfully concealed from the people. Numerous notices of soldiers' deaths have appeared in the newspapers, some of them youngsters only 17 years old.

Clothing Firm 89 Years Old

Grafton's are again celebrating an anniversary—their 89th. While the original Dundas store was and the present one still is a department store, the other six branch stores are exclusively men's wear. The men's clothing idea is said to have been that of the late Colonel J. J. Grafton.

Mrs. J. J. Grafton is now in the unique position of being the only known woman head of a men's apparel business. Today a total of 253 regular employees are listed, 99 of whom are employed in the Dundas store and factory.

J. B. Grafton founded the business in partnership with his brother J. S. Grafton in 1853, at the age of 27. He lived until 1909, and the following words of comment on his death appeared in The Dundas Banner on May 20 of that year:

"We are reminded of a great New York financier who said, 'If you are not a success, don't blame the times you live in, don't blame the circumstances with which you are surrounded—lay the blame where it belongs—upon yourself. Not in time, place nor circumstances, but in the man lies success. If you want success you must pay the price'."

In the effort, energy, perseverance and well-applied business principles of its founders, lie largely the successful growth of the company, we are told.

Colonel J. J. Grafton at one time described his early start in the business. At the age of sixteen he began work in the store—making up the fires, lighting the lamps, and other duties about the store. For the first five years he received $5 a week, after which he was raised to $7. In 1884 he was admitted to the partnership. All the branch stores were established in the fifteen years succeeding 1889. In 1939, Colonel Grafton died and Mrs. Grafton succeeded him as president.

Suits and overcoats are made in the Dundas factory, and the trade mark "High Grade" has marked all apparel since 1900. In an old advertising circular, men's suits are listed from $7 up. Perhaps the largest overcoat made by them is described as: Breast 60", waist 66", height 6, weight of customer 375 lbs. Three men are shown buttoned inside the huge piece of apparel.

Mrs. Grafton has a beautiful diamond pendant presented on the fiftieth anniversary of the company, and a jewelled pin mounted, presented on the seventy-fifth anniversary, both of which she wears on notable occasions.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE STORY—Four visitors arrive at a Dutch West Indian island to complicate the life of Bill Talcott, who has been there for six years as branch manager for an American chemical firm. They are Halsey, Bill's successor; an auditor, who immediately accuses Bill of a large shortage in his accounts; MacDowell, a detective brought to take Bill back to the States if any irregularity were found, and June Patterson, beautiful cousin of Bill's former roommate. On their first night on the island Halse and June are molested by natives during a walk. Later June is awakened by shouts from the dock and the sight of a mysterious schooner.

20th CENTURY PIRATE

CHAPTER VII

JUNE PTERSON moved feverishly; slipped into the plum-colored slacks, threw on a blouse and jacket, whipped a tri-cornered bandana about her housled hair. With more speed than judgment she packed her overnight case, groping in the darkness for the things that were nearest to hand. Her trunk, she decided could wait. The least that Bill Talcott could do for her would be to see that it followed her home.

Her sole thought was of escape from Abas, from the horrible heat and odor, from the grim, silent intrigue that had settled on the place, turning them all into taciturn, suspicious strangers. There was a boat of some kind attempting to land at the pier now. It was in all probability a government boat; from what June Paterson had seen on her brief stay, had gathered from the words of Leonard Halsey, the law would soon come to Abas, and thus she thought this gray, close-cruising schooner must be its conveyance.

She had no idea as to whether the boat was Dutch or American; where it was going or whither it had come. She knew only that she wanted to get away, to breathe clean air again and forget the horrible memories of the past few hours. Resolutely she seized her bag and with never a backward glance slipped through the darkened house into the nether dawn.

Distant stars showed dispiritedly through blanketing clouds; the thin moon had set and the dark path was treacherous beneath her feet. Blindly she stumbled down the hill, shaking off unseen fingers of verdant growth that pawed in silent challenge at her passage. She was very near hysteria when a rise of ground brought her to the cleared slope and she saw the lights of the pier. A struggling knot of figures there held no special significance for her. Sebastien and the huge native Tomas and Bill Talcott she saw, laying about them with fists. And then a hollow obscured her view.

In the deep shadow of a frangipani tree she collided head on with a standing figure. It was MacDowell, and when he had picked himself up and got some of his wind back he grunted, "Miss Paterson! I almost shot you! What in Pete's name is goin' on down there?"

She glared, more in shock than anger. "Why don't you investigate?" she blazed. "You have a pistol. Are you afraid."

MacDowell grunted, "I ain't afraid, Miss. But I got a wife and two kids back in New York, and that gang on th' rock is makin' a little too free with knives. They—"

Another form came hurtling down the slope and Halsey, pyjamas showing beneath a robe, skidded to a halt. "I heard a shot," he panted. "Are you all right? Have you seen Struthers? He wasn't in his room—What's happening?"

"Dunno. Schooner tried to land and Talcott's tryin' to stop 'em. The whole place'll be on our ears if this keeps up. We ought to—"

A booming roar engulfed his words; the deep-throated bark of a heavy calibre gun. It ripped through the night reverberating against the rocky hills, dying with startling suddenness into a void of intense silence.

Halsey's rangy figure stiffened. "This has gone far enough," he snapped. "Miss Paterson, please return to the house. MacDowell, come with me."

But the girl would not return to Bill Talcott's house. No matter what the future might hold in store, she could never go back there. She did not argue; in fact, no word did she utter either in confirmation or denial of the order. But when Halsey and MacDowell began a loping run for the pier she followed, the ridiculous overnight case banging against her knees.

The sight that confronted her when she at last gained the smooth-worn stones of the pier was strange, almost unbelievable. It was as if time had turned backward a century; as if during the brief space of darkness between house and pier, she had plunged into another long-forgotten world where the black flag flew from the topmast and scarred, vicious men boiled from the decks of rakish sloops to pillage and plunder the bustling towns of the Spanish Main.

The schooner was long and low to the water and from her sharp nose to her square stern she was a dull and dirty gray. The men who had come from her, some of them, were lined up along the pier like vicious dogs ready to spring, and opposite them in a defensive huddle stood Bill Talcott and Tomas and Sebasitien. The little overseer wasn't gesticulating now; he was holding his arm and blood dripped between his fingers and his fat,sweating face was grimaced with pain. Three prone figures sprawled like wash from a broken line, attested to the ferocity of the brief defense.

Talcott was staring levelly, not at the men confronting him, but at the schooner's deck. June Paterson followed his eyes and saw the reason for the fight's end. On the cabin roof, seated as calmly as if watching a sunset, was a swarthy villain armed with a shotgun. His black hair was unkempt and fell in a tangle behind his ears; dazzling white teeth opened a gash in his dark face. He wore no shirt and his boxlike chest was furry and his long, heavy arms were scrolled with faded designs in tatoo.

"So, Meester Talcott!" the man with the shotgun laughed, swinging his heels gently. "So you want to make trouble, hey? You no like Cap'n Jackson to visit your island, hey?"

"You know I don't like it," Bill Tacott responded. "You and your gang have brought me endless trouble. The poor, frightened people you dump here are penniless and many of them are sick. It gets me in all kinds of jams with the authorities. It endangers the residents of the islands. Now, for the last time, clear out of here."

The man with the shotgun scowled. "Meester Talcott, you are in no poseetion to dictate terms. I, the wors' damn rascal in the Caribbean, make my own terms. So now I 'ave two more for you. One ees a var' lovely woman; I would take her to San Tomas myself bot I am too much busy. So you weel take her an' the gentleman. There weel be no trouble —they 'ave papers. Bot w'en you beat up my men, that I do not like. So I theenk one day you an' me will 'ave a var' grand fight, Meester Talcott. Soon, I hope. No?"

"No. And if you have two more people, you keep them. And I advise you to get going before the black men of this island come swarming down this hillside to kill us all."

At his words the dark rogue turned an involuntary glance toward the path, and had not MacDowell spoken then, June Paterson's presence might have gone unnoticed. MacDowell swaggered forward, pistol level in his hand, growling, "Refugee smugglers, hey? Okay. Get goin', and don't leave nobody behind either."

The muzzel of the shotgun turned "You ant to gamble with thee pistol against thees?" Jackson grunted. "Damn fool! My feenger var' nervous—" His shoulder raised imperceptibly.

June Paterson cried out, but the warning was too late. One of the prone figures raised silently behind MacDowell to bring down a blackjack in a crushing blow against the mustached one's head.

CLAIMS SMALLEST SOLDIER

LEEDS, England—(CP).—Leeds claims the title of "smallest soldier in the world" for one of its citizens—Charles Rushforth of the Royal Army Ordnance Corps, who stands 4 feet 2½ inches.

Willkie's Son Wins Commission

Philip Willkie is pictured with his proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Willkie, after he graduated from the U.S. Naval Reserve Midshipmen's school, at the U.S.S. Prairie State. He was among the "future admirals" who received their commissions during the colorful exercises.

Fifty New Ships World Record

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP).—A $310,000,000 boost in the marine and war risk insurance fund was approved yesterday by the United States House of Representatives appropriations committee which notified Congress that "at the rate losses are occurring the fund is estimated to be liable for a little more than a ship a day."

"Shipping is the great problem of the conduct of this war," declared the committee in its report. "The losses of American flag vessels are already greater than for the entire period of the last war.

"Essential transportation by cargo vessels can be maintained only by adequate insurance of the vessels, the operating peronnel, and the cargoes and the prompt adjudication and payment of the losses that occur.

"Private enterprise cannot undertake these risks except at rates that would be so high as to compel abandonment of shipping entirely."

A transcript of testimony at committee hearings last week, with part deleted under military secrecy, disclosed that Rear-Admiral Emory S. Land, in charge of the American merchant fleet, said that he was counting on construction of 800 ships this year.

"In the month of April there were 36 ships delivered," he said. "We confidently expect in the month of May 50-plus will be delivered. That, gentlemen is the world's record, in anybody's country and for all time.

"We hope by June to be up to two a day, and we confidently expect to be up to three a day, or better, two or three months later than that, and continue.

"Next year, if we get our steel, we will meet the 15,000,000 ton mark, and, in my judgment, based on facts, we have enough capacity in shipyards, shipways, men and everything connected therewith, given the steel, to do between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 tons next year. If we get the steel, we will do it. That, in a nutshell, is on schedule, despite all the commentaries to contrary."

ELSIE, the Borden Cow, says:

HERE IS AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

BORDEN'S PREMIUM PLAN will be discontinued AUGUST 1st, 1942

Under ordinary circumstances, this would be bad news. But today all available resources in materials and labour are being directed towards winning the war.

And so The Borden Company Limited finds it necessary to withdraw its premium wrapper plan. After Saturday, August 1, 1942, premiums will no longer be given in exchange for wrappers from Borden's "Silver Cow" Evaporated Milk or Borden's "Eagle Brand" Sweetened Condensed Milk.

New wrappers are now being printed without the premium offer on them. These new wrappers will not be exchangeable for premiums.

There may still be Borden's "Silver Cow" milk or Borden's "Eagle Brand" milk in wrappers with the premium offer on them at your retailer's after August 1, 1942, but such wrappers will not be accepted in exchange for premiums after that date.

Wrappers must be mailed before August 1, 1942, to:

BORN

RAYMENT.—To Mr. and Mrs. George Rayment (nee Violet Ford), a daughter, on Sunday, May 17, 1942, at St. Joseph's Hospital.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. John Heath, 272 Dublin street, Peterborough, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Joan, to Q.M.S. Harry Ashwin, of Harrowsmith, Ontario. The marriage will take place on Thursday evening, June 18, at seven o'clock, in St. Luke's Anglican Church.

DIED

GRAHAM, George Edward.—Suddenly, at the family residence, 229 Edinburgh street, early Tuesday morning George E. Graham, in his 50th year, beloved husband of Luezetta McCall, and father of Max with the R.C.A.F. overseas and Terry at home. Funeral on Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock from the Funeral Home of D. Belleghem and Sons, 190 Hunter street. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

MOORE, David Henry.—At his late residence in Keene, on Monday, May 18, 1942, David Henry Moore, beloved husband of Mina Hope, age 71 years. Private funeral service will be held on Wednesday, May 20, from family residence, at 2.30 p.m. Rev. George Murray of Keene United church officiating. Interment, Keene Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

SYMONDS.—In loving memory of Robert Symonds, who died May 19, 1941.

His charming ways and smiling face
Are a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

—Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. B. McCarrell and family.

SYMONDS.—In loving memory of Robert Symonds, who passed away one year ago today, May 19, 1941.

I think of him in silence,
His name I oft recall,
There is nothing left to answer
But his picture on the wall.

—Lovingly remembered by Wife and Family.

WINDOVER.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. T. H. Windover, who died just one year ago, May 16, 1941

Sweet memories are all that are left
Of a dear loving mother, one of the best;
A mother whose heart was as pure as gold,
Our dear mother's worth can never be told.
She oft'times said we would miss her,
The words have proved too true,
We lost the best and dearest friend,
Dear mother, when we lost you.

—Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. Eva Bertram; her husband, Harry; and Grandson, Don.

CARDS OF THANKS

jeopardize my life's happiness any longer staying with her. What should I do?—E. H. S.

Answer.—I don't know what a man with that sort of sticking-plaster wife can do, unless he joins the ranks of the missings husbands. And even then he is not safe because the villain will still pursue.

Unfortunately no one has yet been able to concoct any recipe for reviving a man's affections for his wife once he has lost his taste for her. Apparently wives are like food. A man may be so fond of his wife, as he is of caviar or corned beef and cabbage that he feels that he could just eat her up and then suddenly, without rhyme or reason, he is just fed up with her. She is no longer his dish and he doesn't want to look at her across the table any more.

So there you are, and millions of other men are there along with you and nobody knows what to tell them to do about it, except to say that respect is pretty good substitute for love and, after all, it certainly must be flattering to a man's vanity to be hounded by a wife who follows him about like a dog.

Obituary

GEORGE EDWARD GRAHAM.

George Graham, 229 Edinburgh Street, a resident of Peterborough for 32 years and an employee of the Quaker Oats Company for the past 25 years, died suddenly at his home on Tuesday morning in his 50th year.

The late Mr. Graham was born in Lakefield the son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Graham, Peterborough. He was a member of Knox United Church.

He is survived by his sorrowing wife, and two sons, Max with the R.C.A.F. overseas, and Terry at home, and his father and mother. There are three brothers, William A. Graham, Harvey Township, Sherman E. Graham, Peterborough, and Harold V. Graham Detroit, Mich.; also one sister, Mrs. Gerald Thorndyke, Detroit, Mich.

The funeral service will be held on Thursday at 2 p.m. from the D. Belleghem Funeral Home, 190 Hunter Street, and the Rev. H. J. Mahoncy conducting the service. Interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. T. J. JOHNSTON.

The funeral of the late Mrs. T. J. Johnston, wife of the late Lt.-Col. T. J. Johnston, was held Saturday at Knox United church, the Rev. Fred Craiak officiating.

The death occurred on Thursday at Mrs. Johnston's home, 186 Reid street, in her 83rd year. She was a vitally interested member of Knox church, although in recent years she was not able to be an active member due to ill health.

She and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1938 and Lt.-Col. Johnston predeceased his wife by two years.

Her pleasant smile and kindly disposition won the heart of anyone coming in contact with her. Surviving are her two daughters, Mrs. Roy Porter, Otonabee, and Mrs. Everett Hales, Peterborough. There are two sons Stanley, Veterans' Guard, Farnham, Que., and Ernest, Peterborough. Two sisters Mrs. R. Morrison, Peterborough and Mrs. George Lockie, Kamloops, B.C., a brother Richard Moncrief, North Monaghan and five grandchildren are left to mourn her.

Pall bearers were Norman Moncrief, S. E. Moncrief, Stewart Hogg, Kenneth Moncrief, Bruce Sargeant and Robert Hamilton.

The many numerous floral tributes showed the esteem in which she was held by the community.

Be Sure of Yourself on Dance Floor

Don't Be a Wallflower

Why don't you learn to dance? A girl is never so lovely as when she is dancing well. You needn't be apologetic because you are unfamiliar with the latest steps.

With diagrams that show you just how to place your feet in each step it is easy to learn, in privacy, at home. The sketch shows the basic fox-trot step. Try it.

Knowing the popular dances you'll never have to stumble blindly after partners, wondering what steps they're doing. You'll skim along easily, gracefully—your hips under your body, weight over balls of your feet!

Our 32-page booklet has the clear, simple footprint diagrams to teach you the fox-trot, waltz, rumba, tango, slow fox-trot, Conga, shag and popular variations. Also tells how to hold yourself, lead and follow well.

For your copy of "Home Course in New Ballroom Dances" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

LOW FINESSE IS PRETTY

FINESSING of a small card on an early round always looks spectacular. Many such plays by fine cardsmen look fancy to kibitzers of average grade, but some of them are utterly obligatory. There are occasional contracts which cannot be made by any other method, so that the effort must be made.

After West led his diamond J, there was plenty of work to be done by the astute declarer, who was Walter Beinecke, chairman of New York's Inter-Club Contract league. He could count only three certain tricks in spades, four in hearts, and two in diamonds, which left him with three club tricks needed if the spades did not divide evenly. To get those seemed out of the question unless West held the heart J. That finesse had to be tried on the first round or not at all, as he had only a singleton to lead.

So he won the diamond J with the K, in order to leave the A in dummy as a re-entry, then immediately led the club 5. When West played the 8, he called the 9 from dummy, and it held. The club K was sent to the A, and the diamond 9 came back to the A. Three more clubs were cashed, plus three high hearts to make the contract.

Mothers To Benefit

London, May 19 (CP)

SQUADRON LEADERS Paddy Finucane and Keith Truscott had a week-end windfall of £1,000 ($4,500)—but it won't do them any good.

John Wren, Melbourne sportsman, asked the two fliers to share the gift as a token "of personal appreciation and gratitude for amazing gallantry" against the German air force.

But regulations prohibit acceptance of money for services in performance of duty.

That didn't bother Finucane's flying. He went out yesterday and bagged his 32nd German plane.

Wren now intends to give the money to the pilots' mothers.

Use Less Newsprint

MONTREAL, May 19 — (CP). — Total apparent newsprint consumption of all U.S. publishers amounted tod 318,063 tons in April, 1942, the Newsprint Association of Canada reported during the week-end. This compared with 334,799 tons in March, 341,986 tons in April, 1941, and 319,024 tons in April, 1940.

Blast Kills 3

McKECHEN, W.Va., May 19. — (AP). — A terrific explosion killed three men in the Hitchman Coal and Coke Company mine early today and seriously burned two others. The company announced that 10 other miners in the affected area escaped unhurt. Cause of that explosion is not known.

Chinese Relieve Paoshan Of Jap Threat

CHUNGKING, China, May 19 — (AP). — Chinese reinforcements pouring across the Salween river for attacks on the Japanese in Yunnan province around Lungling and Tengyueh have removed completely a Japanese threat against the important Burma Road city of Paoshan, Chinese dispatches said yesterday.

The Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported that fighting in Yunnan province, where the Japanese are attempting to smash deep into China by her back door, was confined to territory west of the Salween river. It asserted it was impossible for the Japanese to cross the river in large numbers, much less push deeply into Yunnan province.

The Chinese announced yesterday that their troops had defeated Japanese columns probing northward of the Burma road on the west side of the Salween in Burma.

A communique said a Japanese column which had moved northeast of Lungling, on the Burma road, had been driven all the way back to the highway, with its strength cut in half.

Tengyueh now held by the Japanese, is 25 miles west of the Salween and 35 miles northwest of Lungling. Paoshan next objective of the Japanese on the Burma road, is 180 miles by the highway from the Burma border.

Staying In Fight

Chinese quarters said the Chinese expeditionary force in Burma was largely intact except for one division which suffered fairly heavy losses in eastern Burma.

They emphasized that this body of soldiers could easily return to China if it desired but it would remain in Burma and attempt to harass and exhaust the enemy with mobile warfare.

(The Japanese news agency, Domei, reported the Japanese were pursuing British and Chinese forces still in Burma and were within four miles of the Indian frontier.)

Ta Kung Pao said the Chinese planned to build new bases in Eastern and Northern Burma.

It added the Japanese operations largely were confined to railways and highways and that the Chinese forces had shifted to the hills, where they could meet the Japanese on event terms. To attack in the hills, the Japanese would have to leave their heavier armament behind, it was said.

"The very presence of these troops will give the Japanese sleepless nights in plans to invade India or intensify the attack on Yunnan," the newspaper said.

Church In China Topic Of Meeting

BRIDGENORTH, May 19—(ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Frank Leach. The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. J. L. Trumpour, in the chair. Mrs. W. Nicholls gave an interesting talk on "Stewardship of Life." The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Frank Leach and Miss L. Udy gave the chapter, "The Chinese Church Comes of Age' from the study book. 'Serving with the Sons of Shuh."

Mrs. Clayton Telford sang a delightful solo, 'Art thou weary and heavy laden." Mrs. Trumpour gave a very interesting report from the stewardship conference that was held recently in Peterborough. At the close of the meeting the hostess served a dainty lunch and a social half-hour was spent.

Capt. Jones and George Gimblett, Jr. of the Peterborough Fire Brigade voluntarily came out to Bridgenorth to lecture and demonstrate first-aid at the Red Cross Home Nursing Class. Each class member was taught individually how to perform artificial respiration. Although they were unable to bring the pulmotor for a demonstration, the class were invited to go to the Fire Hall with Miss Cunningham, Reg. N., for a demonstration. At the close of the meeting W. Glover moved a vote of thanks to the men.

Friends of Allan Mann, who is confined to St. Joseph's Hospital, will be pleased to hear that he is resting much easier following the accident he had on Sunday. He is now allowed to have visitors.

W. Glover is spending some time at his cottage in the Adirondack Mountains, near Vermont, U.S.A.

Sergeant Saves Ten In Airline Crash

Sergeant Carl Dinius, INSET, was the hero who saved 10 lives in the crash of the Northwest Airlines plane at Miles City, Montana, airport. Trapped in the plane with the others, Sergt. Dinius smashed a window and succeeded in squeezing through and forcing the plane door open from the outside of the burning plane. Three persons died in the crash. All were Northwest Airlines pilots.

Digest Is Made Regulations Regarding Rents

New regulations relating to leases and tenancies have been abridged by Judge Sheldon Sp ke, and copies of this diges have made thei way to the offices of artime Prices and Trade Board, both in Peterborough and Toronto.

The new rental order respecting the giving of notices 'o vacate require the landlords to give: (a) three months' notice in case of a monthly tenancy; (b) notice according to the law of the province in cases of other leases not for a definite period.

(c) In case of a lease for a definite period of more than three months unless notice to vacate is given by the landlord three months prior to the end of the term, or a demand for renewal has not been given by the landlord, and a notice of renewal has not been given by the tenant, the tenant may at his option move or remain. If the landlord before accepting any rent requires that the tenancy shall be a monthly one, then the tenancy is thereby treated as a monthly tenancy, terminable on three months' notice. In the absence of such requirement by the landlord the period of tenancy created by the payment and acceptance of rent shall be governed by the law of the province.

Any notice given in accordance with the above provision setting out the special circumstances referred to in Section 16 of Order 108 other than those giving the reason that a sale has been arranged, is now operative and valid without any application to the court provided that should the tenant serve upon the landlord a notice of renewal within fifteen days then the landlord must apply to the court within fifteen days from the receipt of such notice of renewal. In case the landlord does not apply to the court within fifteen days after a notice of renewal has been given, a lease not for a definite period, but on a monthly, quarterly, half-yearly or yearly basis shall be deemed to have been renewed on the same terms and conditions, and in the absence of agreement to the contrary for the same period as the lease in existence at the time, except in cases where the lease is for a definite term of three months or longer in which case the renewal is for a further period of one year.

The result of this notice of renewal is that the tenant may have a determination of the court as to the validity of the notice two months prior to the date upon which the notice requires him to give possession, and

(d) In any case where notice to vacate is given the reason being that a sale of the property has been arranged, in the case of housing accommodation, the sale must be one to the buyer for his own use, or for the use of his parents, child, or for any one habitually residing with him as a member of his family; and in the case of commercial accommodation that the property will be used by the buyer himself, and in every case the landlord must deliver to the tenant the undertaking of the buyer that the property will be used and occupied by the buyer, or by the person for whose use the buyer has purchased the property, for the term of at least one year.

Upon receipt of this notice and undertaking from the landlord the tenant may within fifteen days after such a notice has been received by him give notice in writing that he requires an application be made to the court, and in that event the landlord and the buyer must jointly apply to the court for an order, whereupon the court must be satisfied that the sale is one of those contemplated by the order.

It must be understood, however, that this order does not protect any tenant who may allow his rent to get into arrear for more than fifteen days, or who may be breaking any covenant in the lease other than a covenant to vacate.

These cases still come under the law of the province, and insofar as arrears are concerned the landlord is entitled after fifteen days to enter into possession of the property.

Bewdley Sewers Have Busy April

BEWDLEY, May 19.—(ENS)—The following is the list of articles made and turned into the Red Cross branch of Port Hope for the month of April from the Bewdley unit: 7 quilts, 5 pair seaman's long stockings, 1 girls' sweater, 3 hospital gowns, 3 pair children's knitted short stockings and 3 girls' blouses.

During the summer months the weekly Red Cross meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Goss, using her spacious sun-porch as a work room.

The boat liveries of Bewdley have been busy getting out their boats and preparing them for the week-end opening of fishing.

Jack Hibbard who underwent a serious appendectomy in a Peterborough Hospital is making favorable progress to recovery.

Little Larry Manley, who has been seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia and whooping cough is recovering.

Dr. Turner Guest Speaker

MILLBROOK, May 18—(ENS).—Dr. H. A. Turner gave the lecture for the Home Reserve Nursing Class on Friday night, covering in a comprehensive manner the theme "Care of the Mouth and Teeth." The relation which the condition of the oral cavity bears to the general health, particularly the processes of digestion, and the absolute need for proper care of the temporary teeth in children, were among the features covered in detail. The previous lecture was given by Dr. Agnes Moffatt of Peterborough, bringing a wealth of information on the correct care and feeding of young children. Next week Dr. M. E. Hobbs will address the class, which now numbers over seventy members, on "Communicable Diseases." The new study manuals were given out at the close of Friday's lecture.

Activity at the Red Cross work rooms was confined to quilting and shipping, donations including: $11.25 from the Junior Red Cross of the Continuation School, brought in by the president, Elle Best; $5.60 from Fairmount W.M.S., and $5.00 from Mrs. Lloyd Sutton; a baby's knitted bonnet from Miss M. Finnimore, and a child's pullover from Mrs. James Stewart.

Articles shipped included: 1 boy's knitted suit, 1 blouse, size 8 years, 1 afghan, 3 pullovers, 2 pairs felt bootees, and 2 pairs baby's mitts; also 2 cakes of soap.

A handsome oak china cabinet was the gift presented to Col. A. V. and Mrs. Thorne at the surprise party held at their home, south of the village on Wednesday evening, attended by over one hundred neighbors, and friends from the countryside and surrounding points. The event was in honor of their marriage within recent months, J. N. McGill, a military associate of Col. Thorn, acting as chairman, W. H. Coombe reading the address, and Austin Thorne, J. J. Lunn and G. T. McPherson offering the gifts on behalf of a wide circle of friends. A fernery, with a lovely sword fern included, was also presented, the kindly thoughtfulness being acknowledged by the groom in well-chosen words.

Brief addresses by several of those present, cards, dancing, and the service of refreshments rounded out the evening's entertainment. The address was signed by Mrs. A. F. Strong, Mrs. J. J. Lunn, and A. H. Thorne. Mrs. Thorne was formerly May Earle, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Earle, and a popular member of the young peoples' groups of the village and countryside.

Mrs. Franklin Bannister and daughter Barbara have been visiting in Bowmanville during the past week, Captain Rev. F. H. Bannister now overseas, having held a pastorate in that town previous to his enlistment, and been granted leave of absence for the duration.

Joan Deyell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deyell, formerly of Millbrook and now of London, England, has taken a wireless course, and is now enlisted in a Women's Service Corps and detailed for duty at a seaport town in the Mother Country. Another local girl is now at Kingston, in the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Corps Ruth Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards, leaving for her new duties on Wednesday. Ruth comes of a military-minded family, having two brothers in khaki, Albert in England with an anti-aircraft battery, and Arthur with the Midland, and now in the Canadian West. Her father was in the 136th Durham Battalion in the last war, and a younger brother Vincent is training with the 2nd Midlands weekly at the local Armouries.

Accompanying Ruth to the C.W.A.C. at Kingston was Pat Moyles, daughter of Sergt. John Moyles and Mrs. Moyles, formerly of Millbrook and now of Peterborough. Patricia's father was overseas in the last war and now enlisted for active service in the present world conflict.

Reeve Is Riled Claims Dealer Hoarding Tires

HASTINGS, May 19 — (ENS). — This village's first salvage campaign was a complete success. Although the salvage stored in William Wellman's garage has not yet been weighed it is expected to run well over five tons. Trucks for the collection were supplied by Francis Kennedy, H. G. Fairman, and Walter Fowlds.

Noticed nestling among the large amount of paper, scrap iron and rubber tires collected, were three complete bed frames and two workable looking lawn mowers.

Referring to the local drive, Reeve L. E. Kelley intimated that he was not at all satisfied with the proposed disposition of the collected material. He is particularly averse to the fact that valuable material such as aluminum and copper is turned over for prctically nothing to a scrap-iron dealer.

"We have to accept any weight these dealers care to state, thereby the Red Cross stands to lose considerable needed funds. It is reliably reported," he continued, "that a dealer in the Hastings district has amassed a large quantity of used rubber tires and stored them. If rubber is as scarce as it is supposed to be this man should be reported to the proper authorities."

Reeve Kelley suggested that the government should designate a central depot such as Toronto, to which salvage could be dispatched at regular intervals. He said that Hastings' citizens would and could fill a railway flat car with salvage several times a year.

This method, the Reeve concluded, would not only eliminate much unnecessary work and expense but would also conserve gas and rubber for the war effort.

Bonarlaw News

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Matthews spent Thursday in Belleville.

The many friends in this community of the Rev. Mr. Quarterman will regret to learn of his serious illness. Mr. Quarterman suffered a heart attack while attending a W.A. meeting at Harold last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Squire of Havelock spent Sunday at Mr. Clarence Wellman's.

Mrs. Dave Wellman received a letter last week from the Royal Rifles at Quebec stating that letters and parcels could be sent to Kong Kong. But there was no information of her son, Rifleman Dave Wellman who was reported missing from Hong Kong December 14. Several letters from boys in England have stated they heard he was a prisoner of war.

Suffered 18 Months From Awful Pains in Arm and Leg Muscles, Nervousness, Backache, Loss of Sleep. Declares Syntona Gave Him Grand Relief.

MR. WILLIAM CASTLE

"I am glad to give a public recommendation for Syntona because in all my life I never took anything that gave such marvellous relief," said Mr. William R. Castle, well-known farmer of Denfield, Ontario.

"For the past 18 months I had awful pains in my joints and across the small of my back. I'd get severe cramps in the muscles of my arms and legs. Many times the pain was so bad it would take some time before I could straighten out. They would often awaken me at night, then I'd become very nervous and couldn't get back to sleep.

"Besides this trouble, I suffered a lot with my stomach. Food caused gas pains, shortness of breath, and belching up of hot, sour liquid. I was subject to dizzy spells, spots darting before my eyes and frequent sick headache.

"I read in the paper so often what other people were saying about Syntona that I finally got some and began taking it. In a very short time I noticed that my stomach felt better. I could eat regular meals without having trouble with gas, sour stomach, or acid-risings. Then the aches and pains began to go away. Now I am glad to say I am entirely free from those awful muscle cramps, backache and sore, aching joints I haven't been troubled with dizziness, spots before my eyes or headache since. I sleep soundly at night and feel better in every way.

"I give Syntona full credit for helping me this way and recommend it very highly to everyone else who is in the same condition that I was."

Make up your mind to try this famous Herbal compound. Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Air Force Recruiting

Announcement

Attention is drawn to the new regulations whereby transfer to the Air Force is not possible after recruits have reported to an Army training centre.

All those within the age groups subject to call under the National Resources Mobilization Act who wish to apply for air crew duties, R.C.A.F. pre-enlistment observer or pilot academic courses, technical aeronautical courses, or who feel that their qualifications would be more useful to the Air Force than the Army, should apply to the nearest R.C.A.F. recruiting centre.

If candidates cannot be accepted immediately in the R.C.A.F. those qualifying in certain categories may enlist and be posted on leave without pay until required to report.

Naval Daring Gave Allies Madagascar

Ran Reefs In Dark To Outwit French Toll Under 100 Dead

By W. F. HARTIN
Special Correspondent of the London Daily Mail
(Exclusive, by Courtesy of the Mail)

DIEGO SUAREZ, Madagascar, May 20.—Fewer than 100 killed and about 350 wounded—this represented the small cost in casualties to British combined forces in their capture of Diego Suarez to forestall any Japanese attempt to gain this strategic naval base in Northern Madagascar.

The full story of the combined operations over the Coral Reef and almost roadless northern peninsula of Madagascar can now be told.

They were so daringly planned that the French thought them impossible and made no preparation to meet them.

They provided for our convoys to arrive, under cover of darkness, inside a dangerous series of rocks and coral reefs which form a ring around the bay on the west side of the island. It is separated from Diego Suarez—an immense land-locked harbor which is larger in area than Scapa Flow—by a serrated and overgrown peninsula some 25 miles wide.

Recently installed six-inch and 3.7-inch batteries commanded the wide horizon of the bay, but so satisfied were the French that no large ship could thread the dangerous channels through the reefs in

Army Uprisings Threaten Boris' Bulgar Rule As Food Shortage, Leanings To Russia Grow

ISTANBUL, May 19—(Delayed)—(AP).—Reports that the regime of King Boris of Bulgaria was threatened seriously by Communist unrisings in the Bulgarian army, reflecting widespread discontent throughout the Axis-aligned nation, were received here today and given considerable credence in informed Allied quarters.

A neutral traveller reaching here from Bulgaria said the uprisings developed into a distinct threat to the Government during the last half of April and, although actual outbreaks were suppressed, considerable fear was felt there might be further disturbances.

This informant said that after the April uprisings, reportedly carried out by a definitely identified element within the army, 140 officers were arrested and some of these later were shot.

Other reports have been received here during the past few days that widespread arrests and an increasing food shortage in Bulgaria were causing strong unrest in the country whose people have a deep-rooted sympathy with Soviet Russia.

Five Bottlenecks Overtake Hitler, Struggles Now To Equal Allies

By EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LISBON, May 20—(AP).—Hitler's problem no longer is one of staying ahead of the Allies' war output. Now he has a struggle to keep up with it.

Five serious bottlenecks stand in his way—the chronic and growing shortage of raw materials, sabotage and lack of manpower, transportation and electric power.

Production figures, naturally, are State secrets. What meagre hints or official indications that get out are open to suspicion as attempts to mislead.

An estimate by a source with access to reliable information, however, has put Germany's airplane production potential at between 2,200 and 2,500 planes a month. Her total of planes is believed to have risen from about 10,000 when the war started to about 25,000 now.

Yet the need for airplanes grew so urgent last fall that Goering ordered to the eastern front all planes reserved for testing and experimentation. Aircraft engineers who had been on new designs were instructed to concentrate on boosting production.

From one plant alone, it was said, one of every four engines was being turned back for overhauling after only a few flights.

Submarines slid from the ways at a rate estimated at to 18 a month. But Germany is not building capital ships because, say naval officers, she cannot and still keep up other needed naval building.

One Plane Carrier

Her only aircraft carrier, the Graf Zeppelin, is said to be lying in Goteshafen harbor only 80 per cent. completed.

With unlimited manpower and raw material resources, naval experts believe, Germany could produce 25 to 28 U-boats a month.

There are no reliable estimates on tank production, but Nazi dif-

Labor Shortage Critical In B.C.

OTTAWA, May 20—(CP).—Elliott M. Little, Director of National Selective Service, announced at a press conference today that he will leave tonight for Vancouver to study a serious labor shortage in British Columbia.

Need for manpower is more acute on the Pacific Coast than in any other part of Canada, he said.

"Several very critical situations have developed out there," Mr. Little added. "Output of airplane spruce from Queen Charlotte Islands is not up to requirements. Base metal production has been reduced in a couple of British Columbia mines."

There was also a need for men in the woods.

Discussing labor needs of Canada at the moment, Mr. Little said there is an "over-all shortage" in British Columbia.

40,000 Fire Bombs Are Dropped

3 Canuck Squadrons Help Paste City Others Hit St. Nazaire

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 20—(CP).—Heavy forces of British bombers, including three R.C.A.F. squadrons attacked the German industrial city of Mannheim and the submarine base of St. Nazaire last night.

One formation of four-motored Stirlings alone carried 40,000 fire bombs to Mannheim. The attackers included other types of Britain's newest bombers — Halifaxes, Lancasters and Manchesters, as well as the older Wellingtons.

They attacked the important industrial centre with a 'great load' of incendiaries and the 'heaviest high explosive bombs.'

"First reports of the crews give an encouarging description of the many fires left burning and of heavy high explosives bursting among industrial buildings," the official report said.

It was disclosed today that in the resumption of the attack on German war production, after a weather-enforced lull of 11 days, the three Canadian squadrons taking part were commanded by Wing-Cmdr. A. C. P. Clayton of Vancouver, 26-year-old holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross and Bar; Wing-Cmdr. D. A. R. Bradshaw of London, Ont.; and Wing-Cmdr. J. Fulton, D.F.C., A.F.C., of Kamloops, B.C.

The air crews told of huge fires left burning in Mannheim, second largest inland port in Europe and the site of a number of important factories. Among them are the Bandische Anilin Chemical Works, the Lanz Armament Works and the Dailmer-Benz Armament Works.

"Many high explosive and incendiaries were dropped right on the target area," said the intelligence report of the raid.

Authorities called the attack a heavy one by a "powerful force" of bombs. While the raid on Mannheim and on the St. Nazaire sub-

Hamilton Man Admits Kidnap

HAMILTON, Ont., May 20 (CP)—John Harwood, 41, of Hamilton today pleaded guilty to a charge of abduction in connection with the disappearance of a seven-year-old girl from the Children's Aid Society Shelter here last Friday. He was remanded to Friday for sentence.

Harwood and the child were brought ot Hamilton early today by police officers who travelled yesterday to Kingston, where Harwood was arrested. Jean Miller of Hamilton, arrested yesterday on an abduction charge in the same connection, was remanded to Friday for trial when she pleaded not guilty.

Inspector Alex Lougheed testified at Harwood's trial today that the child, Ruth Fletcher, knew Harwood as "Uncle John."

"Bombing Germany Allies Best Assistance To Russia Till Second Front Attack Hits Continent"-Cripps

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, May 20 — (CP Cable).—Bombing Germany is the best way of assisting Russia "until such time as we are able to make a carefully-planned attack upon the Continent of Europe which we intend to do," Sir Stafford Cripps told the House of Commons to-day.

Answering criticism in the second day of a war debate in which Prime Minister Churchill is not participating, Sir Stafford, who is Government Leader in the House, declared the Government is ready to face a vote of confidence if "any substantial body of members" desired it.

Mr. Hore-Belisha conceded that the Government should not be "hounded into opening a Western front against Germany," saying that would be perhaps "the biggest undertaking in British military history, and worse than not undertaking it would be to undertake it and fail."

Defending Mr. Churchill's conduct of the war, A. P. Herbert told the House that members who spoke of "disaster after disaster" had painted a one-sided picture.

"The man responsible for Hong Kong and Singapore is also responsible for Tobruk, for Malta, for the sinking of half the Italian Fleet, for the sinking of the Bismarck and the Graf Spee,' said Mr. Herbert, Independent member for Oxford University.

"If we are going to have this sort of stocktaking, we are entitled to say that this man is responsible for the fact that during the last 12 months the people of England have been able to sleep in their beds and the wheels of industry able to revolve uninterrupted, and that's very much the reverse of what has been happening in Germany."

Register Jobless 16 to 70

Call Even Retired Men After May 31—In Tight Labor Fix

OTTAWA, May 20—(CP).—Compulsory registration of practically all men betwen the ages of 16 and 70 who are not gainfully employed has been ordered, Elliott M. Little, Director of National Selective Service, announced today.

Mr. Little told a press conference that the registration will be carried out through Unemployment Insurance offices in areas where such offices are located, and through post offices in other places.

Men affected by the order must register within one week after May 31, and must continue to register once every two weeks.

The registration included retired persons. The only exceptions to the order are students—regular attendants at schools, colleges or universities; scientific or technical personnel; and men confined to penitentiaries, asylums or hospitals.

The registration will provide National Selective Service officials with a progressive record of men not now holding jobs who may be considered available to help meet the expanding labor requirements of wartime Canada.

Gainfully-employed persons already have been registered through the unemployment insurance offices across Canada.

Tight Situation.

"We are approaching a tight labor situation and labor shortages are reported from many sections of Canada," Mr. Little told the newspapermen. "Yet we are aware that there are still unemployed men in this country.

"At present we do not know how many unemployed there are, how many of them are unemployable, what occupations they are fitted to undertake, nor where they are located.

"We must know these things to handle the task of fitting men to jobs.

"It is unreasonable to allow an uncontrolled condition to force women into industry while breadwinners are unemployed. Housing, tran portation and other factors enter into the problem of directing men to employment, but such factors cannot be considered except in the light of what manpower is available, and where it is available."

100,000 Jobless?

One estimate placed the number of unemployed in Canada at 100,000 Mr. Little said. "More accurate in-

OTTAWA, May 20 — (CP). — Munitions Minister Howe is going to investigate the building of wartime houses in St. Catharines, particularly the house in which G. H. Castleden (C.C.F., Yorkton) said the plaster had fallen between the joists.

Mr. Castleden brought the matter up in the House of Commons yesterday and said he found one house with no basement, no foundation, and with the interior plasterboard poorly put on.

Mr. Howe asked: "Is that an expert opinion I have no indication these are shoddily built houses."

Accused Slayer Faints In Chair

NEW YORK, May 20—(AP)—Ali Shonbrun, co-defendant in the murder trial of Madeline Webb and another man, collapsed in his chair at the counsel table today and was carried from the courtroom by attendants.

Miss Webb, 28-year-old model, rushed to Shonbrun's side. She was in tears as he was carried from the court room and she sought to stay at his side but was restrained by court attendants.

The trial in which Webb, Shonbrun and John D. Cullen are charged with slaying Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, a Polish refugee, in her hotel suite early last March, was recessed.

Dr. Perry Lichtenstein of the district attorney's office examined Shonbrun and reported his collapse was the result of a "nervous reaction."

Murray Hirschl, Shonbrun's uncle and key state witness against the three defendants, was on the witness stand at the time of Shonbrun's collapse.

During the cross-examination yesterday, Hirschl who was also indicated for first degree murder in the case, made several admissions that he was a thief and a liar.

Eugen Gone Again

London, May 20 (CP)

An authoritative source said today there is no evidence at present of the extent of damage caused to the German Cruiser Prince Eugen in the torpedo-plane and bomber attack Sunday night nor is there information about her whereabouts.

He asserted that generally speaking Germany made its warships better able to withstand torpedo attacks than Britain.

The reason, he said, is that British ships have to be designed for long periods at sea under all kinds of climatic conditions and can not be cut up into as many subdivisions as German ships.

Boche Blitzer Of Crete Now In Kerch

Russians Penetrate Centre Of Kharkov As Hun Threaten South

LONDON, May 20—(CP).—Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's drive toward Kharkov was reported by Russian sources today to have penetrated "into the heart of the city's defence," while in the battle-torn Kerch isthmus of the Crimea the Nazis were believed massing 100,000 parachutists for a mighty air-borne invasion of the Caucasus.

Indications that Hitler is preparing to hurl powerful air forces into susch an attempt to hop the Kerch strait, which halted his troops last fall, were seen strongly in the announcement in the Berlin communique that a Gen. Baron von Richthofen is on the Kerch peninsula.

It was Von Richthofen who directed the bombing of Belgrade and who later paved the way for Germany's aerial invasion of Crete by the use of hundreds of high level and dive bombers to smash ground resistance on the island.

A cousin of the late Baron Mannfred von Richthofen, ace of the First Great War, who finally was shot down by Capt. Roy Brown of Toronto, he is an expert on troop carrying by plane-towed gliders.

One British source said that if the Germans succeeded in their counter drive toward Izyum and Barvenkova, 80 miles south of Kharkov, it would be a serious threat to "a very

Kharkov Thrust Timed To Upset Blitz

Von Bock Not Losing Many Men But Timoshenko's Toll of Tanks, Guns Costly

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
Associated Press Staff Writer

It now is time to come down to earth and recognize the battle of Kharkov for what it is.

It is not an overwhelming offensive action by the Russians against a "half-dead" German army, nor are the Germans being encircled, or annihilated or are they fleeing in disorder.

It is rather, a shrewd, well-timed and sustained tactical thrust of local character against a German force of sinister size and power which was all but ready to leap at the oil of the Caucasus from at least three directions. It is intended to capsize the arrangements for that Caucasian offensive by ripping up the German lines of forward communication and transport and by grinding down the new mechanical weapons which Hitler has assembled in great quantity in the Ukraine.

From the last standpoint Marshal Timoshenko's offensive has been initially successful. There is evidence that the Nazis have lost a great many tanks and guns and that they have had to draw upon their offensive reserves.

It does not appear, however, that the Germans have lost a great many men or, indeed, that infantry has played any major part in the action.

In addition, the Russians themselves disclose that the German Gen. Von Bock has evaded envelopment of any great part of the 2,000,000 men he is supposed to have in the Ukraine.

The Germans have begun a counter-offensive in the sector Izyum-Barenkova, a deep flanking action below the southern end of the arc which the Red Army was swinging around Kharkov, and well to the east of the furthermost point of Soviet advance below Kharkov.

Until this is dealt with, the Red Army cannot safely extend its lines to the southwest of Kharkov in the direction of the Germans' main communication arteries.

Fighting has spread over 150 miles or more of very fluid front, and, because of the strength of German fortifications before Kharkov and because of the power of the enemy's counter-attacks, Russian frontal assault on the city has been on somewhat of a treadmill basis, a great grinding of steel against steel in which the Russians as well as the German undoubtedly have sustained severe mechanical losses.

Meantime the Nazis have gained at least domination over the Kerch peninsula of the Crimea, although it is important that the extravagant claims which the enemy is making in connection with that action be taken with reserve.

Now eight days old, the Battle of Kharkov proceeds, and Timoshenko's skilful and well-equipped army is able to hold the initiative today in what the Germans confess are strong attacks and hard struggles. The enemy still holds Kharkov and may retain it, along with the bulk of the German southern army, but every day that the Russian assault goes on there is more security for the truly vital Caucasus.

Holland For Himmler?

Gestapo Chief Takes Over Netherlands Units

LONDON, May 20 — (CP). — Heinrich Himmler, head of Germany's gestapo, has taken command of Netherlands Nazi storm troopers in addition to his continued control of the German storm troopers and police in the Netherlands, the Stockholm newspaper Tidnigen said today in a dispatch relayed to the Aneta News Agency.

This followed a Stockholm report last night to Tass, Soviet news agency that the Germans planned to incorporate the nation into the German Reich as an autonomous province to be known as "Neidermark" under the rule of Anton Mussert, Netherlands Nazi leader.

A spokesman for the Netherlands Government warned Hollanders in a broadcast from London that such a development appeared likely in view of the arrival of Himmler in the Netherlands.

The execution of 96 persons accused of plotting to aid an Allied invasion, rearrest of all former Netherland army officers and cadets and seizure of 460 prominent citizens as hostages were among German retaliatory measures in the past week.

1,000 Bombers A Night

Surprise Of Allied Air Command For Germany

LONDON, May 20—(CP).—Allied Air Commands are aiming at expansion enabling them to send 1,000 bombers a night against German targets, an authoritative source indicated today.

"At present we have the facilities for sending 800 planes on raids, and these can be expanded."

The capacity of Britain as an air base has not yet been fully developed, he added.

"The objective is expansion so great that on any night with good weather conditions we will be able to send 1,000 aircraft to bomb Germany," he said, pointing out that this would not mean every night.

The German high command said today strong German air formations overnight raided Hull, English town on the Humber estuary, while eight bombers made a daylight attack on factories on the British south coast.

WARTIME HOUSING PROGRAM WILL COST CANADA 30 MILLIONS

War Houses Defended In Commons

Alberta Tar Lands Report Expected Ready By Mid-June

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 20—(CP)—Having debated the Wartime Housing program, gasoline rationing regulations, oil production possibilities and shipbuilding at length, the House of Commons was expected to move into high gear today in its debate on the War Appropriation Bill.

At the close of last night's sitting, Resources Minister Crerar said four weeks had been spent on the war appropriation debate and he asked that all possible speed be made with further discussion.

The Wartime Housing program, estimated to cost $30,000,000, is designed to provide homes for those engaged in war industries who have moved from where they formerly lived.

Answering criticisms of the house, built by Wartime Housing Ltd., Munitions Minister Howe said their price was reasonable and they were designed only to meet a temporary condition.

Mr. Howe said that by mid-June the Government hoped to have a complete report on possible development of the Alberta tar sands. Operation of a small pilot plant in the tar sands had not been completely successful. If warranted, there might be direct Government investment in the sands as a means of fuel supply.

"A good many problems" had to be dealt with before a large scale plan would be warranted, "that is, a plant running into tens of millions of dollars."

Search for oil was being encouraged elsewhere in Canada with good prospects observed in the Peace River area.

Freighter In 80 Days

The Munitions Minister said the shipbuilding program was expanding constantly. At midnight last night two west coast yards were scheduled to launch a 10,000-ton freighter each, one being completed in the record time of 80 days since the first piece of steel was laid for the keel.

Regarding gasoline Mr. Howe said it should be recognized that pleasure driving was to be a real luxury. Gasoline was to be for those who had a real use for it in connection with the war effort.

Power requirements were extensive, the minister told Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) but he did not expect government plants would be constructed.

Mr. Howe said the duty of a new government company, Park Steamships, Ltd., was to allocate government-built ships to steamship companies which would operate them on routes where they were required and protect the government's interests in their operations.

Rev. A. M. Nicholson (C.C.F. Mackenzie) said he had no criticism of the estimated amount of $30,000,000 had to be repainted overnight and sent east last Fall at the height of the 1941 campaign in Russia.

GASOLINE stations in rural areas more than five miles from a city will be allowed to remain open one evening a week, Munitions Minister Howe announced in the House of Commons late today.

The windfalls of booty from conquered countries help in the first two years. Now however, vital tin is being scraped almost to the bottom, the loot from the Ukraine admittedly will not be available this year, and the entry of the United States in the war along with the Allies' unexpected economic staying power has pushed the Nazis' production to the limit.

No less than 12 Government agencies try to round war production out of industry and tell the laborer where he must work. All of Hitler's recent speeches have demanded greater sacrifice for greater production.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels and the Nazi party wheelhorses have been beating the drums for more work and more results and there has been ruthless extermination of saboteurs.

There is no way to determine just how hard sabotage has hit the German war plant or German war production but Hitler himself has shaken his fist at saboteurs, threatening to track them down and exterminate them.

Gestapo Everywhere.

However, there are clues. New decrees have threatened even death for false reports on raw materials, labor reserves or needs in manpower or supplies to fill war contracts.

Gestapo guards watch every vital factory, every bridge, waterworks, gas and electric plant. Gestapo troubleshooters are posted in apartment buildings and stores as a precaution through German cities.

Workmen, especially foreigners, are watched closely in factories. Still, at least 1,000,000 shells shipped from Czecho-Slovakia to the Russian front were reported to have been duds.

A prison camp at Moabit in the centre of Berlin, is filling up with prisoners accused of sabotage, both Germans and foreigners, especially Czechs.

There are daily notices in the newspapers and on official news pillars in the streets of persons beheaded for sabotage or "damage to the national economy."

darkness that the batteries were manned only during daylight.

Thus, when in bright moonlight at 2 a.m. May 5 our light craft led in a large ship convoy, we were able to take up our anchorages unhindered with a minute of the scheduled time.

Caught Enemy Off Guard

Probably the Royal Navy has never carried out a more daring or more mathematical exact picture. It was something the enemy had not even envisaged in his defence plans and it brought us, at daylight, to the back door of one of the most coveted harbors in the world.

I can now correct the impression about our casualties. They probably total fewer than 500, instead of the 1,000 originally estimated. The wounded now are known to number about 350 and it is reasonable to assume the figure of dead is under 100. The higher estimate was given because a number of our troops were pinned down by sniping fire during the grueling day Wednesday and found themselves unable to get into touch with headquarters for nearly 24 hours. In their perilous position they were written off for operational purposes, as missing.

The main landing brought us to the straggling, dusty track which links up with the 28-mile track, the back door of Diego Suarez. The bulk of our attacking forces, consisting of Welsh, Lancashire and Scottish units, were poured onto the beach.

Strange varieties of caterpillar tractors—specially evolved for this kind of ork, tugged tanks and lorries out of the warm shoal water in which they had been dropped and shoved them over the yielding sandy spit to firmer ground. Through a powerful broadcasting amplifier, a bronzed 22-year-old beach master was shouting orders to a dozen landing craft 100 yards out telling them at which point to beach so that they came shoving in, one after another, line trains arriving at a terminus.

In the half light next morning, planes of the fleet air arm were seen circling enemy positions. Suddenly heavy reverberations shook the earth as bomb after bomb screamed to its billet. Later, sweep after sweep of fighters came roaring down a few feet above the glistening treetops. It as a thankless task. As the roar of machines came close, the sniping fire died down, to increase again as the dwindling note of the engines told of their departure.

Destroyer Runs Gauntlet

A diversion caused by the marines that night won our position at Antirane. One of our destroyers took on 50 marines from another warship and made a dash through the narrow entrance at full speed, guarded by the point-blank fire of defence batteries on either side. She got through and swung her stern onto the narrow wharf at Antirane.

Armed with tommy guns and festooned with grenades, the marines leaped ashore while the destroyer's pompoms and machine guns kept up a noisy covering fire. The object of the landing party was to create confusion in the town, but their numbers were so small that, in cold print, their orders read like those of a suicide squad. Actually there was only one casualty. The detachment of marines gave the impression of large forces and, coming to a high wall of the naval barracks, began tossing their grenades over. They created such noise and alarm that a French officer appeared immediately with a white flag of surrender.

Altogether during the night the R.A.F. lost 12 bombers and two fighters.

While bombers were hammering at St. Nazaire, fighter planes raked enemy airdromes in France and Holland, downing one of the enemy planes which rose to challenge them.

No Fooling There

Authorized sources said "hundreds" of bombers were used against Mannheim and St. Nazaire.

It was the 54th raid on Mannheim. The 53rd raid was carried out Feb. 14.

On the home front, a town in northeast England underwent a short attack by German raiders during the night in which there were a number of casualties and damage.

The raiders scattered incendiary bombs over a working-class district, starting fires which left hundreds homeless.

High explosives also were dropped. First casualty reports showed that at least 12 persons were killed and a number of others were injured seriously.

The last heavy raid on Germany was made the night of May 8, when a powerful force bombed the Baltic Sea port of Warnemuende, near the previously hard-hit city of Rostock.

"Unfavorable weather is the only thing that keeps us away," said a British authority, noting that the German air force was deterred by similar conditions.

The last appreciable German raid on Britain was also May 8, when East Anglia was attacked.

Fierce Nazi Counters Flung Back

Russians Continue Nearing Kharkov, Lines Hold In Kerch

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 20—(AP).—The Red army still was smashing closer to Kharkov despite stiffened German resistance and sharp counterattacks, battlefront dispatches reported today, declaring that fighting was spreading like wildfire along the entire southern flank of the battleline.

Carrying On In Kerch.

"Meanwhile, our troops are carrying on intensive battles with superior enemy forces in the Kerch peninsula in the vicinity of Kerch.

"Even greater battles are ahead."

formation would be available when results of the recent survey of employed persons was compiled.

The new registration of persons not gainfully employed will include those generally described as unemployable but many of them will probably ultimately find a place in Canada's war needs, Mr. Little said.

"What is an unemployable to-day may not be to-morrow if the needs are great enough," he said.

Information on immediate labor needs was only by hearsay and was not sufficient to establish a total figure for Canada.

"There is a general shortage of skilled trades and a local shortage of all trades," he said. "In British Columbia there is an over-all shortage."

"To win this war, every bit of available strength has to be utilized," Mr. Little said. "We recognize that many men who have sincerely wanted to work have not been able to get work, and we intend to end that condition as fast as our information and the machinery of administration can permit it.

"But we must know something about men before we can put them in jobs. We also must have co-operation from the employers in telling us where the jobs are going to be — anticipating their needs and telling us. We earnestly request employers to list their current and future needs with the employment offices.

"We also recognize that there are men who are able to work, who are in areas where work is available, but who have not voluntarily taken steps to fit themselves into the picture. When we know who they are, what they can do and where they can be most useful, we believe they will recognize their responsibilties."

Men who are not gainfully employed or occupied, no matter what their status or condition otherwise, must register, Mr. Little said gainful employment, while Canada is at war, means that every man who is able to work should be working at a job which contributes to the winning of the war, even if it means working at a job which merely releases another man for heavier war tasks.

After Retired Wealthy

There were able-bodied men in Canada who had not needed to seek employment because of fortunate circumstances, or who had been able to retire while still physically fit.

Cardinal Passes

ROME, (From Italian Broadcasts), May 20.—(AP).—The death of Alfred Cardinal Baudrillart, 83, rector of the Catholic Institute at Paris, was reported to-day in dispatches from the German-occupied French capital. Cardinal Baudrillart died during the night.

His achievements as a clergyman and historian won him recognition from his church and country, including elevation to the College of Cardinals Dec. 16, 1935, and election to the French Acamedy.

Riled Citizens Discuss Dismissal Of Port Hope School's Principal

PORT HOPE, May 20.—(ENS).—A tangled skein of fast moving events at Port Hope arising out of the desire of the High School Board to have G. L. Brackenbury, principal, resign, was no nearer clarification this morning, following a mass meeting of citizens, and teachers on Tuesday evening.

The ball started to roll last Friday when students held a meeting on the school campus and organized a parade to prove to the public they were indignant over the dismissal of this popular teacher, who had raised the school rating from 'C' to 'A.'

Taking a cue from the students, parents, and leading citizens brought their smouldering resentment into action with the mass meeting which attracted 300 people, and taxed the capacity of the Orange Hall on John street.

Highlight of the whole interesting picture seems to be that W. J. B. Davidson, chairman of the School Board and all other members of the Board have failed to satisfy any of the citizens who have sought to ascertain just why the principal was dismissed. Even newspaper reporters who have asked Mr. Davidson point blank, just why the Board took such action, have been told that absolutely no satement would be given at the present time.

Ratepayers Angry.

The tone of the meeting on Tuesday night indicated in no uncertain manner that the ratepayers were up in arms and were determined to assert their rights as the people who were financing the school. The final decision after three hours of deliberation that at times reached a fiery point, was that a committee of five men be formed to meet the Board of Education and demand that the Board make a complete disclosure of their reasons for seeking the resignation of Mr. Brackenbury. The committee consists of Charles Poynton, W. B. Anderson, Norman Strong, J. Thompson. These men will interview the Board and report back at another public meeting to be held at a later date.

J. F. Johnstone retired bank manager and Norman Strong, Port Hope merchant, called the meeting and at the request of Mr. Johnstone Mr. Strong took over the chair. In their opening remarks the two men said they were good friends of the School Board, but they were not satisfied as yet that sufficient reasons had been advanced to warrant the action of the Board, hence as British subjects they wanted to see justice done.

Mr. Johnstone told the meeting that he had learned Mr. Brackenbury had advised the School Board when he was hired eight years ago, that if the taking of an odd drink, playing golf on Sunday or indulging in a game of penny ante once in a while made him undesirable as a teacher, then he was not interested in the contract. At that time the Board had no objection whatever to these commonplace pleasures.

Chairman Abesent.

At this point the citizens decided they wanted the chairman of the Board at the meeting, so Mr. Poynton offered to drive over and bring him back if he would accept the invitation. Mr. Poynton found the Board in session at Mr. Bonnevilles house and returned with the statement that they did not wish to take part in the public meeting.

"Has Mr. Brackenbury resigned?" asked one man.

"He has not, but he has been dismissed," replied Mr. Johnstone.

Mrs. Joseph Sheehan stated the members of the school staff would gladly attend the meeting if the citizens wished, and the applause was deafening. A few minutes later the entitre staff with the exception of Mr. Brackenbury walked into the hall.

C. Poynton objected to the dismissal of the principal because the man was a master in science and chemistry and one of the outstanding teachers in these subjects in Eastern Ontario. Moreover he could not be replaced at the present time.

Several letters were read one of these being from the Ontario Federation of Teachers, in which they voiced opposition to the dismissal of the principal. Another interesting article was read at the meeting, and it consisted of a report by two members of the Teachers' Federation who had come to Port Hope to make a complete investigation into the action of the Board. Their enquiries and queries uncovered the fact that there seemed to be some bad feelings between J. T. George, a member of the Board, and Mr. Brackenbury. Their conclusions were as follows—"In view of the very apparent differences in the versions of the incidents; in view of the apparent high standard of work in the school; in view of the willingness—in fact a distinct desire—of the Principal to have all his sins exposed to the public gaze by a Board of Reference; in view of the fact that the staff appear unanimously ready to support Mr. Brackenbury unless damaging evidence appears, of which as yet they have no knowledge; in view of the fact that many of the criticisms we heard in relation to internal management of the school which in no way concerned the trustees, the Federation Committee of Investigation are very strongly of the opinion, that if the health of the Minister of Education will permit it, the principal and one or two members of the Board, and perhaps one or two staff members, should be asked to convene in the office of the Minister of Education for a frank discussion of the whole difficulty."

A Petty Thing

One incident that apparently has aided the Board in making their decision, took place last fall when Mr. Brackenbury took five boys to a rugby game in Toronto, made arrangements to meet them at the King Edward Hotel and spent the evening with his old friend J. P. Boyd principal of the Adam Beck School. Through car difficulties, Mr. Brackenbury was late getting back to the hotel, and the boys had left the hotel and spent the night in another hotel. Four of the boys' parents got up at the meeting and said the boys had admitted being at fault, and a motion was made by W. B. Anderson, seconded by V. Smith, that Mr. Brackenbury be absolved of all blame for leaving the boys in Toronto on the night in question. The motion carried. The letter from Mr. Boyd substantiating the reasons for the delay in getting back to the hotel was read.

The meeting framed a petition which will be signed by the citizens and turned over to the Board. Last night 118 people signed it. The petition was as follows: Whereas it has come to our notice through the press, and other sources that the Board of Trustees of Port Hope High School has requested the resignation of the principal, G. L. Brackenbury, without a fair hearing, and hereas British institutions and democratic rule demand personal consideration of relevant facts, herewith set forth—

1. The Academic standing of the school has improved under the principalship of Mr. Brackenbury with 95 per cent of successful contestants in Upper School examinations last year. "The results are the best in 25 years," the Board chairman said at Commencement last year.

2. The staff feels that an injustice has been done, against the principal, and have stated that under his direction there has existed a spirit of unity and friendly cooperation, which is an important factor in producing the highly satisfactory results mentioned by the chairman.

3. Eighty to 90 per cent of the pupils at present attending the school attest their support of the principal and have shown their indignation in an effective manner.

4. Other interests than academic have been successfully developed and as a result, for the first time in the school history outstanding recognition has been won in track and football competition. Also, a creditable cadet corps has been well organized.

We the undersigned having knowlodge of the facts (supported by documents) and having also a sincere interests in the progress and integrity of the Port Hope High School and its pupils do protest the action of the Board of Trustees, and lend out support to Mr. Brackenbury in any action which may taken to secure his re-instatement as principal."

A Moral Lifter

KUIBYSHEV, May 20 —(AP)— Maj.-Gen. Nikolai Zhuravlev declared today that the Nazi offensive in the Kerch Peninsula of the Crimea "was launched more from propaganda considerations than strategic reasons" in an attempt to win a victory somewhere, however small.

The Soviet Army tactician said German soldiers and officers have lost confidence in themselves and their leaders.

The Nazi leadership, he said, "believes the only way of restoring this confidence is to score some victory, however small, in the early spring."

"With this aim in view," Gen. Zhuravlev added, "the Fascist command launched the operations in the Kerch Peninsula where the German army has considerably the better position."

Lansdowne St. Man Gets Garden Lot

Fourteen applicants for city garden lots responded to the news item in the Examiner this week announcing that persons desiring to grow vegetables for their own use this season have only to ask for the land.

"You said something about distance," Relief Officer Metheral commented today. "One of the men who applied this week lives on Lansdowne street, right on the south boundary of the city, and the lots are on the north border, so distance did not stop him. He is working and intends to go up in the evenings and look after his lot.

They are not just for people on relief. Any one can have a lot if he will undertake to use it. We had the land plowed last fall and again this spring, and it was recently cultivated, so it is a good condition. There are quite a number of lots left, and we would like to see them all taken. I'll be on the ground up there Thursday evening after 6.30 o'clock, and I hope there will be a big turn out of new applicants."

The property is immediately west of the Queen Mary Hospital.

A PRACTICAL TIRE SAVING PLAN FOR EVERY MOTORIST

IRRESPECTIVE OF THE MAKE OF YOUR TIRES

The Dunlop Tire Saving Plan involves no contracts, no long-term or other obligations, and no urging to purchase any service other than what you strictly require. It offers no priority rating to users except on service and strictly within government war regulations. Every Dunlop dealer has committed himself to help Canada's War Effort by absolute adherence to the law. No patriotic motorist would want a dealer to do otherwise.

But the Dunlop Plan does mean that you will serve Canada better by making your tires last longer . . . that you will get more mileage than you ever enjoyed before from your tires . . . and that this service will give you increased driving safety every mile you travel.

This Card Entitles Bearer To Preferred Service Under The DUNLOP TIRE SAVING PLAN
MAKE YOUR TIRES LAST LONGER AND BRING VICTORY NEARER DUNLOP TIRE AND RUBBER GOODS COMPANY, LIMITED
A1456

First Instituted in August, 1941

Nine months ago, Dunlop-Canada presented, for the first time in Canada, a wartime tire saving service dedicated to the conservation of one of the most precious assets in the world today . . . RUBBER.

That Tire Saving Service is still benefiting many Canadians and is still available . . . not only to Dunlop users BUT TO ALL MOTORISTS, IRRESPECTIVE OF THE MAKE OF TIRES ON THEIR CARS.

No Needless or Unnecessary Expense
Work Done Only When Required

Remember, under the Dunlop Tire Saving Plan, no unnecessary work is advised or undertaken: it is an intelligent Tire Saving Plan under which work is done only where it is needed and all such work is performed on A MINIMUM COST BASIS. In other words, the motorist pays only where actual service is necessary and then pays a minimum charge. The Dunlop Tire Saving Service, too, is fair to all. Careful drivers under this plan naturally pay less than careless drivers. Those driving long mileages should pay for more necessary services or repairs as the case may be. We feel this is more beneficial to the greater number of motorists rather than by averaging the same cost among all. The careful driver is not being penalized and made to pay for the abusive driver or the one who is able, even under restrictions, to drive long mileages over hard roads.

DUNLOP DEALERS 7-POINT TIRE SAVING SERVICE

(You will be given a Preferred Service Card entitling you to special call on your Dunlop Dealer's time and service facilities. No dealer will issue more cards than he can service efficiently.)

1. INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL TIRE INSPECTION—The Dunlop dealer will remove all tires and thoroughly inspect them inside for the presence of small cuts or bruises. He will also examine them outside and remove nails, glass and gravel. He will advise you of any signs of faulty wheel alignment or wrongly adjusted brakes. (Tire repairs where necessary will be made at low current charges.)
2. ROTATION OF TIRES—When replacing your tires the Dunlop dealer will rotate them so as to even wear and prolong the life of your tires.
3. TUBE INSPECTION AND REPAIRS—The Dunlop dealer will completely check tubes for weakness or leaks.
4. RIM SERVICE—Rims will be scraped, painted and treated with graphite if required.
5. TIRE PAINTING—Your tires will be painted as required.
6. VALVE SERVICE—All valve caps and valve cores will be checked and replaced where necessary.
7. SERIAL NUMBERS—The Dunlop dealer will gladly provide you with the serial numbers of your tires, and we suggest you always carry them with you for emergency identification.

Motorists should get tire air pressure checked when purchasing gasoline. (Service stations have most excellent equipment for this.) Normally it is not necessary to lay up your car to have all 7 points done at one time, although all can be quickly completed in one undertaking.

If it is time for internal tire inspection, then all tires must be removed and points 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 can all be taken care of at the same time.

Only a few dollars are involved in the major points if you have these done. Valve service involves only a few cents for the replacement of valve caps or cores.

Your Dunlop dealer will do only those jobs that are absolutely necessary, and those are the only ones you will be obliged to pay for.

Any Dunlop dealer will estimate and show you how few dollars are involved to have any part or the complete 7 point service done. If you are a long-distance driver and your tires are subject to unusual abuse, we suggest you get the complete service twice a year.

Drive in today to your nearest Dunlop dealer. Ask him for the Dunlop Preferred Service Card and have your first tire check-up under the Dunlop Tire Saving Plan.

Tax Rate Set In Port Hope At 43½ Mills

PORT HOPE, May 20.—(ENS)—The regular meeting of the Port Hope town council took place on Monday night in the council chambers with a full attendance.

A resolution was moved by W. Moore and seconded by F. N. Belyea that a special committee meetning of the council be called for Thursday evening, May 21, at 7:30 for the purpose of organization of a civilian defence committee, and that one representative from Rotary, Lions Club, Canadian Legion, Home Guard and Ex-Service Men's Club, I.O.D.E. and Red Cross organizationss be asked to attend.

Buying Coal

A resolution was passed that the town property committee be authorized to purchase thirty-two tons of coal for the town hall to be divided equally among the coal dealers.

Notice was given that at the next regular meeting a bylaw would be introduced by W. Moore to amend existing by-laws covering the salaries of the office staff.

The salaries of the chief of the fire brigade as well as the assistant chief, three drivers and seven men were raised in accordance with a bylaw passed at this meeting.

Tax notices will be mailed on or before June 1 with a 2 per cent discount being granted up till June 15 and 1 per cent up till September 15.

A bylaw was passed setting the mill rate at 43½ mills.

Stirring Appeal For Red Cross

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20 (ENS).—That we need the Red Cross and the Red Cross needs us was the note sounded in a message delivered for the benefit of the local branch here on Tuesday afternoon.

The advice was given in an effort to direct attention to the current drive for which Campbellford and Seymour have been asked to raise a total of $3,500 or $500 more than the objective set locally during the drive eighteen months ago. Actually, this will mean, that citizens of this district will have to dip down almost twice as far as they did then since all that as gleaned in 1940 was a little over $2,000.

Although, according to local treasurer, J D. Mills, ninety-five per cent of the canvassing has been completed in the township, much work remains to be done in town

Council Defers Permission For Wrecking Yard

COBOURG, May 20 — (ENS). — Cobourg Town Council disposed of a light budget of business at its regular meeting and decided to hold a further meeting next Wednesday to discuss matters requiring immediate attention. H. Ferguson, who some time ago applied for permission to open a wrecking yard at his premises on Division Street North, and whose application was laid over pending an inquiry by the council, was present at the meeting to explain the situation. He told the council that he would build an eight-foot fence around the one-acre lot which would present a neater appearance than its present state. On the suggestion of Councillor Joseph Delanty, council deferred the matter until the next meeting so that the applicant would have time to get a signed statement from nearby residents stating that they had no objection to the presence of the wreckers' yard.

Council was informed that no tenders had been received for the job of putting a concrete top on the town creek where it runs under the northern store section. Contractors who had been approached all had the same story, that they couldn't get labor to do it.

Reeve Roy Dodge told the council that there had been a misunderstanding between the Cobourg branch of the Navy League and Hamilton township over the salvage collection and that this had all been cleared up to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. The Navy League is not to collect in the township but is asking truckers who have volunteere their services for the township drive, to collect instead for the rural drive which will be conducted independently of the local one.

Councillor Bob Love suggested that the tax collector move his office from its location in the town clerk's offices upstairs, to the office on the main floor which is soon to be vacated by the provincial police. The provincial police are moving to the second floor. The council felt that if the tax collector's office was on the main floor it would be easier to find and would save citizens the steep climb up the side stairs to the clerk's office. Councillor Love's proposal was referred to the Finance Committee.

Another matter which council will discuss tonight will be the question of tax arrears on certain lots in the town. Committee reports were passed as follows:

Highways and Streets, $1,405.92; Public Buildings and Printing, $54.61; Police, $94.26; Fire, Water and Light, $28.26; Health and Sanitation, $8.98; Finance, $137.21; Relief, $188.60.

Cheese Grading At High Level

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20 (ENS)—Chief of the Federal Grading Staff, T. J. Hicks, and Federal Grader, James L. Irwin were none to confident in the tone they expressed to cheesemakers of this district at a meeting here last Wednesday, but according to a report on their gradings for the week they could now view the situation with much less alarm.

Out of 16 lots (717 cases) of cheese graded only one factory was caught with under grades getting a consisten 89 score for its entire offering. Of the others, 12 lots were in the 93 class and three were 92's. A year ago the initial grading of the season took place here on May 13th and then only 419 boxes were inspected.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Mosses of the Federal Department of Agriculture's Marketing Services was in town to talk over box-making problems with cheese and box-maker Grant Anderson and dairy instructor J. A. Murray. He discussed the conditions in this district with the two men.

Evidence that the milk is rapidly nearing last year's peak production is seen from the figures collected from some of the large factories located in the Campbellford area. On Tuesday the patrons of Rylstone plant delivered 17,500 pounds, of which Mark Shortt was the leading contributor with 812 pounds, and Barnum Brothers next with 795 pounds. At Crow Bay 12,200 pounds was the receipts of milk for the day and Tom Southworth contributed 838 of these and Harry Barnum 574. Prince of Wales weighed in 8,300 pounds of which Lindsay Watson's herd supplied 1,046 and Fred Hay 784 pounds. Other relatives figures in the district were: Ideal Factory, 13,400 pounds, with Ernest Anderson bringing 738 and Irvin Greenly 675; Cedar Creek, 15,900 pounds, with Morris Harrington bringing 874 and Lloyd Herrington 844; Morganston, 18,500 pounds, with Clarence Massey contributing 618 and Dick Knight 566 pounds.

Girls' Class Entertains Boys

PORT HOPE, May 20.—(ENS).—The closing activity of the Bible classes of the United church was held on Tuesday night when, at the close of a class competition held between the Boys' Bible Class of Mr. Gordon Garnett and the Girls' Bible Classes under the leadership of Miss Elsie Moon and Mrs. M. G. Hancock, the girls found they were on the losing side. The losers had to entertain the winners, which was done in a most fitting manner.

Almost sixty teen age girls and boys gathered in the Sunday school room at 8 o'clock, where a few introduction games were played and the crowd divided by birthdays into a group of nine who were each given a list of articles which must be secured on a scavenger hunt, the winning team returning in less than an hour with a pearl button with two holes, a colored picture of the king and queen, a raw peeled potato, a black and white hen feather, a Lincoln cent, a nail file, a grey silk shoe lace, a used Valentine, a ginkgo leaf, an artificial yellow rose, an empty blackjack chewing gum wrapper, a small five cent piece.

On returning to the Sunday school room games were played.

At the close of a very jolly game period, delicious refreshments were served by the girls and Keith Hodgert, president of the boys' class, thanked the girls for such a pleasant time and hoped this group would get together more often next year. Grace Warner responded on behalf of the girls' classes.

Town To Rent Weed Sprayer

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20 (ENS)—A request for sewage connection and a proposition to rent the town-owned weed sprayer and sprinkler were dealth with by councillors who convened for a special meeting in the clerk's office Tuesday afternoon.

Mayor F. F. Long, who presided for the session, revealed that A. Rappaport, who owned several lots immediately south of the property on which the Villa Trent is located and inside the corporation, desired to connect to the town's sewer and ater service at the north end of Front street. The Mayor pointed out that it was Mr. Rappaport's wish to proceed with the work while the excavation was still open as a result of some other work being done in the vicinity. Coincident with this request was the proposal to build either three or four small houses on these lots. Since it was a small expense for the corporation, and with an eye on future revenue, council authorized the connection taking care to add the provision that the service could be used only for such buildings as were inside the corporation limits.

It took longer to decide what action should be taken on the request of W. A. Hogle who made a proposition to rent the town's weed sprayer for the season at $50. He also wanted the use of the sprinkler for use in maintaining the Nursery Golf Club.

After listening to several proposals members decided to rent the machinery by the day or hour. This as finally incorporated in a motion by Councillor Anderson and Deputy Reeve MacMillan, which authorized renting the sprayer and providing the necessary maintenance and a man to operate it at $1.25 per hour with Mr. Hogle providing the necessary conveyance to move it.

Hamilton Officer Held In Cobourg

COBOURG, May 20 — (ENS). — Major Stanley Powell of Hamilton was picked up by Chief W. J. Carey and Provincial Constable David Adair yesterday after a local service station owner had complained that Powell was in his service station acting in a peculiar manner. Major Powell had also been reported as acting in a strange manner at Trenton and Brighton earlier in the day. It was learned by police from Powell's wife, that her husband had not been well. He was detained here by police until it was determined what should be done with him.

Afternoon Tea Aids War Work

PORT HOPE, May 20—(ENS)).—On Tuesday afternoon the Colonel Arthur Williams Chapter held an afternoon tea and display of their work. Mrs. Halford, who was in charge of the finances at the door, also sold tickets on crochet hot plate mats donated by Mrs. Whitfield.

The tea table was arranged with a cut-work cloth and centred with a large silver basket filled with spring flowers. From this table tea was poured by Mrs. J. L. Westaway. Tea room assistants were Mrs. Whitefield, Mrs. Brickell, Mrs. Roberts, who convened the tea and serving, also were Mrs. Mrs. R. Sainsbury, Mrs. Dear, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Harrison.

Several large tables displayed the work of the past six weeks, showing 6 complete layettes, 38 pair of knit socks, 4 pair gloves, 9 knit helmets, 2 pair pyjamas, 1 knit 6-year-old dress, 20 children's knit suits, pants and skirts, 30 sweaters, 1 afghan, 2 baby covers, 1 knee rug, 6 quilts, as well as many pairs of babies' bootees, mitts, bonnets, etc.

On another table was displayed used clothing, which is being packed for Polish relief victims in Russia.

At this tea $14 was realized which will be used for war purposes.

Sciatica Kept Him at Home

It is the wife who sends us this information about her husband's troubles. She writes:—"For some time past, my husband has been able to work only one week in two, on account of sciatica. He suffered so much from it that he could scarcely move for the pain. We tried many things, but without result. Then we saw in the papers an account of the good results that had been obtained from Kruschen Salts, and we decided to give them a trial.

For twelve months past, my husband has been taking his 'little dose' of Kruschen every morning. Now, he has no more trouble with the sciatica, and is working regularly."—(Mrs.) M.

Doctors estimate that one-half of civilized humanity suffers from partial constipation. This condition results in an unsuspected residue of waste matter, which poisons the blood and produces sciatica, as well as many of the mystery aches and pains from which people suffer. Kruschen keeps the organs of elimination in perfect trim, so that every particle of poisonous waste material is expelled gently, regularly and completely.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c. and 75..

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

THE FARMER
"Keeps 'em Fighting"

THE Canadian farmer has one of the biggest jobs of this war on his hands: to feed his fellow-citizens and to export the vast quantities of food required by our overseas forces, our kinsmen in the United Kingdom and our Allies.

In every way, the job is larger than in the last war. More countries have been overrun by the enemy, many cargoes are being lost at sea.

Demands on the farmer for increased production must be passed on by him to Canadian soil. Each acre must produce better crops. But soil can yield only as it is replenished and for this reason the Fertilizer Division of C-I-L is busy serving the Canadian farmer with its production of chemical fertilizers that maintain and increase soil fertility. Crops are protected against blight and pest with C-I-L Insecticides and Fungicides and Seed Disinfectants. Live stock is brought to earlier and better marketability by C-I-L Mineral Food Supplements.

Fertilizers, Fungicides, Insecticides and Seed Disinfectants are some of the C-I-L products of Industrial chemistry which are helping Canada's war effort.

Democracy And Education

President James B. Conant of Harvard gave an interesting address in New York Times Hall last week in which he made this provocative statement: "Equality of educational opportunity is still far from an accomplished fact." He went on to say that in the U.S. 1,200,000 young men reach college freshman age each year, and that of this number only 250,000 ever go to college.

With all the respect due to the head of the oldest seat of learning on this continent we ask, So what? Apparently only 20 per cent. of the young men in the U.S. go to college; is not this enough for the greediest educator? And as for "equality of educational opportunity" we do not see how such a thing can exist unless there is first equal ability to absorb and use education, and that can never be. It is our own opinion (and here we speak only of Canada, for it is not for our province to criticize the educational methods of our neighbors) that there is too little real education in this country and the first step which we would take to remedy this situation would be to make the college entrance examinations so hard that only 5 per cent. of the nation's youth could pass them. That, with the inculcation of the reading habit in primary and high school children would remedy the trouble in two generations.

Universities exist for two allied purposes: either they teach their students a specific skill, such as engineering, medicine or architecture, or they attempt to provide them with a broad and deep cultural background by teaching them history, philosophy, literature and languages. There is no point in sending youths to the university who have no special aptitude and no genuine desire to acquire either specialized learning or general culture. Too many young men regard the university merely as a four-years' postponement of the evil day when they will have to go to work; too many girls think of university life as a perpetual party with freedom from home restrictions. These young people have neither the desire for education nor have they the strength of will to refuse university training when it is offered to them. They simply clutter the lecture rooms and lower the general level of work, and the university would be poorer but happier without them.

"Equality of educational opportunity," if it means anything at all, means that those who really want university training and have the ability to profit by it should be assisted by the government to realize their wish. It does not mean that everyone, or almost everyone, should have three or four years at college. Not everyone has the same amount of brains, and it is no part of democracy to pretend that they have. It is the duty of democracy to see that those who have ability are given a chance to develop it, and to prevent mediocre intellects from hindering them in this course.

Really, we cannot share Dr. Conant's gloomy view. Nor do we feel that the man of ability is irreparably handicapped even if he never gets to a university. It is just one hundred and two years ago yesterday since Carlyle, in his lecture on Heroes and Hero-Worship, said, "The true university these days is a collection of books." That is still true. If a man has ability and sufficient schooling to be able to read, there is no limit placed upon him save that imposed by his own industry and talent. Let us banish this namby-pamby idea that several million dollars worth of masonry and four score learned professors are the necessary adjuncts of education. They can only help; all real education is done by the student himself.

New Stamps For Canada

The Postmaster-General, the Hon. W. P. Muloch, has advised Parliament that a new series of postage stamps will replace the present issue at the beginning of July. This is good news, for our stamps at present are not so handsome that we cannot bear the thought of a change. Stamps are a most important part of a nation's perpetual propaganda on its own behalf, and those which are in use now are decidedly dull in design. Let us hope that the new issue will be an improvement.

The designs for the new stamps are to reflect Canada's share in the war, with special emphasis on the armed forces, production of munitions and war supplies, and agriculture. The one cent stamp will be green as at present, with a picture of the King in naval uniform; two cents will be brown, with the King in military uniform; three cents will be red, with the King in air force uniform. The five-cent stamp will also bear a picture of His Majesty in naval uniform and it will be blue. We strongly approve this decision to keep the King's head on the stamps which are most commonly used; portraits of the reigning sovereign and heraldic designs are far the most suitable motifs for stamps. Scenic stamps, if they are to be used at all, should be used with great discretion.

Some of the less common stamps are to have scenes on them. The four-cent stamp will bear a picture of Canadian grain elevators, and it will be gray. The eight-cent stamp will bear a Canadian farm scene in sepia. The brown ten-cent stamp will have the House of Parliament with a Union Jack flying on it. The dark green thirteen-cent stamp will show a Canadian army ram tank; the purple twenty-cent stamp will show a corvette; and the brown fifty-cent stamp will show a munitions factory. The blue dollar stamp will show a destroyer of the Royal Canadian Navy. Especially interesting should be the ten-cent special delivery stamp, which is green and which bears the Canadian coat-of-arms and Union Jack, the naval ensign and the R.C.A.F. flag. A bluish-violet stamp costing sixteen cents will cover air mail and special delivery, and it will show an aeroplane in full flight. The ordinary six-cent blue air mail stamp will show a scene related to the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

Our present stamps are not things of beauty nor are they impressive. Let us hope that the new issue will be better ambassadors for Canada as they journey over the face of the earth.

Violent Action In Russia

A superficial examination of official and semi-official German statements during the past six weeks might lead us to believe that Germany was staking all upon her success in Russia this summer; it is well to remember, however, that she is also reported to be overhauling and strengthening her transport vehicles as though for another winter campaign. Perhaps Hitler hopes that, if he cannot succeed in getting what he wants in the Caucasus this year, he may be able to hang on for another winter despite the cold. It looks very much as though he might have an opportunity to test this idea, for his recent thrust toward the Caucasus has met with indifferent success.

It is now almost a year since the Germans attacked Russia. It was, in fact, on the 22nd of June, 1941, that the first thrust was made, and it continued successfully until almost the end of November, when the first hitch in German plans came about. It is good for us now to recollect how little faith we had in the ability of the Russians to stop the German forces; commentators and experts of all kinds rashly staked their reputations that Germany would roll up the Russians as she had rolled up everyone else. The way in which we grossly underestimated Russia should be a lesson to us for years to come; admittedly some of our misprision was due to Russia's deliberate policy of obscurantism, but not all of it.

That first defeat was when a spearhead of German troops which were making a dash for Rostov, the gateway to the Caucasus, was driven back; the Caucasus has been Hitler's real objective in Russia, for he must have the oil which is so abundant in that quarter. His drives toward Moscow and Leningrad were intended more to disable and subdue the Russians than to yield him any necessary prize. Oil was what he wanted and oil is what he wants even more now. It does not look as though he were going to get it.

Meanwhile Marshal Timoshenko's offensive in the Ukraine has met with brilliant success. He has already by-passed Kharkov, the giant industrial centre, and is pushing on, driving back the enemy in something which may develop into a route. This is precisely what the Germans had not counted upon; this is warfare as they have never yet encountered it in their latest assault upon the peace of Europe and the world.

The oil problem is more than serious for Germany; it is all-important. At present the Reich has access to about 9,500,000 tons of oil yearly and it has an annual consumption of about 19,000,000 tons. With Timoshenko pounding at the pivot of the whole of the southern German line, chances of success for Germany are anything but good.

A Great Scientist Passes

The world of science has lost a great figure in Professor Bronislaw Malinowski, the eminent anthropologist who died of a heart attack on Sunday; he was 58 years old and he had for some time been Visiting Professor of his subject at Yale. Besides being a famous scientist he was an eminent Polish patriot and was chairman of the exiled members of the Polish Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Professor Malinowski was born at Cracow in 1884 and received his Ph.D. from the university in that city in 1908. He filled several academic posts with distinction but he is best known for his field work in New Guinea and Northwest Melanesia in 1914, and it was as a result of this work that he formed his association with British scientists and achieved considerable celebrity in Britain; he was at one time professor of anthropology at the University of London.

He was a remarkably interesting lecturer and writer, and for this reason his work was better known than is that of most anthropologists. It is also a fact that, although his books were entirely scientific in outlook, their descriptions of sexual life among savages brought them a lurid reputation which caused Malinowski considerable amusement, as it ran up the sale of his books enormously. He was a vigorous opponent of Nazism and frequently wrote and spoke against it. He also held the somewhat novel view that the only justification for waging war was to end war, and he felt strongly that a decisive defeat of Germany, followed by a wise peace dictated by the United Nations, would come near to achieving this end. His loss will be felt not only by scientists but also by the exiled intelligentsia of Poland.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Says the Kitchener Record: "Opportunity is one knocker we are perfectly willing to put up with."

The Japs must understand that if they will travel on the Burma Road they do so at their own risk.

"The Ghost of Frankenstein Dressed to Kill" reads the notice on the marquee of the Regent movie house. Dressing suitably for one's work is a wartime duty.

Sixty used toothpaste tubes contain enough tin to solder all the electrical connections in a medium-sized bomber. This should give a new slogan to reluctant children: "Brush for Victory!"

A policeman in Detroit saw men coming out of a shoe-shine palor with dirty shoes, and upon further investigation he uncovered a betting agency. Obviously he spends his evenings reading Sherlock Holmes.

Viewed from afar this earth would appear to be in continual lightening; it strikes fifty times a second, or 2,000,000,000 times a year. The idea that the place is on fire may not be so far wrong after all.

George B. Cutten, the President of Colgate University, says: "Our highest ideals seem to have been two chickens in every pot, two autos in every garage, two caddies for every golf player, and two hair-dos every week." Yes and we tried to balance that budget of excess by doing half as much reading and a quarter as much real thinking as was necessary.

MOTOR FUEL DAYS

Schooldays, schooldays,
Now are motor fuel days;
Readin' and 'ritin' and 'rithmetic
Done for the sake of a ration tick;
X is the Unknown Quantity,
A is for those who wanted B—
  Oh, charioteers
  'Tis plain to see
We'll all have to get out and walk.

Schoolways, schoolways,
What with motor fuel days—
Many a poppa and gran'pa, too,
Back here to register, wandered through
Lingered in grades that fancy chose,
Pored over books that once were woes;
  Squeezed into desks
  And sat in rows
And dreamed of their days here as kids.

School daze, school daze,
Merged with motor fuel ways,
Finds us a-reading the Honor List
Noting that Junior's name is missed,
Talking with Teacher companionably
Acting the parent we oughter be!
  Not really so bad,
  This gas-card spree—
If it wakes up our pride in our schools.

So . . . .
Put down six and carry two,
  Oh-o-oh, woe-o-o,
Miles are many, gas are few
  Whoa-ooa, whoa-ooa,
You can add and multiply,
Urge your causes hard,
You will get what Teacher writes
On your ration card.

Mr. King Learns Too Late Of Propaganda

By Bruce Hutchison, Writing From Ottawa To The Vancouver Sun.

AMONG the bitter lessons of the conscription crisis, Mr. King has learned about modern propaganda, or rather the total lack of it, in his Government. If Mr. King had known as much about the art of publicity as he knows about the art of politics, the crisis might have been avoided altogether. Certainly it would be far easier to solve.

Mr. King's whole strategy was based on the assumption of a strong minority "yes" vote in Quebec. But Mr. King failed to build up this vote. He should have started long ago. He should have been educating Quebec in the needs and issues of this war from the beginning. He failed.

He failed, one imagines, for two main reasons. First, he counted upon a Quebec leadership in his cabinet which ended with the death of the great Lapointe. For twenty years Lapointe was Quebec in the King Government. Mr. King didn't need to worry about the French-Canadians. Lapointe would deal with them.

Lapointe died on the eve of the conscription crisis and there was no one to take his place. The tragic failure of the "yes" campaign in Quebec was the measure of Mr. King's French-Canadian Ministers. French Canada today has no leader in the national Government. It has a distinguished lawyer, who has not yet found his political feet, and two practical politicians.

Mr. King could not foresee Lapointe's death and that may explain why he did not attempt to educate Quebec earlier. So long as Lapointe lived that could be left to him. There is, however, a further reason. Mr. King does not seem to understand modern propaganda, doesn't like it, distrusts it and so far has refused to use it.

Mr. King is the product of Edwardian politics, which were the outcome of the Victorian school. It was a great school, which perfected our parliamentary system. But it certainly was not a school which knew anything about mass education. It had never heard of the radio or the movies. It depended upon the statesmanship-like speech in parliament, the official statement, the banquet utterance. Mr. King still clings to those methods, and uses them well—but they are not enough.

Long ago Mr. King should have established public information as one of the main departments of Government. He should have recognized public morale as one of the cornerstones of the war effort. Instead, public information had been an orphan, kicked about the cabinet. Instead of appointing a vigorous young man like Brooke Claxton as Minister of Information, Mr. King tossed the whole thing into the hands of Mr. Thorsen, a lawyer, who knew nothing about it and did nothing about it. Against these obstacles the propagandists of the Government have struggled perpetually. In Quebec the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation seems to have been under wraps also.

Mr. King's enemies meanwhile were not of the Edwardian school. They were not afraid to use modern techniques and to use them ruthlessly. The "no" campaign in Quebec was perfectly organized and every device of propaganda was used. The Government, depending on a few public speeches, on Mr. King's broadcasts, was no match for such a drive. Had it organized as well as its enemies it probably could not have secured a "yes" majority in Quebec, but it could have cut down the "no" majority very greatly. The fact that so many French-Canadians voted "yes" despite the failure of the Government's campaign indicates what might have been done if the campaign had not been botched.

From all this Mr. King must see now that it is no longer good enough to make good speeches and perform the management of politics from the top. It becomes necessary in a people's war to get down to the level of the people and talk in their language.

Not occasionally from the East Block, but every day, by the printed word, by the screen.

Mr. King's failure to understand this has cost him dear and will cost Canada dear. It is late now, but not too late to make public information, propaganda in the best sense, the constant supplying of facts to the people, one of the main functions of the democratic state.

WHAT SERBS HAVE DONE

IT IS EASY to understand why Hitler was so anxious last year to have Yugoslavia sell out to the Axis. He knew how easily his mechanized legions could overrun the little Balkan country. But probably he realized, also, that such a victory would be far from final.

When we win this war, we should do something nice for the Serbs. Thanks to them, the Nazi attack on Russia was delayed so long that winter saved Moscow, and gave us time to help the Russians. Meanwhile General Mikhailovitch's little guerilla army is tying up close to half a million Italians, Hungarians, Bulgarians, Germans and Croats who, otherwise, would be available for Hitler's spring thrust against Stalin. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

In my opinion a very long war now seems to be impossible because of the present rate of wear and tear in Europe —Paul Van Zeeland, former Belgian premier

• Invasion Jitters for Hun

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WHATEVER the actual purposes for which a powerful British-Canadian-American striking force is being mustered in the British Isles, there is sound reason to believe it is giving Hitler's generals a taste of the invasion jitters England has endured since France fell. And that is a far cry indeed from the war scene as it looked just a year ago.

Last May 19, the air above Crete, Britain's last meagre island foothold in Europe, was blossoming with thousands of Nazi parachutes. The first air-borne invasion in history was on; another British disaster in the making.

Invasion apprehensions in Britain reached a new high. Visions of mightier air-ferried armies deluging the tight little isle with German parachutists were conjured up to increase the gloom of the developing Crete disaster. That was a black day in England.

GOVERNMENT NON-COMMITTAL

Its first anniversary saw the announcement of safe arrival in Northern Ireland of strong reinforcements for the United States Expeditionary Force already there. Invasion became again the main theme of Parliamentary debates in London; but in reverse. It was not fear of attack; but ardent hope of an impending Anglo-American thrust into the Continent that key-noted discussion.

Prime Minister Churchill's spokesmen were non-committal. Second-front possibilities, they told questioners, were "in our minds" and also "in the minds of the German General Staff." Yet it was added that practical execution of any such project to aid Russia's valiant stand against the common foe must be "conditioned by transport problems."

That is true. It is equally true, however, that the first and longest step in mastering those transport problems has been taken successfully in safe passage to the British Isles, through submarine infested seas, of Canadian and American forces and their equipment for offensive action.

DEPENDS ON RUSSIA

When the day of invasion will dawn is another matter. The timing of a second-front operation would be conditioned by more than transport problems alone. It would depend as much upon what happen in the weeks ahead in Russia and upon the effectiveness of the British air offensive, soon to be supplemented by American Army bombers and fighters.

It has seemed quite clear to this observer that the timing of any Anglo-American counter invasion designed to squeeze Germany between two fronts must depend upon the extent to which German armies in Russia are engaged beyond withdrawal. Kerch and Kharkov are at best but the preliminaries of the battles to come in the East.

Neither the scope of the German summer offensive nor the dent the Russians have put in it at Kharkov are yet clearly enough defined to warrant immediate second-front expectations, unless in strictly limited form. Yet Northern Norway offers an increasingly inviting objective as summer draws on to safeguard Atlantic communication lines with Russia. And it is there, in rocky and remote Upper Norway, that Nazi fears of an early Allied invasion seem most apparent.

• Malta Fooled Experts

THOSE who have the task of preparing to meet the last big Axis drive cannot have overlooked the significance of Malta. The Nazis have paid an astonishing price for meager results in their long effort to knock out Britain's key base in the central Mediterranean. Over the last week-end they lost nearly 100 planes smashed or damaged, and their total loss over the island is estimated at more than 1,500 planes.

This is some measure of their interest in the Mediterranean. Added to the high losses of men and material sunk on the way to General Rommel, plus all the forces lost or tied up in Greece, Italy and North Africa the price of battering but not capturing Malta indicates that German strategy is not devoted wholly to Russia. The geopoliticians in Berlin may be trying to prove that the Mediterranean is only a lake or Hitler may feel that the value of threatening Egypt, forcing British supplies to go around Africa and protecting his Italian flank, is worth all the cost.

Before the war, "experts" said the airplane had rendered Malta worthless. It has, indeed, become a dangerous refuge or fueling station for big ships, but the British submarines that sink about one out of four of Rommel's supply ships still use it. Apparently air patrols are also based there. The British have somehow run in food for the 270,000 inhabitants and just recently more Spitfires for their defense. Despite some 2,500 raids and the smashing of 20,000 homes, the people have carried on so gallantly that King George has decorated the whole island.

One correspondent after visiting there attributed part of the "miracle of Malta" to its Bible-reading Governor, Lieut. Gen. Sir William Dobbie. Arriving in London General Dobbie said: "I trusted God and followed Him. I exhorted the Maltese to trust in God."—Christian Science Monitor.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Lord, what is man, that thou takest knowledge of him! or the son of man, that thou makest account of him! Man is like to vanity: his days are as a shadow that passeth away. . .

Rid me, and deliver me from the hand of strange children, whose mouth speaketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood: that our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace; that our garners may be full, affording all manner of store. . . .

Happy is that people, that is in such a case: yea, happy is that people, whose God is the Lord.—Ps. cxliv, 3, 4, 11-13, 15.

13 Days On Raft, 3 With Madman Sailor Saves Him

LONDON, May 20—(CP).—"Ask Frank Brothers—he'll tell you what happened the last four days— he saved my life," said Seaman-Gunner Edward Elliott.

Elliott had told all he could remember of the nightmare of 13 days on a five-foot raft in mid-ocean after a torpedoing. There were three men at first—Elliott, Brothers and a wireless operator.

Elliott and Brothers survived and were awarded the British Empire medal. Elliott recalled nothing of the last days, not even the rescue.

Doctors told the two they would never have lived through their ordeal had not the little raft been constantly awash permitting them to absorb moisture through their skin.

Brothers, tall, 29-year-old former police officer, supplied the missing chapter of Elliott's story when he arrived in Britain recently.

"The 10th day," he said quietly, "Elliott and 'Sparks' started to have hallucinations about food. 'Sparks' grew steadily weaker, went into a coma and died at 2 p.m.

"He had borne all he could with wonderful fortitude and courage. I felt we must bury him, but Elliott refused, saying we must first get a doctor's certificate.

"Elliott went through all the business of laying out the body. At 11 p.m. I told him that as a police officer I was allowed to sign death certificates. After much argument we put 'Sparks' body into the sea.

"I woke with a start early the next day," Brother continued. "Elliott had become homicidal. He said I had got rid of 'Sparks' but he had marked the spot where 'Sparks' was buried. He gave me two minutes to get out and called the time in half minutes though his watch wasn't working.

Thought He Was Shanghaied.

"Then he got me full in the face with a real 'pile driver.' He hit twice more, but I managed to knock him out. The rest of the day he was quieter. He forgot 'Sparks' but had a new hallucination that I had shanghaied him.

"The day after that—it was our 12th—Elliott decided there was a bar under our raft. He went down to get a drink, but soon came up spluttering. I hauled him in. Luckily there were no sharks about at the time.

"Then, for two hours he kept rapping on the raft, calling to somebody below named 'Harry' to pass up the beer. Elliott kept handing me beers. His eyes were glued on my face so I pretended to take the beer and drink it down.

"Later he got the idea there were people on the sea floor hauling the raft the wrong way. He kept yelling: 'Cast off, there,' and moved about continually. I had quite a time to keep the raft from upsetting.

"We were a solid mass of boils, and every movement was agony. To quiet Elliott, I put a bit of string with a knot in it near him. I had tied the knot tightly. He thought if he could untie it we would be free from the people on the sea floor. He worked at it for an hour. Finally, he dropped the string overboard and dozed off.

"When he woke he started in on Harry again," Brothers grinned. "Harry wouldn't bring the beer, so Elliott jumped overboard to fetch it. Somehow I got him back, but he went over again. Sharks were swishing around us then. They were near enough to pat. Sometimes they seemed to try to knock us off the raft with their tails.

"Elliott was worn out the next day and only semi-conscious. I held his head in my lap. The sea grew rougher and I was so weak the waves kept carrying my legs from one side of the raft to the other.

"At midday," Brothers concluded, "a ship appeared. It went right past us. But the captain happened to spot us with his telescope and he came about. That's how we were saved."

Asleep Up a Pole

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., May 20—(AP)—A power line rigger fell asleep on the job — it's lucky he fell no farther. A fellow worker saw him snoozing atop a 60-foot pole and "tip-toed" up the pole to arouse him gently so he wouldn't regain consciousness suddenly and fall.

Undersecretary Of State For Air In Ottawa

Captain the Rt. Hon. Harold H. Balfour, parliamentary undersecretary of state for air, arrived in Ottawa by bomber from Washington to join other United Kingdom delegates to the United Nations' air training conference. He is shown in this photograph chatting with Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of National Defence for Air, who was on hand to greet Mr. Balfour.

Germans Really Tighten Belt As US Enters War

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer Released From Germany

LISBON, May 20—(AP).—Hitler's declaration of war on the United States brought the sharpest, most sudden upward curve in rationing Germany has yet seen—giving the lie to the German propaganda ministry's claim the United States' entry into the war would be too late to affect its course.

There is perhaps no better way to demonstrate the manifest deterioration of the German economic position than to enumerate the more important restrictions we were able to cull from the German press during our internment in Bad Nauheim from the beginning of 1942 to May 7.

These restrictions and regulations follow in chronological order:

Jan. 7—A decree prohibited the exhibition in show windows of goods not available in normal quantities for sale in the store. Earlier, shopkeepers had been compelled to keep their windows attractively decorated with samples to give an impression of economic plenty. All such pretense was dropped four weeks after the United States entered the war.

Jan. 7—"Feldkueche," a one-dish field kitchen meal, was made obligatory upon all restaurants for Mondays and Thursdays. The people were told it was the healthiest thing imaginable for them.

Jan. 16—Tobacco rationing was tightened with the introduction of a smoker's ration card.

Saving Power.

Jan. 29—Restaurants were ordered to close at 10 p.m. to save electric current and economize on help.

Jan. 30—The ration of eggs for February was set at two a person. An inventory of potatoes in private homes was ordered with the understanding that those with reserves would not be allowed to purchase more for some time.

Feb. 1—Berlin hotels were advised they could not accept guests for more than three consecutive weeks or rent rooms for office purposes. Some persons had tried to overcome the coal shortage in their homes by taking warm hotel rooms.

Feb. 11—All fairs and expositions in Germany—including the centuries-old Leipzig Fair—were cancelled. This was an admission that German manufacturers had nothing to offer and the transportation problem was becoming more acute.

Feb. 13—The purchase of mourning clothes was restricted to the closest relatives of the deceased.

Feb. 14—Dancing was forbidden even at private parties.

Feb. 17—Copper coins were withdrawn from circulation and cheap metal tokens substituted.

Feb. 16—The press announced that many more enterprises producing goods for civilian needs would be converted into plants producing solely for war needs. Already some 80 per cent of civilian production had been stopped.

Feb. 19—Rationing of petroleum began.

Feb. 20—To save paper, families corresponding with soldiers at the front were told not to use envelopes.

No Seats in Trolleys.

Feb. 21—In Berlin, Breslau and other cities, seats were removed from street cars to permit the crowding of more people into already over-burdened public vehicles.

Feb. 21—Throughout the State of Hesse, and presumably in other places, special ration cards for alcoholic beverages were introduced.

Feb. 27—Butter rations were reduced to 62.5 grams (about two ounces) a person each week.

Feb 28—The sale of women's hats was banned.

March 6—The Food Ministry ordered a survey of all available truck gardening space throughout Germany.

March 14— Clubs, societies and benevolent instiutions were warned not to amass fortunes but to keep their incomes liquid and at the disposal of the country.

March 15—The collection of old and useless aluminum pots and pans was started.

March 17—Anyone applying for a special ration card was warned he could expect a visit by an official who would make certain the article was needed.

March 25— Propaganda Minister Goebbels announced profiteers and barterers would be punished with death.

March 31—Potatoes for planting purposes were put on the ration list.

April 5—All building permits previously issued were revoked by the Ministry of Munitions. The population was urged to put away leather shoes and use wooden shoes until late autumn.

April 15—Persons over 70 were told they might obtain a little more than one-half pint of milk daily if they gave up their meat allowance of 2.2 pounds monthly.

April 29—Topcoats were rationed.

May 1—Labor Leader Robert Ley told workers the greatest sacrifices were still ahead.

Holstein Breeders Remain By Date

The executive of the Holstein Breeders' Association considered briefly on Monday the incidence several agricultural meetings in the district on Saturday, June 6. They wished to avoid conflict with the spring stallion show at Millbrook that day, but as they were confident of having a prior claim by choice and publicity they decided to proceed with their program for the Holstein breeders of four counties.

It is expected that more than three hundred farmers will attend this outing. A judging competition will be held at Norman McConkey's barn, and picnic lunch along the lower reach of the canal providing permission is obtained from A. L. Killaly, superintendent. Miss Agnes Macphail has been invited as guest speaker.

One Sub Less

BAYOU LA BATRE, Ala., May 20—(AP) — A resident here got this post card message from his nephew, a former baseball player now with the United States merchant marine, and translated it to mean the sinking of an enemy submarine: "Played one game on wet field. Hit home run on second pitch."

Boy Scouts Are Aiding In Salvage Drive

GORE'S LANDING, May 20—(ENS)—The Boy Scouts under the leadership of Rev. Allan Johnson, gathered salvage for the Navy League collection on Saturday morning. In spite of rainy weather, the boys donned raincoats and rubber boots and worked hard calling at homes throughout the village. A large amount of scrap metal, tires, etc., were collected at Mr. Fred Harris's shed, ready for the truck from the Navy League.

The fishing season opened on Friday and the wet weather kept fishermen at home. On Sunday, many boats dotted the lake and a few pickerel were brought in. Three Ohio fishermen were at Cedar Springs but reported that gas rationing would not allow them to make many trips this year.

The rainfall from Friday to Saturday morning measured 2.43 inches. Rice Lake is very high on account of this very heavy rain.

The men of the United Church held a bee this week and completed sodding the ground in front of the new United Church Hall.

The young people of St. Paul's Perrytown, have extended an invitation to the girls and boys of St. George's-on-the-Hill to a social evening on Friday next.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. McGaw, Toronto, spent a day at their cottage "Kittiwake."

The W.A. of St George's are meeting on Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of planting the flower garden at the church.

Casting Breaks Tieing Up Line

A slight accident occurred on the C.N.R. lines between Hunter and Brock streets at noon Tuesday when the regular noon train from Toronto rounded the curve at Brock. Some hard object flew up and hit the wheel breaking the casting and spring on the lead truck on the left-hand side of the last car which was a private one.

After two hours, the wrecking crews were still working under the broiling sun to jimmy up the wheel so that it could be fixed enough to go into the yards. An engine stood by to clear the track as soon as possible.

"The damage was not severe," Mr. Bell, C.N.R. agent said, and that once down at the shops it would not take long to fix. The train was not help up as they detached the coach.

5 Over Malta Monday

CAIRO, Egypt, May 20—(CP).—British fighter planes battling the enemy over Malta shot down five German aircraft yesterday, Middle East headquarters of the R.A.F. announced to-day.

In addition three Italian planes were destroyed over the embattled island, making a total bag of eight for the day. The previous night one Italian bomber was shot down by British night fighters.

ST. PETER'S BOYS TROUNCE BARONS IN CATHOLIC LEAGUE GAME

McLaughlin-Owned Colt, Fairaris, Shows Good Work For 'Withers'

NEW YORK, May 20 — (CP). — Every rich stake race has its dark horse and the sixty-seventh running of the $15,000 Withers Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday is no exception. In fact dark horses are a dime a dozen.

Impressive in winning the Voters Handicap at Belmont last Saturday, Fairaris, a chestnut colt bred in England from the King's stables and owned by R. S. McLaughlin, Canadian motor magnate, is the latest possibility.

The 3-year-old son of Fair Trial out of the Friar Marcus mare, Nunnery showed himself to be a good horse here last fall as a 2-year-old. Saturday he turned in one if his best performances in winning the Voters from such seasoned sprinters as Dispose, Swing and Sway, and Birch Rod.

Fairaris was one of several Withers eligbles to be sent out on a tightening trip over a good track Tuesday morning. Fairaris went a mile in 1:40 3-5 breezing, and on out another furlong in 1:54. It was a workout impressive enough to add to the attention likely to be devoted to the Oshawa-owned thoroughbred Saturday afternoon.

They're All There

The Ontario colt will face all the prominent 3-year-olds which competed in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness. They include Al Sabath's Alsab, winner of the Preakness and second in the Kentucky classic; Greentree Stables' Devil Diver and possibly Shut Out, winner of the Derby; Ben Whitaker's Requested and Warren Wright's Sun Again.

Other probables which will complete a field of eight or ten starters include Apache, Fair Call, First Fiddle, Dogpatch and Domingo.

Alsab will have a mark to shoot at—his own. The last time the Sabath colt ran at Belmont he did the mile in 1:35 2-5 in winning the Champagne Stakes last fall, an unheard-of time for a 2-year-old and a world record for horses of that age.

An older Alsab could set a record for the Withers, which annually decides the mile championship among 3-year-olds. Man o' War set the record for the race at 1:35 4-5 and Snob II and Johnstown equalled it.

In recent weeks Fairaris' workouts have brought praise from the clockers, and in his last trial before winning the Voters Handicap the colt ran seven-eights of a mile in 1:26 4-5.

Just a Gallop

In the Voters Fairaris shouldered only 106 pounds, but he faced a more experienced field. He covered the six-furlong route in 1:10 2-5, fastest time of the season at Belmont and only two-fifth of a second behind the track record. At the end of the journey he was only galloping, four lengths ahead of Dispose.

Bearing the standard of the Parkwood Stables, Oshawa, Ont., Fairaris had a short-lived career as a juvenile after McLaughlin brought him from Britain last year. He started in five races within less than six weeks and won three, with one second and one third, earning a total of $4,335.

Fairaris was shipped from Canada to Jamaica last fall where he won a pair of allowance races. Among the horses he soundly trounced were American Wolf who won the Bahamas Handicap in Florida, Bright Willie and First Fiddle.

Fairaris' dam, Nunnery, a daughter of Friar Marcus and Picardy, by Picton, bred by the late King George V, was recently destroyed as a result of an accident aboard a steamship while en route from England to Brazil.

Twenty-three years ago another Canadian colt, Sir Barton, owned by J. K. L. Ross, made a virtual clean sweep of all the 1919 3-year-old specials in the United States. Some horsemen are calling Fairaris the "best since Sir Barton."

Kobesky's Ninth Whip Wings 4-1

By The Associated Press

Ed (Shovels) Kobesky is fast making Buffalo fans forget Ollie Carnegie, one of the most popular players to wear a Bison uniform. Carnegie was voted the most valuable player in the International League in 1928 — the year he hit 45 home runs for a Buffalo record.

Last night Kobesky hit his ninth home run of the season and his seventh in the last 10 games while helping the Herd to its sixth straight victory. Rochester Red Wings were the victims, 4-1.

Tom Pullig limited the Wings to four hits with the lone run being Harry Davis' home run in the second inning. Jim Levy of Buffalo also hit a homer. The defeat also was the sixth in a row suffered by Manager Tony Kaufmann's boys.

Nate Andrews of Syracuse, and Earl Center of Baltimore, hooked up in the best pitching duel of the season, a contest that went 13 innings before a score was made. In the 13th, the Chiefs counted three times to give Andrews his 3-0 shutout over the Orioles.

Center, although walking eight, was effective in the pinches and struck out 11.

In the only other game scheduled Jersey City Giants defeated Newark Bears, 6-5, also in 13 innings.

It was the first night game of the year at Newark and was played with the approval of the United States army's dim-out experts who previously had granted similar rights to the Little Giants.

Hugh East went the distance for Jersey City and allowed 12 hits. He struck out 11.

Although Montreal Royals did not play, they further increased their chances of overtaking Newark by acquiring Pitchers Bob Chipman, Chuck Kehn, and Catcher Cliff Dapper from the Brooklyn Dodgers. All are subject to 24-hour recall.

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Military Training Centre and the Peterborough Juvenile O.A.S.A. team will stage the second game in the City Softball League series at the Ashburnham Bowl tonight and there will undoubtedly be a big crowd of fans on hand, including scores of khaki-clad rooters from Exhibition park to see the two teams perform. The Soldiers had scores of players out the last couple of days trying for places on the squad and it is reported from camp that half a score of pitchers were in the list of candidates. Just how the Military Training Centre outfit will lineup tonight has not been announced but in all probability Pitcher Bucky Fleming will get the call. The former Orphan southpaw is in good shape and has had a couple of games in the Catholic League under his belt. Other certainties for the team would appear to be Shortstop Ossie Anderson and Outfielder Eddie Dixon. A fast fielding third baseman from the Point Anne club will likely cavort around the difficult corner and the Soldiers expect to be strong in all positions.

* * * * * *

As for the Juveniles they will be a cross-section of the juvenile section of the Church League and they will field a peppery team of hard-hitting youngsters who are liable to give the Military team quite a tussle. Reg. Leether of the St. James team is expected to get the pitching assignment for the youngsters and he will have the help of a fast-fielding aggregation of kids who really go out and take their cut every time they go to bat. Tonight's game is called for 6.45 o'clock with Harold Dormer as umpire-in-chief. It rates a real crowd.

* * * * * *

The setup of the Ladies' Softball League will be decided at a meeting to be held tonight at the Duffus' Alleys when arrangements will be completed for the opening of the season. After that session is over it will be known definitely whether it is to be a three, four or five-team affair. The answer as to whether an independent dark horse team will be entered will depend largely upon the material that has bobbed up. And while the Brinton plant was expected to enter a club, the outlook for a team from the big carpet plant is not particularly rosy. In any event, however, the loop is sure of three outfits, the C.G.E., Genelco and Westclox teams. All three promise to be strong, from preliminary surveys.

The Bums Still Rolling

Although baseball commentators are calling attention to the fact that the Brooklyn Dodgers had every bit as good a record last season at this stage as they have today and still had to battle for the pennant, the fact remains that the Bums are travelling along at a clip that promises to continue. They picked up their eighth win in succession yesterday when they triumphed over the Chicago Cubs 6 to 1, taking a fall out of big Bill Lee who had been going along in great style until he ran into the Flatbush Fusiliers. Curt Davis held the Cubs to six hits and the only run scored off him was a homer by Phil Caveratta. Ducky Medwick flailed one for the Dodgers with a runner on the sacks. Boston Braves kept pace with the Brooklynites by squeezing out a 2 to 1 win over the Cincinnati Reds, getting the winning run in the ninth. It was a pitchers' battle between Javery for Boston and Johnny Vander Meer for the Reds, although neither finished. Warren Spahn got credit for the win and the loss was chalked up against Riddle who took over from Vander Meer in the ninth.

* * * * * *

St. Louis Cards, with Howard Pollet the winning heaver took a fall out of the New York Giants 8 to 4. The defeat was marked against Hal Schumacher who had to be relieved by Dave Koslo. The Giants tried to say it with home runs but failed to produce enough circuit clouts to turn the trick. Manager Mel Ott bobbed up with his fifth of the season and Buster Maynard cuffed another with a man on but that fell short of the Cards' total score. In the American circuit the Cleveland Indians climbed to within two percentage pionts of the idle Yanks by beating the A's with young Dick Fowler of Toronto doing the gunning for the losers who went down to a 4 to 1 score. Charlie Embree, former Wilkes-Barre right-hander was given a starting assignment and justified the selection by holding the A's to four hits. Boston Red Sox used three pitchers, Yank Terry, Butland and old Mike Ryba against the Detroit Tigers but the three of them did not make as good a job of it as did Al Newhouser who went the route for the Bengals and Detroit won by 5 to 2 with a three-run homer by Rip Radcliffe turning the trick.

Heckman's Debut Here

Twenty years ago today Al Heckman pitched his first game for the Peterborough Central Ontario League club. The Easton, Pa., right-hander was totally unknown to the Peterborough fans as he walked out to the pitcher's mound at Riverside Park at the start of the opening game of the season to face the Lindsay Greybirds on May 20, 1922, but he was the talk of the town that night. In spite of a wet ball Heckman fired his high hard one at the Lindsay batters with so much hop on the fast ball that the Greybirds could do nothing against him and were beaten 4 to 0. Heckman allowed only two singles, did not give a base on balls and struck out 13 men, three times retiring the side on strike. The late Shiner Johnston also played his first Central Ontario League game for Peterborough that day and came through with two of the seven Peterborough hits. Incidentally he scored the first run and Heckman drove him in with a ringing double.

* * * * * *

Heckman's arrival here marked the golden days of the Central Ontario League when there were pitching giants on every hand. The duels between the Peterborough ace and such star twirlers as Chief Williams and Johnny Oulette of Belleville, Ted Gallagher of Kingston and Oshawa, Duke Dainty of Oshawa, Cairns, Kelly etc. of Kingston, made Central Ontario League games of those days great sporting spectacles that packed in the crowds and had all this section of the province excited. Incidentally a legend grew up about Heckman that is believed yet in some quarters, notably in Belleville. It was that the Easton boy was a professional ball player who had been sent to Peterborough by Manager Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians who had made several fishing trips here and was reported to have secured Heckman to help out the Peterborough club. There never was anything in that style. Speaker probably had never heard of the good right-hander and had nothing in the world to do with sending him here. Al has been a citizen of Peterborough for the past twenty years, employed all that time by Canada Packers and married a Peterborough girl and is a naturalized Canadian.

Port Hope Lady Bowlers Hold Banquet

PORT HOPE, May 20—(ENS). — Seaton Hall on Tuesday night, May 19, was the scene of the Wednesday afternoon ladies' bowling banquet at which War Savings Stamps were given as prizes. At the close of the bowling season this club, whose president is Mrs. David Wanner and secretary-treasurer Mrs. W. MacTaggart, gave $25 in cash to the I.O.D.E. to be used in war work.

The team standings were: High, Mrs. Langridge, with 49,513; second high, Mrs. P. Martin's, 48,426; Mrs. Moncrief's, 45,110; Mrs. Wanner's, 43,467; and Mrs. Connor's, fifth place, with 40,835.

The evening was spent in bridge with War Savings Stamps given as prizes.

To Mrs. Langridge went the honor of high single, with 327, and high three with 327, 271, 230—828.

Good Fielding Impossible On Wet Ground

St. Peter's came through with a 10 to 5 win over the Barons in a Catholic League game at Memorial Field on Tuesday night, in a game in which good fielding was impossible because of the wet ground. Hits went for extra bases that might have been outs on a dry diamond.

Best for St. Peter's were Honey Tompkins, and Gordon, each of whom came through with four hits in five times at bat, and Rev. Father Wolfe who had three for four. Caccavella led the Barons with four hits.

The Cubs and Sacred Heart will meet in a league game to-night.

The lineups:

St. Peter's — Rev. Father Wolfe, 2b; Condon, 1b; Tompkins, 3b; Stewart, ss; Conroy, lf; Herr, cf; Gordon, rf, p; Perdue, c; Wade, p, rf; Monahan, rf.

Barons — —Hayes, lf; Murdock, cf; Reg. Mongraw, p; Caccavella, ss; B. Guerin, 1b; A. Guerin, 2b; Sullivan 3b; Healey, rf; McLean, c; Fitzgerald, rf.

Ken Fleming gave another smart pitching exhibition as the Cubs defeated Knights of Columbus 13 to 5 in a Catholic League game Monday night. Fleming held the losers to six hits. The game was close until the Cubs chased seven runs across in the fourth.

Cubs — Garvey, c; Anderson ss; Fleming, p; Caccavella, 2b; McCormick, cf; Heffernan, lf; Brady, 3b; Heenan, rf; Driscoll, 1b.

Knights — Shaughnessy ss; Galvin, 3b; Murphy, c; E. Wolfe, 1b; Laplante, cf; Harrington, rf; Boland, lf; Chimenti, 2b; Baldwin, p.

Umpires—Murphy and Herr.

C.C.M. Munitions and Bicycles,

OVER the last 40 years C.C.M. have built up, manned and equipped a fine modern plant for the accurate and efficient manufacture of C.C.M. Quality Bicycles. And now that our country is at war we are able to change over our expert mechanics, materials and machines to the making of those essential war materials for which they are peculiarly suited.

And so we say "Munitions and Bicycles" for we still make as many bicycles as we can obtain materials for, because bicycles play their part in the war drama as they provide the only means of transportation for many war workers.

If you need a new bicycle or repairs to an old one, to carry you to and from your war job, see your C.C.M. dealer. He will do his best to supply you with a new bicycle or replacement parts for your old one. He may ask you to be patient but if your needs can be met he will meet them as quickly as he possibly can.

C.C.M. STRONG FRONT HUB
Built of hardened steel with stout axle and accurately machined and hardened ball-races to give years of smooth and easy running.

C.C.M. COASTER BRAKE
An improved brake by C.C.M., faster in forward clutch-action, more powerful in its smooth, quick stop than any of its predecessors. Built of super-strong, hardened steels to meet the needs of today's cyclists.

C.C.M. HANGER
The parts of this most important section of a C.C.M. bicycle are machined, hardened and finished with extreme accuracy so that you may get the most out of your pedalling action.

YANKS LEAD CLEVELAND IN POINTS—TRAIL IN WON-LOST SETUP

Indians Ambush Athletics 4-1; Tigers Take Sox

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Out in the Middle West where there is no gasoline rationing New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians have managed to get themselves in a fine traffic tangle at the top of the American League.

The world champions have been stalled for almost two weeks, the weather and schedule combining to keep them idle on nine of the last 13 days, and meanwhile the Indians have won eight out of nine games to create the worst congestion of the season around first place.

Today the Yanks still are two percentage points ahead, but the Tribe is half a game in front in won-lost reckoning. The standings show:

Cleveland	22	10	.688

The Indians ambushed Philadelphia Athletics again yesterday for a 4-1 triumph on the four-hit hurling of slim, red-haired Charles Embree, rookie from Wilkes-Barrie making his first start. He had the help of home runs by Oris Hockett and Jeff Heath.

The Yanks were not scheduled and occupied the day by blasting Milwaukee of the American Association in an exhibition distinguished chiefly for Red Rolfe's first appearance of the season at third base. He looked his old self afield and hit a homer and a single.

In the only other American League game Detroit Tigers trounced Boston Red Sox 5-2 with Hal Newhouser pitching six-hit ball. He had a no-hitter for six frames and was given a sendoff by Rip Radcliffe with a three-run homer in the first inning.

Dodgers Slap Cubs 6-1

Brooklyn Dodgers continued to sweep aside all opposition in the National League by tagging Chicago Cubs 6-1 for the pace-makers' eighth successive victory. Curt Davis pitched six-hit ball and for the second straight day the only run scored against Brooklyn was a homer—this one by Phil Cavaretta in the eighth.

Joe Medwick cracked a home run and a triple to drive in four runs by way of leading a nine-hit assault on big Bill Lee, who previously had won five games and lost only one.

The Cubs and Dodgers also added another chapter to the touring history of Babe Dahlgren, the journeyman first baseman, as Brooklyn bought him from Chicago for waiver money.

Philadelphia staged a twilight game for Army and Navy relief funds and 3,366 persons paid $3,732 to see the Phils beat Pittsburgh Pirates and knock the Buccaneers out of third place. Danny Litwhiler's triple with the bases loaded highlighted a five-run rally in the eighth by the Phils and Vince DiMaggio's sixth homer with two on in the ninth was not enough to overcome the margin.

This enabled St. Louis Cardinals to advance by beating New York Giants 8-4. Howard Pollet and John Beazley combined in a six-hit pitching job, but 10 walks in seven innings by Pitcher Hal Schumacher of the Giants was a more important factor. Five of them were converted into runs. Pollet was battered out in the seventh as Mel Ott and Buster Maynard hit homers.

Boston Braves clung tenaciously to second place by turning back Cincinnati Reds 2-1 with old John Cooney's single with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning bringing home the winning run.

Smallman Colt Shows Speed

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP).—New candidate to beat Harry Giddings' colt Ten to Ace in the King's Plate Saturday is the chestnut colt Depressor, a workmanlike race horse from the J. E. Smallman stables at London, Ont.

That sturdy minority of race fans who are spending all their spare time trying to find someone to beat the topheavy favorite looked with hopeful eyes on Depressor after he turned in a sparkling workout yesterday.

Depressor's trial showing—a mile in 1.44 and plate distance of a mile and an eighth in 1.59 3-5 —looked all the more impressive because the hitherto leading rival, Bill's Gift from Mrs. R. E. Webster's stable, ran wild in his last big trial.

Bill's Gift reached the nine furlong post in 2.04, but by that time he'd covered a lot more than the regular plate distance. He went very wide around both turns, despite the frantic efforts of Jockey Harry Maynell to keep him straight. Trainer Jack Hutton said he was at a loss to understand what caused the colt to fight the bit all the way. He hadnt given that kind of an exhibition before.

The performance left Ten to Ace more than ever a standout in the renewal of the historic Woodbine classic, the oldest continuously run race on the continent. Other candidates who worked out yesterday failed to show much, apart from Depressor. The Parkwood stable's Valkyrian did a useful but uninspiring mile in 1.49. Riverdale stable's Clocklike did a mile in 1.47 2-5. Clocklike's stablemate, Rhadagus, will not start on Saturday, cutting the field of probable starters down to 10 at the outside.

Of the others, Bob Cowie's Muckle started on a mile workout that finished in six furlongs, when the rider lost his stirrup iron. Muckle took 1.18 2-5 for the three-quarters but was interfered with when leaving the gate.

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP)—The shape of things to come in professional hockey: A scout at every cradle, contract at the ready.

Hockey's brass hats never have tried to bypass the government's manpower edicts, first because it would be unpatriotic and second because it wouldn't do them any good anyway. Young players are the only answer.

The trend was recognized when Toronto Maple Leafs signed Port Arthur Bud Poile and Winnipeg Dou Baldwin said he had been offered a contract. Both are juniors. But Ken (Edmonton Journal) McConnell has a more drastic report: That a juvenile (age limit: 17) named Ken Cox was approached by Eddie Shore in Edmonton recently.

Some clubs undoubtedly will look to the ranks of veterans for players. Wonder what price Ching Johnson would bring on the open market? Someone should buy up his contract and hold it for a quick turnover.

The Expert Says:

Jim (Toronto Globe and Mail) Coleman, on Billy Conn's family fisticuffs: "Uncle Michael (Jacobs) should match Joe Louis with father-in-law Smith."

Incidentally:

One of the most unusual baseball plays of this season was made last week in Vancouver by Joe Naples...A left fielder for Norvans, Naples went into deep centre for a long fly and at the end of his sprint reached over a boy on a bicycle to make the catch...Just like wrestling...In a bout here the other other day one wrestler snatched the referee's belt early in a bout and whipped the old opposish with the buckle for about 15 minutes while the referee danced around trying to hold his pants up...Outdoor boxing shows may be in the offing for service men in the Maritimes... Montreal professional golfers will play five Sunday benefits this season...One sport unhurt by the war is pigeon racing, which flourishes in Victoria, B.C.

Utica Manager McConnell Dies

UTICA, N.Y., May 20 (AP)—Ambrose M. McConnell, manager of Utica Braves baseball team in the Canadian-American League since 1937 and formerly an American League star, died early today of a heart attack.

A native of Utica, McConnell broke into professional baseball in 1903 with Troy in the New York State League. He progressed through several minor leagues to the American where he was an outstanding major league second baseman with the Boston and Chicago teams.

His widow, a son and two daughters survive.

Willie the Kid, carrying the colors of Miss M. A. Kane, won the 81st running of the historic King's Plate at Woodbine race track in Toronto two years ago today. After losing many length when he swung wide entering the stretch, the game little three-year-old came back to outrun Curwen from the H. C. Hatch stable and won by three lengths.

Six Youngsters To Carry On Tennis Torch

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—Southern California, incubator of tennis champions, is ready to send six youngsters up to the big time as replacements for the stars who have gone or are about to go into the service.

Officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association realize that it's up to these half-dozen boys —none more than 18 years of age —to provide sparkle in the approaching Eastern season, even in the culminating national championships at Forest Hills, opening Aug. 27.

Youngsters Get Attention.

That's why Perry T. Jones, secretary of the Southern California Tennis Association, is devoting more time than ever to the tutelage of these young players. He, too, wishes tournament tennis to continue during the war period, even if on a modified scale.

But tournament tennis, in this spring of 1942, is confronted with an almost unprecedented shortage of ranking performers, now that Bobby Riggs, Frankie Kovacs and Wayne Sabin have turned professional, and now that outstanding amateurs like Frank Parker, Ted Schroeder and Jack Kramer are headed for the services.

The replacements that Jones is grooming are Budge Patty, Bob Falkenburg, Tom Falkenburg, Arthur MacDonald, John Howard and Arthur Saul. The Falkenburgs are brothers of statuesque Jinx, the actress and model.

Jones comments that "This Budge Patty is a terrific tennis player. And I don't mean it on a basis of his winning the junior singles title last year. I base it on the kid himself. He plays; he practices; he asks questions until we're batty. He analyzes the game like a scientist."

Bob Falkenburg is the better known of Jinx's brothers. In 1940 and '41 he was national boys' singles and doubles champion, Tom, bigger than Bob, lacks his brother's courtcraft but he is improving rapidly.

Covers Court Neatly.

MacDonald towers 6 feet 3 inches. He has a whistling serve and the stride of a giraffe. Jones says "he can cover the court like a blanket."

Concerning Howard and the red-headed Saul of San Diego, Jones explains: "They're certainly comers—barring unforeseen difficulties."

Jones has confidence in his six racqueteers. He believes they will do well in the Eastern tournaments, remarking:

"Ordinarily, at this time of year, I'd be shouting about the Parkers, the Schroeders and the Kramers. But we are in the war, and they'll have guns to handle, not tennis racquets."

"Schroeder, national doubles champion with Kramer, graduates in June from Stanford and marches into the Naval Reserve. Kramer soon will be in some branch of the service, and Parker undoubtedly will get into it soon—although he does have dependents.

"So they're out of the picture, and the young kids have to carry the mail. They'll do it too, or my name isn't Perry T. Jones."

And the little bronze sign on his desk said 'Perry T. Jones."

3 Elephants Give Gorman New Odor Worry

MONTREAL, May 20. — Dapper Tommy Gorman last night bemoaned the fate that had made him the nursemaid to three highly odoriferous elephants.

The blow was all the harder to Manager Tommy of the Montreal Forum, for he has been hard at work of recent weeks trying to clear his indoor stadium of some of the odor caused by the performance of certain human elephants in the wrestling ring.

It was a three-inch spike carelessly dropped by a circus roustabout in Philadelphia that was the original cause of Gorman's grief. Whitey, ponderous pachyderm of Amid-Morton Wild Animal Show, stepped on the spike.

They All Have to Stay.

Vets removed it from the foot of the show's star, and Whitey accompanied the show on a brief jaunt to Canada. But infection set in, and now Whitey is stranded here so crippled he can hardly move.

"If it was only Whitey it wouldn't be so bad, but his two pals have to stay behind because they are bonded together and can't be moved across the border separately," the Forum manager explained.

Whitey was a very sick elephant while the Amid-Morton outfit was performing here and was unable to appear for his public. But Dr. S. Stanley, Montreal veterinary, last night reported him "well on the road to recovery," and it was hoped he would be well enough to move on to New York with his chums to-night.

Having congenial company, expert medical treatment, and the care of a personal attendant, Whitey is enjoying the rest. The circus management left a keeper with each elephant and several tons of hay behind them, so all that is really worrying the Forum people is the odor.

"The fans have complained about smells after some of our wrestling matches," Gorman said. "If the elephants don't get away soon I'm afraid the customers will begin to talk again."

"At that, maybe I prefer elephants to some of the hockey players."

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Lou Nova and the army just about wrecked the ballyhoo for the Nova-Lee Savoldi Navy relief fight in Washington tomorrow...First Lou announced he has laid all his cock-eyed yoga and cosmic punch nonsense; then the word came out that the Army didn't intend to let Joe Louis fight for profit...That left the tub thumpers with nothing to work on but Savold.

Pat 'n Mike

If this story sounds too perfect to be true, we'll admit we heard it from a publicity guy...Seems a couple of years ago Mrs. Payne Whitney was listening to a broadcast of the Dodgers' game and thinking of names for some colts. When she heard the announcer say "It's a Shut Out," she picked the tag for a colt whose dam was goose egg... And last spring when she was talking over Derby prospects with her trainer, the Dodgers were on the air again and came up with another shutout, so she decided to enter the colt along with Devil Diver...Apparently she decided the mike was pat.

Odds—And Some Ends

Pete Bostwick, who has been turned down because of his size on three efforts to join the armed forces, now is hoping for a call to Fort Riley, Kans., as a civilian instructor in horsemanship.

Peacemaker

The American Association umpiring team of Hal Weafer and John Wiethe, star guard with the Detroit Football Lions, seems to have developed a foolproof system of preventing trouble..Whenever a squawk seems imminent, Weafer slides up to the recalitrant player and whispers: "Remember, you're no Joe Stydahar or Mel Hein—and you know what he did to those fellows."

Every Tank Car Available Maritimes Run

OTTAWA, May 20—(CP).—Virtually every tank car available is in service between Sarnia, Montreal and the Maritime Provinces endeavoring to overcome the gasoline shortage in that area, Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons yesterday.

He said the pipeline from Montreal to the seaboard had been "closed completely for a very considerable period" and the department was "doing our best to bring about equality."

The Minister was referring to the order last week reducing the value of gasoline ration coupons in the three Maritime Provinces from five to two gallons per unit.

This ruling brought a prompt protest from Premiers MacMillan of Nova Scotia and McNair of New Brunswick, and a protest also was made in the House of Commons yesterday by Percy Black (Con., Cumberland).

Two Nova Scotia members, Vincent Pottier (Lib., Shelburne-Yarmouth-Clare) and Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) made the suggestion that gasoline should be refused for all pleasure and non-essential cars.

"We might have all the gasoline in the world in the Turner Valley and yet be short in the Maritimes. In fact, it would be much easier, in the ordinary course of events, to get gasoline from Louisiana than from Turner Valley," said Mr. Howe.

"It is simply a situation which has arisen unexpectedly. Who would have believed in this country that tankers could not ply between Halifax and the Gulf of Mexico? Yet, for a considerable period of time they did not travel that route. They were all tied up."

An additional circumstance militating against the Maritimes was the fact that large seaports were there and the ships needed great volumes of oil and its products."

Mr. Howe expressed confidence the people of the Maritimes "will accept this privation with their customary good spirit and patriotism."

Princess Alice Inspects Manitoba C.W.A.C. Girls

Manitoba volunteers of the Canadian Women's Army Corps have had an exciting time recently, what with the inspection in Winnipeg by Her Royal Highness the Princess Alice and moving into new barracks at Fort Brandon, Man. The Princess Alice is seen here walking between the lines of C.W.A.C.'s, with Second Subaltern Anderson of Winnipeg, who is the wife of Neil Anderson and a sister of the late Col. W. G. Barker, V.C., Canada's second ranking air ace in the last war.

War Houses

required for the Wartime Housing program. But the program was building potential slum areas, although the minister said the house would be demolished when the war was over. If it were possible to build permanent homes, this should be done.

Mr. Nicholson said that he had inspected Wartime Housing, Ltd., houses at Hull, Que., and that he believed as they had cost more than $3,200 each the taxpayers had paid a high price for "very flimsily" constructed houses.

No Complaints.

Mr. Howe said he had visited the housing projects and heard no complaints. He knew the construction costs to be reasonable. He added that the Government did not wish to establish populations permanently where they were to-day, as it was hoped that after the war a large number of the workers would go back to their permanent homes.

"The advantage of the present method of construction is that the tenants can take these houses with them if they like," Mr. Howe said. "They are easily demountable, easily removable."

Labor Minister Mitchell said the wartime houses were better built than houses he had lived in when he was newly married. There should be a cushion for the construction trades when the war was over and he added he would like to see a tremendous building program then.

G. H. Castleden (C.C.F. Yorkton) criticized a wartime house he had seen at St. Catharines, Ont. Mr. Howe asked for the address, and said he would check on Mr. Castleden's statements.

Mr. Howe said it had not been the Government policy to invest directly in the development of oil. In partnership with the New Brunswick Government a thorough investigation of oil shale deposits in that province was being made.

Spare Power To Arvida

As for the power situation, every kilowatt in Ontario and Quebec was being taken to Arvida, Que., to make aluminum and this would continue. There was no shortage at the moment, but a shortage would develop next winter.

In shipbuilding, keels had just been laid in a six-berth yard at Montreal, and berths at Vancouver Island were being expanded, with new berths at Pictou, N.S., and Sorel, Que., being added.

Canadian yards were building ships for the Maritime Commission of the United States and "quite a number" for the British Government.

Lt.-Col. A. J. Brooks (Con. Royal) asked why there was no curtailment in the use of newsprint in newspapers. Mr. Howe said there was spare capacity for the production of newsprint in the mills, but there was a great need for pulp or rough cardboard. Newspapers or paper of any kind was just as good for this purpose as pulp made from newly-cut lumber.

The paper salvage campaign was collected to prevent a drain on lumber mills and to prevent waste.

Many members joined in the debate on gasoline.

C. E. Johnston (N.D. Bow River) urged development of the Alberta tar sands, and was supported by D. G. Ross (Con. Toronto-St. Paul's) while New Democracy Leader Blackmore said there should be no further delay in making use of fuel possibilities of the sands.

Some Ulterior Motives?

Mr. Blackmore said he wondered if some of the oil companies called into consultation on the sands development by the minister could be trusted, as they might have ulterior motives. He said the rumor was common in Alberta that some oil wells had been capped in the past rather than be allowed to come into production. Past drilling records should be examined by the Government.

Percy Black (Con., Cumberland), said the Martimes could not help feeling there was no parity when they were required to get along on two fifths of the gasoline ration granted other parts of Canada.

Mr. Howe said it was not possible to level out supplies of gasoline throughout the country because of transportation difficulties. Movement of tankers between the Gulf of Mexico and Halifax had been tied up for a period which was an unexpected development.

No ounce of gasoline brought to Canada by tankers which had faced hazards of the sea should be used for pleasure driving, said Vincent Pottier (Lib., Shelburne-Yarmouth-Clare). Canadians were prepared to do away with the use of private cars for pleasure or non-essential driving.

Another Maritime member, Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Berton South), said all available gasoline in the Maritimes should be rationed on the basis of non-essential cars being kept off the road. He said it would do people no harm to walk.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) said that labor had been conscripted. He added that vested interests should not be allowed to retard the war effort by thinking of what would happen after the war.

The Soldier's Pay.

When Dr. T. F. Donnelly (Lib., Wood Mountain) asked if labor had been conscripted at $1.30 a day (the pay of a private in the army), Mr. MacInnis said that when the amount received by the soldier plus dependents' allowances and other payments was considered, he was receiving more than the worker in industry.

Mr. Gillis supported Mr. MacInnis and said that those who made comparisons between the pay of soldiers and industrial workers were stirring up friction. If he had the choice of going back to work in a coal mine or putting on a uniform and going overseas, he would choose military service.

Mr. Howe told G. K. Fraser (Con., Peterborough West) that his Department had no information about a house reported as being constructed by James Francheschini of Toronto, recently released from an internment camp. Mr. Fraser said he had heard a report that steel had been provided for such a building and that the house was reported to be somewhere near Lucerne, Que.

Dr. J. K. Blair (Lib., Wellington North) said the House had been hearing "nonsense" in speeches too long. He added that he would not confine his criticism to members of the Opposition as there was a section of his own party "of which we are heartily ashamed."

Fierce Nazi

on the Kharkov front German and Russian tank forces and infantry were locked in a terrific battle at such close quarters that German planes dared not risk supporting their own ground units for fear of hitting them.

In this clash alone, 46 German tanks were left, burned and ruined, on the battlefield, Red Star reported. The army newspaper said that in another test of mechanized power, bigger Russian machines crushed 51 of the German tanks.

The offensive against Kharkov was kept in motion by Red Army forces through last night, the midday communique announced.

Toll Runs High

Indicating a swiftly-rising cost to the Nazis in men, heavy weapons and supplies, the war bulletin added:—

"On sectors of the Kharkov front our troops annihilated 1,650 German officers and men and destroyed 27 tanks, an ammunition dump and a gasoline dump.

"Three German planes were shot down by rifle fire.

"Booty captured includes 37 guns, 57 mortars, 19 machine guns, 340 rifles, 10,000 shells, 40,000 rounds of ammunition, three wireless stations and other material. Prisoners were taken."

On the relatively quiet Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, the report said Russian cavalry had recaptured several points, killing 700 Germans and taking others prisoner and destroying 27 machine guns and an ammunition dump.

Despite a Berlin claim that Axis forces had crushed Russian resistance on the Kerch Peninsula, at the doorstep of the Caucasus, the Soviet Information Bureau declared 'battles continued in the vicinity of the City of Kerch," a peninsular port.

The Germans' Donets diversion drive developed in the sector of Barvenkova, a midway station on the Lozovaya-Slavyansk railway, and the Donets River town of Izyum 20 miles to the north-east.

A midnight communique announced simply:

"Our troops have joined battle on the Izyum-Barvenkova front with German troops who have begun an offensive."

(A successful German push in that sector would imperil the left flank of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's lines before Kharkov, jutting sicklelike from Belgorod south and southwestward into the Ukraine. London dispatches have reported Soviet spearheads at Krasnograd, less than 70 miles from the Dnieper River.)

The communique gave no details of the Izyum-Barvenkova fighting, but it implied that Red Army shock troops assigned to the neutralization of fortifications before Kharkov, reported Field headquarters of Field-Marshal Gen. Fedor Von Bock, were were not diverted from that bloody task.

They "waged offensive battles, beat off enemy counter-attacks and advanced," the Information Bureau said.

Too Many Bosses In The CBC Graydon Charges

OTTAWA, May 20 — (CP). — Public ownership of radio in Canada is suffering from "too many bosses," Gordon Graydon (Con. Peel) said before the House of Commons Radio Committee.

Under the present organization two Cabinet ministers were concerned in administering the Act, the Board of Governors proposed to set up an executive committee and there had been a division of authority between the general manager and assistant general manager, Mr. Graydon said.

Rene Morin, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, said the organization had been designed to give closer control of a rapidly-growing organization. Under this plan, appointment of persons with a salary of more than $4,000 a year was required to be ratified by the Finance Committee instead of only approved by the general manaerg.

Mr. Morin told Mr. Graydon that the three or four meetings a year held by the Board of Governors were considered sufficient. A proposed executive committee of four members would be organized soon and would meet monthly to deal with matters of secondary importance now handled by the management. He said he thought closer supervision would be advantageous.

Mr. Morin was questioned by Mr. Graydon on the handling of Government news. Mr. Morin said he had invited War Services Minister Thorson to have the Government provide more news.

"I told him we would like to get it as soon as the press and possibly before them," Mr. Morin said.

"In other words you were trying to get ahead of th papers?"

"Yes," Mr. Morin replied.

Earlier, Mr. Morin told the committee the news-handling plan of the CBC had been reorganized in 1940 to provide special radio editing and to speed news broadcasts.

Obituary

MRS. ROBERT BROOKS.

GORE'S LANDING, May 20.—(ENS).—The death of Mrs. Robert Brooks occurred on Sunday evening at the home of her daughter, Miss Mable Liscombe, R.N., Syracuse, N.Y.

Mrs. Brooks was formerly Lavina Smith and was born on a farm near Havelock, Ontario, 80 years ago. She was first married to George Liscombe. On his death, she lived with her daughter and later married Robert Brooks of Gore's Landing, about 20 years ago. On Mr. Brooks' death 3 years last January, Mrs. Brooks moved to Syracuse, N.Y., with her daughter.

Besides two daughters and one son, her sister, Mrs. Harry Brooks of Cobourg, survives her. Burial was in Syracuse, N.Y., on Tuesday.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

NO PARKING SIGNS.

"No parking" signs have been set up by the Board of Works department on the east side of Rubidge street between Charlotte and Townsend street.

SILVER MOON GUESTS.

Members of the City Council and their wives were guests of the proprietors of the Silver Moon Restaurant at supper on Tuesday evening. Some of the members had other appointments, but the company numbered sixteen.

OVERSEAS

Trooper B. Flagler has landed overseas, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Flagler, Western avenue. This brings to quite a sizeable total the number of Peterborough boys who have sent word recently of their arrival in the Old Land.

TO INDIAN RIVER SMITH

For some sort of blacksmith job, repairs to a wheel or two, Bert Withers, garbage collection contractor, had to drive down to Indian River a few days ago. It seems that wartime conditions are restoring somewhat the importance of the work of Gus Whibbs, one of the best known blacksmiths in this section of the province.

NEW CONTROLLER

Lawrie Mitchell has been appointed controller of transportation in the A.R.P. organization, replacing City Engineer Parsons.

NEARLY COMPLETED

Only a last few layers of bricks remained to be laid this morning for the completion of the latest unit of the plant of Canadian General Electric Company.

MARIJUANA

Did you notice the sheen on that creation in a Charlotte street window? Brilliant, gleaming white; looks like a page out of vogue; transforms briefly the whole drab street. Maybe it was in the Hamilton shop; inanimate glamor, white satin poised hopefully in quest of a high lot spot in a June day gala. Of course it will do for a similar Maytime motif, but June usually gets the preference, although nowadays anytime is Mendelssohn time; and they'll dispense with the Felix Batholdi, too ....Would it interest you in the least to know that Marlene Dietrich is one of the best cooks in Hollywood; often gets dinner for twenty guests; has kitchen maids but does the rest herself; imagine any mere man having Marlene set dinner for him at the end of the day....Drive on.

TWO BIG DONATIONS

Police Inspector J. F. Reid, Dominion treasurer of the Canadian Police second Spitfire fund has received two substantial cheques, one from the Niagara Falls Police Association for $956.44 and the other from the Ottawa Police Department for $600. The total now is well over $13,000.

WATCH THE CASES

Even the cosmetic business has become very war conscious. The different firms are advising their customers to be very careful about using their make-up and to guard the things like lipstick cases as if they were crown jewels. Hang on to the cases and get a refill for everything possible instead of buying a new case all the time. They particularly ask that girls be careful this summer about losing their lipsticks at the beach.

GRENFELL BALE.

Grafton's store has again agreed to look after clothing for Grenfell bale. Please send some that is clean and warm.

GENERAL HOLIDAY.

It was announced to-day that all stores in the city will be closed next Monday because of the Government holiday.

LOTS OF CARS.

For some time the Government has been stressing the need for saving on gasoline and rubber by the civilians. But a walk down George Street about nine o'clock in the evening would never indicate that there was such a shortage. The cars line both sides of the street until there is hardly an available parking space to be seen.

CONFUSING TO CIVILIANS

A great many people think that when the Rangers are ordered to parade, it means that they will march down George street. This is incorrect. A parade merely means to report for training at the Armouries. The Rangers will march down George street when orders report a route march. Therefore citizens are asked to watch for notice of a route march, and this will be the signal that the reserve unit will be marching through the streets.

ICE CONTRACT

The $253 tender of Sanitary Ice Supply for the provision of ice in the public drinking fountains this summer was recommended to the council by the property committee Tuesday. It was the only bid. The cost of this service last year was said to have been $190.

Softball Game Adds $33.61 For War Victims

The City Softball League officially opened the season's program Monday night. A year ago when this same event came off, the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund received a donation from the proceeds of the game, and getting off to a similar start, there is recorded in this day's receipts for the fund an amount of $33.61 as coming from this effort for which three prizes had been donated in the form of a Kenwood blanket given by the League, an Adam's Hat by Ed Riley, and $5 worth of fishing tackle or other merchandise of that value by Spiro Zakos. The draw was made by one of the sailors on leave in the person of A.B. Seaman Raymond Whatman of the R.C.N., and the first prize was won by Donnie Barrie of 511 Sherbrooke street, the Adams Hat was won by Bob Dyer, and the prize donated by Spiro Zakos was won by F. Derrick of 475 King street.

As a class, all sport lovers have contributed very liberally to help the distress of air raid victims in Britain, and that in itself is perhaps what might be expected, for traditionally, the English speaking race have always though highly of those who played the game, whether it be in life itself, on the sports field or in any other form of human endeavour, and in this respect there would be nothing but real admiration for the way the British people have stood up under the tremendous handicap of enemy action from the skies.

To the players and patrons alike, and to Fred Scates who handed in the proceeds of the evening's effort, the fund management extends thanks a lot for this contribution, and expresses the hope that they will have a most successful season.

One box collection was made from the penny box at Hooper's Centre Store which yielded $1.80 for the fund, to keep up the good work it has been doing from the very first time these were put into circulation.

Draw For Afghan

Another effort on behalf of the fund gets under way today, with the ladies' section of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club Ltd. sponsoring the sale of tickets for a really very fine afghan which was made and donated to the fund by a Peterborough mother whose only son is serving with the forces in England. Tickets will be two for 25 cents and may be procured from members of the club of which Miss Mabel Patterson is president, and the draw will be made on August 19.

R. C. Hanbidge Severely Burned At Home

R. Clayton Hanbidge, Cavan farmer, was seriously burned in lighting the fire in his home about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. His condition at Nicholls Hospital was reported today to be still in doubt, but it was said that his physician, Dr. C. M. Scott, was hopeful that no complicating developments would set in.

Opinion suggested that Mr. Hanbidge must have been using some petrol product, coal oil or gasoline, to start the fire. A wave of flame swept over him burning all but a small patch of his trousers. Part of the kitchen caught fire, and also the door and lower steps of the back stairway. An adjoining window was either blown out or burned in the intense heat.

Members of the family, assisted later by nearby neighbors, succeeded in controlling the flames and confining the property damage to charring of parts of the kitchen and stairs.

In the usual quiet of his home, Mr. Hanbidge was getting ready to come into the city to his work at the De Laval plant. His son, it was said, is in charge of most of the work on the farm. Suddenly the kitchen seethed with flame, and Mr. Hanbidge's clothing caught fire, and the entire house was threatened.

Five Prize Cattle Are Injured By C.P.R. Train

Six cows, whose commercial value amounts to more than $1,000 were struck Tuesday night by the C.P.R. midnight train from Toronto. They belong to the herd owned by Norman McConkey, on the Canal road.

The loss was not reported to the McConkeys until their neighbor, Frank Kelly, started on his milk route at 5:30 a.m. He came along by the tracks and saw the animals and hurried to notify the McConkeys and Dr. H. Worton. The railway officials were not notified until 5 o'clock when the train from Ottawa went through.

Upon investigation, it was found that the gate, which was securely fastened last night, had had the bottom hinge forced, presumably by the cows, who had then forced the bottom of the gate up enough to crawl under it. The cows were in the pasture on the south side of the track when they made their escape.

When the men arrived to look after the cows, they found them all huddled in the centre of the tracks, the less seriously injured animals sticking with the others. One cow had been killed outright and cut up completely. Two others will have to be killed, one with a broken back and the other which is minus a leg. A fourth, which has its tail broken, may die in a short time. Of the remaining two, one has a hip injury and the other a badly cut knee. The animal with the broken back was a heavy milker and the backbone of the entire herd, Mrs. McConkey said.

The two most seriously injured animals were loaded on a mechanism something like a stoneboat and brought up to the barns. The other three managed to limp home.

The one Guernsey cow, which was killed, had a very famous record and one of the Holsteins which may not recover, was valued so highly by her owner that he turned down $500 recently, and was valued as a pet of the whole family.

It is only one in a hundred years that a freak accident like this would happen, and it should serve as a warning to others to reinforce their gates.

Body Is Recovered From Little Lake

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Maurice J. Gainey missing from his home at 48 Maria street, since the afternoon of Friday, May 8, has been solved by the discovery of the body of the elderly East City resident in the Otonabee River this morning.

Robert Starr, Maria street, was crossing the river shortly before 8 o'clock this morning over the C.P.R. bridge when he saw the body being carried down the stream by the current. Starr informed the staff at the city yards on Townsend street and Street Commissioner James Burgess and Henry Ellis, Union street, secured a boat and recovered the body near the George street wharf.

Mr. Gainey was a life-long resident of Ashburnham and had many friends and acquaintances throughout the community. Surviving relatives include his wife, and two brothers, Harry Gainey, Peterborough and Cornelius Gainey, Kingston.

Part Of Grandstand To Be Wrecked

The easterly 32 feet of the main grandstand at Riverside Park is going to be demolished and the rest of the structure repaired for the present, the Parks Committee of the Council recommended yesterday afternoon.

M. R. Sloan and Bert Graham of the assessor's department accompanied Alderman Curtis, chairman, in an inspection of the property, and decided that something had to be done immediately, and the stand entrance boarded up until the renovating has been completed.

Repairs to the whole stand would cost between $700 and $800, Mr. Sloan told the committee. That expenditure seemed unwarranted with the suspension of baseball. Nobody expressed any desire to rebuild the stand for softball; besides the demands of the war have been leaving little time for sports, and the result of the discussion by the Curtis committee was to propose that the east section of the home base stand be lopped off. It may look truncated and queer when the job is done, but it is only "for the duration," and will probably meet this year's requirements.

Awards Made To High and Low Teams In Red Cross Canvass

At the report luncheon on Tuesday in the Red Cross and Community Chest campaign awards were made to the captain of the men's team turning in the lowest report and to the ladies' team with the highest report. Paige Rowell (TOP RIGHT) is seen feeding the young goat which was awarded his team, while (LOWER RIGHT)) Mrs. Weldon Fanning (LEFT) and Mrs. John R. Marshall are winners of the golden pheasant. (ABOVE) Mr. Rowell is seen leaving the luncheon with his award.

Half-Way Mark Is Reached Red Cross Fund

The half-way mark in the drive to raise $60,000 for the Red Cross and Community Fund was reached to-day when contributions at the downtown office were recorded as totalling $31,200. Workers are now on the home stretch and all indications point to a successful climax at the final report meeting on Friday.

Gordon S. Matthews announced to-day that Canada Packers had appropriated the sum of $36,000 for the Red Cross, and of this amount $1,200 was credited to the Peterborough drive as coming from the local factory and $600 more came into the special names division from the Clinic.

An interesting angle to the campaign to date is that more than 75 per cent of the contributions is in cash, showing that the citizens are anxious to clean up this worthwhile effort out of their available cash, so that there will be no curtailment of the essential wartime charities, and services to the needy, and ill.

The Penny Drive at the schools is coasting along in high gear, and up to Tuesday evening the amount collected totalled $113.48, with no report as yet from the Collegiate. The P.C.I. will give a complete report on Friday, and it is confidently expected that the pupils of the city schools will double the sum of $235 which was subscribed last year.

Kinsmen Clubs Sent To Britain 2,500,000 Quarts Of Milk

TORONTO, May 20 — In a little less than eight months, the Kinsmen Milk-for-Britain Fund has purchased and shipped more than two and a half millions of quarts of milk to Britain's children—a million quarts more than had been promised by the Kinsmen when they accepted this responsibility last September.

The association of Kinsmen Clubs first set an objective, and gave a pledge to Britain, of the purchase and delivery of 1,500,000 quarts of milk before July 1st, 1942. This pledge was fulfilled in March and a new objective of 2,500,000 was then announced. This second promise to the British authorities and to the parents of the little children "over there" has now been exceeded by several thousand quarts of "whole" Canadian milk.

In Oshawa, Ontario, H. A. Rogers, chairman; and in Chatham, Ontario, R. J. McGillis, vice-chairman of the Kinsmen National War Services Committee; addressing district conventions of the Kinsmen Association, announced today the total purchase of 2,500,000 quarts and a new objective and pledge to Britain of a further 500,000 quarts before July 1st—double the original objective announced by the committee when the Kinsmen Association first undertook the task of supplying sorely needed milk to the little children "over there."

"And," said both Rogers and McGillis, "Kinsmen and Kinettes, with the ever-growing and splendid co-operation of Canadian people, will continue to buy and ship milk to these little children in the bombed areas of Britain as long as that need exists."

A specially prepared folder, showing pictures of little children receiving Canadian milk supplied by the Kinsmen and the people of Canada, is now being mailed to each of the 95 Kinsmen Club together with a letter from Mrs. Wingston Churchill, Chairman of the Women's Voluntary Service, which reads in part: "I am writing to add my personal thanks to those of every man, woman and child in this island for the gifts which you have sent to help us." During the last month 63 other letters of "Thanks to Kinsmen and the people of Canada" have been received from matrons of War Nurseries in 63 different evacuee centres in Britain.

Women Lead in Campaign Drive For Red Cross, Community Fund

A pretty little brown and white goat was the central figure in a laugh provoking presentation at the Empress Hotel at noon on Tuesday. It as the first report meeting for the Red Cross and Community Fund, and the goat was the so-called prize that was awarded the team captain whose canvassers had failed to report in time for the meeting. The honor fell to Paige Rowell, and he not only received the goat but was handed a sign which read, "I Lost. I am the goat."

Purchased by Jim Wharry, the goat was described as well-behaved but still to young to forage for himself, therefore he must be bottle-fed, so to complete the picture, Mr. Wharry handed over a nippled bottle of milk along with the goat. Then the friendly little animal was hoisted to the top of the head table where the winner proceeded to feed the "baby" from the bottle and he did a splendid job, with his hungry charge.

Another presentation was made, this time by Ross Dobbin, who presented Mrs. Weldon Fanning with a Golden pheasant from the Filtration Park zoo. This prize was for the team captain heading the group making the highest returns, and it went to the north-end team headed by Mrs. Fanning and Mrs. John R. Marshall.

Campaign heads paid tribute to the workers and expressed optimism that the campaign would reach the objective of $60,000 provided the canvassers did not let down. Gordon S. Matthews thanked H. L. Garner, publicity chairman, for arranging and sponsoring the one hour broadcast from the Collegiate Auditorium on Sunday evening, which not only publicized the drive, but added $43.00 to the fund, from a silver collection.

W. C. Hughes, reporting for the Retail Division, said his team captains had the work well in hand and had reported $4,195 out of the objective of $13,775. Ian McRae, head of the industrial division, said this branch of the campaign was slow in starting because of the organization entailed, but that it is gaining momentum and would finish with a bang—$4,595 of the $25,456 objective was reported. Mrs. Paige Rowell, chairman of the women's division, turned in a fine report and said the women were doing a splendid job on a small objective that nevertheless entailed a lot of hard work. She said that over two-thirds of the total $3,000 had been reported, exactly $2,032.

Gordon S. Matthews, reporting for the special names committee, said that the objective was $20,000 and of that amount, $11,309 was in already. He lauded the voluntary contributions of work that Douglas Hammond and R. E. Layfield were making to the drive, and added that Alderman John E. Sullivan had just handed him a cheque on behalf of the Quaker Oats Company for $1,300. The Canadian Canoe Company, A. W. Robertson Ltd., building firm now working at the C.G.E., and the Peterborough Utilities were all reported over-subscribed.

Mr. Garner, in the report of the publicity committee, said that he wished to make a special mention of the fine work being done by Clair Collins, in organizing and directing the penny drive in the schools of the city, and he thanked Gordon Miller of the Regent Theatre for providing trailer films to be used in the three local theatres. At the same time he extended his thanks to Art Cauley of the Capital and Sid Goldstone of the Centre for their cooperation.

The interesting part of the goat situation is that Paige Rowell will have the pleasure of handing the animal over to another so-called winner on Friday next at the final meeting, and it will probably go to the team captain whose team total is the lowest. It is part of the bargain that Mr. Rowell teather the goat on his front lawn, and have the sign planted nearby in full view of all passersby.

Milk For Britain

The North-end Workers Group, that organization which so nobly in the past aided war efforts, has handed over to J. A. MacDonald, treasurer of the Milk for Britain Fund a cheque for $25 as part of the proceeds from their recent tea and other activities. There also has been received two donations of a dollar each.

500 Men Needed Bring Rangers Up To Strength

Lieutenant-Colonel M. H. Park was delighted Tuesday night with the line up of recruits at the armouries for the reserve battalion of the Prince of Wales Rangers.

Everything was going splendidly, he told a reporter. Attendance was close to 270 all ranks, about 255 of them privates and non-commissioned officers.

Two of those who were turned down were bright young lads of fifteen. Their youth excluded them.

What Colonel Park needs is such a volume of enlistments that his reception staff would be swept off their feet. They were just busy last night, and that was entirely satisfactory; and while Colonel Park did say that the men were doing fine, and all that, the public has a right to say that the men of military age and physical category are obviously holding back, fumbling a bit in getting up to the armouries right away while the reserve in its present state of organization.

The Prince of Wales Rangers is not Lieut.-Colonel Park's battalion; nor is it the Hon. Mr. Ralston's battalion. The Rangers is a Peterborough unit. It will be brought to strength by Peterborough men for home defense, or it will drag along only half complete and generally neglected. And the battalion is not being neglected; reduced to a three company unit, it is now expanding to five. That development is an indication of the present enlistment.

But, here is the plain and entire fact relating to the Rangers and the men of Peterborough. At full strength it will be composed of 800 officers and men. Right now there are about 275 on the battalion roll; that leaves 525 more to come....So, the question is when are they coming? When are you coming? Why not make this campaign a matter of one month. Five hundred men by the middle of June?

And they have got to be Peterborough men. They won't come from Lindsay or Belleville. You won't find them rushing in here from all over Canada as if another munitions factory was calling them. For one factor, the army pay isn't big enough for those men, who while the army, the navy and the R.C.A.F. were calling for volunteers, from one end of Canada to the other, these gentlemen rushed to the call of wartime industry.

But, that has nothing with the responsibility that is now looking Peterborough men in the face. Did you ever hear the racing term about the horse that is rolling along until another draws up beside him and looks him in the eye—and then he folds up. In a far-fetched sense that is just the situation now. The Rangers need five hundred men for the reserve battalion, and the 4th Battery also is in need of men; they have uniforms ready; everything is all set except the decision of the Peterborough men who are needed.

How about the decision for Thursday night or if for the Battery tonight? Scores of eligible men have been thinking and talking about joining up, but they have been putting off the hour of action.

Sacrifice Necessary

They will have to make a sacrifice! Certainly they will have to give up two evenings a week if they are to be efficient recruits. Some of the men might have to miss the odd night a week, but generally it should be two nights a week.

That means intrusion upon your fishing, your golfing, gardening, home life and all the rest. It means voluntary laying aside some of your rights for a time, until this business is settled, and the menace is removed from the shores and homes of Canada.

So, just once more; how about getting up to the Rangers headquarters at the armouries Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, or any time up to 10, or to headquarters of the Battery this evening.

Peterborough is expecting that much of you. It is not so much Col. Park or any one person. It is the colective people of this city who expect their eligible men to do the protective job which only they can do.

If this community of 25,000 or 30,000 voices could all speak at once.... Think of the volume of that appeal. ....Fill up the ranks....Don't fool about it....Don't put it off for another month or two....Why not make it this week....Thursday night.

Salvage Work Necessary To Defeat Hun

This war can be lost if Canadians do not do any one of a number of things. One of them is if they do not salvage all the materals of which there is a shortage and turn it over for war purposes. Here is a way they can be doing a real war service.

To-morrow, Thursday, is the day when all the residents of the north end of the city, including both sides of Parkhill Road from the west bank of the river to the western boundary and including the populated section of Smith township adjoining the city will make their great salvage effort to produce so much salvage material that other districts will have to hustle to keep pace with them.

Promptly at 8 o'clock in the morning two trucks will start out to pick up the bottles, rags, rubber and paper, and at 6 o'clock a fleet of trucks with additional helpers will pick up all the metal.

Put the bottles in a box if you have one—every kind of a bottle but a milk bottle. Tie all newspapers up in bundles, all magazines in another and miscellaneous paper in another.

Officers Get In Spot Of Fishing

"Still miss the round table in the Paris," write Lieut. A. L. Elliott from the officers' training camp on the Pacific coast. His reference was to a luncheon group who discussed the affair of state at noon-hour every day in the local restaurant.

Lieut. Elliott said he had met Harry Sherin of Lakefield, who is also in training. Flowers and orchards are beautiful, and pheasants in the country adjoining the camp are numerous. Lieut. Elliott asked to be remembered to friends, including the "Mayor of Buckhorn," Bill Atkinson and Dr. Munro of Warsaw, and the grand crowd at the farewell luncheon. He said that he was still blushing in remembering all the nice things that were said about him even if he did not deserve them. Mrs. Bateman, wife of Lieut. Lorne Bateman, arrived recently on the coast and has taken rooms about a mile from the camp. Lieut. Elliott said he was out for a few hours fishing and Lieut. Bateman landed a three and half-pound salmon.

Delegate Is Appointed Dominion Convention

At the May meeting of the Canadian Legion, Branch 52, on Monday evening last, G. A. Torrance, Secretary-Treasurer of the branch was nominated official delegate to the Canadian Legion Dominion Convention in Winnipeg. Mr. Torrance leaves for Winnipeg on Friday and the convention continues until the Thursday following. This annual get-together of veterans of the Great War is expected to prove one of the most important ever held, faced with problems of its present members and the veterans of the future who are now serving in this war.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

"The Church, the Household of faith," was the theme of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's United Church, when they held their regular meeting in the Ladies' Parlor on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. H. Tremain, was in the chair for the meeting. After the reports, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. F. W. K. Harris gave an account of the Stewardship Conference which proved most interesting. They amazed those present with the fact that more money was spent in Canada last year for chewing gum than was contributed to missionary work by all the protestant churches of Canada.

Miss F. Dixon's group took the devotional period. Miss Dixon read the scripture with a short explanatory talk and led in prayer. Miss A. Moir gave a splendid summary of the chapter in the study book.

Sherry G. Bond Bride Of Dr. A. T. Mackie

Lilacs and tulips made an effective setting to-day for the wedding of Sherry Gwendolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Percy Bond and Dr. Andrew Thomas Mackie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Mackie of Pembroke with Canon W. P. Robertson officiating. Frederick G. Mann, L.Mus., played the wedding music and Miss Gwendolyn Bond was soloist.

Mr. Bond gave his daughter in marriage and she looked very beautiful in a graceful gown of white silk moire, fashioned with shirred neckline, long torso and full Queen Anne skirt, sweeping into a slight train. She wore a finger-tip veil of white net caught with a wreath of orange blosoms and carried a bouquet of roses, forget-me-nots, and lily of the valley. Gwendolyn Betsy Bond was maid of honor for her sister and wore blue crepe with a matching draped turban, Miss Mary Mackie, bridesmaid, wore blush pink crepe with matching pleated tulle turban. They carried bouquets of mixed summer flowers. Mr. James McDougall of Kingston was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. George James Bond, brother of the bride and Mr. Keith Davis of Pembroke.

After the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Mackie left for Ottawa.

Bride-Elect Feted At China Shower

LAKEFIELD, May 20.—(ENS). — Miss Elizabeth Brown, a popular bride-elect of the month, was feted on Monday evening, when about thirty neighbours met in her honour at the home of Mrs Frank Erskine, Queen street.

Amid a setting of tulips and other beautiful spring flowers, the charming bride-to-be, followed by the guests, was ushered into the dining room by Mrs. Dora MacMillan. Here the gifts, which consisted of many lovely cups and saucers and other pieces of fine china, were very prettily displayed on the lace covered dining room table.

The decorations were carried out in silver bells suspended from the chandelier, white streamers on the table with corner vases of white lilacs. When Elizabeth and the guests had viewed and admired the gifts they repaired to the living room. Here a jolly social time was spent, which included some lively games organized by Mrs. T. J. Chaplin.

Dainty refreshments were then served by the hostess, Mrs Frank Erskine, assisted by Mrs. Jack Brown and Mrs. Stanley Richardson.

Those in charge of the arrangements for the evening were Mrs. Charlie Hunter, Mrs. Dora MacMillan and Mrs. Erskine.

Gertrude Milne Bride Of Harold Watters

PORT HOPE, May 20.—(ENS). — On Wednesday at 9 a.m. a very quiet wedding took place when Gertrude Milne became the wife of Harold E. Watters. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J J. Guiry in Our Lady of Mercy church, which was beautifully decorated with white lilacs and tulips.

The bride, who was gowned in floor length white sheer crepe and finger tip veil, was attended by her sister. Miss Alice Milne, Reg. N., in turquoise blue sheer. The groom was attended by Mr. Tom Sherry.

A small reception was held at the home of the bride for immediate relatives only

Later the bride and groom left for a short trip east after which they will take up residence in Port Hope.

HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL

The annual meeting of the Home and School Council was held Monday evening at the Y.W.C.A. The guest speaker was Miss Elizabeth Walker who urged that we keep in mind that in the training of the children of today we are deciding the kind of world we will have tomorrow. To parents and teachers falls the responsibilty of building habits of loyalty, honesty and responsible behaviour.

The Home and School movement, thought Miss Walker, with its high aims and ideal, is splendid means of bringing about a closer relationship between teacher and parent and child, and she also said that Home and School was a most appropriate name for this organization, representing as it does the two most important factors in a child's life.

Touching on the work of Young People's groups, Miss Walker said that in her new position as advisor on Women's Welfare at the Genelco plant she was having the opportunity of meeting many girls who had previously come under her notice as members of the C.G.I.T. and other groups, and it would be interesting to watch for the influence of their early group training.

Mrs. W. R. Morris was in the chair for the election and installation of officers. The following is the slate of officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. E. Chambers; vice-presidents, Mrs. L. M. Richardson, and Mrs. V. R. Henry; recording secretary, Mrs. L. H. Vass; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. J. Craig; treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Sills; executive, Mrs. W. Beggs, Mrs. F. C. White, Mrs. F. S. Harrison, Mrs. W. Carter.

Mrs. C. Chambers was in the chair for the reading of reports from the secretary, treasurer and conveners. Mrs. C. H. Crowe gave the report of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Chambers expressed gratitude for her re-election and for the co-operation of her officers and executive, with special reference to Mrs. Morris and Mrs. R. Parnall, past president, and hoped that in the coming year the Council would continue to develop in strength and usefulness.

Attractive Prizes Offered For Hospital Penny Sale

A worthy cause is asking for your support in Peterborough, has been for the past week, and will continue to ask until June 2. It should not be necessary to elaborate to any citizen of Peterborough the reasons why the Penny Sale being held by the Women's Auxiliary of Nicholls Hospital deserves his support. This annual affair helps to raise the funds by which the Auxiliary, in so many ways, aids the work of Nicholls Hospital.

Looked at from a purely selfish point of view, there are two excellent reasons why you should support it. First, you may be in the hospital one day yourself. Secondly, the prizes offered in the Penny Sale are attractive enough to tempt the most rabid opponent of this mild form of gambling. With the gas and rubber situation what it is, imagine how satisfactory it would be to win a brand new bicycle. And maybe your company dinner service is beginning to be too short on some pieces to be best any more; in which case you might win the handsome dinner set shown in the window of the George Street store where the sale is being held. And there is a unique and beautiful quilt top which would add a touch of glamor to your guest room; some lovely pieces of silver; a ham, which is to be drawn for this Saturday; two hampers of groceries and a carton of canned goods. There are more than 45 prizes and all of them well worth winning.

By the way, special prizes of theatre tickets are drawn for each Friday night, and no claim has yet been made for those drawn last Friday, or for the hamper of groceries. The lucky numbers are [illegible],751, for the hamper of groceries, and 13,381 for the theatre tickets. You can claim your prize by going to the store and producing your number.

Of course you know how the Penny Sale works. You buy 10 or 25 tickets at a penny each and put the tickets in the can bearing the number of the article you want to win. You can put them all in one can or spread them out, just as you prefer. One June 2 the big draw will take place and the winning numbers will be published in the paper and also posted in the window of the store.

Gas Ration, Foster Homes Difficulties of C.A.S.

The May meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held Tuesday afternoon in the Council Chamber of the City Buildings with the chairman, Mr. James Dutton, in the chair. A letter was read from the Mayor, advising the society to make an appeal for an increased gas ration. And in the Shelter report it was stated that one of the children who had had music lessons from Mrs. R. T. F. Brain, played a selection at a recital and also that workers supplied through the C.W.V.S. have been of considerable help in taking care of the children. There are 11 children in the Shelter at present, several of them under school age.

Before reading her report, the supervisor, Miss Rachael Young, paid tribute to the work of her assistant, Miss Alfreda Skenfield, who during Miss Young's recent illness, has done a fine job of carrying on the work.

In her report, Miss Young said that the number of cases during the month was 373, three times as many as can be properly dealt with by a staff of two, and pointed out that because of this the work may be less effective, which will result in criticism from other agencies. Because of the urgency of some of the cases they must be dealt with at once, while minor cases are set aside, and perhaps become urgent before they can be attended to.

Two boys, wards of the society, have been given permission to work on farms and are earning wages. Three children were admitted to the Shelter because they were without a home.

Miss Young also quoted from Dr. C. M. Hincks, Director of the National Committee of Mental Hygeine who stated that Britain is doing more today for children under five than at any time in history. Children are better nourished because greater attention is given to feeding and because there is a great deal of communal feeding. "Surely," said Miss Young, "it will not take a calamity for us to face this situation."

The difficulty of finding foster homes continues. The population at the Shelter has not depleted because there are no foster homes. This is due partly to lack of time to investigate and partly to the scarcity of foster homes. Many people find it more profitable to take in factory workers as boarders. The society is also interested in securing homes near the city for babies. The shortage of gas makes it impossible to keep proper check on babies who are very far out in the country, or to see that they receive proper medical attention.

The matter of added help was discussed and it was suggested that the Junior Welfare League be asked to help in some of the cases. It was also suggested that the matter be brought before the City Council. The matter of some alterations at the Shelter was brought up and the matter was referred to the property committee. Mrs. Higgins, of Lakefield, read an interesting report on the annual convention of Children's Aid Societies held in Toronto recently, which she attended in company with Miss Young and Mrs. Maguire.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, May 21

An intriguing and surprising day in which the propitious and adverse influences follow each other in quick succession. The outstanding matter should come with sudden and dramatic force, possibly enforcing a radical and uprooting change, with high adventure and far-reaching effect upon current affairs. This may be in the private or business life, with romantic or emotional crises.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of peculiar, intriguing, and contradictory experiences with adverse and beneficent conditions following each other with swift and startling force. This may affect the business, financial, emotional and social life with deep significance, and hold peculiar aspects in shaping the fortunes and destiny.

A child born on this day may have a rather strange and dramatic life, with many reversals as well as benefits. It will be unusually creative and efficient.

COUPLES FALL IN LOVE TWICE IF MARRIAGE IS SUCCESSFUL

In Second Love They Don't Expect The Impossible of Each Other

In every successful marriage the husband and wife fall in love with each other twice. The first love is founded on illusion. Boy meets girl and all is circling wings and trailing clouds of glory. They know they were made for each other and that their marriage will be a grand, sweet song, with never a discordant note in it. He sees her as a being of unearthly perfection, and she beholds in him her Fairy Prince.

So they are married; but it isn't long before their pink chiffons of romance begin to show signs of wear and tear and to frazzle out around the edges. They wake up from their trance and what we call disillusion of marriage takes place. They take their first good, long, appraising look at each other and wonder whatever made them think they wanted to spend the next thirty or forty years together.

He sees Geraldine with her complexion off and cold cream on and her many imperfections thick upon her. She beholds Tom unshaven and shorn, with fussy little ways and given to saying brutal things about the coffee. Both of them see marriage stretching before them as a long rocky road that is going to be hard to travel, instead of the flowery pathway that they thought it would be.

Probably there is not one bridal couple in a thousand who, during what is ironically called the honeymoon, have not regretted their marriage and been on the point, a dozen times over, of packing up their doll rags and going back to Mother. Many do throw up their hands and quit, for statistics show that divorce is much more common among the young than it is among their elders, and that if a marriage lasts five years the chances are that it will be good for the long pull.

The reason for this is that after the boy and girl glamour love is as dead as a coffin nail the husband and wife fall in love with each other for a second time, and this love lasts because it is founded on fact instead of fiction. They no longer expect the impossible of marriage or of each other. They have ceased to yearn after thrills and high-pressure sentiment. For they have found out that they would get as sick of the grand passion as they would of a daily diet of chocolate creams.

Curiously enough, husbands and wives fall in love with each other for the second time for entirely different qualities than those that inspired their first love. A girl's pretty face may have caught a boy's eye, or a girl may have been swept off her feet by a boy's dashing air. But what a man loves his wife for is not her peaches-and-cream complexion, but her tenderness and devotion and his knowledge that if all the world turned against him she would still stand faithfully by his side. And what a wife falls in love with her husband for is not because he looks like a cinema hero, but because in every line of his tired face and his sagging shoulders she reads the story of his selfless toil to keep her safe and warm, and stand between her and hardship.

To the on-looker the middle-aged men and women, who have lost their figures and whatever allure of youth they may once have

Children's garments require more than ordinary washing

You need Sunlight's "EXTRA-SOAPINESS" to get right at those extra grubby parts

ISN'T it amazing how children get their clothes so dirty? Isn't it surprising, too, how stubbornly the dirt sticks? You know yourself that no ordinary washing is completely effective in cleansing the very dirty parts. Some of the dirt is left behind, and so the clothes won't come really clean.

Whether you use flakes, powder or bar soap you need Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" to remove every speck of dust and grime. The Sunlight method of washing is simply to apply Sunlight right on to the "extra dirty" parts at once.

And you do this lightly—not with hard rubbing—for Sunlight has a wonderful "extra soapiness" which makes it exactly suited for soaping the clothes. The light film of Sunlight left in contact with the dirt is sufficient to loosen the most stubborn grime—quickly—thoroughly—leaving the clothes fresh and spotlessly clean. Use Sunlight Soap for all washing and household cleaning tasks. Its purity gives it tremendous cleansing power and saves you hours of work—it's gentle to your hands, too.

Holland Shortly To Become Nazi Province

LONDON, May 20.—(CP).— The Netherlands will shortly be incorporated into Germany as an "autonomous" province to be known as "Niedermark," the Soviet News Agency Tass reported from Stockholm.

The new Nazi puppet State will be ruled by a Cabinet headed by Anton Mussert, leader of the Netherland Nazi N.S.B. Party, according to the report.

The report said this Cabinet will not include Ministers for War, Foreign or Economic Affairs, and it is presumed that control of these vital matters will be retained by Germany.

Mussert is said to have consented to the arrangement, and is expected shortly to go to Berlin for a conference with Hitler.

Customs barriers between Germany and the Netherlands will be abolished, according to the report, but travellers between the two countries will still be required to have passports. Gradual rebuilding of the internal administration of Holland on the German model is said to be planned.

The Tass report apparently confirms persistent recent rumors that some such step would shortly take place

Last night Adrian J. Pelt, chief of the Netherlands Government Information Bureau, in an address to the Netherlands people over radio Orange, warned them that such a development appeared imminent. He urged them to continue their resistance to the Germans and the Dutch Nazis, but told them that it was "premature to resort to deeds of open resistance, which could only result in quelling your best intentions in blood."

Gets Five Years For Shooting Ex-Sweetheart

BRANTFORD, May 20. — Ralph Dawson, 41, married late yesterday was sentenced to five years' imprisonment by Judge D. J. Cowan on a charge of shooting Alexandra Poullos, pretty 18-year-old Greek-Canadian salesgirl. The shooting occurred on March 7 in an uptown store.

The girl, who still has a flattened .32 calibre bullet in her head and has lost her left eye, testified that she met Dawson at bowling alleys he managed.

"I didn't know he was married." she said. "I went out with him once in a while until September last year."

"What took place then?" Crown Attorney E. R. Read, K.C., asked. "I had a fight with him. He got drunk and I didn't like it. We quarrelled and he wouldn't take me home so I went home myself. I told him I didn't want anything more to do with him."

"What happened March 7?"

"Dawson came in. He asked the little boy who works for me and Grant Lyons to go. He locked the door and came to me and said 'Now you're going to get it.' He pulled his gun. I took hold of his wrist with my left hand and pushed the gun away. I had my back to the curtain at the rear of the store."

Dawson said he was married but had been separated for six years.

L. W. Trezenga, owner of the bowling alleys said Dawson was $500 short in his collections. Dawson said he had spent the money on "drink and entertainment." He tried to borrow money to make up the shortage, but he was in "no condition to discuss business." he said, drinking continually as he was. He decided to shoot himself, he testified.

He was going to end it all then, when he decided to go to say goodbye to Miss Poullos. He admitted asking a boy and a young man named Grant Lyons to leave the store. They left.

"Then I turned and said to Miss Poullos. 'you're looking very good to-day.' She answered, but I don't know what she said. I told her I was all finished and was going to blow my head off. I told her, don't think I'm kidding, because here's the gun. As far as I can recollect, she jumped for the gun."

New Playground Wants Dry Weather For Fill

MARMORA, May 20.—(ENS). — At the last meeting of the Kinsmen Club, it was reported by the chairman of the construction committee, Bill Dickson, that plans for the playground project had reached a point where work was almost ready to start.

The grounds, however, have not as yet dried out sufficiently to support the weight of a loaded truck, but it is expected that within the next two weeks it will be possible to start the fill.

It is proposed by the Kinsmen Club to buy and draw two or three hundred yards of gravel to be used in raising the ground to such a level that it will dry quickly in the spring and make it suitable for use as a camping and picnic ground as well as a recreation park.

Kind offers of assistance in this project have already been made by leading citizens of Marmora and Deloro, especially by the men who own and operate trucks in the neighbourhood. With the solid backing of the public this playground can be made into a park that the people of Marmora can point to with pride and this is an almost certainty.

Boys' Rally Is Held At Keene

HAVELOCK, May 20—(ENS). — Rev. Wilbur Howard, Toronto, addressed a Boys' Rally in the United Church at Keene. Groups were present from Havelock, Lakefield, Keene, Mather's Corners, Hiawtha, and Bethel, with a total attendance of 82.

The rally opened at seven p.m., with registration. Outdoor games were enjoyed until the program started. A lively sing-song was followed by the roll call of the groups and introductions of all mentors and ministers present. A demonstration of international handshakes was given by D. L. Minshall, Lakefield, namely, the handshake of the Japanese, Chinese and Spanish, and explained there was no standard form of the British handshake. Address of welcome was given by Rev. G. Murray, Keene. A quiz jamboree was conducted by Rev. Wilbur Howard, when boys from the audience were called to display their knowledge of names and places mentioned in the Bible. During the cracker-barrel session two boys each from Havelock, Keene and Lakefield gave talks on hikes and badges they have earned. The worship period was taken by the Havelock Trail Rangers with Carleton Longmuir reading the Scripture, and the topic was "How Boys May Help in the Community," with Douglas Grayling speaking on "Helpfulness at Home"; "Helping Other People," by John Wilkinson; "Collecting Salvage," by John Anderson, and "Helping in the Church," by Robert Watson.

The highlight of the evening was an address by Rev. Wilbur Howard, Toronto, who is chairman of boys' work in Canada, ever reminding his hearers of the splendid opportunities facing the youths of today; and the many facilities they have before them in these modern times. Part of the world stands idly by while the other part succeeds.

Thomas Gall voiced the possibilities of sending a boy to Older Boys' Parliament, and he also reported that no word has been received regarding a summer camp. He hoped that the boys of Peterborough county would hold a field day and send their records to Toronto to be judged with others across Canada. Mr. Gall said he was delighted at the success of this event, which he had looked forward to for many years.

Hearty votes of thanks were extended by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, Havelock, and Mr. D. L. Minshall, Lakefield. An abundance of refreshments were served by the Keene Rangers, which closed this happy event.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE STORY. — Four visitors arrive at a Dutch West Indian island to complicate the life of Bill Talcott, who is finishing six years there as branch manager for an American chemical firm. They are Halsey, Bill's successor; an auditor, who immediately accuses Bill of a large shortage in this accounts; MacDowell, a detective brought to take Bill back to the States if any irregularity were found, and June Paterson, beautiful cousin of Bill's former roommate. Awakened by shouts on her first night at the island, June goes to the dock to find a renegade skipper trying to land two smuggled refugees on the island from his schooner. When MacDowell tries to interfere, one of the skipper's men fells him with a blackjack.

REFUGEE VISITORS

CHAPTER VIII

June Paterson's hand was raised to her mouth as if in attempt to recapture the outcry that had revealed her presence. The silly bag was at her feet and thus she stood, a lovely, frightened girl outlined in the glow of a searchlight. Captain Jackson's scowl was swiftly erased; a startling white grim made a gash in his dark face and his eyes reflected inner fires.

"Caramba!" he said softly. "An' I thought thees one I 'ave was beautiful! Senorita, you 'ave thee suitcase. You wish passage, no? You want get away from here, no?" He leaped down from the cabin roof, strode forward rapidly. "Juan! Take the Senorita's bag! Pronto, fools. Theenk we 'ave all night?"

The girl stood transfixed, staring in terror at the prone figure of MacDowell. A moment before he had been a staunch, trustworthy figure, armed with a pistol, belligerent, aggressive. Now he was deathly still, a rivulet of blood coursing down his neck.

It was so swift. She had sought escape from a place to which she had come with such great dreams. Yet no matter how great her disappointment in Bill Talcott, every fibre of her being told her that here was no escape; that once on that dirty gray schooner even life itself might be forfeit.

"No!" she cried violently. "No, I don't want to go away—"

The attacker whose blackjack had so quickly subdued MacDowell was attempting to wrest the bag from her fingers when Leonard Halsey galvanized to life. With a low growl he rushed, lowering his shoulder so that the man called Juan was sent reeling backward into the oncoming Captain Jackson. The action was swift and the impact solid, and the swarthy, swagging skipper fell backward, twisting in desperate attempt to save himself. The shotgun had him off balance; its butt struck the pier with a resounding thwack and the roar of its discharge blasted heavenward.

Perilously close, that fury of shot and fire had been. Then event followed event in confusing swiftness. Halsey scooped up MacDowell's pistol. The huge native Tomas moved with the speed of light, capturing Juan in his great hands. Sebastien, clutching his injured arm, kicked viciously and accurately at a fallen man who was attempting to rise.

Only Bill Talcott did not move. Whether bewildered or frightened, he stood stockstill, lifting not a finger to assist Halsey. Talcott's face was devoid of expression, his eyes blank, his arms laxly at his side; whatever fight he had held was gone from him and he stayed a disinterested, dull observer.

"Back, all of you!" Halsey shouted, levelling the pistol. "Talcott, pull yourself together! You, Jackson, get these men aboard and get out of here. I warn you, I'll fire at the slightest disobedience!"

There was one coming over the side with a knife in his teeth. Unhestitatingly Halsey fired. The knife man yelled in pain, scrambled hastily back to the deck. Jackson, facing Halsey with murder in his eyes, felt the hot breath of the bullet in his face and jerked violently backward.

As for the fellow in black Tomas' hands; a single thin dry scream had come from his lips. Only once it sounded and then he was quite limp. As if he were a bag of nitrate, Tomas tossed him aboard with a mighty thrust; moved to the next, picked him up and slung him to the ship's deck and thus with the last until of the schooner's crew only Jackson remained on the pier.

The swagger was gone from the dark skipper. His face was livid with fear, his eyes riveted on the gun in Halsey's hand. "Don't shoot me," he begged. "Don't shoot——"

Talcott was coming over. Head down, legs spread, anger supplanting the blankness in his eyes. "Halsey," Talcott said in a cold, unnatural voice. "it wasn't necessary to shoot that man. I'm still in charge here, and while I'm boss there'll be no gun play on Abas. Put that pistol away."

Halsey's mouth gaped in astonishment. "Have you lost your mind?" he gasped.

Talcott shrugged. "There's been too much noise already. I'm surprised the natives aren't on our ears by this time. You know how much chance we'l stand."

"But your foreman, Sebastien—"

"Sebastien was knifed." Talcott said calmly. "Knives made no noise. It was Jackson's idea to scare us by firing that first shot. He doesn't appreciate, or care, what we're up against on this island. But you should. So put the gun away."

Hardness settled on Halsey's face. "Of all the fools he grunted. Swinging, he jabbed the pistol in Jackson's side. "I'll see htat the authorities hear of this, Mr. Jackson. I'm the new manager here and you won't find me as easy to get along with as Talcott seems to have been. Now, what about these passengers you have?"

In answer, the heads of a man and a woman appeared over the side. The woman. June Paterson saw in that swift moment. was dark with the throbbing beauty of foreign lands. Her skin was clear ivory and her eyes were great dark pools of fear and pleading. Hesitantly she stepped to the pier.

The man who followed her was a most remarkable creature. He possessed a tremendous quantity of hair that must have been dyed, and his eyes were hidden behind thick-lensed glasses that gave his round face the appearance of an orange hiding behind automobile headlights. He was shaking violently and his clothing was much too large, and that was all June Paterson could see, for then Tomas' broad back hid him from view.

A word of protect was on Talcott's lips but Halsey ignored him. "I understand you have papers?" Halsey asked briskly.

The woman nodded abjectly. "The Captain, he has kept them," she said in a tremulous voice slurred with just a trace of accent.

Halsey glared at the schooner's master, and hurriedly Jackson searched; found a stained, dirty envelope in his hip pocket, passed it over. "Open it up and read the contents." Halsey ordered June Paterson.

Dawn was flooding the sky when in the light of a pier lamp. June Paterson opened the envelope. Uppermost was a passport issued in the name of Martha Swenson and the photograph it bore was an excellent likeness of the woman. The other was for Professor Albert Constantine, followed by a list of degrees, and its photo too seemed authentic enough to identify the strange little man.

"These seem to be in order," she announced.

Halsey nodded. "Good. We'll hear their stories later. Do you have luggage?"

In answer two suitcases came hurtling over the side to crash on the pier. Having asked and received the answer that these were all, Halsey prodded the deflated skipper aboard his vessel.

Not a word was spoken as the schooner's auxiliary moved the dirty grey hull away into the cobalt sea. On the pier, MacDowell groaned suddenly and sat up. Halsey leaned down and expertly scanned the detective's wound. June Paterson watched marvelling at Halsey's calm efficiency; watched, too, with open contempt as Talcott stood ineffectually by.

Talcott seemed to have shunk in stature; already Sebastien and black Tomas were regarding Halsey with the faithful eyes of dogs. Dully she wondered if what had been intimated about Talcott might not after all be true.

Stirring Appeal

where the canvassers have "just got nicely started." He is under the impression that it will be the end of May before the work has been completed locally.

At their meeting on Tuesday afternoon the secretary made pointed reference to the drive by raising this question, "Suppose the postman brought a letter to your door today with the stamp of a German prison camp on the envelope. Would you open it, and would you remain unmoved as you read the lines telling of the monotony and privation of life as a prisoner of war? Would you be so lacking in imagination as not to picture the mental anguish of some Canadian boy, locked up by the Nazi thugs, who don't even know the meaning of the word humanity? Would you remain indifferent to the misfortunes of hundreds of your fellow-citizens, forced to suffer the most degrading indignities at the hands of the bestial Japanese? If you would, then the appeal of the Red Cross Society means nothing to you. For it is to alleviate just such suffering and privation, to bring a little humanity into the inhumanity of war that the Red Cross exists.

The Canadian Red Cross stands ready to help in time of emergency. The care of the sick, wounded, homeless, the suffering and the frightened—all of these are tasks which the Red Cross carries out in the face of great danger. The Red Cross means everything in times like these. It is the only means by which we can reach into the unkown enemy lands to communicate with our loved ones lost to us for a time. It is the most certain way in which we can help them in our hour of need. Humanitarian undertakings such as these cost a great deal of money, and nine million dollars is required now to carry on this all-important work. Medical supplies must go to the sick and wounded; hospitals and ambulances must operate; parcels for prisoners of war must go forward in an uninterrupted stream."

had, and who call each other Ma and Pa, may not seem figures of romance. But the husband who never looks at his wife's work-knotted hands without thinking of how many shirts she has washed for him and how many dinners she as cooked for him, and who never sees his wife's faded eyes without remembering the sleepless nights she has spent watching over his sick bed; and the wife who never looks at her fat and bald-headed old husband without thinking of all the sacrifices that he has made for her and the children, are the only ones, in reality, who ever know the full beauty and grandeur of married love.

It is because this second blooming of love brings with it so much more happiness than the first that it is a pity that the young have not the patience to wait for i.t

All Sing When Songbook There

How everyone crowds round the piano when gay cowboy songs are heard. And soon all are singing from the songbook—every verse—and the party is a success.

"O bury me not—" a bass voice booms, and everyone joins in:

"—on the lo-hone prai-ree!
Where the wild coyo-o-otes wi-hill howl o'er me!"

And what about "Home on The Range," someone demands, and insists that you sing the lovely second verse, too!

"Where the air is so pure and the zephyrs so free,
And the breezes so balmy and light—
That I would not exchange my home on the range
For all of the cities so bright."

Pretty soon everyone's clamoring for his special favorite—"Red River Valley," "Little Old Sod Shanty" and of course—

"I'm a-leaving Cheyenne, I'm off to Montan', Good-by, old Paint, I'm a-leaving Cheyenne!"

These and many more well-known, well-loved songs are included in our cowboy songbook. Has 18 in all, among them "The Old Chisholm Trail," "Git Along Little Doggies." Gives words, music, accompaniments; many with guitar diagrams.

EVERYBODY LOVES COWBOY SONGS—WARM UP PARTY

For your copy of "Popular Cowboy Songs," send 15 cents in stamps or coins to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of songbook.

IMPOSSIBILITIES OCCUR

ALL SORTS of results can come in the play for a particular contract, from very simple differences in tactics by the two sides. A contract which gets set at one table is not only made at another, but sometimes produces an extra trick or two, as a consequence of different ways of going about the matter.

Wherever this hand was played at 4-Hearts by East, the South player had a mean job to decide what was his best opening lead. In two cases the club J was chosen, but the results were highly different. One declarer took that first lead with the A, and led the diamond 2 to the Q. South stayed off with the A, but used it on the second diamond lead. Thereupon he cashed the club K and heart A, and then led the club 4, enabling his partner to ruff with the heart 5, setting the contract.

At the other table, East let the club J ride to his Q, and then led the diamond Q, which South took immediately with his A, following with his heart A and the heart 4 to the 10. East had no trouble getting the rest of the tricks by merely running hearts and diamonds, giving him all of the club discards he needed.

Red Cross Plans Events For Funds

HAVELOCK, May 20—(ENS).—The Red Cross met on Monday afternoon in the basement of St. John's Anglican church, with an attendance of 26 ladies, and the vice-president, Mrs. Harry Roche, presiding.

A large parcel of fur was received from Mrs. Joseph Pickens, Hastings, to be included in the shipment to Toronto. The branch was invited to have afternoon tea after the next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. (Rev.) McLean.

Suggestions for ways and means of raising funds in the future were an afternoon tea, strawberry social, diminishing teas, superfluity shops or an imaginary tea. The first event will be a musical tea in the town hall on Wednesday, May 27.

During the afternoon one quilt was quilted and bound and enough blocks pieced for a quilt top. Quite a number of nightgowns were given out to be made up and several parcels of sewing and knitted articles were brought in. Four beautiful quilts were received from the Belmont Women's Institute and gratefully acknowledged.

Faraday Reeve Lumberman U.A. Hubbel Dies

BANCROFT, May 20. — Urbane A. Hubbel, senior member of U. A. Hubbel & Son, well-known North Hastings lumber company, died in Faraday Township near the Village of Bancroft on Saturday following an illness of four days. The funeral was held on Tuesday. He was in his 66th year.

The death of the late Mr. Hubbel removes one of Hastings County's colorful figures. His life is a saga of initiative, hard work and foresight.

Starting as a boy in an obscure cheese factory, he accumulated $800 in savings and invested it in a small sawmill and a block of timber. From that time, his efforts were crowned with gradual success, and at the time of his death he was the holder of the largest timber acreage in this part of Ontario.

So rapid was his progress that four years after his entry into the lumber business he took a brother, E. S. Hubbel, into partnership. The company flourished and a little later the brothers purchased the large Rathbun timber limit at Paudash Lake. They expanded with success and soon a large limit of timber in Peterborough County was added to the already large holdings.

Some years later, a son, Frank, was taken into the company and four years ago the largest timber limit in Hastings County was acquired by the firm.

Extensive operations down through the years gradually took their toll of timber in the Hastings County holdings, and last year it was estimated that only three million feet were left.

Acquired Large Timber Tract.

Foreseeing this Hubbel & Son acquired 120 square miles or 76,000 acres on which are 200 million feet of timber, in Haliburton County. The firm proposed to move all equipment to this holding this year. In June the late Mr. Hubbel had proposed moving his home to Huntsville to be near his new timberlands.

An early interest in municipal affairs gained for him a seat in the Faraday Township Council. In 1912 he was elected Reeve of the township and represented that community in the Hastings County Council intermittently for eleven years. In 1924 he was again elected Reeve and held that position until the time of his death.

A Popular Member.

He was a popular member of the county body and a staunch champion of the cause of the nortnern section of the county. While never a Council Chamber orator he was firm in his convictions and his township the northern part of Hastings and the county in general have profited by his experience and wisdom

The late Mr. Hubbel was born in Healey Falls, in Northumberland County, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hubbel. He was twice married, his first wife, the late Iona Lindsay, passing away in 1916. Surviving are his widow, the former Margaret Rutledge, one brother Wesley of Michiachi, Alberta, and one son Frank at home.

Public Speakers Of Smith Union Awarded Medals

FAIRVIEW, May 20.—ENS). — The annual W.C.T.U. public speaking contest of the Smith Union was held in Fairview United church, Friday evening, for the pupils from S.S. No. 4 and No. 11.

The teachers, Miss M. Golden and Miss A. Milligan, are to be congratulated on the effort they put forth in training the children. The honours were so evenly distributed among the contestants that the judges had difficulty in making their decision.

Reggie Fowler won the medal in the group for 9 year old pupils and under. The others taking part in this group were Jean Heard, Helen Patton, Doreen McIvor, Allan Bell, Bobby Oliver and Russell Boyce.

In the 12 year age group, Bobby Cockburn was the winner and the other contestants were: Audrey Patton, Betty Cockburn, Joyce Godfrey, Ronald Mahood.

The judges were Mrs. Yale, Mrs. Jory and Miss Kidd, all of Lakefield.

The Rev. J. H. Trumpour acted as chairman for the evening. There was also a musical program with solos by Mrs. Joseph Mann, Mrs. Clayton Telford and Miss Mary Milburn and a male quartet composed of Wesley Bell, Carman Bell, Harold Lewis and John Lewis performed. An instrumental duet by Mrs. C. Telford and Mrs. H. Lewis was followed by a guitar selection by Boo-by Cockburn.

The medals were presented by Mrs. Gordon Mann, president of the local W.C.T.U. and each child taking part in the contest received little gift

Mrs. Austin Poast expressed appreciation for the work of the judges, children and teachers, and all who had helped to make the evening such a success and called on the judges and Mrs. Gordon Mann to come forward. They were presented with bouquets of spring flowers by Mary Cockburn, Bobby Boyce, Jean Herd and Joyce Godfrey.

The meeting closed with the national anthem.

Next Jap Blitz Seen Into China

CHUNGKING, May 20—(AP)—A grave threat is facing China and the next Japanese offensive may be against this country, a Chinese Government spokesman declared today as an army communique disclosed continued heavy fighting on the Burma-Yunnan front and development of heavy Japanese attacks in Chekiang province on the east coast. He called for more Allied planes.

A further Chinese gain in Yunnan, where the Chinese have thrown back the invaders from their thrust up the Burma Road at the Salween River, was announced by the communique, however.

It is said the Chinese, after wiping out an enemy force at Hungmushu on the west side of the Salween, had continued to advance westward and had routed aanother at Lunkangchia, east of Tengyueh. Tengyueh is about 35 miles west of the river and about the same distance north of Lungling on the Burma Road.

War-Hater Ayres Joins Medicals

HOOD RIVER, Ore., May 20—(AP)—Lew Ayres, war-hating Hollywood film actor who sacrificed his career, at least temporarily, for his principles, came out of a conscientious objectors' camp today to be inducted into the United States army.

Ayres, who rose to prominence as a war-embittered soldier in "All Quiet on the Western Front," said his hatred of arms-bearing was unchanged.

He is entering the army, he says, because he has been assured he will be assigned to medical duty, for which he has taken training in civilian courses.

Ayres rose early at Camp Wyeth, 20 miles west of here, where he had been confined for two months, and is to leave for the Portland, Ore., camp and eventually for 13 weeks of training at some army contonment.

Thus ended two months of effort by Ayres to be reassigned, a period which he spent with some 100 other war objectors in forest service work, clearing trails, chopping down trees, and occasionally fighting brush fires.

Ayres may be assigned to a medical unit at once, but Harold Herschner, Hood River draft board chairman, said he believed the actor first would have to go through the 13-week training period.

Whether Ayres is able to enter the army because his California draft board changed his classification is not known.

Whatever cleared the way, it is certain Ayres has not altered his views.

"There is one thing I want understood, and that is there has been no change in my ideas," he said in an interview. "There has been no reversal in my thoughts or theories. I am grateful for reassignment, however, for the medical corps is the place I want to be—to be able to do some useful work."

Descend On Foochow, Out To End Bases Within Range Of Tokyo

CHUNGKING, May 21 — (AP).—Japanese troops have been landed near Foochow chief port and capital of the East Coast Province of Fukien, and have engaged in heavy fighting with Chinese forces. the Chinese high command announced to-day.

The invading force was carried aboard a dozen transports, which made their way up the Min River to a point near the city.

The descent on Foochow, a city of 400,000 and largest port between Shanghai and Hong Kong, was a southward extension in the series of Japanese attacks which is assuming the character of a major offensive, perhaps intended to knock China out of the war.

Foochow was blockaded and bombed by the Japanese in June, 1939. In April, 1941, they invaded the city and moved inland along the river, but met stubborn Chinese resistance and finally withdrew last September.

The new invasion was coupled with a land drive southward in the Chekiang Province, south of Shanghai, in a determined effort to conquer that zone in which supposed air bases are a threat to Tokyo.

Plans Made, Air Meet Finishing

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP)—Unanimity on important phases of the general subject of air crew training is being obtained by the representatives of 14 nations attending the Ottawa air training conference, Air Minister Power, conference chairman, said today.

Making his daily report to the group of newspaper and radio correspondents assigned to cover the meeting which is behind closed doors, Maj. Power said the conference will come to a close tomorrow noon.

"The various committees are reporting to the conference committee," said the minister, "and to judge from the reports we get there is a thorough and mutual understanding among all the people taking part and what looks like great unanimity on important phases of the problem under discussion."

Complete Canadian Flying Boat Squadron Reaches Far East—Includes Peterborough Boy

LONDON, May 21—(CP Cable). — R.C.A.F. headquarters announced today that a Canadian flying boat squadron has arrived in the Far East. It is the first complete R.C.A.F. squadron to serve in that theatre of war.

Hundreds of members of the ground crew needed to keep the big aircraft flying arrived recently from their north Ireland base, after being en route for many weeks. They joined the air crew who had been flown to their new station.

Among Ontarioans were Cpl. K. Moffatt, Peterboro.

The squadron's commanding officer is Wing-Cmdr. J. L. Plant of Ottawa.

Sqdn.-Ldr. L. J. Birchall of Saint John, N.B., commander of the first flight squadron to reach the Far East, has been listed as missing after the first operation there. He spotted an approaching Japanese fleet and flashed to Ceylon the warning which was instrumental in defeat of the first Japanese air raid on Colombo. Birchall was posted as missing.

22 Of 33 Million Britons 14 to 65 In Army, Civil Defence Or Industry

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 21—(CP Cable). — Labor Minister Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons today that 22,000,000 of the United Kingdom's 33,300,000 population between the ages of 14 and 65 are employed in the armed forces, civil defence or industry.

"No country in the world's history has mobilized its manpower to such a high point as Britain has had to do in this war," he said. "The great task between now and the end of he war is not the difference between British and German manpower, but the difference between British and German managerial ability."

Mr Bevin said the figure of 22,000,000 does not include part-time workers, married women with domestic responsibilities, private domestic servants, students over 14, and thousands giving voluntary unpaid service such as the women's volunteer services, canteen workers, and nursing chool workers.

He said the figures are the "best justification of the fact that the g.eat mobilization of labor and manpower has gone with scarcely a ripple on the public surface."

Strikes are lower tha ever in the history of the country and production higher tuan ever in the history of British industry, he declared.

The Minister said the army, when its chance comes, will demonstrate th power, character and courage of the British people.

Mr. Bevin told members that the Military Training Act of May, 1939, by which Prime Minister Neville C mberlain brought pre-war conscription into force, expires next Tuesday. He said it is proposed to allow it to expire and "so leave a clear field for enac ment at a later d.te of such legislation as circumstances may show to be 'esirable."

The measure was superseded by the National Service and Armed Forces Act when the war began but never has been repealed.

Saving Bombers Japs Test Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS Australia, May 21—(CP).—Amid indications that the Japanese are striving to conserve their bomber forces for a large-scale attack in the future, Australia moved today to draft an additional 35,000 men into the civil construction corps which is preparing this country as a base for a great Allied offensive.

The probability the Japanese are hoarding and building up their bomber power was raised by yesterday's 53rd raid on Port Moresby, New Guinea. It was conducted exclusively by fighter planes. Their half-hour attack was reported to have done little damage, but they dropped small balloons in an apparent attempt to determine prevailing winds. (This would be of importance to parachutists and planes attempting to land.)

Both Homes, Factories Are Affected

Howe Reveals Wheat May Be Used In Synthetic Rubber

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 21—(CP)—Glimpses of Canada's war effort on the scientific front were given members of Parliament yesterday and they also heard Munitions Minister Howe announce that there will be no heating by oil next winter in any Canadian homes or factories.

From Mr. Howe they learned that wheat may be used to speed production of synthetic rubber, that gasoline and fuel oil for which no substitute has been found remain one of the country's most serious problems and that a newly-developed process soon will be yielding supplies of magnesium for airplanes and other needs.

The Munitions Minister, in reply to a question, said: "There will be no heating by oil next winter in homes or in factories anywhere . . . in the whole of Canada."

The House still was in committee discussing the War Appropriation Bill resolution. Consideration of Munitions and Supply department matters occupied all of yesterday's abbreviated sitting. Mr. Howe again will be available for questioning in the House today and later War Services Minister Thorson will be available for further questioning on matters connected with his department.

Objection to the reclassification of higher categories of gasoline ration licences was expressed by Ross Macdonald (Lib. Brantford) and Joseph Harris (Con. Toronto-Danforth).

Mr. Macdonald suggested that reduction of some classifications might result in persons being put out of business and before such action was taken every pleasure care driver should be put off the road, he urged.

Favors General Reduction

Mr. Harris said he favored a reduction in the basic five gallon unit, which now applies th.oughout Canada except in the Maritimes, for all categories rather than a reduction

Canadian Newsman First To Watch Hero-Decorating

By D. E. BURRITT

LONDON, May 21.—(CP Cable.)—Another half-dozen of Canada's airmen paraded with the latest contingent of heroes to be decorated by the King in the richly guilded Great Hall of Buckingham Palace.

Their awards, recognizing deeds performed months ago, already have been announced, but only recently they were summoned to the latest investiture to be decorated personally by the King who, for more than an hour, stood on the red dais to present medals and to congratulate scores of his heroic subjects.

Five of the Canadians, all of whom had been promoted since the announcement of their awards, the Distinguished Flying Medal. The remaining one, Flt. Sergeant Thomas B. Miller of Saint John, N.B., received the George Medal for rescuing his crewmates from a blazing bomber.

The others—two of whom are in the R.A.F.—were Po. William Leonard Reinhart of Stratford, Ont., Po. Bertram Courtney Paige of Bridgeport, Ont., Warrant Officer Kenneth Francis Neale of Regina, Sgt. Robert Steel Turnbull of Winnipeg and Sgt. Stephen Robert Frost of Vancouver. All were rewarded, in brief, for daring,

Expects Its War

LONDON, May 21 (CP).—Roundabout dispatches from Germany said today that Berlin expected Mexico to declare war upon her following receipt of an answer to her demand for satisfaction in the submarine-sinking of a Mexican tanker.

Dispatches, relayed here from Berlin via Stockholm, said that Nazi circles also expected other Latin-American republics not now at war with the Axis to follow Mexico's lead. It was said the German reply would be delivered today.

Brother, Sister Save 2 In Fire

PARKHILL, Ont., May 21—(CP).—Edith Tedball, 16, and her brother Alfred, 13, were acclaimed heroes of a fire to-day that destroyed their home, sending the mother Charlotte Tedball, 40, to St. Joseph's Hospital in London with serious burns about the face and body.

The youngest child, a girl of about 10 months, was snatched from ner crib as the fire reached into a bedroom. She suffered minor burns.

Alfred leaped to the ground from a second-storey bedroom of the frame house and cut his hands and arms as he broke the window of the baby's room. Edith, already burned about the hands and face in trying to extinguish her mother's blazing clothing, crawled through the window and saved the baby.

Dr. F. R. V. Bateson said the blaze started when Mrs. Tedball apparently used coal oil in starting a fire in the kitchen stove. The stove exploded and the flames spread so quickly that none of the house contents was saved.

The husband, Percy Tedball, was at work in town at the time.

Force Nazis To Cease Tank Counters, Cling Grimly To Kerch

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 21—(AP).—The Red army's drive toward Kharkov was reported today to have overrun a key German stronghold in a smashing six-mile advance which carried the fighting through the main Nazi lines into open country where only enemy troops and pillboxes blocked the way.

Red Star said that after the advance in which the garrison of the Nazi strongpoint was wiped out in a fierce 40-minute fight the battle was carried for the most part into "open fields and populated places unprotected by any fortifications."

Artillery, planes and tanks were used in a concerted dawn battering of the strong point, clearing the way for an infantry charge which took the position, Red Star said.

Ringed With Mines

It reported that the Germans had held the fortified village for three months, developing an intricate system of defence works, surrounding it with deadly minefields and clearing zones for point-blank fire.

The Russians also captured five surrounding villages and repulsed reserve troops hurled forward in a German counter attack, Red Star said.

Meanwhile the Russians reported fighting off German flanking assaults aimed toward Izyum and Barvenkova, 80 miles southeast of Kharkov, and holding on grimly at the eastern tip of the Kerch peninsula, barring the short cut to the Caucasus.

Red Star reported that the Germans' heavy tank losses in the desperate fight for Kharkov had caused them to change their tactics, giving up mass mechanized counterattacks and relying instead on charges by infantry battalions or regiments supported by only 10 to 15 tanks.

The gigantic battles of tanks against tanks which characterized the start of fighting are continuing only in one sector; there the issue has not yet been decided, the army publication reported.

R.A.F. Hop To Augsburg At 30 Feet Routed Even Plow Teams—Pilots Felt Doomed

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

AN R.A.F. STATION, Somewhere in England, May 21 (CP)—Pilot Officer Gilbert C. Hooey, a greying young man who skimmed over Germany's chimney tops for miles on end in the now-famous Royal Air Force raid on Augsburg, had no illusions when he started on that job. He didn't think he was going to come back.

But he was one of the fortunate ones, this 32-year-old former professional golfer from Santa Monica, Cal., Trenton, Ont., and Toronto. And, as he sat in the officers' mess at this air station and took tea, he told of the epic Augsburg flight which earned him the D.F.C.

"I don't think any of us thought we'd come back," Hooey said. "When we returned I never saw so many people so glad to see us."

Hooey, born in Trenton, was second pilot of one of the 12 Lancasters assigned to bomb the Diesel Engine Works at Augsburg April 17. Five planes returned after flying wing-tip-to-wing-tip only some 30 feet above ground for mile after mile of their jaunt into Germany.

"We flew so low you almost knew what the people on the ground were thinking," said the Canadian pilot. "You should have seen the livestock bolt. People just stood as if paralyzed."

Horses frightened by the thunder of the low-flying bombers, scattered in all directions, dragging plows and drivers after them. At one point Hooey saw a woman leading two cows. Then he saw the cows bolt and knock the farm woman over.

"Strangely enough there were plenty of cattle in France but I saw none in Germany or Bavaria," he said.

Hooey, veteran of many raids, including a low-level attack on Brest, said little about his own part in the Augsburg foray. He gave praise to others, particularly a pilot-warrant officer flying on the port side of Hooey's leading plane.

"He's gone now so I won't name him because of his family but he did a wonderful thing," said the Canadian. "Our group, the last to go over the target, approached in formation through the flak. The warrant officer's plane was hit and apparently he was hit too. It took a quick climb and veered directly over the top of us.

"The plane burst into flames but the pilot guided it back into formation, dropped his bombs on the target and then crashed, a flaming mass of wreckage."

Hooey paid tribute, too, to the defenders at Augsburg and mentioned one German gunner who blasted at the British bombers from the roof of the main building.

"He went up with the building," said Hooey. "But he had lot of guts, that guy.

Darkness came down long before the 600-mile return trip to Britain was completed and the pilot said he was never so glad to see a blackout in his life. Back at the station it was found the plane had been hit only once, a shot which bent but didn't pierce the petrol line.

Pacifist Duke Speaks Up

Wants No Reparations Or Punishment After War

LONDON May 21.—(CP Cable.)—The pacifist Duke of Bedford, in his maiden speech in the House of Lords to-day, declared the war which Britain entered to uphold the Polish alliance was "the most disastrous and most unnecessary which irresponsible politicians ever landed this country in."

The Duke whose activities for a negotiated peace have put him frequently in the spotlight, said the British people never would have consented to the Polish alliance if they had known the whole truth. He contended it was a popular superstition that Britain was disarmed before the war. "Tht truth is that when the re-armament race started we were slower at beginning" he said.

In addition, he told the Lords that if they had seen the children of their country starving as Hitler did, they might understand "why he is ruthless when protecting his country from starvation by reason of the blockade."

The Duke said that after the war the only sane policy would be for all nations to abandon "the ridiculous idea of reparations and punishment, let bygone be bygones, and co-operate to rebuild the shattered world."

1st Detroit 4-Motor Bomber

Mass Production For 300 M.P.H. Jobs, Carry 4 Tons

DETROIT, May 21 — (AP).—The first of big four-engined bombers which soon will be put into mass production based on automoblie manufacturing methods has rolled off the new half-mile long assembly line of the 37-acre Willow Run plant, the Ford Motor Company announced to-day.

Edsel Ford, president, told correspondents on the National Association of Manufacturers "Production for Victory" tour that completion of the first bomber assembly marked a new phase in Ford's war manufacturing which now includes approximately 70 different contracts.

"The bomber program we are now beginning is equivalent to the whole motor car business," Charles E. Sorensen vice-president, declared. "Our work on general war production will double the entire peacetime business of the Ford Motor Company and our employment will also be about doubled."

The bombing plane is known technically as the B-24-E. It is a giant ship weighing 30 tons, powered by four Pratt & Whitney 1,250-horse-power engines with a cruising raneg of 3,000 miles at a speed of 300 miles an hour. It can carry four tons of bombs.

OTTAWA GOVERNMENT TAKES ACTION TO CLOSE FRENCH OFFICES

Order Vichy Offices To Be Closed

Ottawa Rule Stands For All Canada, Let Envoy Remain

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons Wednesday the Government had requested that French consular offices and agencies in Canada be closed.

There are four French consulate officers in Canada located at Vancouver, Winnipeg, Montreal and Quebec, Mr. King said. Consulate agencies are located at Halifax, Toronto, Edmonton and Calgary.

Present conditions had reduced the duties of these officers and agencies and they rendered little service. They had become the subject of suspicion and it was thought advisable to ask the French Minister (Rene Ristelheuber) to take the necessary action to suspend their operation, the Prime Minister said.

The announcement followed a statement by the Prime Minister in the House yesterday that no immediate change was contemplated in the status of Mr. Ristelheuber, who will continue to represent Unoccupied France in Canada.

Consuls are named to look after trade matters and as there was now no reason for keeping consulates or consular agencies open, Mr. King said.

Protests frequently have been made to the government that the presence of Vichy consuls in Canada constituted a danger that information valuable to the enemy might get out of Canada through such sources.

Official sources have expressed the view that there was more dangers of information reaching the enemy through consular offices in Canada than through the legation in Ottawa.

skill and devotion to duty.

Endless Line of Heroes.

It was a moving scene as the almost endless line of men and women, wearing the uniforms of every branch of the war services and even some in civilian dress, stepped before the King, who stood looking bronzed and youthful in the be-ribboned uniform of an admiral of the fleet, to receive medals for brave acts, many of which cannot be recorded publicly until the war ends.

Newspapermen for the first time were allowed to attend the ceremony which is usually confined to the heroes and their relatives. Even then the liberty was limited, as far as the overseas empire was concerned, to the representatives, one from Canada, the other from Africa.

Two others represented the home press and we all were seated among the shy and nervous families of those being decorated.

Half an hour before the ceremony was due to start all visitors had to be in their bronzed chairs which stood in front of a ceiling-high mahogany doorway. Through tht slightly opened doors we would see last instruction being given to the modest, uneasy heroes.

Stern Aide Tenses Crowd.

Except for a handful of oft-decorated veterans to whom investitures were old stuff, the crowd was tense and nervous, especially after it had been warned twice by a cold-voiced, monocled aide in morning clothes and grey suede boots with pearl buttons not to talk above a whisper. Two infants were the only ones not impressed by his sternness and bawled to their hearts content until they were carried by their embarrassed mothers to an ante-room.

Finally the two big doors were swung open and the King strode into view, mounted the steps and stood at attention as the Grenadier Guards concert orchestra struck up the National Anthem.

Immediately the music ended the Lord Chamberlain took his place behind the King and began announcing the names and the awards which started the long parade of heroes.

The men, placed in order of the importance of the decorations they had won, heard their names called one at a time and marched up a ramp to the centre of the platform where they turned with a click of the heels, bowed stiffly and stepped a pace forward. Here the King pinned a medal on the left chest of each recipient, spoke a few words, smiled and shook hands and the decorated subject stepped back, turned and marched away.

Famous Ships, Regiments.

It seemed as if the end of the line would never appear and before the ceremony was completed the Lord Chamberlain had named representatives of many of His Majesty's ships which have been ost in battle and names of famous regiments which have played or are playing heroic roles in the war in the East.

The citations for the awards were not read and there was nothing to indicate the nature of the brave acts being recognized. The recipients included civilians from sunken liners, members of the coast guard, the home guard, the national fire service, the air raid precautions service, the merchant-navy nursing service for any branch of the armed services. There were plenty there from every unit playing a part in the war.

Two women's auxiliary air force members were in the line. They, along with a nurse and a young woman in civilian clothes, provided the only curtsies of the day.

All the men and women were dressed in their best and the men generally had conspicuously new haircuts. Probably the most uncomfortable were men from the merchant navy, one of whom jolted the King with a hearty handshake.

Almost Took King Away.

He was a swaggering broad-shouldered youngster with unruly hair and cheeks crimsoned by embarrassment. His obvious self-consciusness made him awkward and he stalked up to the King forgetting his bow. Then he turned to bolt while still gripping the King's hand.

His Majesty eased slightly forward to retain his balance and smiled broadly in appreciation of the situation as the previously prim audience burst into laughter, accompanied by the renewed cries of the banished infants.

All the Canadians displayed comparative dignity, but many of the merchantmen failed to bow and proferred their hands without waiting for the King's. Some even neglected to step forward and the King, without making any obvious effort, leaned forward almost to arm's length to pin the medals on them.

The whole performance of the men being invested was in extreme contrast to the formal efficiency of the palace staff. But if its members noticed anything untoward they certainly never betrayed it.

Food Shortage

Wickard said in his speech that demands for food for the United Nations had increased beyond expectations.

He said the United States is sending its Allies much more food than officials had expected a year ago.

"It is still safe to say," he added, "that everyone in this country can have enough nourishing food, but we can't be certain that we won't run short of some particular kinds of food and have to make up the lack with other kinds of food."

Paper Saving On For Post Offices

OTTAWA, May 21—(CP)—In an effort to cut down unessential consumption of paper and to salvage waste in post offices, new instructions are being sent to Canada's 12,500 postmasters, Postmaster General Mulock announced today.

The instructions, exemplifying the move for conservation of paper supplies, are printed on slips of cheap paper four inches by four and a half.

"A copy goes out with every item of supplies," Postmaster General Mulock said, "and the postmaster reads it as he puts the supplies away."

The slip, signed by T. P. Murphy, Superintendent of the Equipment and Supply Branch of the Post Office Department, reads:

"Mr. Postmaster: Think what it would mean if supplies of paper and other materials used in the postal service were not readily available.

"Yet that is the prospect which confronts every postal worker unless conservation and salvage are practised to the fullest extent.

"Conserve these supplies and send all surplus stock of any article to this branch for salvage."

Mr. Mulock said that the Equipment and Supply Branch is starting immediately to enclose a copy of the instructions with every consignment of supplies in order that postmasters throughout the country may see the order as soon as possible.

The Chekiang drive in the East was along a 150-mile front, with four Japanese spearheads of attack.

A Chinese army spokesman said the Japanese had reached a point about 50 miles from Kinhwa, provisional capital of Chekinag, and that that heavy fighting was in progress all along the front.

The Japanese columns encountered fierce Chinese resistance and at least one was reported beaten back while others were checked.

Last Minute News

CLEMENTON, N.J. (AP)—Patrolman George C. Miller, 52, was shot to death on a quiet residential street early today as he went to the aid of a woman who had reported an armed prowler outside her house. Three hours later Justice of the Peace John P. Lynch, 44, was taken into custody and held without bail on a murder charge. Lynch was to have faced trial Tuesday on threatening the woman.

MONTREAL (CP)—A lone bandit was seriously wounded in the Outremont branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada today when a clerk fired three shots at him as he was attempting to stage a holdup. Roger Lepine, the clerk, said that he had fired on the man after the bandit had threatened the bank teller with a revolver.

No Vichy Propaganda

QUEBEC, May 21 — (CP). — Vichy propaganda will find no favorable ground among French-Canadians, Premier Adelard Godbout of Quebec told newspapermen here last night. He was commenting on a report from the Office of Facts and Figures in Washington that Vichy's radio commentator, Leon Boussard, suggested in a recent broadcast the development of a French bloc adhering to "ancient traditions" rather than American policies.

White Russia City Falls To Guerillas

Hold Off Nazi Counter Dawn-Dusk Scrap; Goering Complaining

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, May 21 — (AP). — Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's army reported to-day that it had crushed one of the key German defence strongholds on the Kharkov front, wiping out the Nazi garrison in a fierce 40-minute struggle and storming forward six more miles.

Reporting the success of the sudden new surge in this sector, Red Star, mouthpiece of the Russian Army, declared that the strong point was one the Germans had sought to hold at any cost.

At the same time, the growing strength of organized Russian guerillas behind the German lines was said to be dinning an ever-louder challenge to the Nazi grip on once-conquered Soviet soil.

Pravda reported that guerillas had recaptured one important city of several thousand inhabitants deep in White Russia, driving out Germans who had held the community for four months and beating off a strong German force which attempted to reoccupy positions there in a dawn-to-dusk battle.

The importance of the city—its name was not disclosed—was indicated by the fact that it is the centre of 70 collective farms, each a community comparable in size to the average North American country village.

A Russian commnuique made no specific claim of further Red army

Charged With Theft Of Three Automobiles

Considerable evidence was heard by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. yesterday afternoon in the preliminary hearing of a charge against Donald Lloyd, Lakefield car salesman, of stealing three automobiles from the Industrial Acceptance Corporation, Limited.

The original charge against Lloyd accused him of the theft of eleven automobiles but Defense Counsel T. J. Carley, K.C. objected to the indictment on the ground that it involved a multiplicity of offenses and when court resumed at the afternoon session Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., submitted a new indictment, covering three automobiles, charges involving the others being deferred until later.

Principal witnesses for the crown were George Smith and Norman Dittman of the finance corporation.

The case was resumed this morning but had to be enlarged until tomorrow when it was discovered that the original copy of an alleged agreement between Consumers' Finance, Limited and the Industrial Acceptance Corporation, Limited had failed to arrive from Montreal. Incidentally the document arrived five minutes after the court had adjourned.

Obituary

JAMES GILBERT HUBBEL

NORWOOD, May 21.—The death of a well known resident of this district in the person of James Gilbert Hubbel occurred at his late residence on Belmont road recently in his 49th year.

The late Mr. Hubbel was a son of Elijah Thomas Hubbel and Jane Little of Rawden township and was born in Dummer. He farmed in Dummer for many years, retiring and moving to the residence on Belmont road in 1935.

He was married about 49 years ago to Agnes Bourne, who predeceased him in October, 1928. In 1933 he married Anne Bowie who is left to mourn his loss. Also surviving are four sons, George of Norwood, Walter of Hastings, Charles of Dummer and Arthur of Peterborough. Three surviving sisters are Mrs. Henry Dewart of Dummer, Mrs. Robert Morrow of Norwood, Mrs. Martin McArthur of Havelock and two brothers, William of Selkirk, Manitoba and Edward of Rochester, New York.

Funeral services were held in Norwood Baptist Church. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Ferns taking a portion of the 1st chapter of St. John for his text. Hymns includeid "There Is A Fountain" and "I Hear The Voice of Jesus Say." E. J. Rutter sang "Open The Gate of the Temple" with accompaniment by Mrs. Roy Nevins. A profusion of flowers attested to the esteem of a large number of friends.

Interment was made in Norwood cemetery. Bearers were: Warden Gardner, Ross Pennell, Arthur McKay, Thos. Parker, Charles Menzie and Elsworth Hogg. Flower bearers were Wm. Hubbel, Mr. McKenzie, Harry Morrow and Gordon McArthur.

Police, Natives Clash On New Caledonia

LONDON, May 21 (CP)—A Free French spokesman said today that police and natives had clashed briefly at New Caledonia after the departure of Governor Sautot, who is en route to London to report to the Free French committee.

He said he had no details on the clash but that it was not of political signifiance. He denied that the United States and Britain had asked Gen. Charles De Gaulle, Free French chief, to define the authority of his representatives in New Caledonia, Syria and Africa following upon internal disputes.

The spokesman said that during Governor Sautot's absence, New Caledonia and the Pacific islands under Free French rule were under "absolute" charge of Capt. Georges Thierry d'Argenlieu, Free French Commissioner.

Reports from New Caledonia three days ago said Marie Henri Auguste Montchamp, a colonial official, was in charge during Sautot's absence.

United States troops are stationed on New Caledonia for the island's defence against the Japanese.

In Syria it is understood the British authorities are pressing the Free French for agreement on a definite date for elections to create an independent country "in fact." Both parties were said to have agreed that war conditions prevented an immediate election, but the British authorities were described as desiring a definite promise so as to quiet the Arabs.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, May 21 — (CP). — The small supply of cattle offered was sold at firm prices up to mid-session on the Livestock Market here today. Butcher steers brought $10.25 to $12, choice weighty steers $12 and fed calves $11 to $12.50.

Veal calves sold steady at $14 to $15 for choice with common lights selling downward to $8.

Spring lambs were steady at $12 to $13.

Hogs traded steady at $15.25 dressedweight and sows sold at $11.25 dressed.

No sheep were offered.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle, 20; calves, 70; hogs, 290; Spring lambs, 20.

With coolers virtually empty and stocks of frozen beef, which have been drawn on to supplement the short supply of the fresh meat, seriously depleted, the beef supply situation is expected to grow steadily worse over the next two or three weeks at least, and the ultimate consumer, it is believed, will feel the pinch more.

Scouts To Tell Of A.R.P. Work In London Blitz

Two boys, Stanley Newton and John Bethell, who have rendered great service in A.R.P. work during the blitz in England, will be visiting Peterborough Sunday, May 24, to deliver a talk on their work to the Scouts of this city, A.R.P. workers and anyone else who is interested. The doors will be open to the public at 1.45 p.m.

The leader of the group, Stanley Newton, Troop Leader of the 8th Holborn Scout Troop and a Rover Scout and Assistant Scoutmaster of a Troop of evacuee Scouts from Gibraltar, has been through all the London blitzes, on fire watching and rescue work. He has shown outstanding resourcefulness and courage. He was selected to play the leading role in the British Ministry of Information film, "Men of Tomorrow." Upon his return to London he will be joining the R.A.F. He is a King's Scout and in addition to these badges he also holds that for Civil Defence and Missioner (nursing).

King's Scout John Bethell, 16, Troop Leader of the 65th Birkenhead Troop, was awarded the Scout Bronze Cross for conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty during the repeated and heavy air attacks on Birkenhead. He was credited with the rescue of 12 persons buried beneath collapsed homes. One of the Group Head A.R.P. wardens said that John was an inspiration to the rest of them during the heaviest raids when they might have faltered. Several times the Scout's keener hearing detected the approach of bombs and gave warning in time to save others.

The day's plans for Sunday are as follows: A small group will dine at the Empress and at 1.15 the Scouts and Cubs will parade at the Market Square. At 1.30 they will march to the Capitol and the program will start at 1.50 with the opening welcome remarks by B. Ottowell. This will be followed by brief remarks from Mayor James Hamilton and Commissioner J. T. Hornsby introducing the boys. Each boy will give "Men of the Future," on which then they will show a short picture, a 15-minute talk on air raids and Stanley Newton will do the commentating and in which he plays the chief role.

Monday the local Scouts and Cubs are holding a jamboree, a sort of field day, up at the Scout grounds north of Nassau, and there will be visitors present from Smith's Falls, Port Hope, Bobcaygeon and Picton. The Scouts will give A.R.P. and bridge-building demonstrations.

Campbellford Salvation Army Honors Three Officers

CAMPBELLFORD, May 21 (ENS). —One organization which never fails in war and emergency is the Salvation Army whose Red Shield Auxiliary is a welcome symbol to Canadian soldiers from coast to coast. Like its sister organizations throughout the Dominion, the Campbellford Branch has, ever since war began, been doing its share to make the lives of soldiers and sailors more pleasant. The local Corps has its own tradition for service, which dates back to the year 1884 when the first branch of the organization was founded here by Captain John Sharpe. Since that time the Army here has had seventy different officers as its leaders, and all of these, like the men and women soldiers in its ranks, were fired with the same enthusiasm for serving others and spreading the Gopel.

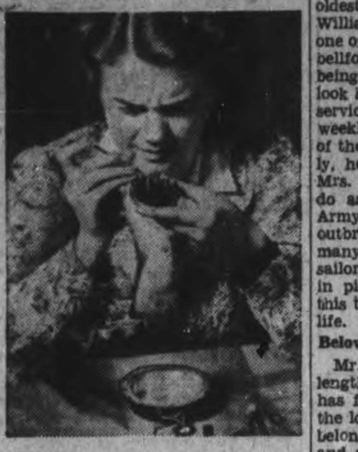
It as this characteristic which was particularly exemplified by three soldiers of the Salvation Army who were recently honored by the officer in charge, Lieut. Alex. Turnbull, who presented each of the ladies with long service badges consisting of a gold bar bearing a small replica of the Army flag and beneath which hung a ribbon bearing two red and yellow stripes on a blue field. All three of the Soldiers to merit this coveted award were women and the oldest of these was 83-year-old Mrs. William Bakes, Kent Street. She was one of the first soldiers in the Campbellford Corps and in addition to being a member for 56 years, can look back with pride at her record of service, for while she still attends weekly worship services and meetings of the Red Shield Auxilliary regularly, here she is the oldest member, Mrs. Bakes admits her inability to do as much as formerly when an Army Visiting Sergeant. Since the outbreak of war she has knitted many pairs of sox for soldiers and sailors and assisted the Auxiliary in piecing quilts. She was born in this town and has lived here all her life.

Beloved Worker

Mr. Charles Long, second in length of service to receive the badge has for 56 years been a member of the local Salvation Army Corps. She belongs to the Red Shield Auxiliary and since the first of the year has completed 9 pairs of sox as a part of her contribution to their work. Mrs. Long was at one time regarded one of the Corps best canvassers and in addition to this taught Sunday School for 10 years, as a record Sergeant in the Y. P. group for three years and subsequently a Recruiting Sergeant in the Corps.

The war work being done by the Army today is far more intensive than it as during the period 1914-18 in the opinion of Mrs. Ralph Bennett, who has been a member here for 42 years. She thinks the formation of the Red Shield Auxilliary has made possible the greatly increased amount of supplies that have been sent overseas. Mrs. Bennett was formerly a Recruiting Sergeant in the Corps and hopes to exceed the service record of her mother, Mrs. Martin Frederick, who had been a member for 50 years when she died in 1940.

THAT MEN MAY FLY!



ALICE Ross holds a handful of victory —a tiny instrument without which war planes could not fly on course . . . bombs would not hit objectives. Each microscopic adjustment must be absolutely perfect. Alice must be fit . . . keenly alert. She says, "Kellogg's Corn Flakes, with milk and sugar, helps put me on my toes." That's why we call Kellogg's the "Self-Starter" Breakfast. Get some today!

Wartime Tea Enjoyed In Lilac Setting

PORT HOPE, May 21—(ENS).— On Wednesday afternoon a delightful afternoon tea was held at "The Lodge" Trinity College School from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Ketchum, who so kindly loaned the lodge for this tea, was hostess for some 150, who enjoyed the beautiful ground and picturesque gardens. This tea was well named a lilac tea, for the gardens were surrounded by lilac bushes in full bloom and the tulips were rich in color.

Tea was served on the lawn from small tables as well as in the Lodge. A well patronized plant table in charge of Mrs. Meyer realized $19.70 from the sale of roots, plants and cut flowers.

Tea was poured from a beautifully arranged table centred with lily of the valley by Mrs. Polson and Mrs. Jarvis.

The sum realized from this lilac tea was over $45.00, the proceeds of which will be given to the Red Cross.

Plans Induction Of New Minister

CAMPBELLFORD, May 21 (ENS) —Induction services for Rev. J. O. Ralston, M.A., of Parry Sound, to whom a call was extended through the Peterborough Presbytery by members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here early in April, will be held on May 28. Only recently was word received here that the call had been accepted and announcement of the service was made by clerk of the Session, W. J. Harold Dunk, yesterday. Rev. Ralston addressed the local congregation at their regular services on March 22, and on his arrival here will replace Rev. B. Simpson Black who went to Bonar Presbyterian Church in February 1941. He was in Parry Sound for the past eight years and during World War I was a member of the chaplain service in the Canadian Army.

The induction will begin at 8 p.m. and will be in charge of members of the Peterborough Presbytery with Rev. James D. Smart, M.A., B.D., of St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, giving the principal address while Rev. W. Ernest Smythe, B.A. of St. Andrew's Church, Warkworth, will give the address to the minister and Rev. Horace Kaye, B.A., B.Th. of St. Andrew's Church, Colborne, the address to the congregation. Interim Moderator D. K. Perrie, B.A., Hastings, will preside and induct Rev. Ralston into his new charge.

OBITUARY

MRS BERT PERRIN.

BAILIEBORO, May 21.—(ENS). —The death on Saturday of Mrs. Bert Perrin removed one of Bailieboro's highly respected citizens, after an illness of long duration, in her seventy-seventh year.

Formerly Ida Elizabeth Lang, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Lang and lived her entire life in the village. She was a member of the United church.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Meredith, three sisters (Julian), Mrs. Winteringham, Edmonton, Alta.; (Carrie) Mrs. Joseph Byers, and Rachel, Oxbow, Sask., and three brothers William J., Brandon Manitoba, Matthew, Scout Lake, Sask., and Joseph of Bailieboro.

A private service was held at her late residence Monday at 2 p.m. by her pastor, Rev. Morgan Rowland. Interment took place in the Union cemetery, Bailieboro. Pallbearers were William Lang, Carl Lang, John Brackenbridge, Charles Brackenridge, Fred Perrin and Arthur Buttars.

Salvage Drive Is Big Success

COBOURG May 21 — (ENS). — Cobourg salvage campaign, which is sponsored by the Cobourg branch of the Navy League, went over with a bang yesterday, and in fact they will be banging away for a day or two yet before all the salvage is brought in.

"It exceeded by far our expectations," declared Basil Walker to the Examiner last night. "There was an excellent collection of rubber, paper and metal. We'll continue until all of it is in."

Collegiate boys lent a willing hand in the work yesterday, and the volunteers were many. Trucks donated by the owners worked all day, carting the salvage to the central depot at the rink where an army of workers piled it up. It is expected that it will be some time before all of it has been collected.

Ionic Chapter Hears T. P. Lancaster

CAMPBELLFORD, May 21. — (ENS). — T. P. Lancaster, Havelock, was speaker of the evening at the regular convocation of the Ionic Chapter No. 168 Royal Arch Masons, on Monday evening. Ex. Comp. Lancaster was formerly a member of St. Andrew's Chapter, Havelock, which recently amalgamated with the local organization. On the subject, "Landmarks of Masonry," he gave an interesting address highlighting some of the features of the Order and its progress down through the centuries. V. Ex. Comp. A. J. Meyers, who introduced the speaker, voiced appreciation to Mr. Lancaster on behalf of the members. A report of the recent meeting of the Grand Chapter at Niagara Falls was given by Rt. Ex. Comp. J. O. Benor, who was named Grand Superintendent of Ontario District No. 10 and to Mr. Scott, who was chosen District Secretary.

Ex. Camp. H. E. Bleecker presided for the meeting in the absence of Ex. Comp. S. A. Anderson First Principal.

Dogs Taboo

VANCOUVER, May 21—(CP).— Vancouver shoppers who take dogs into a grocery or vegetable store will be liable to a $100 fine when the city council enacts an amendment to the health bylaw at a meeting next Tuesday. The amendment was approved in principle at a meeting Monday.

Cobourg Veteran, Riel Rebellion Major Hugh McCullough, Passes

COBOURG, May 21 — (ENS). — Major Hugh McCullough, known as "Cap" to everyone in the district, was laid to rest this afternoon in Cobourg Union Cemetery, the service being conducted by Rev. W. P. Woodger of Trinity United Church and Rev. D. M. Smith, Baltimore United church. He died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Archie Nichol, at Centreton. He was 85 years of age. The pall bearers wee John T. Field, William Field, O. F. Allison, Lester Caughey, George Greer, Jack Skitch, John Quinn and John Foster.

The late Hugh McCullough had premonition that he was going to die soon and on Sunday and Monday while in Cobourg he expressed the belief to several of his friends that he would not see them again. On Monday he felt unwell while in Cobourg and returned to his daughter's home at Centreton.

Like the late Judge O'Connor he was an expert lawn bowler and for many years had been a member of Cobourg Lawn Bowling Club. He also enjoyed alley bowling. He served in the Riel Rebellion and also in the First Great War.

He was born in Plainville, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCullough. While a young man he taught school for some time in that district and then went to Belleville to attend business college. While there he joined the army and went to the Riel Rebellion in 1885. After the Rebellion he went to military school in Toronto where he obtained a commission. After attending military school he returned to Plainville to take over the family's general store, operating the store and post office there for 25 years. He served in the Great War for two years as a paymaster.

He came to Cobourg 31 years ago and for twenty years was registrar at the West Northumberland Registry office here, retiring about six years ago. The late Major McCullough was also a member of the Loyal Orange Lodge. He was married 55 years ago, his wife, who was Annabelle Neil, dying about eight years ago. Two daughter, Della of Cobourg and Mrs. V. Moon of Youngstown, N.Y., died some time ago. His only survivor is his daughter, Mrs. Nichol.

Policing The Post-War World

Speaking recently at Edinburgh, Britain's Foreign Minister, the Hon. Anthony Eden, said that after this war Britain and the U.S., with China and Russia, must police the post-war world to prevent "highway robbery and gangster methods." This sounds impressive, but precisely what does it mean? By what right will these nations undertake the policing of the world? By the right of conquest? If that is to be the basis of such action our victory will have to be a decisive one indeed; no conference table can be used for the imposition of such methods; no voice can be given to the conquered peoples in the making of the peace. Democracy will have to undergo a remarkable change of heart if any system of world policing is to work.

Russia could do a good job of policing a large part of the globe, for Russia is a totalitarian state and the party in power brooks no rivals. China might police the Japanese successfully by keeping them in a vastly inferior economic and military status as compared with herself. But successful policing of Germany and Italy by Britain and the U.S. can only be accomplished if those two countries set aside some of their democratic ideals.

It is in the nature of democracies that they forgive easily. Ten years after the end of the war of 1914-18 the forgiveness of Germany was complete. We had decided that the Germans were really not such bad fellows after all; we were sorry that they were in an economic mess; we abused the Versailles Treaty as an iniquitous and tyrannous document; we saw clearly that an impoverished Germany was a running sore in Europe; we were all ready to kiss and make friends. That will happen again. If we establish a system of policing for the Axis countries it will not be many years before a large number of people will feel that it is unjust and iniquitous that one people should restrict the actions of another, and a sentimental cry to free the Axis will go up. Furthermore, the governments of democracies change, and the pledges made on behalf of a nation by Winston Churchill or President Roosevelt may be repudiated by their successors. And, as always, the motive of profit will move behind the scenes and it will work mischief as it always does because it acts for the good of the few rather than for the good of the many.

We can see no hopeful future for a system of policing Europe unless the democracies are prepared to commit themselves to a long and inviolable program which they are bound by the most solemn pledges to carry out. This program will have to be based upon a firm belief that Germany (for Italy can scarcely be counted) is a dangerous country and must be treated as such for a long time; it will probably mean also considerable interference with German government for many years. Of course this will be fraught with endless difficulties, for no country is better at shamming dead than Germany, and no people are better able to present an appearance of injured innocence.

What we do not want after this war is a hastily made peace, full of commitments which will not be carried out, and containing provisions for a policing system which will not work. It might be better to have an armed truce and an occupation for a couple of years, so that our statesmen may go to the peace conference rested, refreshed and with their plans well in order.

Brantford States Its Case

Nothing is more annoying than to be misrepresented and apparently the city of Brantford has suffered greatly from this sort of annoyance in the past few years. At any rate, the Brantford Expositor has published an editorial in which it corrects two of the commonest mistakes about that city, and we are glad to pass the information along. Brantford prides itself upon being the city in which Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone; Bell himself stood behind this story although the Encyclopaedia Britannica gives this distinction to the city of Boston. There seems to be no good reason to doubt that Bell knew where he did his work and we are glad to help the Expositor spread the correct information.

It appears also that someone has tried to take Brantford's famous Indian from it. As everyone knows, the city is named after Chief Joseph Brant, known to his own people as Thayendaneges, and this great fighter is buried in a stone tomb in the churchyard of St. Paul's, His Majesty's Chapel of the Mohawks; this edifice was built by Brant with funds which he collected in England and it was the first church to be built in Ontario, being erected in 1785. Someone has said that Brant was buried in St. Luke's Cemetery at Burlington; tomorrow a replica of the home where Brant died in 1807 will be opened at Burlington and this memorial will be called Thaydenanegea.

Brant was a remarkable man. He was born on the banks of the Ohio River in 1742, and as he early attracted the attention of Sir William Johnson he received a good education. He fought in many battles on the British side, and became a colonel in the British Army; he was a daring and resourceful fighter, bringing a considerable share of Indian guerilla resource to the somewhat stodgy army of his time. But it is as a literary man and an administrator that Brant shows his unusual character; he translated the Prayer Book and the Gospel according to St. Mark into the Mohawk tongue, and he was for some time secretary to the superintendent of Indian affairs. He was an oddly conservative diplomat and in that capacity he was able to assist in gaining peace treaties between the Indians and the commissioners of the United States. A devout Churchman, he was buried at the Mohawk Chapel which was built by King George III.

These are the facts which Brantford wants known. Let us not forget them.

How To Drive a Horse

Two newspapers, the Fort William Times-Journal and the Vancouver Sun, have recently published information which should be useful to budding horsemen. These great family journals expect the horse to return in his thousands any day now, and they want their readers to be prepared. We shall pass on what they have to say.

To make a horse turn to the right, shout "Gee" at it in a good loud voice; this appears to be horse-language for "right"; "Haw" on the contrary means "left" and should be shouted loud enough for the horse to hear you the first time, as otherwise it may merely think that you are laughing and treat you as a frivolous fellow. From where you sit the left-hand horse is the "nigh" horse, and the right-hand one is the "off" horse. If you want the horses to stop shout "Whoa" at them and if they feel like it they will stop; to make them go into reverse you shout "Back" curiously enough, as horses and humans use the same word for this process. Neither paper gives directions for starting a horse, but from our own knowledge we may tell you that this may be done either by shouting "Giddap," or by sucking a hollow tooth several times as loudly as you can.

Deportment when driving is of first importance. Never show fear, whatever may happen. Of course the horse knows perfectly well that you are afraid, but if you show it he will run home at top speed in order to hide his shame at being out with such a novice as yourself. If you wish to pose as a classy and nonchalant fellow, hang one foot over the side of the buggy, and never use the step in dismounting. Ladies, when entering a democrat, should always climb up the wheel, crying prettily, "Don't start yet, I'm on the wheel"; this gives your escort a sense of power as he holds in the horses, whether they have shown any inclination to run or not. A carriage robe may be used in a buggy, but a stylish driver will put this over one knee only; the leg which hangs out should not be covered. It is well to carry a small compass when out driving; if you want to drive fast and scare your girl into respectful admiration of your horsemanship, turn the animal in the direction of its stable; that will make it run beautifully. And if you feed the horse plenty of sugar before you set out, its mouth will foam prettily. That is all for today.

Montreal's Tercentenary

Somewhat late in the day, and with all the usual apologies which should accompany a late birthday congratulation, we felicitate the city of Montreal upon the attainment of its third century. The Tercentenary celebrations were on Monday and, although somewhat sober, as is suitable in wartime, they were impressive.

It may come as a surprise to some Canadians that we have a city three centuries old within this Dominion. We are inclined to consider ourselves a young nation, and so we are, but we are well past the baby stage and indeed we may consider ourselves almost through our adolescence; neither the shrill giggles nor the portentous glumness of the 'teens become a nation of our age and size. We are grown up and it is time that we realized that fact.

An interesting discussion of this matter of Canada's age has appeared in the Kingston Whig-Standard, also as a part of a congratulatory editorial directed at Montreal. That journal says:

"The hitch in Canada's case is, of course, that our age is regional. And in Canada's case, regionalism does make a difference. Thus, while the Maritime Provinces have places which can match Montreal's antiquity, Ontario has not. Most Ontario cities do exceptionally well if they are half Montreal's age. Indeed, hundredth anniversaries are currently the fashion in this province. In Western Canada a fraction of the hundred can make an important birthday date. Another hitch is that Canada has no real metropolis, no principal city from which the whole nation can take its life and tempo. Montreal could, perhaps, be such a city, but it is far overshadowed by New York, which is serving as the metropolitan centre for the entire North American continent. Toronto could be a metropolitan centre if wishing hard enough could bring it results, but it is too small and it has none of Montreal's mellow maturity.

"Lacking a genuine metropolitan centre of our own, it may be all the more important for us in Canada to impress upon ourselves that Montreal is three hundred years old. By keeping ourselves reminded of the city's age, it may be easier to forget our national callow youth complex. And if we could forget the youth complex we might do the things in art and literature which would be a great help to us as a nation."

It may be felt in some quarters that it is unfair to expect art and literature in a country where much time has been spent in subduing the unfriendly earth and where a handful of people struggle to populate a vast territory. We do not consider this a valid argument, however. Other nations have produced great art while struggling with pioneer conditions. Our neighbor to the south is a case in point; while the West was being opened up that literary and philosophic phenomenon which has so aptly been called the Flowering of New England was in progress in the East, and even the new lands which were gained produced Mark Twain, Bret Harte and Ambrose Bierce.

We are not nagging at Canada because we mistrust it but because we want it to realize itself; we want it to act its age; we want it to stop being the wealthy but tongue-tied and unimaginative country cousin of the rest of the English-speaking world. And we keep on harping on the necessity for art and literature because, in spite of anything which self-styled "practical" men may say to the contrary, these are the only things which win a nation lasting respect in the eyes of the rest of the world, and the only things which give a nation that self-knowledge without which it will never achieve greatness.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There are said to be 2,796 languages spoken on this globe. But sometimes we feel that every inhabitant speaks a different one.

A fabric suitable for men's clothing is now being made from the protein of the peanut. An impressive sight in the future will be the snappy dresser shelling himself for bed.

"The odd thing about Pierre Laval," says P. J. Philip in the New York Times, "is that he believes that he has had a very successful, even a noble, career." Hitler has this quaint idea too.

Russian despatches describe German infantry as "a horde of drunken Hitlerites." Has the teetotaller Hitler sunk to the old trick of making his men drunk before they attack? Probably a little Dutch courage is what they need at this point.

We read with amusement that the Germans are scanning maps for "Shangri-La" which President Roosevelt gave as the base from which American planes bombed Japan. Of course it is an imaginary place, the location of James Hilton's story Lost Horizons. But as we remember the book it was spelled "Shangri-Lar"; the President's Groton accent has fooled those who like to hit an "r" hard when they encounter one.

SPRING'S MAGIC WEATHER

Suddenly, and without warning,
A smiling, blue-eyed morning
Came fleet-footed up my hill,
Paused an instant, warm and still,
Then slipped down and toward the sea,
Touched my face and spoke to me.

Now hand in hand we walk together
Through the spring's white magic weather;
Along the shore, past snails and sand,
Then back across the dune-green land,
Where little coves lie cool and deep,
Still hung with misty wraiths of sleep.

There is a secret in this hour,
A soundless courage, and a power
Which those who greet the day full-grown
Have hardly guessed at, never known,
Who sees a morning brought to birth,
Finds a world beyond this earth.

A Notable Canadian Achievement

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

LAST WEEK I received a copy of a handsome volume called "Canada's War in the Air" which has been written by Leslie Roberts. A first glance showed that it was an account of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and I assumed that it was a Government project; but I was wrong. The manner in which the book was written is described by the Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of National Defence for Air, in an introduction which he has contributed to the book. Major Power's enthusiasm for the Air Training Plan is well known; he describes it as "perhaps the finest example of whole-hearted co-operation between partner-nations in a common cause in our history as an association of free peoples." But when first Mr. Roberts approached him with a plan for writing a work of current history on the Plan, Major Power demurred. He belongs to the school of thought which thinks a story should not be told until it is finished in the realm of action. But Mr. Roberts eventually overcame his doubts, and the book is now complete.

Leslie Roberts is well known as a publicist. He has also the advantage of close acquaintance with the Air Training Plan, for he was a member of the late Norman Rogers' personal staff during the months when the Plan was in the process of organization. To Major Power's question as to whether the time was ripe for such a book he replied, "There is a tremendous story waiting to be told; this is the Canadian people's war and the Air Plan is our greatest single contribution to it....People are waiting to be told about it, not patchwork fashion, but as a connected piece which will enable them to see the broad panorama."

TO MAJOR POWER'S doubts as to whether it is wise to write history before all the story can be told, Mr. Roberts had this reply: "You'd be amazed how much gets lost and how quickly. Statistics and records may live. The figures may all be in the files. But unless you can get the human side of the story down on paper while it is glowingly alive, the great splashes of color will get away from you." And so the consent of the Air Minister was won and the book was written and published.

These questions and answers have been treated at some length here because they give the discerning reader a good idea of the faults and virtues of Mr. Roberts' book. It is written with immense enthusiasm and admiration for the Plan, and it reveals an intimate and detailed knowledge of the workings of the Plan. But it is not history; it is rather a glorified record, and as such it contains much that will be of interest to those who will write histories when the time comes. If a historian's work is to be of any value it must have a perspective on its subject, and in the nature of things Mr. Roberts cannot have such a perspective.

BUT the great splashes of color which Mr. Roberts feared might get away from him have been successfully apprehended in their flight. His style can only be described as lush and as a consequence his book makes the reader think of a meal which consists entirely of sweets. A few dashes of salt would have made a great difference. There is meat in the book, and plenty of it, but the author has dressed it up to the point where all the excellent beef looks like sugar-cured ham. Consider his first paragraph: "Turn back the clock hands to 1918. A war has ended. Canada's sons in their tens of thousands are making their way home from the battlefields of Europe, from Egypt, from Mesopotamia, from Palestine and from the seven seas. Behind them they leave row on orderly row of wooden crosses, at Vimy, along the Somme, across the scarred face of the Ypres salient, the Glorious Dead with whom a materialistic world soon will break faith." This has the hollow, orotund quality of the commentary accompanying a "March of Time" newsreel. Why does Canada so frequently discredit her great deeds by telling of them in a voice which sounds like stage thunder?

The style of the book is decidedly detrimental to it, but the information and the thrilling story are discernible through the gaseous periods. The photography is magnificent and the printing and reproduction are handsome. It is by no means easy to make a book which must necessarily contain hundred of pictures of airplanes and factories, of groups of officials and men in training, and of activities which are mysterious to most readers, attractive and interesting, but Mr. Roberts and his associates have done so.

The dedication of the book is "For All Those Who Loved Norman Rogers, Who Laid Truly and Well The Foundations of the British Commonwealth Air Plan...." In the rush of this war we have little time to spare for those who have been forced to abandon their tasks, but when the war is over and it is possible to write its history from a viewpoint more detached than that possible to Mr. Roberts, Canada will place its proper value upon the work of her unselfish and devoted servant.

"GOING SOMEWHERE, BUDDY?"

—Washington Post.

• Crisis Looms for China

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

ACCORDING to reports from Chungking a crisis for United Nation leadership is brewing in China which matches that in Southwestern Russia where massive Russian and Nazi forces seem locked in a slow-motion, nip-and-tuck battle of ever-extending front and significance.

If Chinese military spokesmen are correct, Japan has already revealed her next objective. It is a "knockout" drive against China and is evoking frantic appeals by Chinese spokesmen for additional Allied help.

Australian spokesmen are just as insistent that the Pacific Front, which means Australia, shall not be neglected. Daily pleas for more American planes, men, tanks and guns to render Australia impregnable to attack and ultimately potent in offense come over the press wires from that side of the world.

That, too, when arrival of heavy American reinforcements in Northern Ireland has just been announced and while Washington is stressing by word and deed the critical importance of the flow of war materials to Russia. It comes, too, at a time when there is insistent clamor on both sides of the Atlantic for a second front attack on Germany to aid Russia.

SHARP WARNING

This indicated conflict as to what shall be sent where, and when, to man all the far separated war fronts may not be reflected in the actual Allied policy-making groups set up in Washington, London or elsewhere to promote unified strategy. It has drawn a sharp and pointed warning from President Roosevelt's veteran press secretary, "Steve" Early, however.

"The grisly cause of the Axis would be that much advanced," Early said, speaking at the dedication of a huge new plant for the mass production of plane propellers, "if the United Nations ever fall to quarrelling among themselves as to who should get the next gun, tank, plane or propeller produced by any of them. There is at least a hint of White House irritation over the verbal barrage from Australia, China and elsewhere.

Welding the judgment of an allied command, with world-girdling fronts to consider, into a unified strategic pattern for military operations is always a difficult task. It delayed the victory over the Central Powers in the first Great War. All who have read General Pershing's personal narrative of his experiences as A.E.F. Commander in meeting clashing British and French views as to how and where his troops could best be used will recall that as his most serious problem.

VICTORY IN RUSSIA

It is still true, however, that it is only on one of the many war fronts that any hope of a speedy victory that could prove decisive has been officially voiced — and that is in Russia. Washington and London may not fully share Stalin's expressed confidence, but the hope is there.

There are some indications that Russian policy still is to keep much detailed military information a close secret even from powerful allies. If that is true, the most probable reason is to safeguard it from unintentional leakage to the foe.

Ability to achieve surprise attacks at selected points on the vast Russian front, as Marshal Timoshenko obviously succeeded in doing in his Kharkov thrust, could spell the difference between victory and disaster for either side. The Russians have the inestimable advantage of battling in friendly regions. Every Russian behind the Nazi lines is a potential source of information for his fighting comrades as to enemy movements. The Russians are out to make the most of that, nor can they be greatly criticised for extreme precautions to guard their own plans from the foe.

• "Dusk of the Gods"?

THE majority of the German people are disillusioned with a blitzkrieg that has turned into a war of attrition against three-fourths of the civilized world. The series of articles on conditions within Germany, which concludes in this newspaper today, makes this fact plain. The German people grumble often and openly. Opposition to the Nazis and to Hitler is growing. Political corruption and graft are widespread. Criminality and vice are rampant. Inflation is seriously threatened. Transportation difficulties multiply. The shortage of workers nears crisis proportions.

As the writers of these articles have consistently stressed, however, it would be unwise in the extreme for the peoples of the United Nations to conclude that a German collapse is near. The Germans have enormous powers of endurance. As a nation Germany retains that sense of blind obedience and fatalism, which in the past has kept it holding to a leader or a set of circumstances long after it was apparent that only disaster lay ahead. Wagner eloquently expresses the Teuton's unreasoning acceptance of Schicksal (fate) in the second act of "Die Walküre" when Wotan, foreseeing his ultimate doom, declares with resignation, "I forged the fetters. Chained I stand—I most bound of all bondsmen."

Moreover, Dr. Goebbels appears to have succeeded well in his efforts to convince the Germans that the cost of defeat will be their extinction as a nation and as a people. As a returned traveler from Germany told Derek Patmore in Istanbul, "The Germans are frightened. They are unsure of the future, but because of this they cling to Hitler as their only hope."

Stamina born of desperation is a resource not to be regarded lightly.

Many thoughtful students of the German scene remain convinced that only an overwhelming military defeat —in short, the complete crushing of the Nazi armies—can end German resistance. Hitler to the contrary notwithstanding, it was not a breakdown on the home front, but defeat on the field of battle that brought the Kaiser's Germany to its knees in 1918.

A determination to smash the German armies at any cost—not a hope that Germany will collapse from within—must be the impulsion behind the United Nations' war effort. Nevertheless, the disclosures of serious unrest inside Germany should hearten every lover of freedom and truth and righteous government. The things that are happening in Germany today inevitably must begin to show the German people the self-destructive nature of the evil course their leaders have pursued.

The German people must learn this lesson before there can be a true or a lasting peace. Winning a military victory over the Germans and the imposition of rigid controls on their future conduct—right and necessary as these may be—will ultimately avail little if men continue to believe that evil begets good or that any nation or any people can in the long run profit from the injustices or sufferings it inflicts upon others.

The Germany of Goethe, of Beethoven, of Schiller, of Luther—knew these things. Doubtless the Germany of a future day will know them.

But the Germany of today must learn them, however painful the process.

Perhaps it has already begun to learn them.—Christian Science Monitor.

UNITED

CANADIANS! Canadians of all races and all opinions, whatever happens, let us remain united! The plebiscite is over, but the war continues. The enemy is watching us. For the future of Canada, for the life of our dear Province of Quebec, for the safety of those we cherish, do not let us poison honest differences of opinion about the best way to defend Canada. The important thing is that the country should be defended. And it will be. — Le Canada (Montreal).

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Then said Jesus to those Jews that believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. They answered him, We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, ye shall be made free?

Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin....I know that ye are Abraham's seed; but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in you. I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your father....

Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God: neither came I of myself, but he sent me. Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word. Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it....

He that is of God heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.—John viii, 31-34, 37, 38, 42-44, 47.

CLIPPER CHATTER

WHILST waiting at the Lisbon airport alongside the Clipper, which was warming up to fly them to New York, several of the passengers, including Sir Philip Gibbs, the novelist, were chatting together when one of them told a rather grim, if amusing, yarn on which to start a flight across the Atlantic! Here it is:

"The Clipper was overladen by too many passengers and too much mail. One of the pilots addressed the passengers.

"'Very sorry, ladies and gentlemen, but we must ask three of you to sacrifice yourselves for the sake of the others. I will open the door. Three of you must go overboard to lighten the load. The bravest will volunteer.' "Instantly an Englishman rose, saluted, said, 'God save the King!' and went through the door.

"A Frenchman rose, saluted, said 'Vive la France!' and went through the door.

"A German rose, gave the Nazi salute, said 'Heil Hitler!' and pushed out two Italians."

LAKEFIELD

Over 90 Attend Oddfellows Bingo Session

LAKEFIELD, May 21.—(ENS).—Over ninety from the village and nearby district turned out to the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening for the Oddfellows' Bingo.

Mr. Ellis Simpson was the general master of ceremonies, assisted by Don Hendren and Will Fairbairn. The crowd had a lively time and over twenty-five prizes were awarded. The following were the winners of the specials: Beecher Blake 4 dozen eggs, Elwood Northey 14 cans of groceries, Fred Moore bag of potatoes, Mrs. Halpin bag of flour and bag of rolled oats, Mrs. Bruce Preston 4 pounds of butter.

Proceeds of the evening's fun amounted to $32 after all expenses were paid. This will be donated by the Oddfellows to the British War Victims' Fund.

Elizabeth Brown Honoured.

Miss Elizabeth Brown, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Brown, whose marriage to Lloyd McMullen of Lindsay, is an event of the month, was again entertained on Tuesday evening, when Miss Pat Wannamaker and Miss Cora Charlton were joint hostesses at Miss Wannamaker's home, to a number of Elizabeth's girl friends.

The guest of honor was presented with a shower of very lovely linens. After the presentation Elizabeth made a suitable reply, expressing her appreciation.

An enjoyable game of bingo was then participated in, followed by a dainty lunch served by Misses Pat Wannamaker, Cora Charlton and Mrs. R. W. McBride.

The following guests were present: Mrs. H. J. Brown, Mrs. H. M. Wannamaker, Mrs. Harry Jewell, Mrs. Ken Jenkins, Mrs. R. W. McBride and the Misses Elizabeth Brown, Cora Charlton, Pat. Wannamaker, Helen Kelly, Constance Orr, Isobel Bullock, Thelma Bullock and Sybil Lennox.

Carrier Sales Total $412.50

Another week's efforts on the part of young Examiner boy and girl carriers has produced the worthwhile amount of $412.50 in sales of War Savings Stamps to swell the already formidable total compiled by the War Savings Committee of the city. While the Red Cross campaign and Community Fund is getting the attention of so many patriotic citizens the boys and girls of the Examiner carrier force are still maintaining a standard gratifying to the committee. The leader for the week ending May 16 is Jack Harris, well known for his outstandinly consistent totals of sales. His sales for the week were $52.25. Another live-wire salesman, a girl who won the Examiner trophy last month, is Nancy Leith of the west end, who made the grade again with $43.25. Keith Orde, also an oft-mentioned member of this amateur sales staff, sold the amount of $30.75 and his energetic friend, George Clarke is here once more with $30.50. Victor Doughty, always an up-and-coming worker in this campaign though never a prize winner, brought in $28.50. Two boys, Ted Payne and Donald Pagett sold each an amount of $20. The former, Ted Payne, is a newcomer to the weekly column.

Walter Noble with a central route sold another $18.50 in Stamps and Cyril Robinson $15.25. Grant Finnie of the south end has a worthwhile $14.75 and Wilbert Edgar $13.25. Douglas Burrows of the north end is next with $11.00. Other with smaller totals deserve honorable mention, especially the girl with the smallest route in the city, Bertha Bradley, who sold no less than $6, not a large total but amounting to something like 30 cents per customer.

This campaign, voluntarily taken on by these boys and girls, is now in its sixth month and to date has produced well over $12,000.00.

Heroic Aussie Sloop Defies Fire, Saves 2,000

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 21 — (AAP). — The crew of the Australian sloop Yarra was praised by survivors of the bomb-stricken Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia for rescue operations which saved more than 2,000 British Empire soldiers and seamen under Japanese fire in mine-infested waters off Singapore on February 5.

The 1,060-ton sloop, subsequently sunk in the Allied withdrawal from the Netherlands East Indies, was reported so tightly packed both above and below decks that the men were ordered not to shift positions for fear of capsizing her.

W. H. McArthur, Empress engineer, said that if the Yarra's commander had not taken enormous risks close to a mine field most of the troopship's crew and hundreds of soldiers would have lost their lives, instead of 40 or 50.

The Empress was in sight of Singapore when Japanese dive bombers flew over in force, the engineer said.

"One bomb crashed through the deck and exploded in the first-class dining-room setting it afire," he said. "The fire was uncontrollable. A second bomb burst just astern. Speed dropped off. We were in a bad way. The Empress was drifting and ablaze, moving toward a mine field, but that did not deter the commander of the Yarra.

"The commander brought the sloop alongside the port quarter and not only stayed there but made fast with lines.

Gunners Get 3 Japs

"Troops and crew members swarmed over the side of the Yarra's deck. The fire was then so fierce that soldiers and crew forward were cut off by a wall of flame. They leaped over the side into the water. They were picked up by the sloop.

"The Japanese kept lashing at us. The Yarra's anti-aircraft guns, right on the mark, brought down three bombers.

"I saw a shell burst between two, bringing down both. I don't know how many of us were in the Yarra. (Rescue of most of the 2,500 troops and 144 seamen aboard the Empress of Assia as announced in Montreal yesterday with the report of her destruction.) There must have been more than 2,000 crammed on deck and below.

"I heard the commander shout a warning not to move for fear of capsizing. We escaped the mine field with the flames licking close.

"The Yarra's commander stuck to the job until not only all the troops who could reach her were taken off, but some of their arms as well. In the last stages rifles and machine guns were being bundled over to the sloop as fast as possible. Packed like sardines, we crawled into Singapore while our ship was still blazing in the distance."

Two Boys Are Scalded While Fishing

COBOURG, May 21.—(ENS)—Raymond Caine, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Caine is in Cobourg Hospital with serious scalds, which occurred to his back, arms and legs. His companion, 11-year-old Arthur Dearman, son of Mrs. Fora Dearman, was less seriously scalded and is at his home. According to young Dearman's story to his mother, he and Caine were fishing in the creek near the dam at the Dye Works when a steam exhaust pipe with an outlet near the creek, suddenly emitted steam. Dearman said that they were both blown over by the blast and scrambled into the creek, for safety.

The Dearman boy was burned along his left side but the other lad was badly scalded. The condition of young Caine was reported as "fair" at the hospital today.

"Your family will love marmalade ice cream pie"

says Martha Logan

MARTHA LOGAN: This dessert is the quickest thing out! Now, if you'll just get the pie paste we made yesterday from the refrigerator, Elsie—we'll go right ahead.

ELSIE: Say! This paste is as light as can be, Miss Logan!

MARTHA LOGAN: Of course, Elsie. New blended Jewel makes flakier piecrust. And it's nutritionally more valuable too.

ELSIE: Blended Jewel creams so easily—and it blends so well with other ingredients, doesn't it?

MARTHA LOGAN: Yes, and that's very important in wartime when we must not waste.

ELSIE: What do I do after I've baked the pie shell, Miss Logan?

MARTHA LOGAN: Just fill it with your favourite marmalade—peach, apricot or pineapple, and then cover with ice cream.

ELSIE: Say, that was easy! And it looks just yummy!

MARTHA LOGAN: It is delicious! And it's just a sample of the grand, thrifty recipes found in the Jewel Cook Book.

MARMALADE ICE CREAM PIE

2 cups flour, ⅔ teaspoon salt, ⅔ cup Jewel, ice-cold water, ¼ cup peach, apricot or pineapple marmalade, 1 pint vanilla ice cream, chopped toasted almonds, if desired.

Measure flour and sift with salt. Cut in half of Jewel finely; then remaining Jewel coarsely. Gradually add sufficient ice-cold water to make a paste which, when lightly mixed, may be cleaned easily from bowl. Roll on lightly floured baking board. (Note: To assure lightness, those who are not experienced pastry-makers may sift ½ teaspoon baking powder with dry ingredients.) Bake and cool a 9-inch Jewel pie shell. At serving time, spread marmalade in baked shell, cover with ice cream, and sprinkle with toasted almonds.

MILITARY CENTRE TEAM DEFEATS JUVENILES IN THE CITY LEAGUE

Soldiers Show Too Much Power For Kids

Military Training Centre showed too much power on the attack against the Peterborough juvenile team at the Ashburnham Bowl Wednesday night, the Soldiers taking the verdict 14 to 6 in their first City League start of the season.

The kids started off well and at the end of the second frame were leading 3 to 0 but the Soldier bats began to rattle in the fifth inning when they pushed over five runs and from then on the Military Training Centre were in the driver's seat at the expense of their youthful opponents.

The winners banged out 20 hits at the expense of two juvenile pitchers, with Nick Sero, former Point Anne infielder, leading the attack with five hits out of six trips to the plate. Reg. Leether who started for the youngsters got by nicely until the fifth when two errors in a row started him on the skids and from then on the Soldiers laid into his offerings with a vengeance. Smith finished and his slow ball was also cuffed hard.

Fred Garvey as leading hitter for the juveniles with four safe blows in five trips plateward.

Lefty Ken Fleming of last season's Orphans pitched effective ball for the winners.

Fielding features included a running catch of a fly in short right field by Anderson, Soldier second baseman, a neat grab of a line drive by Jones second-sacker for the Juveniles and a running catch of a hard hit drive by Red Carpenter, Juvenile centre-fielder, who converted the catch into a double play by a fast throw to third to cut down McIlveen who was trying to advance after the catch.

The Juveniles got a run in the first inning when with two out Garvey and Jones singled and Fleming walked Leether and White to force in the counter.

They came back with a pair in the second. Greatrix opened with a hit and went to second on an error. The next two went out but Carpenter walked and Garvey doubled to left to score Greatrix and send Carpenter to third. He scored on a passed ball.

Barnes opened up for the Soldiers in the third with a long double and O. Anderson flied out but B. Anderson came through with a single to right to score Barnes. An error by Millen a pass to Tummon and Sero's second hit sent another counter over before the side was retired.

The Military Training Centre went to town in the fifth to take the lead. Dixon and Tummon both got lives on errors by Millen and K. Anderson and four hits in a row by Sero, McIlveen, Mortimer and Barnes sent five runs across.

After Dixon had singled and Tummon had walked in the sixth Sero drove out a long double to score Dixon and Leether was relieved by Smith. The Soldiers got two more runs before the side was retired and came back with a five-hit barrage in the seventh to score three more. The winners got their final counter in the ninth.

The Juveniles picked up their fourth run in the fifth on singles by Garvey and Leether and Jones double and added two more in the eighth on a walk, a missed third strike and a long double by Carpenter.

All Star Games May Be Hit By "Dim-Out"

NEW YORK, May 21—Night baseball, like sugar, gasoline and tires, went out of the lives of Metropolitan fans for the duration yesterday, but the heaviest blow was expected to fall on the two July All-Star relief games.

Intensification of the coastal dim-out to protect shipping against submarine attacks brought a definite ban by Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine on the nocturnal games, but his statement, while startling, only amplified stringent dim-out regulations which went into effect for the first time Tuesday night.

The Giants and Dodgers are the chief sufferers from Valentine's veto of the arclight contests, since the first of twenty-eight after-dark contests involving the two clubs was set for Friday night and had to be switched to the daytime of the same date. But the action also made the staging of the All-Star games at the Polo Grounds and at Cleveland on the night of July 6 and 7 respectively, uncertain.

National and American League All-Star aggregations are scheduled to meet in the first contest in New York, with the survivor to play an All-Star service squad at Cleveland the next night. However, Ford Frick, president of the National League, said transportation difficulties might disrupt the plans.

It would be difficult, according to Frick, to hold the July 6 contest at the Polo Grounds in the daytime because many stars probably would be playing in the West on Sunday, July 5, when, for example, the Cubs and Cardinals collide in a doubleheader at St. Louis, and the Browns and White Sox play in a twin-bill at Chicago. They might not reach New York in time for the daylight tilt. Flying the players might be hamperer by priorities on plane use.

Mr. Frick expects Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis to hold a meeting soon to determine what shall be done about the New York game.

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP)—Although Navy Bob Feller is at a station without a ball team, it doesn't look as if his arm will get rusty...He is scheduled to pitch for a navy team, composed mainly of college players from Quonset Point, R.I., against Hugh Mulcahy's Fort Devens army outfit Saturday in a preliminary to the Red Sox-Athletics relief benefit game...Then Bob will go to Chicago to help out the service all-star outfit Dizzy Dean is assembling and contribute his share of the receipts to the Navy Relief Society..Incidentally, Mulcahy says that wasn't a $1,000-a-game offer he had to turn down but $1,000 a month and he was expected to fly to the midwest every week-end to play..Cleveland, out to beat Brooklyn's attendance for its relief game, has rounded up a group of prominent citizens who used to be ushers at league park to work at their old jobs for the day...

Names Make News

Two celebrated baseball names are on the roster of the Rome (N.Y.) Canadian-American League club. Hal Chase is an outfielder and Dale Matthewson is a pitcher. Neither claims relationship to their famous namesakes...Wally Pipp, Lou Gehrig's predecessor as Yankees first baseman, is working in the big Willow Run bomber plant near Detroit.

Blackout Regulations

During a Sally League ball game at Jacksonville, Fla., recently the umpire mistook the flagpole in left field for the foul-line marker and game a Columbia player credit for a home run on a hit everyone in the park figured was foul...When the customers finally subsided, there wasn't a pop bottle left in the stands ...The next night Crowther Boyd, secertary of the Jacksonville club, had a red lantern run up the flagpole so there wouldn't be another mistake.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Fans got a chance to look at the 1942 edition of the Military Training Centre softball team last night when the Soldiers opened their season by overpowering the Peterborough Juveniles in a City League fixture at the Ashburnham Bowl. The Soldiers pounded out 20 hits and won by 14 to 6, coming from behind to make a runaway of it on end. Of the starting Military team not a player of last year's club was in action, although Outfielder McLaren who was with the Soldiers a year ago finally got into the lineup before the game was over. The Military roster had a strong Peterborough flavor with Ken Fleming doing the pitcher, Ossie Anderson at short, Eddie Dixon in centre field and Doug Mortimer in left. Newcomers included a peppery catcher in "Irish" Barnes, a Toronto boy while in Nick Sero, Point Anne third baseman the Soldiers have undoubtedly picked up a star, both in the field and at bat. Sero hit safely the first five times up last night and on his sixth appearance sent Carpenter away back to the cars in left centre field for his drive. Anderson, from Trenton, at second base, Tummon, Tweed at first and Outfielder McIlveen of the Bowmanville clan of that name all looked good.

* * * * * *

The Juveniles were facing an older and more experienced squad but the kids gave a good account of themselves in the early stages. The chief weakness in the Juvenile club is in the pitching department. Bob Crowe who heaved for the team last season is now too old for juvenile company and has been signed on by the Plaza Billiards team. Reg Leether who caught last season had to take over the pitching burden last night and got by in good style until the half way mark was reached. Then he weakened after a couple of errors had put the first two runners on and was hit hard after that. The youngsters did some nice fielding, and catches by Outfielders Carpenter and Greatrix were features. One grab by Carpenter resulted in the first double-play of the season. After making a fine catch the centre fielder whipped the ball into third to nip by five feet a runner who tried to go from second to third after the drive was caught. If the youngsters can bolster up their pitching they should have a good season in the City Loop.

* * * * * *

Tomorrow night the fans will get an opportunity to look over the only other club in the league that they have not yet seen in action. The De Laval club is scheduled to clash with Plaza Billiards at the Bowl at 6.45 o'clock. Very little is known of the calibre of the Separators but they are liable to bob up with a team that will give the hockey squad plenty to worry about in tomorrow night's battle. Bill Lewis may do the gunning for the De Laval outfit while either Tom Parsons or Bob Crowe is likely to get the call for Plazas. The latter were beaten in their opening game and they will go all out tomorrow night to grab off a win at the expense of the newcomers to the loop. Incidentally because of the shift in Friday's game to give the De Laval a chance to get into action, two other schedule dates have been changed. The Royals will play the Juveniles on May 27 and Plaza will meet the Training Centre on May 29.

Dodgers Stopped

The mad rush of the Brooklyn Dodgers was finally stopped yesterday after it had extended to eight straight wins but it took a two-hit pitching performance by Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cards to turn the trick. Cooper had to be good to get a 1 to 0 win over the league leaders for Whit Wyatt matched his superb pitching with a demonstration that was almost as effective. Wyatt held the winners to four hits. It was one of the finest twirling duels of the year with a total of six hits being all that two strong battling clubs like the Bums and the Cards could produce. Boston Braves took advantage of the Brooklyn loss to cut a game off the Dodgers' lead. The second-placers managed to eke out a 4 to 3 win over the slipping Pittsburg Pirates, grabbing off the laurels in the tenth frame. Early startd for the Braves and True Sewell for the Pirates but both had disappeared before the battle was over. Sain, relief pitcher for Boston getting the win while Ken Heintzelman was saddled with the loss.

* * * * * *

Starr pitched the Cincinnati Reds to an easy 10 to 3 win over the Phillies with Lamanno helping a lot with another homer. It is getting to be a habit with the rookie catcher. Hughes and Pearson did the throwing for the Phils and were touched for 13 hits by the Reds who have been uncovering some power recently. In the other National League game the Giants took a 6 to 3 beating from Passeau and the Chicago Cubs, with Carpenter the losing pitcher. The Cubs twirler helped his own cause with a homer and Nicholson also drove one for the Chicago club. Mel Ott, still setting the example for his club and not letting managerial cares prevent him from taking his cut came through with his sixth homer of the year.

* * * * * *

In the American League New York increased its slender lead by winning a 4 to 1 victory over the Chicago White Sox with Marius Russo and Johnny Murphy doing the Yank pitching and Bill Dietrich and Hayes working for the Pale Hose. Joe Gordon who hit two homers in an exhibition game Tuesday came right back with another pair yesterday. Cleveland did not play so the Yanks jumped half a game. The Philadelphia A's who have not been finding the travelling any too smooth recently managed to hand the Detroit Tigers a 5 to 3 trimming. The Athletics were outhit 9 to 7 but they scored two more runs and after all it's runs that settle the arguments. Knott started for the winners but Harris finished and got credit for the win. Al Benton was the losing Detroit pitcher.

Five Teams Possible

As a result of last night's meeting the prospects are good for a four or five-club Girls' Softball League. Teams already entered are the C.G.E., Westclox, Porcelain and Brinton Carpet and possibly the Dark Horses. In view of the possibility of five clubs entering it was decided last night to defer the closing of entries for another week. The final meeting will be held at the Duffus' Alleys on Tuesday night, May 26. Practices have been arranged for the C.G.E. team at the Ashburnham Bowl on Tuesday night next and the Dark Horses will practice on the same evening at Riverside Park. There will be a warm welcome from the Dark Horses for any girl players who are not identified with other clubs in the circuit. It is believed that there are a lot of girls who would like to play softball and the entry of an independent club would give them their chance. They had better not miss the boat.

Sunday Baseball To Be Allowed Troops Stationed At Kingston

KINGSTON, May 21.—Conservative Kingston, where changes in customs are slower than the Nazis' attempted advance against Russia, will make its most startling sports step in history this summer with scheduled baseball games on Sunday. Nine games in the five-team Kingston City Baseball League will be played on the Sabbath, but all the Sunday games will be in army camps at Barriefield and Vimy as special exercise and entertainment for the troops.

There will not be any collections at the games but there will be regular league fixtures and thousands of soldiers stationed in the district are expected to attend. The games are planned to provide some recreation for the troops during the summer. All other games in the league will be played on week days at the big Cricket Field in Kingston.

Victorias, champions of Kingston baseball last year, a club from the Aluminum Company, another from the Locomotive Company with teams from the Vimy Signal Camp and Barriefield Ordnance Corps, compose the league.

Sunday baseball is not strange to most of the Kingston players as they were members of the Kingston team that competed in the inter-Provincial senior circuit last summer and played Sunday baseball in Quebec border parks. Kingston did not enter the inter-Provincial this year owing to transportation difficulties.

Sacred Heart Defeats Champ Cubs

Scoring six runs in the third inning, the Sacred Heart team took a commanding lead in last night's Catholic League game at Memorial, defeating the champion Cubs 11 to 6. The Cubs had won their two previous starts played loose ball and gave their new pitcher Heinan, very little support.

Heffernan, on the mound for Sacred Heart, was backed by good fielding, Bailey at third and Guerin at first starring.

Bud Guerin with a homer and two singles was the heavy hitter for the Southenders.

For the Cubs McCormick with a triple and single and Caccavella with a double and single were the big gunners.

Sacred Heart: Courneya, ss; Heffernan, p; Bailey, 3b; Whalen, c; Johnston, cf; Sullivan, rf; B. Sullivan, 2b; Guerin, 1b; G. Sullivan, lf.

Cubs: J. Caccavella, 2b; Heinan, p; Brady, 3b; McCormick, cf; Heffernan, lf; Driscoll, lf; M. Caccavella, ss; Spencer, c; McGillen, rf.

Sport Snapshots From Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 21. — (CP) — Among the many changes the war has brought to sport in Canada is a revival of soccer interest in areas where it has been dormant for many years.

Hundreds of Britons in the Moncton district have formed a league and the sport is on the upswing as an attraction. Similar shots in the arm have been administered in Western Ontario by the fine teams turned out by the R.A.F. school at Port Albert on Lake Huron.

Regina reports have it that Claude Warwick, 18-year-old brother of New York Rangers' prize rookie, has turned professional and will do some boxing around Vancouver... Warwick weighs 133, won the Canadian featherweight title at Vancouver last year...Bobby (Toronto Globe and Mail) Rosenfeld, opines that Harry Hurst, the Montreal airman-boxer, is a good-looking guy ...That started Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara off on the charms of some gal athletes, thusly: "A lot of our athletic girls who think they look pretty in shorts are pretty short of attractions."

Incidentally

Eddie O'Keefe, Calgary hockey star cheered heartily by Niagara Falls fans in the Ontario Hockey Association in recent years, will be with a Regina club next year... Further on sports organziations' war records: A letter printed by Jim (London Free Press) Burns chronicles that 14 players and the coach of London Central Collegiate's football team of 1940 have enlisted... None of the players were old enough for compulsory service, either.... One, Bruce Moffatt, was killed in action with the R.C.A.F.

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press.

Mort and Walker Cooper, Cardinals —Brothers beat Dodgers on former's two-hit hurling and latter's triple that led to only run of game.

Claude Passeau, Cubs—Kept the Giants checked on 11 scattered hits and himself hit two-run homer to start surge that won the game.

Joe Gordon, Yankees — Hit two home runs to lead attack on White Sox.

Ray Lamanno, Reds — Smashed home run with bases loaded in third inning and also collected single and triple against Phils.

Luman Harris Athletics—Turned in brilliant relief job against Tigers, retiring Detroit with bases loaded in second inning and pitching two-hit ball rest of way.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE STORY.—Four visitors arrive at a Dutch West Indian island to complicate the life of Bill Talcott, who is finishing six years there as branch manager for an American chemical firm. They are Halsey, Bill's successor; an auditor, who immediately accuses Bill of a large shortage in his accounts; MacDowell, a detective brought to take Bill back to the States if any irregularly were found, and June Paterson, beautiful cousin of Bill's former roommate. At dawn two more visitors arrive, deposited by a smuggling skipper after a fight in which MacDowell is wounded and Halsey routs the skipper.

EVE OF DEPARTURE

CHAPTER IX

Inexplicable as Bill Talcott's actions might have seemed to June Paterson, they were the direct and simple result of a combination of circumstances which, in the space of half a day, had changed the course of his life. For link by link about him was being woven a chain. Twist and struggle as he might, the thing only bit deeper into his flesh, throttled his spirit, threatened not alone his freedom of movement but his mental balance as well.

Most maddening is the fight of a strong man against an adversary who will not reveal himself; a fight against that which, instead of fighting back, encircles and smothers with the sheer weight of uncertainty.

It is true that in questioning Halsey's orders and resenting his presence he had acted with ill grace, scarcely in the manner of one upon whom responsibility had rested for six long years. But therein, where lay his greatest strength, was also his greatest weakness. Believe as he might that he wanted to be clear of Abas Islands, wanted to put behind him its smell and filth and oppressive heat, one uncompromising fact remained.

For six however long and lonely years they might have been, Bill Talcott had been monarch of a tiny kingdom. His subjects were a half-thousand natives; his chancellor Sebastien. That he had ruled fairly and justly, that he had acquitted his responsibility with honor and measurable success was no longer a matter of moment. He was being deposed, kicked out; it was not an abdication. For him there were no banquets, no poet laureate to sing his virtues. He was being forced out under suspicion. Manufactured out of whole cloth though they might be, the circumstances were sufficient to ruin him.

Halsey was no coward and he was no fool. He had shown that clearly enough in handling the refugee smuggler. He had done so well that already black Tomas and Sebastien were looking upon him as a kind of super being; even June Paterson's eyes became starry as she inspected the rangy, lantern-jawed new manager. What were Halsey's private thoughts about the guilt or innocence of Bill Talcott? Halsey was a Federal Chemical man. His life was routine, his blood was business. To him Plant Number Six was just a job, Bill Talcott just a plant manager being relieved. In Federal Chemical the human element consisted principally in guarding the flesh with inoculations; there were always ambitious newcomers crowding along when the spirit failed.

Bill Talcott knew, as surely as he knew that there were sharks in Anegade Passage, that loss of his head would bring the end. His personal feelings must not control him; whatever cause he might have to suspect Halsey of intrigue, however much he might resent the new man's calm efficiency in supplanting him, he must fight to keep his mind clear so that his powers of observation would not be dulled. For Talcott had come to realize that only by ceaseless watchfulness could he survive.

It was the law of the jungle; kill or be killed. It was elemental, to a certain extent similar to the laws governing the two poor, frightened passengers left on Abas pier by the refugee smuggler. It was the law whose failure of observance had caused MacDowell, the detective, to be knocked unconscious twice within the same night.

Bill Talcott suddenly chuckled. No matter how badly off he might be, he was in better shape than MacDowell. "Welcome to Abas," he chuckled aloud, and June Paterson, turning at his words, stared coldly.

Over a hastily assembled breakfast, the newest arrivals relaxed somewhat. First audience by any right belonged to the woman, and after having reiterated that she was Martha Swenson, she told of her escape from Norway.

"Through Sweden, where I have friend, I went to Murmansk," Martha Swenson said in her throaty, disturbing voice with its trace of accent. "From Murmansk to Moscow and then along the route to Vladivostok. I rode the Trans-Siberian railway to Tokyo. I sold my camera in Tokyo, it was a good camera and I got a good price. With part of the money I took passage on a freighter to the Panama Canal. It was in Colon that the Captain Jackson offered to take me to Puerto Rico where I could get a boat for New York. I wanted to go to New York because I have people there."

As her voice died silence came out of the rock barrenness of the island and settled on the terrace. It was as if the lesser beings in their fight for existence recognized and paid silent tribute to one of their number.

June Paterson's sharply indrawn breath broke the spell. "You poor dear! You must forget all that now. If you like you may travel home with me. I'll be leaving Saint Thomas Monday on the 'Blue Petrel' and I'm sure arrangements can be made."

Martha Swenson's grateful dark eyes lifted momentarily. "Thank you," she said simply. "I have money for my passage. I will not be a burden."

Professor Constantine had surrounded himself with an imposing array of bottles, and already a strange assortment of pills of various colors and shapes had been chased down his throat with several glasses of water. "It's an outrage!" the odd man muttered. "That Jackson— What he did to me—I'm not well— I was in Martinique, gathering anthropological data for my studies— You know, the Martiniquian backgrounds is most interesting. Different background completely—came from a different section of Africa. These Island blacks, you know, are all descended from slaves. Still practice voodoo— Where was I?"

"You were in Martinique," Bill Talcott said drily.

The professor held the bow of his glasses, peering through the lenses at Bill Talcott as if inspecting a new and interesting specimen. "Hm— Of course," he murmured. "This man Jackson brought in some flour from Panama, and said he was going to Puerto Rico. Since it's—ahh—rather difficult at the present time to get around the islands I accepted his offer of transportation. But I certainly didn't expect to be dumped at dawn in the midst of a lot of shooting! Is this town Fajardo?"

"Scarcely. You're still a good hundred and fifty miles from Puerto Rico. This is Abas Island. We'll see that you get to Saint Thomas. Under the circumstances it will be impossible for you to remain here."

"Abas! I don't want to remain here. There's no anthropology here. Whatever natives you have are imports from the other islands. That huge man on the pier, for example —probably an Amina. Interesting type but unreliable—" And the Professor lapsed to grumblings.

"Can't say as I blame you," June Paterson put in tartly. "I'm not any too fond of this place myself."

Halsey handed her a cigarette. "I understand there's a supply boat due tomorrow," he said. "We'll see that you're safely delivered. We've all been—" He broke off, turned to look at Struthers who was rapidly approaching along the path.

The auditor appeared not to have slept. His eyes were bloodshot and sweat poured from his puffed face. Straight on he came, avoiding Bill Talcott, to stop by Halsey's chair. "If you can beg leave of your guests I'd like to complete our business," he said, and pausing, added in a significant tone, "before you return to New York."

Royals Creep Up On Bears, Edge Wings 7-6

By the Associated Press.

Montreal Royals are threatening to overtake Newark Bears, leaders of the International League. The Royals played no better than .500 ball in the early part of the season, but on May 3 they started a streak which saw them win nine of 12 games.

Yesterday Montreal advanced to within three games of first place by defeating the tail-end Rochester Red Wings, 7-6, while the Bears lost 7-3 to Syracuse Chiefs.

The Royals came up with another big inning when they counted four times in the fifth to wipe out a three-run Rochester lead. Gene Moore scored what proved to be the winning margin in the seventh inning when he tripled and tallied on Jack Graham's outfield fly. The Wings made it close by scoring a run in the eighth.

Jack Fraus, who started for Montreal, was credited with the victory although he yielded seven hits, five runs and three walks, and hit two batters in five innings.

Syracuse could get only six hits off George Washburn, but made the most of the 10 bases on balls to give Lynn Nelson his first triumph of the season.

Woody Williams put the game on ice for the Chiefs when in the ninth inning with two on and two out he clouted a home run. Nelson was relieved by Clayton Lambert in the last half of the ninth when the first two Newark batters hit safely.

In the only other game played, Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Buffalo Bisons 4-0, behind the airtight pitching of Nick Strincevich. Jersey City's game at Baltimore was postponed.

It was Strincevich's second start since coming from the Pittsburg Pirates and his second straight shutout. Eddie Leip of Toronto made each of his three hits count by scoring every time.

Shortage Of Gas Not To Halt O.L.A. Schedule

TORONTO, May 21—(CP).—The Ontario Lacrosse Association will carry on this season despite the problem created by gasoline restriction, it was decided at an emergency meeting here last night, but the schedule will be designed to meet travelling difficulties.

While lacrosse authorities view restrictions on gasoline and pleasure travel with increasing alarm, they expressed themselves as determined that the season will open June 1 as arranged.

There will be five teams in the senior divsion. Mimico and Brampton were merged last night and their opponents will be St. Catharines, Etobicoke, Owen Sound and Hamilton.

To meet the travel problem, it was decided that St. Catharines, Etobicoke Indians, the Combines and Hamilton will play a triple schedule among themselves and a double schedule with Owen Sound. Hamilton, however, will operate only once at home against Owen Sound and go to Owen Sound only once.

Jim MacKenzie of Hamilton added another worry to the list last night when he brought up the subject of rubber shortage and its direct effect on association members in light of the acknowledged number of fans who never go home satisfied with the evening's sport unless they have a couple of lacrosse balls for the kids.

Can't Afford to Lose Balls

"We lost 17 balls in one game last year," he told the meeting. "We can't get by the year if that happens this season."

"In St. Catharines we used 29 dozen balls in the course of a season's operations," President Dan Miller of the St. Kitts club wailed.

On the question of support for minor leagues Fred Waghorne and President Miller criticized the association's apathy in former years.

"Why do you suppose St. Catharines' minor lacrosse died such an untimely death," President Miller asked the meeting. "It was simply because legislation of minor lacrosse as laid down by this organization was unfair to the clubs."

Ed McDermott, president of the Toronto lacrosse league, added his bit to the argument by complaining of the quality of sticks given the junior clubs. The meeting finally handed the problem over to Secretary Gene Dopp of Toronto who will allocate $500 in support of the minor leagues. Mr. Dopp also will take over the duties of treasurer following the retirement of Dr. Wendell Holmes.

Fred Sanford of Mimico was appointed third vice-president by the delegates.

New Jock Woolf Cuts Odds On Bill's Gift

TORONTO, May 21.—(CP)—Racing fans who have been touting Mrs. R. E. Webster's Bill's Gift as the horse to beat Ten to Ace in the King's Plate received some bad news yesterday but today they got a little of the other kind.

The bad news was the impressive workout by Harry Giddings' Tenner which breezed the mile yesterday in 1:42 3-5 and finished strongly.

The brighter side was the announcement that Jockey Georgie Woolf, Alberta-born and one of the greatest "money" riders on the continent, will pilot Mrs. Webster's colt in the $8,000-added event Saturday.

Woolf, under contract to ride for W. L. Brann, Maryland breeder but anxious for a mount in a Canadian Classic, has gone so far as to defray his expenses to come north for the chance. He'll arrived tonight.

The colt will be worked tomorrow. In his last trial Bill's Gift ran wide in a stiff workout under Jockey Norm Foden. Woolf is a strong rider and might be the one to bring the black gelding down in front in the nine-furlong contest.

Giddings has announced he's satisfied with the Tenner's condition and the three-year-old won't be worked again before the starting bugle sounds.

W. E. MacDonald's Northswept, only other entrant to limber up at the mile distance, covered the ground in a disappointing 1:45 2-5.

Official entries won't be announced until tomorrow but the probable lineup will be, besides the three already mentioned, Harry Hatch's Cossack Post; Depressor and Khortol, both owned by J. E. Smallman of London, Ont.; Riverdale Stables' Clocklike; R. S. McLaughlin's Valkyrian; Muckle, owned by Bob Cowie and Jayeffdee, Pickering Stables' representative.

The event is restricted to winless three-year-olds foaled in Ontario.

Owners Bemoan Passing Up Two Aces In Claiming Events

NEW YORK, May 21 — (AP).— The racing fraternity has a shortage of crying towels right now, along with shortages of aluminum, steel, and gasoline.

Hundreds of horsemen passed up golden opportunities to become legitimate, honest horse "thieves" when they failed to claim George D. Wideners Red Sonnet for $3,500 or Mrs. J. S. Letellier's Jack S. L. for $3,000.

Each of these two-year-olds began his career as a plater, but now they shape up as potential champions — generally deemed the best youngsters of the 1942 season.

And the stables controlling these juveniles are happy their young four-legged jackspots were not claimed.

But originally they, too, were fooled, else they would not have risked them in claiming dashes. Neither did they think enough of their graduates from the plater class to engage them for stakes events they now "rate."

The horsemen who failed to put in a claim for either of these early season sensations may find solace, however, in the many similar cases.

One needs go no further than Seabiscuit, world money-winning champion at $437,730. The 'Biscuit could have been claimed several times as a juvenile for popcorn money. Even midway of his 3-year-old campaign he was available for $5,000 or less. Before he turned four, C. S. Howard bought him for $8,000.

Market Wise, the rags-to-riches horse, could have been claimed for well under $2,000 early in his career and he long has passed the $100,000 mark in earnnigs.

They don't always slip by, though. Possibly the smartest claim is the $3,500 Bert Baroni paid for Top Row later a Santa Anita Handicap winner. When retired, Top Row had earned $213,890. Less than a year ago Ed Mulrenan claimed First Fiddle for $2,500. This spring the colt earned a portion of the Wood Memorial Purse and was a fast finishing fifth in the Kentucky Derby.

So there is plenty of precedent for Red Sonnet and Jack S. L. rising from Plater punks to Stakes stars. Red Sonnet won three of his four starts at Jamaica, including the Youthful Stakes. Jack S. L., a $2,000 yearling, is unbeaten in two outings.

Two Cooper Kids Blank Dodgers 1-0 For The Cards

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Cooper kids from Atherton, Mo., are taking up this year where baseball's other brother acts, the Deans, the Waners, the Ferrells, and the rest, left off.

The combination of Morton Cooper pitching and Walker Cooper catching has become a fearsome battery for St. Louis Cardinals and yesterday the boys made a family affair of beating Brooklyn Dodgers 1-0 in a sizzling show at Ebbets Field.

Mort pitched two-hit ball and Walker tripled to provide the only run of the game to snap an eight-game Brooklyn winning streak and shut out the National League champions for the first time this season.

It also was the first defeat of the season for Whitlow Wyatt, the Dodger ace who had won two games previously.

Morton Cooper, who made one of the three singles that Wyatt also allowed, faced just 30 Brooklyn batters and never let any of them get past first.

St. Louis came close to moving into second place by the victory over the Dodgers, but Boston Braves managed to remain half a game in front by nosing out Pittsburg Pirates 4-3 in 10 innings.

Reds Swamp Phils.

Cincinnati Reds crushed the Phils 10-3 with Ray Starr pitching a six-hitter and Ray Lamanno sparking a 13-hit offensive with a grand slam home run in the third. Homers by Ernie Koy and Bob Bragan provided all Philadelphia's runs.

Mel Ott hit his sixth home run with one on in the first inning to help the Giants get a 3-0 lead for Bob Carpenter in the first five frames against Chicago Cubs. Then the Bruins went to work, Claude Passeau hit a two-run homer in the sixth. Lou Novikoff singled two tallies across in a three-run seventh inning and Bill Nicholson homered in the ninth. Final: Cubs 6, Giants 3.

Just when Manager Jimmy Dykes had straightened his Chicago White Sox out the world champion New York Yankees invaded Comiskey Park and halted the Sox seven-game winning streak 4-1. Joe Gordon hit two home runs to chase Chicago humbly back to the American League cellar. Cleveland's game with Boston Red Sox was postponed and thus the Yanks' first-place lead was swelled to 13 percentage points although the teams are deadlocked in the won-and-lost reckoning.

Airtight relief pitching by Luman Harris raised Philadelphia Athletics out of the basement with a 5-3 decision over Detroit Tigers, who scored all their runs in the first two frames and then loaded the bases with one out in the third. This was where Harris came in and held the Bengals scoreless on two hits the rest of the way. The A's winning runs in the ninth came on a triple by Lou Blair and a double steal. It was the fifth defeat against one victory for Al Benton.

Washington Senators shared Chicago's cellar spot by folding 10-1 at St. Louis in the first night game of the season. Al Hollingsworth pitched six-hit ball and Roy Cullenbine helped with a three-run homer.

Racing Stewards Get New Place Power

TORONTO, May 21—Stewards on Ontario race tracks have power to place any disqualifed horse in the position they rule he should be placed in by an amendment adopted yesterday by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations. The new regulation follows along the system adopted in Florida last winter, and which is in effect on several tracks in the United States.

Until this change in the I.C.R.A. rules a horse found by the stewards to have committed a foul in a race was, if disqualified, automatically placed in last position. Now the stewards can place the horse second, third, fourth or last.

The amendment to Rule 140 reads: The stewards are vested with the power to determine the extent of disqualification in cases of fouls. They may place the offending horse behind such horses as in their judgment it interfered with, or they may place it last."

Grant Licenses

The meeting of the I.C.R.A. directors was held in the King Edward Hotel. Licenses were granted to 104 trainers. Four applications were held over and four trainers were refused licenses. Thirty-four jockeys and eleven apprentice riders were granted licenses. Four riders were refused licenses, while four applications of riders were held over. Nine jockeys' agents were licensed and twelve jockey valets were also approved of.

Jockey Frank Mann was among the four jockeys denied a license. E. T. Moore, T. Barker and K. Le Fevre were the others. Mann was refused a license last year, but was reinstated and rode on the Quebec circuit. The applications of Jockeys Charlie McTague, John Passero, Duncan Primrose and J. N. Leith were held over.

Trainers entering first-time starters must present the New York registration certificate at the time of entry at the racing secretary's office. This is to prove the identification of the horse.

of the higher groups.

Replying to Lt.-Col. A. J. Brooks (Con. Royal) who asked for further explanation of the cut in the Maritime basic gasoline ration unit from five to two gallons, Mr. Howe said that all available tank transport equipment was being used to meet Navy and Air Force requirements in the Maritimes and that no space was available to move gasoline there for civilian purposes.

The gasoline shortage also was acute in the New England states as a result of a recent tie-up of shipping along the Atlantic seaboard between South America and Nova Scotia.

"The Portland-Montreal pipeline has been shut down for three weeks and we have had to depend on feeding Montreal from Sarnia," Mr. Howe told the House.

"I say quite frankly that we are not moving gasoline. We think it more important to supply the Navy. We are moving heavy and light fuel oil as best we can and we are protecting the naval situation on the Atlantic coast and also the aviation situation."

"The important thing is to keep our armed forces going," he continued. "If anything happens to them you can imagine the consequences. We believe the present situation is temporary and that we will get relief through ocean tankers. We hope so."

He said it was quite possible for motorists living in New Brunswick near the Quebec border to get higher rations in Quebec but there would be no serious affect on the war effort.

Writing on the Wall.

"It is a situation I am not worrying about particularly, because I think all the people in Canada can see the writing on the fall and appreciate that they will get less gas before more gas," the minister added.

Mr. Howe's statement that there would be no oil heating next winter was prompted by a question by Karl Homuth (Con. Waterloo South).

Mr. Homuth then asked: "The minister means we can take that statement and advise our people that all heating with fuel oil will be stopped for the coming winter?"

"That is right," Mr. Howe answered.

Mr. Homuth inquired if the Munitions Minister would "give such drastic information....with respect to the natural gas in Western Ontario?' He said he had in mind many people who had installed gas furnaces, not convertible "in which case an expenditure of hundreds of dollars will be required to take that type of furnace out and put another in."

Mr. Howe said "the natural gas supply in Ontario is dwindling very rapidly." He recalled that in the past winter 'there were certain days when war industries were without gas and householders had very low pressure."

He added: "We are attempting to meet the industrial situation in the Hamilton area by extention of the artificial gas but I believe that householders who have furnaces which were originally built for coal and have been converted to gas may expect to be asked to transfer back. As to whether furnaces which were installed to burn gas can be kept going, I am inclined to think that everything possible will be done to avoid the expense of tearing out the furnace and putting in another. But I am sure that those who have coal equipment which they are now using for gas will be asked to change back to coal."

Fuel Oil Too

George Cruickshank (Lib. Fraser Valley): "Does that apply to ordinary fuel oil too?"

Mr. Howe said: "Yes."

Discussion of the use of wheat in synthetic rubber was introduced by Arthur Slaght (Lib. Parry Sound) who referred to reports of such a program in the United States.

Mr. Howe told the House that butadiene, one of the two main elements in the buna type synthetic rubber which Canada will manufacture in a $40,000,000 program, could be best obtained from either petroleum or alcohol.

First indications were that petroleum was cheaper and more efficient but a prominent Canadian chemist had recently conferred with United States authorities on the possible use of alcohol from wheat, Mr. Howe said.

The minister said he expected a report from the chemist next week but had meantime been informed that it was likely the production of butadiene from alcohol could be accomplished more quickly than from petroleum and there was a possibility the two processes might be combined.

Use Canadian Process

Answering questions by J. R. MacNicol (Con. Toronto-Davenport) Mr. Howe outlined the various processes by which magnesium, a vital war metal can be produced. Careful study of these methods had been made for the government by Canadian, American and British experts and it was decided to use a process developed by a Canadian, Dr. Pidgeon.

Patents for the process were controlled by the Dominion Magnesium Co. which made an agreement with the government under which it would operate a plant financed and owned by the government, Mr. Howe said. The company would not receive any profit. The plant was expected to be in production by July. Mr. Howe added that Dr. Pidgeon was an officer of the Dominion Magnesium Co.

The process Canada had chosen had been studied by United States authorities and the government of that country was launching a $100,000,000 project on the same process.

13 Sets Of Brothers In Canadian Battery

Thirty men share 13 names in a Canadian battery guarding vital points near London, Eng. The battery claims to have more brothers in its ranks than any other unit. When it was mobilized in Belleville, Napanee and Cobourg, 22 sets of brothers answered the call. Since then there have been many changes, but there are still 13 sets left. Major G. C. Howitt is pictured conferring with Q.M.S. J. Ewart at the battery headquarters.

NAZI ATE NAZI?

gains in the drive to recapture the Kharkov industrial centre, but declared that "during the night of May 20-21 our troops continued offensive battles in the Kharkov direction."

Huns Ignore Losses.

It said that 'the Germans, disregarding enormous losses, have made counter attacks attempting to hold up the offensive of our troops,' but added that 'these attempts of the enemy are being defeated.'

(A London military commentator said the northern wing of Timoshenko's army continued a slow advance despite the German countermeasures, but that the southern wing of the Russian attack seemed to have been checked, perhaps by the German thrust in the Barvenkova sector.

(Bucharest dispatches reaching Berne said, too, that the pace of the Red army's advance had been slowed by the German-Rumanian counter-offensive—but had not been stopped.

(These dispatches said the Russians had been forced to withdraw Tuesday from the environs of Chuguev, 20 miles south-east of Kharkov, where a bitter battle still was under way.)

Russian reports indicated that the Axis flanking thrust in the Barvenkova area south of Kharkov had been blocked.

"On the Kerch peninsula (where the German high command claims final victory), battles continued in the eastern section," a government communique declared.

High Equipment Toll

German defenders of Kharkov are suffering defeat and heavy losses in manpower and equipment in attempts to hold up the Soviet offensive, the Soviet information bureau said in its mid-day bulletin.

"In one sector alone," it said, "Soviet troops annihilated over 700 Germans and captured one tank, eight guns, 15 machine guns, 22 mortars and large quantities of ammunition. Prisoners were taken."

On the Leningrad front Russian troops cut a road between two enemy centres of resistance and killed 600 Germans to repulse Nazi counter-attacks intended to restore the line, and Red army artillery and mortar fire accounted for 300 more on northwestern sectors, the information bureau reported.

Goering Squawks

(Marshal Goering told German workers in Berlin last night that "this war is the hardest Germany has had to fight"; that Hitler suffered deeply for his troops during the winter campaign, "but he knew he must not yield."

("Behind us there was only a heap of ruins," Goering said. "Therefore we had to hold the front—and only those who have experienced this know what it costs....the elements have not keen kind."

(He explained why Hitler believed it necessary to strike east, saying "Russia's entry into Rumania and Finland showed that she intended to put Germany between two pincers and pounce upon her while she was still engaged in a life and death struggle in the west.")

Nazi tank attacks were hurled back in the continued advance upon Kharkov, key base of Field Marshal Gen. Fedor Von Bock's reinforced armies before the Lower Dnieper and Axis communications between the Ukraine and the Crimea.

A single thrust in this vast, smoke-shrouded engagement cost the Germans eight of their tread-tracked machines and 250 dead and the survivors were driven off, the government said. It announced that 350 Germans died in another fight.

Forty-two more tanks were reported destroyed or damaged by Russian airmen in a day's operations (these adding to a toll which London advices yesterday said had already reached 600.)

Reserves, More Reserves

Tass declared the Germans had been forced to rush up fresh reserves. Fields and roads of the Ukraine are "littered with the wreckage of their machines," the news agency said. Five villages were recaptured by the Russians.

The Soviet information bureau indicated German efforts to turn Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's extended left flank by a drive in the Barvenkova sector, 80 miles south of Kharkov, had been thwarted.

"In the direction of Barvenkova," it said, "our troops repulsed several attacks of the German Fascist troops."

Northward, tank-supported German infantry men made a vain attack on Russian lines in the Smolensk area, the information bureau said, and were driven back to their original positions with a loss of 400 killed.

"In the Barents Sea," it was announced, "a Soviet warship sank three enemy transports with a total displacement of 26,000 tons."

Sofia dispatches, cleared through censorship to Switzerland, indicate Bulgarians now regret their entry into the Axis last spring and speak of a peace by compromise.

"Even the most fanatical followers of Germany," said a dispatch to the Neue Zuercher Zeitung, "doubt that the Axis powers will be able to bring about a really decisive victory against the enemy coalition."

A DNB dispatch from Sofia said 86 soldiers of the Sliwen garrison in Bulgaria had been charged with operating a Communist cell and that the prosecution demanded the death penalty.

Scrap 50 Tanks

OTTAWA, May 21—(CP).—Fifty of the 300-odd obsolete tanks obtained from the United States more than a year ago for training purposes at Camp Borden, Ontario., are being scrapped, National Defence Department spokesmen said yesterday. The 50 tanks are being replaced by modern tanks from Canadian factories.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralising acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

TWO OMITTED

The list of names of Peterborough boys of Italian descent who have enlisted in the war, including those latterly drafted, omitted mention of two sons of the late Nicholas Martino, an employee of the city for many years. One son, Anthony, is overseas with the 3rd Field Park Company of the Canadian Engineers, and the other was Joseph Martino, the first Peterborough casualty who went down presumably in the Mediterannean on a vessel of the mercantile marine.

PICKEREL BITING.

Night fishermen are beginning to secure satisfactory results along the Otonabee River fishing for pickerel. Neil McGarrity of thi city was noticed with four beauties, the largest going over four pounds. He took them at the foot of Gordon Avenue.

VISITS THE BATTERY

Lt.-Col. L. F. Grant, of the General Staff, Headquarters, M.D., 3, Kingston, was a visitor to the 4th Field Battery in Peterborough on Wednesday evening. Col. Grant who is an expert on gunnery and modern warfare as it applies to the artillerymen, gave the battery members an interesting lecture on pertinent subjects.

STILL SOARING

Business is on the up and up in Peterborough still, according to the bank clearings compilation. In 1941, the total for the week ending May 21, was $699,178. This year for the same period of time the total is $793,457.

FOUR ENLIST

New recruits taken on strength of the 4th Field Battery R.C.A. (RF) at their parade last night included F. J. Long, R. D. Taylor, Don Crowe and J. F. Daley. Next parade will be next Monday night.

WATCH FOR THESE FELLOWS

Gas thieves are at it again, and on Tuesday evening while the men of the Prince of Wales Rangers were training, some person drained the gasoline from two or three of the cars parked outside. If these people are caught, they will need police protection in a hurry, from the men of the Regiment who are pretty sore about the whole thing.

VICTORIA DAY AT POST OFFICE

There will be the regular morning delivery by letter carrier but no delivery will be given by the rural route couriers on Victoria Day, May 25. All wickets will be open from 8.00 a.m. to 12.00 noon for the transacting of all kinds of business. The public lobby will be open from 6.30 a.m. to 6.00 p.m. Special delivery service will be as usual. Collections will be made from the street letter boxes as usual, afternoon and evening.

TURKEYS HATCHING

Charle Kingan said today that the wild turkeys which were placed at the Filtration Park Zoo a short time ago have started to hatch a sitting of 15 eggs. When the birds have increased in number, they will be set loose in the Crown Game Preserve.

SCURVY TRICK

Some people just haven't any appreciation of the sacrifices other people, particularly the stout ones are making to aid the war effort. Jim Wharry of the Quaker Oats, bought a bicycle to ride to and from work, thus saving gasoline, wear and tear on his shoes, and considerable energy as well. This morning some person stole the bicycle from where it was parked near the Quaker Oats, and Mr. Wharry is travelling the hard way once again, and threatening dire things to the culprit.

SLEEPING IN BOX CAR

Pleading guilty to trespassing on the C.P.R. property Stanley Dummitt was fined $5 and $1.75 costs or five days in jail by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. Officer Ramsay of the C.P.R. testified that he had arrested Dummitt at 11:30 o'clock last night when he found him sleeping in a box car near the C.P.R. station. The accused said that he was to have gone to a job this morning.

CHARGED WITH SPEEDING

The first charge under the special wartime regulations in regard to speeding was to have been heard in police court yesterday but the accused, a Belleville motorist, who had been served through the mail, failed to appear. The case will be dealt with next week. The charge was laid by Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Havelock.

SIT ON MILK LID

"Notwithstanding any reports to the contrary we will not allow an increase in the price of milk to the consumer," said an official of Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Ottawa yesterday. Economies to assst the producer were suggested including duplication of vehicles in deliveries, reducing the mileage covered and number of wagons in use.

AT THE CONFERENCE

A former Peterborough girl, Myrtle Boreham, who joined the R.C.A.F. Women's Division, has the honor of being one of the girls chosen to act as stenographer at the Air Training Conference in Ottawa this week. She was formerly employed in the office of Peck, Kerr and McElderry.

HAS ARRIVED SAFELY

Word has been received of the safe arrival in England of a Peterborough member of the Royal Canadian Air Force in the person of Flight Sergt. Miles Merrett. He received his wings as an observer some time ago.

IN CBC NETWORK

CHEX, Peterborough's radio station now has a wire connecting it with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and will carry alternate network programs. This does not mean the local station will carry all of the CBC programs but it will have a selected number, and it is now possible to carry any of the network programs, as they can be relayed through the local station through the wire. The first program on this hook-up starts at ten Thursday evening with the broadcast of the fight from New York.

350 City Homes Heated By Oil Furnaces

"Most of the houses in Peterborough equipped with oil-burning furnaces have recently been supplied to their storage capacity, so there is no immediate problem about adequate heating, and in the meantime the situation may correct itself," J. E. Gregson of Peterborough Fuel and Transfer Company commented to the Examiner today regarding the announcement from Ottawa that "there would be no heating by oil next winter in homes or factories anywhere in Canada."

Apparently Mr. Gregson wished to avoid aggravating apprehension of local citizens who are now heating their homes with oil.

"We all know there is an acute transportation problem affecting oil deliveries," he said, "and it may be that the pressure of this situation as the Hon. Mr. Howe sees it, more clearly and closely than the rest of us may have been an influence in h' reply to Karl Homuth (in the House of Commons Wednesday).

"We started to fill up domestic oil tanks on May 1, and many of them are now filled to capacity, and we shall continue with the rest. There is not much consumption of oil from now on through the summer, and that would mean the houses would have sufficient fuel to carry them into next winter."

In the meantime the statement made yesterday by the Minister of Munitions and Supply may undergo some revision, and conditions relating to oil deliveries for Canadian use may also be improved.

Mr. Gregson estimated the number of oil-burning furnaces in the city at some figure between 300 and 350. Most of them could be reconverted to coal burners.

From several sources it was learned that the number of nonconvertible oil burning is around forty to fifty. One informant said that the C.G.E. type of furnace oil burning was thirty-eight, and others not so explicit placed their estimates at fifty to sixty.

A citizen who recently applied for permission to install an oil burner, and encountered an official refusal, said to the Examiner that, if this morning's report meant exactly what it said, the citizens with nonconvertible oil-burning furnaces would have to take them out entirely or go without heat next winter.

Those with convertible furnaces could remove the oil units, but the replacing of grate bars might involve further expense. A. W. Archibald explained that the lugs on which bars are set have been knocked off or burned off by excessive heat.

What about the supply of iron and steel for new furnaces, if owners of non-convertible furnaces throughout Canada are cut off from a supply of oil? These are some of the questions that were being sounded here and elsewhere this morning, and heating firms spent most of the time answering enquiries from homes into which deep concern followed the early news.

John L. P. Smith told the Examiner that he was going to add coal bins to his properties and fill them up for whatever heating emergency may develop by the time winter comes around again.

"If all my customers had to put grates back into their furnaces I would be busy until away into the fall," Mr. Smith said. "And there is the factor of getting the grates and propably other parts of the furnaces to make them suitable again for burning coal. The more you think of it, the bigger job it would be. How would all the furnaces in Toronto be converted, and where would they get the men to do the work? I think anybody in doubt about how they are going to be fixed for next winter ought to buy a stock of coal and have it hand."

Ford Turner said he had been answering the telephone since last night when the radio carried the news from Ottawa. His opinions are much the same as the other men of the heating trade.

Seek Information About Film Board

OTTAWA May 21.—(CP).— For the third consecutive day, questions appeared on the House of Commons order paper to-day requesting information about the National Film Board.

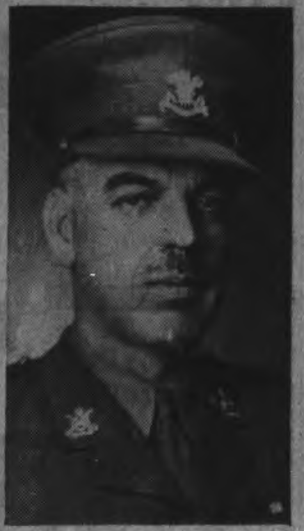
G. K. Fraser (Con. Peterborough West) asks a question containing 35 sub-sections, based mainly on an inquiry whether a Wesley Greene is employed by the Film Board. The questions range over Mr. Greene's citizenship, his earlier film work, his entry into Canada, and other matters relating to the Film Board.

Another question about the Board, by G. H. Stokes (Con. Hastings South) asks for a copy of all rulings by the treasury board since Nov. 1, 1940, on whether the National Film Board Act gives authority for employment of staff without prior approval of the establishment by Treasury Board.

He also requests information whether the National Film Board Act should be interpreted as applying to persons employed casually for the duration of individual projects and not to any persons continuously employed.

Men In Command Of Prince Of Wales Rangers

LT.-COL. M. H. PARK, V.D.



MAJOR V. EASTWOOD, M.C.

MAJOR J. McGRATH, M.M.

Three officers all with notable military records are today in command of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve Battalion. Lt.-Col. Maurice H. Park, V.D., who is O.C. of the unit, is a former O.C. of the Peterborough Rangers, a World War veteran, and is a master at the Peterborough Normal School; Major Vincent Eastwood, M.C., is second in command, and was turned down for active service on account of his Great War wounds, along with Major James McGrath, M.M., who is named training officer of the unit. 4th Battery Needs 100 Recruits

"Wake up and live" is the motto of some physical culture institutions and it might well be adopted by the 4th Field Battery, R.C.A. Reserve unit, now seeking one hundred recruits. This motto fits the artillery unit for the training not only that makes a man physically fit and well able to handle himself in any type of conflict, but it sharpens his wits, and tests his mental ability with its diversified syllabus of training.

The artilleryman, must of necessity be trained in every type of warfare, Bren gun, machine gun, field gun, anti-gas work, map reading, rifle drill, bayonet drill, signalling, first aid, and even receives some of the Commando training in modified form. To give the public a picture of the interesting work that is involved in training as a reserve army gunner, the officers of the 4th Field Battery may hold a public demonstration of routine training on the parade grounds in front of the Armouries at a later date. At that time civilians may see a crack gun crew in action on a 75 millimetre field gun, with its rubber tires, and may watch a group receiving instruction in the Bren gun, Lewis machine gun, and other forms of preparation a man must have to defend Canada should her shore be attacked, and her safety threatened.

Defend Their Homes

The men who join this unit are not enlisting for overseas service. They are merely signing up with a unit, to prepare themselves to defend their homes should the need arise, and any man with an ounce of manhood and a grain of commonsense, can readily see that his chances of survival and Canada's chances of repelling an invader lies in having sufficient well trained soldiers to man the guns at a moment's notice.

A man needs many days and nights of intensive training to be prepared to meet the foe on even footing. The reserve army units provide this opportunity, and fortunately Canadians are far enough removed from the actual theatre of war that they can train in their spare time, while others more gallant and courageous than the ones at home, defend the outer bastions of the Empire.

No person will question the fighting qualities of the Dutch, the Belgians, or the Norwegians, but all know they were not prepared to meet an invading army with modern equipment. Canadians have time now to train, and it is a sad commentary on a man's intelligence if he does not grasp the opportunity.

On Monday night when the Battery doors opened, fifteen young men tried to enlist, three were turned down, and the others were accepted. If you were not among those fifteen, ask yourself honestly just why you were not, then pick holes in the answer you give yourself. It should be easy. This is your country, this is an appeal to you, not to the other fellow, it's time to get ready, and the time to enlist is next Monday night at the 4th Field Battery in the Armouries.

If Tuesday and Thursday evenings are more convenient for you then sign up with the 2nd Battalion Rangers. This unit needs about 600 men, but the Battery just needs less than a hundred.

Obituary

MRS THOMAS BOYLE

Following a short illness the death occurred in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, at noon on Sunday, May 10, of Catherine Ellen Behan, beloved wife of Thomas Boyle of Oshawa.

Mrs. Boyle was the daughter of the late Thomas Behan and Ellen Cleary and was born in Northumberland County near Hastings. Following her marriage in 1922, she lived in Peterborough for ten years, and was well known throughout the city. She moved to Brighton from here before coming to Oshawa four years ago. A devoted member of St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church; she was a member of the Catholic Women's League and vice-president of the Legion of Mary.

She is survived by her husband; three children, William, Helen and John; six sisters, Mrs. Charles Masterson, Mrs. William Lockhart, Miss Loretta Behan, Mrs. Jack Leckinger and Mrs. William Carr, all of Rochester, New York, and Mrs. Richard Kelleher of Hastings, and two brothers, Dennis of Cobourg and Nat. of Smithfield.

The funeral was held from the family residence, 153 Simcoe street north, Oshawa, on Wednesday morning May 13. Rev. Father Morrow conducted the Requiem Mass in St. Gregory's Church, at 9 a.m. Interment was in St. Michael's Cemetery, Cobourg.

Retail Section Report Is Low

Chris Hughes, chairman of the Retail Division in the campaign to raise $60,000 for the Red Cross and Community Fund expressed regret today that only 714 out of 2,980 prospective subscribers in this division had turned in their cards to date. This is approximately one-quarter of the number and the drive should be cleaned up by Friday night for the final report meeting.

He urges that everyone who is not canvassed by Thursday afternoon and who wishes to subscribe should telephone 3692, campaign headquarters and make their wishes known.

At a meeting held on Wednesday evening, the chairman urged the canvassers to redouble their efforts, but the latter complained many store people are asking them to call back, instead of shouldering some of the work themselves in their own employee groups.

The report dinner on Friday evening for the workers only, is being donated. Mayor Hamilton will be in the chair, and Mrs. Goldie will sing two solos. At the conclusion of the reports, the Salvation Army Octette will play "Carry On Canada" and "There'll Always be an England." Rev. George S. Easton will close the dinner and the campaign.

The meeting was attended by the following captains: Paige Rowell, Chas. Elliott, Chief Gimblett, Denis Fitzgerald, C. J. Ray, Frank Hughes, Ken Sloane (acting for V. Selkirk), Jim Dorris, A. E. Cauley, Gordon Shier.

NAZI-BAITING

LONDON—(CP).—In Danish cinemas whenever Hitler appears in a German news reel people turn to each other and ask Who is that man?" Then they pass suitable comment and snicker at his moustache, says Free Denmark."

Captain De Maio Returns Home

Captain Alex DeMaio is finishing up his furlough here with his wife after an absence of two years in England. An engineer in the C.G.E., he left Peterborough as a Lieutenant with Ordnance in May, 1940, for overseas, and returned to Canada this month with the rank of captain.

His work, much of it in connection with the huge searchlights required for defence during the aerial blitz on England, brought Capt. DeMaio many interesting experiences in the past two years. He liked his work in England and, while glad to be home, expects to be sent back when his duties — which may take him across Canada — are completed in this country.

Community Fund Drive Is Easing Up

A slump in returns on the Red Cross and Community Fund was reported this morning at the campaign headquarters when it was learned that the total had jumped only $3,000 since the previous day's figure, and the new total is $34,100. This sudden change indicates the need for every cooperation from store managers, office managers and canvassers if the total required is to be reached by Friday evening.

There is a feeling in the city that the objective is assured and this is certainly misleading according to officials of the drive, who state that they pared their needs to the lowest level, and asked for the amount that was actually needed. This prompted some people to reduce their contributions below what they would have given had the objective been set higher, and as a result the campaign is suffering.

Gordon S. Matthews mentioned this morning that a little bit of money from everyone lightens the load and makes it possible for the boys at Hong Kong to receive a parcel regularly with nourishing food in it; makes it possible for the soldiers and sailors to have that little bit of extra comfort which the government does not provide, and makes it possible for the various agencies to alleviate suffering and hardship on the home front, then each one would give whatever they can afford. A donation of fifty cents is a lot better than turning back a card without subscribing at all. No person is dictating what one should give, each knows his own circumstances, and therefore one is just asked to contribute within their means, to show they care about the men who are over there.

No other factories or stores were reported over the top on Thursday morning, except one, as G. Wilson Craw, canvasser in the Peterborough Examiner, reported the employees had topped the objective set by the campaign officials.

In response to requests from several company representatives the audited report of receipts and disbursements in the 1941 Community Chest activities are listed today as follows:

Special Bingo Nets $100.60 For War Victims

The Canadian Legion Hall on Murray Street on Tuesday night was the scene of a special bingo sponsored by Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, which has already benefited to a large extent by the work of this group of veterans from the last Great War.

Through the generosity of Elsie Bennett Gift Shop, Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd., Canadian Department Stores Ltd., Campbell's Dairy Ltd., Campbell & Best, A. Comstock & Sons, Coleman Bros., Cherney Bros., Gilbert Downer, DeCarlonis Fruit Store, H. Doig, R. Fair, Ltd., Foley & Wilson, W. E. Franks, Grafton & Co., Ltd., Grant & Loucks Higgins Hardware, Hood & Cumming, F. Hills, Lucky Strike Bait Co., Wm. Lech & Sons, Ltd., Loblaw's, Maple Leaf Milling Co., Ltd., McLeod's Drug Store, Miss M. Patterson, Routley China Shop, Schneider Jewellers, J. W. Steinkrauss, J. W. Watson, W. J. Welch, Western Clock Co., Warne Jewellers and Zeller's Store, a splendid list of prizes was made available which allowed of the entire proceeds coming to the fund, in conjunction with the use of the hall and equipment, and the services of Bob Hoirum, Andy Rutter, Jim Mitchell, Pete Wallace R. Mitchell, Percy Golds, Jack Peel and Bobbie Wilson, all given as a contribution to the cause. Through this co-operation on the part of the donors of the prizes, G. Gimblett, president, and the executive of the Branch, and the abovenamed members who gave their services the splendid amount of $100.60 is credited in to-day's list for the fund, which together with $716.34 previously recorded in the name of this Branch of the Canadian Legion, brings the total as coming from their work up to $816.94, getting closer to the four-figure mark in dollars which it now seems might well be attained. This by no means represents the entire war work of those who gave their services during the last war, so all in all their efforts are to be commended.

On Tuesday night many workmen's homes were destroyed by raids over Britain, and when reports tell of casualties this is usually accompanied by a large proportion of people who will require help, and this fund gives it to them 100 per cent as your generosity will allow.

Previously acknowledged	$41,313.23
Proceeds of bingo games held May 19, sponsored by Branch 52 Canadian Legion per Robt. Mitchell	100.60
Total to date	$41,413.83

Housing Leaders Meeting Council

The stage of "further discussion" was the conference here this morning of representatives of Wartime Housing Limited and the North Monaghan committee appointed a week ago last Saturday.

F. Kent Hamilton and James MacLaren of Toronto, real estate administrator and consulting engineer respectively, met Reeve M. H. Johnston and members of the township council, some of the west end residents of the city's ruralia, Alderman R. M. Glover and a few others in a survey of map sites prior to the noon hour, which was to be followed this afternoon in another round of the proposed alternate properties.

Soldier Praises Efforts Of Red Cross

The Red Cross has added one more grateful soldier boy to its following, LAC. Charles Henry Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Francis, 581 Sherbrooke street, who has been in England since early last fall and who has been serving in the coastal command for some months, has written his parents and told the following story.

Some time ago he wrote home that he needed socks badly and his mother immediately sent off a parcel. But transportation being what it is meant considerable delay in reaching England. One evening while he was attending a concert at the Y.M.C.A. put on for Canadians, to his surprise the Red Cross presented him with 3 pairs socks, 2 pairs pyjamas, a sweater and mitts. He also received 25 cigarettes from the overseas tobacco fund. His letter closed with the words: "Good luck to the Red Cross and the Tobacco Fund."

LAC. Francis formerly attended Prince of Wales school and spent four years in the Peterborough Collegiate. After entering the air force he spent a year at Toronto University taking the radio technician course.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis have another son William who is stationed at Barriefield in Kingston. For some weeks he has been a "mumper" in the Kingston General Isolation Hospital, along with 18 other boys. He wrote home to tell his mother how grand it sounded to be able to hear the Peterborough doings over the new radio station.

Boys At Niagara Hear CHEX Daily

Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., officer commanding the Prince of Wales Rangers (A.F.) in camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake has written to H. L. Garner of the Examiner advising that it is possible to hear all of the radio programs from radio station CHEX.

"We get the Peterborough station quite as well as any Toronto station, and the reception is as good here as it was in Peterborough. I can asure you it brings a touch of home into our midst," Col. Dewart wrote.

He went on to say the men are billeted in a first class camp, with beautiful surroundings and every convenience and comfort.

Westwood W.I. Holds Wild Flower Exhibit

WESTWOOD, May 21 — (ENS). —The May meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Town Hall with 19 members present and the president, Mrs. Stewart Graham presiding.

Agriculture was the theme of the meeting, beginning with the roll-call, each member naming a flower which began with the first letter of her given name. A wild flower exhibit of bouquets resulted in Mrs. F. Neilson winning first prize. A flower game conducted by Mrs. S. Collyer was won by Mesdames S. Graham and A. Wood.

Mrs. W. Renwick took the chair for an interesting program. Mrs. W. Morris favored with a solo "Juanita," readings 'Buying Yesterday and To-day" and "Streamlined Living" were given by Mrs. J. Clysdale. An apt imitation of a Treasure Trail quiz program, with Mrs. A. Wood as mistress of ceremonies, received enthusiastic co-operation. A splendid address on 'The Effect of the War on Canadian Agriculture,' was given by Miss Jessie Davidson. Mrs. F. Faux gave interesting Current Events.

Reports on "Historical Research" and "Health and Child Welfare" were given by Mrs. J. Thompson and Mrs. F. Neilson, respectively.

A report of war activities for Ontario, with particular mention of Peterborough District Women's Institute was given by Mrs. F. E. Birdsall who also explained the central fund of the Women's Institutes.

The sum of two dollars was voted the jam making enterprise, and it was also decided to invest two dollars to beautify the flower beds at the Cenotaph.

The third salvage drive for the Westwood and district is well under way, and truck loads have already gone to make room for further donations.

Mrs. Harris Is Hostess To Gore's Landing

GORE'S LANDING, May 21. — (ENS). — Mrs. Joe Harris was hostess to the W.M.S. on Thursday afternoon. There were 15 present. Mrs. Fisher opened the meeting with a poem "There'll Always Be An England." The daily prayer cards were used as the prayer. During the business period, it was decided to clean the church on May 27. The treasurer reported having received so far this year $35.45. Delegates to the western sectional rally of the W.M.S. being held at Bethesda South on June 3 were appointed.

Mrs. Ames gave a temperance report and reminded the members of the W.C.T.U. convention on June 11 at Plainville. Mrs. Peacock will be the guest speaker.

Miss Flora MacDonald was in charge of the program. Miss J. Fowlie and Miss E. Waldon gave the devotional, one reading passages of Scripture and the other commenting on the passages. A paper was given on "What can the Church do, and has it a message for these dark days." Men and women need comfort. Let not your heart be troubled for God will comfort them.

The chapter in the study book was on the Rise of the Chinese people. 1922-27. It was in 1927 that Chiang Kai Chek expelled the Communists and became the new leader with Nanking as capital.

Mrs. Fisher dismissed the meeting with prayer. As the men of the congregation were busy working around the new hall the ladies decided to send half the lunch down to them, which was enjoyed very much.

Fairmount News

Mr. and Mrs. H. Seymour, of Hamilton, have been spending a few days with friends in the community.

Miss Edith Graham, of Peterborough, spent the week-end at her home.

Wallace Haygarth of the R.C.A.F. and Lewis Reid of Toronto, were guests of Mrs. M. Hocton, returning Monday.

Mrs. R. Peel, of Port Perry, has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. F. R. McIndoo.

Fairmount has sustained a great loss in the passing of Miss E. L. McIndoo, who has been a faithful and loyal member of the Sunday School, church and the community. Those from a distance who attended the funeral on Monday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. M. P. McIndoo of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gardiner of Omemee and Mr. and Mrs. R. Peel of Port Perry.

Mr. F. Johnston was admitted to Nicholls Hospital last week.

THEATRE HIGHLIGHTS

By DON GILBERT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 21—(CP). — The battle royal of the critics over the season's most controversial play, John Steinbeck's 'The Moon is Down,' continues unabated a month after its Broadway premiere. It's all about the makeup of Steinbeck's Nazis, whether or not they're too soft for Herr Hitler's henchmen.

The critical ranks are wide open. Leading one faction is the Erudite Brooks Atkinson of the Times. He nominates 'The Moon is Down' as the best play of the season, staunchly defends its characterizations and its appraisal of occupied Europe's slowly erupting political volcano.

At the other end of the controversy is trenchant John Mason Brown of the World-Telegram, who came near to exhausting the dictionary of invective in a review dripping with scorn and sarcasm. Since the opening all the critics have followed up their original reviews with articles supporting and expanding upon their positions.

Sitting happily in the midst of the conflict is Producer Oscar Serlin, who finds his show a sellout night after night. He has just sold the screen rights to Hollywood for $300,000, highest outright sale price on record. Whatever the dramatic merits of 'The Moon is own,' its financial success is already beyond doubt.

Otto Kruger, a veteran of 40 years on stage and screen, plays the part of Colonel Lanser, leader of Nazi troops which invade a Norwegian mining town. He is handsome, mild, reasonable. Above all, a gentleman. He makes no bones about his dislike of the Nazi regime. His staff, too, for the most part are tolerant and civilized. One young subaltern yearns for home and the friendship of women. He loses his life when he seeks to woo the widow of a hostage.

A suggestiveness that in time the war will be won merely through the inability of the German to keep the occupied territories in check has assailed as failing to understand the desperate ruthlessness of the enemy and tending to encourage complacency among the Allied Nations.

First to sense the significance of the Nazi invasion in "The Moon is Down" is Annie, the mayor's servant who initiates civil resistance by pouring a bucket of scalding water on German soldiers who push their way to her kitchen stoop. This is the part played by Jane Seymour, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., and offstage the Canadian-born actress will have none of the contention that Steinbeck's German officers are better suited to "Journey's End" than the current Nazi terror.

"I've hated the Germans as much as anyone, and this play doesn't make me like them any better," says Miss Seymour. She feels that each of Steinbeck's Nazis represents one of the various German officer types.

"The news these last few weeks," she adds, "from Poland, Norway, Belgium, in fact from any of the occupied countries, illustrates the point of the play—that the steady, dull fight against the conquerors goes on, that eventually the Germans are going to crack."

In private life Miss Seymour is the wife of J. W. Lair, communications executive, and now makes her home in New York. She was born Jane Seymour Fitz-Patrick, daughter of a chartered accountant, and began her stage career at 18, some years after her family had left Hamilton.

40 p.c. Govt. Cut On Road Grant Rouses Counties

TORONTO, May 21 — (CP). — A 40 per cent reduction in Ontario Government contributions to county and township roads because of reduced traffic in some localities has gone into effect, Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, said to-day. This means the Government has reduced its contribution toward these roads from more than $5,000,000 to below $4,000,000.

Objections have already been registered against the reduction, the Wentworth County Council yesterday registering its protest, while Mr. McQuesten also heard protests from representatives of Saltfleet, East Flamborough, Barton and Ancaster Township Councils in the Hamilton area.

Mr. McQuesten said that counties like Wentworth and York surrounding large industrial centres may have to be dealt with in a special way and some additional allowances granted for special works such as bridges.

Traffic is down 30 per cent in the country districts, but where war industry is located, the situation is different and has to be considered, he said.

Wider Gasoline Rationing Due For States

By FRANK M. LEMAY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP). —The possibility of further gasoline rationing spread to-day as the government considered curtailment of automobile driving throughout the United States to conserve rubber.

The War Production Board directed the office of defence transportation to draw up a country-wide plan, in consultation with the petroleum co-ordinator, Harold L. Ickes, and Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

July 1 was mentioned as the logical date to start the program, if adopted. That is the date consumer rationing by coupon books will become effective in the east and Pacific northwest, supplanting the present temporary card-rationing system which began last Friday.

Overall gasoline consumption in 17 Eastern States and the District of Columbia now is curtailed by 50 per cent. Oregon and Washington, with a one-third cut, will go on a one-half basis June 1. Rationing in these areas was brought about by the sinking and war diversion of tanker ships which normally supply the coastal regions.

Burning Them Up.

The W.P.B. is understood to have decided to prepare for nation-wide rationing after hearing a report that American motorists are wearing away tires and tubes at the rate of 45,625 tons a year, or 250,000 pounds of rubber a day.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference yesterday that extension of rationing is being considered. He remarked that he would not consider it necessary to impose curtailments on localities where oil was produced although he indicated some rationing might be needed in these areas to conserve rubber.

An ominous note in the critical Eastern supply situation was sounded yesterday when Robert Allen, Petroleum Office official, told a House of Representatives Committee that "the most strenuous efforts" would be required for the 1,250,000 homes heated by oil in the seaboard States "to keep warm next winter."

He announced steps were under way to reallocate existing pipelines in such a way as to increase the eastward flow of petroleum by 200,000 barrels a day.

The Nazis Cheered

CALGARY, May 21—(CP). —Enemy prisoners of war being escorted to an internment camp in Western Canada last night are reliably reported to have jeered and cheered when they were witnesses to the crash of a Royal Canadian Air Force plane in which two men lost their lives in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains in Alberta. Guards were forced to threaten the prisoners with gunfire to quiet them.

The source said the prisoners broke in riotous shouting when the plane crashed to earth.

Presentation Made To Past President

BETHANY, May 21—(ENS)—Mrs. Herbert Fallis was hostess Monday to the members of the local Women's Institute. There were 32 ladies present, including several guests.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Iva Low, Mount Pleasant, and Mrs. Hannah Staples presided for the first time since being elected to office. The roll call was answered by each member donating a piece of salvage for war work.

The conveners of standing committees were reported as follows: Agriculture and industry, Mrs. H. H. Ryley; citizenship, Mrs. Carlton Patton; historical research, Mrs. Lester Challice; home economics, Mrs. Kyle; social welfare, Mrs. Jackson; publicity, Mrs. Herb Allan; war work, Mrs. R. W. Price.

Mrs Price, war work convener, reported that the third Wednesday of each month has been agreed upon for meeting in the Town Hall for Red Cross work and the progress of each meeting will be reported.

Mrs. Iva Low, district president, read a portion of a letter from a sister member of the Scottish Women's Institute. She referred to the war work of the women in Scotland, who are carrying on the same way as the Canadian branches to help win the war, suggesting that "carry on Canada" be used as our slogan, and serve for victory.

Mrs. Carlton Patton moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, seconded by Mrs. Rowan. Mrs. Garnet Shield, Mount Pleasant, sent a letter of regreat that she was unable to be present because of illness.

A cup and suacer was presented to Mrs. Price, president for the past six years and a letter of appreciation was read as a token of her loyal services.

Mrs. J. J. Hamilton, a guest of the evening, told the meeting of the War Bridge Club, to raise funds to be used wherever most needed. She asked the cooperation of the ladies of the community to help win victory over this carnage, and maintain our sacred traditions of Christian living and freedom from tyranny.

A Lunch was served by members of Group 4, under the leadership of Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Jackson. Mrs. Thorndyke moved a vote of thanks, which was second by Mrs. C. Armstrong.

50 Gallons Or Nothing

SUDBURY, Ont., May 21—(CP) —E. L. Hughes of Subury, president of the Northern Ontario Tourist Trade Association, said today he had sent a telegram to Munitions Minister Howe asking that if a gasoline allowance is to be made to tourists entering Canada that it be set at 50 gallons or nothing."

He said that 700 members of the association, with an $18,000,000 investment, would be ruined unless tourists could buy enough gasoline to drive to and from the Northern Ontario tourists establishments.

Peterborough Rural Schools

Giles Stone and Thomas R. Hull, Pioneers of Burleigh Settlements — The Opening of the East End of Stoney Lake — Glimpses of Belmont-Methuen Schools.

S.S. No. 1-A Burleigh

Among the pioneers of Burleigh were Giles Stone and his family who were descendants of United Empire Loyalists. They settled near the shore of Little Cedar Lake. In the interest of education Mr. Stone donated a small piece of land across from their home for a school. A small log building was erected, and later was destroyed by fire.

A piece of land was then bought from Mrs. Windover, a daughter of Giles Stone. It adjoined the old school site. The present school, S.S. No. 1-A Burleigh, was built about the year 1893. The first teacher of this latter school is believed to have been Walter Bryce. Other teachers in more recent times included: Wm. Spence, Florence Simpson, 1905; Mary Anderson and Marion MacPherson; Fannie King, 1908-09; Annie Bates, 1909-10; Ella Robertson, 1910-11; Laura Windover, 1911-12; Winnie McDonald, 1912-13; Myrtle Payne, 1913-14; Elsie Ogilvey, 1914; Elsie Mowat, 1915; Miss Petrie, 1916; Mr. Reynolds, 1917; Rebecca Colvin, 1918-19; Ella Brown, 1919-23; Florence Anderson; Mildred Paterson, 1923-26; Florence Bell, 1926-28; Alice Oram, 1928-29; Florence Tedford, 1929-32; Effie Evans, part of 1933; Roy Tranter, 1933-34; Ruby Tedford, 1934-35; Constance Legon, 1935-38; Bertha O'Connor, 1938.

S. S. No. 1-B Burleigh

About the year 1888, Thomas R. Hull and his family moved to the head of Stoney Lake. There was no road at that time, so they had to cross the lake by boat.

The land was all wooded excepting some small clearings left by the Indians. Mr. Hull came upon a small clearing about a quarter of a mile from the northeast corner of the lake, and there built a log house with a barn for his horses and cattle. He also cut down trees to extend his acreage for growing food for his family and his livestock.

To communicate with the outer world Mr. Hull built a rough punt. He used to roll the buggy on to the punt and row across the lake to the landing while one of his sons rode the horse through the woods to a place where a semblance of a road led out to more settled localities.

Mr. Hull and his family found Indian tools and arrow heads in the clearings. They also came upon a path which the Indians had worn in portaging from Stoney Lake Bay on Koshabogamog Lake to Stoney Lake.

About 1893 John Drain and his family moved into the community. He cleared a piece of land about a mile north of Mr. Hull's house, alongside Eel's Creek, and built a log house. He worked part of his time in the mica mines then operating on the north side of the Blue Mountains. From his house he could see logs floating down Jack's Creek from Jack's Lake, where a lumbering camp was located.

Built Their Own Road

These two men and others from the other settlements in Dummer were the first to build a road into this community at the end of the lake. Incidentally it was built without any assistance from the government. The land was so rough that it was very difficult to make the road of stones and logs passable. The logs were laid crosswise, known a a corduroy road. A few log bridges also had to be laid across creeks and marshes.

In 1919 Stewart Murphy started a sawmill at the head of the lake, later moving it to the north shore where it is now. In 1922 he built his house nearby.

Many tourists come from all parts of Canada and the United States to this community. There are fish in both Lake Koshabogamog and Stoney Lake and game in the woods.

The Lymburner Mill

In 1928 Elmo Lymburner built a sawmill at the northeast corner of the lake. He drew logs in winter with sleighs and tractors from the other side of Jack's Lake. He had a winter draw road down through the woods and across marshes. In 1933 the mill ceased to operate because the supply of logs petered out. While the mill was running, several families moved in and built small houses out of culled lumber. There were also buildings constructed for bunkhouses and work shops. When the mill closed, these families moved away.

School in 1931

A school was opened in March, 1931, in a building that had been erected for a house. It as near the road just east of Lymburner's house. In 1936 there were only four pupils and school was closed for a year, and the children were transported to Clarina school. In 1937 the school reopened, this time in a building which had been used as a bunkhouse.

In 1932 the Canadian Nepheline quarry was discovered three miles northeast of this community. This led to more families moving in, and more improvement on the road. The houses vacated by the lumbering people were occupied again, and others built. About 1935 the Nepheline company began to draw out stone regularly. It was trucked to Lakefield where it was reduced and sent by train to Rochester. About 1937 they built a dock a mile southeast of this community, from which nepheline rock is loaded on to scows for Lakefield.

Mr. Hull died on June 6, 1924.

NO. 1 BELMONT AND METHUEN

School Section No. 1 Belmont is united with No. 2 Dummer. The first school was built about seventy years ago by Mr. Breckenbridge. It was a long building situated north of the present one. Its location was in Belmont. Some of the early settlers of the section were named McLaughlin, Buchanan, McConnell, Barrie, Morrison, Burgess and Elliott.

The land on which the first school was built was owned by a Mr. Sloan. It was later bought from Mr. McConnell. Many improvements have been made in the present school. After the last war the ladies of the I.O.D.E. had some money left. They bought a new desk and chair for the teacher. In the Easter holidays 1919 the school board laid a harwood floor. Dishes were bought to serve lunch to the children and a pantry was built.

Several of the former scholars have become teachers: Jennie Barrie, Elton Burgess, Wilma Burgess, Lila Burgess, Florence Burgess, Donald Buchanan, Dewart McNelley, Lena Buchanan. Vernon Buchanan is a minister. Verna Elliott and Eva McNelley have become nurses.

S.S. NO. 2, BELMONT-METHUEN

A special meeting of the ratepayers of S.S. No. 2, Belmont-Methuen, was held on June 10, 1905, to consider the advisability of building a new frame school house on a stone foundation to be 24 ft. by 36 ft., and not to exceed $800 in cost. James Rannie owned the land which provided the site, and agreed to sell half an acre for $55. The area was later enlarged by three-quarters of an acre. G. Acker furnished the posts for fencing at 7¼ cents each. Mr. Parcells looked after the stone and frame work. Lemick McGowan laid the cement steps and Alex Kennedy and Riley Jones, both of Marmora, drilled the well. The lumber was bought from Pearce's mill at Marmora.

The school library was begun by a donation of books from a Campbellford Sunday School, and M. J. McCombs contributed other books. About thirty years ago the community held Sunday School in the school house, and some classes were conducted in the porch. A girls' sewing class was organized by Mrs. Sexsmith who taught the sewing lessons.

The first stove was a long box affair in a hole under the porch wall. In 1932 the hole was closed up and the present woodbox built in its place. In 1925 slate blackboards were substituted for the old ones and in 1936 a new fence was built.

Pupils who once attended the school but are now deceased were: Dorothy Riley, Ruby Toms, Harold Mack, Alfred Peoples, Gerald Anderson, Dorothy Syne. The chairman of the Board in 1940 was Leonard Keene and the secretary-treasurer Mrs. M. E. Ketchen, and in 1941: Chairman, W. Smith; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. E. Ketchen.

S.S. No. 8, BELMONT

More than one hundred years ago John McGill gave an acre of land for school grounds on which a log school was built. He was also the first teacher. Many years ago it was replaced by the present building. Recently the appearance of the grounds was improved by a new wire fence with gates.

S.S. NO. 4, BELMONT

This school is situated south of Round Lake on a hill about four miles from Havelock. It was built in 1881. The first building was of logs, and was less than a quarter of a mile from the present building, situated in the corner of the south east field of Robert C. Buchanan. The present school has been built for more than fifty years and is a frame structure. Some of the later teachers were: Miss J. Cronyn, Miss U. Dobbin, Miss L. Heffernan, Miss L. Lucuo, Miss D. Casselman, Miss H. McGee, Mr. M. Blakely, Miss H. Ackeny, Miss B. Beavis, Miss M. Brown, Mr. G. Buchanan, Miss E. Brears, M. V. Buchanan and C. Beach.

S.S. NO. 10, METHUEN

The first school, made of logs, was built sometime prior to 1870 on the lot next to the present one. Then in 1870 another school was erected on the property bought from Mr. Vansickle of this settlement. Some of the trustees of this school were: Charles Sopha, Roy Althouse, Thomas Vansickle, Charles DeRushie, George Vansickle, Bert Warren, John Vansickle, Sr., and John Vansickle Jr. Edward Cole, Lorne Bowen, Simon VanVolkenburg, Frank Cooney, Richard Cole, Lycurgus McMillen, Arthur Palmateer, John McFarlane, Harry Vansickle.

Trustees for 1940-41 were: Fred Cole, Robt. Warren, Carl McMillen, Milo VanVolkenburg, secretary-treasurer.

DOROTHY DIX

MIDDLE-AGED HUSBAND INFATUATED WITH GIRL

Worried Wife Advised Not To Forsake Him at This Critical Moment.

Dear Miss Dix: We are a middle-aged couple and until now our marriage has been very happy and successful. My husband is very high-tempered, but I hate contentions, so I have made it a rule never to argue and we have gotten along in peace.

But recently a young girl has come to live at our home and my husband seems to have become infatuated with her. I have never seen any indiscretions, but he seems depressed if she goes out with young men, and instead of going to shows with me as he used to do, if she stays in he seems anxious not to go out, and he watches her every move.

The result is that I no longer have any peace of mind. I don't think I am jealous, but it makes me actually nauseated to see an old man being taken in by just a mere child and, loving him as I do, it hurts me to see him making such a fool of himself. I am afraid if I order her to leave that he will go with her, so I don't know what to do. Shall I leave, or what?

ELIZABETH J.

Answer—Don't leave. Don't in a moment of irritation throw away your good home and all you have worked for so long and spent so many years in building up. And especially don't forsake your husband at this critical moment of his life. He needs you now to stand by him and save him.

If all during their marriage a man has been a philanderer, there isn't much that his wife can do to save him from the consequences of his folly. He was born with a wandering foot and that is incurable. But when a man, who has been as domestic as the house cat for 20 or 30 years, takes to philandering in middle age, it is an entirely different proposition, and 99 times out of a hundred the wife can save him and herself and the home by keeping from getting in a panic over the situation, and by using a lot of forbearance and understanding, instead of rushing to the divorce court and thereby throwing the fat into the fire and handing her husband and his fortune over to the "Other Woman" on a silver salver, so to speak.

A Fling Now or Never

For what ails your husband is his age. Up to the time that most men get along toward 50 they have been so busy trying to get established in business and lay aside a little something for a rainy day that they haven't had time to think about anything else. They found all of the interest and excitement that they craved in the big gamble of money-making. They have been so tired at night that all they wanted was to go home to a good dinner and the society of their wives, with whom they could be companionable without talking if they didn't feel like it.

They had thought of themselves as being done with romance. They had no illusion about being Glamour Boys; they didn't pine after night-clubs, and they literally never noticed other women.

Then, suddenly, they had more or less attained their goal. Their business was getting along fine and they could slack down and take things easier. And they had a birthday and realized with a shock that they were no longer young. They were middle-aged. In a little while they would be old. They had been too busy to take off any playtime, and if they didn't take it now they never could. They had to dance before their knees got so stiff they couldn't. They had to have a fling now, or never.

It is then they go haywire. They buy themselves Klassy Kollege Kut Klothes that look ridiculous on their paunchy figures. They let the barber sell them ten-dollar a bottle tonic guaranteed to make hair grow on an egg. They look at their Marias and think how strange it is their wives have grown old, while they themselves are still mere boys. And they are the foreordained prey of any little gold-digger who happens along.

Of course, you can't expect the wives not to get green-eyed when they see their husbands acting up this way, but if Maria only had the sense to realize that her husband is not in love with his blond secretary, or the divorcee with the long jade earrings, but is just trying to hold on to his youth a little longer, and if she would just have the patience to sit still and do nothing until the attack is over, all would be well.

For in a little while her husband would find out that he wasn't in love with anybody but her after all, and that he was no longer a merry lad, but a tired business man, and that at night his feet hurt him and he wanted to come home and put on his house slippers instead of going to a swell dancing place.

Try this remedy on him. In your case the girl probably will settle the matter by going off and getting married to some body of her own age, and your husband will come to and thank you as long as he lives for having had intelligence enough to treat him as you would have done if he had been sick, and so giving him a chance to recover from his madness.

Girl Undecided About Marriage

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 19 and have been going with a boy for the past six months. He is now preparing to go into the army and we both feel that we should decide on our future before he leaves. He loves me very much, but I can't seem to come to a definite decision. He is everything that is desirable in a husband, but I simply cannot tell whether I love him enough to know whether I want to marry him or not. At times I am sure that I do, and then at other times I hesitate. I never can tellw hat makes me hesitate, but I do.

If I accept his ring, it will be a year at least before we could be married. Perhaps not even during the duration of the war. What should I do?

UNDECIDED SUE.

Answer: When you are undecided about marriage, don't do it. People should go into marriage with a full head of steam on, not lukewarm. When some feeling that you cannot account for makes you hesitate, it is your Guardian Angel trying to save you from making a mistake that will ruin your life.

You say that both you and the boy feel that you should decide on your future before he leaves for the army. That is an impossibility. There is no one in these times who is enough of a prophet to know what even the next few months are going to bring forth. You are bound to leave your future to chance, or fate, or whatever power it is that settles our future for us. And it will be far better for both you and the boy just to have an understanding that when he comes back from the war you will marry or not, according to the way you feel at the time, instead of being obligated to a marriage for which you have both lost taste.

Pajama Dinner Costume

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THIS lounging pyjama, personable enough to appear at the dinner table, is the design of an American girl who apparently doesn't mind sharing her brainchildren with amateurs. For if ever we saw something new and smart which a home make-over sewer could run up herself, this is it.

Wide pyjamas, fitted at the waistline, are topped with a Russian smock of knee length. There you have the bold formula for the costume. Notice that the smock fullness is concentrated at the centre front, and further puffed by an over-topping sash bowknot. In back, the fullness is evenly adjusted around a waistline snugness.

Confetti dots of various sizes and bright, balloon colors make a giddy print for black silk chiffon which is used in a knee length coat smock to top wide black silk pyjamas. The huge Windsor tie knot of black silk which you'd expect to find at the collar closing has been moved down to the centre waistline effectively. Not planned for a maternity wardrobe, this is nevertheless a find for ladies-in-waiting.

WOMEN PAY BIG PRICE FOR POOR "BLOOD MAKE UP"

You women who feel and look "washed out"—limp and droopy—may be paying the price of hemoglobin shortage in the blood.

The demands of monthly "periods" pregnancy, etc. all conspire to bring about this shortage of the vital red coloring matter in the red blood cells. Try Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

They help increase hemoglobin where there is a shortage of it due to iron deficiency and help chase away that "leaden" feeling of tiredness so often due to this condition. Start your course of Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. Ask your druggist.

George Street Y.P.U.

The citizenship group, with Miss Elaine Cook as chairman, was in charge of George Street Y.P.U. meeting Monday evening.

Miss Loretta McDougall led the opening sing-song which was followed by the worship service conducted by Misses Eva Smith, Iris Fitzgerald, Loretta McDougall and Mrs. Lloyd Parnall.

The guest speaker of the evening was Rev. Mahoney of Knox United Church, who gave a very interesting talk on the subject, "Finding God Through Music." Following his address and at the special request of the young people, Rev. Mahoney gave a delightful piano number that was very much enjoyed.

The meeting closed with recreation led by Miss Leola Northey and the singing of "Taps."

C.W.V.S. Enrollees Receive Badges of the Unit

Interesting and numerous are the requests for services of the C.W.V.S. members. Many who volunteered to type during the mobilization of the Prince of Wales Rangers, First Battalion, are now at the armories helping the second battalion recruit to strength. Two other members acted as cashiers during the evening of May 20 at the Silver Moon. This new restaurant made a patriotic and generous beginning when it turned over all receipts for May 20 to be divided among the Red Cross, Chinese War Relief and British War Victims' Funds.

After the regular executive meeting held on May 20 the following ladies received membership badges as a token of sixty hours spent in war services: Mrs. H. Dunkerley, Mrs. J. H. Cridland, Mrs. W. E. Fanning, Mrs. T. E. Hall, Mrs. C. L. Jones, Miss F. Johnston, Mrs. B. K. Scarlett, Mrs. A. Pink, Mrs. A. Phillips, Mrs. J. P. Watts, Mrs. S. O. Shields, Mrs. J. R. Henderson, Mrs. G. M. Living Link Mission Circle

The May meeting of the Living Link Mission Circle of Trinity Church was held Monday evening, Miss Margaret Skitch presiding.

Plans were discussed for the annual June picnic, to be held this year at the summer home of Mrs. C. H. Huffman, Long Point.

Miss Anna Edmondson was in charge of the program, assisted by Miss Margaret Preston. Mrs. Huffman reviewed the final chapter of the study book.

Articles for the bale which is to be sent in the fall were displayed. After the service of light refreshments the meeting closed.

Nelso—Ayotte

APSLEY, May 21.— (ENS).— A pretty spring wedding took place at St. Stephen's Anglican church, Chandos, on Monday, when Miss Merle Ayotte, younger daughter of Mrs. Ayotte and the late Mr. Ayotte of Clysdale, was united in marriage to Pte. Walter Nelson, formerly of Oakville. The Rev. Cathcart, rector of St. Stephens, officiated, with the Rev. C. A. G. Spence playing the bridal music. The church was beautifully decorated by friends with lilac and spring flowers. The bride wore white floor length dress with bridal veil and carried a bouquet of red flowers. She was attended by Mrs. Ernest Tanner, with Mr. Ernest Tanner as groomsman. She was given away by her uncle, Mr. A. Wilson, of Young's Point.

A reception was held in the evening at the home of the bride's mother at Clysdale. Many beautiful gifts were received by the happy couple.

Mission Circle Holds May Meeting

The May meeting of the Frances Watt Mission Circle of Knox United Church was held at the home of Miss Phyllis Kidd, 259 Reid street. Miss Jean Hair presided.

During the business period, plans were made for the next meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. C. Ross. Members were reminded about their articles for the bale. Reports were given by the treasurer, Ms. C. Ross, and Mrs. D. Richardson told of Dr. Simpson's address on Stewardship.

Mrs. V. Smith conducted the worship service, the theme being "The Church, the Household of Faith." Mrs. H. Clegg, Irene Graham, Ruby Milburn led in prayers of intercession for the missionaries and fellow Christians in Japan, Korea, and China.

Mrs. C. Ross was in charge of the study period. The final chapter, "The Tide Comes In," from "Serving with the Sons of Shuh," was presented as a travelogue on West China. "West China is tingling with new life. The tide is in and on the crest of the wave. In this hour of crisis it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that christianity can meet the needs of China. China is ready for the church. Is the church at home ready for China?"

Mrs. Ross was assited by Phyllis Kidd, Ruby Milburn, Mrs. Milburn, Mrs. H. Murduff and Mrs. H. Bradley. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Miss Irene Graham, social convener.

Knox Y.P.U.

Marjorie Lewis, fellowship convener, was in charge of the worship service on Tuesday evening. Assisting her were Wilma Armstrong and Dorothy Agnew.

Rev. Mahoney, who spoke to the group on "Music Appreciation," traced the close relationship between religion and music through the Bible from the beginning. He noted that musical instruments such as the harp and the organ had taken prominent places in religious life.

The group then adjourned for games and songs. "Taps" closed the evening.

British Children Receive Canadian Milk

This Is Everybody's War

By MOLLIE BROWN

Some of the tasks demanded of us today may seem only remotely connected with the winning of the war. Such is the service performed by enrollees of the C.W.V.S. in helping care for the inmates of the children's shelter. For reasons too complicated to discuss here the work of the Children's Aid Society has increased considerably because of war conditions and voluntary help is very welcome, if not a necessary help to the society. We must not forget that this war will not be won until we have won the peace that follows it; a peace in which a shattered world must be rebuilt, a civilization restored, and a new and better way of life developed. And who will do this? Certainly not the present war-weary generation of adults. They may see the necessity and point the way but those who will establish the new world are the children of today. And it is essential that these children should be strong and healthy of mind and body. We cannot afford to jeopardize the future of democracy by allowing a single child to grow up neglected, under-nourished or inadequately educated. We dare not allow a single child to grow into an adult unwilling, or unable, to play his part in the building of the new world. Great Britain has recognized the responsibility and never before has any nation directed so much thought and effort to the physical and mental welfare of its children as the people of Great Britain are doing today. Besides present, we must provide for the present ,we must provide for the battles of the future, "the savage wars of peace." And linked to this concern for the future is the fact that it is slowly dawning on the public consciousness that every child born into this world, irrespective of the condition of its birth, is entitled to a happy, healthy childhood and educational and cultural opportunities equal to those enjoyed by other children....A bit more salt than you usually use steps up the flavor in cooking when you are using less sugar....Salvage collection in the North-end starts today. Put your stuff out. Rubber, metal, grease, rags, papers in separate bundles....The war has put extra demands on our hospital facilities. Support the Nicholls Hospital Women's Auxiliary and buy tickets for the Penny Sale. After all, you might break a leg or an appendix one day and need the hospital facilities...Give generously to the Community Fund. The organizations which benefit perform much needed and vital services to the community. We cannot afford to let them down.

Trinity W.M.S.

The May meeting of the Trinity W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon in the church. Mrs. Harold Rehill, president, as in the chair. Mrs. H. A. Mitchell led the reading of part of Psalm 33 which as followed by prayer, led by Mrs. S. D. Carver.

Mrs. E. Whiteley's report from the War Service Council was read by Mrs. Rehill. The report urged greater effort of the members in regard to salvage collection.

Mrs. Cunningham gave a short article on temperance, urging the women to continue their efforts despite the fact that their petitioning to those in authority was ignored. She urged that the only thing to do was to keep on trying.

Mrs. D. E. Bell led a very interesting and lively discussion on racial brotherhood, based on actual incidents in industrial, social and church life, which continued in smaller groups during the social half hour that closed the meeting.

Isobel A. Cook Is Wed To Howard Hutcheon

TRENT RIVER, May 21—(ENS). —The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cook, Trent River, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, May 16, when their only daughter, Isobel Annie, was united in marriage to Howard Ronald Hutcheon, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hutcheon of Seymour township. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson beneath an arch of evergreen and lilacs.

Mrs. Malcolm Hutcheon played the wedding music, and Mr. John Coggins sang "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white georgette with a short train and an embroidered veil falling from a coronet. Her bouquet was of Briarcliffe roses, lilies of the valley and fern. She was attended by Mrs. James H. Inlaster as matron of honor, wearing a gown fo powder blue flowered organza with headdress to match and carrying pink carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Malcolm Hutcheon.

A reception was held following the wedding. Mrs. Cook received her guests, wearing a printed blue silk dress. She was assisted by Mrs. Hutcheon, attired in a navy blue allover lace dress. A dainty buffet supper was served.

After the reception the bride and groom left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls. The bride travelled in a blue redingote dress and a beige coat with blu and white accessories. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Hutcheon will reside in Seymour township.

Training Girls To Assist Hospital Nurses

Authorities at Nicholls Hospital forseeing a shortage of nurses are taking steps to train girls to assist the nurses in the more simple duties. These girls are called ward aids.

Miss Edith Young said that these girls must be over 16 and preferably 18 years of age or over. Their duties will consist of dusting the wards, fixing the flowers, cleaning various utensils, carrying trays, and making up beds. They also have to carry drugs to the dispensary. A few will be allowed to help with the washing of the patients. All this work will be carried on under the eye of a graduate nurse. In the past all these jobs were done by nurses and it is only recently that Ontario hospitals have made the change.

This work is primarily for girls who are not eligible for regular nursing work but who feel an interest in the profession. The hospital officials want to be prepared in case their staff is seriously depleted and so they are now ready to augment their staff of ward aids.

Bridge and Tea Opens Ladies' Bowling Season

The annual bridge and tea in the club rooms on Wednesday afternoon opened the season for the Peterborough Ladies' Bowling Club.

The high winners were Mrs. DeLong, Mrs. Petrie, Mrs. Yeotes and Mrs. Bearne. Ten other prizes were drawn for, all of which were donated by the skips, the vice-skips providing the tea.

The table was attractive, being covered with a lace cloth on which crystalware and silver tea services were very effective in the sparkling candle light from the pink tapers in crystal candlebras. The centre was a crystal bowl of vari-colored tulips.

Mrs. H. Beatty and Mrs. J. Baird poured tea, assisted by Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. T. Doughty, Miss M. Patterson, Mrs. B. MacLean, Mrs. Dawe and Mrs. M. MacDonald.

Mrs. C. H. Fulford was successful in raising $4.45 on a draw for a cake, which was added to a sum which the members are raising for the L.W.V.F.

"SUPERB" ENEMY

STOCKHOLM—(CP).— Striking tribute to the British soldiers was paid by a German parachute commander, Capt von der Heyde, who described him as a "superb enemy." "The British," he said, "collect themselves very quickly and fight stubbornly and bravely."

Conducting Salvage Drive On All Vegetable Waste

By MARY MOORE

I'm a cissy when it comes to saving when I think, but when I'm here all alone at my desk and none of you can say "Boo" to me I can blow the lid off.

To make you take what I say more seriously, I want you to hunt out the article entitled, "The Case of the Murdered Vegetable," which appeared first in Parents' Magazine; and in condensed form in the May issue of the Readers' Digest.

When you boil vegetables too long in too much water then pour the water down the sink, you are destroying or nearly destroying their vitamin content; throwing away as high as 80 per cent of their mineral content and evaporating their flavor.

I saw a dear friend of mine drain nearly a quart of water from a pot of asparagus down the sink and sat there like a ninny and din't object. If I, who know better, am going to be that feeble when I have a chance to make a stump speech, how are you, whose business is to DO the cooking, going to know how to conserve these precious health-giving properties?

Well, hearken, Ladies, and I'll tell:

First, you make soup.

Second, if you don't want soup, you chill these vegetable waters and make the minto drinks, hot or cold (see below).

Third, you don't boil them at all! You either bake them or best of all serve them raw.

My business is to make these radical changes easy and practicable for you, and we will start with asparagus because it is in full season.

Get All The Good From Asparagus.

Boiled: Peel bottoms of asparagus stalks about 2 inches up and when ready stand in narrow pan (I use the top of the double boiler), add about 3 inches boiling water and boil hard, uncovered for 15 minutes, during last 3 minutes push tips down under water, strain off water into pitcher and add just enough salt to make it palatable and serve in consomme cups at table. The pitcher can be passed at table—the finicky narrow-minded ones will pass it up the first two or three time, but their curiosity will get them to taste it finally! Or serve cold "as is"; or in combination with tomato juice.

In Salad: Combine 1 cup shredded cabbage, 3 very finely sliced stalks raw asparagus, ¼ cup parsley chopped, ¼ cup chopped tomato, 1 cup shredded lettuce, and toss with about ½ cup mayonnaise and ¼ teaspoon salt.

Soups: It was the popularity of a pot of soup I made that sent me off this tangent. I call it

Spring Soup: Two cups asparagus water, ¼ cup each very finely sliced slender carrot, celery, asparagus (finely sliced—1/16 inch is just right), 1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley, 1 finely sliced Spring onion, 1 cup evaporated milk or cream or top milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ tablespoons salt, ¼ tablespoon each curry powder and pepper. The finely sliced vegetables will be tender in 8 minutes boiling in the asparagus water. When tender add the milk or cream and seasonings. In another pot melt the butter, add the flour, blend, then stir in the vegetables and milk and stock until it thickens slightly.

The above soup was suggested to me by a recipe of Rector's and I cannot recommend it too highly.

Threefold Reason for Soup Recipes:

As you know the tin ration to canners is strictly limited and canned soups are not going to be abundant.

Soups make excellent first courses to otherwise cold summer meals.

Soups give you an excellent means of conserving meat and vegetable waters, meat bones, outside vegetable leaves, leftovers.

Cream of Potato and Onion Soup

Three cups scalded milk, 1 cup potato water, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 medium potatoes, 4 onions, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Boil the potatoes and onions together, until tender, in as little water as possible. Drain, saving the water and rub the vegetables through a coarse strainer. Make a white sauce of the liquids, flour, and fat and combine with the potato and onion pulp. Season with chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Beat with an egg-beater and serve with croutons.

Emem's Tomato Cream Soup

One 16-oz. can tomatoes or 2 cups peeled chopped fresh tomatoes, 1 pint milk, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, salt, pepper, curry powder, ¼ teaspoon soda. Make a white sauce in top of double boiler by melting butter, stirring in flour and then hot milk and seasonings. Heat tomatoes and when boiling add the soda and then gradually add the unstrained tomatoes to the white sauce, stirring.

Question.—We raise our own hogs and have ham often. I cure them myself. But we do get tired of it sliced cold. I want a recipe for Ham Croquettes, also the way to make the Scalloped Eggs you suggested in the menus about a month ago. I read the cookery page every week and get many interesting ideas from it.—Mrs. Smithers.

Answer. — Since we poor city dwellers have to pay 40 cents per lb. for ham at present, we yearn for the chance of "curing our own."

Ham Croquettes

Two cups mashed potatoes, 1 tablespoon fat, 3 egg-yolks, cayenne, 1 cup cooked ham, egg and crumbs. Mix potato, fat, yolks of two eggs and cayenne, beat until smooth, then set to cool. Chop the ham, mix with the other yolk, cook until the mixture thickens, and turn out to cool. When thoroughly cool, take a tablespoon of the potato mixture, make a hole in it, put a large teaspoon of the chopped ham inside, close the hole and form ball. Dip into flour, then into egg, roll in crumbs and fry in deep fat (375 deg. F. to 390 deg. F.) from two to five minutes.

Scalloped Eggs

Butter, 6 hard-cooked eggs, crumbs, salt and pepper, milk or cream. Grease baking-dish and place in it a layer of crumbs then a layer of slices of hard-cooked eggs. Dot with bits of butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and add another layer of crumbs. Repeat in this order until the dish is full, having a layer of buttered crumbs on top, then pour cream or milk over the whole until it comes about halfway to the top of the dish, and brown in a moderate oven (350 deg. F. to 400 deg. F.)

Question.—We were burnt out and I am having to get a new recipe book together. One of the first things I missed was my recipe for Burnt Sugar Cake clipped from your page last summer.—Suzanne Long.

Answer.—So sorry to hear of your tragedy. If there are other recipes we could supply, do not hesitate to ask us.

Burnt Sugar Cake

One-half cup shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup water or milk, 2½ cups flour, 2 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 to 2 tablespoon caramel syrup, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream the shortening till very soft. Add sugar gradually, keeping the mixture foamy by vigorous manipulation. Beat the eggs till very light and add to the sugar mixture. Add vanilla and caramel and beat well. Mix and sift the remaining dry ingredients and add to the first mixture, alternating with the liquid. Beat only enough to mix ingredients thoroughly. Bake as loaf or layer in a moderate oven (loaf, 350 deg. F. to 375 deg. F. 45 to 60 minutes; layer, 375 deg. F. 20 minutes). Use either a white boiled frosting or a caramel frosting on top and between layers. Caramel Syrup: Into a smooth frying pan put one cup of sugar and place over a slow fire. When it begins to melt, shake the pan occasionally, and when it begins to smoke, add one cup of boiling water. Let boil till a heavy syrup is formed.

Fish Chowder

(Contributed by Mary Jane Lee).

One and a half pounds haddock or cod, 3 cups water, ½ bay leaf, few celery leaves, salt and pepper, 1 large onion, chopped fine, ⅛ pound salt pork, 3 cups diced potatoes, 3 cups hot milk, crackers. Purchase the fish in one piece. Wash and put in kettle with bay leaf, celery leaves, salt and pepper and about 1 tablespoon of chopped onion, add water and simmer until fish is tender. Drain, strain stock and remove skin and bones from the fish. Cut salt pork into thin slices. Then fry slowly until crisp. Remove the crackling to paper towel. Suate rest of onion in the drippings, add potatoes and strained fish stock. Cook until potatoes are tender, then add hot milk, add fish, flaked in small pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Add salt pork cracklings and simmer fifteen minutes but do not allow to boil. Pour over crackers in soup bowls.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, May 22

An exceptionally eventful, lively and pleasant day may be looked for on the auguries of lunar and mutual aspects of dominating planets. While the emphasis may be placed on all manner of social, domestic, sentimental and cultural affairs—artistic, literary and the professions generally—there is definite promise of enterprising, progessive and profitable business affairs. Travel, agencies, writings, advertising and promotions all should flourish.

Those whose birthday it is may be sure of a pleasant, profitable and productive year, with many eventful and exciting situations. There may be travel, change, new interests, mainly concerning publicity, writings, speeches, or other public contacts, in which personal popularity and prestige count. While many new propositions thrive yet the accent may be on domestic, social, sentimental or cultural ambitions or objectives.

A child born on this day should be blessed with many talents and traits of character making for splendid success and happiness.

Stock Limit Due

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP).—The war production board is expected soon to limit the stock of goods which may be held by retailers and wholesalers in the United States. Such a plan is definitely being considered by the board, informed persons said today, in order to assure an equitable supply of consumer goods, despite wartime production curtailments, for all merchants and their customers.

All Out For Sugar

CALDWELL, Idaho, May 21. — (AP).—White collar workers, school children and women are taking to the fields in Southern Idaho to save the region's $16,000,000 beet sugar industry. Because of wartime demand for sugar, 14,000 more acres of beets were planted in Idaho this year than last and farm hands once available have joined the United States armed forces or taken jobs in war plants.

Good Manners Make for More Good Times

Don't Invite a Refusal

"Got a date for Saturday night?" Jim asks bluntly, little realizing that his crude manners harm his popularity. Dorothy might not have an engagement that evening, but it would hurt her pride to say "No."

Dates become smooth, thrilling when you know what is correct. Jim should have asked "Will you come to the dance with me Saturday night?" Then Helen could have answered without embarrassment, "I'd love to," or "Sorry, but I'm busy."

What to do at the party when your beau says, "I'd like you to meet a friend of mine?" Say, "Do bring him over." Don't cross the room to meet him. And don't rise when introduced to a man unless he's ages older than you.

Time to go? You make the first move on leaving a party. And when you hop into the taxi, don't embarrass your beau by piping "819 Main Ave." It's correct for him to give the driver your address.

More good times for you if your manners are smooth! Our 32-page booklet tells the correct thing to do at dances, dinners, dates, at the theatre - How to accept compliments gracefully, what to do about the boy who pets, pointers on poise in public.

For your copy of "Etiquette For Young Moderns," send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HIGH EFFRONTERY

DID YOU ever have the effrontery to double a contract which you were certain an opponent could make, with extra tricks, for the purpose of scaring him into one which he might not be able to make, or at least in which he probably could not take any extra trick? That is a pretty daring maneuver and, if it does not work, it can cost you plenty of points. Knowledge of the mental habits of your opponents, especially the little matter of whether they are scareable, must govern your course when you consider such high jinks.

North: ♠ A J 8 6 3 ♥ A 7 ♦ 10 8 6 4 3 ♣ 9

West: ♠ 10 7 ♥ 4 3 2 ♦ A 7 5 ♣ A K Q 6 3

East: ♠ K Q 5 ♥ K Q J 9 ♦ K ♣ J 10 8 4 2

South: ♠ 9 4 2 ♥ 10 8 6 5 ♦ Q J 9 2 ♣ 7 5

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1♣	1♠	1 NT	Pass
2♣	Pass	3♣	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Dbl
Pass	Pass	5♣

When the third round of bidding got around to C. Edward Van Vleck, Jr., sitting in the South, he felt sure that the declarer would positively make his No Trump game easily, plus at least one or two extra tricks, and therefore a top score. Reflection on the bidding indicated that if the opponents could be frightened into trying for game in clubs, there would probably be no chance at all for extra tricks, and maybe even some doubt about making the contract.

East, having bid No Trumps only once, had indicated that he might be a bit doubtful about his stoppers in some one suit. In addition, he was the ultra-conservative type of player who might be frightened by a double into taking out into clubs, especially since he had supported that suit.

Mr Van Vleck's double worked like a charm and the opponents were limited to 5 clubs with the loss of two aces, whereas in No Trumps they could have made one extra trick if a diamond was led, and two against a spade lead.

Alert In New York

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Maj-Gen. Follett Bradley, commanding the headquarters airforce of the Eastern Defence Command, announced today that a "blue" alarm sounded for the New York area at 11:06 a.m. E.D.T., and the all-clear signal followed at 11:26 a.m.

No reason was given for the alarm. N.B.C. announced its station WEAF was off the air for 23 minutes.

Hoarders' Hazard

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—There is a woman in Brooklyn who offers a most horrible example of what happens to a hoarder.

It all started last fall when Mrs. Hoarder stacked a basement room full of canned goods. Then one day while she was away, a water pipe burst. The cellar was flooded and the labels washed off the cans, leaving her without a shred of identification as to the contents.

Canadian Slang Leaves Dutch Airman Muddled

LONDAN May 20 — (CP Cable) —How a Canadian airman's slang caused the sensational—but erroneous—report of a Hudson bomber's death dive into an enemy ship was told yesterday by R.C.A.F. Headquarters.

An official statement explained that a Netherlands intelligence officer misinterpreted such phrases as "hitting the deck" and "flying the kite into the deck."

The misunderstanding brought about the report that an unknown young Canadian airman had crashed into the deck of a German vessel in a "suicide dive" after his machine was damaged during the week-end attack on a convoy off the Netherlands coast.

The explanation added:

"Returning to his base a Canadian pilot reported to an intelligence officer, in this case a member of the Royal Netherlands Air Force acting in that capacity because a Netherlands squadron also was on operation, that he had seen one of his comrades 'hit the deck' or 'fly into the deck.'

"The Netherlands officer, unfamiliar with Canadian slang, took this literally and his report stated an aircraft had been crashed actually on the deck of a merchant vessel. The Canadian meant he had seen it go into the sea."

The statement asserted that pilots attached to the Canadian Hudson squadron of the coastal command which took part in the operation said even though an aircraft was so badly damaged it could not hope to return to base "the pilot would make every attemupt to land on the sea where there might be a chance of being picked up."

'If he were the pilot of a fighter aircraft flying alone he might crash on the target," the statement added, "but with the responsibility of other crew members on his shoulders his first thought would be for their safety."

Combes Given 30-Day Term Stealing Ring

COBOURG, May 21 — (ENS). — Wallace Combes and Fred Revoy of Peterborough appeared in court yesterday on a charge of theft of three rings from the home of George McBain of Cavan Township. The charge against Revoy was dropped and Combes was found guilty of stealing one of the rings and given 30 days in jail dating from May 6, the time of his arrest. The two boys were arrested by Provincial Constable David Adair after McBain had reported that three rings were stolen during an auction sale at his house. Two diamond rings and a ruby ring were missing after the sale, according to McBain's story in police court. Later he found one of the diamond rings where it had apparently fallen. The rings had been kept in an empty watch case, the complainant stated.

Provincial Constable Adair said that after investigating the robbery he saw Combes and Revoy in Peterborough and placed them under arrest. He took them to the police station where Combes gave a written statement to the effect that he and Revoy had gone to the sale and were looking through the house. He said that they went into a room. Later he went out and some time after, Revoy emerged with a ruby ring. He searched Revoy to see if he had taken the other rings which he had noticed in the room. Revoy had denied taking any except the ruby ring. This ring was found on Revoy when arrested. Revoy gave a statement in which he admitted taking the ruby ring but left the other two rings in the watch case. He also said that Combes had questioned him about the rings and had told him to take the ruby ring back where he had got it. This he didn't do.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman suggested two interpretations of Combes' act in searching Revoy. One was that he searched him to make him return any of the other rings or else to guarantee a proper division of the spoils.

Combes' story was that he had only taken the ruby ring. He admitted that Revoy had searched him and testified that Revoy told him to take the ring back.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter in finding Combes guilty of theft of the ruby ring, stated that he was giving him the benefit of the doubt in regard to what happened to the still missing diamond ring.

F. C. Richardson was defence counsel.

Warriors Of RAF Not Pushed

LONDON, May 21—(CP). — The R.A.F. fighter command is not being strained to the utmost in ceaseless campaign of daylight 'sweeps' and bomber-escort duty over enemy-held territory — or any thing like it.

This is evident in the regulations governing rest for pilots. In the old days of the Battle of Britain, both men and machines were worked to the limit. Often they had to go up again almost as soon as they landed. The picture is different now.

Regulations now call for certain rest periods for the pilots. They get one day off every week, a supplementary 48 hours a month, and one week off in every six. In addition, they get free days when the weather forbids operations.

In its drive against enemy objectives the fighter command often stages several sweeps a day. Pilots, however, are allowed to take part in one daily sweep, and this only for short periods. This is made possible under the system by which squadrons of the front line are relieved at regular intervals.

Peterboro' Landlord Faces Charge

Judgment was reserved by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court Wednesday on a charge against Gordon J. Bigelow under the City Plumbing bylaw of failing to have a smoke test made of the plumbing in his apartment building in East City.

Bigelow was the purchaser of the old Lundy residence at the foot of Burnham street, turning it into apartments. In the autumn of 1937 he applied for and received permission to do his own plumbing work.

Plumbing Inspector Arthur Metheral told the court that a water test had been made of the work in November, 1937 and at that time he had estimated that it would be the spring of the next year before the job was completed. Mr. Bigelow had never had a smoke test made when the work was finished, the inspector stated.

To Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who defended Bigelow, the witness said that he had had a complaint from a tenant in the apartment and had made an investigation of the plumbing. He had found that a bath tub had not been installed properly.

Mr. Gordon did not call any evidence and asked for a dismissal of the case on the ground that the charge should have been laid within six months of when the alleged offense had taken place, not years afterward.

City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C., argued that it was acontinuing offense, pointing out that Bigelow had never notified the plumbing inspector that the work was concluded.

Magistrate Langley adjourned the case for a week to give himself a chance to consider the technical points involved.

"My Father Gave Me Herbs, Something Like SYNTONA"

That Is Why I Decided to Take This Medicine for Recent Gas and Other Stomach Suffering, Headaches, Nervousness, Tired, Run-down Feeling and It's Been Wonderful for Me, Says a Well-Known Woman.

No one can dispute the true medicinal value of some of Nature's best-known Herbs and Roots, which for centuries have been used so successfully. No less than 12 of these Herbs, Roots and Barks are skilfully blended in the "Syntona" medicine and that is why it is so good for you and has been so highly praised by men and women everywhere.

Mrs. Elsie Perrin, 60 Edinburgh Avenue, Hamilton, recently told the following experience:

"When I was just a little girl my father used to give me a mixture of herbs and roots and, while I didn't always like it I can remember how good they made me feel. So, when I recently began suffering from indigestion, gas and nervous, upset stomach, I decided to try Syntona because it seemed to be something like those herbs I used to take. At that time I was also suffering from severe headaches, a bladder irritation that disturbed my sleep often at night and generally I had no energy, and felt tired and rundown. I had no appetite and was so nervous I couldn't even sit down and do any knitting.

"Anyhow, the herbs in Syntona having appealed to me, I started taking it and it has been wonderful for me. Now I enjoy eating again and am rid of that awful gas and indigestion that used to distress me so. I am free from headaches, that bladder irritation does not trouble me and my nerves have quieted down so that I can do my work much more easily and without tiring as I used to do. Syntona is a lot more pleasant to take than the herbs we took, and I can truthfully say it has done me more good than anything I've ever taken before. I certainly recommend it to others."

Flexible Canuck Units To Be Interchangeable

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 21—(CP Cable)—Infantry and armored formations are going to be completely interchangeable between the 1st and 2nd Canadian Corps in a new balanced, flexible fighting organization being worked out for the overseas army, it was learned here today.

The tactical situation will be the prime consideration in the allocation of the forces which will be available.

The original plan, which involved a somewhat rigid organization of infantry and heavy infantry tank formations in the 1st corps and armored divisions in the 2nd corps, is being altered radically. Lessons learned in the Libyan tank battles are partly responsible for the change.

Under the new scheme the 1st corps, at present composed of three infantry divisions and an army tank brigade, may at times include one or more armored divisions while infantry divisions may be assigned to the 2nd corps.

Two army tank brigades will be assigned to the corps which needs them and in addition Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian Army commander, will be able to allot a mass of medium and field artillery, engineer battalions, signals, reconnaisance and armored car units and line of communication troops.

New Armored Unit Coming

It is expected that 2nd corps headquarters may be formed in late June or July and before the end of the year a second armored division and another army tank brigade will arrive overseas with army troops to complete the army field force.

Headquarters of the two corps and their permanent corps troops will be trained to operate with either infantry or armored divisions which might be put under their command. Strong emphasis will be placed on co-operation between tank regiments and infantry machine gunners, artillery, engineers and other units.

The goal is an elastic organization which can be altered rapidly to cope with any combination of troops the enemy might throw against the Canadians.

Reveal Spies Landing Along Maine

Suspect Move On To Form Bands Of 5th Columnists

AUGUSTA, Me., May 22—(AP).—Francis H. Farnum, State Director of Civilian Defence, said to-day that "accurate information is in the possession of police and army authorities to show that foreign agents have recently been landed on the coast of Maine."

"Others have come into the state over the Canadian border or from other parts of the United States," Farnum said in a prepared statement. "They are here for no good purpose and they are in our midst now. They come to plot to damage, to destroy."

Only yesterday civilians and members of the Volunteer Defence Corps were warned by United States and State officials in Boston to exercise especial watchfulness for enemy and fifth column action along the New England coast.

"Sometimes a special agent is sent to this country to perform some single task," Farnum added. "He is the pinch-hitter, or the hit-and-run worker. Once his assignment is completed he tries to make his way back to his native land or to join other spies in this country."

Farnum warned that it was "entirely possible that the enemy may attempt to land parachutists or other air-borne troops in Maine" and added that "an attempt may even be made to organize bands of fifth columnists."

He urged the public to be watchful, "think before you act, but act instantly if your suspicions cannot be fully satisfied."

Farnum did not disclose how or where agents already had landed on the Maine coast.

Victim Says Sub Tipped Ahead

NEW ORLEANS, May 22—(AP).—Capt. A. Henry Rowe expressed belief today that two torpedoes which sank his medium sized United States cargo ship in 90 seconds were fired by a submarine crew tipped in advance on the vessel's movements.

At least 31 members of the crew and the gun crew were carried to death in the swift sinking in the Gulf of Mexico May 16.

Capt. Rowe attached significance to the fact that the submarine not only attacked without warning but did not surface after the sinking to obtain information about its victim, possibly indicating the submersible's officers already knew the ship's identity and its sailing plans.

"Usually those fellows ask what ship you're on," he said, "but this one didn't. We never even saw him and that makes me think the rascal was tipped off."

There was no time to use the radio to summon help and the 19 survivors rode life-rafts for about 30 hours before being picked up. Five were taken to hospital in Galeston, Tex., when brought ashore.

Shells, Bullets, Bombs Fail To Tie Dover Farm Two Owners, Girl Hired Hand All Get Medals

LONDON, May 22—(CP).—Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Mitchell and Grace Harrison, their feminine farm hand, were decorated today for persistently operating a Dover area farm—Britain's closest to the continent—under German shelling, machine-gun fire and bombing.

"Unexampled effort, sustained bravery and devotion to duty" were cited by the Government. Mitchell was awarded the George Medal, presented primarily to civilians for acts of great bravery. His wife, Kathleen, and Miss Harrison were awarded the British Empire Medal.

Buildings on the farm, Nazi targets off and on for nearly two years, are probably the most vulnerable in all Britain. The surrounding acreage is strippled with filled-in shell holes.

Except for the frequent occasions when the three have had to take cover, the farm work has gone on uninterruptedly.

American Mobs Lynched Japanese Tokyo Quotes Released Diplomats

NEW YORK, May 22—(AP).—Following is a verbatim transcription of an English-language broadcast by the Tokyo radio today:

"Japanese residents in the United States, including Americans of Japanese ancestry, were subjected to indescribable humiliation and shocking treatment, including lynching at the hands of enraged American mobs, when the outbreak of the greater East Asia war on December 7 uncapped a wave of anti-Japanese sentiment throughout the United States, Asahi's correspondent reported from Rome.

"The Asahi correspondent based his report on information obtained from members of a party of 82 Italian diplomats and pressmen, including Prince scanio Colonna, Italian Ambassador to Washington, which returned to Rome May 21 in the first United States-Axis diplomatic exchange of personnel.

"Members of the Italian party disclosed on the outbreak of war a strong wave of anti-Japanese feeling spread rapidly throughout the United States, and Japanese nationals were attacked by brutal American mobs who event went to the extent of lynching some innocent Japanese residents.

"They said assaults against Japanese were fiercest at Terminal Island, San Pedro, where there is a Japanese fishing village.

"Harsher Treatment"

"Questioned regarding treatment of Japanese residents since the outbreak of war, members of the Italian party said Japanese, irrespective of whether they were Nisei (American born) or not, were being subjected to much harsher treatment than Germans and Italians, and huge numbers of them were being interned in concentration camps which the United States government had the Japanese build, as in the cases of Germany and Italy.

"They said of the total of 10,000 Axis nationals who are interned, 6,000 were Japanese, 3,000 Germans and 1,500 Italians.

"Members of the party went on to express belief that it was apparently the policy of the United States government not to leave a single Japanese resident, whether he be an American of Japanese ancestry or not, at large.

"Citing an instance of brusque treatment accorded Japanese nationals, the Asahi correspondent reported a Domei newsman in New

Hun Hound Vichy For Tunisia Port

MOSCOW, May 22—(AP).—Tass, Soviet news agency, said today that Germany is pressing the Vichy government to consent to Axis occupation of Tunisia and "defence" of the French Empire on the grounds that Britain and the United States intend to seize Tunisian ports.

Quoting reports from Vichy via Geneva, the agency said Pierre Laval, Vichy's chief of government, is afraid to make the deal lest it cause a negative reaction in France, but that the Germans are threatening to go ahead even without Laval's consent.

Tass said also that German forces now outnumbered Italian in the Central Mediterranean, completely dominating all air and sea communication beteen Italy and North Africa, with the German command having undivided control over the most strategic points.

German planes and flotillas of small submarines restrict Italian operations, and Italian staff orders are cancelled at German discretion, Tass said.

For example, an Italian plane which was carrying out an assignment contradictory to German instructions was shot down by the Germans over Pantelleria recently, Tass said, and Italian fliers at Marsala were arrested by the Germans for refusing to obey Nazi orders.

Try Screened Tactics In Counters

Still Hold Initiative Says Moscow; Kharkov Line Seesaws

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW May 22.—(AP).— The Germans once more have hurled strong tank forces into counter attacks in the raging battle for Kharkov, this time employing tricky new tactics of screened attack, but the new mechanized thrusts have been repulsed, Red Star said to-day.

"The enemy is making furious efforts to take the initiative out of our hands," the army newspaper reported, "but this is not last year, and the relation of the opposing forces is quite different."

The army organ intimated that the Germans might have "succeeded in obtaining some partial, limited successes," but declared that on the whole the Kharkov offensive was developing satisfactorily and "we have everything necessary to keep the initiative."

Asserting that new German counter-attacks had been repulsed, the Soviet information bureau announced at least local Russian gains.

"On the heels of the retreating enemy," he communique said, Russian troops "broke into a populated place."

Surprise Fails to Work

In its account, Red Star said counter-attacking German tanks were sent into the attack in three groups—two small forces intended to distract Russian attention, then a third strong surprise force attempting to catch the Russians on the flank.

This failed and heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans, Red Star said.

Previously large-scale tank operations had dwindled temporarily except in one sector of the Kharkov front. Even there, Red Star said, a big tank clash which had been under way for several days continued at a lower pitch.

"The Germans had tremendous losses here," the army newspaper reported, "and are running out of breath."

Red Star said German successes on the Kerch peninsula also cost the invaders a tremendous price in men and war material.

More than 1,300 Germans were reported slain in two engagements on the Kalinin front to the north.

Damaged Eugen Runs 2nd Blockade Joins The Scharnhorst At Kiel

LONDON, May 22—(CP).—The damaged German cruiser Prinz Eugen has arrived at Kiel, it was learned today.

The Air Ministry announced four days ago that British planes had scored two definite torpedo hits and one probable hit on the 10,000-ton cruiser off southern Norway the night of May 17.

The Prinz Eugen had been at Trondheim under repair after a previous British attack.

Arrival at Kiel, big German naval base, indicates that for the second time the cruiser had run a sea blockade to a German port. The vessel was with the battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau in the dash through the English Channel from Brest.

She had been in that occupied French port under British air attack since participating last May in the battle in which the battleship Bismarck was sunk.

The Scharnhorst is reported also at Kiel, undergoing repairs, as is the 6,000-ton cruiser Nuremberg.

German warships believed still at Trondheim include the 35,000-ton

U.S. Boys 18 to 20 Register June 30

WASHINGTON, May 22—(AP).—President Roosevelt today set June 30 as registration day for young men beteen 18 and 20 years of age.

This will complete for the present the registration of the country's manpower for both fighting and non-combatant war duty, and will be the fifth registration under existing law.

Young men 18 and 19 years of age who will register June 30 will not be subject to the military draft until they reach the age of 20.

Males between 20 and 45 are now subject to military service.

Approximately 40,000,000 persons between 20 and 65 have been registered in the four previous drafts.

Men To Match Plane Output States Air Chief Power; 3 Nation Committee Set Up

New Group To Exchange Latest Ideas, Tips To Meet Latest In Enemy Tactics; Training Standard So Crews May Be Switched

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 22—(CP).—With men available to man the planes, the United Nations can be assured there will be no more aircrew bottlenecks, Air Minister Power said today at the end of the Ottawa Air Training Conference at which representatives of 14 nations made a combined survey of their actual and potential aircrew manpower.

The Minister, as conference chairman, made known the results of the conference—insofar as they can be disclosed—at a joint press conference with Rt. Hon. Harold Balfour, Parliamentary Undersecretary for Air in the British Government, and Maj.-Gen. Barton K. Yount, of the United States delegation.

The only concrete agreement announced as reached at the conference was one to set up a combined committee on air training in North America, with headquarters in Washington. Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom will be represented on the committee and other governments engaged in air training in North America such as those of China, Norway and the Netherlands will have the right to appear before it when questions of interest to them are under discussion.

No Overworking Crews.

Discussing manpower, Maj. Power said there need be no repetition of conditions which existed during the battle of Britain when pilots were required to go up time after time without proper rest because of a shortage of aircrews.

"At the moment we have the men to match the aircraft," he said, "and though we cannot tell what the future will bring we hope to have them in the future."

The British and American delegates joined with Maj. Power in expressing satisfaction at the results of the conference after the Minister read an official statement approved for publication.

"As flying training is the foundation of flying efficiency there is no doubt that the discussions of this conference will soon produce beneficial results on the air operations of the United Nations,' the statement said.

Because of the highly-secret nature of much of the work of the conference, a decision to publish two official reports was reached. One will be public and contain only general descriptive material. The other—secret—will contain the actual detailed conclusions and will be made available to the governments of the nations participating.

The official statement said the purpose of combined committee to be set up will be to ensure 'a rapid and effective interchange of information regarding air training generally.

"It has been a most successful conference," said Gen. Yount. "If anybody thinks we have been up here getting rid of a few pleasantries he is very much mistaken.

"We are taking back with us a lot of very fine information."

In addition to the exchange of information there had been the intangible advantage of getting on friendly terms with one's "opposite number" in the other air forces. There had been plenty of discussion

Letter Provides First Clue In Baby Kidnap

LONDON, Ont., May 22.—(CP).—Inspector Harry Noakes, of the Attorney-General's criminal investigation branch, and Detective Morley Leach, of the city detective department, sped 40 miles north and east of London to-day to track down what may be a clue relating to the kidnapping of Barbara Ann Wood, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood, who was born seven months ago to-day.

Details were not disclosed, but the out-of-town lead, first to be developed in almost a week, was the result of a letter received by the London Free Press today. Contents were turned over to Chief Earl Knight and Inspector Noakes apparently deciding the letter wasn't of the 'crank' variety, asked Detective Leach to accompany him on the investigation.

Early this afternoon neither had returned, and police had no intimation as to the success or failure of the trip.

F.D.R. Still Sees War Long One

WASHINGTON, May 22—(AP).—President Roosevelt reiterated today an opinion that the war would be a long one and cautioned against over-optimism one week and over-pessimism the next.

The war, public opinion and the news go up and down with things that appear big at the moment, he told a press conference, but the more that can be done to prevent this, the better it is for the war effort.

The fluctuations, he said, are caused by a tendency toward overstatement on the part of the American people.

"Do you think censorship should pass some bad news?" he was asked.

Yes, he replied, as soon as it does not affect military operations. There is only one reason for withholding bad news, he said, and that is that to release it might create more bad news.

O my, yes, he ejaculated in reply to an inquiry as to whether the ship-sinking situation was not still "pretty serious."

R.A.F. Giving Germany Taste of Terror

Damage Leaks Out Despite Losses Being One of Nazis' Most Guarded Secrets

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LISBON May 22—(AP).—Air raids increasingly are striking terror into the hearts of German civilians, lowering their morale and cutting down war production.

This may be said despite the fact that on no other factor of the war, perhaps, is it more difficult to obtain authentic information than on the results of Royal Air Force bombings.

There is an iron-clad rule in Germany that bombing repairs take precedence over all others; as a result, in an incredibly short time bombed districts are made to appear normal, at least outwardly.

The morning after a raid, windowpane setters remove debris and replace glass as the first step toward making a stricken area look normal again. Carpenters, masons and plumbers report as soon as possible for their part of the work.

A casual visitor in a bombed section thus, on the first morning, will find areas roped off so he cannot determine the extent of damage at first hand; by the second morning after a raid he may be able to pass by without noticing much of anything untoward. The police see to it he does not trespass on damaged premises and the street front will have been made to look normal.

When large factories are hit, propaganda ministry officials may even conduct groups of foreign journalists on tours in an effort to prove that nothing of moment has occurred.

But such plants may be composed of many buildings. It is easy, at the Siemens Works outside Berlin, for instance, to take a correspondent over a large area and show him many undamaged buildings.

Yet, he may pass within 100 yards of a vital sub-plant devoted to turning out some delicate precision instrument which for months may have been incapacitated by a bomb, and he may never be the wiser. Only gradually does the truth leak out as workers in these plants talk to friends and relatives about such mishaps despite penalties for disclosing war secrets.

The daily war communique of the German high command almost never admit the war effort has been disrupted by bombings. It is almost invariably exclusively civilians who have been hit and structures nonessential to the war effort that have been put out of commission.

Casualties among soldiers on duty in a stricken area, assuming, for example, that a barracks has been hit, never are mentioned. When the truth simply cannot be concealed successfully public mention of serious damage is made.

Thus every German knows that Meunster was bombed with frightful results late last summer. But only those having relatives and friends there are aware that whole blocks were razed.

Sermons by the Roman Catholic Bishop of Muenster, Count Clemens August Von Galen, also helped to publicize the Muenster bombing.

Kiel, Hamburg, Bremen, Luebeck, and Rostock also figures in the war communiques because the damage there was so great it could not be concealed.

Likewise the high command admitted that an Augsburg industrial plant was hit in broad daylight because the word spread rapidly

No Privileges For Wife Of Man Who Aided Nazi

DETROIT, May 22—(AP).—When Mrs. Max Stephan asked permission yesterday to visit her husband more frequently at the County Jail where he is held as an accused harborer of an enemy, she received this answer from United States Marshal John J. Barc:

"When we hear that the Nazis are giving special privileges to persons who aid an enemy of their country to escape, we'll consider reciprocity, but right now you'll have to take the same treatment that everyone else gets."

Mrs. Stephan's husband, a cafe owner is charged with harboring Lieut. Peter Krug in the course of the young Nazi flier's flight from a war prisoner camp at Bowmanville, Ont. Krug was recaptured in San Antonio, Texas, and returned to the camp.

Regulations limit Mrs. Stephan to two visits a week. She asked permission to see her husband each day.

Rome Claims Battleship

Say One Of Maryland Class Torpedoed Off Brazil

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts), May 22—(AP).—The Italian high command claimed in a special communique to-day that its submarine Barbarigo sank a United States battleship of the Maryland class with two torpedo hits off the Brazilian coast on Wednesday.

(Official Brazilian and U.S. sources said they had no knowledge of any naval engagement in these waters.)

The communique said that escorting vessels of the United States naval formation did not reply to the attack.

It gave the time of the asserted attack as 2:50 a.m. Rome time, and the place as 100 miles west of the Brazilian island of Fernando Noronha, 125 miles off the easternmost extremity of Brazil.

(The Barbarigo, with a submerged displacement of 1,260 tons and surface displacement of 941, has eight 21-inch torpedo tubes. The displacement of the three Maryland class battleships the Maryland, Colorado and West Virginia, ranges from 31,800 to 33,000 tons.)

Anger Rising As Berlin Snubs Protest

Tenseness Heightened By Reports Of 2 More Sinkings

MEXICO CITY, May 22—(AP)).—Mexico hung precariously on the verge of an outright declaration of war against the Axis Powers today following rejection by Berlin of her protest against the sinking of a Mexican tanker off the Florida coast last week.

While the country awaited a statement from President Manuel Avila Camacho that was expected to decide the issue within a few hours, the general tenseness of the situation was heightened by reports that two more Mexican ships had been torpedoed.

A highly-placed and usually reliable source said the President already is preparing a manifest asking Congress to declare war.

At the same time a former president, Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, commander of the west coast defence zone, and probable choice for commander of Mexico's armed forces in event of war, sped to the capital by plane "to receive my orders from the President."

Orders were issued to the commander of all other military zones directing them to remain at their posts, and the chief of the general staff announced tersely that "the army is prepared."

The country as a whole, however, remained quiet and there were some signs that a moderate policy would be acceptable, though workers' organizations consistently have voted in their meetings for war.

Half a dozen senators opposed to war met yesterday to discuss a compromise which might satisfy Mexico's honor and still fall short of war.

Demands Rejected.

The Foreign Office announcement declaring that Germany had rejected Mexico's demands for reparation for the sinking of the tanker Potrero Del Llano said Berlin flatly declined even to receive the note of protest.

"Therefore," the announcement said, "President Avila Camacho will

Murderer Shot In Court Room, Jury Convicts

HARLAN, Ky., May 22 — (AP).—Manzo Shepherd, 24, on trial for his life for the killing of a taxicab driver, was shot to death in the Harlan Circuit Court Room yesterday.

Sheriff Clint Ball said Jack Heaton 26, a coal miner from Louellen and a nephew of the man Shepherd, was charged with killing, surrendered to officers immediately after the shooting and was placed in jail.

Shepherd was seated at the defence table. Judge James S. Forester started to address the jury as the shot rang out.

After the court room had been quieted, Judge Forester told the jury that Shepherd was alive when taken from the room and ordered them to take the case under consideration. The jury returned in a few minutes with a conviction verdict and recommended the death penalty.

Sheriff Ball said Heaton, whose Uncle Joe Christian was found with his throat cut on Black Mountain, May 5, walked up behind Shepherd and shot him once in the head. Ball said Heaton then turned and handed the pistol to officers.

Shepherd, Sherman Clouse, 23, and Howard Hensley, 30, of Yancey were indicted for the killing of Christian. Clouse and Shepherd had been tried jointly on Tuesday, but the trial ended in a deadlocked jury. At the opening of the second trial yesterday, Judge Forester granted Shepherd and Clouse separate trials.

When the authorities decide to admit a raid, propagandists under Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels claim that virtually only cultural objects which should be the property of the entire civilized world were destroyed.

The public mind then is prepared for Hitler's next retaliation move which, by the Fuehrer's own declaration, should be 10 times worse than the raid suffered by the Germans.

and argument, but no one left the conference with any impression other than pleasant.

Crews Would Be Exchanged.

The General said a very careful study was made of the syllabuses of training followed in the air forces of the different countries and that it was surprising how little difference was found in them. The conference made no attempt to frame a model syllabus but all points of difference were noted.

"Actually we are turning out a very standard product," said Gen. Yount. "If it were necessary we could exchange air crews."

Each nation carrying on its own training would continue to do so and there was no doubt of a central aircrew pool for all. Better results could be obtained by each country operating in its own way but in co-operation and in the light of what the other countries were doing.

Capt. Balfour described the combined committee to be set up as a "positive achievement' which would permit of a continuous interchange of vital information and experience. Air training was not static. As the enemy developed new types of planes and new tactics, new methods had to be developed and the experience of one country would be of assistance to the others. The rapid exchange of information would increase the efficiency of all the United Nations air forces.

For the British delegation the first phase of its work in Ottawa was over, said Capt. Balfour. The second phase—a conference with the Canadian, Australian and New Zealand governments on the British Commonwealth Air Training plan—started immediately and will continue into next week.

All air training has to be related to a specific plan, he said, and the discussions at the general conference and the British Commonwealth conference both proceeded on that basis.

"I have never been at all frightened that we should not eventually wipe the enemy forces out of the skies," said Capt. Balfour. "If we can do that one day sooner or one week or one month sooner as a result of the conference, so much the better.

"We sometimes start slowly but we usually finish up all right in our united efforts."

Japs Advancing Fast In Chekiang

CHUNGKING, May 22.—(AP). — Missionaries left Kinhwa to-day as the Japanese army's sweeping offensive drew nearer that strategic city, provincial capital of Chekiang province and railway gateway to Kiangsi and Central China.

Yesterday the main Japanese column, driving down the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, was reported 50 miles from Kinhwa, smashing heavily at Chinese lines with airplane support.

There was no fresh word of the position of the enemy spearhead, but all reports indicated that the four-pronged Japanese offensive continued with full vigor.

Chungking also was without details as to the progress of the Japanese force which landed Wednesday near Foochow, capital and chief port of Fukien province, just south of Chekiang.

Cash And Suits Stolen From Donald Store

Haliburton opinion scouts the suspicion that recent fires in Kinmount, Gelert and Minden were related and incendiary, R. J. Curry, of Haliburton village informed the Examiner this afternoon in connection with a burglary this week of J. E. Emmerson's store at Donald.

Rumors from the north country intimated that the general store had been broken into, its safe robbed of $100, and the floor left sprinkled with gasoline.

"Investigation by police left the conviction that Emmerson's store burglary was just a separate break-in," Mr. Curry, Reeve of Haliburton village and prominent garage owner in the north, told the Examiner.

"Donald is practically a company town—Standard Chemical Company is located there and they employ a night watch. In his rounds one night this week he noticed an automobile in front of Emmerson's general store and post office, and made a note of its number. The car was traced to Toronto by provincial police, but the owner was not at home.

The thieves got away, and in the morning Mr. Emmerson found the safe broken open and about $100 stolen. Papers were strewn about and the store was a mess. There was a liquid spilled on the floor, but it was turpentine, and apparently there was no evidence of an attempt to set the building on fire."

Mr. Curry said official opinion in the Haliburton district rejected the notion that the recent disastrous community fires were caused by a 'bug.'

"The only one that might have been suspected of incendiary origin was that at Minden. There is no general belief here that these fires were in any way connected or were started by one person. Local belief is that it was only a circumstance that they occurred about the same time. In any case the Emmerson break-in doesn't seem to be in any way related to the other affairs."

Considerable merchandise was stolen from Emmerson's store, including men's clothing.

Cheese Production Nears Spring Peak

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22 (ENS). — Cheese producers are within twenty-five per cent of peak production judging from offerings on the Campbellford Board last night when all but six of the factories listed sold cheese. Eight buyers divided the total of 1,815 boxes of white, all of which brought 19⅝ cents, while the 29 colored went to J. Bradbury of Canada Packers at 20 cents.

Evidence of members reluctance to dispense with weekly boardings was seen by a motion endorsing the plan to carry on as usual until June. Members were unanimous in this matter, being of the opinion that once the regularity ceased interest in the board would also wane and it would take a long time to re-educate them to weekly meetings again.

Responding to the request of President Hector Arnold, who asked for a report, District Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray, told the board he had been in conversation with Mr. Mosses who had been sent here by the government to go into the box question. Mr. Murray declared he had no report to give other than his own opinion that the box problem would work out alright. He said Mr. Mosses admitted a shortage in what he described "the visible supply."

Buyers took selections as follows: P. J. Murphy for Hodgson & Rosson, Montreal, 237c; W. H. Bailey for Lovell & Christmas, Montreal, 280c; A. J. Meyers for Flavell & Co. Lindsay, 240c; V. Spencer for Belleville Cheddar Cheese, 228c; H. Tremaine for Swift Canadian, 243c; W. S. Stiles for McLagan & Co., Montreal, 238c; H. B. Wood for Olive & Dorion, Montreal, 224c; W. D. Bedell for A. A. Ayer & Co., Montreal, 170c.

WHERE ARE THOSE GRATES?

"I wonder whether I tossed those grates on to the salvage pile?" That is one of the questions some citizens were pondering yesterday as they read the new phase of the increasing oil shortage and its possible effect on their comfort next winter. So, it can't happen here, eh! All depends on what you comprehend in that word "it". Things are happening. German submarines sink tankers out in the Atlantic and men die or are drowned, and the waves from their vanishing ships finally reach the ocean shore, and less oil flows to the storage tanks inland, and messages are placed on the desk of Hon. C. D. Howe, and their ominous echoes resound in the houses that have oilburners. Too bad—for the men on the rafts.

Alternative Site Inspected For Wartime Houses

Attention of the committee and representatives of Wartime Housing in their examination of township properties Thursday afternoon, seeking a property other than the Hatton estate for another colony of temporary houses, was concentrated on the many acres on the west side of High street and north of the C.P.R. up to Cottesmore avenue.

It was shown that this location is sufficiently expansive and is within easy walking distance from four or five of the south-end factories. The main concern of the Housing company's men was directed to the cost of household services to the property and the time required to provide them, water, sewerage and so on.

The North Monaghan committee accomplished their first objective of assuring themselves that alternative properties were considered. The south-west area across the city's boundaries have been gone over once more, and it seemed to be agreed that if costs were not high the area west of the ends of New Romaine street, Lundy's Lane

Among those in the group who went over the property were Reeve M. H. Johnston and Deputy-reeve Archibald, J. D. Carlisle, John Cameron and John McDonald, R. M. Glover, H. S. Longhurst, Ross Dobbin and F. K. Hamilton and James MacLaren of Wartime Housing.

Health Course Now Obligatory

All Boards of Education have been advised by the Minister of Education that a change in the high school course of studies will be effective on September next. The obligatory course in health and physical education has been extended to include the training given in cadet corps courses, which are now taught in some of the schools of the province, as well as the subjects which cover the training required by the reorganized army cadet program and by the newly organized air cadets of Canada. The new course has been approved by the Minister of National Defence and is known as "The Course in Defence Training, Health and Physical Education" and is listed as one of the obligatory subjects. It is to be offered in all secondary schools of the Province. With the approval of the Minister, however, the course may be modified where members of the staff are not available to teach all the topics set forth in the Syllabus.

Special instruction is set forth under headings as follows: Knots and lashings, small arms, map reading, field craft, woodscraft, first aid, signals, internal combustion enginers, navigation, airframes, theory of flight, nutrition, home nursing, and camp craft. Much of the work may be taken in common by boys and girls but certain specialized subjects are particulary suitable to boys and others to girls. Special summer schools will be offered at the Y.M.C.A. camp, Geneva Park, Orillia, for male and female teachers in June and July this summer to povide instruction in the special subjects of this new program.

"We shall expect great things from the Americans when an opportunity is given them—an opportunity which no doubt will come soon."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, May 22 — (CP). — Members of the livestock trade had little to say about the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announcement in regard to the beef situation. It was felt that the statement was too general and lacked details. The trade is now waiting for something more specific to be announced before commenting on the board's plan to protect the country's beef supply and support the domestic market. Butcher steers brought $10.25 to $12, choice weighty steers $12 and fed calves $11 to $12.50.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, May 22 — (CP). — A light local trade with a few scattered purchases attributed to mills came into trading on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Wheat futures remained unchanged with May at 79¼ cents a bushel and July at 80⅝. Chicago futures were reported ¼ cents higher.

The only trade in coarse grains involved minor transactions in oats and barley in the October position.

Obituaries

GEORGE EDWARD GRAHAM.

The funeral of the late George Edward Graham took place from the chapel of the D. Belleghem & Sons' Funeral Home, 190 Hunter Street, Thursday afternoon, and was largely attended. There were many floral tributes, and many friends and relatives from outside points in attendance.

The late Mr. Graham passed away suddenly early Tuesday morning after a very short illness. He was a machinist with the Quaker Oats Company for over 28 years.

He leaves a sorrowing widow and two sons, Max with the R.C.A.F. now stationed in England, and Terry at home, also his father and mother, three brothers and one sister.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. J. Mahoney of Knox United Church, and interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Fred Graham, James Graham, Theodore, Gordon, Alvin and Wesley Graham.

JAMES MORROW.

James Morrow, a former resident of this city and Norwood, died suddenly in Moosejaw, Sask., after a short illness, May 13, in his 60th year.

He was born in Norwood, the son of the late Wm. Morrow and Anne Morrow, where he was a hotel manager for 30 years and a member of the Anglican Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret West; his mother, Mrs. Anne Morrow, Peterborough; a daughter, Mrs. Leslie Baines, Melfort, Sask.; a son, Clifford, Moosejaw. There are three sisters: Mrs. W. G. Atchison, Peterborough; Mrs. N. G. McFarlane, Toronto and Mrs. E. Sharpin, Moosejaw; also two brothers John of Toronto and Bert of Edmonton.

The funeral services were held today in Moosejaw.

Broilers And Heavy Fowl Increasing

TORONTO, May 22 — (CP). — The dressed poultry market has been somewhat quieter as compared with last week, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports.

Broilers are more plentiful and more heavy fowl are arriving.

Prices to producers and country shippers on fowl are somewhat lower. There appears to be a lull in the movement of storage stock sales of frozen roultry both locally and out-of-town being below normal.

Turkeys are moving very slowly.

Enquiries for chicken are being supplied from storage as fresh arrivals above the broiler stage are practically nil.

Dealers are quoting producers and country dealers, nominal:

Broilers.—Grade A milk-fed, 27c lb.; Grade B milk-fed, 26c; Grade B, 24c; Grade C, 20c.

Fowl.—Grade A, 5 lbs. up up, 23c; 4 to 5 lbs. 22c; 3 to 4 lbs. 20c; Grade B, 5 lbs. and up, 21c; 4 to 5 lbs. 20c; 3 to 4 lbs. 18c.

ALMANAC MISSING

The almanac is hitting away out on the fringes of the weather target these days. For instance it predicted for May: The first week begins a month of very fine weather. Then about the middle of the month it said "becoming warmer". And along toward this week-end: "Some spring showers this week." It mentions nothing about the persistent rains of recent weeks.

Urge Canada Name Chief Of Production

Howe Fears Loss Of Efficiency; Eases Heating Rule

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 22 (CP)—Lines on the blueprint of Canada's war industry are constantly shifting to meet new and unexpected demands of war, Munitions Minister Howe told House of Commons members yesterday as the House continued in committee debating the war appropriation bill resolution.

No cut-and-dried outline of war industry was possible, he said, adding, "all we can do is try to reasonably anticipate the requirements of war and plan our course from week to week and month to month accordingly."

On the objective of his department Mr. Howe was able to speak in more definite terms.

"We have had an objective, which is to put into the hands of Canadian troops every weapon and every supply they require to carry on the war and make them the best-equipped army in the world.

"Beyond that it has been our objective to make the maximum contribution to the munitions program of the Allied armies as a whole," he said.

Mr. Howe was questioned yesterday, particularly by J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F. York South), Rev. T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn) and John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) on aircraft production. From a Maritimes spokesman, J. Leonard O'Brien (Con. Northumberland) and from D. A. McNiven (Lib. Regina City) speaking for the Western provinces, he heard requests for greater geographical distribution of war industries.

Morale of war workers also was a topic of the day's debate. Mrs. Dorise Nielsen (Unity-North Battleford) and John Blackmore, New Democracy leader, said improved conditions for workers would pay dividends in increased production.

Divide The Department

From Mr. Douglas came a suggestion that the munitions and supply department should be divided into two sections, one controlling production and the other supply, with Mr. Howe retaining charge of the production branch.

The minister said he would "give three cheers" if such a change could be made "because I would have less work." But it could not be done without loss of efficiency because two such ministers would be competing against each other.

Just before adjournment last night, Mr. Howe modified his state-

35 Cobourg Homes Have Oil Furnaces

COBOURG, May 22—(ENS).—Approximately thirty-five householders in Cobourg will be affected by the new ruling from the Oil Controller in regard to consumption of fuel oil for heating. Fortunately, the ruling came in time for many to get coal grates installed in their furnaces in time for next winter, but in some cases new units will have to be purchased. The salvage campaign collected a number of grates and is is considered possible that some were from furnaces which had been converted from coal to oil burners. All the public buildings in Cobourg are heated by coal.

Music For Production

PITTSBURGH, May 22—(AP).—The Columbia Steel and Shaft Company, taking a cue from British industry, turned to-day to swing music as the thing to help boost production. Officials announced a regular program of dance music and marches will be broadcast throughout the plant, interspersed by pep talks and news bulletins.

Fifty Attend Opening Golf Banquet

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22. — (ENS).—Upwards of fifty attended the annual opening banquet of the Nursery Golf Club held here last evening at Woodlawn Inn when it was announced that the planned inaugural tourney of the season set for May 25th might have to be postponed as a result of the continuous wet weather. President P. C. Denyes, who presided for the brief program, and had an eye on increased membership, forecast the best season the local golfers have yet enjoyed. He spoke of some of the improvements made on the course during the early spring but a more detailed account of this work was given by W. A. Hogie, who said a sprinkler was being obtained to keep greens in better condition. E. A. Stuart, M.D., and R. J. Bale led in a sing-song and A. J. Armour contributed an amusing reading on golf. Winner of the lucky number award was J. E. Birks and bridge winner were Mrs. Charles Ackerman and J. D. Mills. All prizes were golf balls.

Total contributions to date in the Cobourg Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund is $1,013.59. Contributions received in May were $12.?5 from the milk bottles; "V" for Victory Club, Centreton, $5; Mrs. P. G. Thompson, $5, and the bingo game, $50. Another bingo which was held Wednesday night is not included in the foregoing total.

Members have started a few practice games on the greens at Cobourg Lawn Bowling Club, and within a short time it is expected that the season's activities will get under way. The ladies' section of the club are selecting their skips and organizing their rinks this week.

Bazaar Receipts Show Increase

ROSENEATH, May 22—(ENS).—Final details for which the United Church W.A. is responsible in connection with the Plunkett dinner tonight were worked out at the regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon as the society worked in conjunction with the United Church Board sponsoring the affair.

The meeting was held in Mrs. Fred Norris' home, and Mrs. L. Tucker, vice-president, was in the chair.

The financial statement showed bazaar receipts of $45.13, with additional sales by the committee amounting to $4.10.

Letters of thanks for sympathy cards received during bereavement were read from James Down and sons, Mr. and Mrs. John George, Mr. and Mrs. Rae Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Parker.

Letters of thanks for overseas boxes were received from Clark Lapp, Jack Arber, George Dobson, Frank Linton, Ewart Tucker, Neville McCracken and Bill Stanworth.

Mrs. Charles Sandercock announced a brief program, when Mrs. M. Davey told the story of the five provinces having floral emblems: Ontario, wild trillium; Manitoba, anemone; Nova Scotia, trailing arbutus; Alberta, wild rose; and New Brunswick, violet.

Additional program consisted of readings, "That Typographical Error," by Mrs. A. Nill; "A War Poem," Mrs. Clark Sandercock; "An Airman's Sonnet of Flight," by Mrs. Earl Waldie, and a contest by the convener.

Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite offered her home for the June meeting and Mrs. Harold Taylor and Mrs. Earl Waldie volunteered as a program committee.

Farm Industry Ordered Into High Gear

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22 (ENS). —"Produce or else . . ." was the order given by the Government to this town's number one farm industry the Trent Dehydrated Co., where green alfalfa is artificially dried and ground into a meal which is regarded as an essential supplement for regular feeds.

The plant began operations this week beating last year's record opening by a single day and at least two weeks ahead of what is regarded as a normal season. They began on Monday to cut alfalfa that in many fields was over twenty inches high and this week are running one ten hour shift which, beginning May 25th will become two ten-hour shifts, making operations continuous day and night. Although the meal is not regarded as essential enough to warrant space which is at a premium for transoceanic shipping, it is regarded as one of the essential supplements which will boost production in every branch of the livestock industry. The local plant, one of only three in Canada, is looking for a record season again this year.

Senior W.M.S. Enjoys Social Evening

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22 (ENS). —St. Andrew's Young Ladies' Mission Circle had members of the Senior W.M.S. group as their guests at a social evening when they met at the home of Mrs. Edison Wynn on Tuesday.

Following the opening exercises, Miss Hazel Atkinson sounded a note of welcome to the visitors and to this Mrs. A. C. Connor responded. During the business period routine reports were heard from the secretary, Miss Annie Parks, and the treasurer, Mrs. H. T. Scott. Mrs. Fred Adamson gave the scripture reading and Mrs. A. MacKenzie lead in prayer, and the program included a vocal duet by Mrs. P. H. MacMillan and Miss Annie Parks and an address on "The Need Today for a Living Faith," by Mrs. A. G. Thompson.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Misses Lillian Hay, Jean Wallace and Marian MacDonald, at the close.

Raps At A Convoy

Cairo, May 22 (AP).

BRITISH planes scored bomb and probably torpedo hits on a destroyer and merchant vessel Tuesday night in the Mediterranean, R.A.F. headquarters announced today.

The ships were part of an enemy convoy attacked by both the R.A.F. and planes of the fleet air arm. Other bombers on the same night attacked objectives in Crete and Libya.

In Libya, the communique said, aerial operations were reduced because of bad weather.

One British plane was lost.

W.A. Speeds Up War Activities

ROSENEATH, May 22—(ENS). — Mrs. Frank Dowler was hostess on Thursday afternoon when the May meeting of Centenary United Church W.A. was held in her home. Mrs. D. Timlin presided.

A report of Red Cross sewing included 1 quilt pieced and quilted, twelve pantie suits for girls, size 4 years, and four boys' suits, size ten years.

It was decided to make a donation of $15 to the church treasury on May 24, when the 76th anniversary of the church will be observed, and also present a number of hymnaries to the church.

Mrs. M. Brown and Mrs. D. Timlin in charge of the sales department reported approximately $3 from this source.

Mrs. I. Skuce will assume charge of sales for the coming month. Letters of thanks were read from Mrs. C. Avery and Mrs. A. Elder for convalescent cards, and from Mrs. D. Sherwin for a card of condolence.

Miss Emma Sherwin presided over a short program, when poems were read and articles contributed appropriate to the month of May by Mesdames N. Lean, D. Timlin, A. Elder, W. Smith, and Miss Hilda Arthur. A solo, "Room for Jesus," was sung by Mrs. I. Skuce.

A social hour was enjoyed over the tea cups at the close.

Resort Owner Plea

TORONTO, May 22—(CP)— The Ontario Motor League has taken up with the oil controller, G. R. Cottrelle, the case of business men in many Ontario summer resorts who are said to fear their business will be seriously affected as a result of gasoline rationing, W. G. Robertson, league general manager, said Thursday.

English Line Group Completes 32 Quilts

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22. — (ENS).—Since they first officially recognized the urgent need for them members of the Tabernacle church W.A. (English Line) have made a total of thirty-two quilts all of which have been contributed to either the Red Cross, I.O.D.E. or Salvation Army here. This was announced following the regular meeting held in the church basement in the form of a pot luck dinner on Wednesday. Sixteen ladies attended and during the meeting three quilts were completed for the Red Cross. During the business period for which the president, Mrs. E. J. Mitchell presided, it was announced that a donation of $20.00 in war savings certificates would be made by the W.A. to apply on the missionary and maintenance fund deficit. An invitation by Mrs. J. R. Bick to be guests at the parsonage for their next meeting on June 16th was accepted. A summary of their quilting program since last August was made by the secretary, Miss K. Gould, who announced their contributions had included 13 quilts to the Red Cross, 15 to the I.O.D.E. and 3 to the Salvation Army. In addition to this one was presented to the pupils of the English Line school, S.S. 5, who sold tickets on it to raise money for the B.W.V.F.

Wm. Albert Lapp Is Laid To Rest

COBOURG, May 22—(ENS).—The funeral of William Albert Lapp, lifelong resident of the district, was held this afternoon from his late residence on Chapel street. He was 70 years of age and was born in Castleton, north of here, son of the late Charles Lapp and Sarah Griffiths. He was married 25 years ago to Susannah Richardson, Perth, who survives. He is survived also by three daughters, Mrs. Lewis Black of Port Hope, Mrs. Dynes of Cobourg and Miss Agnes Lapp at home. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. P. Woodger, with interment in Cobourg Union Cemetery.

Four Quilts In Day Is Stanwood Record

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22 (ENS). —Something of a record was rung up by the Stanwood Sewing Circle which met for its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The ladies, who usually feel they have accomplished a good day's work by taking off two quilts, completed four by working from 10.30 a.m. till 5 p.m., with only a break for a pot-luck dinner.

They met at the Stanwood Hall, and although it was announced last month that a cleaning bee at the church would take up the morning session of the meeting, members erased this from the slate by gathering for the task a week and a half ago and were thus able to give the entire day to the Red Cross, which will get the quilts.

Twenty-two attended the meeting and according to the announcement of the president, Mrs. Carmen Redden, they will gather next month at Mrs. Ernest Rowe's.

Celebrate Centenary

COBOURG, May 22—(ENS).—St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cobourg, will on June 21 celebrate the centenary of the opening of the Diocesan Theological Institute in Cobourg, it has been announced by the rector, Rev. R. L. Seaborn. The Institute, before being transferred to Toronto, was at the Haskill House on Green Street. High dignitaries of the Church will be present for the special services marking the event.

Empire Day

Today the children in our schools sang the songs of Britain, recited poems, performed flag-drills, acted little plays and in all the other customary ways celebrated Empire Day; because the Day itself falls upon a Sunday this year Monday will be observed as a public holiday. As the celebrations progressed there is no doubt that the children thought solemnly about the Empire of which they are citizens, and their thoughts may have had an added solemnity this year when war has touched that Empire so nearly. But how many of them thought about the 24th of May? Did any of them shout the old jingle:

"Twenty-fourth of May,
The Queen's birthday,
Give us a holiday, or
We'll all run away!"

They might fittingly have done so, for the British Empire and the Dominion of Canada both owe a great deal to the majestic lady in whose reign they achieved their present form.

It was fashionable for a while to sneer at the Victorians and at the severe Queen who gave her name and much of her personality to an era in British history second in greatness only to the reign of Queen Elizabeth. But we know better now. The Victorians had great qualities which we have not, and which we badly need. Perhaps the most striking of these qualities was character.

* * *

Ignorant critics give the impression that the reign of Victoria was one of unquestioning conformity to convention; nothing could be more mistaken. Every age has its conventions, for if conventions did not exist, what would a great many people do for their opinions and rules of conduct? But the reign of Victoria was an age when men of outstanding and original talent abounded and when the arts and the sciences flourished. Victorian taste was not always irreproachable, but when has the taste of any age been irreproachable? Victorian discoveries were not always valid, but infallibility is a characteristic of the angels. The important thing is that the Victorians lived with intensity and passion, and for these qualities much of modern life before the war had nothing to show but neurotic hustle and bustle and a dangerous apathy.

Too frequently it is said that the Victorians were able to achieve what they did because they lived in a stable society, whereas we live in a society which is in continual flux. The stability of society in Victoria's reign is a legend with no foundation in fact. But the Victorians had character, and they did not allow social upheaval to unnerve them.

* * *

Sometimes, in the Victorian era, character became indistinguishable from eccentricity, but no one was the worse off for that. The tendency of modern life appears to be toward a dead level of education and mediocrity and neither character nor eccentricity is permitted to flourish without a bitter struggle. Is that perhaps why our leaders are so dull, and we so loath to follow them? Is it because they lack anything which clearly marks them off from ourselves? That strange Victorian, Alexander Smith, said "The things that really move liking in human beings are the gnarled nodosities of character, vagrant humors, freaks of generosity, some little inextinguishable spark of the aboriginal savage, some little sweet savor of the old Adam." There is precious little of the old Adam left in our notable men today, save in Winston Churchill, that incorrigible Victorian, in Bernard Shaw, another, in Queen Mary, the greatest of living great ladies, and a few others who remain to us from a Victorian past.

If we were asked to advise the children of Canada on Empire Day, we should say: Be yourself. Develop your own opinions and your own character. Don't let anyone tell you what you are to do or think; avoid being regimented at all costs. Find beliefs and adhere to them, for the great fault of the modern world is its lack of real faith in anything, including itself. Avoid ruts and well-worn paths. Learn to think, learn to feel and learn to laugh, for these things do not come naturally to anybody. Thus you will do the utmost for your country and for your Empire, and perhaps when you are men and women there will be another queen on the throne, and it will be your particular glory to make her age as great as that of her great-great-grandmother.

A Playground For Children

In the news columns of this issue of the Examiner there will be found an account of a meeting of the Parks Committee of this city at which Alderman M. Swanston suggested that the woodyard on Park Street be made into a playground for the children of the district. With the exception of King Edward Park it is the only property which may be used for recreation in that part of the city and it appears to us that Alderman Swanston's suggestion was a good one and deserved more attention than was given to it; but as Alderman Swanston probably knows already, those who undertake to speak to civic bodies on behalf of those who cannot speak for themselves must expect to be disregarded unless they are persistent; it takes a great deal of hammering to break down the resistance of a city committee to expenditure of this sort which is neither spectacular nor likely to bring in any visible profit.

Sometimes, however, it is necessary to do things in the hope of invisible profits. It is the duty of civic bodies to make no move in the present without giving full consideration to its probable effect in the future. Civic committees must think always of the safety and health of the people of their city, and of the well-being of the city itself. It is obvious that children must play somewhere, and if they have no better spot they will play in the streets; the streets make unsatisfactory playgrounds, and they are dangerous as well. So much for safety. Now what about health? Peterborough is a densely populated city, as industrial cities tend to be, and its civic authorities must be continually vigilant if it is not to become an ugly and unhealthy huddle of masonry, as are so many factory towns in Britain and in the older parts of the U.S. Sane town-planning demands that there be open spaces carefully disposed over a town which will serve as reservoirs of fresh air in hot weather, and economy dictates that these be used as parks or playgrounds. The Park Street woodyard already exists as an open space; why not go farther and make it into a playground?

When we in Canada think of unhealthy living conditions we are apt to call to mind the repellent slums of London or New York, and we reflect with pride that we have nothing of that sort here. But a living quarter does not need to be poverty-ridden or dirty in order to be a slum. It need only be overcrowded. In Canada we have no excuse for overcrowding anywhere; we have more than enough room for everybody. In overcrowded districts health tends to be affected, and this is particularly true in the case of children who react strongly to environment. If we want healthy children in Peterborough we must give them plenty of room to run about and play; if we want them to be safe we must keep them off the streets; if we want our city to be beautiful and permanent (for it inevitably becomes necessary to tear down an overcrowded district) we must see that it has plenty of open spaces. Here is an opportunity to take a step toward all these desirable ends at comparatively little cost. We recommend Alderman Swanston's suggestion to the attention of the city at large.

Walking And Levelling

Apparently there have been some dreadful inequalities in Canada's social system which have escaped our notice. Plying the humble trade of journalism we naturally do not move in very exalted circles; we know our place, and we try to keep in it. But there has been so much talk about "levelling" since the war began that we can only conclude that there has been a lot of social injustice about, and that if the levelling goes on we may soon find ourselves mingling with our betters almost on equal terms. This quotation from our valued contemporary, the Oshawa Times-Gazette, for instance, sounds like the promise of a fairer day:

> "It is time automobile owners realized pleasure driving is out of the question for the duration of the war. Both gasoline and rubber are essential to the successful prosecution of the war. Every motor car owner should see to it that he does no unnecessary driving. By again learning to use the muscles given him by nature he will find new health and enjoyment. The war is a great levelling agent and none of us should be too proud or too lazy to mix with those who have long been accustomed to walk to and from their work."

This holds out new hope. We have never owned a car, but we have sometimes felt a wistful envy of those who do, and as we have padded patiently to and from our work, occasionally permitting ourself a ride on the bus or streetcar when the weather was wet, we have sometimes indulged in revolutionary visions of a day when all men would be equal; of course we hoped that in that Utopia every man would have a car, but it seems that instead every man is going to walk.

The man who fixes our furnace drives a car; the electrician, the plumber and the paperhanger all drive to our humble abode when we need them; the junk man hauls away our junk in a handsome truck. Not long ago our chimney-sweep arrived at the door in a smart sedan. And are these lords of the road really going to walk like ourselves? Has levelling gone so far? Truly we live in an age of great changes! Truly every valley shall be exalted and every mountain and hill made low.

The Seat Of The Trouble

Recently a writer in the Chicago Daily News revelled that the greatest grievance of the soldiers in the U.S. Army was that the seats of their pants were too tight. And now we learn that it is a matter of chagrin with our own Canadian troops that the seats of their pants are too loose. Let us see what we can do to get at the seat of the trouble.

American men have long been noted for the elegance of their dress, but it is generally admitted that the finest clothes for men obtainable anywhere are made in London. English tailors concentrate upon easy comfort combined with great skill in cutting, and their American brothers have never been able to discover their secret. The truth of this matter is simplicity itself and it was confided to us by an English tailor; we reveal it here for the general good of mankind: American tailors make their clothes comfortable to stand up in, but English tailors design theirs to be comfortable to sit down in. And so American trousers, which look very fine on the standing male are apt to constrict him when he sits down, whereas English trousers which are superb for the sitter are apt to, in the words of Mark Twain describing the pants of Huck Finn, "hang low and contain nothing" when the sitter rises.

Our ingenious contemporary, the Kingston Whig-Standard, has a solution for this problem. It says: "Would the two Governments consider authorizing Americans with large hips to serve in the Canadian Army, where the seat of the battledress might fit them, and Canadians with abnormally small hips to serve in the American Army, where the seat of the uniform would probably be the right size for them?" There is an alternative, however: would it be possible to give Canadian soldiers all the sitting down jobs, for which their uniforms are admirably designed, while their American colleagues did all the standing work, at which they would present an exceptionally neat appearance? We present these suggestions to the United Nations Supreme Command as a contribution toward morale and efficiency.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Nightmare is often the result of eating like a horse.

When a nail is crooked you will usually find that it was driven to it by a woman.

We should all be proud to hear from Mr. C. D. Howe that the first aid to China from this continent came from Canada.

The impossibility of getting oil for heating is going to create a considerable problem for people who have come to depend on this simple and cleanly fuel. Perhaps they will have to resort to Quebec heaters for the duration. If they do we may see a revival of the ancient sport of spitting on the stovelid and enjoying the sizzle.

Russian soldiers found bones and a skull near German quarters last winter and deduced that the starving Germans had been going in for a little cannibalism. This is nothing new; great numbers of Germans turned cannibal during the Thirty Years' War of 1618-1648, and they are certainly going to be made to swallow themselves before this war is finished.

HIGH HEART

Convinced am I that when we die,
Our British hearts, where'er they lie,
Will claim a bit of earth and sky
For Canada.

'Neath every sun, in sound of gun
Wherever wars are fought and won;
There will be signs of duty done
For Canada.

On every sea where ships may be
Some smiling lad is proud that he
Will have a part in victory
For Canada.

When skies are clear the world will hear
Of deeds and men who knew not fear,
And in world annals will appear
Our Canada.

The C.B.C. Is Under Review

By GRANT DEXTER
Winnipeg Free Press

OTTAWA.—Despite the troubled political outlook, the radio committee of the House of Commons has got down to work with good heart. According to the committee men, it is to be a full investigation.

The question of public ownership of radio does not arise; public ownership is accepted by all parties. The affairs of the CBC, not its constitution, are under review. Three years have passed since the CBC has been investigated by a parliamentary committee—fateful years which have brought many changes. The committee has barely got started and, therefore, it is early to estimate the vigor and sweep of the inquiry.

There is no lack of raw material for the committee. Perhaps because there have been no parliamentary committees since the war began, criticism throughout the country has been gaining in volume.

The wartime efficiency of the CBC is being widely questioned. Many administrative flaws are alleged and, apart altogether from such weaknesses as may be proved, there is said to be room for improvement in organization and in service.

A LONG LIST of witnesses has been drawn up and this list, alone, indicates the extent of the inquiry.

Rene Morin, the chairman of the Board of Governors, will be heard, also Gladstone Murray, the general manager, and Dr. A. Frigon, the assistant general manager. The wisdom of the changes in the respective duties of Mr. Murray and Mr. Frigon announced by Mr. Howe in the House of Commons in 1941 has yet to be proved. To outsiders it appeared as if Mr. Frigon had become, in fact, the general manager, Mr. Murray's authority appeared to be severely restricted. The committee no doubt will desire to find out how these changes are working out.

The report of the late Alan Plaunt, and the financial survey made at that time by J. C. Thompson, the chartered accountant, were given to the Board of Governors shortly after the outbreak of war. Mr. Plaunt, later on, resigned from the Board of Governors in protest because his recommendations had not been carried out. Mr. Plaunt's death removes perhaps the most valuable witness of all. But Mr. Thompson is available and, as all who read his recommendations agree, he believed that changes in organization could be made advantageously.

Since Mr. Howe announced the changes in the duties of Mr. Murray and Mr. Frigon, the Board of Governors has given still wider financial control to Mr. Frigon. The reason for this has still to be made public.

Since the outbreak of war, there have been a succession of resignations from the CBC which have never been adequately explained and which, because of the importance of the officials involved, have been disturbing. E. A. Pickering, formerly assistant general manager, resigned in 1939. He is now an executive officer of a large commercial enterprise and is to be summoned to explain why he left the CBC. In 1940, Donald Buchanan, the supervisor of public affairs broadcasts, resigned—again for reasons which are not on the official record. Then there was Mr. Plaunt's resignation which, although explained in general, has not been dealt with in detail.

THERE has been serious criticism of the efficiency of the CBC as a national broadcasting system in wartime. Many competent judges believed it has failed to do its job both in the field of national morale and of unity. Indeed, the gravest criticism in this regard is heard in Quebec. It is said that the CBC has not been nearly as effective in its war programs in French as in English: that the Quebec network is much less vigorous in support of the war than the English network. No doubt the committee will hear evidence on these points.

There is also said to be a lack of co-ordination in government war broadcasting. Many departments — Public Information, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the Legion, the publicity branches of the defence departments, etc.—have been operating over the CBC network as separate, independent entities. They should have been brought together, it is asserted, and thus avoided differences in emphasis and confusion of thought on the part of the listeners.

The committee, as it pursues this line, will probably want to know from the Board of Governors or the minister responsible, who is really running the CBC. Is it the Board or the minister? And, further, what supervision has been given to the CBC: what instructions have been issued to the officials responsible for programs?

Members of the committee asked that the minutes of the Board of Governors be produced. This was turned down by a committee vote. The minutes would have revealed all broadcasting licenses granted and all increases in power authorized.

There is talk, as well, of summoning the officials in charge of programs and the regional directors to discover if they are satisfied with the existing set-up and, if not, what changes they regard as desirable.

• Initiative Still Russia's

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WHATEVER strategic concept Marshal Timoshenko may have had in hurling his armies against the Kharkov pivot of the Nazi southern front on May 8, the essential fact as the spreading battle enters its third week is that he still holds the initiative.

Hitler has lost another precious two weeks' time if nothing else. To emphasize that loss, the expanding battle in the Ukraine rolls into its third week just one month short of the summer solstice, June 22. That anniversary has more than astronomical meaning for Russia and the world this year. It will be also the beginning of the second year of the Russo-German war. Hitler announced his war on Russia at 5:30 a.m. Berlin time, June 22, 1941.

Whether der Fuehrer thought it fitting to celebrate the longest day of the year by undertaking his greatest military adventure, or the timing of his attack was dictated by more practical considerations, is of no consequence. What does matter is that he started too late.

SPELL BROKEN

Five months later, Nov. 22, the Nazi invasion of Russia reached its high-water mark with the capture of Rostov. Just a week more and the great German retreat had begun at Rostov, a retreat that has been reversed nowhere in the last six months except on Kerch Isthmus.

What might have happened had Germany been able to strike six weeks earlier last year can only be imagined. What did happen definitely broke the spell of mythical invincibility Hitler had so artfully woven to bemuse much of the world. It also largely timed Japan's "day of infamy" at Pearl Harbor nine days after the Nazi retreat from Rostov started, the first German rearward trek of this war.

The Balkan campaign cost Hitler that vital six-week time loss in Russia a year ago. The Timoshenko offensive in the Ukraine has already cost him a two-week time loss this year in exploiting and expanding his success on Kerch Isthmus. To what extent it has also sapped his reserves in tanks, planes and men or compelled further prolonged delay in the launching of the vast new offensive to "annihilate" Russia is yet to be disclosed.

The time element is all important, vastly more important than territory lost or won on Kerch Isthmus or the Kharkov front by either side in the last two weeks. And of hardly less importance is the fact that Timoshenko has retained the initiative, although his westward march toward Dnieper River crossings that, in his hands, would leave the whole German southern flank in the Ukraine and Crimea up in the air has apparently halted at Krasnograd.

WIDENING FRONT

Whether that most dangerous Russian thrust to within three score miles of the vital bridges across the Dnieper was stopped by admittedly stiffening German resistance or held up by the Russian commander for other reasons is not clear. There has been no intimation of heavy fighting in the Krasnograd area in several days.

Instead, Russian attacks are reported to be spreading now from north of Kharkov around Byelgorod to the Taganrog Sea flank, 400 miles southward. Timoshenko appears bent on widening his front of action by holding attacks to protect his Krasnograd position, or on sucking his foes into major action along his whole front prematurely and before they recover from the shock of his break-through south of Kharkov.

London observers suggest the Nazis may be preparing a vast air-borne attack across Kerch Strait to gain a foothold in the Caucasus in the rear of the Rostov-Don front. It is a conceivable operation; but the Crimean gateway to the Caucasus does not offer transportation facilities to sustain a major invasion and the terrain east of Kerch Strait is an even more formidable barrier than the narrow waterway itself.

It is on the mainland, from Taganrog to Kharkov and around the Dnieper crossings, that the crux of the fight must come, and there is still no indication of Nazi ability to regain the long lost initiative.

• Uniform Is No Excuse

MAGISTRATE GALLIGAN of Pembroke showed courage and good sense in putting a fine of $50 and costs upon an army officer caught by the police driving his car at 70 to 85 miles per hour between Pembroke and Petawawa camp.

The maximum legal speed of 40 m.p.h. applies to the Services as well as to civilians, unless the driver is on urgent official business. Hardly anything but news of an enemy landing on the Ottawa river would have justified 85 m.p.h. in this case.

Some men in uniform need to be reminded that they are not above the law. Gasoline and rubber are lost to the war effort just as irreparably by a military car travelling at excessive speed as by a civilian heedless of his duty. In fact one who wears His Majesty's uniform should be particularly careful to observe the law he is helping to save.

Already all military establishments have had official word that the speed limit must be observed except when an emergency demands more than 40 m.p.h., and the courts must back up Headquarters by sharp penalties for offenders.

Public opinion, as much as the police, will enforce this new speed regulation, and public opinion must be convinced there are no tolerated exceptions. Taxi drivers, for instance, must be restrained from illegal and dangerous speed. A readers tells us that the other day he saw a taxi storming across Connaught Place, the driver with a finger on the horn, apparently with a passenger in danger of missing his train. That sort of thing certainly does not encourage the plain citizen on his modest gas ration to adhere rigidly to the rules. —Ottawa Journal.

To The Editor . . .

PAYING FOR FIRE PROTECTION

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Here is a rather amusing way of doing things.

The fire insurance company sells us a protection against loss from fire by selling us a fire insurance policy.

We in turn furnish a hall and equipment, and men to fight the fires, to save the fire insurance company from paying losses.

This does not seem fair. The insurance companies with all the money they have should take over the cost of the protection they enjoy which is now paid by the citizens. They should at least go 50-50.

32-ROOM COTTAGE

The ivy-covered Georgian house on Kew Green, is soon to be the home of the Archbishop of Canterbury, whom we shall know in future as Archbishop Lord Lang. His house stands facing the old parish church of St. Anne's and has a private entrance at the back into Kew Gardens, a delightful privilege of which Lord Laing will no doubt often avail himself.

Though called "King's Cottage," this house is three storeys high with a basement and side wing and has thirty-two rooms. — London Daily Sketch.

'A DANGEROUS ABSURDITL'

THE separatist movement in peacetime had taken absolutely no hold on the masses of French-Canadians. Around 1939 it was dying of ridicule. The doctrines of Abbe Groulx had become a synonym for stupidity. It needed the war and its natural consequence, conscription, to bring us to within a finger's breadth of the rupture of Confederation. The nationalists are full of hope, for they are all separatists of different degrees.... It is a curious thing, but this tendency has never won either the masses nor the really elite of the Province of Quebec. Suggest this solution to our farmers and our labourer and they will laugh in your face. Talk about it to our industrialists, to our business men, to all those who have really succeeded and who have mingled in the great vital currents of America: they will all tell you that your project is a clumsy and dangerous absurdity.

In other words, everything that really counts in the economic and social life of our province rejects instinctively the madness of a free French State on the banks of the St. Lawrence. What is longed for with all our hearts is a great Canadian nation, formed of ethnic elements of the most diverse characters and free from the racial passions which ravage other continents.—Le Jour, (Montreal).

Hard To Believe How Time Flies

MAY 22

1912 General Manager D. McNicholl and other officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway pay a visit to Peterborough.

Steel cages have arrived and will be installed in the temporary police station at Simcoe street.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them....And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good.—Gen. 1, 27, 31.

And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads. And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers harping with their harps: and they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth ....And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God.—Rev. xiv, 1-3, 5.

And there came unto me one of the seven angels which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come hither, I will shew thee the bride, the Lamb's wife.—Rev. xxi, 9.

And he shewed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lamb. In the midst of the street of it, and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, which bare twelve manner of fruits, and yielded her fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God, and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him: and they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads.

And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever.—Rev. xxii, 1-5.

MOBILE DEFENSE

General Sir Archibald Wavell, discarding century-old policy, has reorganized the Army of India into what are described as powerful and competent mobile sections to meet land or sea attack. It is interesting and heartening to observe that the man rated even by the enemy as Britain's ablest commander is putting his faith in a tough, highly mobile defense system of the type advocated years ago by Captain B. H. Liddell Hart. —Brantford Expositor.

A.R.P. Wardens To Meet In Divisions

All air raid wardens are reminded of the special meetings to be held next week by divisions, in which the various posts and information of the six divisions will be taken up by the division, district and post wardens. Wardens should attend the lectures in the divisions in which they are acting as wardens. All the meetings will start at 8 p.m. and are at the following places:

East Ward, No. 5 Division—Wednesday, May 27 Ashburnham Town Hall.

North Ward. No. 4 Division—Thursday May 28, Court House.

Centre Ward, No. 2 Division—Thursday, May 28, Lyceum (downstairs).

North Monaghan, No. 6 Division—Thursday, May 28, May's School.

South Ward No. 1 Division—Thursday, May 28, Knox Church Hall, Reid Street.

West Ward, No. 3 Division—Thursday, May 28, Trinity Church Hall, Reid Street (rear of Clinic).

A special wardens' film will be shown at the Lyceum at 8 o'clock on Tuesday, June 9, for the benefit of the wardens. This film which is being shown at the lectures of the basic course on June 7 and 8, is an English film dealing with the work of wardens from a post up and should be especially educational to wardens in their work. It is expected that a large number of the wardens will attend to see the work of wardens and special arrangements have been made to hold the film over until the Tuesday night.

Wardens are also reminded of the talk to be given by the two Boy Scouts from England now touring Canada under the auspices of the Dominion Government, and who are being brought to Peterborough by the Boy Scouts Association of Peterborough. These boys were decorated by His Majesty King George for their bravery during A.R.P. work in England in the heavy air raids. They will be at the Capitol Theatre at 1:45 p.m. on Sunday, May 24, and the meeting will last until 3 o'clock. A special film will also be shown, and wardens in common with all A.R.P. workers should attend to hear and see the results of A.R.P. work during the bombings.

Train Kills Two

DRINKWATER, aSsk., May 22.—(CP).—Alice and Donald Sanborn, aged 15 and 17 years respectively, children of Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn, Drinkwater, were killed instantly last night when the automobile in which they were driving was struck by a Canadian Pacific railway train a mile east of this town 20 miles southeast of Moose Jaw.

ATHLETE'S FOOT GOES QUICK
Or Money Back

If you have Athlete's Foot, with itching and burning of the feet, and raw, sore cracks between the toes, you should not neglect immediate treatment because this may become a very serious ailment. Go to any Tamblyn Store and get a bottle of Cortisol. Just one application will stop the itching and burning and a few day's use will completely kill the germ causing the infection. Easy and pleasant to use, not expensive. Cortisol is a real formula for Athlete's Foot. Money back if you are not satisfied. Two sizes, 60c and $1.25.—(Advt.)

"NERVES" SHE CALLED IT

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves," she thought — but it was her kidneys, the filters of her blood, that needed attention. Delay meant danger. She took Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, headache, backache, lack of energy, disappeared. 117

Anti TB Vaccine Cuts Child Mortality 55 p.c.

By MAURICE DESJARDINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, May 22—(CP)—Fifteen years spent testing the merits of BCG anti-tuberculosis vaccine, on animals and humans, have convinced Dr. Armand Frappier that the vaccine has become a powerful weapon in the war against tuberculosis.

Dr. Frappier, director of the University of Montreal's Institute of Microbiology and hygiene, said in an interview that in one series of experimental inoculations the vaccine was credited with bringing about a decrease of about 70 per cent in child tuberculosis mortality, with a consequent decrease of 55 per cent in general child mortality.

That particular experiment was carried out in 1926 on a group of Montreal children by Dr. J. A. Baudouin, working under the auspices of the National Research Council of Canada. Dr. Frappier has been studying the action of the vaccine since that time.

(Dr. J. T. Phair, chief medical officer of health in Ontario, said in Toronto recently that his department was awaiting the results of the experiments still underway in Dr. Frappier's laboratories.)

Since 1926, Dr. Frappier has supervised inoculation of more than 60,000 children in the Province of Quebec with BCG (bacillus calmette-guerin) with what he terms "excellent results." The results are still under study.

Try More Each Year.

"We really started rolling in 1936," Dr. Frappier recalled, "when 6,781 children were vaccinated at birth. The number of vaccinations has since shown yearly increases. There were 7,584 in 1937; 8,008 in 1938; 8,492 in 1939; 9,513 in 1940, and an even greater number in 1941."

Study of the BCG method of tuberculosis prevention discovered in 1921 by the French physician Albert Calmette, has been underway in more than 48 countries, he said. More than 3,000,000 children throughout the world have been vaccinated.

Dr. Frappier, who has just taken possession of laboratories in the new university buildings on the slopes of Mount Royal, described the 1926 experiment of Dr. Baudouin as "one of the most important ever conducted on humans," because of the encouragement it gave research workers to continue their study of the vaccine.

"This vaccine," he added, "has successfully withstood the test of time, and now it should be recognized throughout Canada as a powerful ally in the fight against tuberculosis."

Barrymore Sick

HOLLYWOOD, May 22—(AP).—Actor John Barrymore is "very sick" with pneumonia, his physician disclosed today.

The movie, stage and radio star, in poor health for several years, was removed to Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital Tuesday night.

Dr. Hugo Kersten, his physician, commented:

"He is suffering from an abdominal condition resulting from liver and kidney ailments, now complicated by hypostatic pneumonia.

Must Pass Bus For Tire Permit

OTTAWA, May 22.—(CP).—No new tires or tubes will be permitted for buses unless the operator has first obtained an approval from the transit controller, the Munitions and Supply Department stated today.

The statement said only operators of buses registered with the transit controller, and regarded by his office as essential to the economy of a nation at war, will be given the approval. With the necessary approval they will apply to the nearest tire rationing representative for a tire permit. Alan H. Williamson, Controller of Supplies, said a very close check will be kept on the permits granted to bus operators.

The Department also announced that spare tires whether new, retreaded, or used, cannot legally be purchased for vehicles which ordinarily do not carry a spare, or which are not designed to carry a spare.

J. M. Singleton Secretary For Boys At Y.M.

The new boy's work secretary of the Y.M.C.A., J. M. (Mac) Singleton, who has been doing boy's work in both Montreal and Ottawa, has taken hold of things with a vim. He is a man who is intensely interested in his work and his past experience makes him a valuable asset to the Peterborough Asociation.

His work will be with boys up to the age of 16 and there will be the regular gym classes, swimming instruction, club activities, a general recreational program and of course at Camp Kawartha, where he will be a director.

The swimming program for the public and separate schools begins Friday, and so far, from the six public schools they expect 144 pupils. They have still to hear from the others. Each group will receive six lessons and the whole object is to give the boys a chance to be efficient swimmers and also to help conserve life. Boys with this training will be able to help protect themselves if they should ever get in trouble in the water.

Mr. Singleton was born in Kingston and was interested in "Y" work through high school and his two years at Queen's University. He served as a counsellor at the R.K.Y. boys' camp for some years. Then in Ottawa he handled community boys' work and the summer vacation club as well as serving on the staff of two summer camps.

In Montreal, he was associated with the Central Y.M.C.A. and finished his university work at Sir George William's College. His work there, was with the boys in the community of the downtown area from homes of the lower income brackets. These boys were of mixed races, a great many from Central and South European countries. According to Mr. Singleton, the group almost developed into a "league of nations."

He will take his departure for Camp Kawartha at the end of June and there are a couple of other projects under discussion, but definite plans will be announced later.

Attention Captures Metropolitan Handicap

Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention (No. 4) is shown winning the Metropolitan handicap at Belmont Park. The son of Equipoise, with Jockey Don Meade in the saddle, covered the mile in 1.36 2-5 and paid $7 to win. Picton (No. 11) took the place money, with Market Wise (No. 3) finishing third.

Fear Bill's Gift Not To Start In King's Plate

TORONTO, May 22.—(CP)—As post time approaches for the 83rd running of the King's Plate Saturday it appears probable that Bill's Gift, the ranking No. 2 favorite behind Harry Gidding's Ten to Ace, may not start in the classic because of an injury.

The colt, owned by Mrs. R. E. Webster, favored his left fore leg yesterday coming off the Woodbine track after a trial and examination disclosed a swelling of the tendon.

Trainer Jack Hutton still is hopeful of getting the horse into condition but unless the injury responds to treatment during the next 24 hours it seems unlikely the Gift will start. He definitely will be entered officially today though.

Pat Remillard will pilot the Webster hopeful, if and when he starts. Arrangements had been made to have Jockey George Woolf come up from the southern tracks for the job but the injury cancelled the plans.

In the event Bill's Gift doesn't go the post, Depressor, the Medway Stables' representative, is figured to give the Tenner the best run for the King's 50 Guineas and the $8,000 added.

Depressor alone will carry the silks of J. E. Smallman's Medway string. Trainer Leo Woodstock announced yesterday that Khortol, which had been tentatively entered, has been withdrawn.

Official entries will be announced today but the probable starting line-up, exclusive of Bill's Gift, is Ten to Ace, Clocklike, Northswept, Cossack Post, Khortol, Muckle and Valkyrian.

Only three-year-olds foaled in Ontario which have not won a race this year are eligible for the event.

Dean To PerformOnce Again In Wrigley Field

CHICAGO, May 22—(AP).—Dizzy Dean, for whom Chicago Cubs once shelled out $185,000 so he could pitch regularly in Wrigley Field, will do a mound chore in the North Side park Sunday for comparatively small change—his share of the players' kitty from a privately-promoted exhibition game.

Associated with Dean, now a St. Louis radio announcer, on the team which will oppose the topnotch Negro hurler, Lero (Satchel) Paige and his Kansas City Monarchs, will be Bobby Feller, Cecil Travis and Zeke Bonura plus a half-dozen lesser known former major and minor leaguers.

All of the Dean-team players except the Diz and an ex-minor leaguer named Red Johnston now are in the armed forces and of these at least one, Feller, now in the Navy, will turn his share of the cash over to the Navy Relief Fund.

The town is strangely heated up about the game, which threatens to outdraw Sunday's scheduled double-header on the south side between the White Sox and Detroit Tigers. The big attraction is the dusky pitching marvel, Paige, who has never before tossed his smoke-ball inside Wrigley Field.

None of the service men has received special leave for the game. All were due for furloughs and they managed to swing them all at once.

TORONTO May 22.— (CP)— A strong service rugby team in Eastern Canada this year is almost certain.

PO. Bob Fritz, formerly playing coach with Winnipeg and Edmonton teams, is a physical instructor and will train in the East. PO. Lew Hayman, Toronto Argos famous tutor, is one of the same. The coaching problem is settled for an R.C.A.F. team.

Most prominent football player in the army is Fritz Hanson, who probably will be posted to an Eastern camp after completing an officer's training course at Brockville. But that is just skimming the cream. There are dozens of outstanding athletes in the services, with the Air Force holding the upper hand on paper with such stars as Tony Golab and Eddie Thompson.

The situation won't be clarified until about mid-August, but the handwriting is on the barrack-room wall.

Blind Devotion Dept.

A combination of the manpower shortage and good growing weather had a disastrous effect on the sporty nine-hole golf course at Hedley, B.C., this spring. The grass grew so long that balls were being lost in mid-fairway. One day club members canvassed the town for lawn-mowers, found 14, and trimmed every fairway on the 2,325-yard course!

The third game in the City Softball League was scheduled for tonight at the Ashburnham Bowl, wtih the newcomers in the league, the DeLaval team stacked up against Plaza Billiards. The Separators have rounded up a good squad. reports from the south end plant say, and they would like nothing better than to start the campaign with a victory over the hockey club outfit. The latter, of course, are also anxious for a win because they lost the opening game to the Royals and they want to stay within overhauling distance of Manager Roy Parnell's squad. DeLaval are the only club in the loop that have not trotted out their stuff for the fans to look over and tonight's game will provide an opportunity to see how the Separators stack up against the other outfits in the loop. Either Bob Crowe, last season's juvenile pitcher or Tom Parsons, formerly of the Omemee team will be on the firing line for the Plazas with Starr behind the bat while the De Laval club will have Bill Lewis pitching and Patterson on the receiving end.

The official opening of Peterborough's two big golf clubs will feature the Victoria Day week-end. The lid will be officially pried off the season at both the Peterborough Golf and Country Club and the Kawartha Club and a big gathering of players is expected at both links. The Peterborough opening is Saturday afternoon with a field day and will be followed by the annual first-of-the-season dinner. Kawartha will have its official launching of the season on Monday when there will be a two-ball mixed foursome event in the afternoon, followed by a dance at night. The attendance at both clubs is expected to set a reord as more folk will be remaining in town over the holid ay week-end than is usually the case. Both courses are said to be in excellent shape.

The First Pro Game

Thirty years ago today was quite a day in Peterborough baseball history. It was on May 22, 1912, that the first professional ball game ever staged in Peterborough was played at Riverside Park. The White Caps, as the Peterborough club in the Canadian Professional League was called, had opened away from home and had had a disastrous road trip, with the result that they came home to open the local season with St. Thomas as their guests, with a record that did not show a single win. However interest in Peterborough was keen. The fans had heard about this professional venture ever since the previous fall and they wanted to get a look at the Peterborough team in action. Unfortunately it had been raining for seven or eight days and on the morning of opening day, 30 years ago today, the showers were still coming down and chances for baseball looked slim. However the rain stopped about noon and it was decided to go ahead on a field heavy with mud, over which sawdust was sprinkled profusely. Many fans were fooled. They did not think there was a chance to play but anyway 800 of them turned up on a dark Wednesday afternoon.

* * * * * *

There was a procession of both teams and civic dignitaries in horse-drawn carriages to Riverside Park and there the 57th Band performed. The late J. H. Burnham made a speech, the late Ald. Anderson pitched the first ball and the late W. H. Denham, president of the Peterborough club swung the bat. Wm. McIlroy, C.P.R. agent now in California was catcher and E. G. Patterson, works manager of the C.G.E. officiated as umpire. Then the Petes went out and dropped the ball game to St. Thomas, 9 to 6. The railroaders scored three runs in the eighth and another trio in the ninth to take the win over big Bill Schaeffer who did the tossing for the Peterborough club. The chief bright spot from the standpoint of the home enthusiasts was that Catcher Irvin Trout and Centrefielder Jimmy Beard wafted homers over the left field fence, Beard's coming in the ninth with two runners on ahead of him.

Bonham Sensational

Ernie Bonham of the New York Yanks continues to be the pitching sensation of the big leagues. The big right-hander goes on winning and each time out his triumph is the result of superb tossing. Give him a run and he'll win you a ball game. That was what happened yesterday. His teammates could nick only a solitary counter off the smart pitching of Edgar Smith of the Chicago White Sox. But that was plenty. Bonham yielded only three hits and shut the Dykesmen out to win 1 to 0. It was his sixth win of the campaign as against no defeats. Phil Marchildon, pride of Penetang kept pace with the Yanks' ace yesterday so far as wins are concerned for he picked off his sixth triumph at the expense of the Detroit Tigers. The former Toronto right-hander has however lost three games this season but then he's pitching for the A's and not the Yanks and that makes a little difference. Marchildon had no trouble yesterday. He allowed the Tigers only six hits and the Athletics won 11 to 3, making seventeen blows off the delivery of Trout, Fuchs, and Manders. Barney McCosky and Blair cuffed homers.

* * * * * *

Yesterday was a bad day for the home clubs in the American League. All four outfits playing before their fellow townsmen took it on the chin. Boston Red Sox hit the Cleveland Indians an 8 to 3 licking where it hurt the worst and as a result the Indians are now a game and a half in arrears. Hughson stopped the Cleveland attack at four hits while the Red Sox got twice as many blows including a two-run homer by Ted Williams. Mel Harder was marked with the loss. Cleveland used both Joe Kraukaukas and Kennedy after Harder wobbled.

* * * * * *

In the fourth American League game the Washington Senators pulled off something that most clubs would find it hard to get away with. They had six fielding misplays and yet walloped the St. Louis Browns 5 to 2, helped by Estelella's fifth homer of the season. Muncrief was the losing St. Louis twirler. There was only one game in the National League and that saw the Cincinnati Reds beaten 3 to 2 by the Phillies in a neat pitching duel between Johnston for the winners and Paul Derringer for the Reds. A homer by Eddie Joost whose batting average for the season is far from impressive was the deciding factor. The Phils had a tough break in winning the argument. Dan Murtaugh, their hard-hitting rookie infielder was hit on the chin by a batted ball and the cut that resulted required five stitches to close.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Ernie Bonham, Yankees—Pitched three-hit shutout over White Sox for fourth white-washing and sixth straight triumph.

Phil Marchildon and Lou Blair, Athletics — Former stopped Tigers with six-hit hurling and latter topped 17-hit attack with grand slam home run.

Danny Litwhiler and Nick Etten, Phils—Their triples played big part in victory over Reds.

Tex Hughson, Red Sox—Checked Indians with seven-hit pitching.

Stand Pat's Race Still Haunt Woolf, Azucar

TORONTO, May 22 — Georgie Woolf, the hard-riding son of the Western plains, who parleyed "Leafy Roof" half-mile track experiences into important mounts and headlines on the "Big Apple," misses that chance to get ahead of the shadows cast across his path by Stand Pat.

Woolf, one of America's top money riders for many years, had been invited to ride Mrs. R. E. Webster's Bill's Gift in the King's Plate Saturday.

But Appas Tappas, The Globe and Mail turf expert, tells us Bill's Gift, suffering from the miseries, may not go to the post, and that Woolf has called off a proposed trip to Toronto.

So the Cardston, Alberta, pigskin booter wiped out a romantic picture by passing up the Woodbine excursion, and his first King's Plate voyage. Say he had ridden Bill's Gift, had beaten out Ten to Ace for the Guineas.

Ten to Ace, the hottest Plate proposition in many a day, judging from the pre-race sing song, happens to be a son of Stand Pat, which wrecked an afternoon for Woolf and many others just seven years ago this month. Therein lies a story.

The turf world picked up its ears, gasped in utter amazement when a former steeplechaser, Azucar, carried the silks of Fred M. Alger Jr. to victory in the first running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. Outfooted the celebrated Ladysman and Time Supply, by gosh! And harvested $108,400, the richest purse in the history of racing on this continent. Lex Wilson, a St. Marys, Ontario, boy and former steeplechase rider, was the Alger trainer and responsible for taking the hedge hops out of Azucar's sturdy but ageing lambs for flat racing. Azucar was seven when he knocked Santa Anita customers right from under their sombreros.

George Woolf was the jockey.

Picturesque Tale.

A picturesque tale of breeding and racing was woven around Azucar as a result of the Santa Anita golden gallop. Seldom in the history of racing had a horse been wooed away from the hurdles or the steeplechase fences to find glory on the flat. None had ever quit hedge-hopping to go thundering up a home stretch for a bundle of gold in such spectacular fashion. Only Azucar, which is Spanish for sugar.

Azucar's proud Detroit owners wanted to parade the latest turf sensation before the home folks. For sentimental reasons it was arranged to enter the ex-steeplechaser in the Colonel Alger Memorial Handicap at Detroit Fair Grounds Decoration Day, May 30, 1935. It promised to be an impressive homecoming show for all concerned. Jockey George Woolf was brought in from Chicago by plane for the riding engagement.

Twenty thousand fans jammed the Detroit track for theoccasion. Bright sunshine, smart women, beautiful clothes. Everything.

Everything, that is, except that Azucar didn't win.

That's where Stand Pat comes in. Owned at that time by the E. F. Seagram racing establishment of Waterloo, Stand Pat was shipped to Detroit for major engagements, along with other substantial Canadian interests. He was in the Azucar home-coming feature.

Jockey Frankie Mann took Stand Pat to the starting gate, with the proud Azucar leading the parade of five sturdy thoroughbreds. It was the only time the sugar horse was on the front end. Stand Pat was away on top as the gate was sprung. Opened up a two-length lead swinging past the big crowd in the mile and a sixteenth event. Azucar was fourth. Always in front, Stand Pat won by almost three lengths. Through the stretch Azucar closed strongly, overhauled Cross Ruff by a nose to finish second.

The sugar horse never really found his Santa Anita form again. He was third in the same event the next year, second in 1937.

Woolf beat Stand Pat at Santa Anita in 1937, but not with Azucar. He won with Boxthorn in the San Felipe Handicap. Pat was third.

Now Woolf and Bill's Gift blot out the dreamy picture of catching up with the shadow of Stand Pat that Ten To Ace swings across the 1942 King's Plate panorama for his celebrated sire.

The revenge of Azucar must wait.

NEW YORK, May 22.—(AP)—Rationalizing the rations: While the Navy is pleading for more competitive athletics to toughten up prospective sailors and fliers, a good many eastern colleges are scrapping their sports programs because they can't get the gas or buses to transport athletes to out-of-town games . . . what's the matter with giving them carfare and telling them to be on deck by game time? . . . Judging by our experiences as a commuter, they'd be plenty tough after a few trips on common carriers . . . since race hosses can't get sugar cards, a lot of them are getting the tobacco habit—and some like a chaw so well they'll reach right into their handlers' pockets for it.

Canadian Boosts Bermuda's Sport

By FORD BAXTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 21.—(CP)—Frank T. Maxwell of St. Thomas, Ont., is one of the main cogs in the organization to promote sports in Bermuda for men of the services—British and American—and defence workers.

Maxwell's job here is sports director for the Bermuda Base Contractors which means that he arranges athletic programs and organizes various sports leagues for the base workers at the East End, mainly at St. David's and St. George's Islands. He has been so successful that the West End base workers at King's Point (near Hamilton) have been complaining that their recreational facilities are meagre in comparison.

The Canadian director before coming to Bermuda a few months ago, was the No. 1 driver with the British-American Ambulance Corporation in the United States. During the time that Mr. Maxwell was with the corporation over $1,500,000 was raised for the purchase of ambulances and crash wagons, as well as other equipment for the mother country.

Maxwell toured the United States to raise funds for the purchase of such "tools of warfare" and during his travels he covered a vast area of the Eastern States, east of the Mississippi River, from Georgia northward, as well as the Canadian Maritime provinces and Quebec and Ontario.

Started Basketball

Upon his arrival in Bermuda Mr. Maxwell surveyed the local field as to sports possibilities and quickly formed a basketball league among base workers and army and navy units.

The games are played on the only indoor basketball court in Bermuda in the St. David's Recreation Hall—built in conjunction with the base projects. It was the first time the game had been played here. Now matches are a weekly feature.

To date the most ambitious undertaking by Mr. Maxwell has been the promotion, in co-operation with army personnel, of a series of fortnightly boxing programs which have aroused great enthusiasm among the soldiers, sailors and base workers. Close to 3,000 fans have patronized the three shows already staged at St. David'.

In addition to these activities, Mr. Maxwell has sponsored several large concerts at the Recreation Hall turning the funds over to war charities.

Special Match Is Planned Monday, May 25

Plans were drawn up for the opening day at the Kawartha Golf Club, May 25, at a special meeting of all the committees Thursday night.

The opening will take place at 2 p.m. when it is expected that one of the largest two-ball foursome tournaments in the history of the club will take place. A draw will be made by the handicap committee to decide about partners. All members will receive a telpehone call from a member of the special events committee to get their decision.

After the match the entertainment committee has planned a buffet supper and a dance. "Just wear your golf togs to meet your fellow members," the committee warns.

The first competition of the new season is the Kawartha Cup. Since this is a handicap match, members have until May 31, to qualify. This can be done by asking Pro Lee Robson for a qualifying score card for the Kawartha Cup.

Royals Trounce Wings 3 to 0 Behind Shierer

By The Associated Press.

The saying is, "When it rains it pours" may be well applied to Rochester Red Wings, cellar occupants of the International League.

The Wings just aren't getting the breaks. When the pitchers turn in a good performance, the hitters are in a slump. And when the batters are connecting, the hurlers bog down.

Yesterday in an attempt to bolster the team's attack, Manager Tony Kaufmann inserted Outfielder Ervin Dusak at shortstop. This move was in vain as the Wings lost to Montreal, 3-0, extending their losing streak to eight in a row.

Al Sherer set down the Birds with three hits. He retired the last 20 men in order.

Montreal took the lead in the first inning when Tom Tatum singled, and scored on Jack Graham's double. They added another in the seventh, when after Tatum walked, Gene Moore brought him home with a three-bagger. In the eighth Les Burge singled, went to second as Cliff Dapper sacrificed, advanced to third on an infield out, and scored on Dusak's error.

The triumph was Montreal's sixth straight, advancing the Royals to within 2½ games of the league-leading Newark Bears.

In the only other game played, Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Buffalo Bisons, 7-4. The victory moved the Leafs into a fourth-place tie with the Jersey City Giants. Bill Brandt, Toronto starter, was relieved by Harry Shuman in the ninth, but was credited with the win his sixth of the year.

Al Rubeling of the Leafs and Mike Rocco of the Bisons hit home runs.

The Syracuse-Newark, and Jersey City-Baltimore games were postponed.

Yankees Upset Sox Streak In 1-0 Victory

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

New York Yankees seem to win their pennants by breaking the hearts as well as the backs of their rivals.

This year Chicago White Sox were supposed to be one of these rivals, but the Sox couldn't get going and they languished in the American League cellar while the other clubs drew away from them.

Then Chicago started winning and pieced together a surprising winning streak of seven games to get out of the dark for one fleeting day—until the Yanks blew into town and burst the bubble.

Yesterday the Sox sent out to the mound a chunky, tow-headed southpaw named Ed Smith, who hadn't won a game this year and had been beaten five times. Smith pitched well, held the world champions to one run, and still they beat him.

It as Smith's misfortune to have to match his 0-5 record against the 5-0 start of the Yankee hurling corps, Ernest (Tiny) Bonham, the big righthander, who promptly pitched his fourth shutout of the season.

The 1-0 score was determined in the fourth inning when Smith walked Buddy Rosar with the bases loaded to force in a run. Buddy Hassett had singled, Tom Henrich doubled and Joe DiMaggio walked to fill the sacks. Then Smith fanned Charley Keller and Joe Gordon almost to get out of trouble.

Bonham allowed only three hits, two of them bunts, and all in the first three innings. He issued only one walk—his fifth in six games. The big start now has allowed only one run in his last 36 innings.

Other Good Hurling

There as good pitching in all the day's other games, too.

Sid Budson pitched six-hit ball to lead Washington Senators to a 5-2 verdict over St. Louis Browns although his teammates almost sabotaged the job with six errors. A two-run homer by Bob Estalella in the fifth helped take the pressure off him.

Phil Marchildon, the Penetanguishene, Ont., native who is looming as one of this season's finest flingers held Detroit Tigers to six hits as Philadelphia Athletics hammered three pitchers for 17 blows and an 11-3 triumph that lifted the A's into fifth place. Lou Blair led the attack with a grandslam homer in the fifth and a double and single. The victory was Marchildon's sixth against three defeats.

Rookie Tex Hughson pitched seven-hit ball for Boston Red Sox against Cleveland Indians and Ted Williams drove in four runs, two of them on his ninth home run of the season, for an 8-3 victory.

Only one game in the National League escaped the weather and in this Philadelphia Phils nosed out Cincinnati Reds 3-2 as Si Johnson bested Paul Derringer in a hurling duel.

Pastor Figures Mauriello Just Routine

NEW YORK, May 22 — (AP). — That Bob Pastor man is in again.

The ex-New York University footballer, who has made a career out of fighting Joe Louis, tangles with Tami Mauriello a growing boy from the Bronx, in Madison Square Garden to-night in what may be the final hurdle in his campaign for a third meeting with the Brown Bomber.

He Should Be There.

Of course, that third get-together with the head man still depends upon the Army and its decision as to whether Private Joe will be allowed out to toss a few punches. But if it happens, Bob's the guy who'll be the party of the second—or receiving—part, provided he takes care of Tami in the approved manner.

Bob figures to run right over Mauriello. The oddsmakers will just about let you write your own ticket if you'd care to invest on the square-jawed youngster who has grown up from middleweight to big-boy size in the last year.

Just about fourteen months ago he fought Billy Soose when Billy was the middleweight champion. Then he twice tried to take Gus Lesnevich's light-heavyweight crown, last August and aagin in November. In recent months he's moved in among the dreadnoughts, and he brings a record of six straight kayoes over them into his fight with Rapid Robert.

This corner tabs Pastor to gallop off with the ten-round decision, even if Manager Jimmy Johnston doesn't say a word. But if you're superstitious, you'll recall that twice in the past Pastor came up to what were supposed to be easy matches on his way to a title shot, and each time wound up on the surprise end of a surprise party. These were against Natie Mann in 1937 and Gus Dorazio in '38.

Riding along on an eleven-fight winning streak, Bob now has the fans coming out to see him too, as a result of his recent victory over Lesnevich. For years, he was the local boy the local fans couldn't see, but off his Lesnevich victory and his neat jobs in disposing of Lem Franklin and Jimmy Bivins in recent outings, the chances are a crowd of some 12,000 will chip in to a gross gate of $30,000 or so.

Want Horsemen Give Charity 5 p.c. Of Purses

TORONTO, May 22—(CP)—Sponsored by the Thoroughbred Breeders Association, a move was under way today to have every Ontario race horse owner, regardless of whether he belongs to the Association, adopt the T.B.A. proposal for donating five per cent of all purse money this year to war charities.

Introducing a resolution directing race track secretaries "to deduct five per cent of all purses for the year 1942, such sums to be forwarded to the Hon. J. T. Thorson, Minister of National War Services, as their contribution to the war effort" president Ryland H. New said it was time for immediate action. The resolution added it was hoped that track operators would follow a similar course.

Petitions providing for the five-per-cent contribution will be circulated to all horsemen for signing and these will be returned to a meeting of the T.B.A. Tuesday night. The Petitions provide that the track secretaries withhold the five per cent and at the end of each meeting forward to the secretary of the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association of Canada a cheque payable to Mr. Thorson.

Teachers Claim $1,000 Salary Real Minimum

LAKEFIELD, May 22—(ENS).—Music and discussio s in mathematics featured an instructive session by the urban teachers of Havelock, Norwood, May's, Confederation and Lakefield, in the Public School here on May 19. Taking the place of county teachers' conventions for the duration, these groups meet at the various schools in the section for the discussions of the various problems that arise from 'ay to day.

Music Instructor McKinney of Peterborough ormal School, introduced by President John Thexton of May's School, centred an interesting address around folk songs and dances. "Words are the language of the brain," said Mr. McKinney, "but music is the language of the heart. Folk songs are perfect and our modern composers have shown inability to improve on them. These folk songs and dances for both young and old should be a feature in our own schools, as they develop a sense of rhythm, fine feeling and good music. Negro spirituals are outstanding in America's contributions expressing themselves chiefly in religious songs. The English, Irish and Scotch folk music bubble with good humor and is rarely vulgar.

Into Mathematics.

Principal E. G. Sloan of Lakefield delved into mathematics with teachers of Grades 5, 6, 7, 8. He stressed maintaining the interest of the child, loss of interest being the result of poor presentation of the subject. Confidence ranked next. A child to succeed must have problems which rouse his best, but must not be above his capacity.

Accuracy was placed high. Much work must be mental. Difficulties with each child should be cleared up as they go, never let hang fire as the child who fails to grasp some one phase soon becomes hopelessly bewildered.

Inspector Leo Copp emphasized that teachers receiving new pupils must be fully informed as to the new pupils' standing in each subject.

Miss Eilane Young conducted a debate on mathematics, natural science, English, art and social studies, with teachers of Grades 3 and 4.

Teachers of Grades 1 and 2 discussed problems of the junior grades at length under the leadership of Miss Vera Squire. As a sample of the problems these teachers handle the subjects ranged from pencil-eaters, tiny tots' arithmetic, lazy youngsters, promotion during the term and class interest while the teacher is reading.

Overcrowded schoolrooms, jump in living costs, brought unanimous decision that a thousand dollar salary should be the minimum for any teacher.

Lakefield Public School staff served lunch, and the next session will be held at Confederation School.

To Serve Uncle Sam

Back to the U.S. to serve under the American flag will go a good proportion of U.S.-born airmen now serving in the R.C.A.F. A sergeant-pilot is pictured here signing his application for a transfer. All transfers are handled by the Canadian-American military board now touring the Dominion.

ment of Thursday that there would be no heating by oil next winter in Canadian homes or factories.

In answer to a question by D. G. Ross (Con Toronto-St. Paul's) the Munitions Minister said study of the oil fuel problem had not been completed yet.

He said "there is no doubt in the world that those who have converted coal furnaces into oil will be required to convert them back to coal." As for furnaces installed to burn oil, he added "We will endeavor to protect the supply, for the reason that it is not practical to build furnaces and supply them for occasions of that kind."

Oil For Non-Convertible Units

Mr. Howe told the House "a statement will be made on the whole situation for the next winter in the course of a week or two. In the meantime I would like to correct the statement I made yesterday to that extent, that an effort will be made to protect the oil installation which cannot be converted to coal."

Today the House is scheduled to take up second reading of government bills so some business will be available for the Senate when the Upper Chamber meets next Tuesday. First Bill to be considered is a measure to repeal the Naptha and Petroleum Act.

Mr. Howe told the House yesterday many of the problems which Canada's aircraft industry is facing are due to growing pains. Mr. Douglas had said that he had received reports from workers who said they had been deliberately slowed down in production.

Mr. Noseworthy also asked why production had been reduced in Toronto plants and Mr. Diefenbaker enquired of the Minister whether it was a falling off in production that had led to the appointment of a morale builder for the industry.

Mr. Howe said retooling was in process at a number of plants and production of obsolete types was tapering off. Among new type machines which the Minister said would soon be in production were four-motored bombers, a secret two-motored craft capable of flying the Atlantic and a torpedo plane.

Keeping Up to the Minute.

"The reason we are not producing more planes is the fact we are constantly reaching out for a larger industry," Mr. Howe said.

"We could have closed the door on expansion six months ago and had a very satisfactory industry to-day with plants on a three-shift basis and production coming out in a streamlined way, but we have tried to keep abreast with new developments in the war and take on new types of production rather than go on making planes which were becoming obsolete."

By getting more advanced types of aircraft Britain gained air control while she had fewer planes than the enemy, Mr. Howe said.

The Canadian aircraft industry was developing designers, Mr. Howe told the committee. So far the only machine designed in Canada was the Fleet-60 trainer but modifications were made by Canadian designers in British plants to meet Canadian manufacturing requirements.

"I think that if occasion calls for the designing of a new type plane in Canada we have people who are competent to do it," he added.

The munitions minister said the Dominion's aircraft industry was 'making tremendous strides' and that production was increasing every week.

Steel Up Five Times

Questioned by H. R. Jackson (Con. Toronto-Rosedale) on Canada's steel production Mr. Howe said Canada's increase of 50 per cent in billets was unequalled in the basic steel producing countries of the world. In alloy steel the Dominion had gone farther and had multiplied her pre-war capacity five or six times. Aluminum production has been increased five times.

Changing conditions of war had necessitated expansion in directions that were not anticipated in the early stages of the war. A well considered chart had been followed in raw materials and had proven essential to the munitions program.

"However we have not proceeded timidly, rather we have proceeded boldly," the minister continued. "We have stretched our resources, as we think, to their limit. Under these conditions it is not surprising that the increase in raw products sometimes gets out of step with the increase in finished goods."

On the subject of morale among war workers Mrs. Nielsen said sickness and industrial accidents were reponsible for far more lost time than strikes. General welfare of the workers should be the approach to improving morale.

Mr. Blackmore also urged that labor be given a partnership position in the control of war industry and should have rights of organization and collective bargaining carefully protected.

Mr. Douglas also supported the idea of labor partnership, saying the plan offered a reservoir of skill which the government has not yet began to tap.

decide what steps the honor and dignity of the country demand."

The protest had been submitted through the Swedish Government, because Mexico severed relations with Japan, Italy and Germany last December following the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

At that time the President declared Mexico's place "for the time being" was in the fields and factories rather than on the battlefields, and Mexico has since been pursuing a policy of economic aid to the United States.

Nine other Latin-American countries already have declared war against the Axis and all but two of the South American nations—Chile and Argentina—have severed relations with the tri-partite powers.

Those which have declared war are Costa Rica the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, Haiti, and Cuba.

Mexicans gave vent yesterday to their feelings over the sinking of the Potrero Del Llano when 10,000 persons gathered at the International Bridge at Nuevo Laredo as the 22 survivors of the ship crossed into Mexico from the United States with the body of one of the 14 men killed. Two thousand children tossed flowers in their path.

Cattle Shift Up In Active Trade, Hogs Hold Steady

TORONTO, May 22—(CP)—Cattle prices were 25 to 50 cents higher on a moderate run in trade at the livestock market here this week. Hogs, sheep and lambs held steady. Veal calves were up 50 cents.

Buyers from Montreal took about 700 head of cattle off the Toronto market. Trade was active from the opening with new highs made on all grades. Weighty steers sold at $11 to $12 with a few at $12.25. Butcher steers were $10.50 to $11.75 with a few at $12. Heifers sold at $10 to $11.25 with a few at $11.50. Fed calves were $10.75 to $12.50. Butcher cows sold most $8 to $10. Bulls sold at $8.50 to $10. Light stockers brought $9 to $10.50 with stock calves up to $11.50. Good milkers and springers sold at $100 to $125 each.

Veal calves were $14 to $15 for choice with common lights downward to $8 and the bulk of sales between $11 and $14.

Hogs were unchanged for the week at $15.25 dressed with sows at $11.25 dressed. Feeders sold at $11 to $11.50 liveweight with a deduction of $2.50 per head.

Sheep sold steady in small lots at $5 to $8.50 cwt. according to quality. A few common to medium feed-lot lambs sold at $11 to $13 cwt. Spring lambs were more plentiful and were sold readily at $9 to $14 each.

DINAH JANE CLARK

HAVELOCK, May 22.—(ENS)—The death occurred in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on Sunday evening of a life-long resident of Belmont Township, in the person of Dinah Jane Pacey, wife of the late James Clark. She was in her 71st year, and had been ill for some time, before going to Peterborough Hospital. She was born at Rush Point, five miles north of Havelock, and after her marriage to Mr. Clark moved to near Preneveau, where she had resided for the past 48 years.

She leaves to mourn her loss a family of six namely (Elsie) Mrs. Harold Salter, (Bessie) Mrs. Cephus McGowan, both of Belmont, (May) Mrs. William Hinds, Wellman's Corners, (Mellie) Mrs. Frank Johnson, Winnipeg, Ronald of Belmont and Gunner George on Active Service in England. One sister, Mrs. Mrs. John Williams, Napanee, and a brother, Caleb Pacey of Alberta, also survive.

The funeral, which was largely attended was held on Tuesday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. H. Salter, with service being conducted by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson of the Havelock United Church at 2 p.m.

Pallbearers were all neighbors, Messrs. George Mack, Joseph Seabrook, Leonard Keene, George Hartin, James McMillan and John Lloyd. Interment was at Pine Grove Cemetery.

THOMAS PETHERICK

HAVELOCK, May 22.—(ENS)—Another pioneer citizen of Belmont Township passed away on Tuesday evening in the person of Thomas Petherick.

He was in his 85th year and had been in poor health for some time. The late Mr. Petherick was born in Percy Township and came to Belmont 67 years ago and took up residence at Rush Point. He lived a quiet life and was a kind friend and neighbor. He was a staunch Conservative in politics and in religion he was a member of the old Methodist Church, later the United.

Many of the joys of life were denied him of late years when he lost his eyesight.

He leaves to murn his loss, two sisters, Mrs. Thomas McConnell, Norwood and Mrs. J. R. Alley, Gilbert Plains, Manitoba, and two brothers, Matthews and Wesley, both of Belmont.

The funeral, which was largely attended was held from his late residence in Belmont on Thursday afternoon with services being conducted by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson of the Havelock United Church.

Pallbearers were: Alfred and Ernest Spencer of Havelock, Wilfred and Herbert Spencer of Rylstone, William Spencer of Frankford and Frank Spencer of Campbellford, with interment at Maple Grove Cemetery.

MRS. EFFIE J. WILSON.

TWEED, May 21.—(ENS).—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Effie J. Wilson, who passed away on Monday, was held at her late residence on Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Kenneth Stewart of the United church.

The bearers were Clifford Green, Melville Donnan, Phil Carr, Alex McCurdy Don Fargey, and Charles Fargey.

Interment was in the family plot in the West Huntingdon cemetery.

MRS. HELEN MARY GOWDY.

TWEED, May 22.—(ENS).— The death occurred on Wednesday at her home near Thomasburg of Mrs. Helen Mary Gowdy, widow of the late John Gowdy, after an illness of four months. She was in her 74th year.

The late Mrs. Gowdy was born in Actinolite and resided in Madoc and Hungerford townships all her life. Her husband predeceased her four years ago. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Love of Actinolite.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Norman Miller, Madoc; Miss Daisy Gowdy, Toronto; and Miss Grace Gowdy, at home; two brothers William Love, Madoc; and Albert Love Moose Jaw, Sask., and one sister Mrs. William McKay, Belleville.

For a week official reports concerning Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's onslaught, launched while Axis invaders of the Crimea struck eastward along the Kerch Peninsula 400 miles to the south, had followed a general pattern set by the announcement May 13:

'In the Kharkov direction of the front our troops took the offensive and are successfully advancing."

The account of battle developments yesterday said enemy attacks were repulsed in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector south-east of Kharkov and that "fighting continued on the eastern part of the Kerch Peninsula."

65 Planes Downed.

Sixty-five German planes were shot down on Wednesday, against a Russian loss of 23, and the Red Air Force was credited with destroying or damaging 74 Nazi tanks, 273 trucks with troops and supplies, 51 ammunition wagons and 31 guns that day.

The Information Bureau announced guerillas had killed more than 3,000 Germans in the area of Smolensk, which is near the border of Nazi-occupied White Russia. The Communist Party newspaper Pravda reported yesterday that irregulars had captured a White Russian city of several thousand population.

(Informed Britons said well-equipped Polish army units, formerly based in Scotland, had arrived in Russia to fight the Germans again alongside other Poles who once were Soviet war prisoners.)

The Army newspaper Red Star forecast that Hitler's invaders would seek to link the isolated strong points which they defended through the winter campaign—scattered between Taganrog and entrenchments before Leningrad—and "build a continuous front."

It urged a study of the new defences for soft spots.

Marmora News

Mrs. Tom Moffatt and daughter Brenda of Oshawa are visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Burridge.

Mrs. Harold Nayler spent a few days in Toronto this week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wells have returned home after spending a few days in Toronto.

The guest of honor received the presentation of a purse of money. Music for dancing was furnished by Howard Linton. Choice refreshments were served in course of an enjoyable evening.

Canvass Planned To Clear Off Parsonage Debt

LAKEFIELD, May 22—(ENS).—Regent Street United Church Women's Association held their June meeting in the Sunday school room on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was in charge of Group 'D' and Miss Maragret Sanderson presided.

Mrs. A. R. Kingdon read the scripture lesson and Miss Sanderson the lesson thought for the month. Miss Nellie Webster led in prayer, and in the absence of the pianist, Mrs. J. R. Hull, Mrs. Arthur Carveth was at the piano.

Mrs. J. Murphy was in charge of the business session and Mrs. D. A. Allen read correspondence from the sick and shut-ins.

The conveners of each group were asked to make a special effort to have the first six months of the five cents a week envelopes collected by the June meeting a week earlier than usual.

Rev. G. F. Kelly gave a report of the official board meeting, and a committee of ladies was named to help the men on a special canvass to rid the church of the debt on the parsonage. A social half hour was then spent.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

DO IT YOURSELF.

For the folks who have made a pastime of collecting shells from the beach, there is now a fine opportunity to keep pace with the most up-to-date styles. The latest thing in jewelry is the popularization of gaudy shell necklaces, and if there are some shells lying around the house just string 'em together and go to work with a paint brush and the result will be the equal of any New York creation.

CARELESSNESS.

Some of the recent bicycle mishaps may not all have been the fault of the motorists. A young lad coming to the corner of George and Hunter streets started across against the lights and then heedless of the onrush of cars around him, turned his back to the traffic to converse with a pal on the sidewalk, trusting that a special providence would look after him. It did, but another time he might not have been so fortunate.

A KINDLY WOMAN

Paige Rowell reported to the Red Cross and Community Fund headquarters this morning that an elderly woman in this city has sent him a ten dollar bill "to help you get away from being the goat." On Friday evening ownership of the goat will change, as Mr. Rowell will be given the privilege of handing the goat over to the team captain whose team total is the lowest.

RAIN TWICE NORMAL.

Rainfall for the month up to 6 a.m. to-day was 4½ inches, A. O. Phillips, official recorder, informed the Examiner to-day. The average for May over a period of forty years has been 2.48 inches. Add half an inch for to-day's contribution from the sky and the total for twenty-two days is 5 inches, approximately more than twice the normal precipitation for May.

WAR STAMP SALES

Sale of stamps at the Peterborough Collegiate dropped below the objective of $250 this week for the first time since the well planned campaign got underway quite some time ago. Sale of stamps amounted to $235 and sale of certificates to $8. Pressure of springtime work, and loss of students to war time industrial jobs is believed responsible for the slump.

BOWLING AGAIN

It is easy to tell that the lawn bowling season will be opening on May 25. Two old cronies were on the main thoroughfare with a copy of the rules and regulations, pouring over them carefully, and discussing the pros and cons with great vigor.

COLLAPSED ON STREET.

A middle-aged Louis Street man took a weak spell near the corner of Hunter and Queen Streets and collapsed on the sidewalk, shortly after 1 o'clock today. After Dr. Bob Young had been called the man was removed to his home.

THE WRONG MAN.

W. E. Foley, Wartime Prices and Trade Board representative in Peterborough has received many enquiries on gasoline rationing from Peterborough people. He has nothing to do with this branch of wartime economy, and all enquiries should be addressed to the Oil Controller in Toronto. If your ration card has been dropped to a lower category, Mr. Foley can do nothing about it.

ANOTHER GROUP CONTRIBUTES

Members of the Inspection Board of the United Kingdom and Canadian in local war industries have requested inclusion in the Red Cross and Community Fund as an industry. There are more than 100 all told including students and this group will be a substantial addition in the matter of contributions. H. M. Dunkerley is contact man for the group.

BOYS COLLECT MAGAZINES

In gallant response to an appeal for magazines and other reading material for the Prince of Wales Rangers at Niagara-on-the-Lake, over 3,000 magazines were sent by the Peter Robinson chapter during the past three days. The greater part of these magazines, nearly all in fact, were collected by the boys at Queen Mary School and the collection was organized by three boys, Jack Matthews, Edwin Nicholson and John Clarke.

BICYCLE LICENSES HERE

The police department is once more issuing bicycle licenses. A shipment of 1,000 plates has arrived and bicycle-owners who have not yet secured licenses are asked to do so at once as the enforcing of the by-law will be commenced shortly. The original supply of 3,000 licenses was exhausted some time ago.

FALLS FROM AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, wife of Gerald Fitzgerald, Parnell street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for observation early this morning after she had been rendered unconscious after a fall from her husband's automobile. The machine was making a turn into a driveway on Park street, when Mrs. Fitzgerald fell out. She was found to be not seriously hurt.

ESCAPES FROM TRAIN

After being arrested at London on a charge of being absent without leave an Indian soldier who was being taken back to Petawawa Camp by a military escort, escaped from a C.P.R. passenger train when it stopped at the Havelock station at 2.30 o'clock this morning. The wanted soldier is still at large.

Community Fund Red Cross Drive Reaches $50,122

On Thursday evening, a total of $50,122 had been piled up in the Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, and officials were hopeful that by the time final reports were given at the closing dinner in the Empress Hotel this evening, the objective would be over-subscribed.

The dinner is set for 6:15 and at that time team captains will be asked to submit complete reports. These totals will probably be complete in every divison except that of the Retail section, headed by W. C. Hughes, whose captains have had far too many call-backs and it looks as if the complete total on the Retail division will not be in until Tuesday. On the other hand, the Women's Division whose objective was set at $3,000 is reported as being over the top by more than $1,000. These women have gone to bat in grand style headed by Mrs. Paige Rowell, and Mrs. John R. Marshall, and the enthusiasm shown by the team captains and canvassers has been of a high order.

Gordon Matthews reported that the Special Names committee with a campaign quota of $20,000 had gone over the top by $600.00 on an incomplete report. This is a particularly heartening report as the Special Names have been hit hard and consistently for large contributions in every drive since the war started and have not failed to come through. While there are only a few more to hear from, nevertheless the fact that this section is over the top along with the Women's division may be taken as a trend of the campaign and it is confidently expected that the Retail division and the Industrial division will bring in similar reports.

Conklin Shows Coming To City

Nine spine-tangling rides and eight top-notch side shows are being brought to Peterborough next week by Conklin Bros. under the auspices of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club.

This is welcome news to city and district fans who have been yearning for the tumult and glamor of the circus and midway since war and transformation of the Exhibition Park into a military camp, has interfered with the usual summer visits. Conklin Bros., highly regarded in the show world, and holding the top midway rating in Canada, have won an enviable reputation for fair dealing and clean entertainment in Peterborough, and it is safe to assume this show will maintain that standard.

The show will be ready to go on Monday, which is a holiday, and will run for the entire week at Riverside Park, thus giving the country people ample opportunity to come in for an evening or for a day, to do some shopping in the city, and have some fun at the same time.

Excessive Rains Blocks Seeding

"Some of the farmers on the flat land of Otonabee have not yet used their seed drills," F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative, "and that means they are getting away behind in the season's work."

Excessive moisture is holding up farm work and is damaging the grain crop on a great deal of land that is saturated with water. Each additional rain increases this accumulation and much of its remains on the surface instead of flowing away. The crop on the light soil knolls has been flourishing, pasturage has grown luch and dank, but on the whole the promise of the last fortnight of April has been clouded by a wet May.

LEFT HIM JUMPY

LONDON—(CP).—Pte. Leonard Harper, 22, of the Grenadier Guards, was sentenced to 35 days' detention for being absent without leave, his excuse being he had been with the Commandos and couldn't settle down again to the life of a Guardsman.

Downtown Crash Wrecks 2 Cars

A passenger received a cut on the head and two vehicles were damaged in a collision between a taxi cab and a small truck at Hunter and George streets at 8.35 'clock this morning.

The taxi, driven by Archie McMaster, was travelling west on Hunter street and the truck with E. A. Hales at the wheel, had been going east and was making a left hand turn to go north on George street when the two vehicles met in collision.

Neil Foster, 164 Hunter street, a passenger in the taxi was shaken up and sustained a cut on the forehead. He was taken to the Standard Clinic for treatment.

The fronts of both machines were badly damaged.

A.R.P.—Basic Course

There will not be any lectures in the basic course on either Sunday, May 24th or Monday, May 25th and the lectures will be resumed on May 31st and June 1st with the lecture on "High Explosive and Incendiary Bombs," which is to be illustrated with moving pictures.

All A.R.P. workers are reminded of the meeting at the Capitol Theatre at 1.45 p.m. on Sunday, May 24th when two Boy Scouts from England will tell of their experience in A.R.P. work in England during the air raid. The talk will be illustrated by films and all A.R.P. workers are urged to attend.

Salvage Collection Made In North End

Ashburnham gets the orchids so far in the drive for salvage according to officials of the Civic War Service Council following the collection of salvage in the North-End Section on Thursday.

"We just collected about one quarter the amount in the north-end as was collected in Ashburnham," Mrs. Clare Collins reported on Friday. It was also learned that there was considerable rubber footwear, very few tires, a small quantity of metal, and a tremendous number of bottles—of every description, fruit jars, and even gallon jars all were set out for workers.

Members of the Canadian Women's Voluntary Services teamed up with the C.W.S.C. in sorting the materials and they were finished in good time. Trucks were supplied by the Board of Works under the direction of City Engineer Parsons and Jim Burgess, assistant. Boy Scouts, women and a few men volunteered to help in the work. Alderman Floyd Curtis also sent one of his dump trucks and a driver to speed up the work.

Arrives In Far East

Corporal Ken Moffatt, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moffatt of this city, is named as one of the Canadian airmen who arrived in the Far East this week with a Canadian fighting squadron. His father is well-known as an insurance agent in the city and district.

Engineers Name New Executive

Pleasure and business were combined in an evening program on Wednesday when the local branch of the Engineering Institute held their annual meeting. The review of work and social activities indicated the association had enjoyed one of the most successful years of its existence, under the intelligent direction of a vigorous executive.

The get-to-gether was held at the Kawartha Club, and some of the members enjoyed a round of golf prior to the business meeting which started at 8.45. Following the reading of reports, Jack Cameron, chairman asked for a report from the scrutineers and the following executive committee was declared elected: R. L. Dobbin, Don J. Emery, Ian F. McRae, F. R. Pope, C. R. Whitlemore and A. J. Girdwood.

Among the outstanding events of the year were the combined A.I.E.E. and E.I.C. meeting, the annual social night, and several well attended technical meetings.

The yearly outing was discussed and will probably take the form of a trip to the summer home of Gordon R. Langley on Sandy Lake. A moving picture "Curve of Light" and some newsreels were shown, and the program was capped with the serving of a substantial lunch.

Edict On Oil Hits War Industry

Householders who were confronted yesterday with a heating problem consequent from the official notice that oil supplies have been cut off by enemy action, were still on the move to-day to switch their furnaces back to coal burners.

And serious as is the community's domestic outlook it differs in broad degree from the bristling problem that faces Robert Abbott, manager of the Canadian Raybestos Company. The plant has been using oil for twenty years or more, recently installed an additional furnace, and now the management has been advised that after July 31 there is likely to be no more oil available for its boilers.

All of which sounds like a major worry. The comparatively recent installation was preceded by an inquiry to the Fuel Controller for Canada about the prospects of continuing oil supply and approval of the new oil burning unit. That was in March and the reply was reassuring and permissive.

Over night the whole outlook has changed, and alterations will have to be made to the main heating plant to accommodate it to coal. Possibly the other oil unit may continue to be used, but there is no certainty even about that.

Mr. Abbott was taking the furnace conversion in cool stride today, even the contemplation of possible necessity of adding height to the stack to increase the draft for burning coal.

Lakefield Man To Stand Trial

Donald Lloyd of Lakefield was bailed for trial by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on a charge of stealing three automobiles from the Industrial Acceptance Corporation Limited after the Crown had concluded its case.

In answer to the usual question Lloyd stated that he would make no statement and his counsel, T. J. Carley, K.C., informed the court that he did not propose to call any evidence.

Mr. Carley said that he did not propose to argue many of the points in the case at this stage but pointed out that the information charged Lloyd with fraudulently taking three automobiles but merely charged him with converting them, instead of fraudulently converting them. There could be innocent conversion, defense counsel said.

In bailing accused for trial Magistrate Langley said that he would refrain from discussing the legal points of the case. To do so might prejudice the accused or the Crown.

Lost War Savings Stamp Money Is Returned To Examiner Carrier Boy

A disconsolate newspaper boy in East City reported to the Examiner last Saturday that he had lost the sum of $12.00 which he had just previously been given by one of his customers, Mrs. T. H. Adams of Stanley avenue, who was making her regular purchase of war savings stamps for the month.

Weeks of profitless paper delivering stretched before the youngster's imagination making up for the loss. He looked, his family looked, the neighbours looked — in vain. It was recollected that the boy, Rudolph Pollock, of Rogers street, had dug a garden for a neighbor shortly after collecting the money. The garden was thereupon thoroughly redug and dug again but no cash appeared. At last, Wednesday night, after a short account of the boy's loss had appeared in the Examiner, a "Found" ad announced that a sum of money had been found in East City. The boy was soon able to claim the $12.00 so recently mourned as lost. He is happy again in the knowledge that his patriotic endeavours are not to be marred by the loss of such a considerable sum of war savings cash.

The money was picked up off the street by Mrs. Dan O'Donoghue, 449 Rogers street, who read the ad in the Examiner and promptly returned it to the newsboy.

Son And Father Both Officers In Same Company Of Midland Unit

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22. — (ENS). — To be second in command of the same company in which his father was commander 27 years ago is the unique experience of Captain John F. Bygott of this town. He was a lad of 12 when he first showed an inclination to follow in his father's footsteps by attending the Militia camp with the old Northumberland Regiment as adjutant's runner, and in the 16-year interval which preceded the outbreak of World War II, he worked himself up through the ranks of the N.P.A.M. and gained both his lieutenant's and captain's certificates by attending officers' courses of instruction at Stanley Barracks in Toronto.

Capt. Bygott is now with the 1st Midland Regiment on the West Coast. He was on the Reserve until the unit went active in August, 1940, and since then has been with the regiment in various parts of Canada. His father, Major J. M. Bygott (retired) was working in Lakefield with the C.N.R. at the time World War I, began and had joined the old Durham Regiment in 1910 (now the Midland Regiment). He was appointed captain of C Company prior to going overseas, where he faced the enemy fire on the Somme and later was in the Dunkirk area. Evidence of his ability is a company commander is seen by the fact that he was mentioned in despatches.

The Bygott family, of which Captain John is the only son came to Campbellford from Lakefield 22 years ago.

New Local Grill Gives $146 Help War Funds

When an individual starts on a new business enterprise, the opening day is one usually looked forward to, and planned with much care in order to assure a maximum return to offset what is usually the biggest expense in their venture.

The new Silver Moon Grill with Henry Young as proprietor, opened its doors to the public on Wednesday after having gone through a process of rejuvenation to make it one of the most modern and pleasing of the city's eating houses, and in so doing, they gave the entire proceeds of this first day's business divided equally between three worthy war charities, namely the Red Cross and Community Fund, the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, and the Chinese Relief Fund. There are, and have occasions when the net profits from a day's business has been allocated to some worthy object, but seldom does it occur, that the entire gross proceeds of a day's business are given over for that purpose, so the action of the proprietor in so doing is all the more noteworthy in this respect, and particularly when this very generous act takes the patriotic form of helping along the country's war effort.

Throughout the whole day, various ladies from two different organizations acted as cashiers, receiving all payments that were made for meals, in the persons of Mesdames H. Howell, F. Chase, J. Marshall, Sr., and C. Willison from the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church, and the Misses Irene Cox and Moira Whalon from the Canadian Women's Voluntary Service through Mr. J. G. Wharry, and all with one consent, were very high in their praise of the very courteous co-operation and assistance given them by the proprietor and his staff, and the attention they gave to providing them with meals and refreshments throughout the whole day. From this effort, the splendid total of $146.52 was made, which divided equally between the three above mentioned funds, gave each of them the sum of $48.84, acknowledgement of which for the city and district British War Victims' Fund appears in its list today, with that for the Chinese Relief Fund, being forwarded through Inspector Reid of the City Police Department, and the Red Cross Community Fund going through the usual channels.

One nice personal donation appears in today's list, and from Keene comes collections from two of the penny boxes located in that village.

Arrested Pair Confess Fire

BANCROFT, May 22—(ENS).—Acting on a complaint that the summer cottage of Mrs. Charlotte Cruickshank, 101 Forest Hill Road, Toronto, having burned sometime during early morning, May 21, also the breaking and entering of the adjacent cottage owned by Charles Gray of Bancroft, Provincial Officer Palamteer and County Officer Delyea proceeded to the property situated 10 miles west of Bancroft on Highway 28 to conduct investigation which revealed that a victrola mechanism which should have been in the fire was missing and the only available clue was that a horse had been stabled in the boathouse overnight.

Further investigation revealed that Wm. McCormick, 26, of Coe Hill and Harry Kidd, 21, of Kidds Corners, had been on the highway on April 26 with a horse and buggy and the cottage had been entered at that time but nothing missing.

On May 22 the officers reached the home of Wm. McCormick of Coe Hill, seizing a victrola, records, blankets and other cottage equipment.

On questioning Kidd he admitted breaking and entering the cottages on April 26 in company with Wm. McCormick. Kidd also made the statement that Wm. McCormick told him to return to the Cruickshank cottage and fire same and this would cover up their theft.

McCormick corroborated Kidd's story and said he promised to pay Kidd the sum of $15 to burn the cottage, which as carried out on the early morning of May 21.

Both men were arrested in Coe Hill this (Friday) morning and on further questioning McCormick said he promised Harry Kidd another $10 to destroy the home of Joe Stevens of Coe Hill by fire.

This alleged offense was not yet carried out.

Both men are charged with breaking, entering and theft, and Kidd charged with arson. Further charges are pending against both parties.

Both men were taken to Belleville county jail today and will appear in Bancroft Court on June 10.

Arrives In Britain

Sgt. Pilot Harold E. Morrow, one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morrow, 745 Water Street, now serving in the armed forces, cabled his mother that he had arrived safely in England. He was formerly employed in the Lillow-Walkwell shoe store as a clerk, and is the youngest of the three in uniform.

Rural Shows Clash On Dates

Although the calendar offered ample elbow room and latitude, two district agricultural affairs are slated for Saturday, June 6. Circumstances leading to this opposition and resulting choice by many farmers who would perhaps have attended each are not known and it is too late now to bother about that detail.

The two events are the District Holstein Breeders' field day in Peterborough and the Spring Stock Show at Millbrook under the auspices of the Agricultural Society.

Robert McCamus of Cavan said to-day that the stock show is inviting exhibits of heavy and light horses, Shorthorn cattle, Polled Angus and Jerseys. Aged stallions will be omitted from the competitive classes. Prizes are not graded, but are all of the same amount. The directors of Millbrook Agricultural Society are trying to extend their usefulness by this spring live stock show. Classes will include Clydesdales and percherons in the heavy horse section, and carriage and road horses.

There will also be a class for express horses to be shown on halter. This show begins at 1 p.m.

May Use Gas For Heating

Peterborough factories burning oil have been getting from R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities, information about the possibility of using gas in their furnaces.

"These enquiries were just feelers," Mr. Dobbin said to-day. "Nothing may come of them. Factory managers are asking about our capacity and whether we would be in a position to supply them with gas, together with other mechanical facts.

Our present output at the gas plant is 4,000,000 cubic feet, but we can double that. We use oil in making gas, but our proportion is a great deal less than in the regular burning of oil. By its combination with coal we get more thermal units than is obtained from oil alone."

Smith, Harvey And Lakefield Sunday Schools Hold Convention

LAKEFIELD, May 22— (ENS).— The annual Sunday School convention for Smith, Harvey and Lakefield Village was held in the Lakefield United Church on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The afternoon session opened with the worship period taken by Lakefield United Church Sunday School Mrs. Milton Deck led the devotions, Mrs. Butchard read the Scripture, and Rev. G. F. Kelly led in prayer.

The president, Elmer Milburn, was in the chair and the address of welcome was voiced by the Rev. G. F. Kelly, minister of the entertaining church.

The convention theme was based on "The Church Reaching Every Person," and this thought was carried on throughout the convention. The special speaker for both afternoon and evening was the Rev. E. R. McLean, representative of the O.R.E.C., Toronto.

Value of a Sunday School.

In his first address "What good is the Sunday School?" ten reasons reasons why folks do not go and ten reasons why folks go to Sunday School were discussed. They do not go because the teachers do all the talking, parents are not interested, too many outside attractions, getting too old, not learning anything, fellows were not friendly, no progress from year to year.

The problem was how to educate parents that the Sunday School was for more than children, as all excuses lead back to the parent and adult. Reasons why folks like to go are: They enjoy good singing, they are asked to do things, parents insist that they go, they go through force of habit, because others go, they enjoy companionship, interested in the Bible and learning about God, they go through sense of loyalty to the teacher, for something to do, and to help others.

A solo was given by Mrs. G. Peel of Lakefield Baptist Church.

In Rev. E. R. McLean's address on "A Counter-offensive," he stated the church reaches (1) every person with Christian teaching, (2) the church teaching every person, (3) the church helping every home, (4) the church helping every community.

Unpardonable Sin.

It is an unpardonable sin of the church for those so busily engaged in war work to neglect the boys and girls of the Sunday School.

The next address was given by Rev. Dr. McLean pastor of Gilmour Baptist Church, who spoke on the subject "Going out into the Highways." The first Sunday School was organized in 1780 by Robert Rakes, who started with a group of children on the verandah on a Sunday afternoon because he was too busy during the week days. Dr. McLean stressed the importance of enrollment and attendance in Sunday School members. "We should endeavor to secure enrollment of every possible person from infants in the nursery department to adults in the home department. The real difficulty lies with those who are indifferent to the Bible school and its purpose. This requires on the part of Sunday School workers constant interest and tactful effort.

Miss Olive Bell, the secretary, gave a splendid report and in the roll call of schools, ten schools were well represented out of a possible thirteen.

Those represented were Lakefield Baptist, Lakefield United, Lakefield Presbyterian, Bridgenorth, Gilmour, Selwyn, Lakevale, Lily Lake, Fairview and Wesley. There was no delegation from Curve Lake, Young's Point and Lakehurst.

Rev. Walker, Rev. Trumpour and Mr. Tedford were named the Resolution committee.

Evening Session

The W.M.S. of the entertaining church served a delightful supper to the delegates and the evening session opened with the devotional period taken by the Rev. L. M. Sharpe, pastor of Lakefield Presbyterian church.

Officers Elected

Reports were given by the resolution and nominating committees. The chairman of the nominating committee, E. Milburn, gave the following report: Past president, E. Milburn; President, Harold Lewis of Fairview; vice-president, Mr. Simpson, Lakefield Presbyterian; secretary-treasurer, Miss Olive Bell, Fairview; children's department, Mrs. S. Grylls, Lakefield United; girls' department, Phyllis Moore, Gilmour Baptist; boys' department, Carman Bell, Fairview; Young People's, Mrs. Harold Trude, Lakefield Baptist; adult, Eric Pearson, Wesley; home department, Mrs. Fred Webdale, Lakefield Baptist; missionary, Mrs. A. Hancock, Lily Lake; temperance, Olive Sidey, Bridgenorth.

These officers were installed by Dr. M. C. McLean.

The following resolutions were read by Rev. Walker:

1. We recommend that we, here, pledge ourselves that, on returning to our Sunday schools, we endeavor to reach every person of our community seeking to interest them in attendance and work of the Sunday School.

2. We desire to pay a tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Clifford Hancock of Lily Lake who had regularly and faithfully attended our conventions through the years, and that we express our sympathy to the family and the Lily Lake Sunday School.

3. We desire to express our appreciation to Rev. E. R. McLean for his excellent services in our convention today, to the minister and officials of this church for opening their doors and giving us an opportunity of holding our convention, also to the ladies for their sumptuous repast in the dining hall.

A very pleasing interlude in the evening session was a solo, "The Old Rugged Cross," rendered by Mr. Hennesley, a Negro singer, who is at present living in Lakefield.

The new president, Harold Lewis, was then introduced to the convention and asked for cooperation during the coming year.

Following this a demonstration of a teachers' meeting entitled "Back from the Convention," was very much enjoyed. Those taking part were Mrs. E. Milburn, Mrs. G. Telford, Mrs. M. Deck, Mrs. W. W. Leonard Dr. M. C. McLean, Rev. Walker, A. Hancock and Mr. McNott. This skit was very interesting and brought back many thoughts related in convention addresses.

Rev. E. R. McLean's closing address was the "Conservation of Youth." Before Rev. McLean commenced his address he explained how the O.R.E.C. had divided the province into 53 districts.

Following the splendid address the evening session was closed with a hymn and prayer by Rev. Walker.

Mrs. Rev. Kelly was at the piano in the afternoon and Mrs. Moore in the evening. The next place of meeting will be in Fairview United Church.

Jews Prepare To Defend The Middle East

This photo, released in London, shows what Jews are doing to guard the traditional homeland of Palestine against attack by the Axis. A gun post in a Crusader castle on the Island of Cyprus is manned by Jews from Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and other countries that are temporarily under the Nazi heel. They have already seen service in Greece, Crete and Libya, and expect to see more if the Axis attacks in the Middle East.

Quebeckers Vote To Retain Voluntary Plan

QUEBEC, May 22.—(CP)—A motion urging the Federal government to retain its voluntary enlistment policy and not impose conscription for overseas service was adopted early today by the Quebec legislative assembly after a debate in which Premier Adelard Godbout said he was opposed to conscription for overseas service because he does not believe "it is the best way to win the war."

The motion, adopted by a 61-7 vote, also "reiterates the indefectible will of all members of the House to support the best war effort possible." The motion, presented by Cyrille Dumaine (Lib. Bagot), drew the support of all members of the opposition as well as most government supporters. It was adopted after the House rejected by a vote of 54-14 an opposition amendment, urging that the government adopt "immediately all measures necessary to ensure respect of all rights and opinion of this province in this matter and the solemn pledges to this province respecting conscription."

Only members of the opposition voted for the amendment. Voting against the motion were Hon. Arthur Mathewson, Provincial Treasurer; Francois Leduc (Lib. Laval); J. J. L. Comeau, (Lib. Verdun); George Marler (Lib. Montreal Westmount); Thomas Guerin (Lib. Montreal St. Ann); C. Bullock (Lib. Shefford); and Raymond Fregeau (Lib. Stanstead).

Godbout's Idea.

Premier Godbout told the Provincial Lower House that French-Canadians do not believe that conscription is the best way of winning the war, "and they showed it in the plebiscite." He said that if conscription for overseas service "were imposed against the wishes of some, it might mean the sabotaging of our national unity."

Mr. Godbout contended that "no nation in the world has given a better effort, a more balanced effort than Canada." He added: "We believe that the effort produced by the people has been magnificent, but we also believe that conscription would hinder that effort. However, conscription will not be imposed in Ottawa if Prime Minister Mackenzie King's supporters keep him there. If ever there was a man who is against conscription it is Mackenzie King. No one ever interpreted French-Canadian sentiment better than King."

Earlier, Maurice Duplessis, leader of the Opposition, Union Nationale Party, said that Quebec wants victory but "it wants it through the voluntary, moderate means promised at the start of the war." He said that "in 1939, the promises made against conscription were made to Quebec and Quebec only can free the government from them."

He also urged the Provincial Government not to abandon the income and corporation tax fields for the duration. It was his belief, he said, that "the conscription of blood is so serious that we should not at the same time give up our revenues. I do not think the agreement should be signed until the Government respects its promises to Quebec."

Allow Farmers Till 9 For Gas

OTTAWA, May 22. — (CP). — The concession to rural residents by which gasoline stations in outlying areas are permitted to remain open one night a week will be in effect from now until the end of October, the Munitions and Supply Department said to-day.

The stations affected are those situated five miles or more from the limits of a city or town with a population of 5,000 or more. They may remain open on Saturday night until nine o'clock—two hours after the closing time set by the gasoline regulations. The extension of hours is described as "permissive but not mandatory."

"The step is being taken to help farmers," said Munitions Minister Howe in a statement.

"Faced with an acute shortage of labor, the farmers of Canada are finding their own time very precious," he said. "They cannot take time off from their fields and their other work to go to town to buy gasoline beore seven o'clock."

Mrs. Nichol Hostess To Roseneath W.M.S.

ROSENEATH, May 22—(ENS) — The Mission Circle members will be invited to attend the regular meeting of the W.M.S. in June at the home of Mrs. D. Brisbin. This was decided on at the regular meeting of the latter society on Tuesday Mrs. J. A. Nichol was hostess and Mrs. D. Brisbin, first vice-president, was in the chair.

The treasurer, Mrs. R. Crego, announced thankoffering receipts of $13.

The members were asked to bring a dish towel as a bazaar donation to the June meeting.

The study was led by Mrs. A. Halstead, introducing the concluding chapter of "Serving with the Sons of Shuh," giving a vivid description of China previous to and following the Japanese invasion. Mrs. A. J. Campbell enlarged on the invasion; Mrs. J. A. Nichol described the educational system, as used by the missionaries in that country; Mrs. C. W. Varcoe described farm life in West China; Mrs. R. Crego spoke on rural evangelism, and a reading "My Last Day," by Mrs. Andrew Brown concluded the study period.

Mrs. C. W. Varcoe contributed a musical number, "Bless This House."

Personals.

Included among those from this community attending the funeral service of the late Mrs. Darious Blodgett on Tuesday at Centreton were: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blodgett, Mrs. Charles Blodgett, Mrs. Fannie Blodgett, Miss Ruby Blodgett, Mrs. Ella Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Blodgett, Miss Ruth Blodgett and Mrs. A. Nill.

Mess Room Chatter From Britain

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

With the R.C.A.F. Somewhere in England, May 22—(CP)—Mess-room chatter:

If you listen to Canada's fighter pilots in their off-duty hours, these fighter sweeps over Northern France aren't work at all. They are fun and the boys "get a great bang out of them." Pilot Officer C. M. (Maggie) Magwood of Toronto has been on so many of these jaunts he calls this "the sweeping season."

"After you've done a few you begin to get a great thrill out of them," said Magwood. "Another odd thing is that I don't find them very tiring."

A disappointed fellow is Flt. Sgt. R. J. Oates, rear gunner from Badjeros, Grey County, Ontario. "I missed out by a whisker going on that daylight raid on Augsburg (April 17) and I'm still pretty mad about it," he said, just before leaving his R.A.F. bomber station for a short bicycle trip. Oates, who used to run a chopping mill back home, says the Lancaster bombers are "tops."

A station-mate of Oates is Pilot Officer Gilbert Hooey of Trenton, Ont., and Toronto who did take part in the Augsburg business and won the D.F.C. for it. He used to be a pro golfer at Santa Monica, Cal., and has played friendly matches with Lighthorse Harry Cooper. He also played in the Canadian open at Toronto's Lakeside course, "but I forget the year." His mother, Mrs. B. S. Hooey, lives in Oakville, Ont.

Nobody can tel Flt. Lt. E. W. Pierce of Winnipeg that a navigational exercise in a Blenheim fighter of coastal command is necessarily just routine. With his air gunner Flt. Lt. J. C. Fletcher of Toronto, Pierce was supposed to be up on a minor exercise when he sighted a Heinkel 115 seaplane. He got close enough for an eight-second gun burst before the German jettisoned a cargo of mines, took evasive action and whipped off home.

Salaries Shoved Up

RICHMOND, Va., May 22—(AP). —City council's finance committee agreed that while "book l'arnin'" isn't everything, it shouldn't be a handicap. Accordingly the committee agreed to recommend an additional appropriation of $1,304 to equalize the salaries of the college-trained librarians at the Richmond public library with those of the library's four janitors and a part-time charwoman.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Special Courses On Personnel To Start In June

OTTAWA May 22 — (CP). — Brief government-sponsored courses in personnel administration will be opened at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., and University of Toronto early in June, Labor Minister Mitchell said yesterday. The Toronto classes will begin June 1 and those at Queen's one week later.

Mr. Mitchell said:

"So many companies have found it necessary to create personnel departments requiring the attention of persons of specialized training that the Department of Labor, following the practice of the British ministry of labor, has co-operated with the universities to make this training available."

Designed primarily for the war industries, the personnel administration courses will not be confined to them. Applicants nominated by companies with war contracts, or those who might be available for personnel work in war industries will be given preference. The first courses are not intended for persons seeking employment.

No tuition or other fees will be charged. The Department of Labor will pay necessary travelling expenses of all selected applicants who successfully complete the course. But living or other allowances must be paid by the applicants or the firms sending them.

The courses will require four weeks full-time study under experienced personnel managers loaned by industry but actually will take from three to four month to compete. At Toronto, the applicants will attend classes one week a month for four months. At Queen's the classes will be divided into two period of a fortnight each, with an interval of eight weeks between.

Applications for the university courses should be addressed to the Industrial Relations Section, Queen's University, Kingston, or the Department of University Extension University of Toronto.

Norwood W.A.'s Hold Meetings

NORWOOD, May 22 —(ENS).— The regular May meeting of the Evening auxiliary of Norwood United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Reta Pakenham. Fourteen members and one visitor were present.

Miss Pauline Weir was in the chair. Particularly impressive was the prayer written by a young Chinese student for "a new world." The treasurer reported the sum of $62.29 had been raised since the beginning of the year.

Mrs. Pakenham's group were in charge of the study period, the subject being a travelogue of West China and observed conditions there.

Miss Pauline Weir, representing a prominent Canadian business woman, spoke of the remarkable industrial development in modern Western China. Miss K. Edmunds representing a leader of Farm Women's Association, discussed the advanced methods of farming used in China's rural districts. Mrs. J. Stewart, who represented a member of the teaching staff of West China University, described the buildings and campus as being similar to our own University of Toronto.

Miss Lila Kirk, representing a scholarship holder in Theology said that life is changing rapidly in China at present, refugees and soldiers are constantly on the move and a deeper consciousness of Christianity has sprung up among the people. Missionaries are hoping that this may mark the beginning of a great revival in West China.

At the conclusion of the meeting a dainty lunch was served and a social half hour followed.

W.A. Meets

The May meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Norwood United Church was held in the Sunday School room, Mrs. Ed Scott, the second vice-president opened the meeting conducting the devotional exercises with Mrs. John Gardner leading in prayer. During the meeting Mrs. Scott was presented with a life membership by the president, Mrs. Lawlor.

Mrs. Lawlor took the chair for the balance of the meeting, using the program prepared by Mrs. Gerald Andrews, leader of the group, who was unable to be present. Mrs. John Starke read the Bible lesson, Mrs. A. McMillan gave the story from the study book on China. Mrs. G. A. Brethren gave an interesting reading. This was followed by a brief talk by Mrs. A. S. Cleland, telling of her impressions while spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Florida, particularly of the church services and the W.M.S. meeting which she attended.

There followed a short business session during which Mrs. Franklin Webster was chosen a a group leader in place of Mrs. Girven who recently left town. It was decided to have a special speaker for the June meeting. The afternoon was brought to a close with prayer and the singing of the National Anthem.

Circle Meeting

The Women's Missionary Circle of the Baptist Church held their regular May meeting at the home of Mrs. Louis Fife with the president, Mrs. Robert Baker, in the chair.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises, the following ladies taking part in same, Mrs. Robert Baker, Mrs. Fife and Mrs. D. A. Oakley. This was followed by a duet rendered by Mrs. Oakley and Mrs. William Hubble, Mrs. Roy Nevin playing the accompaniment. Mrs. E. Ferns was the speaker for the afternoon, her address was based on the theme "We should do our best and Christ will help."

Meeting was closed with hymn and prayer, after which a vote of thanks was extended to the hostess.

Rides Frail Raft For 46 Days Sees 2 Pals Die

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, May 22 — (CP Cable). — During 46 weary, hopeless days, Michael Wajda rode the ocean surfs aboard a frail raft after an enemy submarine sank his Allied merchant ship with torpedoes and shellfire. He saw his two companions, Mahlon Benton and Lindgren Bancroft, die from weakness and madness but the will to live kept him going until a ship picked him up and brought him here.

Weak from his terrible experience and long inactivity, Wajda sagged tiredly in his hospital cot as he told his story to The Canadian Press, from behind his seven-weeks growth of fiery-red beard.

Wajda was wounded by shellfire in the head and ankle, he said, and could not remember how he reached the raft, but he believed his companions must have pulled him aboard.

The raft was plentifully supplied with hardtack, chocolate concentrate and water, he said. There was no scarcity of water at any event, since they were in the rainbelt and "boy, didn't it rain," Wajda said with a faint grin. "I'd estimate we had five gallons of rainwater daily, but this was no blessing, since it spoiled the hardtack."

Eat Raw Fish.

After about 10 days, during which the others nursed Wajda, Benton rigged a net of twine. They trailed this and caught fish which they ate raw.

"The entrails attracted the sharks," said the rescued seaman. "This didn't bother us, except that they slapped the raft with their tails, and we were afraid it would overturn."

The men kept count of the slowly passing days by tieing knots in the piece of string. After the 14th day Benton began to weaken, and 10 days later he collapsed and died, Wajda said.

"We buried him overside, repeating what we could remember of the burial service," Majda continued. "A few days later Bancroft began to go out of his mind, twice attempting to jump overboard, but I succeeded in holding him back. On the 35th day, he tried for the third time. I grabbed him and we rolled over. He had just promised me he wouldn't try it again, when the raft lurched and he went overboard."

"I was too weak to help him—after that I didnt bother to knot the string, and things began to get a little hazy."

Before I was picked up, another ship approached within about 12 miles, Majda said, but failed to see the tiny raft and its weary occupant. Two days later he was rescued.

"I almost collapsed with joy," he said.

The three men were reported missing at the time of the sinking, but had been given up as lost for weeks.

Sabotage Wave Follows Heydrich Tour

LONDON, May 22—A fresh wave of anti-Nazi sabotage and reprisal executions is washing across Europe in the wake of Reinhard Heydrich, firing-squad specialist of the German Gestapo.

More than 200 persons have been executed since Heydrich began his tour of the German-occupied countries three weeks ago. Ominous reports from the Continent suggest he is tightening up the machinery for dealing with saboteurs and all elements resisting the German occupation forces or inimical to the Reich war effort.

Twenty-seven new executions were reported last night. Belgian quarters here said 15 persons were killed after Heydrich's visit to Brussels, where saboteurs set fire to and blew up munitions factories.

Seven Dutchmen were slaughtered on Heydrich's arrival at The Hague this week. Five were shot in Paris for dynamiting a German club, and more will die if the "guilty persons" are not found in eight days.

Keeping pace with the rate of executions were reports of increasing sabotage in Belgium, Holland and France.

Mass sabotage followed the execution of 96 Dutch patriots. In Rotterdam, several ammunition dumps belonging to the Germany Army of Occupation were blown up. A German troop train was derailed in Occupied France, injuring several Nazi soldiers. Nineteen "Communists" were arrested for having propaganda leaflets in their possession.

Heydrich's visit to Holland was said to have caused serious disturbances at several places in the country.

Axis reports hinted that a "general housecleaning" on the Nazi pattern might be required to check subversive activity in Holland. The reports said it might be more difficult to introduce "reforms" in Holland than in any other occupied country, mainly because of its denser population.

The Germans were understood to have tripled their occupation forces in Holland on the chance that the country might figure in a second front on the Continent when the Allies open it.

'Auntie' McKay Dies 9 Days Shy Of Century

LINDSAY, May 22. — Mrs. Annie McKay, Glenarm district's "Auntie McKay," an inmate of Victoria House of Refuge, died Tuesday, just nine days before her 100th birthday.

Formerly Annie McNabb, she was born east of the Scottish settlement of Glenarm, was of Scottish descent, and in her early twenties married and went with her husband to Chicago. Following her husband's death, Mrs. McKay took a course in general nursing and returned to the Glenarm district, where for many years she nursed the sick, making the rounds in her charitable way, very often without remuneration. Her kindness and charitableness made her well loved throughout the district as "Auntie McKay."

For two or three years she has had a quiet, peaceful life at the House of Refuge. She was healthy and witty and entertained her friends with stories of the old days. "Every Sunday," she told friends, "we walked barefooted fifteen miles to church to save our shoes for church. We put on our shoes before entering the church."

Churchgoers, she said, would not have dinner until they marched back the fifteen miles.

Mary Perdue Is Wed To Joseph Devlin

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church, Downeyville, when Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perdue, of Downeyville, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Joseph Devlin, son of Mr. J. Devlin and the late Mrs. Devlin of Peterborough. Rev. Father McFadden performed the ceremony and also said the nuptial mass. The altar was prettily decorated.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Patrick Perdue, cousin of the bride, wearing a redingote gown of powder blue with matching off-the-face turban and a corsage of deep pink roses.

The bride was attended by her sister Jean, who wore a gown of rose crepe, with hat to match, and a corsage of red roses and lily-of-the-valley. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. James Devlin, of Peterborough. During the mass the choir sang and during the signing of the register Mrs. Patrick Perdue sang Rosewag's 'Ave Maria.'

After the ceremony the bridal party went to Lindsay, where a reception was held at 'Ye Old Cottage Tea Room' for some twenty guests, when a sumptuous banquet was served. The table was decorated with tulips and centred by a three tiered wedding cake. A social afternoon was spent by all and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Devlin left on a short honeymoon and on their return will reside in Peterborough.

The bride's many friends here wish them many happy years of wedded life.

The May meeting of the Local Council of Women was held on Thursday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. with the president, Mrs. E. Wand, in the chair.

Mrs. W. H. Morton gave a report on the business covered at the annual meeting of the Provincial Council of Women held in Hamilton recently. Mrs. Miller, president of the provincial council, in her opening address, outlined the ways in which the council has kept pace with the extra demands of the time and asked the full co-operation of the members of the council with teachers and Sunday School in the matter of religious education, saying that investigation had proven that many children in our schools had little or no knowledge of the Bible.

A report from Toronto described the steps taken by that city in the matter of community welfare work, public and high school teachers and social workers working in co-operation. The report stressed the fact that we must teach democracy. The establishment of nursery schools to take care of the children of working mothers was discussed, also the increase in juvenile delinquency and ways of combatting it, and the shortage of teachers, owing to the fact that large numbers are enlisting, or going into industry. It was suggested that in centres where there are large military concentrations policewomen should be used. In a discussion on citizenship it was suggested that the local councils should show more interest in the doings of the municipal council and that they should follow up the activities of their elected representatives to provincial and Dominion parliaments.

Mrs. Karl Simpson gave a report on the addresses during the meeting. Mrs. H. Sibley of Rochester, New York, spoke at the luncheon on "Women and the Future." She discussed women's place in the new world order and said it was the part of women to think and plan for the future as well as for the present. We cannot begin the great work of reconstruction after the war unless we have educated public opinion with regard to what should be done. Mrs. Sibley said that we must not teach our unborn children and grandchildren to hate the unborn generation of the races we are now fighting. Mrs. Sibley also discussed the work of the United Services Organization in the United States.

In an open forum discussion on the farm labor problem the value of rural life was stressed and the work of the Ontario Farm Service Force was praised. Mrs. W. E. West spoke of long-time planning, to avoid a let down after the war and said that insufficient recreational planning with regard to soldiers had been done.

A number of resolutions were adopted by the provincial council, and the following will receive support from the Peterborough local council when they are brought before the National Council in Montreal. First, "That trucks and trailers delivering beer to beverage rooms be rationed as to gas and rubber"; second, "That the government should pass a law requiring blood tests for syphilis prior to marriage"; third, "That policewomen be added to the police forces in large military centres."

Mr. William E. Foley, local representative of the War Time Prices and Trade Board, was present at the meeting to answer any questions the ladies might have regarding the price ceiling regulations. In reply to a question regarding the canning of fruit, Mr. Foley replied that ladies who wished to make jam and can fruit could get all the sugar they wished for this purpose, and that they were on their honor not to use the sugar for any other purpose. He also stated definitely that it was against the law to raise room rent above what was charged for the same room and service during the basic period. He pointed out that one should be very sure of an illegal increase in price before making a complaint, as in the vast majority of cases the merchants and manufacturers were as anxious to obey the law as the customer was to see it obeyed. He said that most of the complaints reaching his office, were found upon investigation to be due to a misunderstanding or lack of knowledge of the law.

Bonarlaw

Word has been received here of the death of Miss Elizabeth Bell at Duntroon. Donald Bell, her brother, who has been with her for several weeks, will remain for the funeral and arrangements of business matters for several days yet.

Pte. Rynard Redcliffe of the Midland Regiment, visted his mother, Mrs. Hannah Redcliffe, for several days last week.

25th Anniversary Marked By Silver Banquet at Knox

Myriads of silver bells, soft lights and a profusion of spring flowers made a lovely setting for the silver bell dinner given by the members of the King's Own Bible Class of St. James' United Church Sunday School on Wednesday, May 20. The newly decorated Primary Department was the scene of a gay party composed of class members and friends, who were received and welcomed by the president, Mrs. G. Harris, assisted by the vice-president Mrs. E. Kitney. The room was tastefully arranged with small tables dotted around one large central table. Snow white napery and gleaming silverware covered each table, and the tables were centred with silver bud vases of bleeding-heart and narcissus. The service for four and six formed an attractive picture. The large table was quite outstanding, with its tall silver tapers in silver holders, the many colored tulips, with the chief central feature a large birthday cake with the words "25th Anniversary" across the top in icing.

The beautiful silver tea services at either end were presided over by Mrs. F. Craik and Miss M. Collins, who were later relieved by Mrs. A. Rosborough and Mrs. Perc Vannest. During the dinner hour while the guests enjoyed the viands served by class members, a delightful musical program was presented by Mrs. H. F. Doig in piano solos. These were interspersed by vocal solos by Mrs. Eric Frizzelle and Mr. J. Ridyard, Sr., adding much to the pleasure of the occasion.

A happy social two hours was spent over the tea cups, and many lingered to enjoy the music and hospitality of the King's Own Class. Much of the success of this silver bell dinner was due to the executive ability of the conveners and their efficient committees. These included Mrs. W. K. Sloane, who supervised the arrangement of tables, and Mrs. G. Butcher, who planned the musical program. Mrs. Bert Pitchford, who was in charge of the decorations, was complimented upon her success as well as the social committee who planned and provided such a delightful dinner. The King's Own wish to thank all those who attended and assisted them in this effort on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the church.

Gwen Davies Is Feted At Pretty Shower

A group of friends of Miss Gwendolyn Davies, bride of Saturday, gathered at the home of Mrs. James Garside on Wednesday evening for a miscellaneous shower at which Mrs. Garside, her fiance's grandmother, Mrs. Tom Smith, and Miss Bernice Garside were joint hostesses. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth, centred with a miniature bride in her wedding dress and set under an archway festooned with white ribbons and silver bells.

The table, at which Mrs. T. P. Davies cut the ices and Mrs. Berdine Garside poured tea, was set with silver on a lace cloth and centred with a beautiful bouquet of tulips and lily-of-the-valley in a crystal bowl. From a low-hanging centre lamp fringed with yellow and orchid crepe paper crinkly streamers were led out to the corners of the table and the mats and doilies were made of the same paper. The refreshments blended with the color scheme. Among the many lovely and useful gifts received by Miss Davies was a quilt made entirely by Mrs. Garside, who is nearly 84 years old. Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Ian Wood, Miss Bernice Garside and Miss Katherine Martyn helped to serve the guests.

Shower Is Given Madeline McDowell

MILLBROOK, May 22—(ENS).— Guests from Peterborough and Millbrook to the number of more than thirty were present for the personal shower given at the parsonage on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Madeline McDowell of Peterborough and formerly of Millbrook whose marriage to Reginald McKnight, of the R.C.A.F., Hamilton, takes place in St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook, on Saturday, May 30, at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. A. L. Sisco and her daughter, Mrs. Henry W. Gray, were joint hostesses in welcoming the guests, and were later joined by another daughter Miss Barbara Sisco of Peterborough. A large white wedding bell, suspended in the archway, had beneath it, on a white-covered table, a dainty pink and white parasol, flower-strewn streamers attaching bell and parasol, while under the latter were placed the attractively-tied parcels which made up the shower. Soon after the guest of honor had been seated, Mrs. Edmund Ball, of whose C.G.I.T. group Madeline was for some years a valued and efficient member, read an appreciative address Barbara Sisco informally presenting the gifts, and the pleasant task of opening the parcels fell to the bride-to-be.

Silken lingerie, in dainty shades and pleasing variety, a lovely silk house coat in blue and white, a flower-patterned parasol on ivory ground, hosiery, etc., made up the shower of personal articles, the recipient voicing her thanks in warmly appreciative words. Contests, conducted by Mrs. Gray, that were in keeping with the pre-view wedding occasion were enjoyed, and the service of a dainty lunch by the hostess and her daughters completed a most enjoyable event.

Among the guests from Peterborough were Misses Bryar Edmunds, Mary Nattress, Esther Might, Mary Tinney, Audrey Seens, Mrs. William Edworthy, Mrs. G. Duncan, Mrs. Hillier, Misses Robinson and Green of the staff at Grafton's clothing store, with which firm the bride-to-be has been employed ever since her graduation from the Peterborough Business College, Miss Betty O'Brian Mis Edna McKnight, a sister of the groom-to-be, who is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McKnight, Millbrook, Mrs. E. L. Burnham, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dunn received a cablegram this week from their son, Pte. Clifford Dunn, R.C.A.S.C., telling of his safe arrival in England on a recent convoy.

Mr. Pitts has a large bed of tulips in full bloom on his lawn and they are a lovely sight viewed from the highway.

Mrs. Ronald Nichols has received word from her husband, Pte. D. Nichols, of his safe arrival overseas on a recent convoy.

The Trent River Fish and Game Association received a shipment of 1,000,000 pickerel fry on Wednesday afternoon from the Deer Lake Fish Hatchery, which were duly deposited in the river.

The Week-End Holiday

By PRUNELLA WOOD

IF YOU HAVE to pack to "travel light" in any summer climate put a semi-tailored jacket frock into your bag, right after your toothbrush and lipstick. Whether your (probably) week-end trip is to the city or the country, such a costume will dress you well for more assorted occasions than anything else you could choose.

Shopping, luncheon date, tea date, daylight dinner date; church-going, country club visiting, just plain sitting around in the cool of the house . . . you couldn't find anything more satisfactory. Wear formal hats, casual hats, or no hat at all with such a dress.

Beige crepe in a honey tone makes the jacket frock which Peggy Diggins, Hollywood player, is wearing this Sunday. A soft, belted jacket covers a straight dress with Byronic collar detailing a plunging V neckline. Rows of beige silk faggoting trim the jacket. The brown sombrero is felt draped with coindot tulle.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS . . . .

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE STORY.—Four visitors arrive at a Dutch West Indian island to complicate the life of Bill Talcott, who is finishing six years there as branch manager for an American chemical firm. They are Halsey, Bill's successor; an auditor, who immediately accuses Bill of a large shortage in his accounts; MacDowell, a detective brought to take Bill back to the States if any irregularity were found, and June Paterson, beautiful cousin of Bill's former roommate. Later two more visitors are landed on the island by a smuggling skipper—Martha Swenson, a Norwegian refugee, and Prof. Constantine, an anthropologist. Next morning the auditor comes to Halsey with an urgent message before "you return to New York."

SHOWDOWN WITH STRUTHERS

CHAPTER X

Halsey seemed completely taken aback, and Bill Talcott, studying him intently, was unable to decide whether his astonishment was feigned or real. "Back to New York?" Halsey stammered. "But I just got here—I'm to stay on as the new manager—"

"You WERE the new manager," Struthers said coldly. Shrugging, he glanced significantly at the others. "Where is Mr. MacDowall?" he demanded.

June Paterson's ready ire manifested itself. "He's in bed recovering from a stroke. You nice people have said so many things about what's going on around here the poor man just couldn't stand it."

Faint color crept through the auditor's cheeks. "Please don't be sarcastic," he said. "This is quite a serious matter— Halsey, I thought I heard shots. What happened?"

Halsey left off looking puzzled long enough to give a rapid transcription of events, wound up with, "I looked in your room but couldn't find yu."

"Which is only natural, since I spent the night at work," the auditor grunted. "Very well, if MacDowell can't come to us we'll go to him. Halsey and Talcott, if you'll come along."

Talcott arose silently. So Struthers had been spending the night in the office, patching up his case. MacDowell had probably told him of the assertion that duplicate vouchers were on file which would put Bill Talcott in the clear. Struthers wouldn't be one to waste any time in strenghtening his weak points.

Increasingly clear was the indication that Struthers was making every effort to discredit him. But why? What possible motive could the man have for such a course? Did he hope to gain; was he in a conspiracy to defraud the company? Surely as auditor he must have known about the duplicate vouchers. He must have known that the vouchers themselves were of no value; that all billing and collecting was done by the New York office: that the only money to pass through Bill Talcott's hands was in the form of payroll checks. Yet forcibly Struther's words came back to him—"entirely possible you haven't sold chemicals without reporting to New York"—and with them a new reason for alarm. No shortage could be proved unless an actual shortage in inventory was discovered. If Struthers was a conspirator, left alone on the island he cold write any inventory he liked without regard for facts. Working this way he could take Federal Chemical for plenty. But he would never be able to get away with it. There must be another reason, something as yet unthought of; some carefully concealed motive which Struthers was prepared to carry out at any cost.

The thing was deep, treacherous, and in its unfolding toils there had as yet come no indication of the end. A beautiful break, Struthers had had, in the arrival of the smuggler and the two passengers. That had given him time aplenty to work unhindered while the rest of them were engaged in a battle which was really meaningless. Were the new arrivals, the professor and the refugee, participants in the larger pattern?

Sighing, Bill Talcott sought to clear his brain of complex thoughts as he followed Struthers and Halsey into MacDowell's room.

MacDowell was asleep, propped up by pillows, an ice pack rakishly askew on his unkempt head. Strange noises poured from the spaces above and beneath his moustache, and unceremoniously Struthers prodded his stomach.

"Wake up, MacDowell!" the auditor called sharply.

MacDowell swung his left in a wild arc, moaned, "Ow-aagh, my head!" and sat up.

Struthers said, "Forget your head. You're to arrest Talcott on charges of fraud and embezzlement. In addition to the missing vouchers I've discovered evidences of payroll padding. I've made a transcript of evidence for you to take to New York. As soon as my survey is complete I'll send it in."

"So it's payroll padding, too, is it?" Bill Talcott said coldly. "I'm getting to be a dangerous character."

"You are the one that's saying it," Struthers returned with equal coldness. "Well, MacDowell, are you going to get up?"

"Get up—" MacDowell muttered thickly. He thrust one leg over the side of the bed, sought the floor with his toes, groaned and said, "I think my neck's broke!"

Leonard Halsey had crossed to the other side of the room. His lean face was wrinkled in concern. "Look here, Struthers," he said. "It seems to me this could be handled in a much nicer way. So far as I know, nobody has heard Talcott's side of the story. He has an excellent record with the company. Why not give him a chance to defend himself?"

The auditor's thin lips curled. "His side of the story is in the records. Halsey, I'm an auditor. I don't like these scenes any better than you do. But there are regulations which I must observe. One of those regulations is that whenever a shortage occurs, the auditor is to remain in complete charge until a full inventory has been made. At the auditor's discretion, the affected unit may be thrown into bankruptcy. Mr. Talcott, I believe you will agree that those are the company rules."

Talcott smiled grimly. "Yes, and very convenient for what you intend to do, without a doubt."

Faint red tinged the auditor's cheeks. "Careful, Mr. Talcott!" he snapped. "I'm a banded representative of one of the largest firms in New York. Halsey knows that it's his duty to carry my report in full, together with whatever observations he himself may have made, back to the home office. That is absolutely clear, and I'll thank you not to make any insinuations!"

Some of the seriousness of the situation seemed to have penetrated MacDowell's aching head and he stared questioningly at Talcott. Halsey, too, stared with grim eyes in an expressionless face.

"I'd like to hear your story," Halsey said.

Bill Talcott's wrath had been mounting steadily and his fingers itched to take the ridiculous little auditor by the neck and shake some of the pompousness out of him. But that would be no good. It might afford him physical relief, but it wouldn't prove anything; would serve only to stamp him further with the mark of disgrace. With tremendous effort he controlled himself.

"I haven't any story," Talcott said flatly. "I've conducted this job and discharged my responsibilities to the best of my ability. If there is any shortage, as Struthers claims, it's not of my making. As for the charge of payrool padding, that's a joke. You know damn well I'm given a certain amount of money to produce a certain amount of work. We pay 40 cents a day for labor and we've got 400 men working; you can count 'em if you want to. I don't know what's behind this, but I'm beginning to get some ideas and if Struthers, or whoever is behind him, thinks I'll take it lying down, he's crazy."

A strange light flashed then in Struthers' eyes; just the briefest revelation that Talcott had landed solidly. His words were a thrust in the dark, but at last he had struck something solid in all the hazy mass of doubts and suspicions surrounding him. Later on he was to remember that swift revealing change; to remember and regret that he had uttered any word at all. For it suddenly occurred to Bill Talcott that his honor was not the only thing at stake; his very life itself was in utmost danger.

SENSE OF HUMOR IN WIVES WOULD LESSEN UNHAPPINESS

Lack of It Explains Why Most Women Are Not So Conteented As Men Are

When we consider the qualities that go into the making of a good wife, somehow we never include a sense of humor; yet if the Creator had seen fit to make Eve out of Adam's funny-bone instead of his rib, it would have saved a lot of domestic misery instead.

For there are so many things in marriage out of which a wife can make either a tragedy or a comedy, and it adds so much of the cheer of a household if she can laugh them off instead of salting them down in brine. Not that women regret this lack in themselves of a joyous spirit and a heart that goes singing all the day, as the old song says. On the contrary, they pride themselves on taking a serious view of life.

I used to visit in a beautiful and luxurious home, presided over by a noble, Christian woman whose expression was always one of resigned melancholy, although all the prize packages of life had been presented to her on a silver salver and she had nothing on earth to worry her. One evening while we were sitting in the cold and clammy atmosphere of her drawing-room, struggling with the prevailing gloom, the sound of a woman's laughter, full-throated, jolly, filled with mirth, floated in through the window.

Whereupon one of the children turned to her father and asked wistfully: "Papa, why doesn't Mother ever laugh like that?"

"I don't know, dear," responded the father, "but I'd give a thousand dollars to hear her do it even just once."

"You never will," replied the wife, "for I thank God I am not light-minded as some women are."

If you want proof that the great majority of women hold to this conviction that if it isn't actually vulgar to laugh out loud it is, well, not quite nice, you have only to look around among your feminine acquaintance. No matter how fussy a story you tell them, or how grotesque a situation, the most that they permit themselves is a wan smile. As for what they call in vaudeville, a good "belly" laugh, no, never. Heaven forbid As Queen Victoria commented at the side-splitting farce: "We are not amused."

Life Wears Them Down

Of course, if Nature does not endow women with a sense of humor, they are no more to be blamed for it than they are for not having Grecian profiles and naturally curly hair, but it goes a long way toward explaining many of the mysteries of feminine psychology. For one thing, it shows why women, taking them by and large, are less happy and contented than men are, though they have no more trials and tribulations to vex them than men have.

Being constitutionally unable to see the funny side of little, ordinary, everyday happenings, life wears them down and turns them peevish and fretful. The business girl doesn't see her pompous, fat boss as a figure of fun who makes her chuckle every time he pontificates about how to run the world. He gets on her nerves so that she want to scream when he starts on his eternal there of "I".

Mother doesn't think it is funny when Johnny, with jam smeared all over his face, opines that the cat did it. She spanks Johnny and weeps over the prospect of his growing up into being a porch climber. Wife doesn't make a good story out of the time that husband came home from his class dinner a little lit. She makes it the subject of her curtain lectures for the next twenty years.

A Heart-Breaking Problem

One of the problems over which countless thousands of women break their hearts trying to solve is why their husbands so soon tired of domesticity and began stepping out o' nights as soon as they have had their dinners, and why their husbands forsook them for other women. "We were such good wives," they wail. "We kept our houses so clean. We gave them such good things to eat." Nor can they understand why their children want to leave home as soon as they are able to stand on their own feet.

But the answer to their riddle is easy. They did everything for their husbands and children except to laugh with them and play with them, and that is what the husbands and children wanted most. They wanted wives and mothers who would be fun to be with, who could catch the point of a joke on the fly, who would josh them about their faults instead of making moral issues of them.

If you will notice, it is the jolly women who hold their families in the hollow of their hands. It is the women who can't go down the street without picking up some episode that is amusing to tell at dinner, who buck up their despondent husbands with a gay short story, and who keep the inside of their houses full of sunshine, no matter how much it is raining priorities and taxes and war news outside, who never lose out in marriage.

For a sense of humor covers a mulitude of sins in cooking and age and looks.

Clubs Compete At Brighton

ROSENEATH, May 22—(ENS).—The Girls' Club of Roseneath, with their leader Mrs. C. Grigg and assistant Mrs. B. Thackeray, went to Brighton on Saturday to attend the Achievement Day exercises and to compete with eight similar clubs from Northumberland County. They demonstrated the course studied during the term. These clubs are under the supervision of Women's Institutes for Ontario. The coach, Miss Jean M. Scott, and Miss Lulu Rowe of the W.I., were present.

There are five girls in the local club. Mrs. W. Halstead, Doreen Nichol, Velma Down, Phyllis Parker, and Valetta Thackeray. Velma gave a three-minute talk on the exhibit, a bedroom ensemble, the project chosen by the club. Mrs. Halstead, Doreen Nichol and Phyllis Parker gave a demonstration. All were required to judge the garments and display their skill at hemstitching and shell hemming.

Of the 62 club members in the county, all were present but one.

Centenary United Church, on the Roseneath charge, will observe its 76th anniversary on Sunday and Monday, May 24 and 25. The pastor, Rev. E. H. Unstead, will speak on Sunday, with Roseneath United Church choir in attendance, and in the evening Rev. M. C. Fisher of Gore's Landing will deliver the address, and a visiting choir will attend. On Monday night the Y.P.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Cobourg, will present a play, "Up at Minty's," in Roseneath Orange Hall, which will conclude the anniversary services.

Visitors in the village and vicinity during the week-end included T. A. Tucker of Belleville at his mother's, Mrs. S. A. Tucker; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd White, Dartford, visited his sister, Mrs. Frank Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gray and children Christena and Ivan, Oshawa, were at his sister's, Mrs. Harry Down; and Mrs. M. Adams and Miss Ruby Adams of Fenella stayed with Mrs. S. A. Tucker.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 23

Although astuteness, public prestige or well-organized strategies may be implements or last resort, to be called upon when regular or normal tactics seem to prove futile, on the whole it may be a difficult day for putting over important projects, either of a personal or business nature. There may be all sorts of conflicts, antagonisms and treacheries, with sudden reversals as well as deep-seated sources for defeat.

Those whose birthday it is may be ready for a year in which they may have to draw on their hidden resources, exceptional talents or possibilities for strategies, intrigue and the security of public confidence or popularity, as such may be needful to combat antagonisms, compose difficulties and survive sudden as well as secret blows or reversals. Shrewdness, tact as well as emotional balance and sound physical and mental condition may ultimately win over deceit, confusion and chaos.

A child born on this day should have the benefit of early direction and safeguarding of its emotional, mental and physical solidarity in order to meet with fortitude sudden reversals or blows in life.

Closing Meeting Held By Millbrook W.A.

MILLBROOK, May 22—(ENS).—The W.A. of St. Thomas' Church held its closing meeting for the current season on Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, with a large attendance. The hostess led in the W.A. Litany after Miss H. Needler had read the lesson, and reports followed, that of the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. N. Lamb, showing two quilts completed for private individuals with pay, since the bale was shipped. The Junior W.A. superintendent, Miss Bella McCorry, reported meetings well attended.

No delegate was sent to the W. A. annual convention, hence the secretary, Miss Rose Macnamara, read reports from the press, stressing especially the address on social service by Dr. Silcox, and that on the urgent need for a loyal and united Canada, given by Dr. M. Cartwright, "World Events" being her theme. A review of the study on medical missions taken up during the year was of educational value, and from the Living Message the item of interest dealt with the crowded condition of the Maple Leaf Hospital at Kangara, India, for which a special appeal for funds for rebuilding is soon to be made. The branch will give a donation later.

Following the study period, business was discussed, and arrangements made for the annual silver tea to be held at the home of Mrs. T. A. Campbell the last Friday in June. Mrs. W. E. Massey-Cooke made an appeal for an increased membership in the W.A., in the course of an interesting paper, mentioning that "we cannot ask for more members until we are good members ourselves."

The supper hostesses were Mrs. N. Lamb and Mrs. W. Wilkinson, who made the usual doney donation.

BORN

WALKER.—To Mr. and Mrs. Don Walker, on Thursday, May 21, at St. Joseph's Hospital, a boy.

FORAND.—At Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, on Thursday, May 21 ,1942, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Forand (nee Bernice Pel), a daughter, Andree.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Simpson announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Elsie Maud, to James Nelson, son of Mrs. N. Stanger and the late Mr. Stanger. Wedding to take place quietly early in June.

IN MEMORIAM

JONES.—In loving memory of Mr. John Jones, who passed away two years ago to-day, May 22, 1940.

There's a face that is haunting us ever,
There's a voice that brought us good cheer,
There's a smile we'll forever remember
When in silence we dry every tear.
—Fondly remembered by his Wife and Family.

LEE. — In loving memory of our dear daughter and son-in-law, Viola Lee and Raymond Lee, who died three years ago today.

There is a sad but sweet remembrance,
There is a memory fond and true,
There is a token of affection, son and daughter,
And a heartache for you.
—Sadly missed by the Family and sister, Mrs. Sorg, Bailieboro.

CROUTER.—In loving memory of Sidney W. Crouter, who died May 22, 1937.

No pen can write, no tongue can tell our sad and bitter loss;
But God alone has helped so well
To bear the heavy cross.
There is a link death cannot sever;
Love and remembrance will last for ever.
—Ever remembered by his Wife, Daughter, Sons and Family.

IRWIN.—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Irwin, who passed away five years ago to-day, May 22, 1937.

Five years have gone, dear Grandma
Since you have passed away;
How well do we remember
That sad and lonely day.
—Ever remembered by her granddaughters, Ruby and Myrtle.

GRAY.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away on May 24, 1940.

He is gone but not forgotten
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near,
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Sadly missed by his wife, Ida.

GRAY.—
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the Better Land,
Never to part again.
—Sadly missed by his family, Melvin, Addie, Ruby, Olive.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. J. A. Simons wishes to thank all the kind friends that sent flowers and mass cards, and expressed their kind sympathy towards her in her recent sad bereavement.

Y.P.S. To Continue Summer Meetings

BONARLAW, May 22—(ENS). — At the regular meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Mark's church held in the Parish hall on Tuesday it was decided to carry on meetings during the summer months. It was pointed out that due to the gas and rubber situation the young people will be kept at home during the holiday months this year and the summer meetings will be more popular on that account.

Mr. Carl Heath presided and after the business session handed the meeting over to the program committee, Douglas Stocker and Charles Quarterman, Jr. Two splendid contests were arranged by Mrs. Jason Baker and two vocal duets were rendered by Messrs. Art Duncan and J. F. Baker. Mr. Duncan also gave a humorous talk and staged a very interesting radio artist contest.

The following members of Springbrook Women's Institute attended the annual district W. I. convention held at Ivanhoe on Tuesday: Mesdames G. S. Eastwood, T. H. Webb, Lindsay Mumby, M. R. Neal, Thos. Nazi Production Falls In Battles

BERNE, May 22.—Swiss newspaper despatches from Berlin said yesterday that production in German munitions factories has "greatly diminished" since the battle of Kharkov began in Russia because women workers, worrying about relatives at the front, "fail to keep their minds on their work." The correspondent of Dietat said that in an attempt to relieve the situation the Germans were holding daily one-hour musical concerts in war factories to "soothe" the women's minds, but that production still failed to increase.

Easy Exercises Help Keep Figure Trim, Young

Can Control Bulges

Matronly figures needn't be. Keep the figure slim and trim—it's safe and easy to do with exercises that can control sags and bulges all over the body. And regaining streamlines takes years off your appearance.

Here is an exercise for the bust—making it firm, youthful.

1—Lie on back, with arms stretched out to side. 2—Raise shoulders and chest, keeping arms on mat. Take weight on back of head and raise chin upward. 3—Lower chest and shoulders to mat. Repeat 5 times. Rest. Do 10 times altogether.

What this exercise actually does is to firm the slack pectoral muscles that have failed to hold your bust in position. Unshapely bulges always start with such slack muscles, whether at waist, legs, hips or abdomen. Do exercises, a few minutes a day!

Our 32-page booklet gives routines for every part of the body—bust, arms, shoulders, neck and chin, waistline, hips, legs. Also has exercises to correct aching feet, awkward posture, constipation, nervous tension, for increased vigor.

For your copy of "Best Exercises for Health and Beauty" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to The Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HIT HIS WEAKNESS

PART OF the strategy of a military or naval commander is to strike the foe at his weakest point, and endeavor to break through there, thus nullifying the value of his strength at other places. It is likewise with the opening leader against a No Trump game. If the player at your right has proclaimed stoppers in the suit bid by your partner, that may be the one place not to hit him. That is definitely so, as a rule, if you have a holding in another suit which affords a promising lead.

North: ♠ 8 6 ♥ A 8 7 5 3 ♦ J 10 7 ♣ A K J

West: ♠ A 7 5 4 ♥ 4 ♦ A K Q 5 4 2 ♣ 8 6

East: ♠ Q J 10 2 ♥ K J 9 ♦ 9 3 ♣ 9 5 3 2

South: ♠ K 9 3 ♥ Q 10 6 2 ♦ 8 6 ♣ Q 10 7 4

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♥
1 NT	2 ♥	3 NT

Bidding of this deal went almost exactly the same at all tables of a duplicate game. Peculiarly, neither East nor West saw fit to bid the four-card spade suit, in which a perfect fit would have been found. Most of the declarers, however, made two extra tricks, as South opened the deuce of his partner's heart suit.

With the heart lead and return to the K, 11 tricks are easy, as spades and diamonds are then run, a club being given up at the end. Only one South, Andre Lord, decided that the hearts were so well stopped he would try a lead of the club 4. Four tricks in that suit, plus the heart A, set the contract, for a tremendous top score.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 10 9 5 ♥ K 8 ♦ A J 9 5 3 ♣ A 10 6

West: ♠ K Q 6 ♥ J 9 6 3 2 ♦ 10 7 6 4 ♣ 3

East: ♠ J 7 4 3 ♥ A Q 10 7 ♦ K Q 2 ♣ 7 5

South: ♠ A 8 2 ♥ 5 4 ♦ 8 ♣ K Q J 9 8 4 2

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

After North opens the bidding of this deal with 1-Diamond, what is the principal danger in an overcall of 1-Spade by East?

90,000 On Staff To Handle U.S. Rationing

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(AP)—Shortages of certain goods available for civilian consumers are expected to result in rationing of fifteen major items within a year, well-informed officials said last night.

To administer programs, as well as the big enforcement job necessary for universal price control, the office of Price Administration contemplates a staff of 90,000 persons.

Such a growth, necessarily a rough estimate, but one that is being used for preliminary budget preparations, would make Price Administrator Leon Henderson's agency the third largest in the United States Government, outranked only by army and navy.

The O.P.A. now has 7,500 on its payroll in addition to some 20,000 volunteers on local ration boards. Officals said it is not contemplated to increase the number of unpaid workers.

The fifteen scarcity items mentioned were said to include the six already rationed or about to: be Sugar, gasoline, tires, typewriters, automobiles and bicycles.

The other nine were kept secret, for officials fear that premature disclosure of any one of them might touch off a buying wave which would complicate conservation efforts vastly, besides thwarting the purpose of rationing—which is to guarantee that all shall share alike in the available supplies of scarce necessities.

Women's Institute Annual Report Reveals 37 Quilts Completed

TRENT RIVER, May 22—(ENS).—The May meeting of Trent River Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ward Glenn on Thursday, May 14 last. The motto for the meeting was: "A kiss of the sun for pardon, a song of the birds for mirth, one is nearer God's heart in a garden, than anywhere else on earth."

Following the Institute treasurer's report, Mrs. H. Mann gave a full report for the past year's work by the War Workers from Mach 31, 1941, to April 1, 1942. The receipts were $482.08, with expenditures of $381.32, and a balance of $100.76. In quilting, 37 quilts were made, 23 of which were sold. Tickets were sold on two. Nine were refugee quilts, 3 on hand not sold and one was donated by Group 1 of United Church Ladies' Aid; 33 quilts were quilted for other people, totalling 70 altogether; 8 boxes were sent overseas and 3 gifts of fountain pens made to enlisting boys. Other gifts were 10 Testaments, 39 pairs socks, 19 sweaters 3 pairs gloves, cigarettes, tooth paste, and handkerchiefs. A refugee box was packed by the ladies as well and knitting done was 29 pairs socks, 16 sweaters. Donations made to war work were $15.00 to central fund, $35.00 to British War Victims, $10.00 to Queen's Own Fund, and $10.00 to the Milk for Britain Fund, $70.00 in all. The report was well received by the Institute and great credit is due to Mrs. Mann and the members of the War Workers.

Mrs. M. Wight gave a splendid report of the Institute's finances and activities of the year. The Institute report included the War Workers' finances, the grand totals being: Receipts $575.46, expenditure $460.41, cash on hand $115.05. The report of the year's work showed mostly war work but there were the usual delegates to district annual meetings, donations made to two schools for oratorical contests, and first-aid kits supplied to the schools. At Christmas each member bought a white gift for either a soldier or refugee, and War Savings Stamps were given to new babies, and the sick remembered with fruit and flowers.

Meet at Warsaw.

It was decided to send $1.00 to the tuberculosis fund. A letter of appreciation was read from Pte. E. Hubble, overseas. A paper on "Milk Pasteurization" was given by Mrs. E. Greenly.

It was announced the district annual meeting will be held at Warsaw on May 26.

The program consisted of an instrumental solo by Mrs. Goldie Glenn, "Two Little Froggies"; reading, "When the Women Go Away," Miss Irene Wood. A contest was won by Mrs. E. Little. Lunch was served at the close by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Mann and Mrs. H. Dunford.

Mrs. James Cook has a real oddity in lilac bushes at her cottage. It is a white lilac bush covered with lovely white bloom and one part of the flowers is a purple color. It is all one plant and has bloomed with white lilacs for four years, this being the first year the colored ones have made their appearance.

Above Standard

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(AP)—The United States War Production Board decided to-day that any woman 5 feet 8½ inches or more in her stocking feet was of "unusual height" and therefore exempt from skirt and coat length limitations. Judges' robes were another exception.

Park Street Woodlot Suitable City Playground

"There is no other playground from Charlotte Street south to Lansdowne Street," said Alderman M. Swanston at the city hall Tuesday afternoon, suggesting to the parks committee that the Park Street woodyard be fixed up for the children of the neighborhood.

A kindred interest in the children of the city was manifested recently by the Kiwanis Club, with some intention of decision by the middle of this month. That time has passed, and nothing more has been heard from the direction of the service club.

"It would cost a lot of money to move the wood," was Mayor Hamilton's comment to the Swanston idea to put the grounds to the use of the younger generation instead of letting continue as a piling ground for dead wood.

"Let's push the wood over to one side," Alderman Swanston continued. "I don't think the field needs much to be done to it."

"Well, let us find out what it would cost," His Worship said, and another bright idea was left suspended for more consideration and information and without any return date tag on it.

Plenty Of Playgrounds

It runs within the memory of many citizens that every block on the west side, from Charlotte Street south, had a big playing field. In fact they were just unoccupied fields. Lacrosse and baseball thrived in the field aong the south side of Charotte Street, and amost identical fields extended on down through King, Bolivar, Sherbrooke, Paterson and Wolfe streets to the high board fence of the C.G.E.

City councils of thirty years or more have stood by and watched these empty spaces fill up until today there is no place for the young generation except the streets and the picture shows.

Every cellar excavated was the promise of more taxes, and one of the boasts of present day Peterborough is that it is now one of the most densely occupied communities in the country. Vacant properties are greatly reduced. Every taxable foot of ground on most streets is being taxed, reflecting great glory in the realm of municipal financing.

And for $250 a year the council was ready to rent the Park Street property to Wartime Housing, and thrust another group of children from a remnant playground on to the streets or the railway tracks.

No Playground Advocates

Look back over the list of mayors and aldermen for thirty years and name one of them who advocated any consideration for the essential community provision of playgrounds. And the crowning declaration of indifference to the rights of the youngest generation was that refusal by a council of a few years ago to accept a lot from a property owner who was willing to give it to the city.

Pass that property today and you see children playing on it, because no one has bought it for a house. So, the taxpayers through their council may have the fine satisfaction of knowing that they have been and are still getting the taxes on that property and the children are playing there.

One of these days some one will build three, and the taxes will be increased from an assessment of something like $300 to $3,000. Ten times more taxes, and not a foot of the property left for the children of the vicinity.

That must be consonant with civic ideals of Peterborough because no one ever raises a voice of objection.

"Sell the vacant lots! Get rid of them! Cut the price and tie a string demanding erection of a house within twelve months." That was the depression time slogan at the city hall.

Tie up good ground for kids to play on! Can you recall anyone urging that community policy.

King Edward Park

Of course there is King Edward Park, and it is used throughout the year. But, Alderman Swanston told the parks committee the other afternoon that he understood Genelco employees and other industrial groups were going to use that field more than ever this season. That observation is not connected with reference to playgrounds, because the young folks usually play their games in the mornings and afternoons.

Seemingly the policy of the council for a generation has met yith the approval of parents as shown by their assent of silence to the scheme of municipal things which puts a premium on filling up all the lots with taxable houses. It might even be that Alderman Swanston might not find much support from the parents, the Local Council of Women, The Home and School Associations, Rotary, Kiwanis, Kinsmen, and all the other agencies with at least one eye to the children of Peterborough.

Norwood C.W.L. Elects Officers

NORWOOD, May 22.—(ENS).—At the annual meeting of the Norwood sub-division of the Catholic League, the following officers were elected to form a new executive: President, Miss J. Finn; 1st vice-president, Mrs. D. R. Brennan (Havelock), 2nd vice-president, Mrs. E. Waters; secretary, Mrs. Leo Herr, and treasurer Mrs. J. Cronin.

The secretary was instructed ot make a complete report of the war work done by the sub-division from the beginning of the war to the present time. The report lists articles as follows: 24 pairs socks, 2 pair seamen's socks, 9 helmets, 2 scardfs, 12 pair wristlets, 5 turtle neck sweaters, 2 sweaters, 1 sleeveless sweater,, 4 tuckins

Twenty-two dozen gauze handkerchiefs, 3 dozen khaki handkerchiefs, 2 dozen hampton bed pads, 3 ladies' jackets, 1 windbreaker, 1 child's coat, 10 pair men's pyjamas, 8 pair children's pyjamas, 1 grey flannel child's dress and panties, 6 girls' blouses, 4 kilties and panties, 2 pair pillows.

An autograph quilt was made and sent to the Red Cross Hospital in England. A donation of $2 was given to the local Red Cross for the purchase of a blanket. Two comforts and two quilts made from flannelette were given to the Red Cross. A donation of $2 for treats was given for local soldiers and later $1 was sent to Mrs. Lynch in Peterborough to help in the Diocesan cigaret fund and $1 to buy Rosaries for soldiers. A subscription to a magazine for soldiers was $2. Our share of the $25,000 gift to our government from the C.W.L. was $30. Four War Savings Certificates were purchased, $16.

A donation was given to the I.O.D.E. for 'ditty bags' for sailors and some knitting was also done for the I.O.D.E. The members of the League helped with the Red Cross tea held in March giving $5 for sandwich material and also supplying cookies and tarts.

Some of the members helped in the quiltings held in the country districts and others in the Red Cross rooms, cutting and sewing and boxing quilts and finished articles.

Two donations of $5 each was given to the local Red Cross Society, as well as 15c from each member to buy a ham for the Red Cross social last June. A donation of $33 was also given the local Red Cross from the Parish social in 1940 and $25 was given from the social in 1941.

Lumber Runs Low

WASHINGTON, May 22—(AP).—Defence housing construction throughout the United States is slowing to a standstill as a result of the armys hold on virtually all supplies of softwood construction lumber. War Production Boarl officials said to-day. In at least 15 cities, many with heavy concentrations of war industries, housing projects have been stopped entirely and at least 35 other cities have reported "critical" situations because of dwindling lumber stocks.

Duce Reports Progress

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 22 — (AP). — Mussolini said in an address at a Fascist party gathering in Rome yesterday that he recently had made a tour of Sardinia, here he found that "enormous progress has been made in all fields, but that much also remains to be done."

(Sardinia is a large Italian-owned island in the western Mediterranean south of Corsica. Significance of Mussolini's visit was not disclosed but fear of a possible Allied attack is implied.)

R.A.F. Pastes Sub Nest At St. Nazaire

More Reinforcements Of Canadian Airmen Get Over

LONDON, May 23—(CP).—Vast squadrons of the Royal Air Force swept to the offensive across the English Channel in daylight today after another night attack on the Nazi submarine nest at St. Nazaire.

Observers at Folkestone said the fliers sped out at such height their only visible signs were vapor trails high in the sky. These were joined by others in intricate, winding patterns which mean, the watchers said, that German fighters were offering resistance.

The night attacks which included mine-laying operations in enemy waters, were announced by the Air Ministry. It said all the raiders returned safely.

Hate Training Becomes Taboo in Army Units As Foreign to Our British Temperament

EDINBURGH, May 23—(CP Cable).—"Hate training" in the British Army is to be discontinued. Army commanders have been advised by Gen. Sir Bernard Paget, commander-in-chief of the home forces, that use of strong language and attempts to produce blood lust or hate during battle training are to be "stopped immediately."

Gen. Paget's letter was read at the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland today by Rev. J. Hutchinson Cockburn, former Moderator, who protested recently to the War Office against a B.B.C. "hate" broadcast describing the battle training school. Mr. Cockburn was authorized to read the letter to the Assembly.

The letter said "both points arose from a combination of enthusiasm and inexperience in young officers, but they will certainly do more harm than good if not stopped immediately."

Of the attempt to produce blood lust or hate during training, Gen. Paget said such an attitude of hate is "foreign to our British temperament."

Begin Jailing Axis Aliens, Sets Guards

Public May Force Declaration Early Next Week

MEXICO CITY, May 23—(AP).—Mexico lacked only the formality of apparently certain Congressional approval to-day to become a full-fledged ally in the war against the Axis.

Her decision was made rapidly last night as a wave of public fury swept the country over the news that Axis submarines had sunk the second Mexican merchant ship within eight days.

Even while awaiting President Manuel Avila Camacho's formal proclamation of war, the first in Mexico's history, the Republic put precautionary measures against the Axis aliens quietly into force and took its first military steps.

A special session of the full cabinet announced after three hours' deliberation that Congress would be called in special session "to authorize the President to declare the existence of a state of war."

Congress must be convened within ten days, but next Thursday was set tentatively for the session and there are indications the aroused public might insist on a meeting still earlier, possibly next Monday or Tuesday.

The Government's statement clearly defined the reasons that swept Mexico toward war—the Axis' sinking of the Mexican tanker Potrero del Llano off Florida, its refusal to accept a protest of that sinking and then its sinking Wednesday of the tanker Faja de Oro, all within eight days.

Great Welcome for Survivors.

Survivors from the ships still had not reached the capital when the war decision was made last night, but a great patriotic demonstration was organized to greet their arrival to-day as the wheels started turning to bring Congress back from its recess.

Government sources indicated the alien control measures would not be enforced fully. The military activities also were kept a state secret.

Even before the announcement that Mexico was declaring war "in consideration of the aggression of which the country has been victim," there were indications that government departments are ready for swift action to meet war conditions.

Air Conference Enters 2nd Phase Extending Empire Training Plan

OTTAWA, May 23—(CP).—Delegates of Canada and three other British Commonwealth powers attending the Ottawa Air Training Conference were at work today on the second phase of their discussions — extension of operation of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

The main international training conference which brought delegates of 14 members of the United Nations to the Dominion capital was ended and delegates from most of the countries concerned were preparing reports to their governments of the conference findings.

But representatives of Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand remained to confer with Canada on plans for extension of the Commonwealth training plan.

Satisfaction with the outcome of the conference and the increased co-operation made possible by the talks has been publicly expressed by Maj. C. G. Power, Canadian Air Minister, and chairman of the conference, and other high officials who joined in the discussions.

It was revealed yesterday that the first concrete results of the talks probably will be the establishment of a combined committee on air training in North America.

Need 3-Way Sanction.

Canada, Great Britain and the United States are the three powers carrying on actual training operations on this continent. The committee, whose headquarters were set for Washington, presumably would require approval of the three governments, who would appoint representatives.

Meanwhile, the British delegation, headed by Capt. Harold Balfour, went into conference with experts from Canada, New Zealand and Australia on a variety of subjects relating to the Commonwealth plan.

One of the most important aspects of the discussions was expected to be that of the grouping of Canadians in their own units within the Royal Air Force overseas.

Other matters on which it was anticipated the deliberations would touch were the financing of the training plan with its 90-odd establishments in the Dominion, the granting of commissions to aircrew recruits on this continent after they pass through the regular Commonwealth plan schools.

Actor Escapes Greece 2nd Try

By J. NORMAN LODGE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, May 23 — (AP).— Alexandre Minotis, leading actor of the Royal Theatre, Athens, who twice escaped from a German prison camp, is doing the only thing he wants to do at the moment — "breathing deeply of New York's free air."

"I hardly like to go to bed," he said, "for every time I close my eyes I see the panorama of suffering my people are undergoing. I see again the atrocities of the gestapo. I see the dead and dying in the streets of Athens and I see the hopelessly starved women and children emaciated, suffering, but never crying."

Minotis who arrived in New York by Pan-American clipper, rejoined his wife here.

On April 25, 1941, in company with 1,000 British, Greek and Yugoslav soldiers and 14 British nurses, Minotis left Greece on a ship which was bombed at Piraeus. He said that of the 1,000 aboard, 840 were killed.

Two nights later German aviators came to the house in which he

9 In Ghost Fleet Will Stay Put

By LARRY ALLEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 23 — (AP)—The Vichy French "ghost fleet" lying in Alexandria Harbor probably will remain just that regardless of whether Pierre Laval eventually decides to turn French warships over to the Axis.

One of the loneliest men of the worlds' navies is Vice Admiral Rene Emile Godfroy, commander of the nine French men-of-war immobilized since July, 1940, in faithful compliance with the agreement not to attempt to leave port.

Godfroy keeps a close watch on develpoments in Vichy and any German pressure to obtain use of the French fleet. But he just shrugs his shoulders and says:

"There is nothing I could do. I gave my word to Admiral Cunningham."

Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham formerly was commander-in-chief of the British Mediterranean Fleet.

After the Battle of Oran when British warships fired upon French ships Godfroy agreed with Admiral Cunningham to demobilize the French warships at Alexandria and promised never to try to move the fleet out of the harbor. Britain promised not to take over the ships forcibly.

Since July, 1940, one French battleship, four cruisers, three destroyers, and one submarine have been lying in the harbor. Their crews total 1,800 men. Nearly 4,000 officers and sailors were repatriated to France.

Red Cross And Community Chest Drive Over Top By $10,000

Another body blow to Hitler has been struck, and another step travelled along the road to final and complete victory, with the announcement that the campaign to raise $60,000 for the Red Cross and Community Fund has gone over the top with flying colors.

Maintaining that reputation for getting things done, local citizens left little doubt about the outcome of the appeal and with more than seventy-five per cent. of the contributions in cash, the total, still incomplete, which was reported at 6.15 on Friday evening had reached the magnificent sum of $69,103.00. Indications were that the drive total might reach $72,00 before Tuesday evening when it is expected a complete picture of the contributions in all divisions will be available.

There was no lagging in any division of the campaign, and while some of the workers, particularly the ladies, had the harder job to do, they swept into the effort with a will and beat their objective. Here are the totals so far with the original objective. Special names, objective $20,000, received $22,836; women's division, objective $3,000, received $5,485; industrial, objective $25,000, received $26,467; retail division, objective $12,000, received $13,974. Besides this the schools of the city added 341 to top last year's effort of $235 by a wide margin.

Every Section Over

Mayor Hamilton voiced his thanks to the workers briefly and handed the meeting at the Empress Hotel over to Ross Dobbin. Each division head spoke in turn, Mrs. John R. Marshall paid tribute to her corps of workers for almost doubling their

Timoshenko's Shock Troops Seesaw On Kharkov Flank, Nazis Lose 15,000 In 3 Days

Reds Slaughter Paratroops As They Land Wreck 11 German Charges In Row; Action Grows Heavier Along Taganrog Railway

LONDON, May 23—(CP).—German and Rumanian forces have been exerting strong pressure for the last 24 hours against Russian positions along the Taganrog-Rostov railway on the north shore of the Sea of Azov, Reuters dispatches "from the German frontier" reported today.

The action, the dispatches said, apparently presages a German offensive aimed at recapture of Rostov, strategic port at the mouth of the River Don which could serve as the springboard for a direct overland drive against the rich Caucasian oil fields.

Rostov was recaptured by the Russians last November after it had been held briefly by the Germans.

The Reuters dispatches also reported that some German and Rumanian troops released from action around Kerch in the Crimea had been moved to positions before Sevastopol with a view to finally reducing that Soviet naval base.

The German air force was said to have been bombarding Russian positions there violently for the last 48 hours.

The same sources said it appeared unlikely the battle of Kharkov would be decided for another 10 days, although it already has been raging unabated for 11 days.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 23—(AP).—Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's shock troops are reported fighting from newly-fortified positions before Kharkov today and a Red Star dispatch said the Germans are having "alternate successes" in flanking counter attacks to the south despite a loss of 15,000 killed there in three days.

One Soviet gain was reported officially in the Kharkov sector. "Our units dislodged the enemy from a powerfully-fortified position," the information bureau said. "In retreating, the Germans abandoned five field guns, 12 machine guns, a mine dump and a radio station."

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, reported a see-saw battle in the Izyum-Barenkova sector, a Ukrainian region south of Kharkov in which the Germans concentrated huge forces to attack several points simultaneously. Russian defences, however, were described in this first press report from that front as solid.

The Germans hurled three groups of tanks into a narrow sector in an effort to drive a wedge into the Russian lines, the dispatch said, but Soviet troops destroyed 39 tanks and then drove the invaders back several miles with a counter-attack.

"During the night of May 22-23 our troops in the Kharkov direction consolidated their positions and engaged the enemy in offensive battle," a mid-day communique reported.

The Soviet information bureau announced a digging-in process of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's divisions (logical procedure as a backstop in any slowing battle) and again it made no announcement of a general advance.

Peterboro Man Capt. Chalmers Heads Big Air Job

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, May 23 (CP Cable)—One of the largest airdromes in Britain is being built by the Royal Canadian Engineers as a base for fighter, bomber and reconnaissance squadrons of the Royal Canadian Air Force which will operate under the Canadian Army Command.

Soldier-lumbermen from the Canadian Forestry Corps in Scotland have come to England to clear the forest for the airdrome Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton says will be "the finest in the country."

Preparing the great base for the army's proposed new air component is the biggest construction job the R.C.E. has undertaken.

To have the airdrome ready for the Canadian squadrons the R.C.E. set a deadline for completion which staggers British construction experts.

The whole area is one roaring construction camp as the troops work from dawn until the late evening blackout, on two eight-hour shifts. Bulldozers level off runways; graders, trenchers and giant carry-alls are in action; huge concrete

U-Boat Threatens Havana Surprise

HAVANA, Cuba, May 23—(AP). —A mysterious announcer, who identified himself as the commander of a German submarine lying only 1½ miles off the Havana waterfront promised the Cuban people last night they were in for "a surprise," Havana newspapers reported today.

"This is the second time we have visited Havana and very soon we will give you a surprise," he was quoted as saying in perfect Spanish after giving his identity and the location of his vessel.

"It isn't fair," he added, "that while the German people are suffering the consequences of the British blockade with the support of the United States, American girls should be enjoying themselves on the beaches.

"Our submarines will take care of that."

The announcer was said to have gone off the air after making this threat.

Kharkov Forces Nazis to Juggle Plans

Kerch Proves Costly For Hitler—Dampens Hope Of Quick Victories Everywhere

Written for The Canadian Press
By MAJ.-GEN. SIR CHARLES GWYNN

LONDON, May 23—(CP Cable). —I suggested some weeks ago that a Russian Spring offensive might anticipate that of the Germans. That offensive has come and has had encouraging success.

It apparently caught the Germans by surprise and forced them to improvise measure to meet it. Prepared German positions were overrun on a wide front and in places were quickly penetrated to a depth of some 40 miles.

German defensive theories are based mainly on counter-attack, and, as might have been expected, many of these counter blows have been delivered, though without marked success and at heavy cost. They appear to have been made by tanks supported in some cases by infantry towed in armored trailers. They will have had disturbing effects on German plans if the Germans have been forced to use defence armored formations designed primarily for major offensive operations.

First Aim Is German Supply Centres

The German counter offensive launched northwards from the narrow salient whose tip includes the key points of Stalino and Artemovsk evidently is a more deliberate operation and almost certainly must include an armored spearhead. Should it make considerable progress, it might be a serious threat to the left of Marshal Timoshenko's offensive and its communications. Delivered on a front of some 20 miles, it does not, however, appear to have great weight and may be premature evployment of part of a force not yet ready for general operations.

The object of Timoshenko's offensive has not yet been fully revealed. It may have only the object of disturbing and throwing into confusion German offensive plans or it may be the opening move in a Russian general offensive which may extend as the ground dries farther north.

Timoshenko's immediate objective is, of course, the capture or complete isolation of Kharkov and Krasnograd to the south with their important communicating routes. At both these towns there must be a great accumulation of war material, for they provide advance bases for the German thrust designed to turn the Donets line. Their capture would have an immensely disrupting effect on German plans and in addition would facilitate exploitation of the success towards the Dnieper and vital German communication through Dnieperpetrovsk.

Kerch Attack Cost Germans Heavily.

It is still premature to count on Timoshenko's operations having a full measure of success in view of stiffening German resistance and the threat of a German counter offensive on his left flank. If he can successfully repel the counter offensive on his left, the results he has achieved in disrupting German preparations will be all the more far-reaching.

It must be admitted that if resistance on Kerch has not already ceased as the Germans claim, the peninsula is bound soon to be in their hands. Capture of the peninsula evidently has been a costly operation and affords little encour-

Rubber Jobs Ruled Vital

Employment Placed On Non-Poaching List

OTTAWA, May 23.—(CP). — It was announced to-day from the office of Elliott M. Little, director of National Selective Service, that production of synthetic rubber falls within the category of chemical industries which are not on the list of restricted occupations.

The announcement said that although manufacture of rubber products appears on the list of restricted occupations, production of tires and certain other products was of the utmost importance in the war effort.

Labor in this industry, it was stated, should regard itself as engaged in vital work, and any enticement of labor from such employment by other employees was a violation of the so-called 'poaching' order-in-council.

The announcement added that national selective service offices throughout the country have been instructed to issue permits freely for employment in the production of such rubber goods and to take every step possible to make labor available to the rubber industry.

Nazis Execute Another 10

10 More To Die If Soldier's Assailant Not Caught

VICHY, May 23—(AP)—The Germans announced today that 10 hostages have been executed in occupied France in reprisal for an attack against a German soldier May 19 and that 10 others will be shot, if the attackers are not found within eight days.

The Nazi notice, signed by "the German commander for Greater Paris" and dated today, said:

"An attack was committed May 19 in Paris against a member of the German army. The young man responsible for the attack escaped. As reprisal, 10 persons, Communists and Jews and persons closely linked with criminal circles, were immediately shot.

"In case the authors of the attack are not found within eight days following publication of the present notice, an equal number of persons will be shot. In addition, a number of persons closely associated with the criminal circle will be transferred to a labor camp."

C.C.F. WANTS NO PRIVATE COMPANIES HOLDING UP WAR EFFORT

M.P.'s Debate Private Oil Holdings

Coldwell Demands No Holdups Be Let Bar War Need

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 23—(CP)—A suggestion by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. House Leader, that private companies should not be permitted to stand in the way of development of Canadian natural resources such as oil, was open for consideration of House of Commons members today.

Mr. Coldwell said in the House at Friday's abbreviated sitting that the Dominion should have the right to deal with companies which are holding valuable resources, including petroleum, without allowing the country to reap any benefit from them.

Oil development possibilities have been frequently discussed in the week's sittings. The C.C.F. leader's suggestion came during debate on second reading of a bill to repeal the Petroleum and Naptha Inspection Act. Revenue Minister Gibson said this act had been superseded by other Dominion and Provincial statutes dealing with the handling and storage of gasoline and similar products. It was put down for third reading at the next sitting of the House.

The House spent Friday's sitting debating five bills. It gave third reading to a bill empowering the Toronto harbor commissioners to refund outstanding debentures with a new issue. A bill reappointing Canadian National Railways' auditors was given third reading.

New Ottawa Deal

A bill providing for an agreement with the City of Ottawa whereby the Dominion pays $100,000 annually in lieu of taxation received third reading, while progress was reported on a bill amending the Canada Evidence Act to permit the use of microfilm in storing records.

During the week Munitions Minister Howe had assured House members that inquiry was being made into the development of the tar sands of Northern Alberta, that oil shale deposits in the Maritimes were being examined and drilling programs in promising oil areas in Western Canada were being encouraged.

Mr. Coldwell yesterday read a resolution passed by Indians of Manitoulin island on petroleum leases and capped wells located there. The Indians said the records of the leases were lost, while oil seepage caused them to believe good oil wells could be developed.

Mr. Coldwell asked: "Why should companies be able to cap wells and keep them capped, sometimes for many years, as in this particular case, while the Government apparently has no power either to transfer the leases to somebody else or to compel certain work to be done?"

This and similar cases should be investigated and "it is about time we revised our laws regarding leases and the right of companies to prevent the use of resources which properly belong to all the people and which are of vital importance to the nation."

Allied Raiders Get 2 Ships, 13 Jap Planes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 23—(CP).—Allied bombers have knocked two more Japanese ships out of the enemy's potential invasion forces gathering north of Australia and have pared his air strength by another 133 planes, Gen. Duglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Both ships were in the principal Japanese invasion bases among the islands north of Australia—a large transport at Rabaul, New Britain, was "left in a crippled condition" and a tanker at Lae, New Guinea, was "severely damaged."

The Japanese offered only feeble resistance to these new air smashes, part of the positive defence plan by which Allied airmen have hammered at Japan's chief advance concentration centres without respite since the enemy moved into Australia's island roof.

Eight Japanese fighter planes rose to challenge the raiders at Lae, the communique said, but five were shot down and "all our planes returned safely."

Besides the tanker and the fighter planes bagged in flight, two enemy bombers were destroyed on the ground on the Lae airdrome.

At Rabaul, the communique said, "enemy interception was ineffective," and "six heavy Japanese bombers were badly damaged."

The Australian Government, meanwhile, moved to step up this continent's defences by approving plans to treble the corps of volunteer observers, who now keep watch 24 hours a day for the appearance of enemy planes.

Air Minister Arthur Drakeford said the corps would function in close liaison with the United States army air force and would absorb a large number of Australian air force officers to maintain contact with the vast network of observers.

objective. Ian McRae, head of the industrial division, said R. E. Layfield was the man responsible for the attainment of the objective in the industrial bracket, but Mr. Layfield said it was the workers in the factories. Of the 35 industries listed, 28 were over the top. Chris Hughes, chairman of the Retail Division said, returns were incomplete, but already five team captains had beaten their objectives. G. S. Mathews chairman of Special Names, added he believed about $1200 more would come in.

C. A. Salmonsen, former works' manager of the C.G.E. and who was head of last year's campaign, and now in the States, sent a telegram of congratulation and encouragement to the committee and this was read by Mayor Hamilton.

W. A. Richardson, statistician for the campaign, said the smooth working organization is responsible for the fine success, and this organization was started last year. "Peterborough is the best town in the country, everyone is willing to help."

At this point in the deliberations, a voice from the audience said "Where is Jim Wharry's bicycle," and Mr. Wharry, still searching without success for his new bicycle, which had been stolen from the Quaker Oats plant on Thursday said, "I would be mighty glad to have it back."

Bachelor Gets Goat

Mr. Wharry then stated that Paige Rowell, who had won the goat on Tuesday, as not making a very good fist of feeding the animal. Mrs. Rowell apparently had this criticism directed at her too, in so much as Mr. Wharry seemed to believe she had the responsibility of looking after the goat.

The goat was then presented to Ross Dobbin for permanent possession, and will soon be on display up at the filtration plant.

Robert Abbott, of the Raybestos plant, expressed his concern over the loss of Mr. Wharry's bicycle, and said he had trouble sleeping because of the loss. Mr. Wharry was finally informed that the committee members felt so badly about the theft of the bicycle that they had chipped in and purchased a new bicycle for him. The gift was then brought into the dining room, and handed over to Jim. It was well crated and wrapped with paper, and when Mr. Wharry got the wrapping paper off the wheel, he discovered it was his own machine.

During the evening, Mrs. Goldie sang two solos and the Temple Songsters played several selections.

Major Jame Turnbull of the Stormont, Dunda and Glengarry Highlanders and Capt. the Rev. Father Grant, were guests at the dinner. The Rev. Dr. George S. Easton, of Trinity United church was introduced by Ross Dobbin, and in a short talk he gave his impression of the wonderful job that had been done in record time.

Hopes Exceeded

"I want to say very briefly, very sincerely and very emphatically two things to this audience. First, thank you. Speaking not as a member of the executive committee, nor as a worker or canvasser but as a citizen and a contributor to the Red Cross, and Community Fund, I would like to say what I think thousands of proud citizens and contributors of this city would desire that I say. To the workers and committee we wish to express our great appreciation on the success that has been obtained which not only exceeded our hopes but is also a rebuke to any who are pessimists and knockers. So we the citizens who have had the privilege of contributing to the fund desire to voice our deep appreciation and thanks to the executive committee, the other committees and all the canvassers for the magnificent results attained—results which place our citizens' loyalty to our community, our country and our empire in a fine light. And results that will bring cheering confidence to our sailors, soldiers and air force.

My second statement is "Carry On". This campaign is a cog, just a tiny yet important cog in the machinery of our war effort. If our war aims are to be realized and the ruthlessness and barbaric wickedness of dictator nations stopped and corrected, we must be prepared to supply other cogs in our war machine. These other cogs are, firstly. More young men must volunteer for service in the three branches, and place themselves shoulder to shoulder with comrades who have volunteered to make the supreme sacrifice.

Secondly—the navy, army and air force must be supported by a strong, well-organized, healthy, active and confident nation where each citizen will work harder and harder at the job in hand, will practise economy and personal sacrifice, will save and lend to the government and assist all recognized war charities.

The work of a committee and group of workers such as you are should not finish with this campaign. In days to come there will be many things which such a group could do, such as asisting in recruiting, sale of War Savings Stamps and Certificates, and be ready at all times to throw the weight of your organization behind any further appeal for funds."

War Emergency Training Well Attended

PORT HOPE, May 23—(ENS).—Seventy-eight students of the Emergency in War classes met in the Town Hall for practise in bandaging, application of splints to fractures, dressings to cuts and wounds, artificial repiration from drowning, gas poisoning and electric shock.

Mrs. Britton reminded the first-aider "to splint them where they lie" to prevent him from doing further harm, stressing the necessity for keeping the fracture mobile and of keeping the patient warm and so lessen effects and shock of accident.

Mrs. Wetherspoon addressed the first-aiders, thanking the convener, Mrs. Britton, for conducting the classes and to the assisting nurses for their co-operation in the supervision of the demonstrations.

Mrs. Wotherspoon suggested the formation and registration of members of this group into an auxiliary unit of volunteers ready to help, at any time, in any capacity, in the event of a war emergency, and this idea was enthusiastically received and enrolment papers will be sent for.

A record of finances and attendance was given, which was an average of 84 members at all classes since its formation on March 19.

The class continued with demonstrations and all were keen and interested in practicing the skills realizing by their applications of the procedures taught in the course of lectures and demonstrations that by continued and consistent practice they could accept the responsibility of carrying out the basic principles of civic defence in knowing what to do in emergency and how to do it quickly and without panic.

It was decided that further demonstrations will be given once a month during the summer in home nursing. Notice of date and time of classes will be announced and a complete statement of the Red Cross Emergency in War classes given at an early date.

Ex Campbellford Boy Gets 6th Division Post

OTTAWA, May 23.—(CP).— Defence Minister Ralston to-day announced the names of the brigade commanders and the commanders Royal Canadian Artillery of the 6th and 7th Canadian division. All will have the rank of brigadier.

Brigades in the 6th division, commanded by Major-General A. E. Potts of Saskatoon, leader of the Spitzbergen expedition last fall, will be in command of Brigadiers D. R. Sargent, of Vancouver, V. Hodson of Toronto and London, Ont., and Lt.-Col. J. A. Leclaire of Montreal. The divisional artillery will be commanded by Brig. R. A. Fraser, V.D., of Montreal.

Brigadiers O. M. Martin of Toronto, C. B. Topp, D.S.O., M.C., of Ottawa, and Lt.-Col. H. W. Murdock of Truro and Amherst, N.S., are appointed to the command of the 7th division brigades, with Lt.-Col. R. E. G. Roome of Dartmouth, N.S., as commander of the divisional artillery. The division is under the command of Maj.-Gen. P. E. Lercerk of Montreal.

Brig. Sargent at present is officer commanding Vancouver defences, Brig. Hodson, until recently in command of an armored division brigade, now is commanding a west coast defence area, Brig. Leclaire is officer commanding the regiment De Hyacinthe and Brig. Fraser, recently returned to Canada, commanded divisional artillery overseas.

Brig. Martin's new appointment moves him from the 6th to the 7th division, Brig. Topp commanded a brigade division overseas until last March, Brig. Murdock was officer commanding the North Nova Scotia Highlanders overseas and Brig. Roome commanded an artillery regiment overseas.

Brig. Sargent, born at Campbellford, Ont., enlisted in the ranks in the First Great War and was appointed a lieutenant in the 232nd battalion in 1916.

He served in France and Belgium. Four months after the outbreak of the present war he was appointed to command the 1st Battalion (Details) Canadian Scottish with the rank of lieutenant-colonel and the following May was promoted to Brigadier and to command an infantry brigade overseas. He returned to Canada last September and as been on the Pacific coast.

Berlin's Version

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), May 23—(AP).—The German high command claimed today that the Russian mass attacks on Kharkov had collapsed completely and military quarters added that German troops have shifted to the offensive in the gigantic battle for the Russian city.

On the northwestern front the German high command added, the Russians were continuing attacks south-east of Lake Ilmen but without success.

The German communique said the Nazis destroyed 452 Russian planes between May 14 and May 21, while the Germans lost 45 planes.

Seventy Women Receive Awards

COBOURG, May 23 — (ENS). — Seventy women who took the course in war emergencies received their certificates last night at the Ontario Hospital from Miss R. Sayr, Red Cross Headquarters, Toronto, Assistant Director of Health, Home Nursing and Emergency Courses. Miss Irene Shaw, superintendent of nurses at the Ontario Hospital, was chairman, and introduced Miss Sayr.

The structure of the Canadian Red Cross Corps Emergency Reserve was outlined by Miss Sayr, who said that it was divided into two sections. One section was made up of graduate nurses and the other section was composed of those who had completed Red Cross Home Nursing courses not more than two years ago and those who had finished war emergencies courses. The groups in the second section were headed by graduate nurses. These groups gave their time voluntarily for work in hospitals, home nursing and in war emergencies. The vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Miss C. Reynar.

The course, which began in March, consisted of nine lectures given by local doctors, the subjects including war psychology, shock, hemhorrages, wounds, burns, drowning and resuscitation, electric shock, A.R.P. work and roller bandaging. The demonstrations during the lectures were given by nurses of the Ontario Hospital.

strength The new movement was described as "small."

The contingent was made up of observers, air gunners, and a small number of pilots and wireless operators-air gunners, R.A.A.F., R.N.Z.A.F., and R.A.F. airmen arrived with the Canadians.

The airmen said the crossing was without incident and in ideal weather, enabling them to spend the days on deck. Throughout the voyage they stood regular watches and manned the ships guns.

Canadian observers included PO. R. D. Hann, Vancouver PO. A. J. Ireland, Camrose, Alta., PO. D. Ditchburne, Toronto, PO. Bill Whimster, Calgary, and PO. Alex. Gardner-Medwin, Toronto. One of the air gunners was PO. D. R. Wiley London, Ont.

agement to German hopes of lightning victories elsewhere. Importance of the capture is not great in itself, for unless a major offensive on the mainland succeeds in crossing the Don, no attacks on Caucasia based on Kerch alone could be undertaken on a dangerous scale.

On the central and northern sectors of the front Russian harrassing attacks continue but any time now they may give place to a major offensive delivered by either side.

Withdrawal in Burma.

Success of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's withdrawal in Burma is perhaps best proved by the widely extravagant Japanese claims which suggest disappointed hopes.

On the Burma Road the Chinese are putting up a gallant and skilful defence, counter - attacking with considerable measure of success. It seems highly improbable that the Japanese will attempt a far-reaching invasion of China by this route and may only be attempting to reach more healthy high ground during the rainy season.

The Chinese are showing anxiety that the Japanese, having interrupted the inflow of war material, now may attempt to overcome Chinese resistance by renewing operations from the east and south-east. The season is now, however, favorable for military operations in China where the rivers fed by melting snow at their source will soon be in flood, and it is the rainy season.

Silent But Confident

The air battle continues in the Australian zone with the counter offensive maintaining the upper hand. Japanese concentrations of naval forces and transports to renew the attempt frustrated by the Coral Sea engagements are reported in progress but apparently they have not yet been located. Although reticence is maintained, there appear grounds for believing the results of the Coral Sea battle were more favorable to the Allies than at first believed.

In all theatres the reticence of Allied communiques is becoming increasingly marked, though the general tone of confidence grows. On the other hand the Axis tendency to exaggerate any successes tends to confirm reports and indications of waning confidence, confidence which growing unrest in the occupied countries and the jealousies of minor partners must shake.

Theatre Packed As Pupils Mark Empire Day

PORT HOPE, May 23.—(ENS)—Empire Day was celebrated by the Public school children in a most fitting manner. On Friday afternoon when more than 600 public school children gathered at the Capitol Theatre where Mr. Smart, the manager, had arranged suitable pictures as part of the program.

The program opened with Arnold Foster reading the 96th Psalm which was followed by the Lord's Prayer led by Mr. Howard Jordon, public school principal, who also made a few suitable remarks at this time. A recitation 'My Native Land" was given by Jacqueline Clarke, followed by the school in chorus with "O Canada."

Mayor Sherman Gifford's address received hearty applause. Mayor Gifford mentioned how under Queen Victoria or during her reign the British Empire had reached its peak and now the nations of the British Empire are rallying together in one great cause. His closing remark was "Remember this day as a great day for a great Empire.

Eighteen members of Miss Dorothy McElroy's class gave a fine demonstration of expression in a choral reading "The Little Boy Ran Away."

"The King is Still in London" was sung by the entire schools of the towns.

Represented I.O.D.E.

The Colonel Arthur Williams Chapter of the I.O.D.E. attended in a group with their Regent, Mrs. M. S. Hawkins and Mrs. Haultain, a past regent gave an inspiring address. Mrs. Haultain addressed her audience as a former regent of the I.O.D.E. She asked the children, What is there for you to do? This she answered with, You have a very important part to play as the men and women who will have to build up a broken world when the fight is over, and you must know how to do it."

Mrs. Haultain went on to explain to the children that they would only learn through God's help as this is a great fight between good and evil.

Alex Kellough recited, "To the R.A.F." and Janet Dayman and Marie Abrams sang a duet, with Mr. F. W. Stanley accompanying them on the piano.

Dr. McKechnie was the next speaker who explained to the children that when he went to public school there was no Empire Day but only a public holiday because it was Queen Victoria's birthday on May 24. Dr. McKechnie told how today, May 22, we are celebrating the 75th year of the signing of the Act that made the Dominion of Canada a part of the British Empire and thus the dates of May 22 and May 24 were combined and are now celebrated as Empire Day in Canada instead of just Queen Victoria's birthday, thus celebrating two events in one on May 24.

The singing of "Hearts of Oak" was followed by a group of pictures donated by the theatre.

"Land Of Our Birth" was sung by over 600 pupils while the flag was unfurled on the platform by Tim Rowden, Jimmy Watson and Ronny Tozier and the program closed with God Save the King.

Shadow Can Mean Much In the Life of Every Man

By REV. E. R. JAMES

They brought forth the sick into the streets that at least the shadow of Peter might overshadow some of them.—Acts 5:15.

"Superstition" you exclaim. Are you sure? A Boston newspaper calmly stated: "Everything looked black on Newspaper Row; but Bishop Philip Brooks passed by, and all was well." A man of God passed by. A high class Hindoo is cooking his dinner. You pass by and your shadow falls on it. Calmly he casts it into the ditch. Your shadow has defiled it. Hindoo philosophy teaches that your character passes into your shadow. A shadow brings a blessing or a curse. Is that absurd? A good man has entered your house. Instinctively you feel that his presence is a blessing to your home. On the other hand the presence of an evil man with a satanic tongue spreads its horrible influence. It defiles.

Why did people place their sick in the streets? They knew that Simon Peter believed that Jesus Christ is the Son of God; that He rose from the dead and ascended into Heaven and ever liveth. Christ's life and vitality flowed into Peter and through Peter. Christ's character was seen in Peter's new tenderness, compassion and pity for the sick and diseased. Peter believed "in the Name of Jesus Christ."

In simple language Peter by faith touched the Lord Christ and there flowed into him the Life of the everlasting Son of God. Christ was being formed in him. Above all, everyone who came into touch and contact with Peter felt that power flowing from him. That power gave immunity—safety. "In my Name they shall take up serpents," said the Lord. Is this true? The Apostles and early Christians came into touch with the evil manifested in men and were not hurt by it; they might kill the body but not the soul. You also will meet with men under whose tongues is the poison of asps. They spit their poison at you. Lo, you are not hurt. The vitality of Christ is in you. His life is the antidote—it kills poison. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and for ever. To you, He cries: "I am He that liveth and was dead; and behold, I am alive for ever more."

These things can happen today. Men who accept Him by faith as Saviour and Redeemer discover the life, the spiritual life and power flowing into them. That power is not dammed up in them. They are merely the channel through which that power flows.

The reason why so many do not believe in Christianity is that they have not seen it in the lives of professing Christians. If you believe deeply in the Living Christ that same power will flow through you. You will be the channel of that powe..

Today the world is looking for Christian leadership; men who are filled with the vitality flowing from the Lord Christ. The outstanding wonder of the Apostolic Church was that "they preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following." These words are true in every age. But men today fall short of that deep faith.

To produce that deep faith there must be more earnest prayer. Through prayer you touch God, "The Life." Through prayer you open the channel for the power to flow through.

Then you must mediate more deeply on some passage of God's Word. The Word of God must enter into your mind and heart. You must be able to experience what the prophet meant: "I did eat it and it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness.

To your astonishment men will seek your company. Christianity is contagious. It is catching. It passes from person to person. This is the natural way men are touched. Your personality grips your fellow men. Then your friends and neighbors, like the men of the Apostolic Church, will bring their friends or persuade them to come into touch with you. They feel that your influence, "your shadow" will do them good. This is God's ideal in saving you. What an ideal. "Thanks be unto Thee, O Lord."

A man shall be as the shadow of a rock in a weary land.

Christ Spent Last Day With His 12 Disciples

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 24 is Luke 22: 7-38, the Golden Text being Luke 22:19, "This do in remembrance of Me.")

The incidents in last week's lesson took place on Tuesday before Christ's death. We do not know what He did on the next day, Wednesday. There is no record. He may, and probably did, retire to some quiet spot to commune with His Father and prepare Himself for the dreadful time that was coming.

Thursday, however, was the day of the Passover, and He was with His apostles. This was the commemoration of the night when the first-born of the Egyptians were slain by an angel of the Lord, while the children of the Israelites were spared because of a blood mark on each door. It was called the day of unleavened bread, and the ceremonies attending it were, and still are, performed with much solemnity.

Jesus sent Peter and Paul, saying, "Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat." When they asked where they would prepare it, He told them they would see a man bearing a pitcher of water on his head. They were to follow him and when he turned into a house, they were to ask the owner of the house to show them his upper furnished room. There they would eat their passover.

No one knows just where this place was, and some think He chose it so that His enemies (including Judas, whom He knew had sold himself to the evil one and was to betray Him) would not know where the Lord and the 12 would be. The two men did as He said and so the place for the last supper the 12 were to share with their Lord before His death was set. Usually the women of the household drew all the water, but in this particular feast the man of the house was supposed to draw the water with which to mix the unleavened bread.

The Last Supper Is Eaten

When the hour came Jesus sat down and the 12 apostles with Him. "And He said unto them, With desire have I desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer: For I say unto you, I will not any more eat thereof, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God."

He then took the cup of wine, gave thiks, and said: "Take this, and divided it among yourself: For I say unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God shall come."

And He took bread and gave thanks for that also and brake it and gave to them, saying, "This is My body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of Me."

This moment in the life of Jesus on earth is what we think of when we take the sacrament "in remembrance" of Him in His last day on earth with His chosen friends.

It seems queer to us that these close friends and followers of His did not realize what was so soon to befall their beloved Master. Not even when Jesus said, "But, behold, the hand of him that betrayeth Me is with Me on the table," did they sense the tragedy of the occasion. True, they began to say to themselves, who could it be, and each to question himself as to whether it could possibly be he who would do so dastardly a deed. But the next moment they began to quarrel among themselves as to whom should be the greatest among them. Jesus told them that the greatest among them should be the one to serve, as He served. They, however, were appointed to eat and drink at His table in His kingdom and to sit on thrones judging the 12 tribes of Israel.

Peter to Deny Him

The Lord then turned to Peter, and told him that Satan would tempt him, but that He, Jesus, had prayed for him and while he would give way to temptation, he wonld be converted and would thereafter strengthen his brethren.

Peter protested that he would be ready to go to prison with his Master, and even to death. Can you imagine the sad, sweet smile with which Jesus answered him, saying, "Peter, the cock shall not crow this day, before that thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest Me."

From this upper room, after this serious but pleasant time, none of the 12 except Judas, possibly, sensing the terrible events to follow, Jesus left to go to Gethsemane, and to His death. It was Thursday, April 6, A.D. 30.

To An Airman's Mother Reviewing Victoria Day

Give him the love that helps him through the terrors of the night. Give him the faith that sends him out with confidence to fight. Give him your trust and your belief in his abounding nerve, adding your courage to his own so that he cannot swerve.

He wants no tears to drag him back and make his worries more. He wants to know that you are working with him in this war, that you can face his peril with a valour of your own. Your spirit travels with him—he does not face death alone.

You are an airman's mother, with his honor in your eyes. Whatever risks he takes, you would not wish it otherwise. If he can give his manhood, proudly he carries duty through. If he can keep his date with death—undaunted—so can you.

The above lines were written by Kathleen Partridge at the request of the Empire Mothers' Fund in Great Britain. They were sent to Mrs. J. L. Young, 141 Rubidge street, by her son, Sergeant Pilot Griffin Young.

Cavan Institute Names Committees For Year

CAVAN, May 23.—(ENS)—Mrs. Ira Lowe, district president of the East Durham Women's Institute, was the guest of honor at the May meeting of the local branch held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Syer on Thursday afternoon with twenty-seven members present.

It was decided that the Institute pack a box for Walter Scott, a Cavan boy, who has arrived in England recently. The Institute also decided to pack a box every two months for each of the five Cavan boys overseas.

The conveners for the standing committees were then chosen:

Agriculture and Canadian Industry, Mrs. R. S. Staples; citizenship, Mrs. Milton Carr; historical research, Miss Malone; home economics, Mrs. Ralph Staples; social welfare, Mrs. R. Matchett; publicity, Miss Dorothy Armstrong; war work, Mrs. J. D. Hunter.

It was decided that the Cavan Institute hold a hostess tea on Thursday, June 11, in Cavan Community Hall.

Mrs. Love was introduced by the president and gave a most informative address covering the Women's Institute work across the Dominion, as far as war activities were concerned. She asked the members to take special care of the small utensils and articles used in the home every day so as to conserve materials. Mrs. Lowe extended a hearty invitation to all present to attend the district annual to be held at Mt. Pleasant on Friday, May 29.

Mrs. Alex Miller gave an amusing reading, "At a Baseball Game." Five school children, June and Jackie Miller, Betty Reynolds, Ken Fallis and Tom Richards sang two choruses. June Miller gave an instrumental, Jack Richards sang a solo, and Betty Reynolds a piano solo.

The district president was thanked for her informative address and the meeting closed with God Save the King, after which there was the annual exchange of slips, seeds and bulbs. A sale table at the meeting realized $2.17 for Mrs. Reynold's group. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Reynold's group, served lunch, and a social hour was enjoyed.

Ensign Ella Comstock Is Honored on 90th Birthday

Ensign Ella Comstock observed her ninetieth birthday on May 20. She is in perfect health and still caring for her own home at Westwood.

She was born on Maple Grove Farm about a mile from where she now resides and spent the earlier part of her life in that district, later she joined the Salvation Army. She travelled extensively from Victoria, B.C., to Montreal, Quebec, for the Army, and retired thirty years ago after 21 years of service.

ENSIGN ELLA COMSTOCK.

She resided in Lakefield for eleven years and was a devoted attendant at Regent Street United Church. She moved from Lakefield in 1925, and took up residence where she now resides with her brothers Peter and George. Peter predeceased her in 1932 and George in 1929. Since that time she has lived alone.

A number of friends and relatives surprised her with a birthday party. One noted guest present was her only surviving brother, William, who will celebrate his 88th birthday on July 8. Those who could not attend sent cards and best wishes.

The guests were met at the door by a great-niece, Marjorie Comstock, and were shown to the living-room to meet Miss Comstock.

Ater everyone had arrived Miss Comstock led the way to the dining-room and were seated at a spacious table centred with a birthday cake. Little Sylvia and Ronald Puffer, great-great-niece and nephew sang "Happy Birthday Greetings." The guests were served by nieces Mrs. Gordon Fox and Miss Margaret Comstock.

Among the gifts and bouquets of flowers that she received was noticed a basket of fruit from the Westwood Women's Institute and flowers from the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's United Church.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fox of Hastings, Mrs. Charles Blake and Mrs. Earl Cuthbertson of Norwood, Miss Ida Trotter of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trotter, Ernest and Sandford. Mrs. Karl Blewett of Bridgenorth, Mrs. J. H. Grant and Mrs. Garfield Puffer, Sylvia and Ronald of Crowe's Landing, Misses Margaret and Marjorie Comstock, William Comstock Mrs. Fred Nelson, Mrs. Hugh Cameron and Mary, Mrs. William Morris, Mrs. Corbet, and Mrs. Jane Thompson.

Reviewing Victorian Day

Empire Day, May 24, brings many recollections of the British Isles. It is commemorated as the anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria, who reigned over the destinies of the British Empire from 1837 to 1901. She was born on May 24, 1819, and was noted not so much for her ability as for her noble character. During her reign of 64 years, many events occurred which are now forgotten by many people. It is well, however, to refresh one's memory at times like this. History is in itself a revelation of God and a valuable means of religious education.

The day will recall to many people the British Isles, in which some of them were born, and from which in other cases their parents or grandparents came to Canada, England, Scotland, Ireland, are in themselves small in area, but they have left their indelible mark upon the history of mankind. Great men have been nurtured there who have exerted a profound influence upon religion, morality and social life. These island have cathedrals and churches that bear evidence to faith in God and eternal realities. There are law courts that stand for British justice in which the meanest criminal will get a fair trial. The history of the social life of Britain has undergone a marked evolution since the days of the iniquitous child labor of the early 19th century to those of the most approved labor movements of the present day.

A picture sermon on the British Isles will be given in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday night.

Thursday—Last Day With Disciples — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 22:7-38.

On the day of the Passover, Jesus sent Peter and John to follow a man bearing a pitcher of water. In an upper room of the house he entered, they should prepare the Passover.

When all sat at table in the upper room, Jesus took bread, brake it, and gave to His disciples, saying "This is My body, which is given for you; this do in remembrance of Me."

After supper He took the cup of wine, gave thanks for it, and said, "This cup is the new testament in My blood, which is shed for you," and He handed it to them.

After the food had been eaten and the wine drunk, Jesus said to His disciples, "But, behold, the hand of him that betrayeth Me is with Me on the table." (GOLDEN TEXT—Luke 22:21)

Public Ready To Co-operate

The public's reaction of assent this week to the effects upon them and their domestic economy of the disturbing news of fuel oil shortage was a cheering reflection of sound sentiment.

Peterborough alone has approximately five hundred homes with oil-burning furnaces of one type and another. To this numerous group of citizens the official report of an extreme shortage of oil, involving inescapable expenditure in preparation for next winter, accompanied by a change of established custom, was received in this city generally with a highly commendable spirit of understanding and practical acceptance, and with scarcely a note of complaint.

Interviews given under the impulse of first impressions of what the official warning entailed, disclosed a spirit of willing and instant compliance which clearly indicated a relegation of selfish thinking to some secondary place in the background of personal concern. Of course it was not entirely a glowingly virtuous reaction. Citizens began thinking of adjusting furnaces to new and more or less unexpected circumstances of fuel supply, but they went about in a manner of co-operation with the nation's authorities, and evidently too in a desire to help and to avoid hindering.

In all probability the last word has not been heard from the fuel controller. New factors may be expected to arise in the months ahead, but the present accounting of public spirit in the first phase of this emergency shows a stout and comprehending community heart which in its own loosely democratic way "can take it" gracefully. It was a heartening experience this drastic necessity of refashioning furnaces, and it should bear to governmental sources the message of fact that patriotic Canadians ask and need only to be informed of the causes of stringencies which the flux of relentless war imposes.

The people had read of continuous sinkings of oil tankers. They were informed by press reports, and they understood the causes of the extreme restriction laid upon them, the sacrifice required of men in delivering oil for essential purposes, and in their own turn they acquiesced without accept of remonstrance. We are getting on in spirit and action from the sugar rationing episode.

Get The Stuff Ready

Next Thursday there will be another collection of salvage in Peterborough to secure articles suitable for the manufactur of war materials. Two weeks ago Ashburnham responded nobly to the appeal and this week the section of the city north of Park Hill Road and west of the Otonabee River. Now next week the collection will be made in the section of the city between Brock Street and Park Hill Road. The collections are well organized, thus eliminating much of the sorting after the salvage is collected. The need is great and the kind of disused material in greatest demand: rubber, metals, rags, newspapers, old magazines, old books, bottles (other than milk bottles), and so on. Newspapers, magazines and other waste paper are collected during the day and then in the evening the city puts on its trucks with assistance coming from other truck owners and short work is made of that which remains.

It is well-known now that such salvage is a vital war need. Every householder realizes that in this way an individual contribution to the war effort may be made. The authorities should not be disappointed in their desire to have these collections greater than anything of the kind undertaken before.

Peterborough Goes Over Top

Peterborough's Red Cross and Community Fund campaign went over the top by some $10,000 which is indeed a notable achievement by the citizens of this city. While $60,000 was set as the objective in drive which was completed on Friday night, campaign headquarters feel that by the time all the cards are in the total will be nearer $72,000. The oversubscription will go to the Red Cross for it was felt that when the drive was organized that the $30,000 asked for by the Red Cross was hardly enough for the branch to operate in this city.

Since setting the objective the Red Cross has taken on a new undertaking, the blood donors' clinic, and this will require some $2,500 to provide suitable quarters.

The citizens should indeed be proud of the organization which has been set up to handle these annual appeals. One year ago the objective was $55,000, with over $128,000 being promised. This year the need was not so great with the government taking over the war charities and $60,000 was asked and again the citizens have responded nobly.

But this organization of men and women who have worked to put this campaign across does not stop just with the Community Fund and Red Cross Drive but it is really a permanent organization with everyone of its members pledged to assist in War Savings Stamp drives, Victory Loan campaigns and any other war effort which it might be called upon to perform. Peterborough is indeed fortunate in having such an organization of men and women who are ready to give of their time to these causes.

While the Red Cross and Community Fund Drive possibly only is a small cog in the Great War effort of this Dominion it still is a most essential cog in the wheel which some day will overcome oppression and tyranny.

A Great Churchman Passes

The death of the Most Reverend Samuel Pritchard Matheson, who died in Winnipeg on Tuesday at the age of 89, removes one of the most picturesque and influential of churchmen from the Canadian scene. Before his retirement His Grace was Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of All Canada, and for many years before his elevation to that office he had enjoyed the esteem and confidence of the whole of the West; not only men and women of his own Church, but people generally, found a wise and unselfish leader in Archbishop Matheson.

He saw the West through much of its early period of growth and it was his difficult but glorious task to guide the religious development of many new settlements. Although he inclined toward the evangelical wing of the Church he never, in his later years, made any move to impede the growth of a stricter and more ritualistic observance in the West. In his years of retirement his advice was often sought and his figure, distinguished by a beard of patriarchal length, was familiar at every gathering of importance. He was truly a great man of his day and generation, and no account of the development of the West will be complete which does not give an account of his ministry.

Canada And Vichy

We are, it appears, to continue a sort of half-hearted relationship with the government at Vichy. Quite why this should be it is difficult to say, and the reasons which the Prime Minister has given in Parliament sound as though they were secondary, and not primary, in importance. Mr. King has questioned whether it would be wise to give the majority of Frenchmen the impression that Canada has found it necessary to sever relations with France because of a government in that country which might be out of office at any time. Canada's representative at Vichy actually spends most of his time in London, visiting France when business makes it necessary, so it cannot be argued that the French set much store by his physical presence. And as we are assured that most Frenchmen detest the Vichy regime, why should we assume that they will respect us for maintaining relations with it? The reasons which Mr. King has given are singularly unconvincing.

We can only conclude that they are not the real reasons, and that the real reasons cannot be made public. It is certain that the Government has not decided to continue diplomatic relations with Vichy without having consulted the wishes of Great Britain and perhaps the U.S. in the matter; it is also apparent that Canada can continue to keep a representative at Vichy without losing much face. The diplomatic game is a deep one, and Canada's relations with Vichy, though temporarily embarrassing, may later appear to have been worth the trouble.

Hot Air From Rene Chaloult

We feel that far too much publicity has been given to the views of M. Rene Chaloult, who hopes that after this war Canada will break away from the British Empire and become an autonomous state in the Pan-American Union. Almost every paper that we have seen has commented upon this cool proposal, which is understandable; we are going to comment upon it too, but we feel that in doing so we are giving undue importance to Chaloult and his views. No Canadians, except for a group of intransigeants among his own people, will pay any attention to him.

The French-Canadians are a minority, and for that reason they must be handled with kid gloves. It is very easy nowadays to raise a cry of unfairness to a minority whether any such unfairness exists in fact or not. The rights of minorities must be respected, but it is necessary also to keep in mind the nature of minorities; all too often they court martyrdom, all too often they contain highly vocal groups of ignorant and disgruntled people, all too often they trade upon their smallness to be impudent. It appears to us that M. Chaloult's utterance bears marks of all these faults.

Under British rule the French-Canadians have fared very well; so well, indeed, that they sometimes appear to think that they must always have their own way. No sensible French-Canadian expects Canada to become an autonomous nation outside the Empire but many of them appear to be anxious to minimise the British sympathy of Canada as a whole; their purely selfish idea appears to be that Canada should reap all the benefit of the imperial connection without assuming any of the obligations. This is not to be tolerated. But the idea appears congenial to M. Chalouit and a few others like him who seem to be men of somewhat limited outlook and information, anxious to be big frogs in a small pond. By speaking as he has done, M. Chaloult cannot lose, for if he finds himself in trouble he is a martyr and if he escapes with no more than a drubbing from the press his insignificance has saved him.

The important thing is that no one should mistake M. Chaloult's views for those of the French-Canadian people. They are deeply confused and imperfectly informed, in the main, and their national weakness is believing anybody who has the gift of the gab. A process of re-education in Quebec is one solution to the problem which has appeared in both wars, and that re-education would take at least a generation to effect. But would it not be worth the time and the trouble if it would make national unity a reality? For let no one be mistaken, national unity is the point, and not Canada's imperial connection, which must be won; French-Canada would be just as thorny in a Pan-American Union as she is now in the Empire. Only re-education of Quebec along broader Canadian lines would dispose of such men as M. Chaloult, who appear to have an imperfect relationship between the scope of their knowledge and the violence of their oratory.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Those American planes which raided Tokyo are, paradoxically, called Doolittles. We thought they did rather well.

A scientist says that the world is getting cooler. Funny, we know several parts of it which are certainly getting hotter.

A psychologist asserts that bald-headed men make the best diplomats. You have to admit that some of them are pretty smooth.

A medical columnist has been asked if the habit of eating laundry starch is to be discouraged. On the contrary, says the Stratford Beacon-Herald, it may assist in keeping a stiff upper lip.

"Sleep coats" for men, really a kind of nightgown—are to be introduced in the U.S. as a war economy measure and we read that "women's pyjamas are already controlled"; if women can control their pyjamas it's more than we have ever been able to do.

It is suggested that, if the fuel situation becomes more acute, Canadians may go back to wood fires. The suggester apparently overlooks the fact that wood must be cut, and that means labor, and we are short of labor. Personally, we cannot see city-dwellers setting off for the woods with hatchet and sled during the winter months.

MALTA, G.C.

Hers not the valor of the sudden moment,
Born in the heated fury of the fray;
Hers not the strength to run the race pre-measured
And take its well-earned rest at end of day.

Nay; the long torment is her constant portion,
The ceaseless watch against relentless foes,
The vigilance through nights red-stabbed and mornings
Grey with the daily threat of added blows.

Wearied, her splendid heart, but still unbroken,
Nurses within its grim unyielding stone
The resolution, voiced in ack-ack thunder,
Bravely to suffer all, but not alone.

Death Is Called Great Leveller

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

IT IS the grossest banality to call death a great leveller; it is also a profound truth. The obituary columns of a great paper are as inclusive and oddly assorted as the pages of a telephone book; people meet in them as they meet in a train, for no better reason than that they are bound for the same destination. Last week two famous Jews happened to die; both were in their seventies; both had spent long years in entertaining the public. One was Felix Weingartner the composer and conductor; the other was Joe Weber of the famous Weber and Fields comedy team.

Looking at the pictures of the two men as they appeared shortly before they died it is possible to discern a resemblance and also to remark a profound difference. The resemblance is largely racial. The high forehead, the strongly marked nose and the thin lips speak a type of European Jew to whom the world owes a great deal. But the face of Weingartner is marked with suffering and tragedy, while that of Joe Weber is spread in the broad grin of the professional funnyman. Had the two men ever met it is most unlikely that they would have found anything in common, but for all that there is a bond, the bond of those who spend their lives in giving themselves to the public. One gave great interpretations of the music of others and some acceptable music of his own; the other gave broad fun of a kind no longer popular, and he helped to create that distinctively American form of entertainment, the revue.

WEINGARTNER was a man of parts. Not only was he a composer and conductor, but he was also a writer and a poet. He was born on the second of July, 1863, the son of a director of a telegraph company. His childhood was spent in comfortable circumstances and he studied philosophy at the University of Leipsig, for his musical talent was late in showing itself. He was an Austrian by birth and temperament, and his later years were embittered by Nazi persecution; he broke all relations with Germany and with his beloved Austria at last, and made his home in Switzerland. During his lifetime he held many important musical posts, and received acclaim as a composer and conductor in most European countries as well as in America. The great influence of his career was his early meeting with Franz Liszt, who persuaded him to make his home at Weimar, and arranged for the court theatre in that home of German culture to produce the young man's first opera, "Sakuntala." Weingartner, however, possessed a very different sort of mind from that of his great patron and master; he was severe and strongly "classical" in his manner and in his approach to music; the great frenzies of Liszt found little echo in his heart.

Weingartner's life was spent in elevated, although not in easy, places. Joe Weber knew terrible hardship as a boy in East Side New York. He began his career as a professional entertainer early, forming his association with Lew Fields when both were eight years old. He must have been strangely innocent, all the same, for these two unmistakeably Jewish lads made their first assaults upon the citadel of fame as a pair of Irish comedians! When they clog-danced on the stage in green knickerbockers singing "Two Irish Lads Are We" they provoked great mirth, but hardly of the proper sort. They learned their lesson quickly, however, and soon set up as 'Dutch' comedians, and stuck to that line for life. The Dutch comedian of their day was not meant to represent a Netherlander, but a German immigrant to the U.S. The popular belief was that these immigrants were unusually stupid and that their broken English represented the ultimate in humor. It makes sad reading today, but doubtless it was very funny in its time.

WEBER and Fields were "Mike and Meyer"; Fields was the short, fat, gullible member of the team and Weber the lean, crafty one. Much of their fun was cruel according to modern taste. Mike was invariably engaged in cheating Meyer out of his clothes, or dragging him about the stage by the neck. The team are credited with having brought the custard pie into favor as a humorous missile. Their jokes were excruciating, as all old-fashioned jokes are bound to be. "Ain't dis suit of clothes a fit?" one would ask and the other would reply, "A fit! It's a convulsion!" To them a 'magnate' was an animal which made holes in cheese. They were the spiritual fathers of the Marx Brothers.

By dint of hard work Mike and Meyer made themselves darlings of New York, and they produced extravagant burlesques in the days when those entertainments were not principally concerned with the revelation of the female epidermis. David Warfield, Lillian Russell, Marie Dressler, Anna Held, de Wolf Hopper and a host of other famous comedians and beauties played with them. After a time Mike and Meyer quarrelled, though they kept up a show of amity for business purposes. But although they eventually parted company they never achieved great success singly, and they missed each other as greatly as the public missed their special form of humor. Lew Fields died last July.

What will Weingartner and Joe Weber find to talk about on their journey to the Elysian Fields? Will it be the vagaries of the public whom they both served? Will it be the curious fate of the Jew in the modern world? Or will they deign to speak? Weingartner might easily prove too exclusive for a Dutch comedian, or Joe might scorn a man who never threw a custard pie in his whole professional career. The subject is one which gives food for some hours of idle speculation.

• New Smolensk Battle Due

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

LONDON reports, credited to a Nazi broadcast, of a Russian break-through south of Lake Ilmen lack confirmation, but that region covers so sensitive a junction point for German left flank communications that a Soviet thrust there might be expected.

Russian forces both north and south of the lake have been within 120 miles or less of the Pskov gateway for many weeks. It was through that gateway, just south of the Peipus Lake system on the old Russian-Esthonian frontier, that the German legion crashed last year to lay siege to Leningrad and overrun Northwestern Russia.

Through Pskov, or close by, pass half a score of railroads and roads from the west and south, to fan out north and east.

HUB OF COMMUNICATIONS

It is the hub of the communication network upon which the whole German left flank depends, except for the Leningrad-Revel system, which passes north of the Peipus Lake barrier, close to the seacoast. Should Red forces succeed in taking and holding Pskov, Nazi forces north of the Faldai plateau would be in a precarious position.

They might be forced into hasty retreat into Esthonia via the Narva Isthmus bottleneck. With the exception of Nazi units still west of Leningrad, it would mean a cross-country flight lacking direct roads to serve it and fraught with great danger.

Russian attacks in the Lake Ilmen region are officially admitted by the Nazis, with the statement that they have been beaten off. Even the reported eight-mile-wide break-through south of the lake is said to have been contained. The indications are, however, that the Russians have undertaken a new offensive in the Staraya Russa region where they once had a considerable German force trapped, and have made some appreciable progress.

Some weeks ago there were unconfirmed reports that a Russian detachment, by-passing Staraya Russa, had penetrated westward sixty miles to Dno Junction. The rail and road systems on both sides of Lake Ilmen converge at Dno which is only sixty miles from Pskov. Lack of any subsequent mention of this operation indicated, however, that it was no more at best than a scouting raid.

READY FOR OFFENSIVE

The Russian pressure in the Lake Ilmen region tends to support Stalin's recent assertion that Red armies are being massed for offensive operations all along the huge front as the summer advances. With the attempt to retake Pskov from the invaders even before the battles of Kerch and Kharkov have been fought to a definite conclusion, only the centre, west of Moscow, remains relatively dormant.

For immediate Russian purposes, there are three important strategic objectives. Marshal Timoshenko has stabbed deeply toward one of the three, and possibly the most important, in his drive to Krasnograd to reach the Dnieper crossings southwest of Kharkov. The indicated heavy action south of Lake Ilmen looms as a matched effort in the north to seize the second objective, Pskov Junction. The third is the Smolensk-Vitebsk communication span above the northern bend of the Dnieper.

That is the main feeder for the whole German centre, supporting the advance bases still threatening Moscow.

This would seem to indicate the centre as the scene of the next major battle to develop, whether by Russian or German initiative.

• War's Real Honor

(Is Destruction of Cosmetic Industry Imminent, Queries the Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

THE War Production Board may bring a new race of men to this land of ours, but all its efforts to change the women will prove futile.

The new men we expect to meet any day will be wearing pants without cuffs and coats without lapels. Beards may be long, what with razor blades relegated to museum exhibits. The new man will arrive on foot, or, if he is a war worker, on a bicycle.

Now the War Production Board has turned its attention to cosmetics. Already the cry has been raised that pale women with stringy hair would not be worth fighting for, and that the morale of our soldiers would decline.

This fear is unfounded. Since the dawn of history women have anointed themselves with lotions and perfumes, have painted their fingernails, arched their eyebrows, and will continue to do so. Prescriptions may be found even in the Bible.

Only a single generation ago communities would have risen in horror if high school girls had painted their fingernails as they do now. But that would not have been the first time such a matter consumed a nation. In the 17th century extravagant use of cosmetics caused so much concern in England that Parliament passed a law making a woman guilty of witchcraft who seduced a man into marriage by use of "scents, paints, washes, artificial teeth, false hair, iron stays, hoops, high-heeled shoes, bolstered hips."

Nero, in his gold dining room, concealed silver pipes which sprayed guests with perfume.

Donald Nelson may seize every raw material now utilized in the cosmetics industry, but even if he does feminine cheeks will continue to glow and lips will be red. Every woman will become her own chemist.

BONG OF WONG

THE Allies lost Burma but they gained the Bong of Wong. Last week the Bong, which in the language of Wong means chief, declared war on Japan. The reinforcements he brought to the Allied cause were not large but they were spirited.

Wong is a Naga tribe village in the mountains dividing Northeastern India from Burma. The Wong men are 6-foot savages who wear breech-clouts and wind tight wire bands around their stomachs. They neither read nor write, eat everything from pigs to bugs, and worship nature. Their recreation is head-hunting.

A man of Wong will sell his birthright for a skull. His favorite skulls are babies', for it takes courage of a type much admired among the Wongs to penetrate a neighborhood village, steal into a hut, and decapitate a child. The Wong men have been stopped from head-hunting in the British-administered areas in India but they still chop heads in their own mountains. The skulls are heirlooms, handed down from generation to generation.

For arms, the Wong men use a dhow—a long metal jungle knife—and bamboo spears. To protect their village from night prowlers, they dig traps and fill them with small, sharp bamboo stakes. These are intended to puncture unshod feet. They should also be effective against the tires on Japanese bicycles.—Newsweek.

A veteran piano-tuner in the West claims to have found about everything in pianos, from bridgework to a $500 bill. A sweet note, that.—Detroit News.

"Well, I'd better get back to Berlin."
"Yes Sir."
"And you to Rome! We had a most satisfactory exchange. We see eye to eye."
"Yes Sir."
"Very well. I shall dictate a communique to the press."

The meeting resulted in a perfect accord of views on the situation created by the overwhelming victories of the Tripartite Powers and on the further conduct of the war by the two nations in both political and military spheres.

(This communique was radiocast from Berlin Friday.)

CHANCES OF INVASION

The St. Thomas Times-Journal quotes three reviewers who hold that an attempt to invade Britain by Hitler cannot be ruled out. An immense army of parachutists is envisaged. No one can tell what desperate move Hitler might make, but there is less worry about invasion now than there ever was.—St. Catharines Standard.

Wild Animal Circus With Conklin Shows

Capt. Wm. Deacon's trained elephants, with Terrell Jacobs' Wild Animal Circus on the Conklin Shows, showing in Peterborough all next week for the Kin-Karnival at Riverside Park. Midway will open daily at 2 o'clock and continue until midnight. Twelve riding devices, 10 side shows and a large number of concessions make it the biggest Midway to ever visit Peterborough.

Some Questions And Their Answers Which Every Man Should Know About The Canadian Reserve Army

QUESTION: What is the Reserve Army in Canada?

ANSWER: It is the counterpart to Britain's famous Home Guard.

QUESTION: What is its duty?

ANSWER: To provide adequate protection for the homes, industries, and institutions of the people of Canada.

QUESTION: What are the units of the Reserve Army in Peterborough?

ANSWER: The Fourth Field Battery and the Second Battalion of the Prince of Wales Rangers (M.G.).

QUESTION: Who are eligible for service in the Reserve Army?

ANSWER: 1. Young men 17 and 18 years of age in medical categories A, B or C. 2. All men 17 to 50 years of age in category C. 3. Single men 36 to 50 years of age in categories A, B or C. 4. Married men 31 to 50 years of age in categories A, B or C.

QUESTION: How do I find out what my medical category is?

ANSWER: You are examined by the medical officer of the Reserve Unit you wish to join.

ANSWER: How do I join the Reserve Army?

ANSWER: If you wish to join the 4th Field Battery go to the Armoury between 8 and 10 o'clock on Monday or Wednesday evening. If you wish to join the Prince of Wales Rangers, go on Tuesday or Thursday evening between the same hours. Ask for the recruiting office of the unit you wish to join.

QUESTION: What is the procedure for enlistment?

ANSWER: The recruiting officer will fill in an attestation card with particulars as to your date of birth, age, address, etc. Then he will send you to another room for medical examination after which your card will be signed by the medical officer. You will return to the recruiting office where you will take a declaration and the oath of allegiance. Then you will go to the quartermaster's stores where you will be issued with a uniform.

QUESTION: When do I attend parades?

ANSWER: If you enlist with the Fourth Field Battery, on Monday and Wednesday evenings, if with the Second Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

QUESTION: Do I get camp training?

ANSWER: Yes, if you can arrange it.

QUESTION: Where and when is the camp held?

ANSWER: At Connaught Ranges, near Ottawa, from July 19 to Aug. 2.

QUESTION: What training do I get besides marching, and learning to handle and care for a service rifle?

ANSWER: In both units you get instruction and training in the Bren guns, Lewis gun, signalling, protection against gas, fieldcraft (use of ground and cover, judging distance), map reading, military law, field engineering, first aid, organization, sanitation, tactical schemes, street fighting, obstacles, road, anti-tank, etc., unarmed combat, and bayonet fighting. In the battery you get instruction in gunlaying, gun drill, driving instruction (camp), range finding, field regiment in manoeuvre, artillery in the attack and defence. In the Rangers you receive instruction and training in the Vickers medium machine gun, attack and defence schemes, outposts, advance, flank and rear guards. There is in addition a practical course in motor mechanics, designed to train drivers for army vehicles.

QUESTION: Do I get any practice in shooting?

ANSWER: You get indoor range work with the rifle and outdoor range work with the service rifle, the Bren gun, and the Vickers gun.

QUESTION: How am I identified in my civilian occupation as a member of a reserve army unit?

ANSWER: You wear a button or other badge, and you carry a regimental identification card.

QUESTION: Are there chances for promotion to N.C.O. rank?

ANSWER: Appointment to non-commissioned rank—that is as corporals, sergeants, sergeant majors and so on—is within reach of many who in army parlance "deliver the goods."

QUESTION: Are there chances for promotion to commissioned rank?

ANSWER: Company commanders are always on the "look out" for suitable candidates in the N.C.O. ranks to take courses leading to qualification for commissioned rank.

QUESTION: Is army training all work and no play?

ANSWER: Since improvement in a soldier's physique is an important matter, outdoor recreation is stressed whenever possible. There are excellent facilities at camp for spending your leisure hours pleasantly.

The Battlefield For Oil

Beyond Rostov and the Crimea lies the fabulously rich land called the Caucasus. It is wealthy in oil and metals. This map shows just why Hitler drove his armies toward Kerch. Russian successes at Kharkov may well shatter the Nazi dream to bits.

Peterborough C.V.S. Presents - - -

A new LOW record was set this week in War Savings Stamp and Certificate sales at the Collegiate. The students' selling power evidently returned to the Land of Happy Oblivion where the committee found it last September. The total this week was $243—$235 in Stamps and $8 in Certificates. This disappointing sum is over $200 below the average weekly sales since September, 1941. Is the student body as a whole to be content with this 50 per cent efficiency?—we hope not. And now we will attempt to draw comparisons after extensive mathematical research designed to stamp the experts.

Total sales since September amount to approximately $16,000 or an average of $460 per week. This represents two stamps per week sold by each student in the school. We can not console ourselves by saying that the loss of pupils to war work has seriously affected these totals since statistics prove that sales should still be on the plus side of $400 per week. In some forms only five or six pupils are purchasing stamps regularly but what about the other 30—are they doing their bit? In the two months since March 24 sales have been below the $400 mark six weeks out of eight. If all time sales are to pass the $40,000 mark this term students will have to settle down so there is the challenge. Can YOU take it?

Wanted—Messengers

Once more an appeal is being made for messengers in the Civil Defence A.R.P. of Peterborough. Since the request was first voiced three weeks ago only a handful of boys with bicycles have offered their services in case of emergency. At a meeting this week it became apparent that the need was more urgent and with this thought in mind L. M. Richardson explained the scheme again.

Boys 16 years of age and over with bicycles are asked to volunteer in this useful division of Civil Defence. One meeting will complete all organization so there is no need to worry that you will not have enough time to act as a messenger. Compensation will be given if any injuries are sustained by the rider while on duty in a practice or the real thing. Arm bands will identify you as an A.R.P. messenger and give you the right of way in a black-out. This week several students have been warned about their reckless bicycling but here is a chance to work off that vitality for a worthwhile cause. Forms may be obtained at the office so why not get yours on Monday.

The Ghost Window

Whether or not you believe in ghosts matters little but even the most wary will agree that there is something decidedly "Tippy" about a certain window in a certain room. Here is the tale:

When a janitor goes through a room at night, closes all the windows, locks the door, and leaves the school, he has that feeling of a "day's work well done." BUT — when that selfsame janitor returns the following morning, enters that selfsame room, and—finds one window up nearly a foot, he begins to worry about his efficiency. The puzzled man dutifully closes the offending window and locks the door as it is yet quite early for P.C.I.'ites to arrive. Half an hour later he reopens the room; and rapidly feels his heart as his senses begin to take leave of him because — you guessed it — the window is open again. Our janitor is now definitely befuddled but patiently closes the window. This time however he remains in the room to catch the ghost or the THING. A look of sheer surprise and stupefaction appears on his face as the window slowly but surely rises without visible help from the beyond or elsewhere. Being a practical man he went firmly to his task and solved the mystery much to the relief of those who have since discovered the ghost window.

As you may have surmised the window is the now famous one smashed by "Tip" Taylor lest week. The solution is simple. With the weight of glass missing from the frame the iron counter weights became too heavy, causing a delicate balance between window frame and weights. A slight breath of wind made the difference and up went the window. Simple—isn't it?

Teasettes

The Grade Nine Verse Speaking champions recited their pieces before the whole student body on Tuesday morning. Marion Vosburg, Brenda Rogers, Paul Moore, and Don Payne were the victorious students.

Sale of pins and rings went over big and orders will be here in several weeks.

The rubber salvage was collected this week and it seemed as though there were mountains of it as a fifth form P.T. class transferred it to the girls' entrance. Rubber gloves, hose, balls, toys, tires, tubes, shoes of all descriptions, hot water bottles —and so on. Good work, students!

Neill's Shoe Store quiz captured two Collegians this week as Don McIntyre and Roger Barrie each won a dollar in War Stamps. How can one lose?

Bob Carley and Jim Hooper each won prizes in a contest sponsored by the local weekly. Congratulations!

Yellow chalk made its appearance at the Collegiate on Friday and was a marked improvement over the usual white as far as glare is concerned. It has been used elsewhere with great success.

Empire Day At P.C.V.S.

Friday was Empire Day at the Collegiate and it was observed in a very fitting manner. The Reverend Mr. Filer addressed the school on the topic, "The Greatness of the British Empire." He likened the Empire to the human hand—each part or dominion separted but connected in thought and ideals. Rev. Filer attributed this greatness to five characteristics — Courage, Purity, Unselfishness, Justness, and Faithfulness and emphasized that these qualities are important in character formation and are an education in themselves. He said that everyone can build character regardless of environment.

"Courage," he said, "is a disposition which enables us to face difficulties without fear." Courage is both physical and moral and is the mark of the Empire. Purity of thought, language, and action is desirable at all times and was defined as the mark of manliness. Rev. Filer's definition for unselfishness was, "That spirit which forgets itself in the interests of others." Justness was described as truth in action — something that has characterized Britain's actions throughout the world. The speaker stressed faithfulness or truthfulness as necessary for character building.

This address was very moving and provided much food for thought as we go about our separate tasks. Dr. Kenner thanked the speaker on behalf of the staff and students and another Empire Day passed, leaving all with a deeper realization of the portent of the occasion.

Penny Week totals were released yesterday—$43.85 was collected in a week as against $44.60 last year in a similar drive. Congratulations.

Queen Feels Better

LONDON, May 23—(CP).—Queen Wilhelmina told her subjects in the occupied and free lands of the Netherlands Empire Friday that "the tide is turning."

"Every hammer blow in the ever-extending factory and workshops of Great Britain and the United States brings the turn nearer," she said.

Speaking over radio Orange, she counselled Netherlanders at home to be "resolute but cautious," declaring "one careless word may endanger you and others and may damage the important work awaiting you in the near future."

IN THREE SERVICES

LONDON—(CP). — Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of Commando operations, is the only person holding a commission in all three military services in Britain.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 24

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of fairly active and productive conditions, which may prove decidedly constructive if pursued with resourcefulness, energy and fresh ideas. Important projects may get a good start for further development if properly launched and with assistance or decisive co-operation of influential personages.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly active and enterprising year with new and important projects receiving a moderate degree of impetus from skillful preparation of proper plans and constructive programs. The latter may call for the agreement or corroboration of influential persons, and may not be so sure of public assistance or approval. Much depends on personal effort.

A child born on this day should have much practical talent and initiative with enterprise, resourcefulness and constructive ability and skill for success.

For Monday, May 25

Monday's astrological forecast is for a most propitious and progressive state of affairs, with all things of a public as well as private nature forging on to high goals of success and achievement. It may be a time to work for promotion, preferment and favors from those in high places.

Those whose birthday it is are urged to work with confidence and fidelity toward attaining their most ambitious and cherished objectives, with the friendly support and favors or relatives, superiors and those in power.

A child born on this day should have great ambitions, which may be furthered by loving relatives as well as powerful friends.

For Tuesday, May 26

A mildly adverse situation may be presaged for this day on the basis of current lunar transits, which not only have a retarding, restricting and surprising influence on affairs generally but also discouraging initiative and enterprise. It is probably that any worthwhile plans or major projects will not make much headway and may be defeated entirely by rash, impetuous, quarrelsome and ill-timed actions.

Those whose birthday it is may best assure a happy, profitable, and productive year by an exercise of restraint, moderation and temperance in all their actions and contacts, whether business, social, affectional, or financial. It might be hazardous or disagreeable to attempt to start new enterprises or to push issues my main force in any direction.

A child born on this day may be willful, wayward, reckless and impulsive although it may have great energy and initiative.

Junior Farmers Organize Potato Club

MARMORA, May 23—(ENS). — In connection with the Junior Farmers' Clubs of Hastings County, the Junior Farmers of Marmora have organized a potato club, the sponsoring organization being the Marmora Agricultural Society.

The officers and membership are as follows:—Leader, Irwin McCoy; President, John McAvoy; Vice-president, Victor Neal; Secretary, Cecil Bell. Members: Bernard Maloney, Cyalton Tompkins, Graham Bell, Leslie Bell, Cecil Bell, Mickey Maloney, John J. McAvoy, Peter Quinn, Keith McCoy, R. Thomas Neal and Victor Neal.

Visits Orangemen

Wor. Bro. Carl Clancey, County Master of Centre Hastings, paid an official visit to L.O.L. 319 on Thursday evening. There was also a goodly attendance of visiting brethren from Springbrook and other lodges.

C.W.L. Meets

The May meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening with a large attendance. Mrs. James Black presided. The meeting opened with the league prayer led by Father H. J. Farrell.

The following conveners were named by the president:—Child Welfare, Mrs. J. Ethier; Social Service, Mrs. H. Auger; War Work, Miss Mary Hughes, Mrs. E. Deacon and Mrs. H. A. McNally.

Patches for the making of a quilt were handed to the members, also articles for sewing for a layette. Several members handed in articles of clothing for a box to be sent to bomb victims. Rev. Father Farrell gave a very interesting address on "Lourdes." Mrs. Black followed with a recitation, "Mother." A piano duet was given by Mrs. Dan Shannon and Mrs. Ernest Shannon. It was decided to invite the Diocesan president to be a guest at the June meeting. Following a delicious lunch served by the executive, the meeting adjourned.

W.M.S. Meets

The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John W. Richardson, Marmora Township. The president, Mrs. W. P. Fletcher, occupied the chair. Mrs. D. B. Sanderson read an article on Temperance, with a discussion ensuing. Mrs. H. R. Haacke took the worship period, and Mrs. C. Chambers conducted the study hour with Mesdames Sproul, Fletcher and Sanderson taking part. The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Pack. The offering having been received, the meeting closed with a hymn and short prayer.

Personals

Dr. C. V. Wallace is attending the Dental Convention in Toronto this week.

Mrs. R. A. Elliott of Deloro is visiting Mrs. C. A. Seaton at Hudson Heights, Quebec.

Mrs. Norman D. McDonald and baby daughter Carolyn of London are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Susanne O'Neill.

Mrs. F. S. Johnston is spending the week with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. Harold Nobes has returned home from Nicholls Hospital.

Among week-end guests were Gunners William Richardson and Gordon Devolin of Hamilton, with relatives; Miss Agnes Sheridan of Peterborough, with friends; Edward Burke of the Air Training School, Galt, with his mother, Mrs. W. Burke; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred McKeown of Toronto, with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reynolds; Roy Booth of the Air Training School, Galt, with his mother, Mrs. J. Booth; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Linton and children, of Elmvale, with relatives here.

Officers of Marmora A. F. and A.M. 222 visited Stirling A.F. and A.M. on Thursday evening, and conferred the initiatory degree on a candidate in course of the lodge session.

Mrs. H. Yatten has taken rooms in the residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nobes.

Tourist Ration Good For 1 Trip

OTTAWA, May 23.—(CP).— Unless they can get by on the gasoline in their tanks when they cross the boundary, motoring tourists from the United States will be able to make only one trip into Canada this summer—and that a short one.

Under existing gasoline rationing regulations, tourists entering Canada are given ration books good for purchase of four 'units' of gasoline, twenty gallons on the existing unit basis.

But motorists are entitled to only one tourist ration book a year. And they can't spread their ration purchases over more than one trip since they have to turn in the book when they leave the country.

In Fort Erie, Thursday, William S. Stamp, collector of Customs and Excise at the International Peace Bridge said United States motorists commuting from summer homes in Canada are required to surrender 100-gallon ration books issued earlier in the rationing plan when they leave this country for the second time. He said they are given the twenty gallon books substituted for the first 100 gallon books under a ruling last week.

But officials of the Munitions and Supply Department turned up the regulations and found Mr. Stamp wasn't operating according to Hoyle.

"The regulations say quite definitely that ration coupons, whether 100-gallon or twenty-gallon must be surrendered when a tourist crosses the boundary leaving Canada," one official said.

"There's no saving up of coupons to use them on a subsequent visit to the Dominion. If they aren't all used in one trip, they're no good because they have to be turned in at the border."

"Ten To Ace," owned by Harry Gidding, is rated as favorite to take top honors in this year's running of the King's Plate. Mr. Gidding proudly declares that he is "the best colt ever bred in Canada."

Claim War Baby Fairaris To Push Alsab

NEW YORK, May 23 — (CP).— The sixty-seventh running of the classic Withers Mile at Belmont Park to-day has drawn a field of ten three-year-olds with Al Sabath's Alsab, the $700 bargain-basement buy, heading the list as the horse to beat for the $15,000 added prize.

Making his first start since he snapped his 1942 jinx to win the rich Preakness at Pimlico two weeks ago Alsab will be out to beat his time for the mile he set over this same track last fall in winning the Champagne Stakes. The Chicago-owned son of Good Goods, as a juvenile, ripped off the mile in 1:35 2-5, a world mark for a two-year-old.

$15,070 Prize.

If he can click in this fixture, the Sabath colt can add $15,070 to his winnings—if he can turn back the challenge of such recognized speedsters as Warren Wright's Sun Again, Mrs. R. McIlvain's Bright Willie and Mrs. Barclay Douglas' Fair Call.

And along with them Alsab, many handicappers are ying, can expect to find more than a little trouble in the dark horse of the spring, Fairaris, a "war baby" imported from England last year, who turned in an impressive victory in the Voters Handicap at Belmont last Saturday.

Owned by R. S. McLaughlin, Canadian automobile manufacturer, the three-year-old son of the noted English stallion Fair Trial out of the Friar Marcus mare Nunnery has been tabbed as the surprise package of the lot, if there's going to be one.

Work Shocks 'Em.

Trainers were impressed with his victorious race in the Voters Handicap at six furlongs which he won in a romp in 1:10 2-5, fastest time of the season for the distance at Belmont. But they say his trial at Belmont yesterday startled them.

They saw his step five-lengths of a mile on the training track in 1:00 2-5 while under restraint. His time was equivalent to 58 seconds on the main track, which is several seconds faster than the training strip used exclusively for practice.

Fairaris won the Voters by four lengths. He beat a veteran field of gallopers including Dispose, Birch Rod and Swing and Sway.

Missing from the lists are Mrs. Payne Whitney's one-two punch — Shut Out, which won the Kentucky Derby, and Devil Diver. The winner of the Kentucky classic is being pointed for the mile-and-a-half half Belmont Stakes, so Trainer John Gaver kept him out of this dash. Devil Diver came up with a quarter-crack early yesterday.

Also absent will be Ben Whitaker's hard-hitting Texas colt Requested which is suffering from a feverish ankle.

Alsab's strongest rival on form alone appears to be Sun Again, the big chestnut colt. Sun Again ran a dead heat for second place with Requested in the Preakness in his first attempt to go over a mile.

Back of Alsab, Sun Again, Bright Willie, Fair Call, and Fairaris the long shots in this biggest Withers field in seven years are William duPont's Star Beacon a winner at Belmont last week; Walter M. Jeffords' Seamanlike; Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' sprinter Dogpatch; Movie Magnate Louis Mayer's imported King's Abbey, and J. M. Roebling's Lochinvar.

Each of the ten starters will carry 126 pounds. Aboard Fairaris will be little Beverly Thompson who rode the Canadian-owned colt to victory in the Voters. Basil James will ride Alsab, Warren Eads will be on Sun Again, and Alf Robertson on Bright Willie.

Giants Shuffle 5-1 Win From Dodgers

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Almost anything can happen in the seven major league baseball games scheduled today, but a sure winner in two of them is the United States Army-Navy Relief Fund.

Proceeds from games in Washington where New York Yankees meet Washington Senators, and at Boston, where the Red Sox take on Philadelphia Athletics, will go to help care for the families of those who fall on the fighting fronts.

The two contests are part of a series of 16 scheduled in the two leagues for the fund.

An added attraction at Boston will be a curtain-raiser between service teams, with sailor Bob Feller pitching for the Navy nine and soldier Hugh Mulcahy opposing him for the Army squad. Army and Navy bands will be on hand, and senior officers of the services in the Boston area have been invited.

At Washington, there will be bands and parades and possibly a speech or two. And everyone who enters the park will buy a ticket.

Only six teams saw action yesterday in an abbreviated program, shortened further by the weather.

In the lone afternoon game, moved up to daylight by New York's ban on night baseball, the Giants bumped Brooklyn's National League leaders, 5-1, handing the Dodgers their second straight defeat and pitcher Ed Head his first loss after five triumphs.

Leiber Homers

Head lasted only four innings and was tagged for five hits, including Manager Mel Ott's seventh home run of the season, with a man on base in the first inning, and a circuit blow by Hank Leiber in the fourth.

Three relievers held the Giants to one hit in the last four innings, but they coasted to victory as Lefty Cliff Melton kept 10 blows well scattered.

The second-place Boston Braves chopped another half-game off Brooklyn's margin and reduced the Dodger lead to five lengths by whipping Philadelphia Phils, 10-7.

Although Ernie Lombardi poled a home run and four singles in five trips to the plate, the Braves trailed by one run at the start of the ninth inning. Singles by Lombardi and Nanny Fernandez routed Earl Naylor, second of four Philadelphia hurlers, and reliever Frank Hoerst walked two men to force in the tying run.

Then Clyde Kluttz smashed a single to decide the issue.

At Chicago, the White Sox downed Detroit Tigers 7-4 in the only American League game, hanging up their eighth victory in 10 starts.

Wally Moses and Bob Kennedy led a 15-hit attack on Virgil Trucks and Johnny Gorsica, Moses getting two doubles and Kennedy three singles. Johnny Humphries was credited with the victory, although he yielded nine of the 11 Detroit hits, including a homer by Dixie Parsons.

Two managers missed the final outs in the night games. Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox was chased in the ninth for protesting a baseline decision by Umpire Bill Grieve and Hans Lobert of the Phils was banished late in the final frame at Philadelphia.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 23.—(CP)—This is King's Plate Day, making it a better time than most to discuss the merits and demerits of Canada's richest racing event.

Eastern Canada has accepted the Plate for 83 years with only minor mutterings against its limitations, greatest of which is this: It is restricted to three-year-olds foaled in Ontario. But the attitude taken by Western horsemen and breeders is considerably more militant. Criticism of the Plate is as easy to find as gophers in the West.

Westerners naturally are bitter at not getting a crack at the Plate's $8,000-added purse. They call the Plate by a great many names. Among them: House League. That fits as well as most.

That is one reason why R. J. Speers of Winnipeg started the $5,000-added Canadian Derby last year. Speers was under heavy pressure from some other horsemen who wanted to make his Canadian Derby an event for western-breds only, shut out the East as the West is blanked by the Plate. But Speers shook off the pressure, wrote into the Derby's condition book: "For three-year-olds foaled in Canada." He made it the most important three-year-old event in the country, although not the richest. It probably will become wealthier than the Plate, too, but that will take many years.

Here is the only defence, somewhat feeble, of the Plate's condition book: Eighty-three years ago when the Plate was established (as the Queen's Plate) there was no thoroughbred breeding in the West. The angle that in keeping the race Canadian, it was made provincial, probably did not occur to the founders. Of course, there has been plenty of time to change the rules since then.

The generosity in Speers' action in opening the Canadian Derby to all Canadian-foaled three-year-olds was considerable. One of Canada's foremost breeders, he often has had horses of Plate calibre. He could have been reasonably quite bitter about missing a chance at all that green stuff.

But he threw the Derby wide open, reducing by at least 50 per cent the chances that the $5,000-added purse would be won by one of his western friends and colleagues. Harry Hatch's Budpath—Plate winner also—won the 1941 Derby, took the winner's share back to Toronto. If Speers was trying to set an example of nationalism in sport, he succeeded the hard way. It may happen again this year—an Ontario-bred winning the Derby—but meanwhile there is not even a rumor of change in the Plate conditions. It's a cruel world.

May just as well keep this piece all Plate, and clear the air. This bureau is slightly skeptical of all the hullaballoo about Harry Giddings' Ten to Ace. Most of his support has come from people who say he'll be so far out in front after six furlongs that he won't be caught, and that is backward thinking.

Ten to Ace may be the greatest Ontario-bred ever dropped, but he has yet to prove he can go a distance and finish strong. After weeks of research I have decided to bet on either Bill's Gift or Northswept. The final deduction in my secret selection system will be made a few hours before race time, when I see them both. Then I'm going to slap a deuce right on the face of the one with the biggest feet.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The De Laval-Plaza Billiards City Softball League game scheduled for the Ashburnham Bowl last night was rained out and the fans will have to wait for a while to get a line on the new addition to the City League roster. Incidentally the team will not be known as the De Laval Club but will finance itself and select a new name, as the separator plant is not backing the organization. Fred Griffin is managing the new entry and has rounded up a likely squad of ball tossers who should provide interesting opposition for other clubs in the loop. No game is scheduled for the night of the holiday but there will be battles on Wednesday and Friday nights of next week with the Juveniles tossed in action against Manager Roy Parnell's Royals in the Wednesday night affair. That is a tough assignment for the kids but they say they will be out there battling.

It is understood that an application has been made by E. J. W. Curtin, for the Peterborough Athletic Association to the Ontario Athletic Commission to hold a boxing show in Peterborough. J. Percy Bond of Peterborough is the commissioner for this district and he asks Mr. Curtin get into touch with him at once.

The big leagues took quite a beating from the weather yesterday. In fact there was only one game in the two loops but that was too many for Ed Head, who had been leading the National League pitchers with a record of five wins, against no defeats. Head had the misfortune to encounter the New York Giants when they were in a hitting mood and as a result a half game was sliced off the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers and their ace twirler sustained his first defeat of the season. The score was 5 to 1 and Mel Ott and Hank Leiber contributed to the downfall of the former Montreal heaver with home runs. Head deserves a lot of credit at that. Any man who can start his baseball career as a left-hander, hurt his pitching arm so badly that he can no longer throw with it and then switch into a right-handed pitcher and stick at it long enough to become one of baseball's greats is entitled to have fans everywhere take off their hats to him.

Sunday Baseball

The agitation for Sunday baseball that has been going on in several sections of the province is not a move upon which the promoters are to be congratulated. If these were the piping days of peace the movement would not have a chance to succeed. The folk who want to start Sunday ball are using the country's war effort as a cloak for introducing the fixtures on the Sabbath, the excuse offered being that the change is being made for the benefit of members of the armed forces and for those employed in war industries. Down at Kingston the City Baseball League plans to stage a series of Sunday games in the camps near the city and Scribe Bill Walshe has this to say about the move: "The only serious objection to Sunday baseball is that team play and crowds create noise, but wars are fought on Sundays and the same men who will be playing ball and enjoying good clean entertainment are the men who will have to fight. A nice long walk in the country is usually suggested as Sunday exercise but for troops that tramp the roads and barracks all week a chance to relax and watch a game is like an extra leave or a missing sentry when late for camp."

* * * * * *

Our reaction to that argument is that very few soldiers will sit around a military camp on a Sunday afternoon to see a City League ball game. Half the troops are usually away on leave anyway. At Crowland in the Niagara Peninsula the ball club of that place proposes to defy the provincial authorities by staging a league game tomorrow afternoon. The argument there is probably that the move is being made for the benefit of war-workers. The police may have something to say about a Sunday ball game under the conditions that the Crowland contest will be staged. Baseball is on its last legs in Ontario and the surest way of hastening its end is to flout public opinion by arranging Sunday games. With daylight saving allowing twilight games to be played six nights a week there is no excuse for the Sunday stuff.

A Fight Upset

Bob Pastor and Tami Mauriello fought one of the best fights in years last night. In fact it was too good for the younger Mauriello earned a draw with Pastor and in so doing he threw a crimp in the plans for an early championship match between Pastor and Joe Louis. Pastor was expected to win by a decisive margin as a buildup for the Louis match but there was a great difference of opinion among officials and alleged experts as to the score. The Associated Press gave Pastor six of the ten rounds, Mauriello two and called the other two even. Each of the three officials had a different verdict and the surprising one was the card of one of the judges who voted that Mauriello had won seven rounds and evened up the other three. Joe Louis who watched the bout from a ringside seat declared that the draw decision was wrong and that in his opinion Pastor had won. It was a great battle however and the crowd really got its money's worth.

Says the Belleville Ontario-Intelligencer: "According to the St. Louis "Sporting News," the official publication of professional baseball, Ralph "High-pockets" McCabe is really doing right by his pitching with the Harrisburg, Pa., Senators. Last week Ralph hurled two shutout games for the Senators, to bring his consecutive run of scoreless innings to 19 in a row, which isn't to be sneezed at in a minor "B" league. According to the "Sporting News" McCabe is being groomed as an ace moundsman on the Senators staff with three wins and one defeat to his credit. The one loss came as the direct result of failure on the part of his teammates to produce runs. Heading the second whitewash story under the banner —"McCabe's the McCoy," Roy Nassau, of the Harrisburg News, says McCabe whiffed nine of the Trenton, N.J., squad and allowed but four scattered hits, striking out the side in the eighth after two had managed to get aboard. Aside from having one bad inning a game, McCabe seems to be improving and headed towards better baseball fields."

Caught By a Lobster

MUSHABOOM, N.S., May 23. — Hauling his lobster traps to the surface the other day, Charles Beaver of this community, 20 miles east of Halifax discovered an 18-pound lobster tangled in the lines. He reached out to seize the crustacean, but the lobster seized him. In the ensuing struggle Beaver fell into the water. A nearby fisherman came to his assistance and Beaver was pulled out with the giant lobster still clamped to his wrist.

Flu Kills 756 Pounder

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 23—(CP). — Smith Poti, who weighed 756 pounds but was only five feet six inches tall, has died of influenza.

The 42 year old native of Johannesburg, was known throughout South Africa for years as "the heaviest man in the world." His waistline measured six feet, eight inches.

When he was stricken ill at his home, it required 12 men to carry him to the truck which served as an ambulance.

Home Run King Bill Nagel Joins The Leafs

TORONTO, May 23.—The International League's 1940 home run monarch, big Bill Nagel, will be clubbing out base hits for the rest of this season wearing a Toronto uniform. General Manager Lee MacPhail announced yesterday that the Maple Leafs had purchased Nagel from Syracuse Chiefs.

The tall, right-handed hitter who pounded out 37 circuit clouts for Baltimore two years ago, will join the Leafs in time for to-night's game and will get into immediate action in left field, replacing Nick Gregory.

Nagel was scheduled to join the Leafs last season as a present from Connie Mack. The big fellow balked, claiming he hadn't been given a thorough trial. Judge Landis agreed with him, and he eventually landed with the Phillies, who later sold him to Syracuse.

Haven't Given Up On Nick

The purchase of Nagel obviously means the Toronto Club doesn't anticipate getting an expected outfielder from Pittsburg for a couple of weeks. At the same time, they haven't dismissed Gregory from their plans. The little fellow, on his past record, is a hitter of note, but hasn't been able to prove it to Grimes. A spell on the bench may do him some good.

Nagel was used chiefly in pinch-hitting roles by the Chiefs this season. In the recent series against the Leafs, Nagel twice came in to hit for pitchers. The first time he connected for a sharp two-bagger to left field. The next time, he uncorked a single to centre, so his 1942 batting average at Maple Leaf Statdium is 1.000.

Yesterday's postponed game will be played when the Bisons come back here later in the season. In order not to conflict with the King's Plate Day race crowd, to-night's scheduled game against Buffalo, will be a twilight-floodlight mixture, starting at 7:15. Jack Hallett for the Leafs and Rookie Rufe Gentry for the Herd, will match mound strength.

Marvin Felderman will continue behind the plate for the Grimesmen. The big fellow hasn't a great deal of offensive strength—at least he hasn't shown it yet—but his receiving has been strictly A1. His fine work behind the plate has given Grimes a chance to let Eddie Fernandes rest his throwing arm. If Felderman hadn't come through so nobly, Eddie might have been back in action too soon, and risked a more serious arm condition. In the meantime the husky little backstop is available for pinch-hitting duties.

The Other Casualties

Other Toronto casualties, of varied degrees, are Jim Russell, Joe Sullivan and Joe Mack, with a possible added starter in Skipper Grimes who had the makings of a pretty bad cold. Burleigh tossed batting practice balls for half an hour Thursday and felt the "misery" start then.

The cast will come off Russel's left ankle on Tuesday, but the speed merchant will need at least another week, and probably two, before the strength will start coming back. A couple of weeks ago, Sullivan felt a twinge in his left shoulder, which has hampered him considerably. After four complete games he was taken out his last two starts. He only went one inning at Montreal before he departed, although he blanked the Royals in that inning. Medical examination disclosed no apparent injury, but the shoulder still hurts when he lifts his arm.

Mack has been bothered with a sore shoulder for ten days, but he won't get out of the lineup. The nifty-fielding first sacker narrowly missed more serious injury Thursday nigth in a collision at first base with Mayo Smith of the Bisons.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

This is just a reminder to our lawn bowlers and their friends that our bowling season opens on Monday, May 25. It will be in the form of a mixed tournament, draw from the board at 1:30 p.m. Everybody is welcome.

Last year we had 18 mixed rinks in attendance, but we are hoping for a bigger crowd this year. All we need now is some fine weather and we will be well away.

There is just one request we are going to make to our members: When you receive your schedule book, please read it from cover to cover. It will help out a lot.

Writers Agree Pastor Whipped Tami

NEW YORK, May 23 (CP)—The understatement of the year would be to say that the look on Joe Louis' face was one of simple surprise when he heard the announcement that gave Tami Mauriello a draw with Bob Pastor.

And since Promoter Mike Jacobs felt the same way. Uncle Mike said today he "didn't see why" the outcome of last night's ten-round thriller in Madison Square Garden "should change whatever plans are in the making" for a late-June or early-July tussle between Rapid Robert and the Bomber.

Of course, everything still hinged on whether Uncle Sam's Army would give Mike and Private Joe the green light for that fight. If the okay comes along, Mike indciated he would go ahead, despite what happened last night. The chances are, however, that for various reasons the fight will go to Cleveland or Chicago, instead of New York, with the Ohio city in front just now.

Those at ringside last night came pretty close to being unanimous that Pastor had whipped Mauriello, in spite of the Fordham's Flailer's fast start, and a finish in which he and Bob stood head to head and banged away for minutes at a time. A crowd of 11,327 customers chipped in to a gross pot of $22,972.

Of 25 boxing writers polled, 22 thought Pastor won, two agreed with the draw decision and one believed Mauriello finished on top. This corner gave Pastor six rounds, Mauriello two and called two even.

Joe was with the majority. While Announcer Harry Balogh was picking up the officials' score-cards, Louis remarked to the fellow next to him, "I think Pastor won." And even Joe's customary deadpan popped in astonishment when Balogh broadcast the "draw" verdict. Judge Charley Draycott caled it for Tami, Judge Marty Monroe balloted for Pastor and Referee George Walsh voted a draw.

NEW YORK, May 23—(AP). — Think you have headaches? How'd you like to trade for the job of running a chain of minor league clubs for some big-league outfit?....Besides the normal supply of holdout, sore arms, injuries, etc., this season you'd have players taking defence jobs where they can make more money, night games being ruled out if your park is too near the coast, customers from out-of-town staying at home to save their precious gas and tires, that new ruling against chartering buses—and maybe six patches on the right rear tire of the bus your Class "C" team owns.

RED WINGS BREAK 8-GAME LOSS STREAK BY EDGING ROYALS 2-1

Defeat Is First For Macon; 6 Double Plays

By The Associated Press

Manager Tony Kaufman slept a little easier last night after his Red Wings finally won a ball game.

The Wings, in last place in the International League, had lost eight straight games, but yesterday Leo Wissmann outhurled Max Macon to give the birds a 2-1 win over Montreal Royals. The defeat dropped the Royals 3½ games behind the pace-setting Newark Bears, who defeated Syracuse Chiefs, 6-4.

Montreal led 1-0 going into the sixth inning. George Fallon doubled and with two out, Ervin Dusak hit a home run inside the park.

The game was marked by six double plays with Rochester making four and it was the first defeat of the year for Macon who previously had won four. Cliff Dapper, recently acquired by the Royals from Brooklyn Dodgers, got two doubles in four trips.

For the third straight day the Baltimore-Jersey City game was postponed. The Buffalo-Toronto contest also was called off.

Ewell Blackwell, making his first start for Syracuse Chiefs since coming from Cincinnati Reds, allowed Newark only four hits but lost because of loose support by his mates who committee five errors.

Although going only seven innings, Al Gerheauser was credited with his fourth triumph. Randall Gumpert, Gerheauser's relief, retired the six batters he faced.

George Washburn, ordinarily a pitcher, played right field in place of Bud Metheny who suffered a nose injury chasing a fungo drive in pre-game practice.

The Chiefs found time between their misplays to chalk up four double plays while the Bears contributed two twin killings.

Ten To Ace Odds Run 1 to 5 Depressor Next

TORONTO, May 23 — (CP). — It's King's Plate Day in Toronto to-day and racing fans still haven't found a horse capable, on form at least of beating Ten to Ace for the King's 50 Guineas and the $3,000 added.

Probable odds on the favorite are 1-5 and the next closest, if you can call it that, are on J. E. Smallman's Depressor at 5-1. Cossack Post is favored for the show spot at 7-1.

Bill's Gift, heavily backed until he turned up with a swollen tendon on his left foreleg on Thursday, is a probable started. The cold still has his followers with the respectable 8-1 odds.

Eleven three-year-olds were entered yesterday for the classic's 83rd running, but the number, in all probability, will be reduced before the scratch deadline arrives.

Indications are that the Woodbine track will be on the heavy side and because of the condition Rhadagus or Valkyrian of the Parkwood Stables, Single Claim and Clocklike appear likely to be withdrawn.

Ten to Ace, owned by Harry Giddings, has shown he's equally at home on any kind of track and barring mishap should be an easy winner. His biggest threat looms from Depressor, who likes heavy going.

Bob Cowie's Muckle, on his impressive workouts at Thorncliffe Track, looks like the dark horse, if he can overcome the disadvantages of not having worked on the Woodbine Course and having been broken from a gate only once this year.

All horses will tote 117 pounds except Northswept, Valkyrian and Jayeffdee who will carry 112.

They Feel Sports Relieve Pressure

WINNIPEG, May 21.—(CP)—Mike Goodman, 44-year-old Winnipeg hockey player and more recently a figure skating teacher in Florida and linesman in the American Hockey League, predicts that professional hockey will carry on during the war despite depleted staffs. Goodman, who 22 years ago helped Winnipeg Falcons win the world's amateur hockey championship at the Olympic games in Antwerp, Belgium, says cities like Indianapolis and Cleveland figure hockey helps relieve wartime pressure. Last winter he was linesman in the American League for all home games of the champion Indianapolis Capitals.

Before moving to the United States four years ago Goodman attained quite a reputation. He could skate backwards as fast as many players could skate forwards and he was a fine stickhandler.

Allies Economic Warfare Sees Cash Count

By J. WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, May 23 — (AP). — A half million dollars worth of sheepskin gloves are bought in Spain and 3.000 miles away in Russia two months later German fingers freeze on the triggers of their rifles.

A million dollars is deposited in Turkey to buy dried fruits, and the German people tighten their belts another notch.

This is economic warfare — slow, unspectacular but far-reaching and deadly. Since December 7 the United States has taken her place beside Britain on this war front as well as on the fighting fronts of Australia, India, and the Middle East.

On the door of a small apartment just off famed Berkeley Square a small brass plate has appeared. It reads: "American Embassy Economic Warfare Section."

Each day some of the staff go to the British Ministry of Economic Warfare. There they sit with three British economic experts around a table filled with reports—reports of cotton for sale in Turkey, opium in Persia, tungsten in Portugal, and hides in Irak. Cables start going out:

Buy the cotton— Germany needs it for clothing.

Buy the opium— Germany needs it for drugs.

Buy the tungsten—Germany needs it for munitions.

Buy the hides— German soldiers are short on boots.

Price of No Account.

What the price is doesn't matter. Nor does it matter that Britain and the United States control more hides and cotton than they can use.

Britain has been engaged in this type of warfare since the war began—pouring out millions. She fought battles in the Balkans, for chrome, oil, bauxite, tobacco, and a hundred other items.

Now the battlefields are narrowed. Britain and the United States have shut Germany and Italy out of the South American field through the blockade. That has become a naval matter and Germany now can buy only in the places she can reach by land.

Turkey is the main battleground, closely followed by Spain, Portugal and North Africa.

Agents in Britain, the United States and the Axis countries scour these regions daily in a grim race to find something of use.

Sometimes it isn't money the sellers want, but barter for something they need.

And the hard-pressed Nazis find their own device used against them. Their industries tied up with war orders and their railroads overloaded with troop and munition transport, they cannot guarantee deliveries.

The United Nations, with control of the seas and plenty of money to buy goods in South America for barter if they lack the articles themselves, can supply anything that is asked.

"This is one war front on which the Axis is in retreat," one American official declared.

Marion, Va., May 233.

A LOCALLY prominent surgeon was charged with the malicious destruction of property as an aftermath to the establishment of a state liquor dispensary in this Southwest Virginia town.

Employees of the store, opened Wednesday to combat bootlegging in the area, reported Dr. J. Stuart Staley came in yesterday, introduced himself, shed his coat, hopped over the counter and went to work smashing bottles. Town officers halted the activity and placed him under arrest. He was charged with malicious destruction of property and released under $500 bond.

One Mistake of a Kind

PETAWAWA, Ont., May 23—(CP). —The Canadian army has no place for the "no-hit, no-run, no-error" type of officer, Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, Chief of the General Staff, told more than 1.000 officers at the military training camp here Thursday.

Gen. Stuart told the gathering of junior and senior officers not to be "too afraid of making a mistake—we all make mistakes." But, he warned, "See to it that you don't make the same error twice."

He said the purpose of his visit as to "stand before you, talk straight from the heart and give you an opportunity to size me up."

Jolts Still Due Says Official, Despite Upswing

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 23 (CP).—A high sources in the United States government Thursday dashed cold water on a wave of restrained optimism that has been generating in Washington for the last few days.

Saying that the United Nations are on the upswing, he added it was dangerous to exaggerate the position or puff it up artificially.

Disappointments and defeats for the United Nations are inevitable this summer, this source declared, and it would be misleading to regard skirmishes as decisive battles.

"We have two very serious and powerful enemies, one in the east and one in the west, who have not been conquered," he said.

"I believe they will be conquered—in fact I have no doubt about it—perhaps sooner than some of us feared a few months ago but I do not want the public misled into false optimism.

"This war is no frolic."

His statement followed by one day State Secretary Cordell Hull's observation that the rapidly increasing strength of the United Nations gave reason to believe the war could be won earlier than could have been expected some months ago.

Cause for Smiles

Hull's statement, restrained as it was, was one of the pieces in the optimistic mosaic being fitted together here. Others were the resistance and strength demonstrated by the Russians on the Eastern front, the London announcement that 800 planes can be sent against Germany nightly and that facilities are being enlarged to handle 1,000 on a single night and, also, production achivements accomplished by the United States which have caused smiles to break out on the faces of men here who know the facts.

Despite the remarks of the high government source Thursday, there has been no tendency to regard the United Nations as out of the woods. Rather, there has been an inclination to believe that the inevitable defeats and disappointments of 1942 cannot change the course of the war —that a phase of the war has been completed successfully, particularly the transition of the American industrial machine from a peacetime to a wartime basis and that final victory, no matter when it comes, is inevitable.

This picture of restrained optimism has been predicated on the ability of the Russians to continue their resistance to the Germans on the Eastern front, their ability to maintain their armies intact and to block the Germans from the Middle East oil fields or at least to make Hitler pay a staggering price for them.

Russia is not the only cause for anxiety. It is admitted that the situation in China is getting progressively worse but, side by side with this is a conviction that the Chnese will be able to continue guerilla resistance to the Japanese until the time comes when Japan can be handled by the full power of the United Nations.

Meanwhile, the general picture, as the government source said Thursday, appears to be on the upswing, despite all the immediate limitations and weaknesses.

Convoys Steadily Move Men, Equipment For The Allies

Gunners aboard one of the escorting warships cluster about a machine-gun while away in the distance are four ships of the convoy they are taking to one of the war zones where American men and material are tipping the scales of victory our way. The big four-stacker in CENTRE was one of the crack passenger ships of the world in her heyday.

Fifty U.S. 'Swap' Destroyers Doing Great Job

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 23—(AP).From the fog-shrouded waters off the Grand Banks to the sparkling blue Indian Ocean, the gallant survivors of the 50 over-age destroyers traded to Great Britain by the United States in September, 1940, for Atlantic bases shpherd great convoys to the battle fronts of the Second Great War.

Four times the Admiralty has announced the sinking of one of these ships.

One went down in glory. She was H.M.S. Campeltown formerly the U.S.S. Buchanan, which braved the fire of German shore batteries to ram the main lock gate at St. Nazaire, in occupied France.

There she blew up and took the shattered gate to the bottom with her in the climax of one of the most daring operations of the war.

But the Campeltown's dramatic end was the exception. The rule is the arduous and incessant duty of escort for convoys. Two ships, the Stanley (formerly the Bailey) and the Broadwater (late the Mason) went down after hits by German torpedoes in attacks on convoys they protected.

True to the traditions of two navies she'd served, the Stanley took a U-boat with her.

The Stanley was one of the destroyers which repelled a heavy submarine attack on a British convoy in December, 1941. She destroyed a submarine in company with the British destroyer Stork. A torpedo from the U-574 then hit her and she sank as the Stork closed and sank the submarine.

Bags a U-boat

Another destroyer, the Broadway, was running through heavy seas in the North Atlantic when she turned to attack a submarine. A pattern of depth charges drove the U-boat to the surface and the Broadway opened fire. Accurate salvos brought the U-boat's crew tumbling out of the conning tower to surrender and a little while later the submarine slipped to the bottom.

The former U.S.S. Hopewell was announced sunk on Aug. 25, 1941, while flying the Norwegian flag as the Bath, and sinking of the Belmont, once the U.S.S. Hulick, was announced last Feb. 27.

Admiralty secrecy veils the activities of the remainder, save for the admission they are on convoy duty. One, H.M.S. Richmond (formerly the Fairfax) was badly battered in a fierce North Atlantic gale. But the rest steam and fight and steam again behind a curtain of silence.

The sailors who found them queer and cranky when they took them over, who jested at their thin armor and outmoded guns—well, they take them out and they do things that makes the names of these ships remembered among seafaring men wherever the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack keep the sea lanes free.

St. Nazaire Raid Brings Three VC

LONDON, May 23 — (CP).—The Victoria Cross, highest award for valor, was bestowed yesterday on three men for the courage they displayed in the raid on St. Nazaire on March 28 when the destroyer Campbeltown, loaded with high explosives, was rammed into the dock gates.

The three were Lt. Cmdr. Stephen Beattie, 34, now a German prisoner; seaman William Savage and Cmdr. Robert E. D. Ryder.

Savage, a gunner on one of the motor boats which accompanied the Campbeltown, was cited for engaging the German defenders from an exposed position with "cool and steady accuracy" on the way in and out of the harbor until he was killed at his gun.

Beattie's citation was "in recognition not only of his own valor but also that of the unnamed officers and men of the very gallant ship's company, many of whom did not return."

Ryder earned the decoration for his attack on "the heavily defended port." He led the destroyer to a position at pointblank range and stayed exposed to heavy fire for 76 minutes.

Five Subs Sink Turkish Boat

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 23. — (AP).—A 300-ton Turkish motorboat has been sunk close to the Turkish shore by gunfire from five unidentified submarines, Turkish press reports said today. All members of the crew were saved.

Shipping circles said yesterday that two Turkish cargo vessels had been sunk in the Black Sea in two days, both by gunfire from an unidentified submarine.

One of the vessels, press reports today said, was sunk by a submarine which penetrated the Bulgarian port of Rezve and sank the boat while she was discharging cargo.

Many small ships ply between Istanbul and Bulgarian ports, carrying on a trade consigned for the most part to Germany.

Plenty Of Care Mrs. Canada's Army Daughters

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 23 — (CP).—Mrs. Canada doesn't have to worry about her baby daughter in the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) because her sergeant—backed by a whole corps of officers—is being a mother to little AW2. Susie Jones.

A medical census of the women in airforce uniform showed today that all the little Susies and Sallies are healthier, in most cases, then ever before, that they're getting better medical and dental care, eating better food and getting more regular rest than they did when they were white-collar girls.

Flight Officer J. F. Davey, senior medical officer for the women's division, said she believes that the girls in uniform are healthier than the average girl.

"But we have had to reject 16 per cent of the volunteers," she added. Eye defects were the chief reason for rejection, with heart and blood abnormalities, foot trouble and nervous upsets next in order.

Get Careful Watching

All airwomen have their chests x-rayed when they enter the service and they're watched for acute colds. Besides making sure the girls are in good physical condition when they enter the service, they are well protected against disease by the R.C. A.F. immunization program.

There's a medical centre on every air station and the girls have their own sick quarters with nursing sisters in charge. If it's necessary to go to a hospital, she is cared for in one of the hospitals under the department of pensions and national health.

There are six women medical officers, counting Dr. Davey. They are stationed at the manning pools and training depots.

"Regular eating hours, plenty of rest and supervised exercise is an ideal living condition," said Dr. Davey. "A freedom from mental and emotional worry, and the sense of security they have in the service does a lot for a girl's health too."

MELBOURNE, May 23—(CP). — The widely circulated newapaper Melbourne Age expressed fear today that Britain and the United States might concentrate on the European front at the expense of Australia and the Southwest Pacific.

Commenting upon the declaration of Sir Stafford Cripps, British Lord Privy Seal, that Britain eventually would attack the Nazi-held continent, the Age said:

"There is a grave risk that intensified Anglo-American concentration in the European struggle will be at the expense of this southwest Pacific front, where battles of grave import to the United States and Britain may be fought.

"A place in the war cabinet, the making of speeches and exchanges of courtesies count for naught unless Australia received and is receiving war equipment she must have.

"The supreme importance of adequate naval strength in these waters is self-evident. Australia may well remind United States and British authorities that immediate appropriate action must follow the promises recently made."

Doing A Good Job

TWO hundred thousand Yugoslav patriots have joined Gen. Draja Mihailovic's forces opposing Axis occupations of their country, Yugoslav circles said today.

The increasing sharpness of the war between the unconquered Yugoslavs and the Axis is shown in a statement of Italian losses for last month—1,195 dead and 508 wounded, bringing total casualties for the Italians alone in five months to nearly 5,000.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) May 22—(AP).—The Vichy French navy lost two submarines in the unsuccessful defence of Madagascar against a British landing force, the Berlin radio said yesterday in a Vichy dispatch. Previous Vichy reports said one submarine was lost.

One Armed Squadron Leader Flies Again

After destroying a Dornier 217 and damaging another over France recently, Squadron-Leader J. A. F. MacLachlan, D.F.C., and Bar, 23-year-old one-armed leader of a fighter command Hurricane squadron, telegraphed his thanks to men who designed his artificial arm in replacement of the original lost a year ago when flying in Malta, where he had previously destroyed eight enemy aircraft. "You can fly just as well with one arm as with two when you get used to it," he said.

EVEN THE 1,000,000 HYDRO-ELECTRIC HORSEPOWER NOW USED IN ONTARIO'S WAR TIME PRODUCTION — — is not enough!

Electric Furnace pouring molten steel

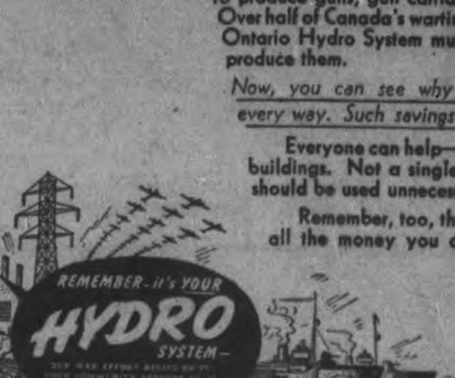
This is a war of Steel . . . and of Electricity!

Ontario's wartime plants now use over 1,000,000 hydro-electric horsepower. And still more hydro power must be harnessed to steel to produce guns, gun carriages, tanks, corvettes, cargo vessels, etc. Over half of Canada's wartime weapons are "made in Ontario". Your Ontario Hydro System must and will supply the electric energy to produce them.

Now, you can see why we must all save "Hydro" current in every way. Such savings will help to win our Battle for Freedom.

Everyone can help—in homes, offices, shops, factories and public buildings. Not a single unit of electricity, for light, heat or power should be used unnecessarily.

Remember, too, that wartime production must be paid for. Save all the money you can and buy more War Savings Certificates.



SAVE HYDRO IN THE HOME

Turn off all electric lights when not in use. Switch off your range elements promptly as soon as food is cooked. Have your electrical dealer or local Hydro Shop keep your appliances in first-class order.

GOOD FISHING.

Bun Thompson and Jack Wilson are two of the lucky fishermen. A few nights ago they caught ten large pickerel and lost four others during the evening. They were fishing from an anchored boat using live minnows.

WEATHER CENSORED.

Several requests for week-end weather forecasts have been received by A. O. Phillips, but owing to the censorship regulations, the only information permitted to be given out is printed daily on Page One of the Examiner.

TOO EARLY.

Some of the residents on George street in the downtown section have taken to celebrating the 'Queen's Birthday'a little ahead of schedule. With the falling of darkness pedestrians were more than a little startled, as with a roar, colourful rockets flamed across the centre of the street in an arch.

NOISE DRAWS CROWD.

A thunderous crack, followed by clouds of dust, brought pedestrians on the run on George Street to what remains of the former Grand Opera House. The crack was the last moan of regret of the north wall, and all that remained was a heap of rubble with bricks scattered in every direction. Soon another landmark will be gone.

HE TOOK OFF.

Jack Yelland of the C.G.E. Company has won himself some laurels as a trout fisherman with the catching of a 4 pound 9 ounce trout at Millbrook. He was standing on the bridge, and was rolling a cigarette, with the rod unattended when the trout took hold. The rod disappeared into the stream, and the fisherman promptly hopped overboard, clothes and all, and recovered his fishing equipment. He succeeded in landing the trout, which is the fourth largest brown trout reported caught in the Millbrook and Cavan waters.

CHEESE BOARD.

Those 3,962 boxes of cheese on the Belleville Board Thursday set an all time high for May. The number of boxes boarded a year ago about the same time, was 2,784.

A BROTHER OF MR. BANG.

"You're the same waiter who took my order?" asked the customer in a Winchell story. "Yes sir," was the reply. 'And you don't look a day older,' was the sharp comment of the customer who had waited long and impatiently.

NO ROTARY MEETING

Because Monday is a public holiday there will be no meeting of the Rotary Club next week, the next luncheon being scheduled for a week from Monday. Al Lewis' carnival committee will however be busy during the week in connection with plans for the annual carnival which will be held at Riverside Park on June 26-27.

SOME LOOK DEAD.

Take a good look at some of those rose bushes you see for sale in several main street windows. From the pavement some of them appear to be as dead as King Tut. Others are showing signs of life. Some of the shrubs also seem to be in the doubtful class. At any rate make 'sure of this stuff if you are buying any.

DUBIOUS ABOUT PARK.

Official circles were wondering this morning whether Riverside Park would be 'dried out' sufficiently Monday for the traffic of Conklin's carnival show. The ground has been saturated with the rain and some high water, and it is thought that some higher ground should be chosen after a month of wet weather and its effects on the park.

HE WANTED TO ENLIST.

James Neck, R.R. 2, Peterborough, formerly employed at the De Laval, tried to enlist several months ago but a hernia made him a reject. The boy then had an operation, paid for it himself, although it is reported the doctor played ball by giving him a sizeable reduction when he learned the circumstances. To-day this young man is in the Royal Canadian Navy, having started to train at the Galt Naval School.

Stolen Wheel Re-appears At Banquet—Ross Dobbin Becomes A Goat Owner

Humor mingled with a theme of victory on Friday evening when reports tabulated revealed the Red Cross and Community Fund had climbed to $69,103, more than $9,000 over the $60,000 objective. Ross Dobbin was awarded the goat, by virtue of the fact that he is a bachelor and not likely to have domestic trouble over the pet. He is shown giving the hungry animal a bottle of milk. The goat is now a resident at the Filtration Park Zoo. J. G. Wharry of the Quaker Oats had his bicycle stolen this week, and the case was cracked when he discovered the machine presented to him by the committee was his own. The wheel was heavily wrapped with paper, and it is believed for the first time in years, the pranksters stole a march on the man who bought the goat, Mr. Wharry.

War—25 Years Ago

MAY 23, 1917—Four Zeppelins raided English east coast; one person killed. Italians advanced on the southern Carso front from Kostanjevica to the sea, capturing several strategic Austrian positions and taking 9,000 prisoners.

MAY 24, 1917—Japanese warships started operations with Allied naval units in the Mediterranean. French mission to United States, headed by Marshal Joffre, returned to France from America.

MAY 25, 1917.—Seventeen German airplanes raided Folkstone on English southeast coast; 17 killed, 174 injured; three planes returning from raid shot down over the English Channel. Italians made progress on southern end of Carso front.

Militia Cracks Down On Defaulters

CAMPBELLFORD, May 23 (ENS)—Three more members of the Midland's Regiment reserve unit paid fines for failing to show up for parades yesterday. The boys, Ptes. S. Scriver, L. Duff and N. E. Nelson, all of Hastings, paid fines of $5 when they appeared before Magistrate Langley. According to the officer who laid the informations, none of them had been out to parade since the annual camp last fall.

"You should be proud to wear the uniform and serve your country," commented the Magistrate.

Andrew Ibey of Seymour Township pleaded guilty to creating a disturbance in a public place and contributed $2 and costs. Chief Constable George Hardy laid the charge.

SUM OF MONEY TAKEN

The police department received a complaint from a local woman Friday night that when she left her purse for a few minutes in the wash room of a hotel, she found that $12 and a gold locket had been stolen from the bag.

REBUILD PIGGERY.

The Chas. Parm piggery near Cannifton, which was destroyed by fire some weeks ago with its 600 pigs, will be rebuilt as soon as possible.

Rain In May Nearing Record

In only one other May in the last forty years has rainfall exceeded this month's 6.43 inches And the comparison is not yet equitable because the dripping month has another eight to shoot at a new record of moisture.

The May of 1912 set up the peak for the fifth month of the year with 6.82 inches. That leaves this month with only a fractional marging to make up in its persistence to hang out a new record.

A. O. Phillips, weather recorder, said this morning that the precipitation Friday was 1.14 of an inch.

"In the last twenty-three days," said Mr. Phillips, "from April 30 to May 22 there have been fourteen of them with rainfall. And the total for that time is 643 inches."

Effort of Get-Together Social Club Nets $31 for War Victims

The Get-Together Club, is a social group which came into existence purely for the purpose of meeting once a week during the winter months in a social way to play euchre, and thereby raise funds to help the people of Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund. By this means since March 10, 1941, it has been the means of raising a total of $154.25 with 14 donations up to the early part of this current month. Recently the club has sponsore dthe sale of tickets for a draw on a pair of hand-embroidered pillow slips, made and donated by Mrs. J. J. Stewart of Aylmer street, and this was brought to a successful conclusion on Monday night, when Mrs. Stewart entertained the members of the club to a social evening when the draw was made by the secretary of the fund. The winning ticket was No. 87, held by Mrs. E. Stothart, R.R. No. 4, Peterborough. and the splendid sum of $31.55 which resulted from this is listed in to-day's list of receipts for the fund, per Mrs. Clarence Fairbairn, R.R. No. 4, who has two sons serving in the Canadian forces, one in England and the other at Cornwall. This brings the total from the club to date up to $185.60, which from such a small group is to be highly commended. Another regular contributor under the name of "Odd Nickels" from the Induction Motor Test of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., per Miss A. McCracken, who has been the spark plug ever working behind all these contributions to help the people of Britain through this fund. One collection from a penny box was made, that at the Examiner office, adding $1.05 to the day's receipts.

Cavan Reports

Still another group who have previously given to the fund is heard from in today's list with Mervin Kinsman of Cavan, fund representative in that district sending in the nice sum of $16.80, as net proceeds of a dance held in that place on May 15, sponsored by the boys of the Cavan community. Their help to the fund is much appreciated.

Another group in the surrounding district who have considerably helped the fund in the past, are now preparing to help again, with the Lily Lake Women's Association sponsoring a big community sale on June 3. Donation for this may be sent to Mrs. D. R. Wilson or Mrs. W. C. Steinkraus At this meeting, the draw will be made for a quilt which they are now engaged in selling tickets for.

Last of Potatoes Being Offered

Farm-grown flowers, tulips, lilies of the valley, lilacs and other lovely reminders of a normal May, were struggling against the gloom of a damp and sunless and altogether cheerless morning on the produce market today.

Potatoes, seedling plants, both vegetables and flowers, asparagus, radish and onions, comprised the outdoor market.

Table potatoes were $1.75 and $1.80. One farmer had sold the last of his 1941 potato crop at 9.45 o'clock, and was decamping in satisfaction. Erle Tully had the most of his remnant spud stock on a trailer with only eight or ten bags left at home. The pedigreed seed varieties were unchanged at $2.25 and $2.50.

The greenhouse folks spread quite a display of their annual plants at 20 cents a box, two for 35 cents. And the new vegetables were in the season's price groove.

Eggs were 25 to 30 cents, with other grades up to 38 and 40 cents. Four-months-old chickens were 35 cents a pound, broilers 32 cents, pullets of 1941 were 30 cents and some were clipped to 28 cents. Butter was 37 and 38 cents.

George Benton offered an extensive assortment of perennials and rockery plants, also semper vivum. Prices were 10 to 25 cents each.

Cyclist Collides With Pedestrian

Three persons were injured when a bicycle collided with two pedestrians on George street Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. T. Anthony, 438 Rogers street and her four-year old grandson, Paul Asta, were walking across George street from the east side to the west and a car driven by Ken McCannan slowed up to let them pass They were just about to step to the sidewalk when a bicycle ridden south by Ross Kennedy, 659 Water street, passed McCannan's car on the right and struck Mrs. Anthony and her grandson, knocking them to the road. Both suffered cuts and bruises around the head and face.

Kennedy was tossed off his bicycle and sustained scratches and bruises on his right elbow and right leg.

Bank Of Commerce Is 75 Years Old

There are two important anniversaries celebrated around the date of May 24. First there is the 'Queen's Birthday,' which is a day to mark development of an Empire spanning about one-quarter of the globe, and secondly the Canadian Bank of Commerce is observing the 75th anniversary of its founding.

Seventy-five years ago on May 22, the Queen made Canada a nation and assenting to the union of the four provinces she cemented the foundation stones of a powerful nation laid by the Fathers of Confederation. Almost simultaneously the Canadian Bank of Commerce was founded in 1867. The Peterborough branch was opened in July, 1870, under the managership of J. A. Hall.

Driver Is Injured When Team Bolts

When a team of horses attached to a garbage wagon bolted as he was driving across the Hunter street bridge Friday evening, William Donegan, Park street, driver for Bert Withers, was thrown off the wagon and was picked up in an unconscious condition.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where he soon revived. His condition was not regarded as serious but he was retained at the hospital until to-day for observation.

The runaway team was stopped a short distance away and no damage was done to the equipment.

Salvage Drive Moving South

The salvage collection is marching south on its way to cleaning up the city of all the salvage material that can be used for war purposes. Thursday the fleet of trucks and army of workers took on the north end of the city and obtained a lot of salvage. The area was not as large as Ashburnham and therefore the quantity was not as great as was obtained in the district east of the river, except in one particular, for in last week's advertising it was stressed the need for bottles and Thursday they came in great quantities, large and small, everything in the shape of a bottle except milk bottles.

Next week's salvage collection will take in the area from the west bank of the river, south of Parkhill road and all the streets running east and west and north and south as far as Brock street, but not Brock street itself. In the west end it will include both sides of Weller street.

Great quantities of salvage are needed. Papers, magazines, miscellaneous paper, knocked down cardboard containers, rubber, rags, bottles and metals of all kinds but not tin cans as there is no way of processing the cans to get the tin out of them. Make your bundles as clean as possible for the men and women handling them. A few householders got salvage day mixed up with garbage day and in these instances the collection had no salvage value.

Citizens generally are co-operating exceptionally well with the salvage committee and it is greatly appreciated and they are hoping that the collection in the third area of the six into which the city is divided which takes place on Thursday next will be a record-breaking one. Hats off to Ashburnham so far.

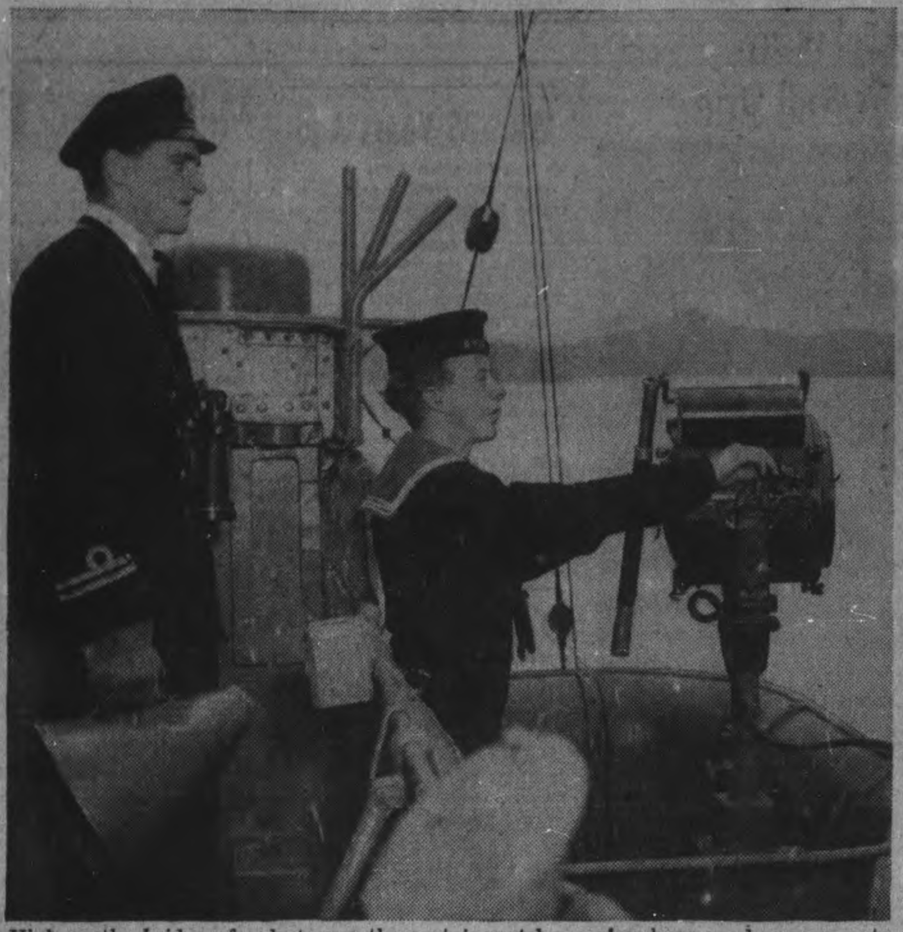
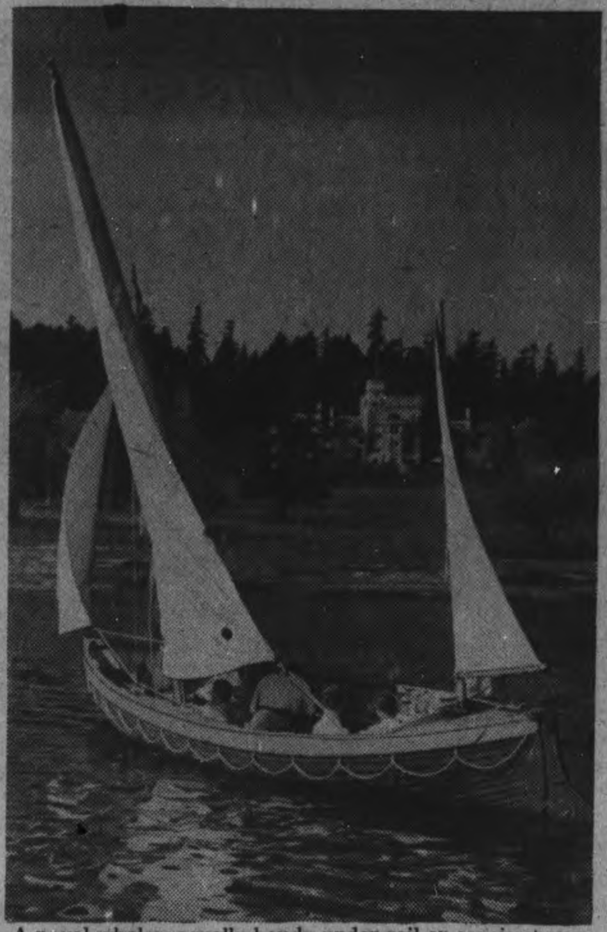
Royal Canadian Naval College Opens Doors to First Class in October

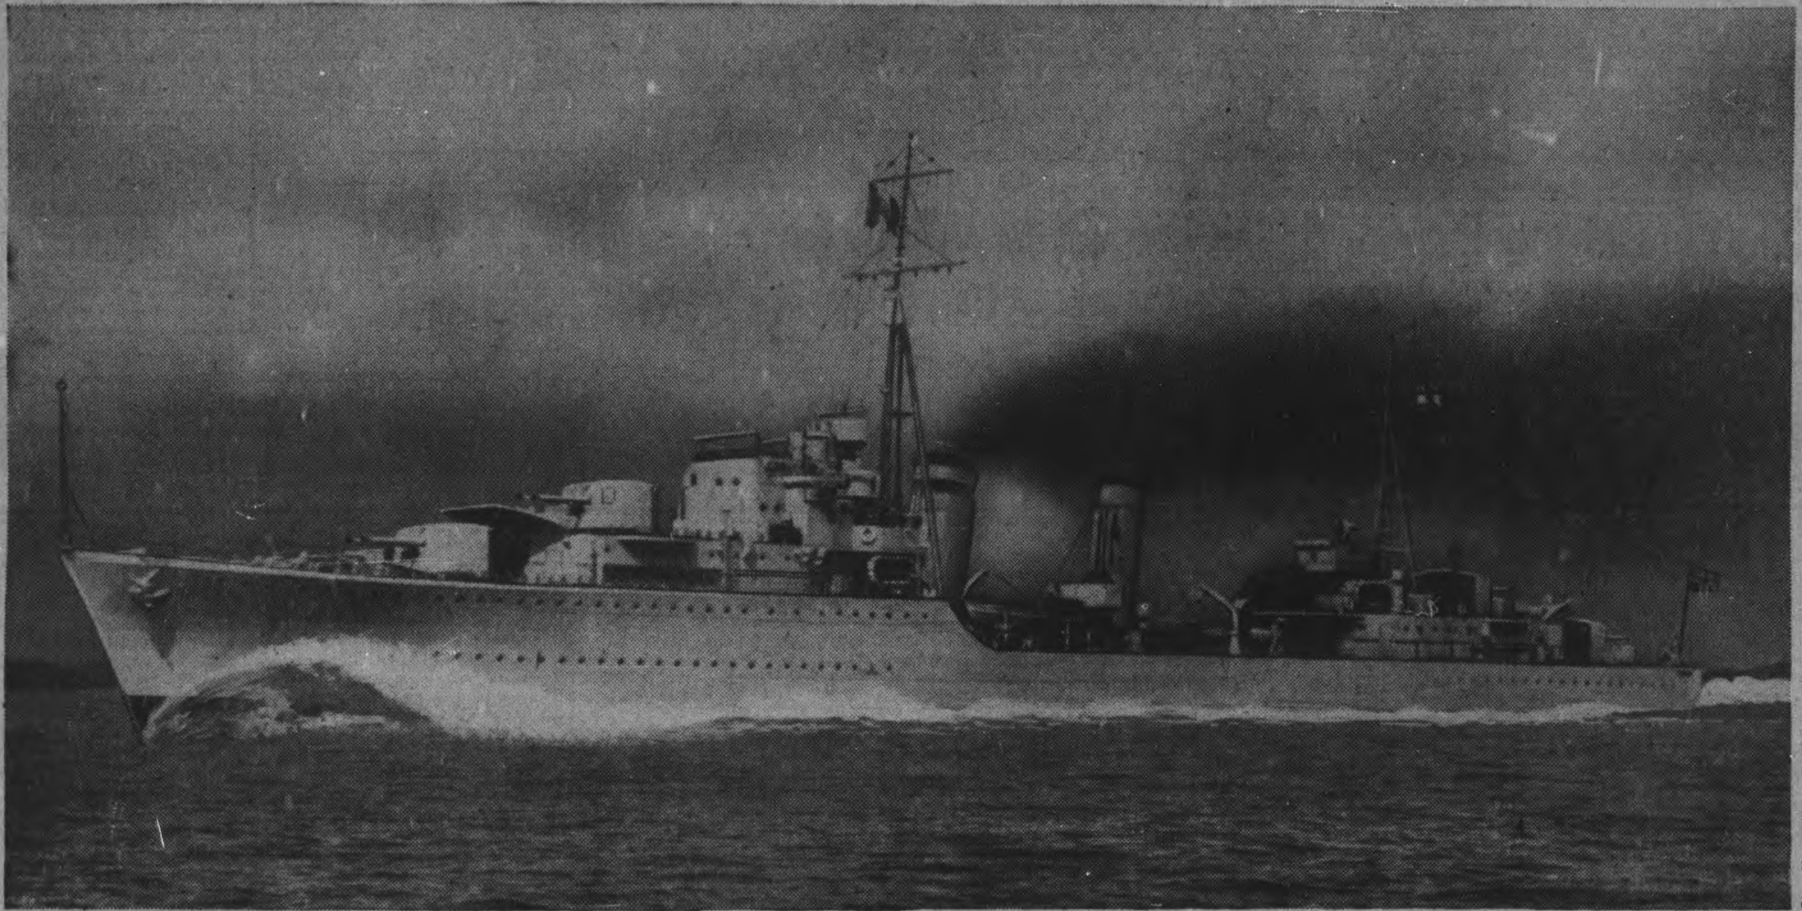


High on the bridge of a destroyer the captain watches a signalman send a message to another ship in the anchorage. Officers will be trained at Royal Canadian Naval College, opening in October for boys 16 to 17 years and 9 months with jr. matriculation.



A naval whaler, equally handy under sail or oar, is shown in the lagoon on the Naval College grounds at Esquimalt. Main building appears in background, a mile from shore.

An officer on the upper bridge of a destroyer is studying deflection measurements for accurate firing of a torpedo. Applications from qualified young men seeking careers in the navy will be accepted by the Secretary of the Naval Board, Ottawa, up to May 31.



This Tribal Class destroyer, with double the offensive power of present destroyers, is one of the ships which will be manned by men trained at the new Naval College at Esquimalt, B.C. The Tribal type is coming into delivery this year, with many building for the future. Their greatest advance in design is twin mounting of main armament. 4.7-inch guns hurling a double weight of broadside. Applicants for appointment to the new college will be selected on the basis of examination standings and an interview.

Students at the new college must familiarize themselves with modern weapons. This officer is assembling the tail of a 21-inch torpedo, which travels at 40 miles per hour.

Every officer aboard a Canadian destroyer is a specialist in gunnery, torpedoes or navigation. In foreground at right of this group in the wardroom of the Saguenay is Lieut. Philip E. Haddon, then captain of the ship, now executive officer of the college.

TRADITION, woven into the fabric of British naval history by Drake, Frobisher and Nelson, endures today in the spirit of the men who fight in the Canadian Navy.

It represents a quality of mind and heart which distinguishes the sailors of the British Commonwealth from those of the axis.

Here is what Vice-Admiral Nelles, Chief of Canada's Naval Staff, says of that distinction:

"They are a short-term navy and we are a long-term navy.

"Those hundreds of years of British naval tradition are paying us good, solid dividends now."

Then, too, there is the matter of training. "It is more thorough," the admiral says, "and lasts longer. A mature officer in the British Navy has vast technical training behind him—years of work in a closely-knit organization.

"The German Navy, and the Italian Navy for that matter, lack the tradition, the length of service and the sailor's instinct. All the mechanical skill in the world isn't going to save them."

In October Canada opens a new Naval College where the British tradition of the sea and the high standards of training will be maintained. Its commanding officer will be Commander John M. Grant, R.C.N. His executive officer will be Lieut. Philip E. Haddon, who has been captain of the destroyer Saguenay. Director of studies will be Lieut.-Commander Kenneth Ketchum, former headmaster of St. Andrew's College.

Entrance requirements will be high. The first 50 of these future naval officers joining for the two years' course must be between the ages of 16 years and 17 years and nine months on July 1, with a junior matriculation in mathematics, physics or chemistry, history, English and another modern language.

For this year only, an additional 50 will be entered for a one-year course. Because the training period is shorter these will have to present higher credentials. They must have senior matriculation in the same subjects and be between the ages of 17 years and 18 years and nine months on July 1. To select the first 100 entrants to the new Naval College a Senior Naval Officers Board will interview candidates personally.

Young officers in training receive instruction in layout of modern warships. The model is a heavy cruiser. The navy will select 100 career men this year for special courses. Information on the new Naval College may be obtained from Naval Secretary, Ottawa.

Veteran Liveryman Doubts Horses Ever To Pound Stage Runs Again; Tough Winter Mail Haul To Apsley

LAKEFIELD, May 23—(ENS).—Jack Madill, hale and hearty at 78, sat on his spacious Regent street verandah and musing back over three score years as liveryman and head horseman for half a dozen lumber companies, and expressed the belief that horses on the Peterborough-Apsley run now wouldn't stand the gaff—"they'd go bad in the legs on the hard roads."

And Jack should know, for he handled horses in a livery on and off for over half a century and in lumber camps for many more years.

"Many's the time have I driven Lakefield doctors to Apsley—Dr. John Bell and Dr. Duncan as far back as the 80's, and a bit later Dr. J. R. Fraser, now retired in the village. It was a five-hour trip with a light rig then and I doubt if they'd make it much shorter now.

"I started out as a lad of 14 toward the end of the 70's, handling horses with the old firm of Ross and Company who were cutting back of the Oregon Trail in Harvey at Turtle Lake (now being cut by the Carew Company of Lindsay), under Pat Cassidy, foreman.

"You got top men for 50 cents a day and their board, and teamsters $1 including the team. In camp at that time they didn't feed you at tables—you dipped your rations out of a big kettle and found a spot to sit and eat it.

"Supplies went up the old Deer Bay Creek trail on wood-shod jumpers eight miles or more to the camp. I was only a lad then and got some of my worst scares on that tote road—from the wolves, they were thick as hares. They never actually attacked me, but with the way they howled I was never too sure they wouldn't and the team was less certain than I.

No Need For The Wrip

"First a pack would start up on the hills off to the right, another would tune in from the left, and it wasn't long before they'd be getting closer—it was spine-chilling business and you didn't need any lash on the team. Before you'd reach the camp there would be shadows flitting along the road on both sides—and as I said, they never got too close, but I wouldn't care to have had a horse break his leg or get left behind on the road alone.

"Back in the 80's John Cooper ran a livery here and I was with him for a dozen years or more before I bought him out in 1901—16 road or livery horses and a couple of dray teams. Handled the mail to the post office from the station and considerable other cartage.

"Livery horses were just plain steady horses—not too fast either—the fast ones were too hard on buggies. You had to pick them with care, for it cost money for runaways or skittish sidesteppers.

"With three mills here and the Canada Cement Company, things were humming then, and you could make some money even with a horse let out for $2 a day in a buggy, $3 for a team or perhaps up to $4 or $5 depending on the trip—one to Peterborough was worth $3 and expenses.

"When I said it cost money for runaways you'll get a slight idea aside from the cost of harness—buggies ran into $150—a surrey carrying five comfortably or three-seated carriage, about $300—hack, closed in behind like a coach with the driver's seat up high in front—$700 to $800—and you didn't care to have one of those smashed up every day with wild horses.

Besides those types of carriages we had a side-seated bus that carried 20—covered in and sides that closed in case of rain. The seats came out and it could be used for travellers' trunks. Most of our outfits were made by Fitzgerald and Stainger, located then at the corner of Brock and Water streets in the city.

"Horses were plentiful then and you could pick one up anywhere from $75 to $150. In those days many citizens had drivers—I remember one Captain Halifax had up on the Strickland place—he called him Toby—used to drive him down to the post office or to pick up his friends for a party—always said he was going to get a better horse when Toby died, but he moved back to England before Toby passed on.

"Letting out saddle horses was done very seldom, unless it was to someone we knew pretty well—they'd either run the gimp out of the horse or abuse it some way, never giving it a chance, so most of our horses went out in buggies or driving teams.

"A trip into Peterborough took about an hour, though we had some in the stable that could do it in 50 minutes without too much trouble.

Great Tourist Days Then

"Those were great tourist days, too; the hotels at the lake being kept pretty full—they came and stayed longer than they do now—seems lately with the cars, tourists move around more, just staying for a few days then moving along.

"I've seen as many as seven outfits of ours in Buckhorn in a single evening taking tourists up after the evening train. The 13 miles took about an hour and a half with a light rig, $4 for a team or $5 for a bus load. It took a bit less time to Burleigh Falls as it was only 11 miles.

"Remember driving the Robbins' to Jack's Lake when they first built a cabin there. Used to meet them in Peterborough at the C.P.R. with a couple of teams, bring them to Lakefield where they stayed overnight and then make the balance of the trip next day.

"Used to be great times up there—they'd take in a big party of friends, a cook from Bobcaygeon and guides from up around there—Ned Wigg and Jim Hendley were the standbys, and head down the lake three miles from Brooks' Landing to the cottage. The trip in was worth about $10—we'd take them out in the Fall.

"Sold the business to Jack Bygott in 1905, and went with the Cavendish Lumber Company till they wound up the Dixon Company limits up in Cavendish in 1914. Had charge of as many as 130 or 140 horses. Kept them on a ranch in the summer at Kawartha Park, shifting them to the camp starting in August and sending them up as needed till the freeze-up.

"After the Cavendish wound up I got the livery back from Bygott in 1915 and after another three years in it sold to Dr. Mick Kennedy.

"At that time the business consisted of about half a dozen horses and five Ford cars. Dr. Kennedy ran it till 1923, when I took it over again and with the livery horses all sold, rented it to Davis and Charlton as a garage. McColl-Frontenac purchased the property in 1933—and that about covers the last livery in the village.

"I don't expect we'll ever see another even if we do run out of gas or tires—something will be invented in the line of fuel and rubber that will take their place—the world is too keyed up to get back to the pace of the horse. Though if they did we'd probably have more community life, for in the livery days one had more time to get acquainted with folks and there seemed to be more sociability and general friendliness than now when we roar through life at 40 to 80 miles an hour."

The Apsley Mail Run

The mail run to Apsley kept horses on the road for another five years after the last of the liveries closed its doors, though it was only in the winter months when cars or trucks couldn't get through. Duncan Brown at Apsley held the contract with Dave Tucker handling the driving.

Some of the previous mail contractors for the run were William Thompson of Mount Julian, Hilliard and Bruce Reid of the same place, Dr. Michael Kennedy of Lakefield, and his father, Patsy Kennedy, for many years before him.

"We ran a truck till it snowed up late in the Fall," said Dave Tucker, "then got out the teams—had two of them, spelling off at Haultain.

"The north end from Apsley to Haultain was the short run about 12 miles and with a start from the village at 7 a.m. we'd make Haultain about 10.30, change teams at Will McCauley's and make the Falls by noon, where the horses were fed, then into Lakefield by about 3 in time for the mail to be sorted in time to catch the 4.40 train south.

"Next morning we'd get away north about ten, after the morning mail train came in and pull into the Falls for dinner—into Haultain around 3, change horses again and back into Apsley between 6 and 7 that night. Mind you, those times depended largely on the conditions of the roads—and the north end from Burleigh was the old bush road with the trees and rocks scraping the sides in many places, with hairpin turns and hills that weren't cut down like they are now.

The Pitch-Hole Country

"Snow never bothered us in the bush section like it did south of Burleigh and if there was a blow we could always count for trouble on that stretch—almost always having to take to the fields at the old windmill near Bill Tedford's and a dozen places on south and the cream of the high spots was along just north of the Grove School past the present Eric Grier place, and Hockaday's—there you hit the pitch-hole country.

"These pitch-holes were any place from six to fifteen feet across and up to ten or twelve feet deep in the worst where the drifts would pile up, then pack hard—the spots in between filling in with loose snow and as the sleighs dropped in they'd pull out a big scoop on the bunker and pile it on the crest, where it would gradually pile up and pack hard into a miniature mountain.

"In a blow one day going north with the holes drifted across we hit a bad one and the team feeling themselves going down, jumped, landing in the hollow with only their ears out—the sleigh came off the crest behind with a snap and jack-knifed upside down on top of them with me underneath between the horses—fortunately for me the pair was quiet—not that they could have done much, but they could have made it bad if they got me under them. I was over an hour getting them untangled, and the mail and parcels dug out.

"Another time they tried to hop one of those gulleys when they started to sink—when they were drifted over neither you nor the horses could tell where they were—and they pulled the pole right out of the sleigh—and I had to hoof it into the Point for another.

"One thing about the run, the teams—stuff about 1,200-1,300 pounds soon got onto all the tricks and you should have seen them get out of one of those holes—standing on their back legs and pawing.

Roy Brown Had "Fun," Too

Roy Brown, former county warden and now road superintendent of that same 30-mile stretch, added a few interesting details of events on it in earlier days.

Just previous to Duncan Brown obtaining the contract in 1921, William Thompson of Mount Julian held it, and in the three summer months the mail came down to Lakefield by steamer. The team brought the mail from Apsley to Mount Julian post office, arriving some time before ten; the steamer getting into the village in time to catch the afternoon train south, and bringing the northbound mail back, reaching Julian between five and six or according to the amount of passengers and freight to be distributed.

"The first summer we had the contract," said Mr. Brown, "we ran a Ford station wagon that continually was unable to make the Twin Hills—they were bad then, and carrying the mail and luggage up the grade put my brother Stewart on the rocks. Dave Tucker took over and handled it for the following five years.

"I remember one trip I took when Dave was laid up with lumbago—and it was a hummer—the dates are hazy but I believe it was about February of 1925—it had been snowing and blowing, but the trip from Apsley to Haultain wasn't too bad, heavy, but passable.

"Changed horses at McCauley's and he warned me I'd not likely make it over the next hill—and I didn't. The snow must have been seven or eight feet deep there, and the team floundered till they were almost out of sight, and quit. Well, I got them unhitched and single-filed them out and over to Sam Wilson's, nearby—in those days you pulled into the nearest farm when stuck and you were welcome as the flowers in May.

"That was about 11 o'clock in the morning. It blew all that day and roared itself out during the night—while we just sat tight. Next morning there was no sign of the sleigh—it had simply vanished in the drift. Must have been about eleven feet deep there by then. Some of the neighbors rallied around and after some digging we found it, and after a lot more digging got enough of the road opened up to start out again.

"Made it down to within a mile of the Falls that night, about five miles or so—all mighty heavy going. By next morning some more digging had been done and we got into Lakefield in the afternoon of the third day.

"The Spring of 1927 saw the last of our teams on the mail run—in the following winters the counties kept enough men and plows on it to allow trucks to get through except on rare occasions and in the Winter of 1933 and 1934 the highway was cut through and since then the province has looked after the plowing."

To Canadian Woman Goes Credit Of Empire Day

Kiwanians were treated to a detailed description of the origin of Empire Day and the principles that it involves, by Jacob Low, guest speaker, Friday.

In 1897, Mrs. Clementina Fessenden, Hamilton, conceived the idea of a day for children to celebrate the growth of empire. Due to her energies the first celebration was held in 1898 by the Dundas schools with the writing of essays, singing of patriotic songs, and addresses. The idea then spread to Nova Scotia and a resolution was adopted suggesting that May 23, or the last school day preceding May 24, be observed by all the schools as Empire Day.

Lord Meath of England followed up the idea of Empire Day in Britain and other parts of the world, but the idea was born in Hamilton and to Ontario goes the honor of leading the rest of the Empire over forty years ago in an example that other members of the Commonwealth have not been slow in following.

Mrs. Fessenden was a journalist. She published a brochure "Our Union Jack" and was elected a councillor of the League of Empire, London, England. She was organizing secretary of the Daughters of the Empire and a member of the National Council of Women.

Carried To England

Lord Meath used his influence in England to further the idea of this celebration. He was convinced of the importance of reminding young and old of all that the Union Jack symbolizes and of reviewing the advantages of citizenship within the Empire. He urged upon British subjects some of the following injunctions:

Obey the laws; prepare to advance the highest interests of the Empire in peace or war; learn citizenship; consider duty before rights; think broadly and work for others"

Mr. Low enumerated the countries belonging to the Empire and their peoples and dealt particularly with India. He pointed out that the Sikhs from India, from the hilly country, are loyal to Britain and form a valuable contingent of the British army, but that political leaders, Gandhi and Nehru have recently given Britain concern because they wished to remain at peace. He described what a splendid part Indian forces have played on every war front and of the contribution she is making in materials and also what a strategic position she occupies.

Instinct Of Self-Government

He continued saying that "the British people alone had the habit and instinct of self-government, and wherever they went they carried it with them. This spontaneous growth of free communities has been one of the principal causes of the great extension of the British Empire. The British fleet has made the preservation of the Empire possible and it must be noted that it has never threatened the freedom of an independent state nor in peace time restricted the free movement of ships of all nations."

The address was closed with the reading of Kipling's poem, "For All We Have and Are."

Gas, Tire Ration Seen Likely To Curb Crime

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 23—(CP).—Gasoline and tire rationing may deal the dead end kids a knockout blow.

That, in effect, is the reasoning of some Canadian sociologists who say that when wartime shortages finally drive automobiles off the roads, these questions will arise:

Will the delinquent stay home and play baseball? Or will he take to stealing horse-and-buggy?

Dr. George Davidson, director of the Canadian Welfare Council, admits he doesn't know the answer.

Dr. Davidson, however, predicts a general reduction in adult as well as youthful crime if private cars disappear in Canada.

"The getaway won't be so easy if crooks can't use high-powered automobiles," said this sociologist. "If you assume a world where the criminals have no access to rapid transportation, while the law still has that access, law enforcement will be much easier."

War has proved that crime was relative. Stealing tires was a more serious offence now than it had been six months ago.

"It looks as if we have created a whole new set of crimes against society," Dr. Davidson said.

Force New Interests

United States sociologists pondering the effect of gasoline rationing on family life predicted a "minor social revolution" which would keep parents home with their children and force people to create new interests.

"I don't think we'll notice much social revolution in Canada," Dr. Davidson said. "Canadian families have always been much closer together. On the other hand those grand, wholesome family outings that mean so much to Canadian families won't be possible.

"After all, you can't see a family of five going for a picnic on a tandem."

Families may be thrown together more, but this might not necessarily be a happy situation. People "who have to live with each other whether they want to or not" were not always the most pleasant companions.

But if the war lasts long enough, new ways of entertainment and new interests will be found.

"There may be a return to community life," Dr. Davidson said. "People may become neighbors again, after an era of not knowing who lives next door to you."

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

The Story. — Bill Talcott is about to return to New York after six years on a Dutch West Indian island as branch manager for an American chemical firm, to face charges of shortage in his accounts, brought by an auditor. Bill is to return with Halsey, who was to succeed him; MacDowell, a private detective; June Paterson, cousin of Bill's former roommate, and two refugees, Martha Swenson and Prof. Constantine, who have been landed on the island by a villainous smuggler named Jackson. Bill faces the auditor, who remains in charge, with accusation that latter's charges are a frameup, engineered by higher-ups.

BILL MAKES UP HIS MIND
CHAPTER XI

As abruptly as it had begun the conference was over. Struthers, who seemed to have as little use for food as he had for sleep, departed for the office again taking Halsey with him, and thus Bill Talcott was left along with MacDowell.

The detective was shaky, off-balance and very near collapse. The black-jack blow had raised a considerable lump on his head, and the previous smash from Talcott's fist had bruised and discolored his mouth. He seemed to have considerable difficulty in focussing his eye sas he groped about in search for clothing, and Talcott, relenting, assisted as much as he could.

"You ain't such a bad guy," MacDowell muttered as Bill Talcott directed his arm into a sleeve. "I guess you had to hit me— Say, d'you suppose I could have a drink?"

Talcott nodded, summoned the boy, and when the drink was brought MacDowell was clothed. The mixture seemed to revive him, sent color flooding through his cheeks, and he cast a shrewd appraising glance at Talcott.

"You ain't such a bad guy," MacDowell said again. Suddenly he put the glass down and tiptoed to the window, looked out and all around; tiptoed back to the door and searched the hall beyond. Apparently satisfied, he returned to the centre of the room, inclined his head and in a horse whisper said, "Ya know somep'n? I don't like that guy Struthers."

Talcott covered his surpise. "No? I thought you fellows were buddies."

"Me, a buddy to him? I'd like to kick him in the pant—"McDowell, get up! Do yer dooty!" And me laying there with my neck broke, for all he knows!"

Talcott swallowed a smile. "Strange, wasn't it, how he avoided all that trouble at the dock?"

"Yeah; listen, I been watchin' you, an' the more I watch the more satisfied I am somep'n stinks besides the fertilizer around here." MacDowell paused. "Listen can you keep your mouth shut?"

"I can."

MacDowell bent forward further and in his eagerness his eyes were distended until he stared from their tops; his voice was sunk lower still. "Private or public, I'm still a cop, see? I'm getting paid to do a job, and so far as anybody knows I'm gonna do it. But I ain't such a bad guy myself. Maybe I framed a few guys for divorce precedings, but it was because the guys themselves wanted to get framed, see? I never been a party to framing a guy for the pen, and I'm too old to start now."

Bill Talcott could no longer control his surprise. "Do you mean you have evidence that Struthers is trying to frame me?"

MacDowell moved his hands hastily. "Listen, I didn't say that. I only said I don't like how this thing smells. So I'm gonna help you if you'll keep your mouth shut."

Was this a trap? MacDowell was in Struthers' employ; he had come to Abas with Struthers and Halsey. He was hand in glove with the auditor, and if a plot was cooking, he would be an ingredient. But Mr. MacDowell had taken a few nasty raps that weren't in the cards. Was this just a new twist to the old confidence game, or was the man fed up and sincere? Talcott eyed him speculatively and decided to gamble.

"All right," Talcott said, "what's your proposition?"

MacDowell inhaled sharply. "This is a Dutch island, ain't it?"

"Yes."

"Okay. What happens if you refuse to be extradited?"

Talcott stared. "You mean—"

"If you don't want to go back to New York with me, I ain't got the power to make you. You can tie this thing up in the courts with a writ of habeas corpus. Legally, they can't touch you until you been extradited, and that sometimes take a while. Wrom what you said to Struthers, I figure you want to stick around so's to see he don't put any clinchers on you. That way you could do it. See?"

Talcott searched the other's face in amazement. Here indeed was help from an unexpected quarter. Abas being a Dutch island some 600 air miles distant from the seat of government, he could stand on his rights; could dispatch a letter for legal counsel and wait calmly while lawyers and judges argued the matter. He could remain on the island, a thorn in Struthers' side, watching, tabulating and compiling evidence in his own defence. He could squat on his haunches while the little auditor yapped like a terrier. It would be satisfaction in a large measure for what he had suffered to be able to observe Struthers running in futile circles, trying desperately to cover up.

That way he would get satisfaction. But would satisfaction solve the problem? Revenge was like getting drunk; you hurt somebody else because they had hurt you and all the while the more important things were going on without you. You stood and gloated over your antagonist who, in the last analysis, might be merely an agent sacrificed to prevent you from reaching the end.

There was something else; deeper, more psychologically significant. Already, in the eyes of the men, Halsey was boss. The new man had proved himself while Bill Talcott had lost face. How would they interpret his continued inactive presence? What would Sebastien and black Tomas and all the others think of him if he were to remain, vindictive but ineffectual, an impotent vegetable ripening to rottenness in the sun? He could face accusations, could fight words and tricks and legal proceedings, but he could never bear to see the light of respect and effection in the eyes of his men change to darkness, bitter and hard with disappointment.

No, the locus of the thing lay in New York; perhaps in the cloistered offices of Federal Chemical itself. No matter what the manifestations, his task was clear; he must avoid and overcome the lesser obstacles thrust as bait in his path. His object was the end.

Slowly he turned. "I appreciate your offer, MacDowell. I fully appreciate what it cost to make it. The advice you have given me is valuable, but I'm not going to take it."

MacDowell's mouth gaped. "What? You mean you're gonna let them go ahead an' smear you? You're gonna take it layin' down?"

"I mean I'm returning to New York with you on the Blue Petrel. A man can't run away from his troubles. My trouble is in New York. Maybe I'm wrong but that's the way I'm built. I've got to face Winters for a showdown."

"But while you're outa here, he can—"

"He may do anything he likes. He has taken a stand. So have I. I much prefer mine."

MacDowell started to sputter something in protest when a new voice from the doorway caused him to whirl about.

June Paterson was there, calmly eyeing them. "A very pretty speech," she sniffed. "How such a virtuous creature as you seem to be can get yourself in so much trouble, I don't understand. So you're going on the blue Petrel too! My, won't that be a jolly party?"

A slow angry flush stole through Talcott's cheeks. Some day, he promised himself, this upstart cousin of Lowell Byrd's would find herself across his knee.

Hutton—Sheppard

COBOURG, May 23—(ENS).—St. Peter's Anglican Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at one o'clock today when Ethel Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sheppard of Cobourg, became the bride of John Edward Hutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hutton of Cobourg. The church was decorated with pink snapdragons, tulips and white lilacs. The service was performed by Rev. R. L. Seaborn.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore aqua silk crepe in torso style with cartridge pleating and carried taliaman roses and carnations. She was attended by Isabel Hutton, sister of the groom, who wore a dress of shell pink silk jersey in torso style and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of carnations and sweet peas. The best man was Victor Cunningham. Mr. Robert Jackson was usher. The service was choral with the choir boys in attendance.

After the wedding a dinner was held at the Lakeview Hotel at which the bride's mother received in a light blue and white printed silk dress with a coat of navy silk, with navy accessories. The groom's mother wore a dress of grey and dark blue silk crepe redingote with dark blue accessories. The bride's travelling costume was a beige suit with brown accessories. They will reside in Cobourg.

Crowley—Carter

The wedding took place in St. Paul's Church, Aylmer, Quebec, last Saturday morning of Mary Esther, daughter of Mr. Robert John Carter and the late Mrs. Carter, to Wilfred Joseph Crowley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Crowley, and nephew of Mr. C. H. Crowley and Mrs. P. J. McMurray of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. Shevennell, O.M.I., of Ottawa University, and Miss Marjorie Madden played the wedding music, with Miss Maureen Maquire singing "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white sheer gown on princess lines with a chapel veil caught with flowers and carried an arm bouquet of roses and lily of the valley. She was attended by Miss Dora Warren, who wore orchid georgette in similar style with a matching picture hat and a nosegay of sweetpeas. Mr. Francis McMurray, cousin of the groom, was best man and the ushers were Mr. James Tapp and Mr. Keith McKeown.

A reception was held after the ceremony, after which the couple left on a trip to Quebec City. For travelling the bride wore a black tailored suit trimmed with silver fox and a flowered hat. They will live in Aylmer.

Presentatino Made To Young Couple

EAST EMILY May 23—(ENS).—A large number of people gathered at Bethel United Church on Tuesday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. Hancock (nee Dorothy Darling), who were recently married.

Miss Dorothy Harding had charge of the meeting and Miss Audrey Boate played the music. Miss Harding then read a poem and Miss Alta Boate read the Scripture lesson. All repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison. Miss Harding gave the topic on "Capital Letters." Mrs. Ed Ruth and Miss Ruth Worsley gave a skit on letters, also inspiration obtained in receiving good letters.

The bride and groom were asked to come forward and Miss Audrey Boate read a very appropriate address and Miss Hilda Howden made the presentation of a beautiful bedspread. Al joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows."

Mrs. Harding put on a contest which proved to be very interesting for the young people, and Rev. Mr. Patterson then spoke very fittingly. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

King's Own Class Holds May Meeting

Mrs. Agnew, Port Hope highway, was hostess to the members of the "King's Own" Bible Class of St. James' United Sunday School on the evening of May 18, when twenty-seven members and three visitors were in attendance. Preceding the opening service of worship, Mrs. G. Harris, the president, introduced Mrs. D. Rose, the representative for the Wearever Brush Company, who gave a very interesting and instructive demonstration of brushes and took orders from any who desired to purchase.

Mrs. W. K. Sloane conducted the devotions, opening with the class hymn and repeating the class prayer in unison.

An up-to-the-minute reading, "For Freedom" by Mrs. E. Kitney was enjoyed as was the lovely hymn sing of old favorites by the class.

The president took the chair and called for reports from her secretary and treasurer. All department reports were also given and the arrangements for the silver bell dinner completed. Upon motion it was decided to give $25 to the church as an anniversary gift.

The class is also undertaking to assist in beautifying and planting the necessary roots and plants for the flower bed at the front of the church.

In her program, Mrs. V. Davies called upon Mrs. E. R. Frost, who gave as her solo, "The Shrine of St. Cecelia" which was greatly enjoyed. A "flower contest" won by Mrs. G. Rowe was a real test of memory.

Dainty refreshments were served by the social committee and the thanks and appreciation of the class to their hostess and to those assisting in the evening's success, were voiced by Mrs. W. Wright and Mrs. L. Bristow.

The June meeting of the King's Own Class will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Kitney, River Road.

Garside-Davies Nuptials Evening Ceremony

Murray Street Baptist Church was the scene on Friday evening of the marriage of Gwendolyn Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Davies, Barnardo avenue, to Orris Richard Garside, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Garside, Western avenue. Rev. J. H Sutcliffe officiated and Mr. Arthur Collison supplied the wedding music. The church was decorated with mixed bouquets of tulips and blue and white lilacs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractively dressed in a street-length frock of romance blue silk with a long fitted bodice and all round pleated skirt and her shoulder-length veil fell in soft folds from the dainty flowers at the back of her draped turban. Her accessories were dusty rose and she wore a corsage of pink roses and lily of the valley. The bride was attended by Mrs. George Robertson, who wore a frock and turban similar to the bride's in dusty rose with romance blue accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses nestled in blue sweet-peas. Mr. George Robertson was best man and the ushers were Mr. Harry Bedford and Mr. Douglas Lord.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hooper's Palm Room, where the bride's mother received wearing a gold and grey paisley print gown with a corsage of lily-of-the-valley. The groom's mother also received, wearing a navy and white-redingote gown with a corsage of lily of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. Garside will live in Peterborough.

DOROTHY DIX

WIFE CANNOT FORGET MAN WHO JILTED HER

Many Women Spend Their Lives Grieving Over Cads

Dear Miss Dix.—I married a man I did not love, but whom I respected and admired, after I had been jilted very nicely by another man. I was fortunate in getting a husband who is a man of good character, kindly and generous and who has been devoted to me. We have been married nine years and have gotten along very harmoniously together ,and have two children—all the setup for an ideal marriage, yet I cannot forget the other man.

I have tried to desperately—working hard at home, in civic activities, reading, societies, and so on, thinking I could starve him out of my life and supplant him with other things. Recently I saw this man for the first time in nine years and was so upset it just blew to smithereens all my theories about forgetting.

I am grateful for all the blessings of my home and want truly to be rid of this old love. I want to enjoy the life I now have, but I cannot forget the happiness I once knew with the other man.

There is nothing that can be done about it. He is married and has children. I would not want to break up his home, and I would not think of throwing my children's lives into turmoil by thrusting a broken home upon them. But what can I do to be rid of this inner conflict?—A Life Divided

Answer.—The way a woman's mind works its wonders to perform is never such an insoluble mystery to me as when one goes on loving the unlovable and pining for the one who has put upon her every affront and insult. Yet they often do. Every day I get letters from women who tell me that their husbands have starved them and beaten them and forsaken them for other women, yet they end by saying: "I love him still."

Many Grieve Over Cads

You wouldn't think that it would take much ill-treatment to turn the sweetest love into clabber. About the time a man told his sweeties that he was tired for her and was leaving her for a new girl; or a husband gave his wife a black eye, or walked off and left her with a household of children to support, you would suppose that he romance would be spoiled, and that there would be no other human being in the world whom she would hate with such fervor as she did him.

But not so in many cases. There are thousands of women who spend their lives grieving over the cads who flouted them, and thousands of wives who wait patiently for faithless husbands to come back to them after they have gotten so old and rheumatic that they can no longer chase other women. And why God put this dog's heart in so many women's breasts, only He with His inscrutable purpose knows.

When that kind of a woman asks how she can forget the man who has betrayed her faith in him, no answer is possible. It is idle to tell her to look at the man and see him as he is—selfish, self-centred, unprincipled, utterly unworthy of her respect—because she has idealized him into a hero of romance so long that she cannot see him in his true character.

It is a waste of words to appeal to her common sense and try to make her realize that she was lucky that he jilted her before marriage instead of forsaking her afterward. It is foolish to point out to her how bootless it is to cary over spilt milk. She is joined to her idols and nothing will divorce her from them. And our only conclusion is that she enjoys having a secret sorrow.

Need Home of Their Own

Dear Miss Dix.—We are a young married couple and our marriage is being wrecked by the useless and senseless arguments we continually have. We both work and make fair salaries. Ever since we have been married we have lived with my husband's people, but I want to live elswhere and he will not agree to that. Seems to think that he can't leave his family.

I like to dance, but every time I suggest our going out we have a row over it. We have a car and I would like to learn how to drive it, but he will not permit me to do so. It is just quarrel, quarrel, quarrel about everything until I have gotten to the point where I can't stand it any longer. It seems to me that if my husband loved me as much as he says he does, that he would do something toward making my life happy. I live him and I hate to see our marriage go on the rocks. What must we do to save it?—A Very Unhappy Wife.

Answer.—In the first place, get a home of your own. No young couple can ever get the married feeling as long as they live with their in-laws. You have to have your own house of which you are the head to get a sense of responsibility. You have to have your own furniture, your own cups and saucers and cooking stove to have pride in your belongings. You have to build up a home together to get any feeling of permanency.

So start a home if it is only one room and a kitchenette. It will give you something to do and think about and it won't leave you so much time for arguing.

Certainly, as you say, if your husband loves you he should do something toward making your life happy, but what are you doing toward making his happy? Are you considering his comfort? Are you falling in with his plans? Are you doing some of the things that he likes you to do? Marriage is a fifty-fifty parnership, you know, and it is just as much up to you to make him happy as it is for him to try to give you a good time.

Don't worry about his not being willing to teach you how to drive a car. There won't be any car to drive in a short time and it isn't worth learning how to dent fenders now.

And quit arguing. When you disagree with your husband keep silent. That will put an end of any quarrel.

Dear Dorothy Dix.—I am a boy 14 years old. The way I hate school is a lowdown shame. I am thinking of running away from home. What I really like is fishing, hunting and rambling outdoors. Shall I quit school or not?—Discouraged.

Answer.—Listen, son, haven't you enough sense to know that an education is the weapon with which you will have to fight the battle of life, and that whether you succeed or fail, depends on how good a one you get? There is nothing that you can do in life that won't be affected by what you know, so don't think about running away from school. Run to it and study hard so you will soon get through with your training.

If you love to fish and hunt and ramble outdoors, why don't you fit yourself to be a forest ranger, or an agricultural expert, or a deep sea fisherman? But before you can get into any one of these jobs you will have to have an education.

Downeyville News

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Neill have moved to the village to reside in their house recently purchased.

A large number from here attended the funeral of the late Clinton Lucas, who died in Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Clancy of Oshawa have taken up residence here and are living on the farm of Mr. John O'Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Perdue were business visitors to Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clough have returned to Oshawa after spending the week-end the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perdue entertained a large number of friends and neighbors at their home Friday night in honor of their daughter, Mary, and her husband, who were recently married. The evening was spent in dancing, playing cards and community singing. At eleven o'clock Mary and Joe were called to the room, where an address was read by Orville Perdue, and the gifts were opened by Miss Violo O'Neill and Mrs. Austin O'Neill.

Exercises For "Touch" System

If you don't know touch typing, your chances may be limited in office work, for typing is expected in all sorts of jobs.

Yes, there are typing jobs—if you know the quick, accurate touch system. Bosses aren't hiring slow-as-molasses, one-finger typists!

Why not learn touch typing at home with our instruction booklet? A keyboard chart shows how to place your fingers on the eight "guide keys"—j, a, k, s, l, d, f and semi-colon.

Then, as in the exercise pictured, you practice striking these keys. By moving only one finger at a time, striking sharply and lightly, you can work smoothly, evenly and tirelessly—as professional typists do.

Other exercises get you used to the other keys; each finger has its own section on the keyboard. But —no matter what key you type the finger must immediately return to its guide key.

This keeps you from popping all over the keyboard, willy-nilly, making mistakes.

Start learning with the aid of our 32-page typing booklet. Teaches touch typing with charts, exercises, speed drills. Gives rules for typing English; business, social and official letters. Can serve as a foundation for a business college course.

BUSINESS TYPING STUDIED AT HOME

For your copy of "Teach Yourself Touch Typewriting," send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

DO YOU WANT IT LED?

ALWAYS bear in mind that, when you bid a particular suit, there is a possibility that your partner may lead it if the opponent at your right ultimately becomes the declarer. Unless you are willing to have that suit led, or unless your hand is such that there is a pretty good likelihood of your side furnishing the declarer, such a bid may prove costly. By leading that suit, instead of the one which otherwise would be his natural lead, your partner may present a gift of some hundreds of points to the enemy.

Here was another one of those cases in which a smart cardsman takes advantage of the known mental habits of an opponent. Walter Beinecke bid as he bid in the South, while shooting for unorthodox top scores, solely because he knew West as a man who could be depended upon to lead his partner's suit.

West did exactly as expected, putting forth the spade K. When the dummy went down, the club A looked awful good to Mr. Beinecke, as it made his contract a sure thing. He took the first trick with his spade A and then ran seven clubs, followed by the diamond A for the ninth trick. If West had made his natural lead of the heart 3, the K would have been dropped and the opponents would have taken the first five tricks. Mr. Beinecke, therefore, stole a game, as 5-Clubs cannot be made.

Your Week-End Lesson

When there is a possible finesse in some side suit which, if it succeeds, will enable you to take an extra trick, what are the main considerations in determining when you should decide to make the attempt or not?

Mr. Frey Hay is seriously ill in Kingston Hospital, and his many friends hope for his early recovery.

Mr. Leon Breen and son Fred of Smith's Falls are at their cottage for a few days.

High water in the river has slowed pickerel fishing down and very small catches are being reported. The creeks are also above normal water level and marshes and low land flooded over.

4th Vichy Loss

VICHY, May 22 (AP)—The Vichy Admiralty announced today it had given up as lost the fourth and last of its naval vessels in Madagascar waters, the 1,384-ton submarine Le Heros.

Le Heros, which set out to join the Battle of Courrier Bay, has been missing since May 5 with 24 of her normal complement of four officers and 59 men. The ship was not stationed at the main naval on Madagascar, Diego Suarez, it was said. (It was not stated whence it sailed.)

The Admiralty said it had no idea how or where the submarine was lost.

106th Casualty List

OTTAWA, May 23—(CP). — The Canadian (Active) Army in its 106th casualty list of the war today gave the names of seven men who have died overseas, four who are dangerously ill and three who are seriously ill.

Weirdest, Most Puzzling Dreams May Be Warnings

"Subconscious" Wakes Up

Your other self is active when you sleep. It thinks things you are ashamed to recognize and does things you would never do. Even you don't want to know this other self.

And you can't get rid of it! It wakes when you sleep. It makes you dream of the weirdest, most puzzling things. Riding to work, your train whizzes past your station and the next one and the next one! You're filled with panic!

This is because your secret self, your "subconscious," is seething with problems, emotions you ignore. In dreams it tries to tell you about them, using its own strange symbolic language.

In the dream of the train it says: "Don't let your impulses run away with you!" If you've been attracted to someone else's beau, that is an obvious warning!

So is a dream of wandering in an empty, dreary world—or a dream of a burning house.

Our 32-page booklet explains many such common dreams and dream symbols—according to psychoanalysis; including flying, falling off cliffs, being seen naked. Discusses sex dreams, nightmares, "prophetic" dreams.

For your copy of "The Meaning of Dreams" send 15 cents in coins or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service.

"The Authority on Authorities"

AN UNDESERVED GIFT

MOST BRIDGE players do not boast very often about gifts they receive from their opponents. But, when it is a fellow's birthday, and a kindly opponent has handed him a present which he did not deserve, perhaps he should acknowledge it then, especially if he can tell that opponent how to avoid giving such a gift in the future. Assuring your contract first and then trying a finesse for an extra trick is good rubber bridge, but if you attempt one earlier than that and thereby risk your contract, you are merely taking a chance of doing an undue kindness to the opposition.

Here West led his diamond 4, which South won with his A, following it with a finesse of the heart J to the Q. The diamond 10 was taken by South with the K—his second consecutive bad play, as he should have ducked and won the third diamond. Next he won the spade A and K, but when he lost a third spade to the Q, the opponents cashed two more diamonds and two clubs, setting the contract two tricks.

South would have been set one trick anyway because of his heart finesse, but when he failed to hold up on the second diamond lead, he caused himself to be beaten two tricks.

African Terrorists

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 23—(CP)—Terrorist bomb explosions extensively damaged three postoffice department buildings in the Johannesburg area Wednesday night.

Detonation of a bomb concealed in a telephone booth damaged premises of the Albertom Station.

Others were hurled through windows of buildings at Benoi and Boksburg. Two men, one of them injured, were detained after the explosion at Benoi.

No 1942 Taxes

ROUSES POINT, N.Y., May 23—(AP)—This village of 2,000 on the Canadian border has eliminated 1942 municipal taxes, urging citizens to invest their tax savings in war bonds and stamps.

The action was made possible, Mayor Charles A. Stewart explained, by an $8,000 surplus equal to the amount of this year's levies would have returned. The village operates on a $10,000 budget, partly financed by municipally-owned utilities.

DUST FOR NAZI EYES

LONDON—(CP)—A correspondent suggests "would it not be reasonable for our planes to carry sawdust over the enemy lines and create a dust storm, thus confusing them as to what it is all about."

Bancroft Court Handles List Of 9 Cases

BANCROFT, May 23 — (ENS).— Bancroft Police Court on Wednesday afternoon, May 20, presided over by Magistrate J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook, with S. G. Robertson representing the Crown, disposed of the following cases:

Harry Jensen, charged with a breach of the Criminal Code. Case was enlarged and accused will appear in Coupnty Court at Belleville, May 28.

John Henry Brethour of Baptiste paid a fine and costs amounting to to $19.75 when he was convicted on a charge of tearing down a neighbor's fence.

M.P. Debate

Fraser Opposes Dropping It.

J. R. MacNicol (Con., Toronto-Davenport) said the Petroleum Act should not be repealed but a new one drafted. G. K. Fraser (Con., Peterborough West) said the bill should not be abandoned as it dealt with the inspection and checking of the qualities of oil and naphtha.

Mr. MacNicol said he had received a letter from a Hudson's Bay Company factor expressing the opinion there was a large oil deposit so far untapped, in the vicinity of the Mackenzie River, south and east and west of Fort Norman, N.W.T.

Wells had been drilled near the town of Peace River, Alta., and Mr. MacNicol said he wondered who owned these leases now. He was opposed to granting any individual or company leases which would last indefinitely.

Col. Gibson said the Act did not deal with leases or the production of oil. To have the Dominion control exercised by a province meant unnecessary expense.

On the Ottawa agreement bill, Hon. Grote Stirling (Con., Yale) said properties expropriated by the Dominion in Ottawa in the last four years had reduced the assessment roll by about $2,750,000, but substantial expenditures had been made on Dominion properties and lands. The Civil Service brought large sums to Ottawa business establishments.

G. J. McIlraith (Lib., Ottawa West) said the taxable real property in Ottawa in 1941 amounted to $157,279,947 and the assessed value of Dominion property exempt from taxation amounted to $59,751,765.

C. R. Boucher (Con., Carleton) and J. Albert Pinard (Lib., Ottawa East) supported Mr. McIlraith's suggestion that a House committee be appointed to examine the agreement with Ottawa to see if an arrangement more favorable to the city could be reached.

Ottawa was beautiful because the people of Canada had spent large sums on it, Mr. Coldwell said.

The C.C.F. leader added that the present mayor of Ottawa, Stanley Lewis, had said members of Parliament, for all they did, might just as well go home. Mr. Coldwell said he thought the members might go home before passing the Ottawa bill "as a sort of protest against the insult cast on the members of the House of Commons."

He continued: " . . . Seriously, however, I think that the matter now under discussion . . . ought to be one of inquiry by a parliamentary committee, or a committee of some sort . . .

"I hope that sooner or later we may have, instead of the city of Ottawa coming to us as a suppliant for funds, or instead of us making grants to the city of Ottawa, on any grounds, compassionate or otherwise, a capital which the Dominion of Canada can call its own in a federal district of its own."

Fisheries Minister Michaud said thtat no government had ever recognized any obligation to pay the city of Ottawa compensation on taxes for property and he doubted if any government would admit the principle. The more the government expropriated real estate in the city and erected buildings, the more people had to be brought into the city to be housed in these buildings, and they spent most of their earnings in the city.

Justice Minister St. Laurent said that the bill to amend the Canada Evidence Act permitted banks and similar organizations to make use of microfilms in storing their records instead of bulky documents requiring much space. The system permits photographs to be kept in place of the original records.

Mr. St. Laurent said it had been represented that on a microfilm 200 feet long copies of 2,700 letter-sized sheets could be conserved. The bill provided that when a copy was made and the original was about to be destroyed, an affidavit would be made by the person who made the photograph and attended to the destruction of the original, verifying the correctness of the photographic record.

John Diefenbaker (Con., Lake Centre) said the bill might create a situation leading to much litigation, but Mr. St. Laurent said he was not convinced by this argument.

Fear Some Covering Up.

Douglas Hazen (Con., Saint John-Albert) said there was nothing in the bill to provide that proof must be given that the film had been compared with the original document and found to be a true photograph. At times photographs did n t give a correct picture of what they were supposed to represent. The Justice Minister said it was believed the precautions contained in the bill were sufficient.

A. H. Bence (Con., Saskatoon) said there was a possibility that a document might have an erasure or mutilation which was cleverly covered up, and a photograph probably would not show this.

Mr. Boucher said the bill extended the privilege of a person destroying a document and submitting a form of proof in its place.

"My opinion is that in this day and age we are getting rather loose with our affidavits," he added. "The present custom is of requiring affidavits and declarations almost to the filling of your individual teeth...

He contended that there should be provision for filing the affidavit of the correctness of the film record almost immediately after it had been compared with the original and such circumstances should have to be proven before it was accepted as evidence.

used in stubborn counter attacks, but they "are being wiped out as fast as they land.")

The midnight communique said "our troops fortified their positions and carried out offensive operations" yesterday in the area of Kharkov, Germany's major southern base.

"In the Izyum-Barvenkova direction (80 miles south of Kharkov) our troops repelled enemy attacks and inflicted large losses upon him," it said. "During three days of the battle on this sector of the front alone over 15,000 German soldiers and officers were killed."

Stop 11 Hun Assaults.

A single division was said to have repelled 11 Hun attacks and wiped out more than 3,000 of the invaders in a day.

The Russians have never announced a German gain in this effort of Field-Marshal Gen. Fedor von Bock to turn their left flank and divert Red Army manpower from the big Kharkov push. The 15,000-man toll exceeds by 3,000 the number of Germans killed from May 13 to 17 in the first phases of the Battle of Kharkov.

Moreover, Russian resistance again was declared continuing on the Kerch Peninsula against German-Rumanian forces which need that easternmost section of the Crimea for any serious thrust at the oil-wealthy Caucasus.

(The garrison of Sevastopol, Soviet Crimean naval base, was reported by the BBC to have "steadily pushed back" the Axis siege lines established last October. The radio said the city's industries, including a munitions plant, were moved underground.

Russian airmen were credited officially with destroying or damaging 85 German tanks in the operations on Thursday.

The Information Bureau said the Germans had been dislodged from one powerfully-fortified position in the Kharkov sector and had "abandoned five field guns, 12 machine-guns and a radio station."

"On another sector,' it said, "one of our detachments beat off an enemy counter-attack and wiped out 200 Germans."

Again, the Bureau stated that "in one of the sectors of the southern front our troops thwarted an enemy attempt to cross a river." (This stream was not identified, but may have been the Donets.)

Russian troops killed 700 Germans and destroyed five tanks and four field batteries on the Kalinin front, north-west of Moscow. Another 250 were wiped out by Russian tank crews on the adjacent north-western front.

Leningrad area guerillas have killed 517 Germans, following the dispatch of a strong puntive expedition against them, the Bureau reported. The irregulars also were credited with blowing up a Nazi ammunition dump, a railway bridge, various rolling stock and three tanks.

Wants To Fight

PORT LOUIS, Mauritius, May 23 —(AP). — The commander of the Vichy French forces on Madagascar was quoted by the Tananarive radio yesterday as saying he intended to fight "any aggressor' and that "no negotiations have taken place or are taking place with the British.'

The broadcast from the Madagascar capital was heard at this British island colony 600 miles to the east.

(The British forces have occupied Diego Suarez naval base and other centres of resistance in the coastal regions, but have yet to ascend the mountains to the colonial capital in the interior.

Wage Freezing Irks Millard

CLEVELAND, May 23—(AP). — The C.I.O. United Steelworkers of America yesterday urged the Canadian Government to enact legislation guaranteeing Canadian workers the right to organize labor unions for collective bargaining.

Concerning Canada's wage stabilizaiton, Charles H. Millard, secretary of the convention resolutions committee, told delegates:

"It is our feeling that wage freezing in Canada has not been done to stop inflation, but to stop labor organization. Wage freezing does not stop inflation, and higher wages do not necessarily cause inflation. We can be fooled by the fear of inflation and we can be fooled by propaganda."

Obituary

MRS. MAY OVEREND

The funeral service for Mrs. May Overend, widow of Harry Overend, and a former reesident of this city, who has resided in Flint, Mich., for the past few years, was held Tuesday at 9 a.m. at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Requiem High Mass was sung by the Rev. Victor McFadden cousin of the deceased. He preached an eloquent sermon on death and there was some inspired singing by the Junior Choir of St. Peter's School. Miss Marion Best was at the organ.

The many floral offerings paid eloquent tribute to her popularity in both Peterborough and Flint, her adopted city. Interment was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

There was a large crowd in attendance, which included Mr. and Mrs. J. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lathan, Norbert Pearson, and Mr. and Mrs. Alec Buchanan, all of Flint.

The pall bearers were James Doris, James Lynch, Fred Overend, William Grady, Fred Holmes and Nagle Phelan.

Baseball Starts Next Tuesday

PORT HOPE, May 23.—(ENS). — Three baseball teams are already organized for the season, which opens Tuesday night at King's Field. These teams are Royal Grill, the champions of 1941 and conquerors of Raybestos team of Peterborough, who meet the Rascals. The Royal Grill team will have for pitcher Tommy Pointer, opposed by Harold Blow of the Rascals. Constable Rafter is expected to share the mound duty with Tommy Pointer, as he has signed up with the Grill. The Rascals expect to have Dawley as well as Blow for pitcher. The third team, the Beavers, expect to have Woods and Edwardson.

At a meeting of the executive Friday night the entry of the Cobourg Dyeing Company team was considered and if decided will round out a 4 team circuit.

The executive, which consists of President Tom Dawley, Secretary Greg McMahon, Treasurer Bill Pennington, Committee, Harold Tozier, Bill Oliver, Bill Brockenshire, Jack Harrison, Mart Garrett, have been busy on the grounds and several changes have been made, including the moving of the players' bench farther away from the playing field. It was decided that the games will be played Tuesday and Thursday evenings, commencing at 6.30 p.m. and each contest will consist of seven innings.

It is expected that Devine and Brown will handle the umpiring, alternating behind the plate every other game.

Mayor Gifford, assisted by Reeve Box and Deputy-Reeve Moncrief will officially open the season on Tuesday night at King's Field. A two minute silence will be observed in memory of the late C. J. (Johnny Rowden).

The schedule of games will be ready for publication in a few days.

Essential Building Materials Are Still Available—

Building Costs Are Only Slightly Increased

Over recent months there has been a great deal of mis-information circulated about the cost of building and whether or not contractors can complete houses for civilian occupation—

HERE ARE THE FACTS—

1—You can still build homes under $5,000 without a license from the Controller of Construction—over $5,000 a license is necessary.

2—A contractor can still get all materials necessary for home construction

In addition to the foregoing, any building which you do will help to relieve the housing shortage and thus allow out-of-town workers to find accommodations.

Air Schools Extended Two Years

New Deal Gives Canada Big Flier Quota For Home Defences

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 26—(CP)—A new agreement is being negotiated to extend the life of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan by two years—until March 31, 1945—it was announced at a press conference here today.

Under the new agreement, Canada will be provided with a large quota of trained airmen for home defence purposes, a group of a dozen newspapermen were told by Air Minister Power and Rt. Hon. Harold Balfour, Parliamentary Under-secretary for Air in the British government.

The new agreement, they said, will extend from July 1 this year. The original agreement, signed in December, 1939, was to run until March 31, 1943, but the new one will go into effect nine months before that expiry date.

While the new agreement actually will have a life of two years and nine months, the actual extension it makes in the life of the training plan will be two years.

The press conference at which these announcements were made was held at noon in the lounge of the building where United Nations air training delegates met last week and where empire delegates have been meeting since then to work out problems which have arisen in con-

Peterboro' Asks County Man On School Board

CHATHAM, Ont.,—May 28.—(CP)—Proposals dealing with sterilization, army rejections because of poor sight, and taxes on school goods and services came before the resolutions committee of the Urban School Trustees Association of Ontario today.

The delegates met today after hearing an address by Hon. St. Clair Gordon, M.P.P. for East Kent and chairman of the Liquor Control Board, last night in which he urged equality of education in city and rural school.

Mr. Gordon said that opportunities for practical education were not as evident in rural schools as in urban schools and advocated a reorganization of rural school system in an effort "to do something to keep the young people on the land." He discussed briefly the Liquor Control Act and stressed the importance of the liquor commission in Ontario, reminding delegates that a great part of the money used for education in Ontario came from profits of Ontario's liquor monopoly.

The Brantford section of the Trustees Assocaition submitted a resolution asking the Association to petition the provincial legislature "to sponsor a sterilization act for Ontario, primarily to prevent parenthood among those numerous and obvious cases of feeble-mindedness present in various communities of the province." These cases, according to the resolution, "constitute a social and economic burden to the taxpayers."

The Chatham resolution adds that "all proper medical and legal safeguards" should be provided.

Want Better Lighting.

The Toronto group of the Association submitted a resolution that "in view of reports of the alarming number of rejections of applicants for the armed forces through deficient eyesight, the Association be asked to request the Department of Education to have a study of lighting in secondary schools made by experts on lighting and care of eyesight.

Another resolution from the Brantford groups asks that "purchases of goods and services required solely for school use" be exemtped from sales tax and from requirement to place excise stamps on checks for payment for the goods.

Peterborough delegates have asked that a recommendation be made to the Minister of Education that the School Act be amended to permit a member of county council or a member of a Separate school board to sit as a member of the Board of Education.

Webb Girl Denies She Played Lure

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Madeline Webb, fighting for her life at her general sessions trial for murder, denied from the witness stand today that she had "lured" Mrs. Susan Flora Reich to her death by strangulation at the Hotel Sutton last March as the state of New York has charged she did.

The pretty former model, accused with her lover, Eli Shonbrun, and John D. Cullin, of the slaying of Mrs. Reich, wife of a New Jersey wax processor, said shortly after she took the stand in her own defence that she was not present in the hotel suite at the time Mrs. Reich was bound and gagged and left to die.

Asked if she had at any time discussed with Shonbrun, Cullin and Murray Hirschl, Shonbrun's uncle, the "luring of someone to the hotel to kill for the purpose of robbery," Miss Webb began:—

"I would never....." as the assistant district attorney, Jacob Grumet, objected.

"No, no, no," exclaimed the 28-year-old girl from Stillwater, Okla.

Her first testimony described her marriage at 20 and a divorce a year later. The questioning was conducted by James Springer, a former judge from Stillwater who came to New York to assist in her defence.

Tea, Coffee Rationed, Sugar Cut

Retain Honor System, Cut Tea By Half Sugar Another Third

OTTAWA, May 26.—Introduction of tea and coffee rationing and reduction by one-third in the existing sugar ration was announced today by Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and rade Boarfd.

The "honor" system used since sugar rationing started will be maintained in the new regulations.

Effective immediately, the sugar ration is cut from three-quarters of a pound a person a week and one-half pound.

Special regulations for hotels, clubs, boarding houses and similar establishments to cover the rationing of sugar, tea and coffee have been prepared.

The regulations have the force of law behind them and, while the use of coupons or tickets is not being resorted to, Mr. Gordon said prosecutions will be launched against those who fail to obey the regulations.

Shipping difficulties had made it essential to conserve reserve stocks and reduce consumption of the rationed commodities.

"We must face the fact that it is increasingly difficult and dangerour to bring in supplies of any kind from over the seas," said Mr. Gordon in a Canadian Broadcasting National network address.

Cannot Risk Ships, Sailors

"Ships and sailors' lives must not be risked to bring in a single pound of supplies from abroad which we can do without."

With the sugar ration at one-half pound a week, supplies were ample for many months and additional imports would make the situation so much safer.

The one-half pound ration is the same as that in effect in the United States and the United Kingdom.

The sugar order provides that on and after July 1 no industrial user shall use in any quarter more than 70 per cent of the quantity used by him in the corresponding period of 1941. Thus far 80 per cent. of last year's use has been permitted.

Provision is made in the sugar order to permit of housewives receiving sufficient sugar to meet "reasonable requirements" for household preserving, canning or the making of jams and jellies. The

US Air And Navy Chiefs In UK Sign Of Offensive

LONDON, May 26 — (CP). — A United States War Mission, headed by the Army and Navy air chiefs and called one of the most important yet sent to Britain, has arrived and gone into action with no loss of time, it was announced.

The two leaders are Lt.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the Army Air Forces and Rear-Admiral John H. Towers, Chief of Naval Aeronautics.

Their purpose is to confer with British leaders in talks believed designed to co-operate strategy for a master blow against Germany.

Within two hours after stepping from a train that brought them here yesterday from the landing place of a plane which flew them across the Atlantic, Arnold was arranigng meetings with the chiefs of Britain's fighting forces.

Atlantic, Arnold was arranging United States air operation plans, taking over a prepared office in the American Military Headquarters. His aides started immediately to check details of the United States Air preparation thus far.

Hitler Heads To Front For Parley

Von Brauchitsh, Bock To Be Absent; South Front Deadlocks

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, May 26 — (AP). — The Red Army fought it way forward again from newly established positions on the Kharkov front today, proceeding in a series of lunges through the German fortifications, and appeared to be firmly holding the initiative elsewhere as the Ukrainian offensive entered its third week.

About the Izyum-Barvenkova sector to the south Marshal Timoshenko's forces were reported to have beaten back a German assault led by 150 tanks.

A Tass dispatch from Stockholm said to-day that Hitler had left Berlin for his Eastern front headquarters to hold an important conference with his generals and that according to well-informed circles he intended to make it clear he intends to retain his post as commander-in-chief of the army.

2 Big Shots to Be Absent.

The dispatch said that Field-Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, former commander-in-chief, would not be present although he still holds the post of adviser to the high command, and that Field-Marshal Fedor von Bock, commander on the Southern front, would also be absent 'on the pretext that he cannot leave the front."

New Gun a Killer.

Red army resistance to German armored units now is more effective than at any time in the 11 months of the Russo-German war, the newspaper Izvestia said to-day. The paper disclosed the Russian forces are using a light gun called the 'Pto' as well as anti-tank rifles, heavy artillery, anti-tank grenades and simple gasoline-filled bottles to smash up German tanks in close-range fighting.

The paper said that a German tank division from France was sent into one sector of the Kharkov front to hold three important defence points and relieve an encircled Nazi garrison in a village but that the Russians beat off the waves of tanks and planes and then countre-attacked to gain a hill.

Fifty German tanks and two regiments of infantry failed in an attack in another area, Izvestia said, 10 Russian tanks destorying several German machines and dispersing the infantry.

Better Conditions

LONDON, May 26—(CP Cable). — Reuters news agency said today that "reassuring news" has been received in a private report concerning living conditions among military and civil prisoners of the Japanese in Hong Kong. "Food and general conditions had been bad, but now rations have been increased and blankets, mosquito nets and some medicines have been provided," the brief report said. "Internees are not now sustaining harsh treatment."

Labor Snips Move To Abandon National Gov't

LONDON, May 26 (AP)—Led by two cabinet ministers, delegates to the Labor party's annual conference yesterday crushed by a vote of more than 14 to 1 the first attempted rebellion against continued labor participation in Prime Minister Winston Churchill's wartime national government.

The actual vote was 2,319,000 to 164,000.

The test came on an amendment to withhold the conference's endorsement of the role labor members are playing in the government. Some observers predicted that the Labor party ultimately would go even further than participation in the government and observance of the current political truce in order to give active organizational aid to the Conservatives whose parliamentary candidacies are threatened by Independents.

So far this year three Conservatives have lost by-elections to Independents while Laborites were observing the truce and remaining aloof. Labor's executive committee already has announced however, its determination that the Independent movement will not be allowed to rise without opposition while the established parties are preoccupied with winning the war.

The attack on advocates of withdrawal from government, a course suggested by Lord Strabolgi, was led by Clement R. Attlee, Dominions Secretary and Herbert Morrison, Minister of Home Security.

U.S. Destroyer Hit

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(AP)—The United States navy department announced today that the destroyer Blakely had been damaged by an enemy torpedo in the Caribbean Sea, but had reached port with 10 members of her crew reported missing and six injured.

The Blakely was the 13th naval vessel announced as sunk or damaged from all causes and was the first United States combatant ship reported atacksd in the Caribbean.

Free To Handle Vichy Fleet; New Axis Squeeze Play On Ships For Hun, Land For Duce

Laval Talks Tunisia, To Save Corsica, Nice That Duce Wants As a Face Saver; Fleet, Oil Drained, Reported Trapped For Hun

LONDON, May 26—(CP).—An Axis squeeze play to get the French fleet or grab French territory, or both, was suggested today in parallel reports that Italy has demanded title to Nice and Corsica and that Pierre Laval has consented to the training of German seamen at French naval bases on the characteristics of French warships.

Comparison of the various reports brought out the outlines of a situation in which Germany and Italy each was using the needs of the other to seek h r own ends, with the Vichy French government in the middle, forlornly trying to play off one master against the other.

The Germans were portrayed as using the Italian territorial demands as a threat to force Vichy to give up the French fleet peaceably.

The Italians were described as seeking to bolster their home front's morale by taking a slice of French territory and at the same time using this manouvre as a pretext to keep at home 300,000 Italian soldiers that the Germans would like to have sent to the Russian front.

Laval Brings Up Tunisia.

Pierre Laval, the Vichy chief of Government and the man on the spot from all angles, was reported by diplomatic observers to have offered to negotiate the Italian demands, with a disarming offer to discuss Tunisia. The Italians have long wanted Tunisia, but their new demands were reported to deal with Nice and Corsica, so that injection of Tunisia into the discussions would further complicate and possibly delay matters.

Informed sources in London who have underground connections said that in dealing with Germany, on the other hand, Laval had consented to the training of a considerable number of Nazi seamen at French naval yards and stations to "familiarize" them with French warships. Possibly less than the Germans want. This still would serve as a placatory move.

These sources said virtually all major units of the French fleet at the Toulon naval base had been drained of oil and did not have enough "to reach Algeria in an emergency.

The Berlin radio said Laval had returned to Vichy after week-end conferences in Paris "with numerous personalities and his closest collaborators."

Meanwhile the Germans are using Italian territorial demands to force France to give up the fleet peaceably, at the same time insisting that Laval produce for the Axis or get out, it was declared.

"The temper of the French people is such Laval does not dare carry out whole-hearted co-operation as he knows it would cause his downfall," the source said.

The opinion was expressed that there was no Frenchman the Germans could put in Laval's place and that the next step could only be occupying all of France and appointing Jacques Doriot, turn-coat Communist leader, as a quisling.

Not An Ultimatum

Well-informed diplomatic observers in Europe said the Italian representations did not constitute an ultimatum; hence the Vichy French government still had hopes of adjusting matters by negotiation.

Nazis' Air Fleet Vanishes From Malta Sky

Written for The Canadian Press
By BRIG.-GEN. H. S. SEWELL

LONDON, May 26 (CP) — The aggressive fighting spirit of the defenders of Malta is shown in the Saturday night communique from Valetta which describes two Italian bombing attacks, both of which were met by anti-aircraft fire and R.A.F. fighters. The air combat which followed ended victoriously and in each case over the Sicilian coast.

Since last December it has been German planes and not Italian which have been pressing the air attacks to subdue Malta, and it is significant that, even if only temporarily, the Germans have relinquished their lead in these operations, and that they are not reported to have taken any part in Friday's air fighting.

It is possible that the German command have need for the airfleet which has been based on Sicily and South Italy since December, for use on some other part of their fighting front, and that it has been moved. It may be too soon to entertain the thought, but if it is so, our first reaction will be admiration for the fine defence of Malta followed by the speculation as to where the fleet has gone.

There are many places where the Nazis may be glad to employ more strength in the air—in the Ukraine against Russia; in Crete and the Dodecanese for an assault against Cyprus and Syria, or in France for defence against the R.A.F.'s increasing air offensivie.

Hun Malta Raids Get Supplies To Libya

Keep Britons Busy On Isle Cunningham Admits – Hopes French Fleet 'Safe'

LONDON, May 26 (CP)—Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, until recently commander in chief of Britain's Mediterranean fleet, promised "complete victory" today for the Allies in the Mediterranean once Britain and the United States meet the Axis' air and surface fleets on terms of equality.

Admiral Cunningham was named eight days ago to head the British Admiralty delegation in Washington and was succeeded in command in the Mediterranean by Admiral Sir Henry Harwood.

Although "we have lacked the very essentials of victory" until now, he declared, "Italy was nearly out of the war" at the end of 1940 as a result of British naval and land victories.

He called the present phase in the Mediterranean a 'campaign of mutual destruction of supply lines" and said that at one time 50 per cent of Axis supplies to Libya were being sunk by air and sea attacks from British forces based on Malta.

Now, however, these attacks are "severely hampered" by German attacks on the fortified British Isle, he said.

"As a result of these attacks the Germans have been able to move considerable quantities of supplies to North Africa recently," Cunningham said.

When France fell, the French fleet was about to take part in an "extensive operation" which was to have included a bombardment of Tripoli, the Axis' chief port in Libya, he disclosed.

He said that the French naval forces interned at Alexandria were "entirely pro-Vichy" when he left that British naval base in Egypt recently on the first leg of his journey to Washington.

Sir Andrew said French merchant ships were ferrying some supplies to the Axis forces in Libya through the French port of Bizerte, Tunisia, but that these did not include munitions.

He predicted it would be "very nasty" for the Allies should the French naval force at Toulon be turned over to the Axis but he had "every hope" this would not occur.

Sir Andrew, who for 2½ years held the Mediterranean for Britain against the Italian fleet combined with Italian and German air forces, said that sea power plus the proper proportion of air power could not be defeated by air power alone.

"We must always have sea power," Admiral Cunningham declared, "but sea power today is an indissoluble adjunct of air power."

This, he asserted, has been proved by operations in the Mediterranean during this command there.

Dive-bomber attacks against ships he said, are "very dangerous."

"However, the dive bomber has obvious disadvantages, among them a lack of range," the Admiral continued. "In the comparatively narrow waters of the Mediterranean there is really no need for aircraft carriers, which are much more vulnerable than a battleship. Land-based aircraft should be able to cover the entire area.

"There are no indications that naval supremacy will be achieved without battleship actions."

The importance of the beleaguered island of Malta as a British base was stressed by the Admiral. He pointed out that it takes one day f a British submarine to reach Axis supply line from Malta and "seven to nine days" to get there from Alexandria.

Britain Calling Her Dogs

Alsatians, Airdales, Collies For 'Drome Guards

LONDON, May 26—(CP).—This country has gone to the dogs.

But hold on—

There is no suggestion that Brtain is tumbling to pieces but rather Britain is calling on all dogs who are able to play their part in this war.

They are going to work for the War Office just like any enlisted man or woman. Like the Commandos, they have to be made of stout stuff and be capable of considerable thinking.

They can be messengers, or guides, or the carriers of first aid parcels or guards.

The Government asked specifically for the loan of Alsatians, Airdales, Collies, Lurchers, Bull-terriers and Bull Mastiffs for the guarding airdromes.

War Service Dogs—that's their official name—have formal registration cards, the same color and size as regular identity cards, marked "On His Majesty's Service."

Rap US Army Rubber Policy

Senate Probe Hints Extravagance—May Run Shy

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP)—The Senate Defence Investigating Committee criticized the United States army and navy today for not paring their rubber requirements to the bone, declaring that if the production of synthetics did not come up to schedule the military forces "may find themselves without rubber at some future date."

The committee said:—

National gasoline rationing on "a sensible basis" and the requisitioning of tires must be given serious consideration to conserve 1,000,000 tons of rubber now on the wheels of motor vehicles.

There will be no new or reclaimed rubber for non-essential uses within the next three years.

The best that could be expected from a successful synthetic program would be to supply military needs and essential civilian requirements, such as tires for cars transporting defence workers.

RUSSIANS STOP 150 NAZI TANKS IN DRIVE SOUTH OF KHARKOV

Soviet Troops Bolster Hold Before City Overnight Cut Swath In Hun Attack

Great Battle Rages 80 Miles South Of City With Nazi Planes, Heavy Guns Beating In Vain At Russian Positions

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, May 26—(AP).—Russian troops again consolidated their positions before Kharkov overnight and bloodily beat back a violent German surprise assault led by 150 tanks in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector to protect their southern wing, the Russians said today.

"Repulsing attacks of German Fascist troops in the Izyum-Barvenkova direction, our troops are inflicting heavy losses on enemy tank units," th Soviet information bureau announced

The bureau also reported the consolidation of positions of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's divisions in the Kharkov area, this following indica 'ons that they are again moving forward in the offensive launched 14 days ago.

C: other theatres it was announced that Kalinin front forces had repulsed a Nazi attack and "the enemy lost more than 200 killed."

A large-scale battle of mounting fe:ocity is indicated in the Izyun-Barkenkova area, roughly 80 miles south of Kharkov, (rman-held key to a wide area of the eastern Ukraine.

Dispatches said large formations of German planes and heavy artillery bolstered armored units and infantry in repeated attempts to break Soviet defences, but the Rus-:'-1 lines repulsed all assaults.

Kill 500 In Feelers

Evidently speaking of feeler thrusts that preceded the main action, the Soviet information bureau said Red Army troops had "destroyed 11 German tanks and killed more than 500 German soldiers" in battles within the sector in three days.

The front-line developments yesterday were summed up in a communique with the statements:—

"In the Izyum-Barvenkoa direction our troops fought violent battles with enemy tanks and infantry."

Russian fliers demolished or damaged 19 German tanks Sunday. a total somewhat smaller than generally announced in recent communiques, and only 10 German planes were listed as destroyed that day.

"Our losses were seven planes." the information bureau said.

allowance is three-quarters of a pound of sugar for every pound of fruit weight, and home-made jams and jellies may be preserved with three parts of sugar to four of fruit or juice.

The new rationing orders require operators of hotels, restaurants, drugstores, clubs, canteens and other places serving refreshments to the public "to take all possible steps to avoid excessive use of tea and coffee."

No operator in any such establishment may permit any sugar container or loose or wrapped sugar to be left on a table, counter, tray or saucer. He is not allowed to serve sugar to a customer who has not requested it, or serve more than three lumps or two teaspoonsful for any beverage or more than two teaspoonfuls for any desert, cereal or other food. Perforated shakers for dispensing granulated or fruit sugar are forbidden.

Not more than one individual tea bag or an equivalent amount of loose tea per person is permitted for each serving.

Not more than one cupful of coffee is to be supplied to any person at a serving.

"Any establishment that has been serving extra cups of tea or coffee without charge may discontinue the practice without reducing the price of the meal by reason of such discontinuance," the prices board ruled.

Maj. Power said the same four nations which participated in the first Air Training agreement—Australia, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and Canada—will participate in the new one, but the terms of Australian and New Zealand participation would be announced by their own representatives.

The conference, he said, has been sitting continuously since Friday afternoon, with no time out for Sunday or the holiday. Committees are working on personnel, finance, training and other phases of the Air Training plan.

After a survey of training capacity the conference had decided it was adequate for the needs of the British Commonwealth.

and they said that the flying ability of the Nazis is in general of a high standard. In the words of an R.A.F. pilot: "These Germans are not yellow, they are not cowards, nor poor pilots. It makes us wild to hear stupid tales to the contrary."

No better picture of the conditions which have existed in the air over Malta and on the island has been given than in the words of a Spitfire pilot, who has written to England as follows:

"Up to the time I left, our squadron has shot down 46 enemy machines for the loss of five pilots.. The boys have been magnificent. Sometimes the odds have been 10 to one against us on fighters alone, and another 10 to one against us in bombers.

"The pilots we have lost have been the ones with the least experience. The longer a fellow lasts, the less likely it becomes that he will be shot up I learned as much in a week in Malta as in all the other sweeps in England, to which I now would go back with a different outlook and with the greatest confidence.

"We have hit on a particular formation which is the only possible one to fly. Nobody would ever fly another way as long as he was alive and there were Huns to attack. Curiously, the Hun is flying the same way too.

"The Maltese have taken blitzing damned well. One little point as an instance. I had to make a crash landing in a field—about the only one on the island. There were a few old men and women working in it. When I plonked down, the engine was afire. These old Maltese did not run away. They got sacks and kept filling them with earth and emptying them on the engine until the flames were ont.

What It Meant to Her.

"Then one old woman put her hand on the port wing and made the sign of the cross on her breast. I do not think I ever saw anything which made a more indelible impression of sincere faith.

"The bombing has almost all been done with 87's and 88's, and it has all been dive-bombing from about 12,000 to 14,000 down to 1,000 to 1,500 feet. I repeat those Huns are not yellow. Sometimes the boys go up, have a sharp go with the bombers and come back to find the airfield filled with bomb craters. It's a bit of a problem getting a spot to land.

"I have been most fortunate. I came out with a great friend in the R.A.F. We were at Cambridge together, trained in Canada together, went to England together, and went to the same squadron there and in Malta. Of course, we never fly apart.

"Incidentally, he rammed a Messerschmitt 109 the other day, and knocked off its wing. He made a forced landing back on the airfield. It shook him no end."

The air fighting has only formed a part of the epic defence of Malta to which the ground garrison has contributed so much. The proportion of Axis planes shot down by anti-aircraft fire compared with those destroyed in aerial combat must work out at two to one.

IF THEY WANT BEAUTY.

The cold forbidding appearance of the county building was mentioned by a woman in Victoria Park this morning. She was admiring the park, but said she shuddered when she looked up at the building. "Why in the world do not the powers that be clothe that building in ivy, and let the beauty of the park merge in a soft green of the ivy clad walls. That building looked to me like a tomb of horrors sitting on top of a Garden of Eden." So it is passed along for what its worth.

Hugh McKee Dies On Active Service

Major James Turnbull recently received a copy of the Belfast Telegraph of the issue of April 14 which published a notice of the death on active service of Pilot Officer Hugh P. McKee of the R.C.A.F. Early in April PO. McKee was visiting his aunts in Ravensdene Park, Belfast, only two doors from the home of Major Turnbull's mother.

Circumstance of furlough brought the two Canadian officers together one morning, and coincidence further extended its revelations in the fact PO. McKee had at one time lived in Peterborough.

The Telegraph news item includes the following information: "Pilot Officer McKee, who was 21, was at Toronto University and had finished his first year's Science course when he joined up. He did his training in Canada. His father was a captain in the Veterinary Corps in the last war, and his younger brother, Irvine, is a wireless operator serving in the present conflict."

It transpired from the meeting of the two officers that April morning in Belfast that PO. McKee's father had at one time been employed here with Canada Packers, presumably in the position of government inspector. The young officer was killed in air action defending Malta.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-noted for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

River Dangerous Fishing ReportedSkimpy

Fishermen and prospective canoeists are warned that the Otonabee river is very dangerous. The dams are wide open and the current is running swiftly. At the present time the river is more than three feet above summer level in certain stretches, and he who ventures out on the river while the flood is on, is flirting with death.

O'Dette Bros. boat builders are said to be refusing to rent canoes for the next two days until the river subsides, and this is a sensible move, protecting people who have little regard for their own safety.

The Bessie Butler is anchored at Nassau, and reports indicate it will stop there for a few days until the water drops, as it would be difficult for the boat to make upstream towing the repair scow with it.

Fishermen are just about wasting their time, trying to catch fish, casting from shore, and the catches over the holiday week-end were negligible. At the mouth of the river, fishermen forgot all about the fishing laws, and were casting and drift fishing to their heart's content. In fact, it is reliably reported that one resort owner who rents boats, is not bothering to put an anchor in the boat when he rents it to fishermen.

The law states that a game warden is within his rights to confiscate tackle, and boat should he find anyone violating the fishing regulations, and perhaps a clean-up in one spot would convince others that the law has teeth.

At any rate the sensible fisherman will postpone his angling activities until the Trent Canal officials order the lockmasters to start dropping in the stoplogs at the dam.

Boy Scouts Hold Rally

Two Boy Scouts, Stanley Newton and John Bethell, who both had rendered great service during the blitz on England in their A.R.P. work, addressed a mass meeting of the Boys Scouts, Cubs, Sea Scouts and A.R.P. wardens in the Capitol Theatre on Sunday afternoon.

The Scouts and Cubs formed up on the Market Square and paraded to the theatre, and after they had taken their places the public was admitted, filling the theatre to capacity.

B. Ottowell, president of the Peterborough Boy Scout Association, presided and a civic welcome was extended by Mayor James Hamilton. The two Scouts weer introduced by Commissioner John Hornsby.

The two boys, typical of thousands of Scouts in Britain, who are every day playing a prominent part in the defence of Britain, were given a most attentive hearing. They described air raids, told of their work in the A.R.P. as messengers, assistant firemen, rescue workers and fire watching.

The leader, Stanley Newton, Troop Leader of the 8th Holborn Scout Troop and a Rover Scout and Assistant Scoutmaster of a Troop of evacuee Scouts from Gibraltar, has been through all the London blitzes, on fire watching and rescue work. He has shown o standing resourcefuln and courage. He was selected to play the leading role in the British Ministry of Information film, "Men of Tomorrow."

King's Scout John Bethell, 16, Troop Leader, was the other visitor, was awarded the Scout Bronze Cross for conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty during the repeated and heavy air attacks on Birkenhead. He was credited with the rescue of 12 persons buried beneath collapsing homes.

Following the two addresses the picture, "Men of Tomorrow," was shown. This depicted Boy Scouts in action during a London air raid. Pictures of a recent parade of Scouts and militia in Peterborough were also shown. Commissioner Hornsby and President Ottowell expressed the thanks of the Association to the Capitol Theatre management for being so willing to co-operate in providing the auditorium for the meeting.

One Night In Year When Daylight Cannot Fade Too Soon For Children

This little quotation from "Mrs. Miniver" by Jan Struthers should appeal to parents in the fresh memory of Monday evening: "In childhood the daylight always fails too soon, except when there are fireworks; and then the sun dawdles intolerably on the threshold like a tedious guest. There were no clouds that day, and even after sunset the western sky remained obstinately full of pearly-grey light."

And there are a few lines from another source which will appeal to other parents:

"He has outscored the shadows of the night,
Envy and calumny and hate and pain
And that unrest which mean miscall delight
Can touch him not and torture him again."

Rangers Expect Forty Recruits

A complete recruiting staff will be on hand at the Peterborough Armouries on Tuesday evening when it is expected there will be at least forty men on hand to enlist with the 2nd Battalion Prince of Wales Rangers.

Recruiting for this reserve unit has been brisk during the past two weeks but many more men are required before the battalion will be up to strength. The Battalion parades on Tuesday and Thursdays, and on either of these nights, prospective recruits may apply for enlistment, or to the recruiting office for information. Weather conditions were not favorable for a week-end camp at the Rifle Ranges over the holiday and therefore no camp was held.

Promotions

Sgt. Kenneth A. Wood is promoted to the rank of Acting Company Sergeant-Major, and is transferred from C to B Company; Sgt. Gordon William Langhorne to be acting C.Q.M.S. in A Company; A-Cpl. K. V. Payne to be Acting Sgt. in B company; L.Cpl. H. Harvey, to be A-Cpl. in A Company; L-Cpl. Joseph H. Hewitt, to be A-Cpl. in A Company; Pte. P. H. Turner to be Lance Corporal in B Company; and Pte. William Michaud, to be transferred from the Veterans Company to B Company with the rank of Lance Corporal.

On Wednesday evening recruits for the 4th Field Battery, R.C.A. (Reserve) may apply for enlistment with the Battery, and less than 100 men will fill up this artillery unit. Both the Battery and the 2nd Battalion Rangers, have orderly room staffs at the Armouries during the day and should any man wish to obtain information he is at liberty to drop in and have a chat with the non-commissioned men on the job.

Any person wishing to join for active service in any branch of the army may do so by applying to Major V. Eastwood at the Peterborough Armouries. A complete list of the men who have enlisted for the active army during the last ten days will be published this week.

Promotions appearing on orders of the 4th Field Battery reveal that Sergt. Fred J. Green has received his appointment as 2-Lieutenant. Bombadier K. R. Hoard is promoted to Lance Sergeant, anr Gunner L. M. Symonds is promoted to the rank of Lance-Bombadier. Lieut. Green joined the battery as a gunner back in August, 1940, and came up from the ranks to commissioned status. He has been one of the most enthusiastic men in the unit since joining and rarely missed a parade.

Staging Battle For Businessmen

The purposes of the Division of Simplified Practice of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board are not a blitz on business. It is a battle for business.

This declaration sets the keynote of the article "What's Ahead for Canadian business?" in Liberty magazine by Hugh A. Mackenzie, nephew of the late Rev. Dr. A. W. Mackenzie of The Grove School, Lakefield.

"Retail experts agree that the advantage of chain stores is not in their buying power but in their selling power. They are more expert in merchandizing. Small merchants may call on the Division for experts who will help them make their businesses more efficient in the same way the head office of a chain of stores helps its branches....Manufacturers are being advised to concentrate on standard price ranges suited to mass demand. New models or varieties should be produced only when this can be done more cheaply, or when it is necessary because alternative materials must be used ....The Division is here to help business in its program of economy through simplification and standardization in production, distribution and marketing. It has already been named "the scrimp and save department." I prefer another often applied appellation, "the common-sense section, because that is the way the organization is operating. There is no sense in making a change unless there is some good reason for doing so...."

As director of the Division, Mr. Mackenzie is writing for the small retailer especially. He was loaned to the Federal Government by one of Canada's big beverage companies of which he is general manager.

Rambling Reporters

WIDE-AWAKE CONGREGATION

Well it's actually happened. The church rocked on its foundations and not from any German bombs as more than one startled churchgoer thought. The service in Murray street Baptist church was proceeding normally Sunday morning when a series of sharp explosions rent the air. At the first crack, everyone inwardly groaned about thunder, but after a few more it was clear to all that the noise was coming from underneath the church. With exemplary poise, the congregation poured out its voice in song as the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe went out to investigate There was absolutely no panic, everyone remained quietly in his place. But more than one afterward admitted that they would certainly have liked to "go while the going was good," but the sight of their neighbours remaining there calmy kept them glued to their seats. In a few minutes Mr. Sutcliffe re-appeared and announced that everything was "O.K." The safety valve of the furnace boiler had blown off and as soon as the minister and the janitor could get downstairs to release the pressure button, it resumed its normal functions, and with only a few minutes for both congregation and minister to get its breath the sermon went on. But needless to say, there was a most wide-awake congregation for the remainder of the service.

ATTACKER AT LARGE

For a short time on Saturday afternoon police though they had a mysterious crime on their hands. A telephone message from a North Monaghan girl said that a young girl in that neighborhood had been attacked by a stranger who used a hypodermic needle on her. A few minutes' investigation revealed the fact that the only attack had been made by a blood-thirsty mosquito and the mysterious stranger was merely a figment of the imagination. The mosquito was not arrested.—F. D. C.

WAS HE SURPRISED

Two huge tarpaulin cages on the Conklin Midway train Sunday evening attracted the attention of two small boys, about the time most of the crowd were up at Charlotte street watching the elephants.

"I bet there's something alive in those cages" chirped up one.

"Let's climb up and see" said the other, so they did just that but the tarpaulins were tied down tightly and the youngsters could not get a peek. Finally one of the two let loose a me-ow as loudly as he could, and the results were astonishing to say the least.

Simultaneously three huge lions in the dark cages cut loose with roars, and the way those two small boys scrambled off the car, and down the street was truly indicative of terror. The roars were so loud they brought the bulk of the spectators away from the elephants at Charlotte street.—That youngster was 100 per cent right.—"They were alive."—McG.

Reserve Army Has Real Job For Men To Do

There is still an idea in the minds of some people that a man in the Reserve Army does nothing but march up and down the Armoury floor or the parade ground all evening. If you are one of those who still think so, visit the Armoury on Monday, Wednesday, Tuesday or Thursday evening and watch the training of the Fourth Field Battery or the second battalion of the Prince of Wales Rangers. You will find that the work is varied and interesting, and that there is plenty to challenge the attention and intelligence of anybody.

What He Must Know

A modern soldier must know much more than platoon and rifle drill. He must be well trained in map reading, military law, army organization, protection against gas and a dozen other equally important things. There is no danger of being bored with the monotony of training, as the only difficulty is to find time to devote to all the different branches.

There is everything here to attract a man who has made up his mind that he wants to be of some use in home defence, and why shouldn't any red-blooded Canadian want to do his share in this work? This is not said to coax anyone into the ranks. The time for that sort of thing is long since past. It is said with the idea of showing men that there is a real job to be done by men with brains and perseverance.

The modern soldier has to be an expert in a good many things, and while those responsible for training reserve army recruits in this city do not promise to turn out a perfectly trained soldier in a period of forty days, yet they do guarantee to make a man an asset to the community instead of a liability when the test of the home defence force comes, as in all likelihood it will do.

Let all get into this work at once. The need is too great to wait until half the training season is over before enlistment up to war strength is completed. Recruits are wanted now, so that preliminary training can be completed as soon as possible, and the job of making really efficient reserve units properly undertaken.

The "wait and see" policy has absolutely nothing to recommend it in war time. Don't wait to see what the other fellow does. Go up to the Armoury and bring him with you. Canada needs a reserve fighting force which will be able to drop its tools in an emegency and use the rifle and machine gun with good effect. If the cause is lost on the home front through our negligence then the splendid efforts of the Active Force will be of little avail.

Soldier Gets Big Pickerel

L/Corp. Harold Campbell, 467 Albert street, celebrated week-end leave by catching a pickerel weighing 11 pounds, 5 ounces, off the pier at Young's Point. Four men had fished in the raceway at that point all afternoon, and one of the quartet dropped his rod, and went to talk to a friend for five minutes. When he came back, Campbell was hauling in the big pickerel.

Campbell who enlisted here with the Prince of Wales Rangers, is now stationed at Camp Niagara. He usually fishes for pickerel in the spring, but has never caught one as large before. This fish is just three ounces lighter than the one that took first place in the Examiner Lucky Strik Contest last year. The pickerel holding Canadian record, weighed 13 pounds and was caught in Baptiste Lake near Bancroft. Campbell was using a perch minnow made by Lucky Strike.

Another Beauty

Dan Douglas, government inspector of factories for this district set the pace for the brook trout fishermen over the week-end when he caught a speckled trout which weighed four pounds nine ounces. He was fishing in an unnamed lake near Denbigh, about 40 miles north of Kaladar at the top end of the section known as the "Land o'Lakes."

Douglas had a storekeeper from the village of Northbrook along with him, and was fly fishing using a Scarlet Ibis when the trout took hold. "I was shivering like a leaf when I got him into the boat," Douglas said. The trout was 26 inches long.

Ottawa Steps Nearer Tax Control

Ilsley Mum However As to How Budget Will Hit This Year

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP)—The Dominion was a long step closer today to exclusive enjoyment of the income and corporation taxation field but parliament was still without any indication from Finance Minister Ilsley as to any plans he might have for increasing these taxes.

The House of Commons last night passed a bill authorizing the Finance Minister to enter into agreements with the provinces by which the latter vacate the personal income and corporation taxation field for duration of the war.

Debate on the Bill and a kindred measure occupied the House throughout the May 25 sitting but much of the discussion covered old ground. Agreements have already been reached with eight provinces and Quebec has only to pass the agreement in the Legislature before signing.

Much of the discussion in committee had to do with the compensation to be paid the provinces for vacating this field.

Conservative House Leader Hanson and others tried to draw from Mr. Ilsley some indication of what tax changes he would propose in his budget but the Finance Minister declined to say anything that might be taken as a forecast.

Mr. Ilsley also was asked about the liquor business and the possibility of federal control. He said that it was a provincial matter and that the federal government had no intention of regulating it.

When the sitting opened Mr. Ilsley told a questioner that he was not yet in a position to indicate when the budget would be brought down.

The provinces are to be compensated for yielding this taxation field on the basis of their revenues from the same sources during their fiscal years ended nearest to Dec. 31, 1940.

They had two choices of compensation for tax surrendered—(a) outright grants annually equal to the actual cash revenues received from income and corporation taxes during the fiscal year ending Dec. 31,

Farmers To Ask Gordon Questions

The policies of Wartime Prices and Trade Board in relation to agriculture will be the subject of a radio address Monday June 1 from 8.30 to 9 p.m. over a CBC network by H. H. County branches of the Federation and form groups are being asked to listen in on the Hannam address, to fill in questionnaires and return them to Mr. Hannam's office. In turn they will be submitted to Mr. Gordon presumably as the basis of his reply. It is expected that he with answer some of the primary questions the farmers of Canada are asking.

Week-end Tragedy Toll Takes 12 Mother, 2 Daughters Lost In River

By The Canadian Press.

Twelve fatalities were reported in Ontario during the holiday week-end, including six drownings and three traffic deaths.

A Toronto mother and her two children and a Toronto man were drowned Monday and two Toronto residents saved when their motorboat was swept over Wasdell Falls on the Black River near Orillia. The victims were Mrs. Maisie Fitzgerald, her daughters Joan and Maureen, and Glenn F. Lucas. Mr. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Lucas were saved.

Eighteen-year-old Lewis Colosimo of Toronto was drowned Monday when he fells out of a canoe into Centre Island lagoon near Toronto. Eyewitnesses said the youth was paddling his canoe standing up when it tipped over.

Struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train Monday, Evelyn Snake, two-year-old Indian girl from a reserve near North Bay, was fatally injured. The accident occurred near the child's grandparents' home on the outskirts of North Bay.

Five-year-old Donald Jones of Westboro, Ottawa suburb, was drowned Saturday in the Ottawa River when he fell from floating timber on which he was playing with other children.

Tumbles Under Bus

Donald Ross of London was killed Sunday night when run down by a London city bus after what police described as a street corner fight in which he either fell or was pushed into the path of the vehicle. Police said Monday they were holding two youths in connection with the fatality.

Injured in a truck-car collision Friday night, Mrs. W. E. Symonds of Stratford died in hospital there Sunday. Two other passengers in the car with Mrs. Symonds were killed in the crash and Mrs. Symonds' daughter, Dorothy, driver of the car, is in hospital with critical injuries.

Charles C. Brant, Indian resident of Deseronto, was killed Sunday when struck by an automobile. Police said Brant stepped from behind his parked automobile into the path of the other car on a road near his home.

Vandals Wreck Summer Homes

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26 — (ENS).—Cottage owners from Hastings to Healey Falls who return to find their places intact will be lucky this summer. Already more than a dozen cases of breaking and entering have been reported to Provincial Police here and a check up by Constable D. M. Carruthers during the week-end revealed that nearly fifteen others between Trent Bridge an Healey Falls had been entered and many of the owners are still oblivious of the fact. With cottagers miles away it is making the actual work of checking up on what is missing a difficult task, but according to police the thieves, who seem to delight in doing as much damage as possible and will stop at nothing to gain entrance, appear to be principally interested in wearing apparel and foodstuffs. At least one outboard motor has been stolen, but until police are able to check with owners, it will be impossible to prepare a complete list.

I.O.D.E. Tag Day Is Huge Success

PORT HOPE, May 26.—(ENS.)—On Saturday, May 23, the Colonel Arthur Williams' Chapter, I.O.D.E. held the most successful tag day yet on record when $201.05 was raised.

Burned-Out Liner Normandie Will Be Salvaged

This is the hulk of the former French liner Normandie as she now appears, burned-out and capsized at her pier in the Hudson River. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox has told President Roosevelt that the huge liner can be salvaged, and that the work will take over a year. Marines guard the hulk. The picture shows that the superstructure of the ship has been cut away in readiness to right her. The Normandie was taken over by the U.S. navy and renamed the Lafayette before her partial destruction.

War Shopping Features I.O.D.E. Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26 (ENS) —Arrangements for the week-end entertainment of their fifth group of Trenton airmen were made during their regular meeting of the I.O.D.E. here on Friday. Assuming the same form as this type of war work has taken on previous occasions the Bemersyde Chapter hopes to entertain between thirty and forty, according to the hospitality convener, Mrs E. C. Roberts, who will be assisted by Mrs. R. E. Fox, Mrs. W. Brady, Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol, Mrs. Les. Henson, Misses Marian MacDonald, Dorothy Henson and Helen Partridge.

During the evening the war convener, Mrs. H. T. Scott, announced that more gloves were required to fill their quota for the air force, and following this Mrs. R. E. Fox gave the routine report of the Sewing convener and Mrs. W. Ward gave the quilt report which was prepared by Mrs. George Hawthorne. Mrs. Hawthorne's report embraced the period from January 1st to May 14th and showed a profit on quilts made and sold of $40.69. Plans were made to hold a Bingo on June 1st, which will be sponsored by Group IV, and the Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside directed attention to the annual tag day for the Navy League to be held on June 6th.

An address entitled "War Time Shopping" was given by Mrs. E. A. Stuart as the principal feature of the regular Empire Study period held in connection with each meeting. She gave some interesting data on the rubber situation and among other things pointed out that the housewife need not worry about getting a sufficient supply of rubber jar rings. The government has taken the necessity for home preserving into consideration in making provision for these out of the limited rubber supply.

War Work First With YPU Group

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26 (ENS) Unlike most other young people's organizations throughout the rural districts, Zion Y.P.U. is still carrying on despite the fact that most of the members are working overtime at home. They staged their first box social of the season on Friday and the social along with a varied program attracted close on one hundred. Rev. J. R. Bick was chairman of the evening, and contrary to the accepted custom it was decided to put a flat rate of 35 cents on each box rather than auction them. The program was in charge of the vice-president, Miss Norma Arkles, and included a cornet solo by Lieut. Alex. Turnbull, who also rendered a vocal solo; an orchestral number by a group comprising Mr. Fred Barnum, Mrs. E. Irwin and Mrs. Albert Petherick; chorus by pupils of Petherick's School; reading, Peter Hennessey; vocal duet by Misses Aileen Petherick and Rosemarie Pirie. Following a group of southern airs by a mixed blackface chorus comprising Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Petherick, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Petherick, Mr. Raymond Begg, Miss Ferne Tinney, Miss Norma Arkles, Mrs. M. Brunton, Mr. Alfred Barnum and Miss Enid Petherick, a period of games was enjoyed by all. These were conducted by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Anderson. Proceeds of the affair will be used to carry on the general work of the Y.P.U.

Cobourg Briefs

Cobourg experienced its deadest 24th of May yesterday in many years. Gasoline restrictions and cold weather combined to reduce holiday traffic to the lowest for the 24th in a long time. Saturday and Sunday were cold and wet but Monday brightened up a bit, although the weather was far from warm. Fans missed the baseball season's opener which in past years always started on the 23rd of May. This year no league is operating.

Traffic officers reported that there were no accidents during the week-end.

Few ventured out for their usual Victoria Day fishing trip, due to cold weather and wooded country which was still sodden from recent rains.

Adrift In River Boys Rescued

CORNWALL, May 26.— Heroism rests lightly on the shoulders of Private Kenneth Martin whose only statement concerning a recent incident involving the lives of two small boys, was "all in a day's work!"

Private Martin hearing the cries of the two young boys as they floated out into the river in an open boat, dove into water and brought the craft safely back to shore.

News of the rescue was first brought to the attention of Lieut.-Colonel R. Larose, officer commanding the training centre, by Lieutenant G. R. Taylor who was camp orderly officer for the day.

It was revealed by Martin that he was walking along the waters edge just west of St. Lawrence Park when he heard cries coming over the water. To use Martin's own words: "I saw a boat drifting out in the current and there were two small children in it. I took off my boots, jumped into the water and swam out to them—I pushed the boat to shore by swimmng behind it, took the children out and put them on shore in safety.'"

This is not Private Martin's first first rescue. In the past he has been a means of saving several lives.

On one occasion, last summer, he rescued a boy about eight years of age from the canal near Campbellford, where he makes his home Another time he rescued an American tourist who had accidently fallen in the waters of the canal, and on another occasion pulled out an aged gentleman who had gone down for the second time.

Private Martin enlisted in the Canadian Army with the R.C.A.S.C. in Peterborough, in January 1942. At the present time, Martin is up for discharge from the army as category "E"—medically unfit for service.

When asked what he thought of being ischarged all he said was: "I would like to stay in the army."

Successful Dance

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26 (ENS) Members of the L.O.L. 1338 held a successful dance at the Orange Hall, Stanwood, on Friday evening. Though the proceeds, amounting to over $20 will go to the lodge treasury, it was announced during the evening that the total receipts from another dance to be staged on May 29th, would be turned over to the Red Cross. Music for the evening was provided by Ellis' Orchestra from Havelock and Earl McComb and Robert Lisle assisted with the square dances.

Eruption On Mauna Loa Nullifies Hawaii's Blackout

A fountain of molten lava spurts 600 feet into the air as mighty Mauna Loa, Hawaii's volcano, went on the rampage again, April 26. Army bombers, for the second time in seven years, again bombed the huge volcano in order to divert lava flows from the port of Hilo. Army censorship, which kept the mountain's activity a military secret for 22 days, was finally lifted, and news of the eruption which nullified the blackout of the islands and served as a beacon for hundreds of miles, was released to the world.

6.36 Inches Of Rain Fallen During Month Of May

GORE'S LANDING, May 26 — (ENS).—The official rain gauge for Gore's Landing reports 6.36 inches of rain has fallen so far this month. Comparing this with May, 1941, the entire month had only 1.03 inches of rain. In three months, April, May and June in 1941 the record is 2.03 inches.

In May, 1940, a rainy season was apparently in full swing as 6.11 inches are record for the entire month. 1939 was dry, with only 1.26 inches.

The water in Rice Lake is very high. In Herald's Park, part of the roadway was inundated on Sunday. Farmers report fields so soaked in water that they will be compelled to seed grain a second time.

Many Tourists

The tourist park in this vicinity were filled over the holiday week-end. Plenty of boats were out fishing but only a few pickerel were brought in. The rationing of gas is noticeable by the fact of very few cars driving around, most people driving to their cottages and remaining there for the week-end.

Buy NEXT SEASON'S COAL AT ONCE!

The immediate co-operation of the public is necessary if coal is to be available to heat and fuel Canadian homes and factories next winter.

Military needs are putting unusual burdens on our production and transportation facilities. If mining is allowed to slacken off during the summer months, as in the past, the railroads will not be able to move the coal required this fall.

If You Want to be Warm Next Winter

Give your dealer an order right away for the approximate amount of coal you will require next season. This will enable him to order his requirements, keep the miners working and the coal moving. Let him fill your bin as soon as he can make delivery. Provide extra storage space if necessary and possible.

Dealers' yards can only hold so much. Unless consumers order early and take delivery, new supplies cannot be brought in.

The Kharkov Struggle

The great weakness of public opinion is that it knows no moderation. When the Germans attacked the Russians nearly a year ago the consensus was that Russia would never be able to stand the assault, for the Germans had shown themselves unbeatable; now the wheel has come full circle and we appear to think that the Russians are unbeatable and that the present furious German assaults cannot prevail against them. The fact of the matter is that no army is unbeatable and that the Germans are still very strong. We hope desperately for a Russian victory, and we may have reasonable confidence that they will win but we must not assume that the issue is already decided. Neither the Russian nor the German communiques give any ground for such a belief, and no nation is backward about announcing a victory.

Germany's first advance against Russia brought her almost to Moscow, and Rostov, the great oil-distributing city of the U.S.S.R. was well in her hands. It was then that Marshal Timoshenko launched the great counter-attack which was the first serious embarrassment of the German Wehrmacht. But although the Germans were forced to retire, and although (so Mr. Churchill tells us) they lost over two million men, they managed to hang on to many of the important points which they had gained, and these are the sources from which they hope to continue their drive against Russia. The winter was a long and bitter one for them, and they lost the flower of their troops, but they still have terrible power to strike.

They have struck at the Kerch peninsula in the Crimea, which the Russians recaptured during the winter; as far as we may tell now, it has once again fallen into German hands. Apparently the Germans hope to launch an attack from this position against the southern flank of the Russian positions. Marshal Timoshenko has adroitly spiked this move by his drive against Kharkov, with the intention of making German positions south of that point useless. That is all we know, and we have certainly no reason yet to assume that the Germans are in a more serious position at present than are the Russians.

Serious, that is, in the field. The German Army appears to be functioning with its customary efficiency and, so far as we may judge from reports which are necessarily meager and open to doubt, its morale is excellent. But on the home front things are very different, and if there should be serious trouble in Germany the morale of its far-flung army would take a dizzy and sudden tumble. But so far there is no reason for us to assume that the Germans are in despair in Russia or have even given serious thought to the possibility of defeat.

Trouble Inside The Axis?

As we have said above, we do not think that any weakening is discernible in the German Army, and the recent conquest of the Kerch peninsula bears this out. But there are persistent rumors of trouble inside the Axis, and at a recent exchange of American pressmen for Axis nations some of these rumors were given new weight.

For one thing, the co-ordination of German activities in occupied countries is faulty. It is the duty of the economic messengers of the Reich to bustle about the occupied lands, doing all they can to increase production and bring business under the close supervision of German authorities. It is the duty of the propaganda department to do everything it can through the press, the movies, the radio and other means to induce the inhabitants of occupied lands to embrace the New Order and settle down under it. But both these branches of the German might are discounted by the army, which shoots hostages by the score and gives every impression of tyranny toward the conquered peoples. And of course the Gestapo is perpetually at work, arresting people in its customary arbitrary way and creating an atmosphere of uncertainty and hatred. Great numbers of people in the occupied countries make a show of co-operation with the conquerors, but it is impossible to say which of these are true converts and which are working for secret freedom movements.

In Germany itself food is the major problem of the people. There are two meatless days every week, there are almost no eggs, and fruit is very scarce. The labor shortage is affecting even the most essential services and it is difficult for anyone who has not some special influence to get any work done.

In Italy the utmost efforts of the propaganda bureau have failed to arouse any strong feeling against the United States and such feeling as existed against Britain is greatly diminished. The Italians make no secret of the fact that they would welcome almost any end to the war, though they have no illusions about what their place in the world will be if Germany wins. The Italian sense of humor is as active as ever; a popular riddle runs, "What is the difference between the Japanese and Italian armies?" and the answer is, "The Japanese have taken Manila and the Italians have taken mai nulla (nothing)."

These scraps of information are slight in themselves but they add to the stock which we already possess and the picture made by the whole is definitely encouraging. Let us not forget, however, that the stories of food shortage and lack of fuel might be duplicated from Britain; the people there are also without eggs and fruit and they are not eating luxuriously by any means. The difference is that Britain has powerful allies and sees her star rising; the Axis must feel that the Japanese are unsatisfactory comrades and there must also be an uneasy feeling that their star may already have reached its zenith and be in decline. If this war is to take on the aspect of an endurance contest the British have already shown their ability to endure, and the Axis have shown no great strength in this respect. They can endure only when they are being successful.

The Welshman's Candle

During the eighteenth and the early part of the nineteenth century there was a popular book in Wales which was called The Welshman's Candle; it was a book of prayers and meditations, and it was given its somewhat odd name because it was supposed to be a small thing shining to enlighten and edify all men. But we would like to apply this excellent title to the amazing record of the people of the little fishing-village of Aberdovey in Merionethshire, who have distinguished themselves by contributing more per head to the British Warship Week than any other place in the whole of Great Britain. The per capita contribution of the Aberdovey folk was £50 11s 3d, the rough equivalent of two hundred and fifty dollars apiece.

Where did the money come from? No one who has been to Aberdovey will ever know. This little Welsh fishing village on Cardigan Bay has a population of about 1,200 people and these make their living by fishing, selling things to each other, and renting rooms to summer visitors. There is no wealthy population to draw upon, no industry, and not even the usual sprinkling of retired farmers. The money simply came from the generosity and loyalty of a few hundred heavily-taxed men and women who mean to win the war if it costs them every cent they have. This spirit, we feel, may aptly be called "The Welshman's Candle" and it shines as an example to free people everywhere.

It is interesting also to notice that Merionethshire, the Welsh county in which Aberdovey is situated, was asked to raise £500,000 for Warship Week and it succeeded in raising £564,030, or about two and a half million dollars. That from a population of 43,000 people! If ever we feel inclined to pride ourselves on our generosity in Canada let us think of this record established in a far from wealthy district of Britain.

Earl Browder And Tim Buck

Although we are almost all enthusiastic about the Russians at present we are not quite so keen about communists in our own midst. Recently President Roosevelt released Earl Browder, the leader of the Communist Party in the U.S., from confinement, as it appeared to him that it was illogical for the U.S. to hold a man in restraint because he professed the political doctrine of a military ally. This move has brought strong criticism upon the President but the opinion of the country as a whole appears to be with him.

To Canadians this brings the question: What about Tim Buck? He is not in prison, but he takes good care to keep out of sight, for his policy of resistance to the Government of this country upon every occasion has made him a figure of interest to the police. He has been appealing to the Government to make himself and his followers immune from the treatment normally accorded communists in this country. If that is what he wants his best plan is to come out of hiding and put his case before the Government like a man. If he and his comrades really want to help in Canada's war effort, and thus give indirect aid to Russia, they must shed the robe of mystery which circumstances have forced upon them and which they appear to wear with a good deal of quiet satisfaction. It is hard not to believe that Canadian communists really enjoy the devilish role which this country has allotted to them.

But Tim Buck will never establish himself as a sincere well-wisher of this country as a member of the United Nations unless he takes a risk and presents himself in person to someone who is qualified to deal with his case. The Minister of Justice is the obvious man, and when Tim raps at his door we shall know that he is really sincere. Until then, we must remain suspicious.

Misinformation About Japan

The recent flight of a formation of American Doolittles over the principal cities of Japan from a base which President Roosevelt chooses to call Shangri-Lar has given everybody on this continent the greatest satisfaction. Apparently the American flyers did a good deal of damage, but we must not expect that Tokyo, Kobe, Nagoya and Yokohama are now charred ruins. This point was very well elaborated by the author, Bruce Lancaster, in a recent speech. We quote Mr. Lancaster at length:

"As soon as the news of Pearl Harbor reached the States, the first reaction was, naturally, deep anger. Then, unfortunately, came a great vindictive rubbing of hands: 'Just wait until our planes fly over their bamboo and paper cities!' This cry was taken up by the public in general, fostered by numerous columnists, many of whom should have known better through residence in Japan. It has brought on a wave of wishful thinking that, to my mind, is dangerous. The average citizen (and too often the writer) seems to have conjured up a picture of a few allied planes flying over Honshu and scattering, rather casually, a few incendiary bombs. Easy, isn't it? Why, two or three bombs would wipe out any one of their bamboo and paper cities!

"That's fine. But the cities aren't paper and they aren't bamboo. The vital points of Tokyo, Kobe, Nagoya, Yokohama are brick, concrete, steel, stone. (At this point some one arises to say: 'But I've seen pictures of—'). Of course he has seen pictures of Japanese houses. But how are they built? The Japanese -style house has, to begin with, a roof of heavy tile. (Not bamboo, not paper, not thatch—though you will find thatch in the country districts; it's not very inflammable, due to constant exposure to a rainy climate). This roof is about 50 to 60 per cent. of the house. The supports are made of cedar or pine, not seasoned as we know the term. The walls are mud-plaster laid over a network of withes. Paper is often pasted over sliding, removable frames for windows, but of later years, glass has been used more and more. This paper is so inflammable that it will burn off its frame without even charring the wood. Partitions between rooms are often a heavy, spongy cardboard set in wood frames and little more combustible than wood. Barring charcoal fires in big pots, there is no heat. There is little, if any, furniture to burn. And bamboo (which again is not possessed of a low combustion point) is used only for trimmings, ornamental work, and so on. There is plenty of water in every house, for the family bath-tub is full 99½ per cent. of the time. Water-pressure (for fire-fighting purposes is good in most cities, especially those in the hills.

This is not to say that Japanese house, or city, is not inflammable. It is, highly so. In fact, it's nearly 20 per cent. as inflammable as our American cities with their rows of shingle-roofed three deckers and tenements. Canadian city, where more brick, plaster and tile are used than with us, would be closer to Japanese in safety than would ours. This is not to say that bombing will not help beat Japan. It will help enormously. But Japanese city will have to be bombed as thoroughly as Bremen or Kiel. A few bombs from American, Canadian or Australian planes aren't going to burn up the Empire. If we sell ourselves on the idea that they are, we're in for a bad shock."

This is enlightening. We confess that we ourself had harbored a notion that most Japanese building was of the match-box variety and we are glad to learn the truth. Too many of us, apparently, still have the idea that the Japanese are really a quaint little people, fond of bright clothes and very clever at arranging flowers. We must get rid of this outmoded pattern of thought at once; the Japs disposed of it in Japan long ago.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If these restrictions on oil continue we shall have none left to pour on troubled waters.

In a contemporary we read this striking statement: "A house walks about eight miles a day during her ordinary domestic duties." Clearly this refers to one of those rambling structures.

Imagine the wonderment of a woman watching circus animal trainers making lions and tigers and elephants lie down and roll over and obey every slightest whim, just after she has failed to get one small child to go to bed.

MAY MOOD

Oh, witching, merry, mad-cap month of
 May,
I close my doors on you. Begone! Away!
You set your trap—once—deftly in the night,
With glimpses of a bosom hawthorn-
 white,
Your lilac-laden breathing all around,
Your emerald cloak, inviting, spread the ground—
May mystery! You lured me forth one night,
Finger-to-lips, eyes purple-violet bright,
To star-lit pine trees tangled on a hill—
Then laughed and fled, and left me sad and still!

A Hollywood History Of Moses

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

HE is a bold man who attempts to put a great character of history into a novel or a play, and if the historical character happens also to be a Biblical character boldness takes on the aspect of rashness. A Canadian author, Mr. W. G. Hardy, has written a novel about Moses which he calls "All the Trumpets Sounded," and although a reviewer likes to say pleasant things about Canadian novels when he can it is hard to find anything complimentary to say about this work. It is a rash effort indeed.

Mr. Hardy is not new in the field of the Biblical novel; some years ago he wrote a book called "Father Abraham," which was a Book Society choice in Britain; the Book Society is a discriminating group, and it must be concluded that "Father Abraham" was better than "All The Trumpets Sounded." The author is head of the Classics Department at the University of Alberta and his hobby is archeology; he is also president of the International Ice Hockey Association and Chairman of the Special Committee of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association; he is an officer in the Reserve Army. Obviously he is a man of parts, and a strong flavor of vigor and strenuosity is discernible in his writing. But he has not the imagination necessary to write an acceptable book about a great historical figure whose deeds have come down to us wrapped in legend. And he has not an acceptable literary style for such a subject; the blurb on the jacket of the book rings in the names of Thomas Mann and Sholem Asch, and very unwisely so, for Mr. Hardy's choice of language is strongly reminiscent of Hollywood.

THE blurb states also that the method of approach to the subject shown in this novel is a blending of the "intellectual and intuitional." This may be so, for anything I can prove to the contrary, but it is certainly not imaginative in any high sense. The book is also described as "A Lusty Novel of Pagan Egypt" and that is perfectly correct, with emphasis on the word 'lusty.' Mr. Hardy's Pharaoh seems to spend all his time either in cruelty or in reflection upon the charms of the latest addition to his harem. No one could object to these lucubrations on the ground that they are immoral, but many readers, myself included, might complain that they are very dull.

In "All the Trumpets Sounded" Moses appears as a man whose life is dominated by women. As a boy he is brooded over by his mother Jochebed and his sister Miriam; as he grows older the influence passes to the Princess Bint-Anath, daughter of Pharaoh, who has adopted him as her own. His adoptive mother relinquishes him only when he marries Tharbis, princess of Kush; and when she proves to be a harlot and he escapes into the desert it is no time at all before he takes up with Zipporah, the daughter of Jethro; later he takes Tharbis back into his favor. And, as he stands on Pisgah, about to die, his last word is "Mother." Is not this the true Hollywood pattern? Does not the hero run the gamut of many loves only to return to his dear old Ma at the last? But without wishing to probe the subject too deeply I must state it as my unalterable conviction that heroes are made of sterner stuff.

MANY readers will be dissatisfied with Mr. Hardy's handling of the miracles of Moses. He seeks explanations for them as assiduously as any disciple of the late Robert Green Ingersoll. Now the essence of a miracle, surely, is that it should be miraculous, and explanations are merely annoying. To be just, Mr. Hardy does not quite strip his miracles of all their supernormal quality, but he builds up to them so carefully that when they have arrived they have no impact. Who cares whether Moses out-magicked Pharaoh's conjurers because he was a superior hypnotist? Who cares whether the parting of the Red Sea was something which might happen once in a thousand years? Who cares whether the appearance of the burning bush was the combination of a dust storm and particularly bright sunlight? Who wants to be told that the tables of stone were carved by Joshua at the dictation of Moses? If they were associated with a figure of Biblical grandeur, or a man possessed of the power shown in Michelangelo's statue, these half-explanations would be merely foolish, but they seem to be very much of a piece with Mr. Hardy's Moses, dominated as he is by his sweethearts and his mother.

The writer of an historical novel must be careful of his language. Too great an austerity may drain the life from the work; too much colloquialism may cheapen it. The latter is Mr. Hardy's fault. To speak of an Egyptian prince "tooling his chariot" invites a laugh, as do also the attempts to alter modern turns of speech to suit an Egyptian setting. But the worst lapses come in the passages which deal with the princesses, Bint-Anath and Tharbis; they have nothing regal about them, either in speech or thought, and their commonness is of a modern variety. Again the effect is as though an actress of little ability had been cast for a role in a super-super Biblical film.

It is not pleasant to write in this vein of a Canadian novel; they are so few and we need writers so badly. But no good purpose is served by dishonest criticism, and this novel is not one which I can recommend to any reader of taste. It is an honest piece of work, but the writer's ambition is far beyond his ability. A good novel about Moses has still to be written. It would be interesting to consider such a work from the standpoint of Dr. Freud's suggestion that Moses was not really a Hebrew at all, but an Egyptian. But whoever tackles such a work will need great literary skill, style and art.

Vast Armies Before Kharkov

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

CONFLICTING reports from the Kharkov front in Russia throw little light on the probable duration or outcome of the first pitched battle of the summer campaign, but they do reveal that for once the Russians are on something like even terms with their Nazi foes in modern war equipment.

The size of the armies involved can only be conjectured from the fact that an irregular fighting front more than 200 miles long appears to be aflame with attack and counter-attack. That means troops by the hundred thousand on both sides.

More than two weeks have elapsed since Marshal Timoshenko seized the initiative and struck out to block an impending German offensive. In that time there has been no intimation that the Nazis have succeeded in gaining control of the air or breaking armored panzer columns loose to lunge deep behind Russian lines.

NAZI SCHEDULE DISRUPTED

Lacking those two prime factors, which have figured in every preceding German victory in Russia, the Battle of Kharkov may go down in history as the turning point in the war. Even the Russian failure to take Kharkov or to break through to the Dnieper crossings and undermine the whole German southern flank could not be set down as a defeat if it delayed Hitler's promised master offensive.

If Timoshenko has succeeded in sucking into the blazing struggle any substantial portion of Nazi reserves behind the Ukraine front and worn them down by losses in men and equipment to the extent Russian official accounts report, he has already seriously short-circuited the Hitler schedule.

Kerch Peninsula, bridgehead to the Caucasus, is again completely in German hands. Heavy Red losses there are highly probable. Unless the Nazis can soon clinch an even greater victory in the Kharkov fight, however, and emerge from that conflict in shape to exploit it promptly, the value of the Kerch bridgehead to them will be doubtful.

PURPOSES WELL SERVED

It has seemed certain since Timoshenko's broad strategy became clear with the Red attack at Kharkov that he regarded the Kerch front as wholly secondary He had opportunity to mass men and equipment there in sufficient strength to challenge the foe successfully had he so desired; but elected to make Kerch merely a holding operation while he concentrated for a counter smash at Kharkov.

Kerch Peninsula in Russian hands was obviously only an outpost position covering the far better defensive terrain that Kerch Strait and the area east of it afford. If its loss has cost the Nazis as heavily as indicated, it served its purpose well.

The cumulative attrition of Kerch and Kharkov on Nazi striking power is yet to be measured by events. If it has been anywhere near as great as Russian observers claim, in their tales of German tanks shattered by the hundred and Nazi planes shot down and bombed on the ground, the Battle of Kharkov must be recorded as a Russian victory regardless of the status of the city itself or Russian failure to reach the Dnieper crossings immediately.

CANADA AN ISLAND

THE truth is that war has surrounded this continent; and this country. Not merely are ships being sunk off our Atlantic coasts, within the sight of coast dwellers; there is the possibility of attack by sea or air at any time upon our Pacific seaboard. Actually, we have become an island, with war swirling about us, and with our oceans no longer keeping the enemy from us, but providing him with a bridge by which to bring attack.

In the light of that truth, brought home to us so starkly yesterday, let us hear less of the foolish blather that we are fighting a war of "imperialism," or fighting England's war. We are fighting for ourselves; fighting for Canada and for Canada's survival. To argue the contrary, or to hold that at most we should stay here in Canada and wait till the enemy comes to us, is to argue lunacy.—Ottawa Journal.

HITLER WOULD PAY

I hear from our radio talks to Germany that Hitler's private income, derived from the Nazi publishing company, which publishes Mein Kampf and all the party newspapers, and from the Hitler levy on the wage bill of German industry, is calculated to amount to no less than £10 million per annum. This is his personal income; some of it is spent in huge presents or bribes. He is certainly the greatest war profiteer in history. If he were in England he would be subject to £9,745,000 income tax annually—Statesman and Nation, London.

Under the conditions that have necessitated tire rationing and restrictions, the throwing of glass on the roadways should be classed as sabotage.

GREEKS STARVE

The Greeks starve, yet keep their pride. In their streets, says an American traveler, they just can't see a German; they look through him as if he wasn't there. When Mussolini attacked them, they said: "He has 42 million people to our 6½ millions. But one Greek is better than five Italians, so the odds against us aren't so bad." Some 4,000 British soldiers, it is thought, are still at large in Greece with a price on their heads. The Greeks risk death to hide them, to feed them and see that they get medical care.—New York Times.

ROYALTY REVISED

ON the subject of the right names for wars, now apparently perplexing Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers, there may be recalled the classical case of an English monarch. George III was once presented with a draft for a Speech from the Throne in which he was made to refer to "the present just and necessary war." He scratched out those words and substituted "bloody and expensive war."—Manchester Guardian.

THAT SECOND FRONT
(Sir James Grigg, British Secretary for War)

I knew that there is a great deal of curiosity in this country on the subject of the Second Front. But I will wager that that curiosity is nothing to that of the German high Command. I am afraid that both curiosities will have to remain unsatisfied for the time being.

U.S. VIEW OF QUEBEC
(Kansas City Star)

Curiously, Quebec has clung so strongly to its French traditions that it has not been wholly assimilated into the Canadian commonwealth. It lives a provincial life of its own, largely isolated from world currents. Apparently its people do not comprehend the essential factor in the situation, that it is better to defeat Hitler in Europe than wait for him to carry the war to Canada.

FOUR FIFTHS OF A MAN

In the British Postal Service a woman worker is considered as four-fifths of a man. For instance on foot a woman is allowed to carry 28 pounds of mail compared with a man's 35-pound load. On a bicycle a woman carries 40 pounds, a man 50. —Canadian Press.

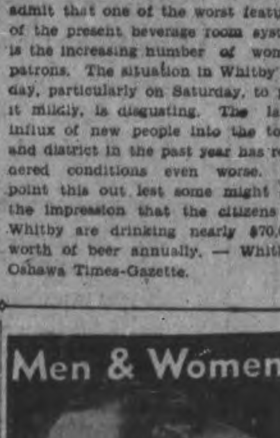
EXONERATING CITIZENS

Most citizens, we feel, are free to admit that one of the worst features of the present beverage room system is the increasing number of women patrons. The situation in Whitby today, particularly on Saturday, to put it mildly, is disgusting. The large influx of new people into the town and district in the past year has rendered conditions even worse. We point this out lest some might get the impression that the citizens of Whitby are drinking nearly $70,000 worth of beer annually. — Whitby-Oshawa Times-Gazette.



Grove School Naval Cadets Are Commended

Naval cadets eager and keen to join Canada's fast growing navy, paraded in review before Commanding officer, H.M.C.S. York, Toronto, at the Grove School, Lakefield, on Saturday afternoon in the annual inspection.

A chill wind and dark cloudy sky failed to detract from the colorful display of military precision shown by the 80 boys in the navy blue, as they went through their paces. The demonstration earned high commendation from a senior officer of the Navy who has every opportunity to see top-ranking cadets on parade, and he said the tribute which he paid the Grove cadets was amply justified by their work.

Commander Turner Speaks

Speaking to the cadets in the assembly hall on Saturday evening, Commander Turner reminded them that many distinguished naval officers had received their early training at the Grove, and one of the best known is Chief of Naval Staff, Admiral Percy Nelles. "Your training here can form the foundation for a naval career in either the Canadian or Royal Navies, and I feel that before this war is over, many of you will have taken places shoulder to shoulder with other boys wearing the Navy Blue.

He described the turn-out as "excellent," and complimented the cadets on their precision and the efficiency of the corps on parade. "Your work reflects credit on the instructors, and is of the same high quality of which the Grove is noted. I might say, too, that the practical naval training which you receive here is valuable, as you are not only taught discipline, and soldiering, but you receive a sound training in the rudiments of seamanship, and signals, and the lake at the foot of the grounds here gives you ample opportunity to practise what you have been taught."

Shield Awarded

The Jeffrey Shadden Shield for proficiency was awarded to No. 2 section of the corps, which was in command of Cadet Sub-Lieut. William Urquhart, and the shield was accepted by the commanding officer of the corps, Cadet Lieut.-Commander Philip Carr-Harris.

The other naval cadet officers were Lieut. Christopher Kirby, Lieut. Thomas Hoan, Color Officer, Lieut. Donald Tilley; Sub-Lieut. No. 1 section, John Agnew; Sub-Lieut. No. 2 section, William Urquhart; No. 3 section, Edward Pope; No. 4 section, Stephen Hemstead; in charge of band, John Arnoldi.

The reviewing stand was placed at the east side of the field, and the crowd of spectators had a fine view from the raised ground at that point. First the cadets marched past in open column of sections, then in close column of sections, and finally in close column of route. Following inspection, the sections broke off, and each gave a demonstration in the various parts of the training. There was semaphore signalling, morse buzzer signalling, bayonet fighting, knots and splices, and camping, which consisted of the building of a bivouac, placing of sentries, etc. The afternoon's program concluded with an aquatic review in which the cadets showed their proficiency sailing 10 dinghies and 12 canoes on Lake Katchawanooka.

The Juniors, about 25 strong, looked on, as the older boys in the cadet corps put on the show. The youngesters roared with laughter when the age-old naval custom of tipping the bucket was staged on the campus. The bucket was filled with water and set about ten feet in the air, on a tilting beam. Below the bucket was a board, and in this board was about a two-inch hole. One student sat in wheel barrow and held a long bamboo fishing rod, another student wheeled the barrow under the bucket. If the marksman was clever enough to strike the hole with the fishing rod, the bucket remained upright, but should he miss, the bucket tipped its contents, drenching both of them. One of the school staff, dressed as a prim old lady added more fun to the event when he rode the wheelbarrow and was smothered in a deluge of water.

Captain G. Winder Smith, headmaster at the Grove, who is also officer commanding the 45th Battery, R.C.A., Reserve, at Lindsay, was with Commander Turner at the saluting base. Lt. G. C. Barnard, an executive officer of H.M.C.S. York, accompanied the Commander from Toronto, and Petty Officer Alfred Redmond was on hand to put the cadets through their tests on signals.

The Naval Cadets at the Grove are no longer under the jurisdiction of the Cadet Officer for Military District No. 2, but have been taken over by the Naval Service.

Boys From All Corners Of World Train As Naval Cadets At Grove School

Naval cadets of the Grove School at Lakefield were inspected on Saturday afternoon by Commander Charles Turner, commanding officer of H.M.C.S. York, Toronto, and the cadets put on a show that drew high praise from the officers and the spectators. Boys from all corners attend this well-known school. The three boys shown ABOVE feeding "Billy," the school mascot, are, from LEFT to RIGHT, John Church, Bedfordshire, England; Thomas Bang whose father is Danish consul in the Virgin Islands, and John Tusting, Harrold, Bedfordshire, England. In the other picture, John Giroux, one of the cadets, is being intrduced to Petty Officer Redmond, by Chief Petty Officer Lee of the Grove. Giroux is the son of F. H. Giroux, Toronto, and Cyril Giroux of Peterborough is an uncle, and Mrs. E. Riley is his aunt.

Lakefield United Church Members Honor Miss Elizabeth Brown

LAKEFIELD, May 26 (ENS) — About forty members of the congregation of Regent Street United church were entertained by Mrs. Frank Darling, her daughters Irene and Zelma on Friday evening, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Brown, whose wedding takes place this week.

The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers and silver bells.

During the evening Elizabeth was presented with a lovely walnut end table, and a table reflector, tokens of the esteem of the congregation.

Mrs. Dora McMillan conducted some interesting guessing games and Mrs. George Kelly led in a jolly sing-song.

The staff of the Associated Medical Services, Toronto entertained Miss Hazel Crawford at a personal shower last Thursday afternoon in honor of her approaching marriage to Pte. William Croft.

The Grove Cadets, attending St. John's Anglican church on Sunday in their naval uniforms, assisted with the morning service.

Mr. Hubert Elsdell, presided at the organ, and Philip Carr-Harris read the lesson.

Due to illness, the rector, Rev. S. A. R. Wood, was unable to be present and the service was conducted by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence of Apsley.

In honor of Victoria Day a special musical program as held, featuring patriotic songs.

Reeve Charles and Mrs. Tanner spent Saturday in Wilberforce, their daughter Margaret, of the Wilberforce High School staff, returning with them to Lakefield for the holiday.

Guests at the home of Mr. Percy Spence over the week-end were his two sons, Sam, his wife and son of Toronto, and Walter of Oshawa.

Miss Barbara Dench of Toronto spent the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Q. Dench.

Mr Tom Morrison who has been visting at Wilberforce, has returned to the village

Mr. Trevor Little, Toronto, is the guest of his parents for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Porter have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Church and Mr. Church at St. Thomas.

Guests at Cedar Lodge over the holiday were: Mrs. D. R. Agnew and her to daughters, Sybil and Patricia, of Kingston; Miss Beatrice Arnoldi of Toronto; and Misses Mildred and Jean Garbutt of Peterborough.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crawford on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Hilland Reid of Douro, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coons and Isobel of Lakefield.

More Pickerel Placed In Trent

TRENT RIVER, May 26—(ENS)— A second shipment of 1,000,000 pickerel fry brought from Deer Lake Hatchery was received and deposited in the river by the Trent River Fish and Game Association on Saturday. This brings to 2,000,000 the number of pickerel fry deposited so far this Spring. 25,000 maskinonge were also placed earlier in the month.

A large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook on Friday evening for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hutchin, nee Isobel Cook, whose marriage took place recently. The popular young couple were the recipients of many lovely and useful gifts. Cards and dancing were enjoyed and lunch was served.

Cottage thieves have been active in this resort of late and several summer homes broken into and robbed of clothes, food, etc. The robberies were not discovered until the owners arrived for the week-end. "Marilyn" cottage owned by Mr. Harold Cotton of Toronto, Mr. Ross Webb's cottage and Mr. and Mrs. Goodman's summer residence were among those entered and looted. In some cases entrance was gained by cutting the glass from the windows. Police are investigating.

Week-end and holiday visitors included Pte. A. Brown, A.C.O.G., and C.Q.M.S. Umphrey of Ottawa; F. Buttan of Toronto; J. Tyler of Trenton; H. Irnesdale of Christie Lake; Messrs. Herbert and Harold Carnrite, F. McLaughlin, P. Logan, K. Chaplin, R. Brownsell and Miss Clara Chaplin of Peterboro and Pte. Foy Wright of Kingston, all at their respective homes.

Despite the inclement weather large numbers of cottage owners took advantage of the holiday to visit their summer homes. Mrs. Knox of Toronto and Mrs. J. McQuigge of Havelock were at the former's cottage; Mrs. Leon Breen and son Fred of Smiths Falls, Mr. and Mrs. C. House and daughter Diane of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christie, Mrs. E. Pirie and daughter Marion, Mr. and Mrs. William Bryans, Mr. and Mrs. Apted, Mr. and Mrs. R. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Loughlan, Mr. and Mrs. Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Chase, all of Toronto; Mr. William Falkner of Ottawa; Dr. and Mrs. Coones of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Ross Webb and family of Toronto and Mrs. D. Greenly of Indian River; Mr. and Mrs. H. Jewett and Mr. and Mrs. J. Fraser and family of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. F. Care and daughter, Mrs. Booth and Mr. and Mrs. Art Boys of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stinson and friends of Toronto; Mrs. C. Hawley and Miss K. McNichol of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McNichol of Milton; Mr. George Heath and friend of Toronto, were among those visiting at their respective summer homes over the holiday.

Master Craig Brownsell was the guest of honor on Saturday afternoon last when a birthday party marking his 13th birthday was held at his home. There were 12 of his chums in attendance and games were played and lunch served.

Japs To Assist In Beet Fields

OTTAWA, May 26 — (CP).—Arrangements have been completed between the Dominion and Ontario Departments of Labor for transference of Japanese male labor to the beet areas of Ontario, it was announced by Labor Minister Mitchell.

He said in a statement that the principal objective in arranging the transfer is to ensure tha beet production will not be impaired due to inability of sugar beet farmers to obtain labor.

The Japanese who will be used are those who have already been evacuated from the Pacific Coast and established in road camps in Northern Ontario near Schreiber.

"It is considered more important that the beet crop be protected instead of proceeding with highway construction at this time," the statement said.

As soon as the work is completed in the sugar beet fields it is the intention that the Japanese will be used for other agricultural work where a shortage of labor develops. If such a shortage does not develop they will be returned to road camp work.

Mr. Mitchell expressed appreciation of the co-operation of Premier Hepburn and Labor Minister Peter Heenan of Ontario.

"Some objections have come from certain organizations," Mr. Mitchell said, "but it is considered that these will disappear when the situation is understood."

Bethany News

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis and babe Brien of Toronto were holiday week-end guests of their mother, Mrs. William Byers at their farm.

Miss Irene Fallis was with her mother, Mrs. R. Fallis. Neta and Charles Palmer, Peterborough, with their mother, Mrs. Reg. Palmer.

Norwood Cadet "At Home" Is Jolly Affair

NORWOOD, May 26— (ENS). — The annual Norwood High School Cadet 'At Home" was quite a success this year with the usual large attendance, and a splendid evening was enjoyed by all. Music was furnished by Jack Marshall's Orchestra of Peterborough. Principal S. S. Breckon and Miss Eileen Brillinger, B.A., of the staff, David Lemon, president of the Literary Society, Earl Hamblin representing the School Board, and Mrs. Hamblin, were the reception committee. Just before the close of the evening refreshments were served by committee of students. Later at a meeting $25.00, the net proceeds of the evening, was voted to the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross.

Empire Day was duly observed by the staff and students of Norwood High School on Friday afternoon. At three o'clock, the students and those invited to attend met in the Assembly Hall. David Lemon, president of the Literary Society, was in the chair, and opened the meeting with a brief explanation of the object of the Empire Day exercises. "O Canada" was sung, followed by the reading of the Minister of Education's message to the children, read by Marion Starke. A poem, "For All You Have and Are," was then given by Eileen Giffen, and another, "Dunkirk," by Isabel Shearer. The speaker for the afternoon was Rev. R. E. Lemon, who gave an appropriate talk on "Empire Day and Our Duty as Canadian Citizens." A special tribute

Buck it up right now and feel like a million!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headachy, backachy, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

For over 35 years thousands have won prompt relief from these miseries—with Fruit-a-tives. So can you now. Try Fruit-a-tives—you'll be simply delighted how quickly you'll feel like a new person, happy and well again. 25c, 50c.

THAT "dial tone," a steady hum, is the signal that the equipment is ready to receive a call. It corresponds to an operator's "Number, please?"

Usually the dial tone is heard almost instantly when the receiver is lifted. But if the central office equipment is carrying an abnormal load, there may be a few seconds' wait before it is heard.

When you dial before hearing the tone, you prevent the equipment from getting you your number. You may also prevent it from completing calls for other users.

Waiting for the dial tone helps the service to take care of everyone's calls.

Estal Crabtree To Manage Rochester Wings

By The Associated Press.

Estal Crabtree, the man doctors said would never play another ball game, is coming back to manage Rochester of the International League. He takes over Wednesday.

Crabtree, who held the job for a short time in 1940, takes over with the Red Wings deep in the cellar with a record of 12 victories and 25 defeats under the management of Tony Kaufman. Kaufman will remain with the St. Louis Cardinal syndicate as a scout.

Crabtree went to hospital with a kidney ailment about 18 months ago.

The lanky outfielder was given a utility berth by the St. Louis Cards last season.

Montreal split with Buffalo in a similar holiday program, the Royals edging out the Herd, 5-3, in the first and dropping the second, 7-3.

Baltimore had its fracas with the league-leading Newark Bears all but won until the New York Yankee farmhands broke loose with a seven-hit, seven-run final frame for a 12-7 verdict. Joe Krakauskas, recently sent down from Cleveland of the American League, started on the mound for the Orioles and lasted until the fourth.

Hugh Poland's looping single to centrefield, his third of the night, brought Jersey City Giants a 5-4 triumph in 10 innings over Syracuse Chiefs. The blow sent Gibby Brack across the plate with the deciding tally.

26 Horses Start In Five Races

NEW HAMBURG, Ont., May 26—(CP). — Jupiter Pluvius with his aquatic antics almost spoiled a perfectly good afternoon of racing at this town which marked the opening of the harness horse season in Western Ontario.

The track was heavy in at the rail at the start of the afternoon program, but with consistent work and the drying sun, the footing toward the end of the afternoon was not too bad, evidence of which is discernible by the fact that half-mile dashes were paced in 1:04¼ and 1:05.

The odd distance dashes took exceptionally well with the fans and once again New Hamburg marked down a triumphal march in harness racing annals. There were five different events consisting of two dashes each and every one of them was a contest all the way. The fields were not large and in addition to the condition of the track, the barrier method of starting was not in vogue, the horses being away in the old-fashioned manner of according and during the entire afternoon, there was only one event that scored three times, many of the dashes getting away the first time down.

Only one of the classes won in straight heats that being the 2:17 event which went to the redoubtable Winston Grattan from the Morrissey Stable, Crediton.

Savold Whips Nova In 8th

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP)—Lee Savold, the cocky Des Moines, Iowa, contender, stepped a long way up the heavyweight ladder by scoring a technical knockout over California's Lou Nova in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here last night.

Savold weighed 188½, Nova 200½.

Referee Charles Reynolds stopped the bout after eight rounds when Nova was bleeding badly from the eye and nose. Although Nova had bled since the second round, it wasn't until the fifth that he showed signs of weakening.

Nova protested vigorously when the verdict was awarded to Savold, claiming he was able to continue. His left eye was examined after the eighth, however and Reynolds ruled he would risk permanent injury by continuing the bout.

The California ex-Yogi man carried the bout to Savold with a furious assault in the opening frame, and continued to hold the advantage in the third, fourth and fifth largely because of superior boxing skill.

Savold, who needed this victory to gain a probable shot at Champion Joe Louis' crown, kept boring in—even when Nova had the upper hand at the infighting — and absorbed plenty of punishment before his straight rights to the face and hard lefts to the body sent Nova to the ropes repeatedly late in the fight.

On The Associated Press score card, each fighter was credited with four rounds, but Savold's damaging punches in the late heats decided the issue.

George Abrams pounded out a decision over Steve Mamakos in a ten-round middleweight scrap for a shot at Champion Tony Zale's title. Both Abrams, now a sailor at the Jacksonville, Fla. aviation base, and Mamakos weighed in at 162½ pounds. Both boys are Washingtonians.

NEW YORK, May 26.—(AP)—Major league clubs have been asked to change their starting time so the customers won't be leaving the park during the five o'clock rush; the Sally League president has suggested that seven-inning twilight games be made official so they can finish before lights are needed...This rings up one of our favorite questions—why not play the games faster?... The little red book shows the Giants and Phillies played nine innings in 51 minutes back in 1919 and by eliminating all the waste motions most games could be finished in less than an hour and a half instead of the two hours they generally require... That would send everybody home ahead of the mob.

Recent contributions towards more colorful sportwriting: "Elmer Riddle is as plain as an old shoe and as frank as an income tax collector." (Zipp Newman, Birmingham News) "Al Lingua is faster than a rumor in an old lady's home." (James R. Finnegan, Louisville Times).

A couple of days ago, Eddie Mead, who died yesterday, received a letter from Henry Armstrong asking what Eddie could do about getting him started on a comeback...Eddie firmly sent back word: Nothing... When asked for his autograph, Gil Dodd writes his name and the key to some passage in the Bible that has a reference to athletics. He has found about 60 of these passages.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

With the Peterborough Juveniles stacked up against the Adam Hat Royals the City Softball League will resume its regular schedule tomorrow night with a game at Ashburnham Bowl, starting at 7 o'clock sharp. The youngsters who were beaten by the Soldiers in their first start, expect to field a stronger team tomorrow night and predict that they will give Manager Parnell's League leaders a real tussle for the decision. From the Royals camp there has been no announcement of the pitching selection but it would occasion on surprise if Holmes, former Campbellford heaver, were to get the call against the Juveniles. After nearly a week's layoff the fans should welcome the resumption of hostilities and there should be a nice crowd out to se the Royals and youngsters entangle tomorrow night.

The Ladies' Softball League will complete its organization proceedings tonight and make final plans for opening the season. With the holiday out of the way the girls should be anxious to start campaigning and tonight's meeting at which final entries will be received will undoubtedly draw up at least the early part of the schedule and get the clubs under way. At present the roster looks like C.G.E., Brintons, Westclox and Porcelain with some chance of a fifth dark horse squad, made up of girls who are not attached to any of the other outfits and want a chance to play softball. While nothing definite on that point has been decided, it may be that the league may pass a rule in connection with the four clubs representing industries that the personnel of their teams be confined to girls who are employed in the plants. If that were done several girls now likely to be tied up with one of the other four clubs might be available for the dark horse entry. However, tonight's meeting will decide that point, as well as a number of others.

There has been a lot of baseball played in the big show since the last previous issue but not a great deal of change has occurred in the general picture. One club, the Detroit Tigers, has had a good run since Friday, climbing into third place but outside of that jump developments have produced little alteration in the standing. One feature of the week-end battles was the fact that Ted Williams of Boston came through with three home runs to climb well out in front of the circuit clouters of both leagues. Another was the appearance in the Boston lineup of Manager Joe Cronin, who went in at shortstop in place of the injured Pesky and came through with a homer to show that his batting eye has not been dimmed by his long sojourn on the bench. Buddy Hassett of the New York Yanks grabbed one of the hero roles yesterday as the world champs defeated Boston 3 to 1 in a pitching duel between Chandler and Hughson. Hassett batted in two of the New York trio of runs and scored the other himself.

Cleveland booted away a couple of games Sunday and lost considerable ground. The double loss was sustained at the hands of the St. Louis Browns and to make it worse the games were played right in front of the Cleveland fans who failed to enjoy the afternoon as Elden Auker and Denny Galehouse sewed up the Indian attack and the Brownies won 3 to 2 and 2 to 1. Incidentally the Brownies did all right by themselves again yesterday nosing out the Detroit Tigers 3 to 2. Muncrief did most of the pitching for the winners but the credit for the victory went to relief pitcher Caster, his second of the season.

In the National League Brooklyn finally snapped out of a short slump that had reached a total of three games to shutout New York Giants 6 to 0. It was a battle between the two veteran southpaws Larry French and Carl Hubbell and as the score shows French had all the better of the argument. The Bums found their batting eye again and slammed out a dozen hits including a homer by Dolph Camilli. And almost 50,000 New York fans saw them turn the trick. Meanwhile Frankie Frisch's wavering Pittsburg Pirates ruined Sunday afternoon for close to 17,000 enthusiasts by dropping both ends of a double-header to the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs won the first game 7 to 5 in ten innings and coasted home to take the second 11 to 4. Big Bill Lee and Passeau were the winning Chicago pitchers. Max West was a Boston hero yesterday. With one on in the 11th and the game with the New York Giants all even at 1-1 he sloughed a homer out of the park.

When Williams Started

Ken Colling has been digging into baseball history and comes up with the following: "Twenty years ago tomorrow baseball history was made insofar as Belleville was concerned. In the winter of 1921 Freddie Goyer had shaken the dust of Belleville diamonds from his shoes and moved to Guelph, after pitching the old Grand Trunks to a senior provincial ball title two seasons before. Good pitching had always dominated the C.O.B.L. and reports from Peterborough two decades ago told of Tris Speaker, then manager of the Cleveland Indians, sending a young righthander by the name of Al Heckman, to hurl for the Petes. The local baseball mentors were in a quandry until some person tipped Walt Gerow off regarding an Indian southpaw by the name of Jack Williams who hailed from Verona and the local management at once singed "The Chief." Twenty years ago (Victoria Day, 1922), Jack (Chief) Williams pitched his first C.O.B.L. game for Belleville. The game was played in Bowmanville and as the locals won 3 to 2, Williams nearly equalled the strike-out record of the league by whiffing 16 Bowmanville batters."

* * * * * *

"As far as we know Freddie Goyer holds the strike-out record for the C.O.B.L., whiffing 19 one fine summer afternoon in 1920 at Port Hope," continues the article. "Williams is next in line with 18, a feat he again accomplished in 1923 against the old Oshawa Generals. In 1924 Williams was signed by the Rochester Club of the International League and farmed to the Eastern League Bridgeport Club for seasoning. Williams spent about five years pitching around minor leagues before returning to Belleville in the early '30's to again revive interest in baseball along the Quinte shores. But getting back to that memorable game in Bowmanville when Williams really gladdened the hearts of Peeney Mills, Walt Gerow and company. "We've got another Goyer," Mills cried as Williams struck out his 18th victim in the rubber town."

Lee Savold said after last night's bout with Lou Nova that he wanted a fight with Joe Louis. If that really is his ambition it looks as if he would get his wish. At least his feat of defeating Nova by a technical knockout in eight rounds puts him right in the line of fire while at the same time it robs Nova of any chance of another battle with the Brown Bomber. The victory of the Des Moines lad was in the upset category. As round after round passed, it looked as if the officials were going to have themselves quite a time picking the winner and it must have been a relief to them when the opening up of a bad cut over Nova's eye paved the way for a technical knockout and the stopping of the bout at the end of the eighth. And now both Lou Nova and Bobby Pastor are both off the list of logical opponents for Louis.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: In a double-header on Sunday against Detroit, Chicago White Sox had 20 men left on bases and only scored two runs. That's something, but it's not hitting in the clutches....Yanks have won 14 out of their last 17 games....That's a real championship pace.... Doerr still tops both major leagues in batting but he has dropped out of the .400 class....Lee Handley has been optioned to the Toronto Leafs by the Pittsburg Pirates. He should be a big help to President Pete Campbell's club. Incidentally the Leafs did quite well by themselves yesterday winning two close games from the Rochester Red Wings....Paul Derringer of the Reds won his first victory of the season last night as his club defeated Pittsburg Pirates 6 to 1....Phil Marchildon was beaten 5 to 3 by Washington last night....Freddy Fitzsimmons has been given his unconditional release by the Brooklyn Dodgers. Time catches up with them all although Fat Freddy kept in front for many years..Estel Crabtree of the Cards has been released to the Cardinals' Rochester farm club and will manage the Red Wings....Kawartha Golf and Country had a successful opening for the season yesterday but the Peterborough Club was no so fortunate Saturday. Their official opening field day and dinner had to be called off because of the bad weather conditions.

Fitz Released By Dodgers After 17 Years

BROOKLYN, May 26—(AP). — Time finally caught up with Fred Fitzsimmons Monday as Brooklyn Dodgers handed him his unconditional release after 17 colorful years in the National League.

It was believed Fitz would be retained by the Dodgers as a coach and the club disclosed that the veteran pitcher would confer with President Larry MacPhail to-day about such a contract. The Dodgers have asked him to sign for $5,000 or $6,000 less than the $12,000 salary he was to have drawn for pitching.

The curtain really closed on the great-hearted Irishman in the third game of last year's world series when a savage liner by Marius Russo struck his left leg. Fitz had to leave the mound then, after hurling seven scoreless innings, and he was able to make only one start this season.

Fitzsimmons, who will be 41 years old in July, probably would have faded out of the league years ago except for an uncanny ability to baffle Pittsburg Pirates and Philadelphia Phils with his famous knuckleball.

The Giants thought he was through in 1937 when Bill Terry traded him to Brooklyn for a pitcher named Tom Baker. Fitz had spent a dozen years with the Giants, winning 20 games in 1928 and leading the league in percentage in 1930 when he won 19 against seven defeats. But in 1935 he won only four and lost eight and seemed to have reached the twilight of his career.

The Dodgers used him to good advantage in spots for a couple of seasons, and signed him as a combination player-coach for 1940. The veteran's reaction to this was to win 16 games against two defeats to set a National League record for winning percentage and last season the club decided he was too valuable a pitcher to carry any coaching burden.

However, Fitz was hurt in the Spring and the prowess of White Wyatt and Kirby Higbe reduced the need for his services to the point where pitcher only 83 innings, but still compiled a remarkable record of six victories against one loss.

He seemed always to be able to beat the Pirates and Phils. Pittsburg managed to surprise everybody by taking a game from him in May, 1939, but Fitz won five straight from the Bucs later in the season, six in 1940 and two last year without a recess.

Manager Leo Durocher sent him against the Pirates on May 1 and he was shelled off the mound at the start of the fourth inning. That proved the portly righthander was through and he never went to the mound again, although he was kept on the active list till the player limit fell due yesterday.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Curt Davis, Dodgers — Pitched two-hit shutout against Phils.

Buddy Hassett, Yankees—Accounted for all runs against Red Sox with single and triple.

Max West, Braves—Hit two-run homer in 11th inning to whip Giants.

Roy Cullenbine, Browns—Started winning rally against Tigers with single in ninth and scored on overthrow.

Sid Hudson, Senators—Helds Athletics in control as his mates battered Phil Marchildon for 5-3 triumph.

Paul Derringer, Reds—Pitched and batted his team to 6-1 verdict over Pirates.

Ring Foe Died

Several hours after a bout with Al Globe, ABOVE, John Marquez, 26-year-old ring veteran and one-time national welter champ, died. Marquez was kayoed in the eighth round of the bout with Globe in San Francisco.

Eddie Mead Drops Dead

NEW YORK, May 26 — (AP). — Large Eddie Mead, the huge round man who piloted Joe Lynch to one world boxing championship and Henry Armstrong to three, died yesterday. He was 49.

"Big-hearted Eddie" went out just as he would have liked, if he'd been asked. He took an early afternoon stroll along Broadway, gave the boys a "tip" on a winner in the first race at Belmont, then walked to his favorite barber shop. Coming out of there, he collapsed on a street corner.

Popular Everywhere

For a quarter of a century Mead had been a handler and manager of fighters, and an occasional fistic promoter, and one of the best-liked men in the business.

Although he had been ill, off and on, for a year, his pals along Broadway just couldn't believe it when the word got around of his death from his long-time heart ailment only an hour or so after he'd seen them. They remembered him as a "big fat kid" out of 10th Avenue. They recalled how he used to carry his father's lunch to the iron foundry on 34th Street where "Pop" worked, how he once ran a barber shop on 46th Street, and, finally, how he turned to the fight games as a manager some twenty-five years ago. They recalled, too, that he was "the kind of a guy who'd give his arm to a pal in a spot."

Through his early years, he handled such fighters as Andy Cheney, a featherweight from Baltimore, and Willie O'Connell, a pretty good bantam from the west side here. Then he had Lynch, who won the bantamweight championship from Pete Herman in 1920, lost it back to Herman in '21 and regained it from Johnny Buff a year later.

There came a long string of fighters after Lynch's career ended, and promotional ventures in various towns. In recent years, Mead tried the latter in Connecticut once and in Cleveland without success.

Opening Day At Kawartha Is Big Affair

The opening field day of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Empire Day afternoon was a most successful affair in spite of the fact that only the first nine holes of the course could be used. There was a large turnout of players for the mixed foursome that compromised the opening day event.

In the first flight of the mixed two ball foursome tournament J. Roberts and C. A. Low won the low gross. S. Whiddon and C. H. Crowe took the low net.

In the second flight J. Remington and Mrs. J. Watson took the low gross and H. Foster and Mrs. J. A. Deyell won the low net.

The foursome of J. Betts and J. Mercier, and T. Cooke and Adam Sands, Jr., drowned their cards in the pond on the ninth hole, hence no score card.

The scores for the day were as follows:

First Flight—Gross, H.C., Net.

Mrs. J. F. Reed and V. A. Selkirk—123-22—101.
Mrs. K. Smyllie and C. D. Osterland—114-16—98.
J. Watts and Mrs. H. R. Scott—97-17—80.
D. Price and Mrs. L. Browne—116-20—96.
V. Gallon and Mrs. A. Drynan—112-23—89.
Bill Brown and Mrs. G. Solmes—110-17—93.
H. M. Ryan and Miss R. McKee—115-22—93.
F. Dunfield and Mrs. C. G. Shaw—111-17—94.
J. A. Deyell and Mrs. V. Gallon—103-17—86.
B. I. Burgess and K. Wood—112-17—95.
S. Cauley and C. B. Muir—128-24—104.
J. Watson and H. R. Sills—113-15—98.
S. Whiddon and C. H. Crowe—91-12—89.
J. Roberts and C. A. Low—88-11—76.
R. McKimmie and G. Aherne—106-24—82.

Second Flight.

Miss M. Inch and H. Crowe—119-28—91.
Mrs. V. Selkirk and W. A. Browne—118-25—93.
W. Gibbons and Mrs. J. Watts—130-30—90.
H. Foster and Mrs. J. A. Deyell—111-26—85.
B. Jopling and Mrs. L. Robson—114-25—89.
J. Cameron and Mrs. H. R. Sills—137-36—101.
H. Hiseler and Miss M. Cox—129-29—100.
J. Remington and Mrs. J. Watson—108-33—75.
T. Cook and A. Sands, Jr. — no card.
A. Hickman and Mrs. W. Gibbons—126-27—99.
J. Betts and J. Mercier—no card.
H. Rutherford and R. M. Glover—no card.
H. MacGougan and A. Drynan—no card.

After golf a good crowd sat down to dinner served by the club steward J. Leeming. After dinner the evening was spent at dancing and cards. At eleven o'clock light refreshments were served. Dancing continued afterwards, and all agreed that the club opening day exceeded all expectations and was just a forerunner of better times to come. Club policy this year will extend to all members many more opportunities for mixed golf and mixed entertainment.

TORONTO DEFEATS ROCHESTER TWICE IN VICTORIA DAY GAMES

Errors Play Big Part In Both Home Games

TORONTO, May 26. — Victoria Day was Victory Day for Toronto Maple Leafs, who used Rochester Red Wings as stepping stones in a successful bid to regain a first-division spot in the International League standing. The Leafs came from behind with a thrilling eighth-inning rally to top the Wings 3-2 in a morning encounter yesterday before 5,358 paid admissions, and finished off a perfect baseball day by edging the visitors 4-3 before 5,381 arclight customers.

Long Johnny Gee and short Bill Brandt took turns in clipping the Wings, although both had to call on Harry Shuman for ninth-inning relief jobs. Gee held Rochester to three hits during eight innings of the daylight contest, but was troubled by wildness. Brandt yielded nine safeties in the floodlight test, departing when the last two came with none out in the ninth.

Errors played an important role in both games. A pair of miscues gave the Leafs all their runs in the morning tilt, while both teams grabbed two unearned counters in the night contest.

Seventh for Brandt

Brandt, in chalking up his seventh victory of the campaign again two defeats, was given a 3-0 lead by the fourth inning. Then with one out and Davis on first, Felderman dropped a high pop foul by Lillard. That worthy took advantage of the "life" and slapped a double off Bill Nagel's glove in deep left. Sam Narron poled the next pitch to the same sector, driving in both runs.

In the floodlight contest, with one run in, Ripple on first and none out, Shuman took over from Brandt. A great play by Eddie Leip converted Gene Lilliard's grounder near second into a double play. Then, after Robinson walked, Pinch-hitter Burnett hoisted to Wyrostek to end the game.

Two double plays were made behind Brandt, Rabe lining into both of them and Cooke being doubled off first both times. Rubeling, on a diving stab, and Brandt himself were the instigators of the twin killings.

Buddy Hasset Is Spark In New York Yanks' Win

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

There probably are some people with memories long enough to remember back to the time this spring when New York Yankees had a first base problem.

In fact the world champions have had a first base problem ever since Lou Gehrig stepped out of the lineup in 1939, but John Aloysius (Buddy) Hassett as provided a reasonably good solution in recent weeks.

When the Irishman replaced Ed Levy at first at the end of April he hit a homer in his first game and compiled a modest eight-game batting streak. Now he is loose on another string of five games and yesterday he provided for all New York's runs in a 3-1 victory over Boston Red Sox.

He singled two tallies across in the third and tripled in the sixth to romp home on a fly by Tom Henrich. Spud Chandler pitched seven-hit ball, stifling the Sox after the first inning.

This was New York's 14th triumph in 17 games and increased its American League lead to 3½ games as Cleveland Indians dropped a 5-1 decision to Chicago White Sox. Bill Dietrich pitched six-hit ball to outlast Chubby Dean on the mound. They came up to the ninth with the score tied and the Sox shoved over four quick runs to snatch the victory.

The game was played at Cleveland for the benefit of Army and Navy relief funds and netted $9,390 from 7,959 fans.

Tigers Beaten 3-2.

Another game for the same charities was played at St. Louis in twilight and raised $8,500 from 8,496 fans as the Browns beat Detroit Tigers 3-2. These two clubs also came up to the ninth in a deadlock, but Hal Newhouser threw the ball into left field trying to head off Roy Cullenbine at third in the final frame and with it threw away the game.

Curt Davis pitched Brooklyn to their second straight shuotu with a two-hit show that stopped Philadelphia Phils 3-0. All Brooklyn's runs against Frank Hoerst came in the second inning on a walk, a double by John Rizzo, a single by Dixie Walker and a triple by Mickey Owen.

Boston Braves held determinedly to second place in the National League by nosing out New York Giants 3-1 on Max West's two-run homer in the 11th inning. It was his first of the season and decided a tight pitching duel between Lefty Lou Tost of Boston and Bill Lohrman of the Giants. Each of whom allowed eigh hits.

Cubs Overpowered 10-2.

St Louis Cardinals shelled five Chicago pitchers for 13 hits to overpower the Cubs 10-2 while Ernie White kept eight hits scattered.

In a pair of night games, Cincinnati sent Pittsburg skidding into the second division of the National League for the first time this season and Washington Senators downed Philadelphia Athletics 5-3.

The Reds' 6-1 verdict was the first of the year for big Paul Derringer who also rapped out two hits in two official trips to the plate. The contest attracted 16,205 spectators to Crosley's Field first after-dark contest of the season.

Sid Hudson mastered Marchildon in the Philadelphia lantern affair although an error and a passed ball aided in producing a three-run Senator splurge in the eighth. Hudson was rescued by a fast double play in the same frame after the A's bunched five hits for all their runs.

Robbery In Brooklyn

Pete Reiser, Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, is shown sliding into pay dirt as he stole home in the sixth inning of the second game at Ebbets Field against the Cubs. The speedy ballhawk bolted from third base as Pitcher Schmitz, of the Cubs, started his wind-up to pitch to the batter and, as it is shown here, Mr. Reiser reached the plate before Catcher Hernandez could put the ball on him. The Dodgers continued on their winning streak by taking a twin bill from the Chicago Cubs 8 to 2 and 4 to 3. Umpire Dunn gives Reiser the good news.

Zivic Cuts Up Lew Jenkins

PITTSBURG, May 26 — (AP). — Former welterweight champion Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburg slashed ex-lightweight champion Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Texas, into a gory wreck last night, winning by a technical knockout when a Pennsylvania Boxing Commission doctor refused to allow the lean Texan to come out for the tenth and last round. Zivic weighed 144 Jenkins 138.

Jenkins' part of the purse was "frozen by a finance company's attachment writ seeking to collect a remainder of $500 it claimed was due on a flashy car bought in Newark, N.J.

In the battle with Ezzard, Burley, fighting lately out of Minneapolis, entered the ring a prohibitive favorite, but he never had a chance against the busy Cincinnati boy. Burley was dropped to one knee for a three count in the tenth from a sizzling right hook.

Charles subbed for former middleweight champion Ken Overlin, who was unable to get a Navy furlough. He hustled home after the battle to be graduated to-day.

The Commission physician acted after Zivic had carved Jenkins' face into a grotesque, bloody mask over nine full rounds of sharp, two-fisted punching. There were no actual knockdowns, but Jenkins lost his balance and spun to the canvas five time in the second, sixth, and the eighth rounds.

King's Plate Race Won Easily By Harry Giddings' Ten To Ace

TORONTO, May 26—Ten lengths on top going the first quarter, and still a generous ten lengths on top at the finish, Harry Giddings' Ten To Ace was every pound and every stride the "royal flush" horse of the eighty-third running of the historic King's Plate at the Woodbine Saturday afternoon.

It was a common gallop Plate triumph for the white-faced, chestnut son of Stand Pat before a crowd of more than 20,000 that challenged the worst Woodbine opening weather conditions in years to worship again at the shrine of King Horse and pay tribute to this eighth Plate-inning entry of Squire Giddings of Oakville.

Revelled in Mud, Water

Jockey Charlie Smith moved the sure-footed Ten To Ace into command soon after the magic starting gates were tossed open, built up a ten-length margin in the early furlongs and literally coasted through the mud and water to the smashing victory that had been predicted for him.

In closest pursuit in the field of six that followed far back of the royal flusher's withering pace was Cossack Post from Harry Hatch's table. Then came Depressor, North Swept, Valkyrian, Muckle and Jayeffdee in order named.

Ten To Ace wasn't the shortest priced Plate winner that pre-race quotations suggested. He paid off at 2.55 for a $2 win ticket, $2.50 for place and $2.40 for show. Back in 1934 when Horometer carried the silks of R. S. McLaughlin to victory in the Plate, that winner paid off at $2.10, $2.05 and $2.05. Harry Giddings was the trainer.

The Plate victory was worth $6,430 to the Giddings' establishment and ran Ten To Ace's winnings to $16,760

Although it was the eighth Plate winner he had saddled, the Saturday victory was the first for Harry Giddings as owner and trainer. Previous winners had been produced for owners who had trusted their candidates to his care.

Doesn't Like Visitors

In his barn at the eastern end of the track Ten To Ace cooled out with all the unruffled ease of Joe Louis after a heavyweight championship title bout breeze. He paused briefly during his walk around the barn enclosure to cast a "glim eye" at Jim Coleman, The Globe and Mail sports columnist who had "charted" the royal flush horse to win by two lengths.

"He recognizes you, Coleman, despite the cigar," we whispered.

"I don't think he likes your hat" answered Coleman.

Apparently he didn't.

On the second lap around the barn, Ten To Ace hesitated as he rounded the corner and passed us. Suddenly he lashed out with both hind feet.

"That's the tip-off," said Coleman. "It's time to leave. He doesn't like your hat, and I've an idea he's laughing at my chart."

So we left Ten To Ace to the two stable attendants and a wandering gent who looked as if he had gone six furlongs in the Woodbine water and mud himself. He was blowing harder than the royal flush pot collector.

Cossack Post, cooling out outside the next barn, didn't even look up as we passed him on the way back to the clubhouse. He looked as if he wanted to be alone, too.

Ring Veteran Dead

One of the best-known fighters in the ring in the early twenties, Charles (Chuck) Wiggins, playboy heavyweight, is dead in Indianapolis as a result of a skull fracture received in a stairway fall. Wiggins, 44, once was called by Jack Dempsey "the greatest street fighter that ever lived." Wiggins' ring career extended through the years 1919-28.

1940, or (b) an annual payment equal to the cost of the net debt services actually paid by the province during that fiscal year, not including contributions to sinking funds and less the revenue received from succession duties.

The following provinces chose the first alternative and the bill provides that they receive compensation as follows: British Columbia $12,048,367; Alberta $4,080,860; Manitoba $5,054,740; Ontario $28,964,039 and Quebec $20,586,074.

The other privinces chose the second alternative and will receive: Nova Scotia $2,585,308; New Brunswick $3,278,574; Prince Edward Island $264,769, and Saskatchewan $4,330,471.

Fiscal need subsidies, decided upon after study of minimum additional money certain provinces would require to enable them to stand on their own feet under existing conditions to the end of the war, are to be paid as follows:

Nova Scotia $325,769; New Brunswick $73,149; Prince Edward Island $437,174; Manitoba $600,000 and Saskatchewan, $1,500,000.

Making Up Gas Losses

Because of the great decrease in gasoline tax revenues to the provinces due to war-time restrictions, the federal treasury also agrees to make up to the provinces the amount by which their gasoline tax revenues fall below the following amounts:

Nova Scotia $2,853,363; New Brunswick $2,104,685; Prince Edward Island $307,901; Quebec $11,803,248; Ontario $26,608,290; Manitoba $2,678,148; Saskatchewan $3,397,279; Alberta $3,221,975 and British Columbia $3,763,625.

A companion bill provided for reinstatement, at the conclusion of the agreements with the provinces—one year after the war is over unless terminated by notice earlier—of the special subsidies paid the three maritime provinces as a result of awards made by the Duncan and White commissions some years ago.

As a result of the agreements these payments have been discontinued, along with similar payments to Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, for the duration of the agreements.

The special grants to the Maritimes were as follows: Nova Scotia $1,300,000, New Brunswick $900,000, Prince Edward Island $275,000.

Grants to other provinces, not made as the result of any commission award but by agreement pending a definite settlement, were as follows: Manitoba $750,000; Saskatchewan $1,500,000 and British Columbia $750,000.

Both bills were given third reading and sent to the senate which resumes sittings tonight.

Benefit to Brunswick

Mr. Hanson described the original proposal as "an encroachment on the heretofore existing taxation rights of the provinces," but said the agreement with New Brunswick would "be a benefit to the exchequer of that province."

He suggested that it would be a good thing if the exclusive income and corporation taxation rights now being taken by the dominion for duration of the war could be retained permanently.

Thomas Reid (Lib. New Westminster) suggested that the provinces were doing so well in the agreements that they would not want to go back after the war ended.

"The honorable member is an optimist," said Mr. Hanson. "My own view is that the more money these people get the more they want and the more they want to spend, especially if it comes as easy as it does when it comes from the Federal treasury."

Mr. Hanson said that some provinces "show not the slightest evidence of retrenchment in what must be peace-time expenditures."

New Brunswick, with but 500,000 people, had this year budgetted for "the highest sum in the history of the province—away over $10,000,000." He thought Nova Scotia was "just as bad."

New Democracy Leader Blackmore said it was known to all members that the time would come when the Dominion could not pay the interest on its fast-mounting debt and he asked what would be done then.

He added the disagreement with Mr. Hanson's observation on the extravagance of the provinces and said increasing demands for social services and facilities made it inevitable that provinces spend more and more.

After the House went into committee on the agreements bill Mr. Hanson, referring to the record high profits, income and corporation taxation revenue for the last fiscal year—an increase of $347,000,000 over the previous year—asked if the Minister thought he had reached the 'saturation point in that type of taxation.

"I would not like to say anything about that at this stage of the session," the Minister sad.

"There is no harm in flying a kite once in a while," Mr. Hanson observed.

Mr. Hanson suggested that the Federal government might do something about liquor imports and sale by taxation.

No Plans For Liquor Tax.

"I do not want to foreshadow anything because I have nothing in mind as likely to be done," Mr. Ilsley said.

When Mr. Ilsley told the committee that the government would be 'gravely' concerned if any province, after entering into this tax agreement, repudiated any of its contractual obligations, Mr. Hanson observed that he was speaking of the future.

The Conservative House leader commented on Alberta's repudiation of debt some years ago and observed "I should not like to think he is absolving them for the past."

"No," Mr. Ilsley said.

"And I should think that perhaps the Dominion ought to do something to try to have Alberta meet its contractual obligations," Mr. Hanson went on.

Mr. Blackmore asked "I would ask the leader of the Opposition what he would do?"

"I would pay my debts to the last dollar—I would be just before I would be generous," Mr. Hanson retorted.

Mr. Blackmore asked where the money would come from for a province that had not the wherewithal to pay.

Mr. Hanson questioned that and drew from Mr. Ilsley the statement that Alberta's surplus for the year ended March 31, 1941, was $4,875,000.

Mr. Blackmore said much of that had been used to retire provincial savings certificates and he challenged Mr. Hanson to a debate on Alberta.

"Will I hold the coats and the boxing gloves?" asked G. R. Boucher (Con. Carleton).

Coast Guard Units Keep Ceaseless Patrol Against Submarines

Units of the United States coast guard are playing an important part in protecting United Nations' shipping in American waters. Navy blimps work closely with the sturdy coast guard craft in the hunt for Axis submarines. A blimp and a coast guard cutter, LEFT, are shown scouring the waters for signs of an undersea craft. Even as the victim slides to the bottom, UPPER RIGHT, the U.S. coast guard circles about looking for the killer. The rescuing of survivors of torpedoed ships is a big part of the coast guard's work and survivors are pictured, LOWER RIGHT, waving joyfully as a cutter pulls alongside to remove them from their lifeboat.

The Italians were reported first to have informed Vichy May 18 that they wanted to discuss territorial claims, and then to have listed Italy's demands in a note delivered to Laval colaborationist chief of the Vichy government, during his week-end round of conferences in Paris.

Germany was declared to be taking the position that it was up to Italy to decide what she wanted to do and that there would be neither objections nor assistance from Berlin.

Tragedy Near Washago.

ORILLIA, Ont., May 26.—(CP).—Turbulent waters of the Black river at Wasdell's Falls, near Washago, were searched to-day for the bodies of two Toronto children and a man after four persons were drowned late yesterday when a motor boat was swept over the dam at the falls to the rocks 30 feet below.

The quadruple tragedy, Ontario's worst of the season, took the lives of Mrs. Maisie Fitzgerald, 34, her daughters—seven year old Joan Marie and Maureen Mae, four — and Glenn Franklin Lucas, 28. Lucas' wife, Doris, and Mrs. Fitzgerald's husband, Fred, were saved. Only Mrs. Fitzgerald's body was recovered.

"We are all alone," Mrs. Lucas told a telephone interviewer in faltering tones last night as she and Fitzgerald sat in the power house at the Falls, keeping lonely vigil until dragging operations started this morning.

"Mr. Fitzgerald has lost his entire family and I have lost my husband," she added. 'We were only married a year ago."

A faulty outboard motor, that failed to respond after the party sought to return to the cottage from the power house where they had been fishing caused the tragedy. The boat was swept into the current and through the open gates of the dam.

Mrs. Lucas clung to the upturned craft and was rescued by Johnny Dean, Toronto swimmer, while Fitzgerald was washed up on the shore of a small island.

"No one can realize what we went through," Mrs. Lucas told the interviewer. "We were spending the holiday at a cottage and the six of us had been fishing from the power house. When it was time to return to the cottage we got into the boat and pushed into the river, but the motor would not start.

"Mr. Fizgerald tried to steady the boat with the oars, but the rapids took us swiftly towards the dam and we plunged over. Mr. Fitzgerald was thrown clear of the boat, and I do not know how but I grabbed the rope on the end of the boat and worked my way along it until I got above water.

"I managed to climb on to the overturned boat and shouted to several fishermen along the shore that there were six of us. However, they could do nothing.

"I saw two persons float past me. One was a youngster but I do not know who the other one was."

Mrs. Lucas said that eventually she managed to climb on a corner of the boat and as it drifted toward shore she attempted to grasp some overhanging branches.

"I couldn't reach them and kept going down the river. I saw a log sticking out from shore and grabbed hold of it but had to let go. Then Johnny Dean jumped into the water and swung the boat toward the shore and two men carried me into the power house."

MAIN STREET TOPICS

SHARING.

A dog is man's best friend and should be treated as such, so dog lovers believe him. A couple came down George Street with a very fine collie and turned into a lunch-room for a snack. The dog sat there 1 side them, very patiently, but with pleading written all over its expressive eyes. When they finished, they ordered a bottle of milk and the animal had its reward, and how he did enjoy it.

FIRECRACKERS AGAIN.

Damage from firecrackers was very small this year, but according to Chief Gimblett there was some. At 1.24 a.m. Sunday an alarm was turned in by telephone from the store belonging to Miss J. Horsefield, 444 George Street. The awning had caught fire, it is believed from firecrackers and it was pretty badly burned. The damage will probably amount to $30. There was also a call received for a chimney fire on Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. Greenwood, 72 Park Street. There was no damage.

MASHERS ON THE JOB.

Girls who have been telephoning the Examiner Office complaining that mashers have been molesting them as they walked home alone in the evening should take the number of the cars, being driven by these roving romeos, and turn the number in to the police station. According to reports the crop of curb cruisers is particularly heavy this spring; and some imbued perhaps with the thought that they are heaven-sent answers to a maiden's prayer are not only making nuisances of themselves, but have been sarcastic and surly when a few spirited young women have put them in their place. The police will be glad to help you clip their wings, girls, and the telephone number of the police station is 3535.

NO HALF HOLIDAY

Owing to the fact that Monday was observed across Canada as Victoria Day there will be no Wednesday afternoon half holiday this week.

MOVED TO PETERBORO

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McInroy of West Huntingdon township, who recently moved to Peterborough, were presented with gifts by neighbors who assembled to bid them farewell and good wishes for the future.

REPORTED MISSING.

Friends in this city of Mrs. A. Sandercock, 687 George street, will be sorry to learn that her nephew, Sergeant Raymond W. Dreyer, R.C.A.F., was declared missing after air operations last week-end. Sergeant Dreyer was a native of Regina and he joined the R.C.A.F. in 1940. Part of his training was received in Toronto and he had been in England about a year. Before his embarkation he spent some time in Sydney, N.S and in peace time he was undergoing training for a chartered accountant. The airman was 21 years old and his next of kin is his mother in Regina. His father was killed suddenly about three weeks before he enlisted.

LARGE CROWDS.

When the train bearing the equipment for the Conklin Show arrived Sunday at the C.N.R. station, they had a royal reception A large crowd of men, women and children, of all ages, greeted them enthusiastically as the bright oraisge cars hove into sight. Even the rooftops on nearby buildings were used by grand-stand-seaters.

HEAVY RAIN.

Heavy rains over the week-end didn't help the appearance of the tulip beds in the parks. At least half of the lovely plans were lying flat on the ground where they had been bent from the force of the rain

MAYOR AT CONVENTION

Mayor Hamilton is in Ottawa today attending the convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors. One of the questions that will receive special attention is the war-time housing program as it affects a group of ten or twelve Ontario cities.

FOUR ARE FINED

Four citizens who celebrated the holiday week-end with something stronger than cold tea pleaded guilty in police court this morning to being drunk and were fined the usual $10 and costs, making the Victoria Day celebration a little more costly than usual.

LIVESTOCK SHOW DETAILS

Hogs shown at the livestock exhibition at Millbrook Saturday June 6 are to be judged on carcass basis at Canada Packers plant. In the market class entries should weigh not less than 190 pounds or more than 220. Jersey breeders finished their plans for the show at a meeting here Monday night. They also discussed details for their field day at the Reynolds farm in Smith next month.

500 Trainees Posted To The Rangers

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, May 26.—That Great War ditty "You're in the army now, you're not behind a plow" was appropriate here Thursday when approximately 500 young men from the Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines districts received their first taste of army life.

A Happy Crowd

Called up for home defence military training in Canada the youths appeared a trifle frightened with their new surroundings, but in all they were a happy crowd and by nightfall when they settled down in their bunks for their first night under a barrack's roof, they were a tired lot.

The trainess have been posted to the Prince of Wales Rangers for basic training, and Lieut.-Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., officer commanding, supervised the medical examination, documentation, and outfitting of the trainees here, the first time this has been undertaken at Niagara Camp in the present war.

After being "boarded" by army doctors the young men were detailed to the drill shed where an elaborate system was set up to admit the boys at one door as civilians and send them out the other door to the barracks equipped and ready for training.

Mobilized in March

The Prince of Wales Rangers mobilized at Peterborough in mid-March of this year has been stationed at Peterborough until a week ago when they were transferred to Niagara Camp for training and to be brought up to full strength by the trainees.

Col. Dewart said that the troops are quite pleased with their new camp surroundings and the hospitality they have received from the people of Niagara and the St. Catharines area. For many of the regular volunteers from the Peterborough area it is their first trip to this section of Ontario.

Second-in-command of the battalion is Major R. J. Bolton.

Brigadier-General G. E. McCuaig, C.M.G., D.S.O., camp commandant, reported today that approximately 500 men are in camp being organized as the staffs for the basic training camps which will be opened at Brampton and Orillia in mid-June. These instructors and administrative officers are under canvass.

Tents are being erected and the camp is beginning to assume a business-like appearance which will get into full swing this week-end with the arrival of the C.O.T.C. from McMaster University, Hamilton. Two weeks hence the first large contingent of troops for summer training will include C.O.T.C. from University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall, Governor - General's Horse Guards and the 2/10 Dragoons from Hamilton, Brantford and St. Catharines.

LT.-COL. D. J. LAWRIE — MAJOR A. H. MACDONALD — LT. ROY A. PHILLIPS

Lt.-Col. D. J. Lawrie, officer commanding the 4th Brigade, R.C.A., reports that reserve army recruiting for batteries in Cobourg, Lindsay and Peterborough is quite brisk and the batteries are filling up fast. Major A. H. Macdonald of Cobourg, now stationed at Peterborough, is adjutant of the regiment, and Lt. Roy A. Phillips, of Peterborough is assuming the duties of the acting commanding officer of the 4th Field Battery, Capt. W. H. Ackhurst, whenever the latter is unable to be on hand for parades. Recruits for the battery should come to the Armories on Monday or Wednesday evenings.

Two City Groups Make $96 For War Victims

With May 25 being observed as a holiday in celebration of the late Queen Victoria's birthday, there is really two reports for the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, combined in this day's report of receipts for the fund, and by coincidence, they largely concern two groups of ladies, one located in the north end, and the other in the south end.

The North End War Workers is a group of ladies, who throughout the winter months, met regularly once a week in Queen Elizabeth School, to make quilts, or any other form of work which would raise money to help along the war effort, starting in a small way, with meetings in the homes of the various workers. In this manner they made a nice sum of money, from which $45 was voted to this fund, and appears in today's list of receipts per Mrs. C. C. Doughty and Mrs. E. H. Brown.

The south end group was initiated by two good neighbors, Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. W. Townsley of 58 and 60 Ware street, less than six months ago, and with a steadiness born of a real desire to help the people of Britain, this group has already made six donations to the fund, which with the $41 listed in their name today, has made a total of $167 they have so far handed in to the fund as a splendid result of their efforts to date.

This particular donation was made possible through the group sponsoring the sale of tickets for a draw on a pair of pillow slips, hand embroidered by Mrs. L. Gray, which was made at the regular meeting of the group last Thursday, when a euchre party given by Mrs. R. Mathews, and Mrs. A. Williams was held at their home on Ware street in aid of the fund. Little Dorothy Kitchen made the draw, which resulted in ticket No. 201 being the winner, which was held by Mrs. D. C. Todd, of 165 Perry street. This group is continuing its excellent work on behalf of the fund, and will again be heard from in the near future.

One nice personal donation of $10 was given "In memory of Barbara" and speaking in a personal way, the secretary of the fund cannot visualize any finer way fo honoring the memory of lost ones, than by rendering help to those who are living and in need.

Rev. R. M. Patterson, fund representative at Omemee, sends in a box collection amounting to $2.35 at the Supertest Service Station in that place, per the proprietor, W. Kingsboro.

Brinton Total Now $563

The Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Ltd. employes maintain the splendid lead they have given in making the 44th donation to the fund in an amount of $10.50, which brings their total to date up to $563, mostly all of which represents personal help, since it is the result of a collection taken on each pay day to help the people of Britain.

Crash In Tunnel Injures Woman

Following a Sunday accident in the Lift Lock tunnel, James Buchan, 586 Young street, was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning with dangerous driving.

Buchan, who was defended by John A. Bradshaw, pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until Thursday, when Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., announced that the Crown was not ready to proceed today.

The accident out of which the charge originated happened on Sunday afternoon and a woman was injured.

Buchan drove east along Hunter street down the Lift Lock Hill and his car collided in the tunnel with a westbound automobile driven by J. Hall, 137 Dublin street.

Robert Martin, one of five passengers in Buchan's car, jumped from the machine 50 feet west of the western entrance to the tunnel and rolled down the embankment at the side of the road. He was not hurt. The other four passengers, R. G. Dorrell, Pradette Avenue; Maurice LaFave, Braidwood Avenue; Eric Pilling, King street, and Joseph King, Braidwood Ave., and the driver escaped uninjured.

Passengers in Hall's car were his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quinton, 137 Dublin street. Mrs. Quinton sustained a bruised knee and was the only casualty.

The fronts of both machines were damaged by the impact.

GIVEN PROMOTION

Lower Back Pains

Pain and distress across the lower part of the back and hips may be the result of a strained condition of the lumbar or sacro-illiac joints. There will be tightness and stiffness of muscles, lack of freedom of movements of the joints and marked irritation of nerves.

JARS, SLIPS, TWISTS AND STRAINS

all play a part in the development of these discomforts and it is a proven fact that manipulative treatments have been beneficial in bringing comfort to many sufferers.

CHEX Is Heard In Halifax

Local boys, wherever they may be all welcome news from home, John W. Carveth, wireless operator on a merchant marine stationed in Halifax last week wrote home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carveth, Lakefield, that he had heard CHEX.

They are only allowed to use a commercial receiver set when they are in port and the chief engineer lent his to John Carveth while he went ashore.

"About 10 p.m. I was fooling around the dial, when I heard the word Peterborough and it came in very clearly. I heard the Red Cross and Community Fund broadcast on Sunday evening and tonight the station sounds clearer than ever. It certainly gives me a boost to hear news from my home town," he said.

Spoke To King In Denmark Fifty Years Ago

The program "All For Norway" which broadcast a message from the King of Norway, recently brought back childhood memories to George Dinesen, Carlisle Avenue, of the time about 59 years ago when he first heard that voice, speaking not in English, but in the King's original language, Danish.

At that time he lived in the city of Aslborg, Denmark, which is an important seaport and which often has ships of the Danish Navy there. One day the corvett, Dagmar, arrived and the rumour spread fast that Prince Carl, the second son of the Crown Prince, was aboard. The fathers of the town got together and decided to throw a party.

"Since I was very young there was some question about my being allowed to attend, but it was finally decided to take me on my promise to behave. As I sat there, I saw the Prince dancing with one of the girls who lived near us and I gathered enough courage to run out on the floor. After a few minutes he noticed me and asked "Are you not going to dance my little friend?" Horrified I turned and ran back to my parents, after stuttering out an answer.

"This same Prince Carl later married Queen Maud, daughter of King Edward VII, and is now King Haakon VII of Norway."

HOW YOU CAN GET

A $100 LOAN

AT HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $9.46 A MONTH

No endorsers or guarantors required

WOULD a cash loan help you? If you have a job, you can borrow at Household Finance without fuss or bother—and at reasonable cost. You may repay your loan in monthly instalments which fit your own pocketbook.

Just this to do

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay.

You may choose the most convenient payment plan from the table below. Suppose you borrow $100 to be repaid at $9.46 a month. Twelve instalments of $9.46 each will repay your loan in full. You may prefer to repay sooner in order to reduce the cost. Six monthly instalments of $17.85 each—a total of $107.10—will also repay a $100 loan. The cost of your loan, in this case, is just $7.10. A $25 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $4.46 each costs only $1.76.

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household—just the ability to repay in monthly instalments, This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit.

Household Finance loans are usually made on furniture or car. But we consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. You can get your loan quickly—usually in 24 hours or even sooner if necessary. If you should get sick or lose your position while paying on your loan, Household will show you every consideration.

Let Household help you

People borrow at Household to pay taxes, insurance, medical, dental, hospital and funeral expenses, school fees, and overdue bills of many kinds. Household service helps men and women, both married and single, to take care of emergency expenses and work their way out of debt.

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. We are in business to make loans to folks with money problems. Phone or visit us without obligation.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

The Story.—Bill Talcott is about to return to New York after six years on a Dutch West Indian island as branch manager for an American chemical firm, to face charges of shortage in his accounts. Bill confronts the auditor who accuses him, charges that he is being framed by someone higher up. The auditor remains in charge of the plant while Bill prepares to depart with Halsey, who was to have been his successor; MacDowell, a private detective; June Paterson, cousin of Bill's former roommate, and two refugees, Martha Swenson and Prof. Constantine, who have been landed on the island by a villainous smuggler named Jackson. MacDowell, though hired by the auditor, urges Bill to refuse extradition. But Bill prefers to go back and face the boss.

BILL BRACES UP

CHAPTER XII

He saw her again, later in the morning, talking in low, earnest tones to Halsey and he presumed it was about MacDowell. How much of their conversation she had overheard he could not tell; he hoped it wasn't too much. He was doubly glad he had informed Halsey he was ready to return to New York. In that way, MacDowell wouldn't be hurt.

Dark-eyed, dark-haired Martha Swenson stayed close to the terrace, alternately reading and napping. The tension seemed to have missed her completely, or if she realized it she was too well bred to give a sign. There had been little opportunity to talk with her; Halsey had acted as spokesman and apparently she accepted the prima facie evidence that either Halsey or Struthers were in charge.

As for the Professor; he was off some place, poking around. Well, let him be. Anthropologically or otherwise, there was plenty to study on Abas Island.

There was packing to do. In such a way does man shut the door of the past and enter the high road of the future. Strange, how little he had gathered about him in six years. Bits of coral, books, pipes; articles of clothing that soon would be useless; a riding crop made of a shark's spine; a voodoo mask. In the way of personal possessions, there wasn't much. Not much, even, of memories. A hurricane, a few sunsets, a few long, lazy swims in the jade green sea. A respectable bank account in Saint Thomas; "I suppose they'll attach that, if they haven't already," he told himself bitterly.

Halsey came in when Talcott was snapping the lock of his trunk. Halsey's manner was businesslike and brusque and eye-avoiding. "The supply boat arrives at noon?" he asked stiffly.

"Uusually."

"Do you think they can accommodate us?"

"I'll be very much surprised if they can't."

Halsey nodded and went out. That was Halsey; he represented business, and while he might be secretly sorry for Bill Talcott, there was nothing he could do about it. Halsey represented Old Man Winters, and if the Old Man told him that Saint Peter was short in his accounts, he would hammer at the pearly gates until he got an accounting.

Well, Halsey hadn't asked any advice. He'd merely asked for and received a definite answer. This was his one day of management. Let him for this day make his own decisions. And then let him unmake them when he got a look at the supply boat.

Talcott had gone to the terrace when Struthers showed up, looking for Halsey. Struthers was carrying a bulky envelope whose purpose was too plain to be ignored; his precious "evidence" manufactured out of full fabric. "Halsey went off with Miss Paterson," Bill Talcott said in neither civility nor disrespect.

Struthers scowled, hesitated. "I understand MacDowell was attempting some advice," he said.

"I thought it was customary for an officer of the law to inform the prisoner of his rights," Talcott retorted.

Martha Swenson had been dozing in a chair and the auditor's arrival had awakened her. Her puzzled eyes turned to Bill Talcott. "Prisoner?" she asked in her husky, disturbing voice. "Who is the prisoner? This I do not understand."

"I'm the lucky guy," he answered cheerfully. "And I don't understand it either, which makes us even."

"Ah, a poleetical prisoner," she said with understanding which showed that she didn't understand at all.

Bill Talcott let it go at that. He didn't much care what sort of prisoner this charming, dark-eyed girl thought him to be; having come from a country where they routed you out of bed and poured you into concentration camp because of the way you parted your hair, it probably seemed normal enough to her. He had gone far past worrying what people thought. His flippancy was covering a hurt, a deeper wound than he cared to admit. For Struthers' words showed that June Paterson was carring tales.

The supply boat came in at a little before one, and Bill Talcott, standing at the side of a mound of baggage, chuckled inwardly. Not many had come down to see them off; just Sebastien and black Tomas and the houseboy Sam. The rest were lolling in comfortable shade far from the sweltering pier. There had been no announcements of his going; it was better that way. It was only because Sam had told Sebastien and the foreman, in his turn, had related the news to Tomas that even they were there. They were keeping thir eyes studiously downcast, and there was some kind of present concealed beneath Sebastien's bandaged arm. Fervently Bil Talcott wished it was over.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

Halsey's dismay was ludicrous. "Is this the boat?" he demanded, as the scummy, square-sailed sloop came alongside.

"This is it," Talcott nodded.

June Paterson's nose sought an even higher altitude. "I'm certainly not going to ride in that," she announced as she inspected the assortment of cattle, goats, chickens, and piles of fruit on its deck. "Good heavens."

"Oh, they can find room," Talcot murmured. "It's amazing what these fellows can do."

She turned her head to stare at him. "Perhaps you don't mind riding with pigs," she said icily. "But I most certainly do."

"You don't have to ride with the pigs. We could probably bunk you in with a nice cow—"

Halsey came over. "This isn't funny," he snapped. "I might have suspected. This is an awful turn of affairs. The mailboat won't be back in time. And this is out of the question."

The black captain to whom cargo was cargo and passengers were passengers regardless of the number of legs they had, put in an oar. "What de matter dis boat, baas?" he demanded.

"You certainly don't expect two ladies to ride in that mess, do you?" Halsey glared.

"Dey ride in de mess or de don't ride," the captain announced flatly; "Dis boat don't get unloaded till Tortola dock, Saint Thomas."

June Paterson tap-tapped around the baggage, came face to face with Bill Talcott, thrust out a belligerent chin, said, "I've a sneaking suspicion you're at the bottom of this. If it's a sample of the Talcott humor, I'm not having any."

The smile stayed on Bill Talcott's lips but the mirth was gone from his eyes. "I rather thought you couldn't take it. Matter of fact, I don't see why Halsey doesn't use the company launch. I usually do."

The mounting red in Halsey's face was reward enough, and suddenly Bill Talcott felt like himself again. He'd been kicked around just a little too long; abruptly he stiffened and tersely said, "Sebastien, get the launch ready. You're taking us. Tomas, you're the boss of the men until Sebastien comes back. And if buckra Struthers tries to start anything, slap him down."

FAREWELL TO ABAS.

CHAPTER XIII.

Bill Talcott's change of manner had one immediate if unforeseen effect. It scared the daylights out of Professor Constantine.

Apparently Martha Swenson had said something to Professor about Bill Talcott's being a "poleetical" prisoner, and he had studiously remained out of the way. But as a member of the group assembled on the pier, he couldn't very well avoid Talcott, and when orders crackled from the deposed boss's lips he acted as if he expected knives and blackjacks to appear in an encore of his entry to Abas Island. When the launch came alongside, the Professor was first aboard, stowing himself as far forward as the confines of space would allow. And there he barricaded himself with luggage, muttering and munching pills.

June Paterson, unpredictable creature, also suffered an abrupt transformation. Came down from her high horse, lowered her nose and chin, inspected Bill Talcott with a new light in her wide grey-blue eyes. It made him uncomfortable, because each time he happened to glance in her direction she would blush and glance hastily away. This was a new problem; vaguely he wished she would keep on acting as a spoiled brat because the way he knew, or thought he did, how to handle her.

Martha Swenson's attitude had changed, too. Because she knew he was in trouble of some kind her sympathies were aroused. There was a new glow of warmth in her dark eyes and by accident or design he found her nearer to him; heard her low, disturbing voice directed to him more frequently. The change was startling, and he discovered it was a change he rather liked.

Struthers didn't come down to see them off. Another conference with Halsey and transfer of the precious envelope had wound him up. The last time Talcott saw him he was headed for the office. Even Halsey had overheard him confiding to June Paterson that sometimes people took themselves entirely too seriously.

To Talcott himself, Halsey had nothing to say. Plainly embarrassed he was over the way in which his handling of the transportation problem had turned out. Once in the lanuch he sat by June Paterson and maintained glum silence with a study of fleeting nimbus clouds.

MacDowell had nothing to say either. Apparently angry at Bill Talcott for refusing his advice, he wedged himself near the stern and kept solemn aloofness. There were plenty of problems other than Talcott to bother him. Already, as Sebastien turned the roomy craft toward dark water, MacDowell's ears were assuming an unbecoming shade of green.

Only black Tomas remained on the pier to watch them go. The big native was proudly erect, accepting his new responsibility with greatest dignity. As the churning wake widened the distance between them Bill Talcott realized suddenly that he was not going away, that in truth he had never really been there. Physically yes. His body had existed on Abas Island. He had followed a routine, had worked, produced, eaten, slept, and sometimes played. But he had never truly been a part of Abas.

He had brought his own world with him, his customs, traditions, thoughts and inhibitions. That world he had never left behind; had worn it all the while as a suit of armor. Of Abas he had never been and could never be a part. He and his kind could come here for a hundred or a thousand years, but Abas would always beyong to the men of whom huge patient, childlike Tomas was a symbolic figure.

The great brassy ball of the sun dropped into the sea. Brief twilight and then the moon, which had been high in the heavens since 3 o'clock, took on ghostly radiance Low clouds moved swiftly in the brisk northeast trades.

Under the expert hand of Sebastien the sturdy launch ate up the miles in quiet, vibrationless performance. "What time will we get in?" Halsey asked Bill Talcott in his first direct approach since quitting the pier.

'I'd say at 4 o'clock or six!'

"Four! Will we be able to get hotel accommodations?"

"I dont know. At worst, we can pass the few remaining hours in the launch."

June Paterson had lighted a cigaret and behind its glowing tip her eyes smoldered. "You don't seem to worry much about the comfort of your guests," she murmured in another abrupt shift to flippancy.

"In any event we can't land until we've had permission from the harbormaster," Talcott answered patiently. "Well have to clear immigration. Just what luck we'll strike arousing anybody, I don't know."

Halsey grumbled, "Don't see why we can't tie up and go to a hotel. The authorities can wait until morning."

Talcott couldn't resist it. "Do you think Struthers would approve?"

"Damn Struthers! I know that I for one am hungry, tired and uncomfortable. I wish to heaven we'd thought to bring sandwiches!"

A lump in the stern bestirred itself. "Food!' MacDowell groaned. "Don't nobody mention that word again!"

June Paterson laughed easily. As swift and unpredictable as the wind her mood was off on another track. I" remember" she said softly "when I was a very little girl. We lived in the central part of New York State and in the fall we would always go on picnics. Uncle Jack, Lowell's father, had a big farm and there was a huge woodlot with a wonderful brook meandering through it. We used to ramble through the woods, gathering butternuts and chestnuts to roast over the fire Uncle Jack and daddy had built on a slope of rock by the brook.

"One day Lowell and I decided that we wanted to go swimming and the brook was much too shallow. So while mother and Aunt Ida and my sisters and cousins were laying out the food on blankets, and daddy and Uncle Jack and the other men were smoking their pipes and talking about the county fair and harness racing and crops, Lowell and I built a dam. There was a narrow place where the brook had worn through soft rock and we chucked it full of stones and plugged the leaks with sod and leaves. We worked like beavers and everybody was so busy they didn't take any notice of us.

"All of a sudden we heard a lot of yells and daddy and Uncle Jack came running. Our dam was so successful the brook had made a pond and the potato salad and sandwiches were floating around and the fire was out. And that was the end of the picnic."

Halsey and Martha Swenson joined in her laughter, and even the Professor seemed to think it funny enough to venture a chuckle. But Bill Talcott was silent. Her recital had caused a wave of nostalgia to sweep over him He remembered Lowell's farm; remembered the woods and the brook and the butternut trees. But through all this memory, stirred by an evident offer of truce on the girl's part, lingered the shadow that she had been spying while he and MacDowell talked.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 26 (CP)—Spec Simpson, Vancouver jockey, has joined the army. For the record he's the boy whose first mount was his first winner, running from the post position in the first race of the first day of racing. If this is his first war, it practically is over now.

Break up Yanofsky

This department hasn't enough fingers to keep Abie Yanofsky's Chess record up to date, but in the 25 days of the Canadian tour he started last month he played 287 matches, won 256, lost eight and drew 21. The matches were mass affairs, because Abe can take on ordinary players by brigades or divisions. Four of his eight losses were in Montreal.

One of the more notable typographical errors of the last few weeks was description of a certain blond lefthander as a "two-headed southpaw." We assume "tow-headed" as meant. Jersey City could have used a two-headed pitcher the day Toronto stole six bases in one one inning but otherwise one-headed ones manage fairly successfully.

Campfire League

Bertrand, Wes Waddell and J. Hosler of Ottawa found an abandoned set of false teeth on a log near a Lake during a recent fishing trip...surely the beef shortage isn't that bad.

Seriously Ill

John Barrymore, veteran film star, is reportedly fighting for his life in a Hollywood hospital after being stricken by a complexity of ailments.

Dudley Leads Golf Field

ATLANTIC CITY, May 26 (AP)—With Ed Dudley, their president, striding out in front the members of the Professional Golfers Association go into the second and deciding half of their qualifying test at the Sea View Country Club today.

Big Ed, 40 and slow moving but still possessing the form that once caused England's Henry Cotton to label him the "smoothest swinger in golf," shot a fine 66 yesterday to lead all his young men at the end of the first 18. It was six strokes under par.

But that was only half way, and decided nothing. The payoff 18 is scheduled today. The 31 low scorers who are to join defending champion Vic Ghezzi in the match play starting tomorrow still have to win their places. Inasmuch as 29 players shot par 72 or better yesterday, it looks as if a 36-hole total of no higher than 145 will be needed.

Before Dudley came in near the last of the 101 entrants, the first day's leadership had been shared by three players at 67—Sammy Byrd, Harry Cooper and Cpl. Jim Turnesa.

Willie Goggin had a 68. Byron Nelson, the tournament favorite; Gene Sarazen, playing his 22nd P.G.A. championship, and Clarke Morse of Wellston, Mo., each owned a 69. Ben Hogan, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison Jimmie Thomson Craig Wood, Leland Gibson and Bill Barbour were deadlocked at 70. There were seven more at 71 and eight at 72.

Gets Knotter's Badge

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26 (ENS)—A Knotter's Badge was awarded one member of the local Boy Scout Troop here on Friday evening by Acting Scout Master Jack Connor. The award marked the first of this type to be made locally to any of the present troop and it went to Norman Lofchy. The Troop was divided into to patrols for the summer, and these will be known as the Fox and the Owl with Norman Lofchy and Grant MacColl as Patrol Leaders with Geno Pace and J. M. Benor as seconds.

Lawn Bowling

Playing under ideal weather conditions, close to one hundred members of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club took part in the opening event of the 1942 season—and while at the moment we are not sure, we believe it to be an all-time record, or very close to it.

In a brief speech President Fred H. Dearborn welcomed all on behalf of the organization, and said it was particularly gratifying to see so many new members. He hoped that all would come out and bowl as often as they could, and he felt sure they would all feel better for having joined up with the bowling club. He referred to the loss to the club by death of J. T. Braund, and in memory of him he asked that all bow their heads in silence for two minutes.

Vice-president R. F. Downey also spoke a few words of welcome to the gathering.

Considering the excessive rainfall for the last week or so, the greens were in good condition, and everything points to a good season.

To-night we carry on with the annual President - Vice-President competition. This draw appeared in last Thursday's issue of The Examiner.

On Thursday evening we begin our men's schedule, and just so that there will be no misunderstanding we will print the draw for that date:

Thursday, May 28.

R. Burns	G. Coleman, Sr.
G. Coleman, Jr.	B. Chesler
R. F Downey	H Freeman
G. Gimblett	R. Hendry
J. Harrison	W. Jeffries
Dr. Long	T. McMillan
R. Payne	C. Renaud
N. Routley	E. Sackville
E. Wall	C. Williamson

Winners.

Mrs. R. French, A. Black, Mrs. L. Bearne, O. McGill, skip—2 wins plus 34 points, each War Savings Stamps

Mrs. C. Fulford, F. Reed, Mrs. J. Baird, R. Burns skip—2 wins plus 28 points, each War Savings Stamps.

Roseneath Boys Whip Hastings

HASTINGS, May 26.—(ENS)—Blasting two Hastings pitchers for 13 hits the Roseneath power boys inaugurated the local softball season by defeating the Tannery 24 to 7 here Monday night.

The local diamond was in excellent shape for the opener and although base hits and errors were a dime a dozen a goodly number of fans enjoyed the game.

O'Connell on the mound for Roseneath didn't allow a hit until the fifth inning when Jim Duff started the ball rolling with a single. Singles by Thompson, Brinklow and Calberry were good for three runs.

Roseneath scored in every frame but the second and seventh. "Curly" Scriver on the mound for the home squad, chalked up 12 strikeouts before being replaced by Wilson in the sixth.

Mike Smith, lead-off man for the visitors, counted four of their hits good for four runs.

The line ups were:

Roseneath: M. Smith, 2b, p; Covert, 3b; E. Radley, ss; H. O'Connell, p; S. Thackeray, c; J. Paicey, 1b; I. Thackeray, lf; B. Halsetad, cf; K. Sherwin, rf.

Hastings: A. Thompson, ss; J. Brinklow, 1b; L. Scriver, 2b; Y. Calberry, c; G. Scriver, p; R. Scriver, 3b; McCracken, lf; J. Wilson, cf; J. Duff, rf.

Army Band And Guest Artists Give Fine Concert

A splendid musical festival was presented on Monday evening in the local Salvation Army Temple by the Young People's Band of the Peterborough Corps under the leadership of Band Leader James R. Victor, assisted by the talented young Oshawa pianist, Fenwick Watkins, A.T.C.M., and the Kitchener Salvation Army Instrumental Quartette, a talented group who have played here before.

The Young People's Band is composed of young Salvationists, the oldest being only 15 years old. It was evident by the excellent rendition of their numbers that they had spent many hours of practising, and the leader and the boys are to be congratulated on such a fine performance.

Major Watkins, of Oshawa, father of the guest pianist, and Adjutant Norman Buckley shared the chairmanship of the meeting. Peggie Parnell of the Singing Company added to the enjoyment of the program with a soprano solo, "Salvation Lassie of Mine," in which she was accompanied by Mrs. A. Ben Smith.

Numbers by the Boys' Band were as follows: "Shout Salvation," "Waves of Peace," and "Brave and True." A quartette composed of Sheldon Richardson, Dean Read, Reginald Victor and Reginald Jones played "Abide With Me." The Young People's Band leader from Oshawa, Fred Watkins, led the band in its closing number, the hymn tune "Beethoven."

The numbers by Fenwick Watkins were "Prelude in F. Major," "Ballade in G. Minor," and "Prelude in G Minor," by Chopin, and two marches, "Steadily Forward March," and Mighty to Save," also the "Rokoczy March" by Liszt.

The Kitcher Quartette played "Gems from Britain," and "Joyful Strains," and "Entreaty." Solo number by the members included a Euphonium solo by Bandsman Tillsley, "Kind Words," two fine cornet solos by Bandmaster Gallagher, "I Love Him Better Every Day," and "Rule Britannia." There was also a cornet and euphonium solo. All these numbers were accompanied by Bandsman Dockery.

Personal Shower

Mrs. Richard Earle was hostess at a personal shower Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Charles J. McIlwain, a bride of last week. Bethany W.M.S.

The regular meeting of the W.M.S. of Bethany United Church was held at the home of Mrs. T. Jackson, Wednesday, May 20, with nine ladies present. After the devotional exercises based on the theme, "The Church, the House of Faith," the roll call was responded to, with a verse of scripture beginning with "E". Then Mrs. Jackson discussed a chapter of the study book "Cities of Refuge." She told of how the missionary compound became a refuge for many women and girls. During a period of civil war in China, as many as eleven hundred had crowded around the church for safety, at one time. Another interesting story was told of the conversion of Mrs. Chang and of how the ancestral tablets in her home were replaced by verses of scripture.

Profit-Aitken Nuptials Pretty Montreal Ceremony

The marriage of Margaret Cheyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Aitken, of Westmount, Quebec, to Mr. Arthur Roslyn Profit of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Profit of Peterborough, took place on Saturday afternoon in the Church of the Advent, Westmount, with Rev. Syndenham B. Lindsay officiating. Mr. Gordon Phillips played the wedding music.

White lilacs were used as decorations in the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pale blue crepe buttoned from the neck to the hem of the skirt in front, and trimmed with tiny self-covered buttons. She wore a pale pink straw hat with flowers on the front and a short pink veil, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Miss Kathryn Reid of Washington, D.C., who was the bride's only attendant, wore a frock of pale pink crepe with a surplice bodice and a pleated skirt, and a pink flowered hat. She carried sweet-peas and iris. Mr. Bertram Day was best man and the ushers were Mr. R. Gordon Aitken and Mr. Charles O. Aitken of Granby, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Aitken, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue and white printed crepe with a navy blue hat and accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. The reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, where spring flowers were used to decorate. Later Mr. and Mrs. Profit left on their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a frock of navy blue and white printed crepe with a navy blue and white off-the-face hat and navy accessories. They will spend the summer at Center Island.

Visit From Sailor

Plenty of people get letters in answer to notes in sailors' ditty bags, but everyone is not so lucky as the Peterborough Girl Guides. A note in one of their ditty bags drew two letters of thanks from a Danish sailor, Hans Jorgenson; but that's not all. On Saturday afternoon Hans turned up at the home of Mrs. R. Whalon on Homewood avenue. He had landed in a Canadian port and been given 25 days' leave and had come to spend the week-end with the people who had sent the ditty bag, not knowing anyone else in Canada.

Recent Bride Honored

Mrs. William Givens, formerly Helen Weston, was entertained at a delightful miscellaneous shower on Friday evening. Mrs. H. Dewdney was hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. Irwin and Mrs. G. Whatley. The bride received many lovely gifts which were presented in a basket decorated in pink and white by Miss Dorothy Dewdney. Among the gifts was a quilt made by Phyllis McLennan, Jean and Doris Johnson, Margaret Lowe, Thelma Hall and Mildred Chase. Those present were: Mrs. W. Weston, mother of the bride; Mrs. F. Buckley, Mrs. G. Johnston, Mrs. H. Weston, Mrs. H. Pilling, Betty and Helen Kent, and Emily Chalupka.

McIlwain—English

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral on Saturday, May 23, when Margaret English, second daughter of of Mr. and Mrs. Michael English, was united in marriage to Pte. Charles J. McIlwain, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McIlwain. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, looking lovely in a street-length dress of powder blue with matching hat and white accessories and wore a corsage of American beauty roses. Miss Kathleen English attended her sister, wearing a redingote gown of beige and rust with matching acessories and a corsage of talisman roses. Mr. Gerald Dyrun attended the groom. Rev. Father Finn performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass. Miss Marion Best presided at the organ and Mrs. Donato Campanaro sang an "Ave Maria," and other appropriate hymns

Lakefield Girl Wed In Toronto

LAKEFIELD, May 26—(ENS). — The marriage of Hazel May Crawford, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cecil Crawford, Lakefield, to William Buelle Kerr Croft, Sheddon, Ontario, R.C.A.S.C., was quietly solemnized on Saturday morning at St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Toronto.

Canon F. J. Sawers, cousin of the bride officiated for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by Charles Minty, was charming in an ensemble of aqua blue sheer wool with white fox trim, beige hat and beige and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of roses, sweet peas and lily of the valley.

The bride's attendants were her aunt, Miss Gladys Shewin, and Miss Elizabeth Twist.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Minty, Vaughan Road, Toronto.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Lakefield and Barrie. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

SPOON CORN BREAD

(Contributed by Pearl Cavendish)

One cup yellow corn-meal, 2 cups water, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon dripping, 2 eggs. Mix the water with the corn-meal and bring slowly to the boiling point. Cook 5 minutes stirring. Add milk, dripping, salt and milk, beaten eggs. Beat very well and bak in well-greased baking dish for 25 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr. Serve from same dish with spoon. An oval or round oven-proof dish is best for baking spoon corn bread, as it can be taken directly to table.

Junior Aux. Of St. George's Holds Pretty Tea

A delightful tea was held on Friday afternoon in the basement of St. George's Anglican Church by the members of the Junior Auxiliary. The room was prettily decorated with lilacs, tulips, pansies and honeysuckle. Mrs. T. H. Floyd, superintendent, welcome the guests. Mrs. J. Henley poured tea and the junior members served their guests at individual tables. Also assisting were: Mrs. W. Farr, Mrs. E. Adkinson, Mrs. William Parks and Mrs. C. Cole. The home baking table was in charge of Mrs. W. Firth. The following program was much enjoyed:

Vocal solos, "Nymphs and Shepherds" and "There'll Always Be An England" by Leonard Cooper, accompanied by Mrs. E. Adkinson; violin solo, "Country Garden," by Joyce Wilson, accompanied by Gloria Wilson; piano selection, Gloria Wilson; piano selection Pat Nixon; guitar solo Shirley Watkiss; and several hymn choruses by the members of the Junior Auxiliary Mrs. Adkinson, accompanist.

Babes and Mothers Enjoy Gala Cradle Roll Tea

The inclement weather had no effect on the attendance to the Cradle Roll Tea at St. Paul's church Friday afternoon, when some 200 parents and young children, ranging in age from seven weeks upwards, attended a gala affair given by the superintendent, Mrs. Robert Ross.

The guests were received by Mrs. R. Ross, Mrs. J. D. Smart and Mrs. Savigny, in the guild room, made springlike by mauve lilacs and gaudy tulips.

Mrs. Wesley Brown and Mrs. W. L. Ferguson were in charge of registration while Mrs. Hagerman and Mrs. Hinds entertained the tiny tots.

After a social half hour all withdrew to the tea room, which was a fairyland of spring flowers. Dr. J. D. Smart offered a thanksgiving prayer.

Tea was poured by Miss Laura Davidson and Mrs. D. T. Diplock from a lace covered table, centred with spring flowers in a silver basket. Mrs. Manson Comstock was in charge here, assisted by Mrs. Monk; Mrs. Mel. McKee and a bevy of young girls.

Miss Lena Eakins was in charge of decorations.

The program was as follows:—vocal duet, Sandra Maciver and Jean Smith, accompanist, Shela Smith; piano solo Joan Carley; vocal trio, Ann Lancaster, Bubbles Mitchell, Mary Eleanor Smart accompanest, Mrs. L. R. Mitchell; piano solo, Barbara Craig; vocal solo, Bubbles Mitchell, accompanied by her mother.

Each child received a parting remembrance by Mrs. Robert Ross, and another milestone in the successful career of the capable and energetic superintendent passed into history.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, May 27

Unusual activity with much profitable, productive and progressive effort of expansive and enduring scope is augured from the interesting chain of benign planetary aspects. It may be a time for working hard for many rich fulfillments and objectives, although in some places there may be want of either private or public co-operation. However, influential friends are at hand, probably in large corporations or political bodies.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of much profit, pleasure and joy of achieved ambitions and objectives whether they be private, professional, business or financial. All are under highly expansive and fruitful influences, although certain public or private collaboration may be withheld. But personal prestige, ingenuity and efforts should find fruition.

A child born on this day may be assured of a progressive, prosperous, happy and serviceable life, which should reward its worthy ambitions and unusual abilities.

Is YOUR JOB a constant strain?

"AIRMEN'S LIVES depend on my work—so I can't afford dull, headachy, 'don't care' days. I keep fit this way: No nasty doses! I watch my habits, get plenty of 'bulk' into my diet by eating crisp, delicious Kellogg's Bran Flakes every day in the year. They taste so good you want them anyway, and they sure help to keep you in top form!"

SHE KEEPS ORDERS MOVING—Long, tiring hours at the typewriter, not much exercise, yet she keeps well! A bowl of crunchy Kellogg's Bran Flakes starts every morning right for her.

NO NEED FOR "DON'T CARE" DAYS!

An indoor life, especially if it's the tense, exacting kind, often results in spells of dull, headachy depression . . . that "heavy" feeling. If this happens to you, watch your habits, for these symptoms often mean incomplete elimination. But shun harsh cathartics, nasty doses! Instead, start every morning with a bowl of nut-brown Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat. They are so crisp, so out-and-out delicious, you'll gladly eat them every day! Buy the golden-yellow package from your grocer. It comes in two convenient sizes.

Take these two steps to health:

1. To get well, see your doctor.
2. To keep well, watch your habits.

For a keen mind, a healthy body, guard against incomplete elimination. But avoid harsh cathartics too. Get enough "bulk" in your diet, and get it in a form so delicious you'll want to make it a daily habit. Join the happy thousands who stay fit the Kellogg's Bran Flakes way. Gently laxative, Kellogg's Bran Flakes help supply valuable minerals and proteins too. When you eat in restaurants, ask for the individual package with the inner, WAXTITE, sealed bag. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

KEEP FIT WITH KELLOGG'S every day in the year!

See Price Limit To Shut Third Of Stores In U.S.

CHICAGO, May 26—Retail food dealers all over the country are still too confused by problems of price-freezing to indulge in long-range forecasting. Judging from the experience of the past few days, however, these may be some of the effects of Government controls on food distribution:

1. Before the war ends, as many as one-third of the 560,000 stores retailing food products in this country may be closed.

2. Chain stores and independent merchants will be about equally affected. Those who had hoped the emergency might help to bring a decision in the long struggle between the "independents" and the "chains" will be disappointed.

3. So-called marginal retailers, accustomed to buying supplies from hand-to-mouth, may not be as the hand-to-mouth, may not be as hard hit at the start by price ceilings as the larger operators.

4. In the long run, the greatest problem will be getting goods to sell. Food retailers who survive the emergency will do so by maintaining sales volume on limited profit margins. If they can't do that, they will be forced out of business.

The small grocer whose capital has been insufficient to permit him to purchase goods for speculative purposes or to hedge with inventories, now seems to be more favorably situated than his larger competitor who may be caught with high-priced goods which must be sold at a loss. The small dealer who has bought from week to week and has followed wholesale price increases, can continue to operate with a fair margin of profit—as long as goods are available — since the wholesaler's prices have also been frozen at March maximums.

Larger food stores, which have been selling out of inventories purchased months ago at lower prices, face severe hardship when they replace these stocks, perhaps at wholesale rates higher than present retail ceilings. Unless the retailers thus affected can get relief through an appeal to the O.P.A., they will face bankruptcy.

"It seems to be a question of how much money we can afford to lose," one Chicago retailer said. "Our retail prices on canned tuna, peanut butter, pineapple, canned meats and some vegetables are below replacement costs."

Because the price order treats all store units individually, chain stores appeal to have few relative advantages over the independent operators. Chief point in the former's favor is his larger available capital, which may help him weather the storm until adjustments can be made.

However, with curtailment in the use of autos, the independent service stores, with established delivery routes, may be more favorably situated than the super-markets designed to accommodate auto-borne customers.

DOROTHY DIX

GIRL TOLD NOT TO LET MAN BADGER HER INTO MARRIAGE
He Threatens Suicide If She Refuses Him; Would Make Life Miserable

Dear Miss Dix.—I have been going with a man off and on for two and a half years. He is 31 and I am 19. He is crazily in love with me. Spends all he makes on giving me good times. Never goes with any other girl. I enjoy being with him, but he is so jealous that he simply has a fit if I have a date with any other boy. The trouble with me is that I am sure of his love for me, but I don't know whether I love him.

He has ben pleading with me and begging me to marry him for the last year, but it seems that there is something that whispers to me and tells me not to do it; but when I hesitate he threatens to commit suicide. Says if I don't marry him he has nothing to live for and he might as well end all of his worries and troubles. If he should do this, people might blame me for it and I might lose all my friends.

I have a job that I would lose if I married, so my Boy Friend suggests that we be married secretly and says that I could still work for a year if I wanted to before we told it. But things will get out, no matter how you try to hide them, and somehow I have never favored a secret marriage. I could have plenty of dates with other boys if it wasn't for this man, but if I should break with him there is no telling what he might do to himself, and I wouldn't want anything to happen to him like that. What do you think I should do?—Worried Girl.

Answer.—Evidently you are not in love with the man and you should break off with him before you let him badger you into a marriage that will bring no happiness to either one of you. You should do this in justice to him as well as yourself, because no man is in a more unfortunate position than the one who has a wife who merely tolerates him and who brings to marriage none of the deep affection and tenderness that a husband has a right to expect from his wife.

Would Make Life Miserable

And if this mean is jealous now of any attention that you receive from other boys, think what he would be after you were married to him and he found out, as he would be bound to do, that he really did not possess your heart, that you merely liked instead of loved him. He would make your life a hell on earth with his suspicions and reproaches, and you would not dare even so much as speak to an old school mate ,or show any interest in your brother.

Don't marry any man for pity and because he makes himself romantically miserable before you. Lots of girls make that mistake and when it is too late they find out that they can't keep on being sorry for a man who weeps on their shoulders. They have a contempt for him and think that he should have had enough backbone and grit to have borne a disappointment without whining all over the place ,and that especially he should not have been willing to sacrifice them to his unrequited passion.

Don't let him frighten you into marrying him with his threats of suicide. Call his bluff. He won't do it. Your refused to marry him won't even make him miss a meal. And don't marry secretly. It slimes a marriage over, for nobody ever believes in a belated marriage certificate.

You have a good job. My earnest advice to you is to hang on to it and wait for somebody to come along whom you want to carry as much as he wants to marry you.

Is It Because She's a Blonde?

Dear Miss Dix.—I am secretary to a fine man who is married to a woman to whom he is very devoted. He is always telling me how wonderful his wife is and I am sure there is no other woman on earth so far as he is concerned, and I greatly admire him for this.

Now our relations are asbolutely and entirely that of employer and employee, but there have been times when I have had lunch with him when there was business to talk over; and when I have had to work until late in the evening he has driven me home. Nothing could have been more innocent, but some trouble-maker has gotten the wife all stirred up about it and the poor man is being nagged to death about it.

Why can't wives have enough sense to see that to the great majority of business men their secretaries are just an office convenience? Nothing more.—Blondie.

Answer.—Maybe it is because you are a blonde, and wives seem to be sold on the belief that no man can resist yellow hair. Possibly if you would get a black wig you could set the poor lady's mind at rest and save Friend Husband from being further nagged.

Of course, there are some predatory ladies in offices, but likewise there are a lot of husband-stealers in parlors and they are to be found even among wives' best friends. Also there are philandering men who pick out their secretaries for their figures, not for their spelling. But these dangers to married life exist everywhere, and unless wives put blinders on their husbands, or re-

was paid to the men in the Navy, both of the Royal and merchant marine services, and special mention was made of their tremendous work in making posible the working of this great Empire. A solo by Mrs. K. Tedford, "The White Cliffs of Dover" was much enjoyed, followed by two poems "British Freedom" by Betty Wright and "The F[illegible]" by Tom Parker. Mr. Fennell, B.A., gave a comprehensive outline [illegible] reign of Queen Victoria, followed by several patriotic songs sung by the pupils and led by Miss E. Brillinger, B.A.

At the final meeting of the season the Young People of the Norwood United Church, with a few invited friends, held a weiner roast at the Rock Quarry. Around the camp fire a sing-song was led by Gordon Fennell, and weiners were roasted and enjoyed along with the traditional rolls, etc., and bottles of pop. A good time was reported by all, although a shower of rain brought the evening to an early close. The minister, Rev. M. I. Robinson, conducted a short devotional period at the close.

SUGAR RATION Now 1/2 LB. PER WEEK PER PERSON

Since sugar rationing was first introduced, the shipping situation has become more serious. The danger to ships and lives has increased. Consequently it has now become necessary to reduce the sugar ration from 3/4 lb. to 1/2 lb. per week per person. Only persons in areas remote from source of supply are permitted to have more than two weeks' supply on hand at any time.

SUGAR FOR PRESERVING

Special provision is made for additional quantities of sugar for home preserving and canning.

In addition to your ration, you may purchase 1/2 lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit that you preserve or can, and 3/4 lb. of sugar for every pound of fruit made into jam or jelly.

Every person who buys sugar for canning or preserving is required to keep an accurate record of the sugar purchased for this purpose. If any sugar remains after canning and preserving, it shall form part of the regular ration of 1/2 lb. per person per week.

Loyal Canadians will be glad of this new opportunity to do their part to ensure Victory.

THINK! BEFORE YOU USE SO MUCH

BEGINNING AT ONCE TEA AND COFFEE ARE RATIONED

Ships and lives must be conserved

To bring tea from Ceylon and India, to bring coffee from South America, ships must cross oceans infested with submarines. Today those ships and their naval escorts are required for more essential services. Every ship, every foot of cargo space, is needed to carry war materials, and to bring essential goods to Canada.

So Canadians must now reduce their consumption of tea and coffee. You must reduce your normal consumption of tea by at least a half. You must reduce your normal consumption of coffee by at least one fourth. These reductions are absolutely necessary.

TEA CONSUMPTION
MUST BE CUT AT LEAST IN HALF

COFFEE CONSUMPTION
MUST BE CUT AT LEAST ONE FOURTH

THIS IS THE LAW

You must not buy more than 2 weeks' supply of tea or coffee for yourself and household in any one week.

You must not make further purchases of tea or coffee at any time when you have two weeks' supply on hand at the reduced ration. (Exception: those in areas remote from supply.)

Retailers have the right to limit or refuse customers' orders if they suspect the law is not being kept.

Retailers must not have on hand more than one month's supply of tea and coffee, whether packaged or bulk.

There are heavy penalties for violations of this law.

IN MEMORIAM

MORROW.—In loving memory of my father, Mr. Fred Morrow, who died three years ago today, May 26, 1939.

We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.
—Missed by Leona, Jack and Patsy.

HOULIHAN.—In loving memory of Mrs. Frank Houlihan, who died May 25, 1941.

Time speeds on, one year has passed
Since death, its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
Her vacant place there's none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we will meet again.
—Ever remembered by Husband.

tire with them to Eveless Edens as soon as they are married, they are bound to be exposed to temptation.

In reality, the jealousy of wives over their husbands' secretaries is mainly wasted emotion and groundless fears. The average business office is no love nest. It is a work shop. The average business men reserves his sentimental dalliance, like he does his drinking, for after business hours. His mind is concentrated on the pursuit of the lady on the dollar, not glamour girls, and he is too busy, too driven, too worried to spend a thought on whether Miss Pothooks is pretty or ugly, whether she is sympathetic or hard as nails.

All that he is interested in is the kind of work she turns out. The first time most business men ever take a second glance at their secretaries or regard them as personalities is when their wives ask them why they had to get such good-lookers, or they begin to drop into the offices at odd times and give other manifestations of jealousy.

Nor, on the other hand, does the average secretary have any designs on her employer. He may look like a Prince Charming to his wife, but to Miss Pothooks he is just a fat, stodgy man getting bald, and instead of envying his wife she is sorry for her, and thanks Heaven she doesn't have to stand his irritation and fault-finding but for part of the day, instead of having a lifetime of it.

Credit Union League Meet In Toronto

The second annual meeting of the Ontario Credit Union League took place in Toronto on Monday, attended by delegates from all over the province, representing a large percentage of the 93 Credit Unions now formed in the province of Ontario and bound together by the League established last year in Hamilton.

Speakers during the meeting were Controller Saunders representing the Mayor of Toronto, officially welcoming the convention, G. F. Perkin, Inspector of Credit Unions for the Province of Ontario, E. O'Mara of the Economics Division of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, and a representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The field representative of the Credit Union National Association, John Colby, addressed the convention in the afternoon and made the important announcement that the C.U.N.A. now has deposited the sum of $100,000 with the Federal Government, making it, the Credit Union National Association of Madison, Wisconsin, a legally constituted insurance corporation able to do business in the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. O'Mara of the Economics Division at Ottawa presented figures showing the astonishing growth of Credit Unions in the Dominion since 1935 when there were 277 Unions with 52,045 members and assets of $10,173,997. At the end of 1941 there were 1,316 Credit Unions with a membership of 238,463 with total assets of $31,280,813. Loans to the amount of $126,898,678 were made to the members of these Credit Unions since inception.

A. E. Borland, secretary-treasurer and A. B. Burrows, president of the Peterborough Credit Union were delegates to the convention. Mr. Burrows also attended the Board of Directors' meeting on Sunday, May 24th and was re-elected for a further term of three years on the Ontario League directorship, at the annual meeting on Monday.

Learn Dress Designing With Home Study Course

Diagrams Show Each Step

There are wonderful new opportunities for girls today in many fields of endeavor. Perhaps you love clothes. You may dream of being a dress designer. And you can teach yourself—at home—the steps in transforming a bright, new idea into a dress.

You might start by sketching your idea, using a cardboard figure as guide; then you make a foundation pattern—a piece of muslin you drape on a form.

For the blouse, pin the centre of the muslin to centre front of the dress form, allowing 4 inches above the neckline, and pin also along shoulder and under arm. Snip off excess muslin—cutting along the centre, too, for you work on only half the figure.

Now on this foundation pattern work out your special design with colored thread and pins. As you learn the lines that flatter the figure, you create wearable, salable styles!

Our new 24-page instruction book describes step by step, with clear diagrams, how to sketch, drape and draft your pattern. Explains principles of design, how to combine colors, fabrics.

For your copy of "Dress Designing Self-Taught" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of instruction book.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T MISS THAT GAME

WHEN YOUR pair is using an opening two-bid of a suit to guarantee enough strength to make game, you should never allow the deal to be played at less than a game contract unless your opponents afford you an opportunity for a business double which will penalize them more points than a game is worth. If you keep the bidding open the first time with 2-No Trumps, and your partner then bids three of either the same or another suit, you must keep it open the second time, with either a biddable suit, a preference for one of his suits or, lacking any of these, with 3-No Trumps, and you still are further obligated if after that he bids four in a minor suit, as you must never let it end below game, unless you do not like games.

North: ♠ Q 6 4 2 ♥ 9 4 ♦ 9 3 ♣ J 10 7 5 3

West: ♠ K 10 7 ♥ 10 6 5 2 ♦ J 6 ♣ Q 9 6 4

East: ♠ J 9 8 3 ♥ 8 7 ♦ Q 10 8 5 ♣ K 8 2

South: ♠ A 5 ♥ A K Q J 3 ♦ A K 7 4 2 ♣ A

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
2 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	4 ♥

That bidding is what should have occurred on this hand, but what actually happened is that North, after keeping the bidding open with 2-No Trumps, passed South's 3-Diamonds and, as a consequence, a sure game went to seed.

South thereupon gave a very fine exhibition of a man driven almost crazy. "Didn't you hear me make a forcing bid of 2-Hearts?" he asked.

"Certainly I did," answered North, "and I kept it open with 2-No Trumps."

"Yes, but then after I bid 3-Diamonds, you passed."

"Well, you didn't force me again, as your 3-Diamond was a minimum bid over my 2-No Trumps."

That is exactly the kind of absurd logic used by more players than you can shake a stick at. They seem not to realize that the original bidder still holds the same hand on which he said, with his first bid, "I can make game in my own hand, but am a bit in doubt as to what is the best declaration. I know that your hand is rotten, because I hold practically all of the high cards in the deck. Your distribution is all I care about, and I want to know which declaration of mine best fits your distribution. If you have any high cards at all, then think of a slam."

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ K J 8 5 3 ♥ 7 ♦ K J 2 ♣ 8 6 5 3

West: ♠ A ♥ 9 8 6 4 3 ♦ Q 8 3 ♣ K Q J 4

East: ♠ Q 10 9 6 4 ♥ None ♦ 9 7 6 5 ♣ 10 9 7 2

South: ♠ 7 2 ♥ A K Q J 10 5 2 ♦ A 10 4 ♣ A

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

If West opens this deal with 1-Heart, how would you in the South plan to show your hand?

Chivalry Not Dead

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 23 — (AP). — Dorothy Spinks, Frankie Self and Mildred Stancil find it difficult at times to do their work as attendants at a Birmingham gasoline service station, Southern chivalry frequently asserts itself and male customers jump from their cars, grab an oil can or air hose with: "Here lady (or honey or babe or Toots) I'll do that."

Sunday School Rally Is Held In Grace Church, Millbrook

MILLBROOK, May 26—(ENS).—Discussions that will bear fruit in improved methods of teaching and of carrying on the Sunday Schools of the district, an atmosphere strongly spiritual in its impressiveness and addresses that were of practical value, featured the 53rd annual convention of the Ontario Regigious Education Council for the townships of Cavan and Monaghan held in Grace Presbyterian church on Thursday afternoon and evening, with Rev. E. R. McLean, of Toronto, general secretary of the O.R.E.C., as the guest speaker.

Rev. M. Rowland, of Fraserville, led in the opening worship service at 2.30 p.m., Mrs. Harold Hubbeard presiding at the organ, and immediately following, "What Good is the Sunday School?" was the theme taken up by Rev. W. E. Honey of Cavan, under the general idea of diagnosing a sick patient (the school), with the "specialist," Rev. E. R. McLean, later suggesting methods of cure. A Blackboard was used to jot down the "symptoms", under "Why Don't People go to Sunday School?" and "Why Do They Go?"

"Christian Education Advance" was the theme of Mr. McLean's talk, following Rev. A. L. Sisco's "Going Out Into the Highways," when the Master's parable of the wedding feast was likened to the "feast of gospel good news ready in the Sunday School," invitation and even compulsion, in a unified effort being suggested as the means of providing guests for the rich and abundant meal already prepared. Since the things of the spirit are the only things that endure, we build on the solid foundation of Jesus Christ through seeking to influence other lives by means of home visitation through the home department; through personal fellowship; through a local survey to find out who are not in the church or school; through providing transportation; fill the car when you go to Sunday School or church, bringing the children and older folk out of the highways to the services."

Round Table Conference

A round table conference fixed the main points in the workers' minds, and Mr. McLean, in 'Counter Offensive' made it clear that "If we are to have a new world order after the war, we must start to build it now." For this purpose the Christian Education Advance was planned, beginning in the United States with over 40 denominations participating and now in Canada with the Anglican, Presbyterian, Baptist, United, Evangelical and Disciples' churches acting in unison. The object is to have the church contact every person in every home. "In the years between 1931-41, the Public School enrollment decreased 5 per cent., but in that same period, the Sunday School enrollment decreased by 15 per cent; "so we must think in terms of persons, of spiritual commitment, and not in terms of denominationalism, but of community betterment."

General business, conducted by the president, W. F. Fallis, included the appointment of a nominating committee, Melville Johnston, Rev. W. E. Honey and Rev. A. L. Sisco; the treasurer's report, which showed $10.87 in receipts, expenses of $1.46, balance on hand, $9.41. To clear up a misunderstanding, Mr. McLean said all collections from Mother's Day services should be remitted to the township treasurer, who will, in turn, remit to the head office in Toronto the published report later on showing receipts by counties.

It was decided, on motion, to send a letter of sympathy to the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge, who was unable to be present owing to her husband being seriously ill in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, following an accident resulting in severe burns. Heads of departments made their reports, and the tea hour was enjoyed in the basement with the Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. S. Pritchard president, serving a substantial meal.

During the supper hour, Miss E. Taylor, representing the Mission to Sailors was given permission to speak briefly, presenting the fine work being accomplished in the 75 years the Upper Canada Tract Society has been giving the gospel to the 15,000 sailors on the Great Lakes boats.

Officers Installed

The evening session was featured by the worship service led by Rev. Edgar Russell, the installation of officers by Rev. W. E. Honey, following the adoption of the report of the nominating committee, the list begin: Past president, W. F. Fallis; president, R. A. Sutton, Cavan; vice-president, Jos. Burns, Millbrook; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. Matchett, Cavan; secretaries: girls' work, Eleanor Sharpe, Ida; boys' works: Oakley Carley, Cavan; children, Gladys Coyte, Millbrook; missionary, Mrs. Norman Thompson, Bailieboro; temperance, R. Matchett and G. Robinson, Cavan; leadership training, E. L. Hetherington, Millbrook; adult, Russell Farre, Fairmount; home department, Mrs. G. T. Hsield, Mt. Pleasant; young people, Gerald Anderson, Centreville.

An innovation was the skit: "Back from the Convention", purporting to show what lessons had been learned from the annual gathering, those taking part being: Mrs. M. Johnston, Miss E. L. Hetherington, R. A. Sutton, Mr. M. Johnston, J. Burns, Mrs. Dunford, and Norman Earle. Mrs. J. R. Thompson sang "The Ninety and Nine", with Mrs. Gordon Muspratt accompanying, previous to Mr. McLean's final address on "The Conservation of Youth", the point being made clear that while it is vital to the winning of the war that many material products be conserved, the conserving of young lives for the kingdom is vital to the well-being of our country, of value to God, and that there is a very real danger of their being lost through fires of temptation, through being Biblically illiterate, and that our effort should be to bring youth to be equipped to render the maximum of service to God, to their country, and to the church.

The invitation to hold the convention next year at Springville was accepted with thanks; the matter of a leadership training school next winter was left with the committee, and the closing prayer was offered by the visiting secretary, after the usual votes of thanks had been passed.

U.S. Chief Of Staff Watches British Troops

During his recent visit to England, General George Marshall, U.S. army chief of staff, inspected various units of the British armies on field manoeuvres. During his tour of inspection General Marshall was accompanied by Prime Minister Churchill. The Prime Minister and the general, third from RIGHT, are pictured watching exercises from a white armored car, with General Sir Bernard Paget, extreme LEFT, and other senior staff officers.

Belmont Women Give Sugar For Jam Making

HAVELOCK, May 26—(ENS). — The May meeting of the Belmont Women's Institute was held in the Stone Hall on Thursday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Eric Ellis, presiding. Roll call was answered by 20 members on "Ways to improve our Institute." Two letters and two cards were received from soldier boys in England expressing their thanks and appreciation for cigarettes received. Mrs. James Toms turned in the sum of $5.35 for war work from the sale of bouquets of lovely tulips. The branch decided to donate a 100-lb. bag of sugar to the jam making enterprise of the Institutes. Mrs. E. Ellis gave a complete report of the executive district meeting held recently in Warsaw. Delegates appointed to attend the annual district convention are Mrs. E. Ellis, Mrs. W. Harris, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Charles Ellis, and Mrs. George Hartin. Two quilt tops were donated, one by Mrs. Dunlop and one by Mrs. Quackenbush who will reach her 101st birthday in June. The branch decided to have an all-day quilting bee on Thursday, May 28, in the hall, with a pot-luck dinner. A lovely quilt was donated to a family in Belmont that had lost their home by fire. After a careful study of the new co-operative program, three choices were made: (1) Uses of whole wheat, (2) Quilts and quilting, and (3) Home utilization of wool.

The program for the afternoon was in charge of Miss Goldie Dafoe and opened with the reading of a paper on "Health and Child Welfare." Two teams were picked by Mrs. Hartin and Mrs. Ellis as captains for a quiz contest, with all answering being parts of the human body and resulted in the former's team winning.

Conklin Show Draws Crowd On Opening Day

Twenty-seven lions, tigers and graceful leopards form a small part of the Terrell Jacobs' circus which is being shown this week in conjunction with the Conklin Shows, brought to Peterborough under the auspices of the Kinsmen Club.

Few children under ten years of age in the city and district have ever seen a live elephant, but in the show, not only are there three elephants, but three Siberian camels as well. Then to add more variety there is a pair of llamas, the queer looking animals from South America which have been domesticated as pack animals in the southern hemisphere.

There is a baby buffalo, an Australian burro, a Mexican burro, Shetland and Buckeye ponies, and a mule tail deer that knows nothing about the government sugar rations, for it is eternally probing the hands of customers for a tasty morsel. There is a emu, the only feathered creature in the world that has two feathers on a single quill. It comes from Australia and is almost as large as an osrich.

Terrell Jacobs, is an ambitious young man, although a veteran of the circus world who hopes to build a big Canadian circus, and the two ring exhibition which forms his program will thrill everyone. On Monday afternoon the crowds were so lange they had to seat the children on the ground, all of the seats being taken. He was for eleven years chief animal trainer for Ringling, Barnum and Bailey circus.

The Arabian horse which Ronald Colman rode in that famous theatre production, "Clive of India," is now owned by Jacobs, and besides this he has a female lion named 'Sheba' which was used in four of the Tarzan pictures, which starred Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan.

There are fourteen rides, many of them just on the market for the first time last year, and they are thrillers. On Monday afternoon school children taking advantage of the special rates thronged the rides from noon until way after dark. The side shows has one in particular that every school child should see. It is a collection of Canadian animals, all alive, in cages and it is free to children, but adults are expected to contribute in a silver collection. There are skunks, black raccoons, red raccoons, the most rare of the species, a groundhog, bobcat, pigeons, rocky mountain badger pheasants, guinea pigs, ant-eater, a coyote, white-tailed deer, and many others.

The Hawaiian Show, 'Aloha Land' is a headliner, and here one finds clever dancing, singing and the sweet music of the Hawaiian islands. Side shows of the usual variety along with a top ranking monkey show round out a well balanced midway, the largest in fact to appear in the city in twenty years.

With more than half his regular staff in the navy, army and air force, Conklin Bros. hesitated to brin gout such a large show, but in view of the fact that so many people are working long hours in war industry, and soldiers in big camps find life monotonous, the two men took a chance on this city, and brought a show to this city that completely fills King Edward Park. They were forced to use this park, because the high water in the Otonabee river made it impossible for the trucks to drive into Riverside where the shows had originally been scheduled to set up.

50 Women Attend Home Nursing Class

MILLBROOK, May 26 (ENS) — Dr. M. E. Hobbs gave the lecture to the Home Reserve Nursing class on Friday, over fifty members answering the roll call, the topic for study being: "Communicable Diseases." Mrs. L. B. Byam, Reg.N. was in charge, and next week the final group lecture on "Emergencies" will be given by Dr J. W. Wright. After that the smaller groups for practical work will be arranged by Mrs. Byam.

Explaining that the nursing course is "in order that you may be better fitted to do your duty by an all-out war effort," and that communicable diseases are fifty per cent preventable, as well as stressing the abolute importance of reporting all such to the medical officer of health, and thus avoiding the terrible after effects if proper treatment and care is not given, Dr. Hobbs also pointed out that almost every community has at least one child suffering in some manner from such neglect.

Credit was given Dr. H. A. Turner, former M.OH, for the fact that so much has been done though giving toxoids, vaccination, etc. to the pupils of the various schools in the village and township, the speaker, however, feeling strongly that this preventive care should be given to infants, mentioning the various ages at which it is safe to do so, and not in the schools at all, "once we have completed the work with those who are now school pupils."

Help Extended To Kinmount

OMEMEE, May 26 — (ENS). — The Womens Institute met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Walter Thurston, with 17 members and 1 visitor present. Mrs. McPherson, president, presided, and the meeting opened with 'O Canada' and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

The roll call was responded to by paying membership fees for 1942. Letters were read from three boys serving overseas, thanking the Institute members for parcels sent them.

Ie was decided to help the residents of Kinmount by donating clothing, etc., the same to be left at the president's home. Plans were completed for the District W. I. Convention to be held on June 2, in Trinity United church, Omemee.

An invitation was extended to the W.I. members to hold the next meeting on Friday, June 19, at the home of Mrs. W. Northey, Lindsay.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. J. Magee and Mrs. Cornwall, and a piano solo by Mrs. Wood.

The program committee for June will be Mrs. Everson and Mrs. Wood.

The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem, after which lunch was served.

Fatal Scene

VAN NUYS, Calif., May 26(AP). —Earl Steinmetz, 27-year-old actor, was injured fatally last night when he was struck by an airplane during the filming of a motion picture. Portraying an air raid warden, Steinmetz ran on to a runway to meet the plane. A wingtip knocked him to the ground and fractured his skull. He died in a hospital sohrtly afterward.

Itching, Burning, Stinging Eczema or Salt Rheum

Eczema, or salt rheum as it is commonly called, is one of the most painful of all skin troubles.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night, or when the affected part is exposed to heat, or the hands placed in hot water are most unbearable, and relief is gladly welcomed.

The relief offered by Burdock Blood Bitters is based on the knowledge that such ailments as eczema, and other skin troubles, are caused by an impure blood condition.

You have to perspire—
You don't have to offend!

A pretty girl isn't left on the shelf for no reason at all. But people shy away from telling her that "B.O." is to blame.

Everyone—rich or poor, old or young—runs the same risk. We ALL perspire—it can't be avoided. When perspiration stays on the skin it decomposes, becomes stale and unpleasant. "B.O." is the result. That's why everyone needs Lifebuoy. It's the ONE soap especially made to PREVENT "B.O." No other popular soap has Lifebuoy's special deodorizing ingredient to make you sure of ALL-OVER freshness—LASTING protection.

A Lifebuoy bath is a real treat. Its rich, invigorating lather leaves you REFRESHED, feeling marvelous, fresh as a daisy from top to toe. Use Lifebuoy for your hands and face, too. It's 20% MILDER than many so-called beauty and baby soaps.
